Virginia Administrator Reports On Program Of Training

One every minute, day and night, Sundays and holidays included—that's the rate at which NYA-trained youth are going from the national defense training workshops of the National Youth Administration into war industries, with Virginia contributing an average of 65 a week to the national total.

In a report made public today, State Youth Administrator Walter S. Newman announced that the National Youth Administration in Virginia is now completely geared to our war effort with all NYA youth in the State getting practical experience and training essential to war industries and to civilian defense.

"At the present time 5,302 Virginia youth are employed on the out-of-school programs of the NYA. A high percentage of these young people are getting experience and training in the metal and mechanical fields essential for jobs in war production industries and for the mechanized branches of the armed forces. Other are preparing for occupations essential to the public health and to civilian defense.

"NYA youth learn a job by doing it, in workshops using production methods corresponding to those in private industry. By intensive in the job training, these young acquire experience and dexterity in the handling of tools and machinery, military with trade terms and mechanical processes, proper work habits, and general shop and safety practices," Dr. Newman stated.

There are now 11 national defense training centers and projects in operation by the NYA in Virginia in which out-of-school youth between the ages of 17 and 24 are given work experience and training in such occupations as lathe operation, welding, radio, sheet metal, auto mechanics and power sewing.

"The success of the NYA defense is indicated by the fact that our youth are going into jobs in private industry at the rate of 500 a month in Virginia and 43,000 a month nationally. In recent weeks NYA youth have secured jobs in such industries as aircraft manufacturing, radio, equipment manufacturing, ship-building and drydock work," Dr. Newman reported.

FIREMEN CAGERS WIN 12-13 AND 14TH GAME

Saturday night, February 7, the Fireballers were guests of the Haymarket five and came out on the high end of the score after tracking by six points at the end of the third quarter.

Without the services of Leith and Vetter, their two star guards, the Firemen had to play hard to register their 45-35 victory in the hall of fame. In the opening game the Haymarket Lassies nosed out a 27-26 closely matched contest with our Fire Lassies who were also without the services of several stars.

Monday, February 9, the Fireballers were victorious hosts to the strong Navy yard five.

The Navy Yard bought a nice strong team and put up a five scrap all the way. They led at the half but lost in the second by one point-35-36.

"Herby" Saunders added the spark for the Fireballers while Mandes looked best for the losers.

Just last night, February 11, the Fireballers again went to town and left Clifton on the losing end of a 34-36 battle.

The Fireballers walked away with the first hard fought quarter at 8-0 with first string sub, Gilbert Schriver, counting for 5.

The half ended 13-10 in our favor and from then on it was see-saw back and forth all the way. Captain Leith was on hand to lead his squad but stars Vetter and Saunders were on the absent list.

We publish for our readers the third of a series of box scores showing how our Fireballers stand among one another. This record is effective up to their game Saturday night with Haymarket.

THE FORESTRY REPORT

The latest report on the Christmas Seal Sale for Prince William County is $998.21. By this time we can feel sure that it has reached its $1,000 mark. This result is proof of the effort put forth by the chairmen and sub-chairmen of the committees and the response of the public and their efforts. The Prince William County Chapter wishes to thank all who have helped to make our Seal Sale such a grand success.

CLASSES FINISH IN FIRST AID

Brentsville District Provides Stations

A class in Red Cross First Aid was completed on February 10 at Nokesville. Thirteen members enrolled and completed the course. They have provided for First Aid Stations in the various communities of Brentsville District and they will supervise the stations in their respective communities.

First Aid Stations and the supervisors are:

Greenwich	J. W. Ellis
	Mrs. J. W. Ellis
Bristow	Miss Mary E. Dickens
	J. L. Rollins
Brentsville	Mrs. Hazel H. Stephens
	Mrs. James Shoemaker
Aden	Mrs. Susie E. Smith
	Mrs. Everett Marshall
	Mrs. Howard H. Marshall
	Mr. Howard H. Marshall
Nokesville	Mr. William F. Hale II
	Mr. Fred T. Shepherd
	Mr. William R. Nelson, Jr.

Another class will begin on February 19 at the local school. Classes will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7:00 to 10:00 and will run a minimum of 20 hours. Everybody in Brentsville District who wants to take the course should see either Mrs. Julia Hale or Charles Bonham not later than February 17. All who can are urged to take advantage of this opportunity.

LOCAL P. T. A. MEETING

Supt. R. C. Haydon will be speaker at the meeting of the Manassas Parent Teacher Association on Thursday afternoon, February 19th, at 3:30 o'clock.

This meeting to be held in Bennett School Building, will also celebrate P. T. A. Founder's Day.

Mr. Haydon will talk on "Records and Evaluation," describing in detail reports of student records and home work. This talk will be followed by open discussion by the group. Parents are especially urged to hear Supt. Haydon and thereby get a clearer understanding of present day gradings and evaluation.

The Executive Board will meet at 3:00 the same afternoon in the Bennett Building.

CONVICTS TO HAVE MILITARY TRAINING

Behind the gray stone walls of the Ohio State Penitentiary, a convict Defense Legion will be trained in some of the arts of modern warfare. The legion is part of a rehabilitation plan by Brig. General Frank D. Henderson, prison warden who is credited with amazing reforms. The story of General Henderson's plan is outlined in an illustrated feature article appearing in the Washington Sunday Star next Sunday.

This week the Commission on Forests and Forest Land Problems released its report to Governor Price as House Document No. 8, dated December 19, 1941.

If the investigation represented a sincere effort to carry out the mandate of the 1910 General Assembly we would say that its seemingly modest recommendations would be well worth the small sum of five hundred dollars appropriated for the study, but under the circumstances surrounding this investigation we incline to the belief that the only recommendation made which is really worthy of consideration at this time by the General Assembly is the one asking for continuation of the study.

This ought by all means to be done, but of course with provisions which will make it impossible to again so abuse the valuable facility of legislative investigation as has obviously been the case in the present instance.

We do not hesitate to say that the present report fails to tell the people of Virginia the truth in a very fundamental matter. And certainly if the Commission, with all due respect to its distinguished personnel, has chosen to be evasive and at least insincere in any important detail, then none of its recommendations are worthy of consideration.

The Commission says that the existence of the War and the National emergency has made it inadvisable for it to recommend a comprehensive program of legislation. But the TRUTH is that the Commission did not get down to work until at least half of its available time had elapsed, and then, naturally, could not handle the job. Although other legislative Commissions were largely designated before adjournment of the 1940 Session of the General Assembly, Governor Price did not complete his appointments to the Forestry Commission until a year later; and when he did finally name his men, he placed upon the Commission the Chairman of the Department in which the State Forest Service is located, thus practically extending to the agency under scrutiny of the legislature the privilege of investigating itself.

However, we believe that the

BRUCE AND BRIGHT MAY GET STATE POSTS

David K. E. Bruce, member of the House of Delegates from Charlotte County, and Brigadier-General J. Palmer Bright, former Mayor of Richmond and present State commodity administrator, are prominently mentioned among possible appointees to high State positions by Governor Darden.

Mr. Bruce is considered a likely choice for commissioner of game and inland fisheries, political observers report, and General Bright, some observers have said, may be named to succeed Brigadier-General Samuel Gardner Waller, head of Virginia's military department.

Price appointees who have been re-named by Governor Darden include Dabney S. Lancaster, State superintendent of public instruction; J. R. Abbott, director of the division of buildings and grounds, and L. M. Walker, Jr., commissioner of agriculture.

PAWNBROKERS BILL

A bill requiring all pawnbrokers in Virginia to submit a list of articles accepted by them to police each day has been passed by the Senate and sent to the Governor for signature. The legislation, sponsored by Delegate Charles R. Fenwick, is similar to law in New York and other State.

TO AID DEFENSE PROGRAM

There will be a dance given by Brentsville Home Demonstration Club Tuesday night, February 17th. Given at the old Court House at Brentsville. Given for National Defense. Come help a good cause. We shall appreciate your help.

CHICKEN PIE SUPPER

The Burke Union SS is holding a chicken pie supper on Saturday evening, February 14th, beginning at 5 P. M.

Forestry Commission as a group has really tried to do its best under these difficult circumstances and that after all the Commonwealth has gotten its money's worth, if only by placing before the General Assembly a striking example of the abuse of its investigative power.

The thing to do now is to continue the Forestry Commission for another biennium; changing its personnel, more definitely restricting the scope of the inquiry; providing a more adequate appropriation; and last, but most important, assigning to the Commission, a qualified full time investigator capable of getting the facts of forestry not merely in public hearings but wherever they are to be found. Such a full time expert, appointed by the Governor from the disinterested citizenship of the Commonwealth could also act as secretary of the Commission. The State Forest Service should be required to extend to the Commission full cooperation in making its records and working plans and other facilities available.

In the War emergency this Forestry Commission should be empowered to inform the Conservation Department or whatever State agency is responsible for the direction of the State Forest Service, of any facts which suggest immediate administrative action, without waiting for the conclusion of the study and printing of a report. This would be important because of the obvious necessity of quick action in time of war.

A weakness of all previous investigations of the Virginia forestry situation has been definition of the scope of such investigations. In all cases it has been defined to include practically the whole science of forestry with all of its controversial theories. The thing to do is to confine the investigation to the activities and efficiency of the State Forest Service, to insure that it is, or shall quickly become, and efficient, streamline organization, capable of meeting its responsibilities in time of war and not occupied with unimportant and impractical activities, which can be discontinued "for the duration" or cut out altogether.

NARCISSUS SHOW AT GADSBY'S TAVERN

The eleventh annual Narcissus Show of the Garden Club of Virginia will be held April 10 and 11, in historic Gadsby's Tavern, Alexandria, Va. It is announced by Mrs. James Sherier, State Chairman of the Show.

The annual Narcissus Show yearly draws exhibitors and visitors from all over Virginia and adjoining States, and has grown to be one of the outstanding historical events of the east and south. Gadsby's Tavern, chosen for this year's exhibition, is famous as the tavern of Colonial times frequented by Washington and other famous men of that day. In recent years it has been completely restored.

The show will be open to the public from 3 p. m. on April 10, and from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m. on April 11.

A CORRECTION

In listing the first aid stations established last week, an error was made in the names listed under Buckland. It should read Mrs. Davis Batshelder and not Mrs. King as given.

TO TAKE PART IN RADIO QUIZ

Warren H. McInteer of Quantico, a junior at Randolph-Macon College, is one of five men who will make up a quiz team, to be known as the "five smart boys," which will oppose the "five smart girls" from Randolph-Macon Woman's College in a quiz contest which will be the central feature of a Victory-Variety Show being held here Thursday night, February 12th.

Mr. McInteer is a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity and the Chi Beta Phi honorary scientific fraternity, belongs to the Varsity Club, plays Varsity baseball, holding down the first sack spot, and is listed regularly on the Dean's List, an indication of academic leadership.

LOCAL BANKER DIS- G. H. Wyse Appointed

Mayor Harry Davis, cashier of the National Bank, was present at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club last Friday as the guest speaker for the evening. He was introduced by Hunton Tiffany, chairman of the program for the evening.

Using specimens of the personal tax blank for 1941, Mr. Davis gave a most thorough exposition of the steep increases in taxation and how they are figured. When he finished his talk he was asked more questions than the average income tax accountant would encounter in several sittings.

Notice was read from the Washington club of the interclub meeting there on February 26th, at the Mayflower Hotel at which time the International President would be the guest of honor and made an address. Members of the local interclub committee are called on to get up the largest crowd possible and be on hand.

(Ed note-It seems that the reporter made a slight error last week. The young man who put on the very nice science movie was Richard Pannell, of the Manassas State Vocational School, and that actually Mr. Sigman had made the showing possible, having already presented it at several high schools.)

COUNTY FARMERS UNITE TO WIN

Prince William Board Of Agriculture Holds Conferences

Conferences of Neighborhood Committees and Committeewomen of the Prince William County Board of Agriculture are now being held throughout the county. District Co-Chairmen of the Board conducting these conferences are: Occoquan, M. G. Garber and Mrs. Janet Murphy; Coles, E. L. Herring and Mrs. Carlton Hill; Brentsville, John Ellis and Mrs. W. R. Free; Manassas, W. M. Johnson and Mrs. L. B. Thomas; Gainesville, J. M. Piercy, Sr., and Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson; Dumfries, J. L. Cato and Mrs. McCruder Keys.

Plowing of gardens and obtaining of seed call for immediate "Victory Garden" activities on the part of all families. An urgent need for putting all scrap iron into usable channels now exists. There is farm machinery in need of repair and for which parts should be obtained soon. More food and feed to produce more food is needed during the coming year.

District Chairmen and Neighborhood Committeemen of the County Board of Agriculture are accepting the responsibility of asking for the help and cooperation of all families in helping win the war through producing adequate food for our own needs and those of our allies.

RURITAN CLUB NEWS

The Ruritan Club of Nokesville will play a basketball game on Tuesday night, February 17th at 8 P. M. The opponents will be a picked team of Independent Women of the Community. The game will be played by Girls basketball rules. You have a treat in store to see such a swift team as the Ruritan will put on the floor possibly including such members as: Professor Bittle, Professor Beamers, N. N. Free, J. A. Hooker, Sam Whetzel, Charles Beahn, Rev. Newman and other members of the Club.

At the February meeting of the Ruritan of Nokesville a full Membership was present at the Home Economics Cottage of Nokesville High School for both the dinner and the business meeting. The various standing committees made reports of the objectives for the ensuing year. Among these objectives were: (1) Each member buy or assume responsibility for the sale of as many Defense Bonds as possible. (2) Sponsor Senior Banquet at Nokesville High School.

(3) Sponsor ladies night for the wives of Members of Ruritan club. (4) Make financial contribution to Week-day Week Religious Education as taught in public school. (5) Set aside one meeting during the year with appropriate speaker with emphasis on religion. (6) Sponsor a community Christmas tree. (7) Cooperate with the public school in play ground and recreational equipment.

The Committee on Agriculture have not submitted the report to the Club in that they are still considering objectives for the coming year.

As the steam-lined Defense Bill today received the final stamp of approval by the Senate Governor Colgate W. Darden, Jr. expressed his approval and said, before even affixing his signature he wanted, "to thank all volunteers for their fine work in the past and to enlist their support in even greater efforts in the future." "The war picture is dark and the task before us will be neither short nor easy," Governor Darden said. "The effort that must be made will probably be long and exhausting...not only for the troops in the field but on the part of those at home who are backing them up."

"The purpose of the Defense Act," Governor Darden said "is to coordinate the efforts of the volunteer groups all over the State and to enable us all to meet, more efficiently, the increasing burdens which will be imposed upon us."

The bill was signed Wednesday afternoon and the Governor immediately appointed J. H. Wyse to the post of Co-Ordinator, swells the list of important legislation which has already passed both Houses of the Assembly. Nine bills were signed by him Saturday, the first being one to authorize public officials to consent to surgical and medical treatment for minors who are wards of the State, while another bill signed relieves auto and tire dealers, hampered by Government rationing, from some of their 1942 tax levy. This was the first war measure to be signed.

One bill which passed last week, authorizing the abolishment of the three-man Unemployment Compensation Commission and its reorganization under a single head, has become law and John Q. Rhodes, former Motor Vehicle Commissioner has been named to the post.

The bill to enlarge the Highway Commission from 5 to 9 members, including the administrative member and one representative from each construction district sailed through the last legislative stage and headed for the Governor's signature, while the Moore Reorganization Bill is expected to pass this week.

The House of Delegates is wrestling this week with the bills to reduce the maximum small loan interest rate from three and a half to two percent per month; the restriction of the sale of fortified wines and beers to ABC stores; a bill to freeze all amercement proceedings until after the war and, of greatest importance to rural areas, the bill give financial assistance to counties for school bus transportation.

Several bills calling for varying amounts of financial State aid for school bus transportation have been presented to the Assembly and all referred to a sub-committee of the House Committee on Schools and Colleges. This sub-committee will tomorrow offer a substitute bill embodying the most practical features of all the other bills and calling for the distribution among Virginia counties of $500,000 per year to be allocated on a percentage basis arrived at by taking one half the number of bus miles traveled and one half the number of buses used in each county. The new bill will have as its patrons in the House of Delegates Preston Moses of Pittsylvania and Virgil Goode of Rocky Mount. Investigation has shown that Virginia counties spent $2,061,412 for school bus transportation during the 1940-41 session. The total number of bus miles traveled were 93,954 and 2,420 buses were used.

The county of Arlington has the distinction of spending less for school bus transportation than any other in the State, its transportation costs being listed at $618, while Fairfax County last year spent $35,000, and operated 39 buses. Other transportation costs into the northern Virginia area for 1940-41 were Fauquier, $27,904 and 27 buses used; Loudoun, $21,370 and 16 buses used and Stafford County, $13,710 and 16 buses used.

If the new bill should be passed, and, real fight between free-text books and transportation help is expected, Fairfax County, based on the percentage of buses and mileage, would stand to receive approximately $9,000 as transportation assistance from the State; Fauquier's share would be approximately $6,000, Loudoun's nearer to $7,000; Prince William's approximately $4,500 and Stafford County's share to be approximately $3,650.00.

The Founding of Haymarket

By Chas. J. Gillies

When Samuel Skinner, a wealthy merchant from Bristol, England, died in King George County, Virginia, in 1752, he left to his youngest son, William six tracts of land, of which one, his Green Hill Plantation, was located in Prince William County of that State. This large tract extended from East of Gainesville to the line of Colonel Robert Carter's (King Carter) Broad Run Tract, along the Bull Run Mountains on the West, and was acquired by Samuel about 1734, in part at least, from John Savage of Stafford County.

William Skinner, the founder of Haymarket, was a mere lad of fourteen years of age, when his father died. After a few years, he was sent to England to study for the ministry, but not liking his calling, he left school in 1760 without completing his education, and took up the trade of clock making. Returning to this country, he settled first in Norfolk, where he married Mary Powell (nee Sells) a widow, but later coming to his Green Hill Plantation, where he installed himself in a log cabin on the little knoll where the house of Messrs. George and Samuel Bleight now stands. It was this knoll which gave the name of Green Hill; which it bears today.

Through the Western end of Green Hill Plantation, running from North to South, was the famous old Carolina Road, called by Colonel Wood in 1662, the Susquehanna Plain Way, and later the Iriquois Trail, which by 1740, was beginning to be used to a considerable extent as a tobacco road, and by travelers and peddlers with pack horses, on their way South to barter shoes, saddles, harness, woolen goods and linen in exchange for cotton, indigo and money. Outside of the Kings Highway, which largely followed the route, the Carolina Road was the next most important North-South route, and so remained for many years.

Then about 1755, one of the two original tobacco roads from Dumfries, pushing Westward towards Thoroughfare Gap, crossed the Carolina Road at a point within Green Hill Plantation. What an ideal "cross roads" this became made. No wonder then a town should spring up at this point on the N. E. corner. Built of the large brick as made in the English style, mold and with well tempered mortar, which is so solid that the brick will split before the mortar will let go, we can vision a long low structure, at each end and a porch entirely across the front, well plastered with notices of run away slaves, horses sales and legal notices put up by the sheriff. No proof is at hand to show that the tavern was erected by William Skinner, nor has the name of "mine host" come down to us for any period. What we do know however, is that the land on which it stood, apparently never passed out of the hands of the Skinner family, from 1734 to 1852, when Lots 64 and 65 were sold to Thomas A. Smith.

In Virginia, taverns and ordinaries were seldom given names by their owners, as was the case elsewhere, but generally the public furnished a name, according to some characteristic or some times from the name of the owner. Built of mellowed red brick, and standing out as it did in the landscape, no wonder the name of Red House Tavern was first suggested by a tired traveler, as he spurred his jaded beast towards the hospitable doorway. So prevalent became this name, that when Thomas Jefferson in his map of the region, made in 1787, marks the locality thereon as Red House.

What became of the tavern? It burned at some period, as is proved by fused glass in the foundation, but this was certainly long before 1800, when most of Haymarket went up in flames from the torch of the Federal invaders. It was standing in January of 1809, when Mann Page III sold 5000 acres of land in front of its doors. Yet in 1804, one John Wigginton applied for a license to conduct a tavern in his house in Haymarket. Would he have done so if there were a tavern already standing in the Town. The old dog well of Red House Tavern, 72 feet deep, still furnishes clear cold water today, as it did to thirsty travelers and their beasts in days of yore; a mute reminder of the past.

By an Act of the Assembly, passed in the Session of 1798, entitled An Act to establish a town on the lands of William Skinner, in the County of Prince William: "Hay Market" came into being; the name no doubt being suggested by Haymarket in England, now a part of London. Nine trustees were appointed to see to the laying out of the new town. They were Henry Washington, Bernard Hesse, Edward Carter, Edmund Brooke, Richard Alexander, William Tyler, George Tyler, Washington John Washington and Matthew Whiting; the two last being sons-in-law of William Skinner.

The Town of Haymarket was laid out with all streets 60 feet in width, and each main block was 250 feet by 350 feet, divided into four lots. It will therefore be noted that each lot was on a corner and faced two streets. The lots were numbered from 1 to 140 inclusive. There were half blocks of but two lots each, all around the edge of town. The streets running North and South, commencing at the East were Republican, Columbia, Madison, Jefferson, Fayette, Skinner and Mountain. The East and West streets, commencing at the North were; Marshall, Fox, Washington, Franklin and William. A street later established below William, we shall call Court House Street for want of a better name. Red House Tavern stood in the center of the town.

Probably no more excellent plan could have been devised for laying out a town, and if this had been followed to the present day, Haymarket would have been attractive indeed. After the fire of 1862, it is unfortunate that the town was rebuilt "any kind of way"; the streets were encroached upon until the wide thoroughfares of 60 feet were in some instances reduced to 18 feet or closed entirely. The lot numbers disappeared entirely.

Among the earliest lot holders were Armistead Shirley, James Hopwood, James Baty (Beaty), William Skinner, Jr. (a nephew of the founder), James Wright, John Hord, Jno. Barrett, Thomas Garner, and Shirley Arms. Others who probably owned lots but the deeds are missing are Colin Campbell, James Robinson, William Butts, James Rose, Richard Baker, John Campbell, Patton, Thos. Fallop, A. Harley, Maddox, V. Chilton and John Wigginton.

The early deeds specify that within five years from the date of their respective purchase build a house thereon, the superficial contents of which shall be at least

Geared to the GO of America!

AMERICA... born as thirteen little colonies huddled on the shore of a wilderness. Born with a dream in its heart... and a voice at its ear saying, "It's yours—go get it!"

Young America... pushing the wilderness aside like a curtain—and earning itself a continent.

Older America... eating up distance to the tune of wheels humming along steel rails. For the railroads helped build America. And they'll help keep America for us today!

One of these is Chesapeake and Ohio—a railroad that changed an Indian trail into a great artery of commerce... that helped join the East and the West, to keep ours a continent ruled by one people. Through wars and peace, through rich years and lean, Chesapeake and Ohio Lines have grown with the restless "Go!" of America... sharing the dream, the struggle, the achievement. As a deep-rooted part of our country, this railroad today faces an armed challenge to America's liberty. And we face it well prepared!

For years now, Chesapeake and Ohio Lines have been building a greater railroad... keeping it tuned up to the pitch of perfection... ready in advance for any service America shall need... now and always "Geared to the GO of America!"

"FOREIGN CORRESPONDENT"
GREAT HITCHCOCK TRIUMPH

A highly colorful and dramatic event in motion picture history takes place next Wednesday, February 18 at the Pitts Theatre where Walter Wanger's latest film production, "Foreign Correspondent," was given a spectacular premiere under the auspices of United Artists. Brilliantly directed by Alfred Hitchcock, master of screen mystery and suspense, "Foreign Correspondent" must be put down by this reviewer as the thrill spectacle of the year, a motion picture which un-reels gripping drama, breath-taking excitement, red-blooded romance and high-pitched intrigue.

"Foreign Correspondent" is played brilliantly by a top-notch cast headed by Joel McCrea, Laraine Day, George Sanders, Robert Benchley, Albert Basserman and Herbert Marshall. History, which unfolds on the screen with amazing speed and tempo, keeps the audience on the edge of their seats. It concerns a crime reporter on a New York paper who is dispatched to Europe to dig up facts. The reporter, played masterfully by Joel McCrea, digs up more than he bargains for, cracking open an international intrigue that has never before been matched on the screen for thrills and excitement.

Unfortunately, there is not enough space in this column to fully describe the magnificent job of direction turned in by Mr. Hitchcock, who has already electrified the screen with such previous hits as "Rebecca," "The 39 Steps," "The Lady Vanishes" and "The Man Who Knew Too Much."

Too much praise cannot be given to Walter Wanger for the excellence and lavishness with which he has endowed the production of "Foreign Correspondent." Nor is it merely prediction to mention in passing that this new Hitchcock thriller will keep audiences glued to their seats as they participate in the action on the screen until at the climax, they feel limp with excitement.

The final scene in "Foreign Correspondent," showing a huge Clipper plane shot down from the air and the sea disaster which follows has never before been equalled in pictures for the brilliance of its photography, the smashing impact of its drama and the daring of its realism.

We wish to thank our various correspondents for their notes.

THEIR SWORD

AND SHIELD

Several things are striking about the British custom of blessing a warship as it enters the service and goes off to battle duty. When H. M. destroyer Lively was sent out, Scriptural readings, prayer, and a hymn formed the ceremony.

Part of the reading was from the 107th Psalm—the one which has those fine verses about "they that go down to the sea in ships." From the New Testament was taken part of the sixth chapter of Ephesians, including the verse:

For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places.

Did the hymn speak of the might of guns and torpedoes, of armament or aircraft? No. The sailors sang, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." And in the form of "bidding" repeated by the crew the Captain asked: "What do ye fear, seeing that God the Father is with you?" And the ship's company replied: "We fear nothing."

Shortly thereafter the Lively played a vigorous part in a Mediterranean battle and was unscathed.

SAMUEL BARBEE CRUMMETT

Samuel Barbee Crummett was born in Highlands County, September 11, 1865 and died in Prince William County February 7, 1942; age 76, 4 months, and 26 days. Early in life he made his public confession of faith in Christ as his Saviour, in the Lutheran Church in Highlands County.

He was married to Martha Varner. To this union four children were born. The following are living: Addison Crummett, Mrs. Maggie Crawford, and Mrs. Mary Lunsford. After the death of his wife, he married Mrs. Sarah Propst. After her death, he married Mrs. Virginia Landonia Lunsford.

Besides his surviving wife and three living children, he is survived by two brothers; Jacob William and Granville Jackson Crummett, and one sister, Mrs. Nancy Catherine Rexrode; 25 grandchildren and 8 great-grand children.

He first left Highlands County moving to Fauquier County about 1911. About the year 1918 he moved to Prince William County. He also moved his Church membership from Highlands County to Mt. Zion Lutheran Church in Prince William County. He was an active member of the Church and attended the services regularly. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints." Ps. 116:15.

Funeral services were held at the home on Tuesday at 1:30 P. M. conducted by the Pastor, the Rev. A. W. Ballentine, and the burial in the cemetery of the Baptist Church, New Baltimore.

FUN, MELODY AND GIRLS IN "RISE AND SHINE"

Jack Oakie, the All-American chowderhead; George Murphy, the guy who rescues romance from the rumpus; Walter Brennan, a grandpa who romances the field; Linda Darnell, the loveliest love interest that ever gave a heart a lift—she sings, too; and Milton Berle, a whinnying Seabiscuit, are the fun mad people of Mark Hellinger's "Rise and Shine," the new musical comedy which dances into the Pitt's Theatre on Thursday and Friday, February 19-20.

Set on a college campus at the height of the football season, "Rise and Shine" has several new Robin and Rainger songs, dances, girls, laughs and fun. And the story is taken from James Thurber's mad, mad autobiography—"My Life and Hard Times."

With Clayton College students' L. Byrd will be hostesses to the Bethel football team Club, Wednesday, February 18th at the home of Mrs. Hutchison.

Professor Donald Meek's home.

On the scene comes Murphy, a former All-American, and Raymond Walburn and Ruth Donnelly, a down-at-the-heel couple posing as retired educators. Murphy goes for Linda Darnell and helps her keep Oakie in shape. When Sheldon Leonard wants the football player kept out of the big game, so he can bet on the opposition, Murphy rebels. He takes all precautions to protect Oakie, but the star is kidnapped the night before by Milton Berle—who portrays a character called "Seabiscuit." Oakie must be found or the big game will be lost! How he escapes makes a hilarious ending to a side-splitting comedy.

SERVICES FROM HISTORIC SHRINE AIFED

Historic Christ Church, in Alexandria, Virginia, whose Sunday morning services during the month of February will be broadcast to the state and nation. (Inset) The Reverend Edward Randolph Welles, rector.

The historic church where Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt worshipped on New Year's Day will gain additional publicity during the month of February when its Sunday morning worship services will be aired for a state-wide audience over WRVA, Richmond, Va., station.

The church, which has figured prominently in Virginia history since Revolutionary days, is the only church building now standing in Alexandria that was erected during the Colonial Period. The land on which the church stands was given by John Alexander of Stafford County, Virginia. The first minister of this church was Townshend Dade, who served until 1778. The Rev. David Griffith, former chaplain in the Continental Army, and intimate friend of Washington, was the next minister, and served until his death in 1789. In 1790 Rev. Bryan Fairfax, afterward Lord Fairfax, Baron of Cameron, became minister. His successor, the Rev. Thomas Davis, conducted the funeral services of General Washington, December 16, 1799.

On April 12, 1804, George Washington Parke Custis, adopted son of George Washington, presented to Christ Church "The Family Bible of Gen. Washington used at Mt. Vernon". This Bible is still in possession of Christ Church and is one of its treasured relics.

Christ Church has an active communicant list of about 700 persons, and besides the usual parochial organizations, has a flourishing Sunday School. Services are held in the church each Sunday at 8 a. m., 11 a. m., and 8 p. m. All pews are free, and visitors are welcomed to all services. Gates are closed on Sundays except during the hours of worship, but the church is opened to tourists on week days from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

WRVA will broadcast the 11 a. m. services of this church during the month of February. The rector, the Reverend Edward Randolph Welles will officiate for these services. Educated at Kent School, Kent, Connecticut; Princeton University; Oxford University, England; and General Theological Seminary, New York City, Mr. Welles is well-known as an author and traveler.

THE HISTORY OF EPIPHANY

(written by Mrs. T. C. Hudson, one of original members, and continuously a department head in the Church school since that time. She has been in active service except for a period when quite ill)

Tuesday, January 6, the Feast of the Epiphany, the Church of the Epiphany (Episcopal), in Cherrydale, celebrated its 25th anniversary, with the Rev. Robert O. Kevin, professor of Ecumenic languages and literature in the Virginia Theological Seminary, as the special guest preacher at the evening prayer service.

A loyal band, devoted and sincere Christian disciples, not many more than those who followed Jesus, banded together and formed what is known today as the Church of the Epiphany. Their first meetings were held in private homes and later services were held in what was known then as Pioneer Hall on Lee Highway (now the Cherrydale Pool Hall). This hall was a community hall, serving every community interest. Moving pictures were held on Saturday nights, St. Agnes' Roman Catholic Church held mass on Sunday mornings and the Episcopal Church held Sunday School in the afternoon and evening prayer in the evening. Our Roman brethren were kind enough to let us use the portable altar which they used in the morning. Many assistances were rendered the Episcopalians by their Roman brethren in those early days. The Baptists also used this building at some time.

The little group grew to such an extent that, with fervent zeal and determination, they set to work to erect a building in which they could hold regular services. Mrs. Thomas

S. Wallis donated a lot on Quincy Street (then known as Ballston Road) in memory of her father, the late Francis G. Schutt, and on this lot a structure was erected. The men of the community erected the building at night after they returned from their varied occupations in Washington. One notable thing about the whole venture is the fact that creeds and religious faiths were put in the background as men of every faith and creed in the community who knew anything whatsoever about carpentry turned out to help these men erect their building. Their Master was a carpenter, and they, being His followers, began their work in this community the same as He began His career in the little carpenter shop in Nazareth. The women are not to be forgotten, for during the late evening hours, these women, mostly the wives of the workmen came with hot coffee and sandwiches and gave them to the men on in their undertaking. No daylight encouragement and strength to continue was spent in the erection of the main portion of the building.

This first congregation was served by students from the Seminary under the direction of the late Rev. Samuel B. Wallis, the dean of the Seminary. One of these students after his graduation and ordination, was called to be the first minister-in-charge of the parish. He was the late Rev. George Charles Shears. Under Mr. Shear's direction and leadership, the parish grew to large proportions—even to the point in those early days of making plans for a larger structure. Under his guiding hand the building was raised, however, and a fine basement was erected which serves as a parish hall; a vestry room was erected and added to the first floor (the basement), which serves as a parish kitchen. Church furniture was added and a heating plant was installed, thus eliminating the use of chairs and a large not belied stove and lending to the interior of the building an atmosphere in keeping with the dignity of the church. But these days of prosperity were not to be long enjoyed, for ere long before the roses began to blossom fully, Mr. Shears, under the strain and stress of never-tiring efforts and never-failing energy, was sent to the hospital, broken in health. This finally resulted in his retirement from the ministry and later resulted in his death. The people of Epiphany can truly say that Mr. Shears was a martyr for the cause of Christ in this community, for, had he thought more of himself and less of the Master whom he was called to serve, he may have spared himself the suffering he endured. Even though Mr. Shears lived several years after his retirement from Epiphany and the ministry, it is believed by many that his overwork at Epiphany hastened his death.

During the years of Mr. Shears' illness, and for a few years thereafter, the parish was again served by students from the Seminary. Many of the ministrations which the parish had long enjoyed were no longer available; the parish, therefore, began to go backward instead of forward. The next minister-in-charge was the Rev. John G. Sadtler, the only living former minister. He remained at Epiphany for about two years, resigned to become minister-in-charge of St. Mary's Church and rector of St. John's McLean. Mr. Sadtler is now retired and lives in Falls Church.

The next minister-in-charge was the Rev. Charles Byfield Sparks, who served the parish from 1925 to December 31, 1937, when he retired from the life eternal in September, 1939. Mr. Sparks was succeeded by Mr. A. Webster Hortsman, a student in the Virginia Theological Seminary. Mr. Hortsman is one of Epiphany's own boys, having been raised in the parish, confirmed there under Mr. Shears by the Rt. Rev. William Cabell Brown, late bishop of Virginia. Mr. Hortsman spent some years out of the community attending school, but returned, at the request of Mr. Sparks, in the Spring of 1935 to assist him in his last years. Under the direction of Mr. Hortsman, the parish has begun to recapture some of the zeal, enthusiasm, courage and Christian fortitude which it had in the early days. The building has been improved inside and out. All debts have been paid. The generosity of one of the ladies in the parish made it possible to purchase a very desirable lot adjacent to the Church property, thus providing ample space to permit the erection of a parish hall and new church. Plans have been made for the erection of these buildings in the future. A rectory has been purchased. The parish never provided a place for the minister to live until three years ago. For the first time, the parish has a resident minister occupying a rectory of their own.

The Seminary has always been attracted to the parish. During the years many students came. Today many prominent clergymen of the Episcopal Church can recall their student days at Epiphany. One such student became a bishop. The present dean of the Incarnation in Long Island served the parish as a student. There is hardly a section of the country to which one can go but what he may find someone who during his student days, visited Epiphany at least once.

Students from the very first came to Epiphany and made great physical sacrifices in order to get from the Seminary to the Church and back. Transportation facilities were bad and there was no cross-country railroad. Automobiles were scarce. Clergymen had not gotten to the place where they could have one. These students, therefore, walked many times to and from Epiphany, in Winter and Summer, mid snow and over mud roads and mid the Summer's heat, in order that the word of God might be preached in the community.

Every member of the present faculty of the Seminary has held a service at the Church at least once in the last three years with the exception of the dean, and he was here as our guest speaker for a Laymen's League dinner at which time over 200 laymen from the Piedmont Convocation were guests of the parish. The Rev. Dr. Stanley Brown-Serman, professor of New Testament Languages and Literature in the Seminary, visits the parish at least once a month and has been doing so far for three years. The parish has in the last three years grown beyond the confines of the community circle. A more vital interest is being taken in the wider circle of the church which includes the Diocese, the Nation and our foreign missionaries fields. This interest has carried them to many meetings in the interest of the church outside the community and has brought many special preachers and speakers to them to bring a message of their work among the less fortunate.

During the years there have been 162 persons baptized, 150 confirmed, 22 married, 73 buried. There are at present 224 baptized persons and 94 communicants, or a total of 318 persons.

NOKESVILLE

The Dramatics Club of the Nokesville High School will present an "Evening of One Act Plays" Thursday, February, 19th at 8 P. M. in the Nokesville School Auditorium. A small admission will be charged.

UNCLE SAM'S SAILORS ON HORSEBACK
SEE PANAMA FROM THE SADDLE

No, the U. S. Navy doesn't have a cavalry unit, but many a sailor straddled leather before giving up his bucking broncho or plow horse for the bounding main.

The sailors in whites above are seamen in the U. S. Naval Reserve on shore leave in Panama. No distinction is made between sailors in the Naval Reserve and those in the regular Navy. Enlistment in the U. S. Naval Reserve is for four years, but all men enlisting in the Naval Reserve will be released to inactive duty as soon after the national emergency as their services can be spared, regardless of the length of time remaining in their enlistment. If the emergency ends within a period of several months, those enrolled in the Naval Reserve will not be required to complete their 4 year term in active service.

Opportunities for advancement, to learn skilled trades, for travel and adventure are identical whether a man enlists in the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve, and his pay, food, clothing, medical and dental care are the same.

YOUR NAVY NEEDS YOU NOW

Let's go Red-Blooded Americans. Building your future and protect your homes. The United States Naval Service urgently needs men and more men to man the ships of our fighting Fleet, and to be trained as experts in one of almost fifty trades. If you are between 17 and 50 and want to do your part to defend your home and your country, then join your comrades who are already defending them. Your service today will decide the world of tomorrow. Join your Navy today. Report immediately to your Navy Recruiting Station which is open in the Post Office Building at Manassas on Thursday of each week.

Be Quick To Treat
Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with the under tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickens the cough, permitting rest and allowing you to have your money

LEGAL NOTICES

VIRGINIA: IN THE CLERK'S OFFICE OF THE CIRCUIT COURT OF PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY, VIRGINIA, JANUARY 26, 1942

Ann Pope, Complainant,
VS.
J. D. Pope, Defendant.

The general object of this suit is to obtain for the complainant from the defendant a divorce a vinculo matrimonii on the grounds of wilful desertion and abandonment, to be granted the care and custody of their two infant children, and general relief.

And an application and affidavit having been duly made and filed as provided by law that the defendant is not a resident of the State of Virginia, it is therefore ordered that the said defendant, J. D. Pope, do appear within ten days after due publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interests, and that a copy of this order be published for four consecutive weeks in the Manassas Journal, a newspaper published and circulating in Prince William County, that a like copy be mailed to the defendant, by registered mail, to his last known address as set out in said application, and a like copy be posted at the front door of the court house of said county on or before the next succeeding rule day.

NYA STUDENTS REFUSE GRANTS

Statement Made By Harry Byrd In The Senate On Tuesday

Mr. President: I am in receipt of a communication signed by a number of students of Harding College of Searcy, Arkansas, advising me that as a duty they felt they owed their country in the grave emergency now confronting us, they requested that the National Youth Administration remove their names from the National Youth Administration payroll, effective February 1, and that the allotment of NYA money which had been coming to Harding College for their assistance be thenceforth used in the defense program.

These students state in their letter that in view of the decided scarcity of labor in that community they believe they can find other jobs whereby they can continue to make their way in college.

This action on the part of these patriotic young men and women at Harding College who are anxious to contribute their bit to their country in this day of great national peril aroused the indignation of Mr. Aubrey Williams, the director of the National Youth Administration. Mr. Williams went so far as to issue a public statement, and in an interview is quoted as taking a slap at Dr. George S. Benson, President of Harding College, and calling Dr. Benson a "ringleader in the so-called economy drive."

When every dollar of the resources of America is needed to meet the crisis now confronting us, it is a most remarkable procedure that an arrogant and dictatorial bureaucrat should attempt to condemn patriotic citizens who are anxious to help their country in this emergency. One would think Mr. Williams would welcome such a statement as that made by the students of Harding College who said they would save and work so they could pay their way through college and not be dependents on the Federal Government. Director Williams evidently prefers to destroy the initiative and the self-reliance of the American youth and to condemn those who attempt to make themselves self-sustaining.

If Dr. Benson is a ringleader in the economy drive, and if there is anything odious attached to this title, as Mr. Williams appears to think there is, then the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Morgenthau, is likewise a ringleader, because he signed the report recommending abolition of the NYA, excepting its defense activities. If Dr. Benson is a ringleader, so likewise are such distinguished members of the Senate as Senator George, Senator Glass, Senator McKellar, and Senator Nye, who also signed this report, and such distinguished members of the House as Congressman Doughton, Congressman Woodrum, Congressman Cullen, Congressman Treadway, and Congressman Taber.

On the same day Mr. Williams issued his denunciation of Dr. Benson, because of the action of the students at Harding College, the Under Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Bell, wrote to Mr. John E. Sands, one of the students who voluntarily gave up NYA assistance, and congratulated him and the others for their self-reliant spirit and patriotic action.

at each county seat, as is still the practice, and the Court House at Haymarket fell into disuse, though the order of the Assembly appointing a committee to sell the property was not dated until Jan. 30, 1812, and we know the jail was used as late as May 17, 1809. Apparently the committee sold the court house property in 1814 to the unfortunate Hygeia Academy, which remodelled the courthouse, Clerk's office and jail to suit the needs of the school. In spite of its high sounding name, this institution closed its doors in 1816, sinking under a load of debt, and was sold out in 1822. Apparently William Skinner, Jr. was the purchaser, (his uncle being dead), and during the eight years the property was in his possession, the old Court House was used as a meeting place for all kinds of entertainment, and at one time, the first Masonic Lodge in Haymarket held its meetings in the gallery. Church services were also held in this building, by various denominations. Bishop William Meade tells us that "A race-course once adjoined the Court-house, and in preaching there in former days, I have, on a Sabbath, seen from the court-house bench, on which I stood, the horses in training for the sport which was at hand." The good Bishop adds significantly: "Those times have, I trust, passed away forever." In 1830, William Skinner, Jr., gave up the Court House to the Episcopal Church, in whose possession it has remained to the present day, though used after both Battles of Manassas as a hospital and later used by Federal troops as a stable.

"H. M. PULHAM, ESQ." BROUGHT TO LIFE IN M-G-M FILM VERSION

"H. M. PULHAM, ESQ.," based on J. P. Marquand's best-selling novel, proves front-rank screen entertainment at the Pitts Theatre, where its principal characters are enacted by Hedy Lamarr, Robert Young and Ruth Hussey.

The M-G-M picture follows the book with fidelity, recounting the life of Pulham, young Bostonian, who, after Harvard and the World War, plunges into business activity in a New York advertising agency and meets the love of his life in an ambitious "career-girl." Then, unable to escape his destiny, he returns to his home town to marry the girl of his family's choice, and, twenty years later, finds that when the opportunity comes he cannot recapture the romance of his youth.

Hedy Lamarr gives a crisp, incisive portrayal of Mary Myles, the straight-forward, young business woman; Young is excellent in the title role of Harry Pulham, a role which sees him first as a college boy and finally as a settled business man of middle age; and Ruth Hussey is effective as the woman he marries, a typically conservative Boston aristocrat.

Others in praiseworthy roles include Charles Coburn and Fay Holden as Young's parents, Bonita Granville as his younger sister, Van Heflin as Bill King, his closest friend, Douglas Wood, Charles Halton and Leif Erikson.

No little of the success of the production of King Vidor who has not only brought the novel to the screen in a literal and faithful version, but who has also given authenticity and color to a picturesque era in the life of America.

"H. M. Pulham, Esq." can be recommended as a distinguished screen production and first-rate entertainment.

NEW PHONE EXPENDITURES ALLOCATED

Expenditures of approximately $1,140,000 for telephone plant and equipment in the state of Virginia were authorized by the directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia at their January meeting, according to an announcement by R. C. McCann, vice president and general manager of the company.

Additional central office equipment to take care of growth in telephone at Norfolk, Hampton and Virginia Beach was provided for at a cost of about $112,000. The provision of additional toll circuits on the Richmond-Staunton and Staunton-Roanoke routes will cost about $29,000, and additions to the Richmond long distance switchboard will require $181,000. A toll cable from Petersburg to Blackstone to provide circuits to serve the Army camp being established in the Blackstone area was also provided for at a cost of $129,000.

Facilities to care for telephone growth in the south section of the Richmond exchange will cost approximately $99,000 and additional toll circuits between Richmond and Manassas will require the expenditure of $17,600.

Additional dial equipment in the Chestnut office in Arlington County, including an addition to the building, will cost about $423,000.

According to Mr. McCann, the company spent in the year 1941, including plant and materials which were reused more than $13,200,000 or about 76 percent more than in 1940.

BAPTIST MISSIONARY MEETING

The W. M. U. will hold their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. John Broadus on Tuesday, February 17th at 2 o'clock. Mrs. T. J. Broadus will have charge of program.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul" will be the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 15.

The Golden Text will be "Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the Lord; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation" (Isa. 25:9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God" (Ps. 42:11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As human thought changes from one stage to another of conscious pain and painlessness, sorrow and joy,—from fear to hope and from faith to understanding,—the visible manifestation will at last be man governed by Soul, not by material sense" (p. 125).

REORGANIZATION CHANGES PASS COMMITTEE

The House Courts of Justice Committee has reported favorably, by unanimous vote, the bill which embodies changes in the organization of State governmental agencies as recommended by the Moore reorganization study commission. Among the changes proposed are: establishment of a departmental committee composed of the chairmen of the State Conservation Commission, the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries and the Commission of Fisheries; transfer of administration of sanitary inspection laws dealing with hotels, restaurants, filling stations and tourist camps from the Department of Agriculture to the Department of Health and abolition of the Virginia Industrial School Board and the Virginia Industrial School Board for Colored Children.

Also proposed is the creation of a department of mental hygiene and hospitals, with a commissioner to be appointed by the Governor. The present position of director of State hospitals would be abolished.

WATERS OF THE WILDERNESS
— Shirley Seifert —

"Waters of the Wilderness," written by Shirley Seifert and published by J. B. Lippincott Co. in 1941, is a wonderful description of George Rogers Clark, his adventures and conquests.

Clark's conquests were due not to the number of troops but to the way in which he led and commanded them. He was always being put off by the government when he asked for men and supplies; he never had enough of either of these, but because he felt what he was doing was right, he kept going. Although he was many times discouraged and felt like giving up, he always stuck to his job because the love for his country and the dangers that confronted it kept him from turning back.

This book is the kind of book that we today should read. The perils that our country was in were very great at that time. It was at the crucial point which would decide whether the new country became a reality or not. It gives us a clear picture of what the founders of our nation wanted and the price they paid for it. We should realize what it meant to them and what it now means to us.

"Waters of the Wilderness" should make us think. Today that is very important. We should think how we, in our way, today can help to keep our country as it is.

This book may be borrowed from the Ruffner-Carnegie Library.

"U. S. Defense Savings Bonds - have you heard of them? Sure you have, who hasn't. These Defense Bonds are receiving the greatest, the biggest, the most spectacular, the most genuinely enthusiastic presentation of anything ever offered the American public - wholeheartedly backed, endorsed and promoted by thousands of Americans, men and women, "Minute-Men", giving of their time and talents, all on a gratis basis, instilled by patriotism, by love of country.

"You are all aware of the tremendous amount of radio publicity which these Defense Bonds have received since the Bonds were placed on sale. But you probably did not realize that all of it has been contributed to this cause by commercial sponsors and scores of stars of the entertainment world.

"The Treasury Hour, "Millions For Defense" is only the most spectacular of these contributions. Practically all companies which use radio network time to advertise their products have consistently since the Defense Savings Program began, contributed part of that time to boost the sale of Defense Bonds. Practically every radio station in the country has broadcast five spot announcements about the Bonds every day since the first of May.

"Banks are contributing their services by handling bond sales without commission or cost to either the Government or the investor.

"Large national advertisers and many local business firms are using their billboard, newspaper and other advertising space to keep the objectives of the Defense Savings Program constantly before the public.

"It is safe to say that never in the history of the country have so many individuals and agencies joined together to advertise a single product."
