GOVERNOR DARDEN DISBANDS CIVILIAN DEFENSE COUNCILS

SUGAR RATIONING COMING SOON

Coupon Books Now Being Printed For Early Use

According to Price Administrator Leon Henderson we are about thirty percent short in our national sugar supply. This fact should not create a serious situation, it is stated, because of the availability of substitute carbohydrate supplies, but hoarding has created a shortage which it is believed is bringing rationing very close.

Following a coffee-sponsored broadcast, it is widely shared, a nationwide run on sugar has reached such proportions that a rationing has become imperative, and already grocery concerns have been obliged to arbitrarily restrict the amount sold each customer.

Estimates vary as to how much will be allowed each person. Two pounds a week seems to be the maximum guess, with a pound a week believed possible a figure not calculated to create any hardship.

City restaurants are also said to be already restricting table use, and customers asked whether they will have "one or two" spoonfuls in their coffee. It is also reported that certain manufacturers have laid in large reserves and that they will probably be required

According to Prince Administrator Henderson the average per capita sugar consumption in the United States in 1941 was 40 pounds. Leon Henderson now says each person will have to get along with 27 pounds. From all sources our sugar supply last year was 7,989,000 tons. This, it is said will be cut to 5,300,000 tons for 1942 by the loss of all importation from the Philippines and at least half of our Hawaii supply.

It is believed that the Commodity Rationing Administration which has been set up in Virginia will also handle the sugar problem, although this is not yet made certain by any public announcement.

Henderson said this week, however, that the per capita allowance of 50 pounds a year necessarily includes what is consumed in restaurants, hotels, and other public eating establishments, so that a reduction to three-fourths pound per week in retail sales would be required.

CHRISTMAS KITS

WELL RECEIVED

At Christmas time the Prince William County Chapter of the American Red Cross, in cooperation with an American Natural Red Cross project, to send kits to our enlisted men in foreign posts send thirty kits to Antiqua Base Command, in the British West Indies. The following letter was recently received from the Commanding Officer:

These kits were filled through the generous contributions from social, civic and church organizations over the county. In addition to above letter, many personal cards have been received, attesting to the pleasure given these men in these far away.

LASSIES AND FIREBALLERS TO PLAY SATURDAY

Saturday night, January 31, the two Fire Department Basketball teams will play a double header in the Osbourne High Gym.

The Fireballers and their lassies will be hosts to the Haymarket troop. The first game, composing of the ladies, will start at eight o'clock followed by Captain Leith's male division.

This is one of the outstanding double heads of the season with care taken to provide ample seating for the expected large group of spectators.

NOTICE

The Chief Air Raid Warden suggests that each home or public building keep a supply of sand on hand for the purpose of extinguishing incendiary bombs in case of an air raid. The Town of Manassas has provided a supply of sand for this purpose. Each home and public building is requested to report to the Town over House on Tuesday or Wednesday, February 3rd or 4th with about one-half bushel container. Some one will be there to fill container.

Huntton Tiffany, Town Manager.

Schools To Be Closed On That Day

The attention of all persons subject to registration and all Volunteer Registrars is specifically called to the age group required to register on February 16, 1942 by the amendment to the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940.

The registration on February 16, 1942, which is the third registration, will include all men who have attained their 20th birthday on or before December 31, 1941, and have not attained their 45th birthday on February 16, 1942, and have not heretofore registered.

Please note that the governing date for those men who are 20 years of age is December 31, 1941, and only those men who became 20 years of age on or before December 31, 1941 are required to register; whereas, the governing date for men who have not attained their 45th birthday is February 16, 1942, and all men who have not attained their 45th birthday on February 16, 1942 are required to register. In other words, all men are required to register who were born between February 17, 1897 and December 31, 1921.

Mr. R. C. Haydon, Division Superintendent of Schools, has consented to take over responsibility for handling the registration in this County. All schools will be closed on February 16th and Mr. Haydon is enlisting help from his entire staff of teachers. The work, I feel sure, will be done in a most efficient manner.

The following schedule set up by Mr. Haydon should be studied and followed:

NAMED OFFICIAL

AT OCCOQUAN

A deserved promotion was announced on January 1 at the Lorton Reformatory when French Fleming who has been connected with the institution since 1918 was named assistant superintendent.

During this time he has built up the dairy and made the herd on the farm one of the best producing in northern Virginia.

He has taken a leading part in his locality, both in civic affairs and business circles. He is president of the Bank of Ocoquan and a member of the Fairfax County Selective Service Board.

MR. CONNER AIDS PRINCE WILLIAM

Introduces Bills Of Local Assistance

Hon. E. R. Conner, Delegate to the General Assembly of Virginia for Prince William and Stafford Counties this week introduced bills which are designed to give relief in matters local.

One bill amends the Charter of the Town of Ocoquan to permit the authorities there to have facilities accorded other towns. Included are provisions for levying a town license tax on automobiles, issuing town tags such as are employed in Manassas and other incorporated towns throughout the State.

Another measure under consideration by Mr. Conner arises out of difficulty our Commissioner of Revenue is having in regard to certain assessments of personal property. It is proposed in the measure under consideration to require automobile owners to pay personal property tax on motor vehicles at the time they obtain their license plates. This plan is said to be in use in the District of Columbia.

Mr. Conner's committees are Roads and International Navigation; Finance; Manufactures and mechanical arts; Offices and officers, at the Capitol. Mr. Conner is domiciled at the Jefferson Hotel and has thrown his fine energies into the Session as he did two years ago, when he was characterized by Veteran Legislators there as one of the most useful men in the General Assembly.

MANASSAS WINS

OVER POST HIGH

Manassas High School made it four out of five Tuesday by trimming the Post School 33 to 21. John Broadus led the Manassas boys by bagging 6 field goals for a total of 12 points, followed by rank Beeton with 7 points.

Saules, visiting forward scored 10 points to lead the visitors. Although the Manassas boys looked sloppily in spots, their defense, led by Wallace Bolding forced the Post team to shoot long shots as they were unable to penetrate the stant zone defense used by the local lads.

SCHOOL SYSTEM AIDS BOND SALES

Prof. C. O. Bittle Named Chairman In This County

The United States Treasury has appointed in each state a Defense Savings Administrator and a State Advisory Committee, under which the Defense Savings Educational Committee operates. The Defense Savings Educational Program in Virginia is sponsored by the Virginia Education Association.

The membership of the Committee that executes the Defense Savings Educational Program in the schools of Virginia consists of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the President of the Virginia Education Association, and the President of the Cooperative Association, and others, its Chairman is Dean Alvey, of Mary Washington College.

The State Committee will work through local committees, headed by the Superintendent of schools or some one designed by him, in each county and city school system in Virginia. Mr. Haydon has selected Mr. C. O. Bittle of Nokesville to take charge of this work and the following will give some idea what has been done thus far in Prince William.

Feeling that school pupils should recognize the present crisis as an opportunity to express loyalty to their nation, and that they should feel it a patriotic privilege to "buy a share in America", the Defense Savings Educational Committee is attempting to present its campaign as a challenge to patriotism and a lesson in thrift as well as a matter of financial assistance to the government.

Stamp booklets have been provided for all children desiring them; children were urged to give Defense Stamps as Christmas gifts; posters have been made; explanations have been made how the money is used for defense and of the increased value of bonds. One school has chosen a theme of Thrift; another uses the America's School of the Air program on defense; still another is carrying on a contest between graded and high school with a weekly Honor Roll giving the name of the pupil in each room having invested the largest amount in stamps and bonds.

The compiled reports from all schools in the county both white and colored show that the schools have sold $1741.15 in Stamps and $16,187.50 in Defense Bonds as of January 17, 1942.

FEBRUARY TIRE QUOTA

We are advised by Mr. Claude Hixson that the February tire quota for Prince William County is 13 tires and 10 tubes for light vehicles and 20 tires and 34 tubes for heavy trucks.

WARDEN JOYCE REPORTS PROGRESS

Further Information For Air Raid Workers

The towns of Ocoquan and Woodbridge now have equipped First Class First Aid Stations in rooms fully equipped to meet any emergency. These rooms are commodious, well heated and ventilated, and have adjoining rooms which could also be used in case of necessity. The station in Ocoquan is in charge of Messrs. John A. Musselman and Elmer Riley; and the Station at Woodbridge in charge of Messrs. Henry M. Davis and Roscoe Clark. Those in charge also have several assistants who have qualified in First Aid Courses, men and women. The Station at Ocoquan has been offered the services of Two Graduate Nurses, Miss Myrtle Forney and Mrs. Lucy V. Pierce of Ocoquan, if and when needed. I have inspected these stations, and in better equipped rooms. Let us hear from other communities who may have now, or are looking forward to equipping First Aid Stations.

I attended a meeting last week at which the matter of disposing of incendiary bombs was the general subject. We heard the methods recommended by the War and Navy Departments set forth. It seems they recommend the use of Chemicals; fire ex-

VALUABLE ADDRESS ON VICTORY BONDS

H. L. Boxley, of Warrenton, Virginia was the guest speaker at Kiwanis last Friday evening. His subject was "Victory Bonds."

The speaker gave a very comprehensive picture of the several classes of bonds, their methods of payment and repayment; also restrictions as the total value in some classes that might be purchased in one year, rates of income, etc.

He also drew strong word picture of the value of such purchases in "America, Preferred" All in all it was a discussion such as business men could understand and appreciate.

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. Ratcliffe (who was also program chairman for the evening) read his list of district chairmen for the sale of bonds, and outlined his methods. Both he and Mr. Boxley stressed the fact that there are no quotas and no "high pressure selling". Mr. Ratcliffe announced that since last May the sale of bonds had nearly reached $200,000 in this county and that he hoped to see the figure reach a half million before the end of April.

Professor Haydon reminded the group that bonds may also be purchased through the schools.

Present as a guest of Mr. Ratcliffe was Mr. V. W. Kinkle, banker of Nokesville.

TRIBUTE GIVEN TO LEE AT KIWANIS MEETING

(the following article was inadvertently omitted from last week's issue)

A splendid tribute to General Lee whose birthday occurred earlier this week was given at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club last week by Mr. "OD" Waters.

OD dwelt on many of the odd features of General Lee's life and how opposites appeared in contrast with the lives of those with whom he came into contact. The only criticism he stated that he might offer to Lee was his blind love and loyalty to President Jefferson Davis, declaring that he believed that no man should have such an attitude toward any human being whose human judgment might hear.

He stated that the crux of Lee's life was a question of whether or not he was defeated at Gettysburg, and characterized his acceptance of that situation with a forbearance that was "Christlike."

Tomorrow evening, Mr. G. R. Ratcliffe will have a special speaker on the subject of victory bonds and what is expected of the public.

PRESENT SET-UP UNSATISFACTORY UNDER IMPACT OF WAR

Authority Restored To City And County Government

PROTECTIVE FORCE RELIEVED OF GUARDING HIGHWAYS

Gen. Bright Remains Head Of Commodity Board

DEFENSE SAVINGS COMMITTEES NOT AFFECTED BECAUSE A FUNCTION OF U. S. TREASURY

Governor Colgate W. Darden, as one of his first important acts as Chief Executive of Virginia, disbanded all Civilian Defense Councils of Virginia, stating that regardless of the patriotism and willingness of its membership to render every possible service the set-up was unsatisfactory under the impact of war.

The Governor stated further that the functioning of large civilian committees giving directions to City Managers, Police Chiefs, County Boards of Supervisors and other officials, created "an impossible situation."

Defense problems, the Governor insists, henceforth will be directed by these officials, who will be answerable to him.

Brigadier-General J. Fulmer Bright, head of the Commodities Rationing Boards, which includes the rationing of automobile tires, will remain in that position, since, the Governor said, the tire set-up had been organized to place responsibility under one head.

Governor Darden's plan to eliminate volunteer defense councils does not affect the Savings Defense Committees which have just been organized to promote the sale of Defense Bonds and Stamps. In making this announced, R. F. Nelson, State Administrator of the Defense Savings Staff, stated that this organization is a direct voluntary branch of the United States Treasury Department, directed from Washington through its own Administrator in Richmond, who is appointing these committees.

The unexpected and complete demolition of the Virginia Civilian Defense Councils came suddenly and dramatically as conferences were in progress in the General Assembly to enact laws to legalize the functioning of this organization, which had been pointed out as the outstanding achievement of the Price Administration.

The Civilian Defense Councils were created in May 1940 with a central group of 29 members and eight regional councils of 426 members, many of whom are city and county officials, but without uniformity of fixed pattern in this respect. In some regions City and County officials were included, and in others ignored, and county lines, so important in other legal administration were not recognized, and already conflicts in authority were rapidly arising. It is said that in some regions about the only way that the mayor of a city could actively defend his community was by volunteering as an air-raid warden or auxiliary policeman or fireman, in the very departments which were supposed to be under his own authority.

The Governor is also removing the Virginia Protective Force Guards on highways, and bridges as rapidly as proper protection can be provided by authorized armed force. The present home guard is largely composed of business men who have volunteered for the emergency and, the Governor is quoted as stating, "it is not reasonable that they should be taken from their work and placed on guard day after day."

Local civic authority, City and County, will probably need one paid employee to act as a clearing house for Civilian Defense, and, stated the Governor at a conference of nearly thirty local governments last week, "Don't forget, I want you boys to split the expense of this program."

Acting upon Governor Darden's suggestion a bill has already been drafted, after consultation with city and county authorities which will give the Governor extraordinary powers during the war; fix local responsibility upon existing city and county governing bodies and provide funds for their conduct of civilian defense, and also provide suitable penalties for failures to comply with provision of the law either by individual citizens or officials. A fine of $300 or 90 days in jail has been suggested as about right for those who have no more patriotism than to disregard the new law, which after enactment will doubtless be proclaimed by the Governor.

I Like This Book

One of a series of book reviews by students of Oshorn High School, Manassas—Session 1941-42 in competition for the W. C. Wagener Memorial Prize.

"Parnassus on Wheels", by Christopher Morley, published by Grosset and Dunlap, is the humorous story of an author and his adventurous sister.

Andrew McGill and his sister, Helen, were very contented on their farm. Helen was a middle-aged woman; she did all of the cleaning and baking, and at times she would help Andrew with his duties on the farm.

Suddenly Andrew got the idea of becoming an author. Helen, being an easy going person, said very little to Andrew at first about his idea, although she was thoroughly opposed to it. After some time Andrew had completed his book, entitled "Happiness and Hayseed", and in a short while found himself famous.

Helen did everything in her power to keep Andrew on the farm, but he was determined that he wasn't going to stay. He was always making a trip to New York or some other place without even letting Helen know when or where he was going. While Andrew was on a trip, it was Helen's task to care for the farm. This was no easy job for a woman.

One day Helen's luck changed. She saw a queer looking old man entering the gate. After a while a short, chubby, red-bearded old man stepped from the wagon. He inquired for her brother and was told that he was not at home.

Helen went about her duties, but finally her curiosity got the best of her. She went out and talked to the old man about the contents of his wagon, and the turning point in her life was reached. You must read this story to enjoy her numerous exciting adventures.

This book may be borrowed from the Ruffner-Carnegie Library.

POWELL—LOY TOPS IN "SHADOW OF THE THIN MAN"

M-G-M's "Thin Man" pictures have always set a record for witty, sophisticated entertainment, and "Shadow of the Thin Man," newest of the series, which opens next week at the Pitts Theatre with William Powell and Myrna Loy again cast as Nick and Nora Charles, proves no exception.

Showing the sure touches of Mai W. S. Van Dyke II, the director who has piloted all the previous "Thin Man" dramas to success, and knowingly cast with a group of comedy-wise supporting players, among them Barry Nelson, Donna Reed, Sam Levene, Alan Baxter and Henry O'Neill, the new episodes of the detective and his scintillating wife in no way fallers on the path of true comedy-drama.

"Shadow of the Thin Man" starts with an apparent murder at a yacht track. A variety of suspicious characters are involved, including two rival newspaper men, the head of the State Athletic Commission, a big shot gambler, a betting commissioner and the latter's blonde girl friend. The mystery gets into a seemingly insoluble muddle until a young reporter friend of Nick's is arrested after a second murder. This brings Powell, as Nick Charles, into the case and he uses his own distinctive methods to bring the real murderer to light.

Powell is complete master of his detective role, and Miss Loy, as the wife who refuses to leave his side even when her presence is acutely embarrassing, is as usual, perfectly cast. A new member of the family is introduced in Dickie Hall, playing the Charles infant now grown to toddler age, and it is a toss-up as to whether young Master Hall or that irresistibly funny dog, Asta, try harder to steal the scenes from the stars.

SENDING AMERICAN TROOPS ABROAD

With the landing of American troops in Northern Ireland, long voyages are in the cards for thousands of other young fellows in khaki now earning to shoulder a Garand. As with the first A. E. F. unit of this world war, you won't know when the troops embark for shipment abroad. How expeditionary forces are being handled in this war to keep their movements secret is told in a special feature article appearing next Sunday in the Washington Sunday Star.

WOMEN FROM RURAL HOMES ENTER ARMY SERVICE

Women as well as men on the farms and in the villages and small towns of the country are forging to the front in America's united war effort.

The 2,000,000 men in our Army are not only supported by the patriotic civilian work of an increasing number of women and girls who are rendering efficient service in their home communities, but thousands of wives, sisters and sweethearts of the men in the combat forces are enrolling for active duty. Those now engaged in full time activities are members of the Army Nurse Corps, Reserve Nurses, hostesses in the various canteens and canteens in the hospitals and food consultants in the War Department and the camps.

Four-H Clubs have furnished ideal training for many young women now serving in auxiliary branches of our Army, according to a recent announcement by authorities in Washington. Conspicuous among the 4-H Clubbers now working for Uncle Sam is Mrs. Meryl P. Stone, designated as an associate of Miss Mary Barber, food consultant to the Secretary of War. It is Mrs. Stone's job to assist with menus for the soldiers in the camps and in the field. She will sample the "chow" and will be available for conferences at the Army Bakers and Cooks schools.

Mrs. Stone declares that the foundation for her present post was built during her 4-H Club days in her home town of Black Earth, Wis.

MRS. MERYL P. STONE

her community and Mrs. Stone was one of its active members. Under her leadership the Black Earth organization won honors at a county fair for skill in sewing.

After high school Mrs. Stone entered the University of Wisconsin to major in home economics. Following her graduation she served as internship as a future dietitian at the University of Michigan and established a training course in dietetics for student nurses at a Detroit hospital.

Going to New York she joined the staff of a large commercial concern and continued her work in preparing recipes and balancing their caloric contents for hotels, schools, hospitals and other institutions. Romance and marriage came for the former Wisconsin 4-H Club girl and last summer with her lawyer husband, she moved to Washington, where she continued active in her chosen field.

The story of her career is not unlike that of many other women on duty for our Army, as shown by the files of the War Department. Four-H Club girls recruited from various sections of the country have answered the call to service and are giving the Government the benefit of their skill, thrift and efficient training. As home demonstration agents, many young women from rural communities are strengthening the civilian forces, and in other fields they have shown resourcefulness and initiative in their patriotic efforts for the nation's defense.

NEW POWER PLANT ON OCCOQUAN RUN

According to information available in Washington The Occoquan Company, a Virginia Corporation, has applied for license to build a big plant at Occoquan Run. It is said that this electric plant is not designed to supply power to retail customers but to augment the supply of electricity available to the Virginia Electric Service Company and other distributors. The site is described as "one-fourth of a mile upstream from Route 123 highway bridge at Tidewater, 14 miles southwest of Alexandria."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Love" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 1.

The Golden Text will be "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness" (Isa. 41:10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The power of Christian Science and divine Love is omnipotent. It is indeed adequate to unclasp the hold and to destroy disease, sin, and death" (p. 412).

FARMERS URGED TO MAINTAIN OR REPAIR FARM MACHINERY

Every usable farm machine must be put in shape and kept in top condition if Agriculture is to do its part in the 1942 Farm Defense Program. W. C. Walker, chairman of the County USDA Defense Board, warned this week. The 1942 Farm Defense goals call for the highest total annual production of certain farm crops, milk, eggs, and meat products on record.

With the manufacture of new machinery and equipment in 1942 supply curtailed because of defense demands for steel, copper, and other metals, farmers will have to largely depend upon existing machinery. In addition, labor may be limited in 1942.

Machinery now on farms was used this year to produce one of the largest crops on record, Walker, said, and most of this same machinery can be reconditioned to make the 1942 crops. It is urgent that farmers check all implements and order any needed parts immediately. Early orders offer the best assurance that parts will be obtained.

Another important contribution that farmers can make to the defense effort is the sale of all scrap iron and steel not usable on the farm, Mr. Walker says. Sale of farm scrap will help to relieve the national shortage, and provide more metal for manufacture of farm implements and defense equipment.

We wish to thank our various correspondents for sending their notes early this week.

Certificates Awarded To 494 Employees

Automobile drivers of the Fairfax Division of the Virginia Public Service Company who had perfect no-accident records through 1941, were presented with Certificates of Merit today by T. E. McDonough, Fairfax Division Manager.

Mr. McDonough said that for the Company as a whole, a total of 494 employees received Certificates—the greatest number in the Company's history. It was stated that the record-breaking total in 1941 was the result of education and reiteration of safety rules plus employee cooperation brought about by the Company's Safety department.

A feature of the Company's safety efforts, the local utility executive said, was monthly meetings of employees where accidents and accident prevention methods were analyzed and discussed. Emphasis was placed not only on the desirability of protecting Company property and the safety of drivers and passengers but public property as well, and above all in the safety of pedestrians, other drivers and passengers.

Even greater accentuation of safety training is planned for 1942. Mr. McDonough states that the Virginia Public Service Company as well as the public in general is restricted on the purchase of tires, automobiles and vehicular equipment in general. This, he said, will make it necessary to make tires and automobiles last longer, thereby necessitating far greater care in auto operation and inspection.

Certificates of Merit for safe driving in 1941 were awarded on a basis of from one to 8 years, the practice having been instituted in 1934.

Fairfax employees who received awards and the number of years of no accident operation were:

J. H. Finchman	8 Years
A. E. Casch	1 Year
C. E. Kates	8 Years
T. E. Groff	2 Years
T. E. McDonough	2 Years
G. L. Frints	8 Years
L. C. Wortman	8 Years
R. N. Wrenn	8 Years

An automobile accident is considered as any accident in which the driver's vehicle is involved, unless properly parked, where such accident results in death, personal injury, or property damage and regardless of who was hurt, what property was damaged, or who was responsible.

BRUSH PILES IMPROVE WINTER GAME COVER

Winter wood cutting on farm woodlots can be highly beneficial to valuable forms of wildlife if the brush which accumulates is thrown together into large brush piles which provide winter cover for rabbits, quail, and other small game, according to biologists of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

Not only do brush piles provide wildlife with protection from severe weather and natural enemies, but they may also furnish some food for rabbits and help prevent these animals from feeding upon the bark of valuable living fruit and shade trees.

When piled properly, brush piles serve as good feeding stations where whole corn or other foods may be put out for game during severe winter weather. Good feeding shelters can be made by leaning the brush against a large tree or rail fence, so that there will be a few square feet of open ground below. Corn thrown into this opening under the brush when all natural wildlife food is covered by snow will save small game from starvation.

Large brush piles have been found more effective than smaller ones. Piles up to five feet high and fifteen feet in diameter are recommended.

SPARE HOLLOW TREES

A number of hollow trees should be spared during the winter wood cutting. These "dent" trees are the homes of many valuable game and fur-bearing animals, and they are the favored nesting sites of many birds.

Such valuable wildlife food plants as dogwood, sassafras, persimmon, grapes, Virginia creeper, and sumac should not be eliminated from the farm woodlot.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

In order to conserve newspaper, we must proceed to adjust our mailing lists more strictly than we have in the past.

Our notice, in December, met with wonderful response. However, there are still subscribers who are accepting the paper with no arrangement as to payment. We do not charge our regular correspondents, or anyone who has rendered some special service for which we are giving the Journal is recognition of that fact.

We are extending our period of "grace" for a few more weeks, after which the names of those who are far in arrears, and who have made no payments during 1941, will have to be removed.

We would truly appreciate your courtesy in using a penny post card and notifying us of the fact that you do not want the Journal continued. After your name has been removed, the twenty-five cents penalty will be imposed to reinstate it.

We value our newspaper family but we can also only value your estimate of the paper by your attention to this notice.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible scriptures, it will prove a precious heritage to them in after years. Fight the good faith. Lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou also called.—1 Tim. 6:12.

RESTORATION OF LOCAL AUTHORITY

Without the slightest reflection upon the patriotism and devotion of the hundreds of citizens who have been engaged in Civilian Defense work, it is gratifying to note that Governor Darden has swept the whole Civilian Defense Program, inaugurated by Governor Price, off the slate, and restored authority in these matters to the respective Counties and Cities, which, after all, are charged by law with these responsibilities and who will have to help pay the bills.

For a long time we have wondered why it has been necessary to build up so many new agencies to perform services which under our constitutional law are already assigned to the various branches of our State and local civil government. Carried to its utmost extreme, such a practice actually could result in the reduction of existing government authority almost to the vanishing point. We should no longer need City Councils, Boards of Supervisors, Mayors and Municipal Managers because under volunteer service all of their functions would have been absorbed.

It would then only require a certain kind of war shock to really overthrow government, because these loosely jointed volunteer committees, with various conflicting authorities and lack of experience, would not be able to stand up under any such concussion. The impact of invasion, or serious air-raids would open a paradise for Fifth Column activity under the type of Civilian Defense which had been set up in Virginia, where the arrangement is not uniform and authority so badly muddled.

In restoring the authority of City and County Government in Defense matters, making them responsible directly to the Governor of Virginia, we are assured of greater efficiency, safety and likewise the fullest opportunity for every citizen to fight or work for the successful culmination of a war which promises to be long and bloody.

GREEN-LINTON

The Grace Methodist Church in Manassas was the scene of a pretty wedding, solemnized in a setting of ferns and white candles, at 4 P. M. on Saturday, January 24th, when Miss Dorothy Isabel Linton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Linton, became the bride of Mr. Philip Starr Green of Norwalk, Connecticut. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Revs. W. O. Luttrell and Norman Luck, a great-uncle of the bride.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, wore a street length jacket frock of powder blue crepe and a matching hat ornamented with blue feathers and a veil. Her corsage was of white rose buds and stevia.

Miss Martha Grymes was the maid of honor and wore a dusty rose jacket frock with black accessories and a corsage of blue iris and white narcissus. Mr. James Ritter was the best man.

A reception in the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The out-of-town guests included: Mr. Ralph Green, of Wilton, Connecticut, Mr. Pete Hansen, of New York City, Mrs. Joseph Stup, Mrs. Howard Burgon, Mrs. Josephine Graeff and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Justis, all of Baltimore, Miss Ruth Linton, Miss Laurie Higgins, Mrs. Catherine Gedney, Miss Mary Gedney, Miss Phyllis White, Mr. and Mrs. B. The February Meeting of the Manassas Home Demonstration Club, a Furniture Clinic will be held on Thursday and Friday, February 5th and 6th, beginning at 10 A. M. on February 5th, at the home of Mrs. W. L. Lloyd.

Members are requested to bring articles to be refinished unmodeled, or unseated, with varnish removed, and article ready to be worked on.

The demonstration, given by Miss Alice Webb, will be on canning splint bottoms and remodeling. Members requested to bring lunches with them or come for any part of the two days.

TIRES RATIONED FOR JANUARY

Distributor Claude Hixson of the county tire rationing board to day stated that 16 passenger cars or light truck tires had been issued for January and eight tubes; also twenty-five truck tires and five tubes.

The quota for the month was exhausted with the exception of four truck tires and twenty four tubes and thirteen tubes for passenger cars.

For February the quota is 13 passenger tires and ten tubes; with twenty truck tires and 34 tubes.

RECORD USE OF LIME IN PRINCE WILLIAM

County Agent Frank Cox reports that Prince William farmers have obtained more than six thousand tons of ground limestone to date through the 1942 agricultural conservation program which began July 1, 1941. The main bulk of this tonnage was delivered in September, October and November with the largest monthly delivery being in October when 3,106 tons were trucked to the farms.

Excellent response has been received to the request to obtain the liming material now while it can still be obtained and applications were taken for approximately 1,000 tons for January and February delivery. Farmers who have not obtained the ground limestone for which they may be eligible are advised by Mr. Cox to make application for the earliest possible delivery as changing conditions could make it difficult and even impossible to obtain this important soil building material through the program at the usual time it is asked for in the spring.

WARDEN JOYCE

tinguishers, etc. From all the discussions, I believe the system we have recommended in Prince William County, Virginia, is the best; The sand and water spray system. Sand to smother the bomb with, or, if you have running water and a hose with a fine spray nozzle you may spray the bomb with the fine spray. Chemicals are out of the question with us Farmers and others living in the country. Chemicals may be all right for those who can get all they need and without expense to those using them.

We, in the country better stick to what we can easily get without cost: (Sand, and a water spray if we have the water and hose. I honestly believe the SAND is the best of all when used as we have been taught to use it.

Some of our people seem to be getting agitated because of the statement in the papers that Governor Darden is going to revamp the Civilian Defense Setup in the state. Don't let that worry any of you. You good people in the various communities will have to take care of your own communities no matter what they do in Richmond and other large cities. You may be sure you are not going to get much if any help from Richmond. You will have to carry on in your own communities as you have been doing, and you are doing a very excellent job now, so do not get lax on it because of anything you read in the papers.

I have been trying to get Badges for all Air Raid Wardens in the County, and at last have been promised they will be available in two or three weeks. However, I am not going to count on them until I see them. As soon as they become available, you good folks will get yours. In the meantime, let us carry on and have everything in readiness when and if our services are needed. Let our motto be: WE ARE ALWAYS READY FOR ANYTHING.

Read your County Paper. You will get all the latest news in it about everything of interest to Air Raid Wardens, and to your communities in general.

Thos. F. Joyce

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN FLORIDA

Mr. Cloyd M. Summers who lived near Manassas for a number of years died on Sunday at his winter home near Sebring, Florida. Interment was at Linville, his old home in Rockingham, on Tuesday of this week.

Prior to his retirement in 1934, he operated a farm in this county since a young man. He leaves many friends and relatives in Virginia to mourn his loss.

LEE MAY

Lee May, aged 67 farmer and prominent citizen of Timberville, Va. died at his late home on January 18th. The funeral took place on January 21, and was one of the largest funerals held in the county for sometime.

He was born in Hardy County, West Virginia on May 31, 1874. As a young man he taught school for a number of years before going into farming as a life profession. He made a very fine reputation in the teaching world of West Virginia, being recognized for his merit in various ways. During his residence in West Virginia he also gave some time to the mercantile business at Mathias.

Coming to Rockingham County in 1908, he soon enjoyed the same high degree of public confidence in his new location. He made an able farmer and was quite energetic in his community activities. Very little of any importance transpired which did not depend in some degree on his help and advice.

In politics, he was an ardent Democrat. One of his largest business ventures was the organization of the Shenandoah REA Project.

Besides the widow and six children he leaves a number of brothers and sisters, among whom is Seymours Stultz, of Aden.

FENWICK FIGHTS FOR AIRPORT

Introduces Bill To Keep Area Within Virginia

Hon. Charles R. Fenwick, Delegate to the General Assembly of Virginia from Arlington County has introduced legislation which parallels action in Congress to preserve the authority of Virginia over the Washington National Airport, which lies within the historic boundaries of Virginia, but which is claimed by the district of Columbia.

The bill fixes the State line as the high water mark of the Potomac on the Virginia shore, except at the Airport which would be placed entirely within the State and end the controversy which has been waged over jurisdiction. The Airport would thus become a Federal reservation within the Old Dominion.

Mr. Fenwick explains that to cede the airport to Virginia completely would entail upon Arlington County an expenditure of around $50,000 for fire and police protection. Under his plan, it is also stated Virginia would reserve the right to collect the automobile and gasoline taxes, and to enforce the Virginia liquor laws, the latter being a special bone of contention with District of Columbia authorities who apparently want bar-rooms there.

EXECUTIVE BOARD TO MEET

Modern Betsy Ross, Artist in Needlecraft, Makes All Army Flags

Betsy Ross, 1942

The year 1942 marks the 165th anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes, today a battle flag proudly carried by American armed forces in every continent on the globe.

In January, 1777, the American people, elated by General Washington's recent victories at Trenton and Princeton, were seeking an emblem for the new nation. The Congress on June 14 following adopted a resolution providing for a flag of 13 alternate red and white stripes with 13 white stars on a blue field. And then the inspiring story of Betsy Ross who made the first Star-Spangled Banner in her little upholstery shop in Arch Street, Philadelphia.

Today the modern Betsy Ross still sews in Philadelphia—one of hundreds of women skilled in needlecraft. She plies her art in the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot where all the flags used by the United States Army are made.

Story of Betsy Ross

Betsy Ross was born January 1, 1752, and died January 30, 1836, but it was not until a third of a century after her death that the legend of her handiwork in the making of the first flag became generally known. One of her descendants, W. J. Canby, related the incident before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania in 1870 and since then she has been exalted as a national heroine.

The modern Betsy takes keen pride in their work. Many have reached the highest perfection in the art of embroidery, in designing and the blending of colors. Nameless though they are to millions of people who are thrilled by the sight of glorious banners fashioned from their delicate stitches, they are rewarded by the knowledge that the flags they have wrought are today the signals of liberty and freedom afar amid the fogs of Iceland and in the battlemoke of the Philippines.

The most stirring sight at the Quartermaster Depot is the making of the flag. After thorough inspection of the cloth to insure that it comes up to rigid specifications, the bunting is marked and cut with an electrically driven cutting machine into strips of two lengths for making the flag. One hundred strips are cut in a single operation. The blue field for the stars is cut in the same manner. The material for stars is stamped out with a steel-cutting die on an electric-driven stamping machine. The alternate red and white stripes are joined together on a double-needle sewing machine.

Each blue bunting field is carefully marked for its stars, and the stars are stitched on with a special machine that produces a zig zag stitch. Other operations complete the making of the flag of the United States.

The manufacture of silk colors and standards is a specialized art at the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot. The stripes and field are cut by hand but the stars are made of solid embroidered silk on a Swiss hand embroidering machine. The blue fields are placed in frames on a machine provided with many needles and these turn out a stitch resembling hand embroidery, both sides alike.

Regimental Standards

Regimental colors and standards, with their coats-of-arms and mottoes, each distinctive unto its own military unit, are embroidered by hand. As many as 30 different shades of silk thread are used in embroidering each flag. This calls for exceptional skill and care to produce the predetermined designs in their exact blending of shades. All designs are passed upon by technical experts in the office of the Quartermaster General.

Proudest moment of the Philadelphia flag makers is when they receive an order for the colors carried as a symbol representing the Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States—the President. This color has a blue background in the center of which is embroidered the seal of the President. There is one white star in each corner of the flag, representing his grade as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy. This color has gold and silver fringe on three sides, and also has a cord and tassels secured immediately below the flagstaff headpiece, consisting of a gold-braided spread eagle. The design of this flag was established by Executive Order of President Woodrow Wilson on May 29, 1916.

A Confederate Statesman

THE STORY OF A GREAT JEW

Clothed in rustic homespun made by a patriotic housewife of the "lost cause", a French-speaking farmer carefully made his way down the west coast of Florida from Georgia, avoiding towns, keeping an ever watchful eye for federal troops who might stop his buggy.

Few but his personal friends would have recognized him as the man who a few short weeks before had held the portfolio of the third highest office in the Confederate cabinet.

Yet, here he was, Judah P. Benjamin, once ablest attorney in all Louisiana, former U. S. senator, a framer of the Louisiana state constitution, a founder of the future Illinois Central railroad, sugar cane experimenter and Confederate secretary of state, with a price of $50,000 on his head.

Judah Philip Benjamin was born on August 6, 1811, on the island of St. Thomas, according to some historians, or on the island of St. Croix, according to others. Both, then British West Indian possessions, now comprise part of the U. S. Virgin Islands.

His parents, a Portuguese Jewess and an unsuccessful London Jewish merchant, had started for New Orleans from London some three years before his birth but had been forced to halt in the West Indies by the Napoleon blockade of the Mississippi.

When he was four, Benjamin's family moved to Charleston, S. C., where he obtained some early schooling before going to the celebrated academy at Fayetteville, N. C. with one of his two brothers and one of his two sisters.

His capacity for studious application and hard work showed itself early at school. He was noted for his habit of devoting recess periods to study instead of to play like his classmates.

At 14, he entered Yale university where he remained for three years until financial circumstances forced him to leave. Among books left behind there was one from President Day for excellence of scholarship.

After a short visit to his family in Charleston, where his father was unsuccessfully running a small shop on King Street, Benjamin headed for New Orleans. Only 17, he arrived in the Louisiana city with $5 in his pockets.

His first position was with a warehouse firm but shortly afterwards, he became clerk to a notary, Greenbury R. Stringer, and began studying law and French.

In December, 1832, at the age of 21, he was admitted to the bar. For his own law practice purposes, he began compiling a digest of the reported decisions of the superior courts of the territory of Orleans and state of Louisiana. But attorney friends began to borrow the manuscript, find the Senate with him, made him attorney general. Five months after war began Benjamin became Confederate secretary of war.

When, after the fall of Roanoke, a confederate senate investigating committee demanded to know why he, as secretary of war, had failed to send ammunition to help the Roanoke troops, Benjamin refused to answer. "Judas Iscariot Benjamin," he was called.

Davis, who knew the facts, however, elevated him in March, 1862 to the secretaryship of state. In 1861, 19 years later, it was finally publicly revealed that Benjamin had accepted dishonor in order not to reveal at the time that there had been no ammunition to send Roanoke, a disclosure which would have demoralized the Confederate troops and encouraged the Union army.

Then, on a fateful Sunday morning, April 2, 1865, President Davis, as he sat in St. Paul's Church listening to popular Dr. Charles F. E. Minnigerode conduct services, received a telegram. The telegram, from General Lee, announced the speedy withdrawal from Petersburg and the need to evacuate Richmond. Quietly, Davis rose, went to his office, called his cabinet and gave the necessary instructions.

That evening, in the midst of confused crowds seeking transportation from the city, the cabinet pushed its way through hundreds of excited people and boarded a train for Danville, Va. A week later, on Monday, April 10, more fateful news reached the cabinet at its temporary refuge in Danville, the news that Lee was overwhelmed.

A train carried the cabinet to Greensboro, N. C., but there the Confederate officials found the railroad south of Greensboro had been cut. They turned to horses and wagons.

On May 3, 1865 near Washington, Ga., Benjamin and Davis parted, the former planning to continue southward to Florida while Davis headed west.

Disguised as a Frenchman seeking farmland on which to settle, Benjamin pushed towards the west coast of Florida. Originally, he had proposed to go down the east coast, through the Indian River, now famous for its fruit growing. But no boat would be available there, he had been informed, and so he headed towards Sarasota, Florida.

Still loyal Confederates guided him on his way until he could find temporary refuge at Ellenton on the Manatee River on a 3,600 acre sugar plantation, previously the property of Major Robert Gamble and at that time the property of Captain Archibald McNeill, deputy commissary agent of the Manatee section under Confederate Captain James McKay.

Finally on June 23, 1865, after at least one narrow escape when Union troops searched the Gamble Mansion, Benjamin sailed for Bimini from Sarasota where the Sarasota chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy unveiled a monument to him on January 22.

The monument, of pink Georgia marble, stands approximately five feet high and is topped by a bronze sun-dial. Carved into its stone face is the inscription: "Near This Spot On June 23, 1865 Judah P. Benjamin, Secretary of the State Of The Confederacy Set Sail For A Foreign Shore."

But that which should have marked the end of an ordinary man, merely marked the beginning of a new phase in his phenomenal career. After harrowing voyages via Bimini, Nassau and Cuba, that included storm and wreck and fire and gunboat pursuit, Benjamin at the age of 54, suffering from diabetes and a weak heart, found himself safe at last in England. Immediately he began work to recoup all he had striven for during the 33 years as a member of the American bar.

Throughout his life, he had provided amply for his sisters and brothers, wife and child. Now, he began again to study law, this time for the English bar. Through the intercession of leading English legal lights, he gained admission to the English bar in six months instead of three years and began another sensational rise to preeminence equal to that he had held before the American bar.

Two years after admission, he had completed his famous work on the English laws of sales, known now as "Benjamin on Sales" and still in use today as a major law school text and the authority in its field.

Only fear of offending the U. S. government forestalled his appointment to the English bench.

In the 16 years of his English law practice, his fees totalled almost $1,000,000.

Upon his retirement from the English bar, leaders of England's legal profession paid him profuse tribute with a banquet, the first of its kind ever given an English barrister. Among them, was Lord Coleridge who recalled that an old friend had told him that 40 years a similar honor had been planned for Story, one of the 10 greatest judges in the history of English jurisprudence.

"Forty years have elapsed," said Lord Coleridge, "and we pay such honor to one more distinguished than Story."

EXCITING NEW FILM HAILED AS MOST UNUSUAL OF YEAR

The Public acclaims 20th Century-Fox's "Hot Spot" the year's most exciting mystery drama, and stamped Betty Grable, Victor Mature and Carole Landis Hollywood's three most exciting people.

Sensational was the word used for Betty; new "it" man was what they called Vic; terrific was the description of Carole.

"Hot Spot" is a thrilling, spine-freezing mystery drama. Based on Steve Fisher's novel, "I Wake Up Screaming," it tells a story that had the audience spellbound.

Mature as a promoter, Alan Mowbray as an actor, and Allyn Joselyn as a newspaper columnist select Carole, a waitress, as the girl they are going to glamorize and make the darling of cafe society. The plan succeeds, and Carole is offered a Hollywood contract which she accepts without consulting her backers. The next day she is found murdered.

Mature is really on the spot, because detective Laird Cregar has decided to prove that he is the killer. Betty, meanwhile, has fallen for Vic although he is suspected of murdering her sister and she hides evidence which apparently adds to his guilt.

Together Vic and Betty learn the real murderer, and make the detective accept the truth in the most amazing denouncement ever shown on the screen.

OPPORTUNITY FOR STUDENTS

Lieutenant Commander Herbert G. Chandler in charge of Navy Recruiting activities for the Virginia District has been advised by the Navy Department that starting immediately students in schools or college who have reached the age of 17 and have not yet had their 20th birthday may be enlisted in Class V-1 Naval Reserve and upon their own request placed on inactive duty until completion of current scholastic year unless military situation necessitates Navy Department calling them to active duty beforehand. Schools and colleges will be encouraged to give extra physical training and studies to young men in this category during next four months as recommended by the Navy Department. Commandants will not call any of these men to active duty until orders are issued by the Navy Department. Naval recruiting will continue on a voluntary basis. For more information contact your local navy recruiting station.

LOCAL TB QUOTA WELL EXCEEDED

Chairman Gibson Reports
Almost One Thousand Dollars
Raised

The treasurer of the Prince William County T. B. Association, Mrs. A. A. Moff, makes the following report:

Brentsville	$74.97
Coles	$16.08
Dumfries	$339.09
Gainesville	$89.12
Manassas	$271.94
Ocequan	$79.55
North Riding	$121.48
Total	$992.23

The chairman of the association, Rev. A. S. Gibson, expresses the hope that the splendid showing will be augmented by some kind friend to a total of $1,000. The chairman also expresses great satisfaction at the fact that quota ($956.44) was exceeded so well.

Preliminary but incomplete reports from the sale of Christmas Seals last month show that Virginians were generous in contributing more money than ever before to help wage the year-round war to control and eradicate tuberculosis. George W. Call, treasurer of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, announced yesterday.

Incomplete returns, Mr. Call said, reveal that the Old Dominion gave $149,146.61 to the Christmas Seal fund in 1941, which compares with a grand total of $147,269.05 realized from the 1940 Sale, which set an all-time high in this annual holiday appeal.

Mr. Call pointed out that reports so far made have been submitted by 93 of Virginia's 100 counties, 15 of its 18 cities, and two of its three state sanatoria. In 1940 the missing seven counties, three cities and one sanatoria gave a total of $9,159.51, and it is safe to assume, according to Mr. Call, that the present total will be exceeded when missing reports for 1941 are received.

While the returns from the last campaign are highly gratifying to officials of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, Mr. Call said that it was doubtful whether final and complete reports would reach the goal set for the State campaign in 1941, which was $178,660.09. Indications pointed, however, according to the treasurer, to a final total in the neighborhood of $160,000.

"In view of the added burdens and responsibilities imposed by the war upon our association and its affiliated city and county organizations," declared Mr. Call, "we are not going to have enough money to carry out in full the part we are playing in helping the State and local health authorities to curb tuberculosis. It is a notorious fact that the danger of tuberculosis mounts in wartime, and we have pressing need for all the funds we can get. My earnest hope is that persons who did not buy Christmas Seals during the holiday season will send in their contributions; they will be more than welcome, as our year's program is just starting."

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING COOPERATIVE WORK TO DATE SUCCESSFUL

Members of the Northern Virginia Artificial Breeding Cooperative from Prince William, Fauquier, Fairfax and Culpeper Counties met at the Court House at Manassas Tuesday. The report of Secretary Walter Nourse showed the finances of the association to be in sound condition.

Dr. Robert Barton, Association Technician, reported that the artificial method was proving successful and that 763 of the approximately 1,200 cows in the breeding cooperative had been artificially inseminated to date with the number of repeat inseminations comparing very favorably with that reported by dairymen employing the usual breeding method.

C. T. Rice, Oakton, Va. dairymen, was the main speaker and stressed the importance of dairymen using superior sires such as are in use in the local association. Dr. Gordon Ward of V. P. I. commended the spirit of Northern Virginia dairymen in blazing the way for this improved breeding method whereby a limited number of superior dairy sires were made available for use of a large number of dairymen through the four counties. General satisfaction with the operation of the association was expressed by the membership.

AGRICULTURAL BOARD ORGANIZED HERE

At a meeting of farm men and women at the Manassas Post Office Friday, January 23, a County Board of Agriculture was organized and the following co-chairmen elected for each district of the county: Gainesville, J. M. Piercy and Mrs. Frances Robertson. Brentsville, John Ellis and Mrs. W. R. Free; Manassas, W. M. Johnson and Mrs. L. B. Thomas; Coles, E. L. Herring and Mrs. Carleton Y. Hill; Dumfries, J. L. Cato and Mrs. Magruder Keyes; Ocequan, G. C. Russell and Mrs. E. W. Thompson.

The above chosen chairmen will again meet at the Manassas Post Office Saturday, January 31, at 10 a. m. to divide their districts into neighborhoods and to choose committeemen and committeewomen to serve for each neighborhood.

SAW BOMBING AT PEARL HARBOR

Walter Wesselius, assistant national director of disaster relief of the American Red Cross addressed the dinner meeting of the Arlington Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday.

"Conditions in China" was his subject and he will be presented by the committee-chairman of the legislation committee, Mrs. Virginia Marcus. Assisting here are Miss Anna F. Hedrick and Mrs. Margaret Halquist.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesselius have returned to their home at 1226 North Arlington Street from Hawaii, where he was treated at the Army Hospital in Honolulu for malaria contracted on the Burma Road. He had come to spend a year in China where he witnessed bombings by the Japanese.

The couple saw the attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, and left the islands on one of the several convoy ships carrying victims of the bombing.

Marine Corps Tank Units Are Among The Best

Tanks are playing an important part in the present World war and United States Marines have plenty of them. These are just a few metal monsters the Leathernecks will use when the time is ripe. The personnel of the Marine tank outfit is composed of trained experts. The "tanks" pictured in the rear of the tanks are radio antennae. Orders are received by radio. Each tank has its own radio transmitter.

"U. S. Defense Savings Bonds - heard of them? Sure you have, who hasn't. These Defense Bonds are receiving the greatest, the biggest, the most spectacular, the most genuinely enthusiastic presentation of anything ever offered the American public - wholeheartedly backed, endorsed and promoted by thousands of Americans, men and women, "Minute-Men", giving of their time and talents, all on a gratis basis, instilled by patriotism, by love of country.

"You are all aware of the tremendous amount of radio publicity which these Defense Bonds have received since the Bonds were placed on sale. But you probably did not realize that all of it has been contributed to this cause by commercial sponsors and scores of stars of the entertainment world.

"The Treasury Hour, "Millions For Defense" is only the most spectacular of these contributions. Practically all companies which use radio network time to advertise their products have consistently, since the Defense Savings Program began, contributed part of that time to boost the sale of Defense Bonds. Practically every radio station in the country has broadcast five spot announcements about the Bonds every day since the first of May.

"Banks are contributing their services by handling bond sales without commission or cost to either the Government or the investor.

"Large national advertisers and many local business firms are using their billboard, newspaper and other advertising space to keep the objectives of the Defense Savings Program constantly before the public.

"It is safe to say that never in the history of the country have so many individuals and agencies joined together to advertise a single product."

"THESE DEFENSE BONDS WERE MADE AVAILABLE MAY 1, 1941."
