BYRD COMMITTEE MAKES REPORT

Recommends Drastic Cut In Non-Defense Activities

The Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Government Expenditures has made a preliminary report recommending drastic cuts in non-defense activities of the Federal Government. 'Curtailments' which would never be considered feasible in normal times but which with the pressure of actual war become imperative.

"Before the war," the Byrd report states, "economy in non-essential spending was important. Now it is vital. There is no room for non-essentials in a government stripped for action. Our united purpose is to produce sufficient armament and trained personnel to win this war. Nothing can be permitted to interfere with this objective. The American people are being asked to pay extremely burdensome taxes which will become greater; they are being asked to make great sacrifice and endure hardships. The government should set the example."

The Committee recommends that "no new adventures or commitments in public works or costly government programs be undertaken during the period of the war emergency, except those imperatively necessary to national defense."

It recommends that the Civilian Conservation Corps, the National Youth Administration and the national defense training activities of the Office of Education be abolished, be replaced with some suitable agency facilities for training persons for work in defense occupations.

The W. P. A. should be reduced to $50,000,000 per month for three months and then whatever is continued placed directly under direction of the War and Navy Departments.

Economies in the various Civil Departments should be enforced including reduction of the $30,000,000 spent by them annually on publicity.

The Agricultural program should include elimination of all further purchases of land by the Dept. of Agriculture during the period of the emergency; drastic curtailment of the Administrative Expenditures of the Department of Agriculture, including unnecessary employment of A. A. A. Committeemen; education of $100,000,000 in the appropriation for Exportation and Domestic Consumption of Agricultural Commodities; that the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation be made self supporting; abolition of the Farm Tenant Program; abolition of the Farm Security Administration; and deferment of Rural Electrification expansion wherever it conflicts with national defense priorities on materials.

The Highway curtailment includes curtailment to one half of the present Federal Highway appropriations, and deferment of all projects of dams, flood control, reclamation and public buildings not directly essential to the national defense.

The Committee recommended that all funds impounded by the Budget Bureau from previous appropriations be turned back into the Treasury.

Respecting the thirty odd Federal Corporations for financing both defense and non-defense operations, the Committee recommends that they come directly under Congressional control, be subject to coordination and budgetary audit.

In sum the Committee lists a possible Cash Saving of $1,131,075,000.00 which together with loan cancellations of $170,000,000.00 makes a grand total of $1,301,075,000.00.

KIWANIS CLUB SHOWS GOOD YEAR

Reports Indicate That All Lines
Of Effort Were Successful

The Manassas Kiwanis club held its final session of the year last Friday evening at which time nearly of the committees filed reports. President Frank was quite successful in his pleas for cooperation along these lines.

All of the reports were good but two read by W. E. Trusler, on underprivileged child work and by Father Jim Widmer on programs during the past year were two of the best ever read before the club and showed graphically that the Club had done some fine work in 1941.

The election for a director resulted in a tie vote, and another vote will be taken tomorrow evening.

Past lieutenant Governor Lyman Kelly will be present at the meeting tomorrow night to install President-elect W.E. Trusler and the rest of his staff.

"O. D." Waters was called on the present gifts of the club to its charming sponsors which task he carried out to his usual perfection, and the ladies gracefully accepted them.

During the next year, President Frank will have a new activity that work on committee of the Capitol District.

Neal, State Director of Selective Service, has announced. There will be a particularly careful review of the cases of those registrants who have been deferred as necessary men in civilian occupations, Colonel Neal said. A large number of new inductions are expected to follow the re-classifications, he stated.

CARY TO ASK CODE REVISION

State Senator Hunsdon Cary of Henrico has announced that he will propose a bill in the 1942 Legislature asking for a general revision and recodification of the Virginia Code. His statement followed a request by Thomas W. Ozlin, of the State Corporation Commission, that the code be brought up to date, and that "deadwood" and conflicting sections be eliminated.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE CHART

As soon as the Prince William Civilian Defense organization is completed The Journal will publish a chart showing the complete adaptation of the State Plan to meet our local requirements, giving the names of the directing officers and the method of coordination.

NO. MORE SELECTIVE SERVICE NEWS

Selective Service Boards have been advised from Headquarters that no more releases to the press will be made, for the obvious reason that such information is of military value to the enemy.

Our local Selective Service Board has been so friendly and cooperative in supplying information for publication that their frequent bulletins will be sadly missed.

This newspaper wishes to take this occasion to also advise its various correspondents not to include in their local notes any mention of local inductions into the army or of transfers and other assignment changes affecting men already in the Army, as such mentions might possibly escape the editorial pencil and get into print—a violation of censorship rules for which we would be responsible.

INFORMATION FOR RAID WARDENS

Capt. Joyce Issues Sensible
Instructions for Everyone

What to do in air raid warnings, either for practice or real:

Those out in the open should get to the nearest shelter, but do not run, "WALK".

Motorists: Pull near the curb, or the side of the road. Stop and turn off your lights.

Home occupants: Shade your windows. No light from a house should show from the outside. It is better to turn on all lights. All outside display lights are to be turned off.

AIR RAID WARDENS ASSURE YOURSELVES THAT THESE PRE-CAUTIONS ARE CARRIED OUT.

In case of incendiary bombs: If one should drop on your roof, it will very likely come through the roof and perhaps through ONE FLOOR. IF you can get it before it ignites and throw it out in the street it will do no damage. If it ignites in the house put some sand near it and roll it on to the sand then put some sand over it. That will keep it from doing damage. Or, you may put it in a bucket containing sand and then put sand over it. NEVER GET EXCITED. You will do better work and be in less danger by keeping COOL.

If a real explosive bomb should drop near you, your best security is to lie flat on the ground. A bomb generally explodes when it strikes the ground or other object; and parts of it will scatter in all directions. If you are flat on the ground the scattering parts will be less liable to strike you. If the bomb does not not explode when it hits, it may be a delay action bomb on it may be a dud. In either case keep away from it, and Report it to the Air Raid Warden in your community.

Incendiary Bombs ignite and cause fires. Real bombs explode and wreck buildings, etc.

If you are in hearing distance of a SIREN and other WHISTLES; the Air Raid Warning is given by FIVE blasts, repeated THREE times; and the All Clear by THREE LONG blasts. If you are not in hearing distance of a siren or whistle; you must get up your own signals by using Church Bells, School Bells, Auto Horns, or, any other signal you believe suitable. You must assure yourself that all residents of your community know the signals for that community AND THAT THEY ARE OBEYED.

From all reports, all our Air Raid Wardens are doing a good JOB in instructing their communities is what to do in case of an air raid.

Read your county paper. It contains valuable information.

PEOPLES BANK DECLARES USUAL DIVIDENDS

Rubber Shortage And Civilian Defense Occupy Spotlight

A fuller realization that the United States has entered the second World War on an all-out war basis was brought home to Virginians during the past week by two outstanding events...extension of the ban on the sale of new automobile tires and tubes, with the resulting organization of a State rubber rationing committee, and prompt action by the Virginia Defense Council to perfect its organization for the protection of the civilian population.

Doubting Virginians who had regarded the original prohibition on the sale of new tires and tubes from December 10 to December 22 as another "gasoline shortage," had a rude awakening when last Sunday Director Donald M. Nelson of the Priorities Division of OPM announced that the ban would be extended until January 5, after which a rationing plan would become effective.

Hard on the heels of this action was an announcement by Virginia's Governor James H. Price that he had appointed Brig. Gen. J. Fulmer Bright, former Richmond mayor, as State Administrator of Commodity Distribution. Chief duties of the new appointee will be to supervise the operation of a state-wide rubber rationing plan.

A talk with Gen. Bright would leave little misunderstanding in the mind of any Virginia citizen as to the drastic nature of the rubber shortage brought on by the initial successes of Japanese treachery not only in the attack on Pearl Harbor and the Philippines but also in the invasion of the Malay peninsula and the islands surrounding the Dutch East Indies.

"The cutting off of rubber supplies from the Dutch East Indies," Mayor Bright declared, "should bring home to everyone the terrible necessity of everything being subordinated to the armed services. I cannot emphasize too strongly the importance of our civilian population conserving their tires to the utmost."

"From the present outlook it will be months and maybe years before civilians will be able to purchase new tires and tubes as they have in the past. Every man and woman who lives within two miles of the place of employment should walk to work if they do not wish to use public transportation facilities. Every family with two cars should put one away at once. Children should be carried to school in groups, ride public conveyances or walk. Walking will not only help conserve tires but will contribute to the public health."

General Bright asserted that three-man rationing committees would be set up in every city, town and county in Virginia through the regional defense councils and local defense units to administer the program. He announced yesterday that the chairmen and executive officers of the regional committees had been named for the eight Virginia Regional Defense Councils. The Councils, with the names of the rationing chairmen and executive officers, respectively, follow:

Fredericksburg, Hon. C. O'Connor Goolrick and A. W. Embrey, Jr.; Hampton Roads, Major Raymond B. Bottom and Dr. W. T. Hodges; Northern Virginia, Hon. Gardner L. Boothe and Mrs. Alma G. Ramsey; Radford; Dr. John R. Hutcheson and Major R. Lee Humbert; Richmond-Petersburg-Hopewell, Col. Robert T. Barton, Jr. and Mrs. Marian G. Blake; Shenandoah Valley, Gen. Perry L. Miles and Finlay Tynes; Southern Piedmont, Mr. A. F. Patton and Mr. Tom Irvin Gill; Southwest Virginia, Hon. C. J. Harkrader and Mr. Thomas P. Sheldene.

Acting Co-ordinator J. H. Wyse of the Virginia Defense Council all week was buried in the business of organizing local civilian defense units...by cities, towns and counties...for protection of the civilian population against possible token bombing raids...a possibility emphasized by official reports that Japanese planes had flown high above San Francisco and other West points on reconnaissance flights.

As a result of the activities of Mr. Wyse and his staff, he was able to announce early this week that, with the exception of a few isolated localities, all contemplated local defense units in Virginia had named their co-ordinators and that many of them had issued calls for volunteers to serve.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL

The world is deeply indebted to the Gregorian calendar for the omission of 10 days in the calendar year of 1582 to help catch up with Father Time. We are deeply indebted to the people of this community and it would take about 10 days of the calendar year of 1942 for us to express to each of you personally the gratitude we feel for your kindness to us in 1941. So we are simply sending this "blanket vote of thanks" to our many friends and customers with the wish that with New Year's dawn will come a brighter, happier future for you.

★ For many years at this time we have been wishing you a Happy New Year, and have found joy in the doing of it. This year it seems even more appropriate because of the troubled times through which we have passed.

★ We dedicate ourselves to still greater service to you, to greater courtesies. Everyone in this concern feels this responsibility and accepts it gladly.

C. E. Fisher and Son

In crowning the New Year king for another 365 days we close the door upon past mistakes and look hopefully forward to a year of greater fulfillment. The progress of the past is but our starting point, and now, thanks to the support you have given us, we have set still higher goals of service and value to our customers.

That the New Year may usher in for you a new era of Prosperity, Health and Happiness is our sincere wish.

A TOAST TO OUR FRIENDS

Now—when that priceless thing called Time occupies the spotlight, we pause to consider that priceless thing called Friendship. In our business we could not be without it, and because we value it so highly we are determined, during 1942, to take still further steps to merit your continued friendship and loyalty to us.

May the sands of the hourglass bring you many golden hours of happiness in the year to come.

★ We'd like to say heaps more than just "thank you," and heaps more than just "Happy New Year," because your kindness has meant so much to us in 1941.

★ We'll say it during 1942, not with mere words, but with more value and more service written into every transaction.

★ So at this time we simply say thank you, and Happy New Year!

BILL OF OBLIGATIONS
(Contributed)

Now that we are engaged in another war for the preservation of the rights of men to live as their consciences dictate it is extremely fitting that we reassert early in the conflict the eternal and unchanging principles set forth in the Bill of Rights which was 150 years old Monday (Dec. 15).

Those who won those rights for us knew their value because they had paid their heavy price. They had paid in "blood and sweat and tears," in long years of enduring ragged, homeless poverty, soul-crushing defeat, imprisonment and invasion. From first-hand knowledge of living without them, they knew just how precious those hard-won rights were.

But more than that, they understood that every right carries a corresponding obligation. They realized that they must not only maintain their rights, but so exercise them that they would be preserved for posterity. They knew that rights like muscles, flourish with use and winter with neglect. They knew that liberty means responsibility.

In the struggle that lies ahead we must think less of the privileges granted by the Bill of Rights and more of the obligations it entails. We must cease paying lip service to the principles it sets forth and assume the duties it requires.

The cost of victory will be enormous. The best service that those of us who cannot fight can contribute is to work for a reduction of all nonessential, non-defense expenditures of government—local, state and national. The Citizens Emergency Committee on Nondefense Expenditures points out that it is obvious we can no longer afford any governmental services of subsidies that take away from the winning of the war. It is apparent that we can afford neither the materials, the labor, nor the money for any project not aimed primarily at expediting victory. An all-out effort for economy is an indispensable part of the all-out effort for victory.

BOY SPENDS NIGHT IN FOREST

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Anderson are having a truly happy new year in the miraculous return of their baby son, Edward Gray, who went hunting with his trusty air rifle on Sunday afternoon.

With several hundred CCC lads and a Section of the Marine corps cooperating with posses organized by Sheriff Kerlin, the lad was found near the road leading to Triangle, next forenoon, suffering only with slightly frost bitten hands.

It seems that he had been playing with the youngsters of Harvey Abel, at Joplin, who went into the house to get "something to eat." It was some little time before an inquiry developed that fact that Eddie had "gone hunting." Then things began to happen rapidly.

The young man proved to be very self possessed and despite his very youthful age (less than three) he knew how to take care of himself. He was not scared, and next morning was taking it leisurely, calling out ever and anon for his dad.

He was taken to the Base Hospital where he was found to be in good condition except that he was suffering somewhat from exposure, particularly his hands which were tight swollen.

NEWSPAPER PROBLEMS

Because of the prospect of a serious reduction in the amount of newsprint that may be used for newspapers, it may soon be necessary for newspapers to limit the space they normally devote to relatively unimportant news. Already many newspapers find it necessary to omit considerable matter relating to the sale of National Defense Bonds, the campaign of the Red Cross, the appeals for Britain and other countries, the many releases of the Army, Coast Guard, Aviation and other services, and it is no exaggeration to say that the usual run-of-paper will change greatly in the coming months as the scarcity of materials, the restrictions in supplies, and the change of personnel due to the new draft laws become effective.

How serious the situation has become may be gleaned in the announcement just made that newsprint price will advance an additional $3 a ton effective early in 1942, making a rise of from $37.50 a ton a few years ago to $53 per ton.

Obviously the capacity of management to adjust itself to these increasing costs is now near exhaustion, and drastic changes in operation may soon be forced upon the newspapers by the culminating pressure of wartime economy. Some newspapermen predict that daily newspapers may cost ten cents per copy before the war ends. Such a possibility on how long the conflict lasts.

ALL-YEAR RESOLUTIONS

"Good intentions never won a battle or any other kind of a struggle. Despite this fact there are many persons who, as regularly as it comes around, consider New Years as a time to save their conscience by making resolutions. If these personal commitments were carried out, noticeable changes in conduct would occur. Even to make resolutions which soon are broken perhaps is better than not making them at all. But it would be better were one to determine to rectify a few habitual mistakes and convert this determination into year-round application. To start with, a desire to improve one's physical condition and maintain it at its maximum during the next 365 days would be a worthy resolution indeed," states Dr. I. C. Riggins, State Health Commissioner.

"The gap between downright illness and tolerable health for many is not nearly as great as they suspect. Enjoying a measure of vitality, and their pet devitalizing habits also, they secretly envy those who are surcharged with well-being, and half-heartedly carry on. What such persons fail to realize is that, however spontaneous sparkling health may be in youth, in early middle life and beyond, to develop and hold the highest degree of vigor of which one may be capable demands a certain amount of thought, a reasonable approach to the subject, and some determination. Nature's laws which are handicapped by the soft-living influences of modern existence, are exacting but do not set up burdensome demands. This does not mean that readjustments of unhealthy or unwise habits will be easy. However, the results will be worth all the effort expended.

"More often than otherwise a sincere review of one's daily practices will reveal that most of them are not injurious to health. Persons who go to the family physician for the periodic examination and for counsel on how to live healthily often are surprised to learn that only one or no more than two habits need to be amended to place them in topnotch physical condition.

"So, at New Years the following resolutions well might be considered: 1. To obtain as much sleep each night as individual requirements demand; this means at least seven hours in bed, and for many persons eight. 2. To rely daily on a brisk walk or other outdoor exercise to deliver the sense of well-being now obtained from an excessive recourse to stimulants of one kind or another. 3. To eat proper amounts of proper foods, which means neither too much nor too little of nourishing provender. 4. To avoid self drugging of any all kinds. 5. To be on the alert against home and highway accidents. 6. To keep the alimentary system regular. 7. To maintain a cheerful spirit and destroy gloom. 8. To make a confidant of one's family doctor by affording him an opportunity periodically to pass upon one's physical condition, and to seek his advice on doubtful living practices. 9. To visit the dentist twice a year. 10. And to develop the will power daily to meet any challenge to one's determination to get as fit as possible and stay that way."

Christmas Carols in the Camps

Feature American Soldier's Yule

LUCKY indeed is the soldier who obtains a Christmas furlough and spends a portion of his holiday season at home, but what about those hundreds of thousands of American boys in our Army who will remain on duty in the cantonments and island bases and in garrisoning distant outposts?

The answer is voiced in a song—a glorious hymn that will be heard from virile young throats singing in praise of Him in whom reposes mankind's steadfast hope in this dark hour of the world's history.

The hymn, a favorite of the American soldier and of his forebears in arms since colonial campfires, "O Come, All Ye Faithful," will be sung in 200 new Army chapels where this year Christmas services will be held for the first time.

In his spiritual life, Army chaplains declare, the citizen soldier finds the closest tie linking military duties with the cherished customs of his home. Especially among young men from the farming communities and the towns and smaller cities the observance of Christmas in the camps will not be unlike the programs in churches throughout the land where friends and neighbors assemble for the Christian festival. In Army chapels the same midnight services will be held, the youthful worshipper will join in the same inspiring music, he will hear again the same messages of hope, the same fervent prayers for peace and good will.

During Yuletide the singing of familiar carols will enliven the camps, not only in the training areas at home but the same music of cheer and comfort will echo from the cliffs of Iceland and the wastes of Greenland as well as among the tropic shores of Trinidad, Guiana, and the Orient. For the Chief of Chaplains has announced the distribution of the new Army and Navy Hymnal, a book containing the best in sacred themes, subdivided for Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish forms of worship. Special visitations will be made to the hospitals. Neither will the inmates of the guardhouse be overlooked.

All will share the spirit of Christmas.

At this season the 1,626 chaplains in our Army take stock of their efforts through the year, and the Chief of Chaplains advises the Chief of Staff as well as the home folks that most encouraging progress has been made for the spiritual well-being of the troops. Where 11,640,000 soldiers attended religious services during the last fiscal year with an average of 97.8 persons at each service, it is pointed out that there is now a much larger participation and a corresponding increase in the ministrations of holy sacraments.

Said a veteran chaplain: "The tradition established by those pioneer soldiers who bowed in prayer on the eve of Bunker Hill and in the storm-swept camp at Valley Forge is still alive in the hearts of America's defenders in arms."

IMPORTANCE T. B. CAMPAIGN UNDER WAR CONDITIONS

The vital importance of the anti-tuberculosis campaign under war conditions is becoming more and more apparent every day, according to Dr. Dean B. Cole, a member of the Executive Committee of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association.

"Tuberculosis makes appalling strides in wartime," declared Dr. Cole yesterday. "The work of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated associations and committees throughout the State is a beam of hope in a stormy outlook. Even under the bitter conditions of a world war we know how to hold in check and eventually root out this terrible waster of human life and efficiency."

"Our association is working in close collaboration with both civilian and military authorities. Our program is stretched and stretched again. We dare not curtail it now, but we will be forced to do so unless all Virginians who are financially able to do so respond generously to the annual appeal for their support in the Christmas Seal campaign now in progress."

Although goals have been set higher this year to meet the wartime conditions, George W. Call, treasurer of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, said that early returns from the Seal Sale reflected a wholehearted response from all sections of the State. However, during the days immediately following the bombing of Pearl Harbor and the United States' entry into the war there was a decided slump in the Seal Sale returns.

"Pointing out that war always has been an excellent culture medium for the germ of tuberculosis, Mr. Call emphasized the importance of all persons who received Christmas Seals to mail their contributions promptly to their local tuberculosis associations and committees. "The demand upon our resources is going to be greater than ever before, therefore, it is equally important to remember that money paid now for Christmas Seals is as urgently needed from home defense as the revenue required by other patriotic organizations in their respective fields."

WORLD PREMIERE AT LYNCHBURG

All eyes of the entertainment world will be focused on Virginia when the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer filmization of Rebecca Yancey Williams' book, "The Vanishing Virginian" will be presented at a world premiere in Lynchburg during January.

Lynchburg will become the south's entertainment capitol next month when Virginia born Rebecca Yancey Williams' novel in celluloid featuring Frank Morgan and Katherine Grayson will be viewed amid a two day civic celebration, studded with a galaxy of dignitaries and visiting celebrities.

The story concerns principally the life of Captain Bob Yancey, for years Lynchburg's Commonwealth attorney, and members of his family. Much of the action takes place also at the Yancey country home in Bedford County.

"The Vanishing Virginian" is the straightforward story of a great American town and its people—their joys and heartaches, the laughter and drama that makes this country what it is. The locale is Lynchburg, Virginia, but it might be any city in any State insofar as its human qualities reflect the daily lives of courageous Americans in their native habits," is the way the motion picture is described by the producer.

Tom Baldrige of Winchester and Front Royal, who represents Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in the middle Atlantic States has been assigned to handle the world premiere for the Lynchburg Citizens Committee. Mr. Baldrige is a past president of the Virginia State Junior Chamber of Commerce, and head of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival for the past five years.

FOREST NATURALLY RESTOCKED

The Cumberland State Forest, recently opened to hunters for a special one week shooting season during which twenty-eight wild turkeys were bagged, has not been stocked with artificially raised game for the purpose of supplying additional brood stock, according to Carl H. Nolting, Chairman of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

The success of the present wild turkey management plan in building up on the Virginia State Forests the highest concentration of turkeys to be found anywhere in the State, is proof that artificial restocking is not necessary in areas where there is a supply of native game. Mr. Nolting pointed out. Building up a game supply from native stock through habitat improvement is much more effective than restocking, game men believe.

The game restoration work which has been done on the State Forests has consisted mainly of protecting the native game from over hunting, planting food patches, and preventing forest fires. Excessive hunting is said to be responsible for low turkey populations in most section of Virginia.

Wild turkeys are raised in captivity by the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, but the captivity-reared birds are not usually released on areas where turkeys are already known to exist. A few of the excess known to exist. A few of the excess gobblers produced each year are liberated on areas open to turkey hunting, but most of the pen-raised turkeys are used to establish turkeys once more in suitable sections where they have been exterminated.

The Cumberland, Buckingham-Appomattox, and Prince Edward Forests are controlled by the State Forest Service. Game Management on these Forests is carried out cooperatively by the Forest Service and the Game Commission.

Owners of suitable forest land who want to increase their wild turkey populations can do so by copying the techniques which have been developed and tested on the State Forests. Most cases the introduction of additional brood stock will not be necessary.

I Like This Book

One of a series of book reviews by students of Osborn High School, Manassas—Session 1941-42 in competition for the W. C. Wagener Memorial Prize.

One of the most interesting books I have read lately is "Grandma Called It Carnal" written by Bertha Damon and published by Simon and Schuster.

Bertha Damon's writing is the kind that you feel impelled to read. "Grandma Called It Carnal" is mainly the story of the author's New England grandmother, Grandma Griswold, who fought the twentieth Century and all its innovations single-handed and won.

It was not an accident that little Bertha drew a picture of Grandma which showed one arm sprouting a volume of Ruskin instead of a hand. Ruskin and Thoreau were Grandma's greatest friends. Juno, the cow, and modern improvements were her greatest enemies.

Grandma didn't believe in sartorial fripperies for young girls. Grandma didn't believe you should pamper yourself with such things as hot and cold running water or extravagantly prepared "cooked meals." Grandma called it carnal. But it is the prediction of the publishers that readers will call this a delightful book.

"Grandma Called It Carnal" is a remarkable character study of the kind of human being who was really responsible for the flowering of New England. It is the publisher's belief that Grandma Griswold will take her place as one of the most lovable characters in American literature.

To get acquainted with the lovable character, Grandma Griswold, I advise you to read this book.

This book may be borrowed from the Ruffner - Carnegie Library.

The Observer Says

Has our Government been overthrown?

In a sense, with respect to those who are working to this end, IT HAS, so far their own affairs are concerned!

This is how to overthrow your Government:

Get jurisdiction of your own affairs taken out of the Courts and other governmental authority, and have special Boards to handle them! Then the overthrow of the rest of Constitutional Government can wait a more opportune time because you will have accomplished your purpose so far as your own vital interests are concerned.

This is what the Communist Party has apparently accomplished in the United States. It is true that the Communists have to share their triumph with Organized Labor as a whole, but that is not unacceptable to them because they expect shortly to complete their conquest of all Union groups.

The evidence of what has taken place is to be found in the continuous establishment of "mediation" machinery, as each succeeding set-up has failed, thus keeping regulation of their affairs outside the jurisdiction of our Constitutional Law.

As the latest chapter of this dangerous situation we see the present attempt to establish a new War Mediation Board to adjust the demands of Union Labor. And after seeing how the demands of John L. Lewis were "mediated", the American people may well appreciate by now that "mediation" means giving Labor what it demands under threat of disrupting our defense program.

Regardless of what the White House proposes, the Congress should complete the anti-strike legislation so brilliantly accomplished by Hon. Howard W. Smith, for unless this is done, and promptly, the mistake will later have to be corrected through rivers of blood and tons of ashes!

—News-Observer.

The American Red Cross has appealed to the nation for a $50,000,000 war fund, the Prince William County Chapter, has been assigned a quota of $2,000.

To meet this quota and have our county "go over the top" with other Virginia Municipalities, it will be necessary if every organization and citizen of this county to give and give generously.

NEW TIRES PRACTICALLY IMPOSSIBLE OF PVT. PURCHASER

OPM Civilian Supply director Leon Henderson recently announced an impending rubber rationing plan under which sales of new tires to owners of private passenger cars will be "virtually prohibited for the present."

At the same time, in action designed to conserve the other principal commodity from the Far East, the OPM priorities division seized control over all tin, both in stockpiles and inventories here and cargoes still on the high seas. Priorities Director Donald M. Nelson forbade all future deliveries and sales of the metal without his permission and ordered that all imports and supplies a float could be sold only to the Government.

The rubber conservation plan, which Henderson frankly admitted was a strict rationing measure, is designed to cut present consumption of rubber by nearly 80 per cent. It provides that the production of a new passenger tires will be "almost entirely eliminated."

Henderson declared that the present emergency permitted his taking only a "pessimistic" attitude, based on the assumption that the country has seen its last importation of rubber for a long period.

He announced that the rationing plan, details of which are still being worked over, would begin January 4. Until then, the freezing order forbidding all sales of new tires, and all processing of other rubber items, will continue in effect.

Significant feature of the proposed rationing mechanics is that local bodies, probably local defense councils, will administer the plan. It was indicated that they will issue coupons for purchases and decide who is entitled to buy new supplies.

It appeared that only vehicles required for the "maintenance of industrial efficiency and civilian health," plus commercial transportation equipment and a "limited" number of essential trucks, will be able to obtain new tires.

Would-be purchasers in these classes will be required to prove to the local boards that they are eligible and that the purchases are essential.

MANGER SCENE ON SCHOOL CAMPUS

The scene of the Nativity was most eloquently portrayed on the Vocational School campus all during the holidays. It is being removed at the end of this week, and any who can get to view it at night will do well to do so.

Professors Berryman and Boswell, together with some of the students, went out on a rather windy day, and fashioned the manger, and the two principal figures of the religious tableaux.

The lighting effect was truly inspiring. Added to this was the construction of a broadcast system of "chimes" that ring out the carols so that they may be heard all over splendid work.

The originators of this excellent bit of holiday and religious sentiment are to be congratulated for their excellent work.

GET GOOD JOBS

John F. Hunsberger, R. F. D. 2, Clifton Station; William F. Ruffner, Occoquan; and Kenneth Taylor, Clifton Station, have been employed recently in vital war work after receiving training and experience at the Manassas State Vocational School and National Youth Administration Project, according to A. E. Jakeman, Director.

Hunsberger and Taylor have been employed by the Glenn L. Martin Company, builders of aircraft, Baltimore, and Ruffner is employed by the Air Track Manufacturing Company, College Park, Maryland.

The Manassas Vocational School and NYA Project is one of the units of the Youth Work Program in Virginia, administered jointly by the State Department of Education, Virginia State Employment Service, and the National Youth Administration.

The enrollees for the program are selected and later steered into jobs by the Employment Service. Instruction and training in the program is supplied by the Department of Education, and actual work experience on articles produced for the armed services and other public agencies is supplied by the National Youth Administration. Pay for this work covers the youths' living expenses and furnishes them with a small amount of cash for incidentals.

Similar units of the Youth Work Program are at Danville, Norfolk, and Blacksburg, for white youths, and at Virginia State College for Negroes. Applications for places in this program are received at State Employment Service office, 301 King Street, Alexandria, Virginia.

TRUE OR FALSE?

From a current press dispatch we quote the following on the rubber situation. Whether true or false it should be the occasion for some thinking, and for reducing any unnecessary automobile driving. The dispatch reads:

"No more attention will be paid to asking private automobile owners to conserve rubber. They are told the facts and the rest is left up to them. They must realize as private owners that when their present tires are gone, they will be unable to purchase others."

To County and City Tuberculosis Associations:

I am entrusted with the responsibility of organizing in Virginia the emergency medical services for civilian defense which are necessary now that our Country is at war. Naturally, I turn to you for assistance, as the Virginia Tuberculosis Association is the only state-wide voluntary health agency in the State, and because for years it has had an important in our health program.

Inasmuch as it will take a little time to complete our plans for the organizations of the medical services throughout the State, and because I shall depend a great deal upon your help, I am writing to tell you that not only will the tuberculosis work you are now doing be doubly necessary under war conditions, but I am hoping your association will be willing to assume additional responsibility in your locality for National Defense. Your assistance will be needed in developing the other branches of the medical service through enlisting the interest and help of other volunteers.

I feel it would be unfortunate for additional health organizations to be set up hastily, when with very slight delay, the entire problem could be worked out according to a carefully considered plan, each existing agency whole. For this reason, I would ask you to use your influence to get any group considering a new organization for any part of the health program to delay until our plan can be presented.

The State Health Department is overburdened at this time and has a staff too small to do all of the emergency organizing necessary, so I have asked Miss Foster to allow the Field Workers of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association to assist us in certain phases of the organization now being undertaken. She readily agreed to this and I am sure you will hear from her on the subject and her Field Workers will be able to tell you more of the details as soon as our joint plan is worked out.

With appreciation of the essential work you are now doing, and feeling sure that I may count upon you for further patriotic service, I am

Sincerely yours,

I. C. RIGGIN

State Health Commissioner and Chief of Emergency Services, Civilian Defense
