CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Substance" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 15.

The Golden Text will be "Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen" (He-br. 11:1).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand for ever" (Isa.
40:8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay. Truth, Life, and Love are substance, as the Scriptures use this word in Hebrews: 'The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.' Spirit, the synonym of Mind, Soul, or God, is the only real substance" (p. 468).

A Shell-burst in the Pacific . . .
Echo of a Railroad Whistle in America!

AMERICA'S ANSWER to aggression roars across the world. It shouts in the boom and crash of guns . . . in the drone of planes . . . in the whirring wheels of war-gear industry . . . in the rumble and shriek of fast trains, carrying supplies and men onward to the fronts of war. It's one vast chorus
. . . and its name is "VICTORY."

Whenever you hear a railroad whistle, think of this: Who takes the iron ore and other raw materials to the plants of war industry? The railroad. Who swiftly moves the finished guns and tanks, plane parts and armor plate from the assembly line? The railroad. Who makes big troop movements possible
—while maintaining other vital war and civilian services? The railroad.

Chesapeake and Ohio is an important sector in this "Mainline of Freedom."
Sometimes you, as passenger or shipper, may meet with some war-caused delays and inconvenience, but you will still enjoy the traditional courtesies . . . the thoughtful personal services . . . that you always find on Chessie's railroad.

MANASSAS HIGH SCHOOL
WINS FINAL GAME

Tuesday night Manassas High School defeated Mount Vernon by the score of 33-27. From the very start of the game it was no question who would win, but Manassas tagged down in the last half to allow the visiting team to get within five points of them. With the entire Manassas team figuring the scoring the local boys held a nine point lead at the half. Wallace Bolding, guard for Manassas scored seven points to lead the first half attack. There was no high scorer for Manassas with Beeton, Haydon and Broadus each scoring eight points apiece.

In the girls' game it found Manassas beating the Mount Vernon lassies by the score of 41-29. Led by Capt. Betty Parrish and Faith Ellis with 13 and 20 points the local girls had an easy time as they scored at will.

Big Problem

Save Feed Bags and Oil Cans

Most everything that is sold has to be packaged. The things generally used are burlap, tin, cotton, hemp, paper, and glass. Now burlap, tin, hemp have been cut off by the war in the Pacific, and the government has taken over 2/3 of all the burlap in the country.

Every purchaser of feed should treat EVERY feed bag as though it might be the last. Store feed in rat-proof, weather-proof containers and whip out the bags, hanging them out of reach of damage. Return them for credit on the next purchase or send them in bundles of 100 to the Premium Bag Co., Boston St., Baltimore, where the best prices will be paid for all in A-1 condition.

A government ruling has put a stop to the packing of motor oil in tin cans. Tin is needed for more important war jobs. Buyers of motor oil should save and keep in the best of condition the motor oil cans that will be needed to use for refilling from bulk hereafter.

STOCK UP ON STARTING AND GROWING MASH

There are three good reasons for getting a couple of bags of Southern States Starting & Growing Mash BEFORE those chicks arrive.

FIRST, there is the problem of transportation to consider—what you get now may save a special trip later. SECOND, chicks should not be fed chilled feed. Keep a bag handy right in brooder house while you are warming it up for the chicks that are coming. And LASTLY, Southern States Starting & Growing Mash is just the feed to do the important job of quick growing, uniform feathering, and good coloring. It's a balanced, high quality, open formula feed that has been proved by 100 million chicks.

SCREEN COMEDY IS GLORIFIED
BY FOREMOST ROMANTIC STARS

The infectious swing to comedy in full cry in the film industry and critically in demand by theatre audiences has caught up with Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullivan.

From Universal studios, hotspot in the hilarity sector and site of the hysterical antics of such outstanding clowns as Abbott and Costello, Olsen and Johnson, and W. C. Fields, comes "Appointment for Love" to open Thursday and Friday, March 19-20 at the Pitts Theatre with Boyer and Miss Sullivan as its co-stars.

Set on Broadway and against Manhattan's arresting skyline, "Appointment for Love" presents the suavely nonchalant Mr. Boyer as an eminently successful playwright who turns his back on cafe society to stage a merry chase for the hand of chic but wholly professional Miss Sullivan. Miss Sullivan enacts the role of a New York doctor and surgeon who refuses to permit sentiment to push scientific theory out of the spotlight.

Boyer tosses dignity wholly aside in interpreting the playwright's role. He plays volunteer fireman, connects with a black eye in a fistic melee and otherwise comforts himself unconventionally if not undignifiedly. Miss Sullivan is chiefly responsive to the mood of the farcical piece as the career woman who seeks to push domesticity into the background in favoring her professional activity.

REV. A. STUART GIBSON

It is with utmost sorrow that we record the death last Saturday of our esteemed friend, Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, Rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Manassas.

From the days of the first World War Mr. Gibson's lovable personality had imbedded itself in the religious, civic and social life of our Town and County, and his passing is deeply felt by the entire community.

Just as he was retiring from life-long service for the Master, and seemingly had so richly earned a reward of years in happy contemplation of a task well done, suddenly he must have heard those words, himself, which so often he had spoken from his holy chancel:

"Come, ye blessed children of my Father, receive the kingdom prepared for you from the beginning of the world."

ARE WE READY?

When important blackouts come, it will likely be on a request or order from the United States Army. Circumstances could happen any day which would bring such a request from General Drum, who commands this area.

As a matter of fact it is expected that a full time blackout will shortly be ordered near the sea shore all along the Atlantic, and such an order could be extended to our area at any time.

Are we ready?

Does every home have at least one room where the windows can be immediately screened to exclude all light, so that the family activities can go on without interruption?

It is not sufficient just to pull the electric light switch or blow out the light. Blackouts may last all night, or be ordered to continue every night over a prolonged period.

It is not necessary to purchase a lot of material to blackout. Almost every home has enough material around to do the job if a little ingenuity and thought is exercised.

The War Record of America's Banks

Public attention these days is focused on the dramatic and all-important military activities and war production. But some day, when the whole picture is viewed more calmly and completely, the war work of America's banks will stand out as heart-warming evidence of the soundness of our banking system. Some 16,000 banks are in this work—all the way. They are selling Defense Bonds, making war loans to industry, to farmers, to large and small contractors. They are serving in more ways than could be listed here. Banking's role is vital, even if not dramatic, and we are mighty proud to do our part.

A TRIBUTE TO REV. A. S. GIBSON

By Edmonia Taylor Sinclair

(Ed. note: This valuable contribution to the history of Trinity Church was written by Mrs. Sinclair a few days before Rev. Gibson's unexpected death.)

On February 14th, 1942, the Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, after a loyal and untiring service covering a period of nearly twenty four years, served his rectorship of Trinity Episcopal Church, Manassas, Virginia, by retirement.

It is needless to say that Trinity Church has suffered a loss in Mr. Gibson's retirement that can not be easily retrieved, for he was not only a leader in the church, but, owing to his activities in the civil affairs of Manassas and the community from which his congregation was drawn, his influence for good was felt far beyond its confines.

Owing to his devotion to the cause which he served and to his loyal and untiring efforts Trinity Church prospered under his leadership to far greater extent than at any other period of its existence. Among the major accomplishments of the church during this period was the erection of a new church edifice at the cost of many thousands of dollars. The new building was made possible by a grant from the Nation Wide Campaign and by purchase of bonds by members of the congregation. The generosity of Miss Mary E. Rixey and Mrs. Fannie Rixey Cole, sisters, made final payment of the bonds possible and the building was consecrated on the afternoon of June 8th, 1941, by Bishop Co-Adjutor, Frederick D. Goodwin, of the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia. Thus Mr. Gibson in his retirement as Rector has the satisfaction of knowing that the building erected under his leadership has been paid in full and that he is not leaving a church debt as a heritage to the membership.

During the period of his service here Mr. Gibson baptised one hundred and fifty six persons presented to the Bishop for confirmation seventy one candidates; performed seventy six marriages, and officiated at two hundred and sixty three funerals.

The following memorials and gifts to the church have been recorded since the last church history was written in 1938:

Pipe organ by Charles M. Hopkins, of Washington, D. C., in memory of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. S. Hopkins; a window by the widow and son of the late Dr. William Fewell Merchant as a memorial to him; a window in memory of little Margaret Mickie Law given by her grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Lewis; a window in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Carter Lawler donated by their daughter and son, Mildred Lawler and Sydney Lawler; a window by the children of Mrs. Augusta Ann Hynson in her memory; a window to the memory of Mary E. Rixey and Fannie Rixey Cole; a window donated by Mrs. Mary Lee Ruten in memory of her mother, Mrs. Ella Weir Chapman; a window to the memory of the departed members of the family of the late Capt. J. E. Herrell by the surviving members of his family; processional cross by the family of David Emory Pine in his memory; a baptismal ewer by Trinity Sunday School; a ewer stand and baptismal font cover made and given by Charles Armistead Sinclair, Jr.

The date on which Mr. Gibson retired was the anniversary of his birth and on the evening of February 14th a reception was held for him and his family by the church guild. The reception was held in the parish hall and was largely attended by members of his congregation, ministers of other churches in Manassas and by members of the Church of Our Redeemer, Aldie, Virginia, Mr. Gibson's first charge.

Mr. Gibson is held in high esteem by the entire community and it is with a general feeling of regret that he and his family are severing the ties that have bound them so closely to Manassas and her people.

LIGHT ROMANCE GAY HIT

TUNES IN NEW COMEDY

With James Stewart and Paulette Goddard in the top stellar roles dishing out a million dollars worth of fun, laughter and romance, James Roosevelt's first Hollywood production, "Pot O' Gold," featuring the Horace Heidt band and its famous radio music, will have its local premiere at the Pitts Theatre on Wednesday, March 18 through United Artists release. George Marshall directed the picture and the cast supporting the stars features Charles Winninger, Mary Gordon and Jed Prouty.

Among the many sets built for "Pot O' Gold," the largest was the country club set, representing the veranda, lawns and arbors of a mythical Eastchester Country Club. After two weeks of work by scores of carpenters, electricians, painters, sign painters and assorted technicians, this set occupied the area of a square city block.

The most spectacular scene photographed on this lavish set included 16 rhumba dancing couples, a 12-piece rhumba band, Horace Heidt's 30-piece band, and 100 dress extras seated at tables under the club's arbors sipping drinks and having a gay time.

The story of "Pot O' Gold" concerns an eccentric millionaire whose food products are poorly advertised, his impetuous nephew and an equally impetuous band of musicians. The millionaire is played by Charles Winninger, while Stewart appears as the nephew. Miss Goddard meets Stewart when he gets mixed up with the band and its troubles. Their romance causes a merry mix-up for all concerned and provides a raft of fun and melody.

ASSEMBLY ENDS SATURDAY

concurrence in the House amendments, but not many hours remain for argument.

Last Friday the Senate approved the Moore Bill to restrict the sale of wines of more than 14 percent alcohol content to ABC stores but struck out the amendment allowing hotels and restaurants to sell such wines with full meals. The House refused to accept the Senate's suggestion and the bill has gone to a conference committee composed of members of both houses in the hope of reaching in a compromise.

High lights of last week's session was an attempted "filibuster" by Earl Fitzpatrick of Roanoke, opponent of the measure which would tap the State's ABC profits as a source of revenue for State aid to school bus transportation. The filibuster was taken over by Delegate Quesenberry of Augusta who was ruled out by a technically but the measure was defeated by an inadequate vote. Aid to localities for school buses has been approved by the Senate budget committee but its patrons see little hope for it unless additional State revenues can be found. The Budget Bill is expected to be reported to the Senate tomorrow.

Through Saturday 842 bills had been introduced in the Assembly; 207 have passed both Houses; 161 have been signed by the Governor and one was vetoed at the request of the patron. Many have died in committee and many more will probably be too late to get "under the wire."

QUAIL IN LARGE COVEYS WILL NEST

Contrary to a popular belief, biologists are convinced that the quail in large coveys will nest and raise young this spring even though the coveys were shot into and scattered last fall, according to Chester F. Phelps, Superintendent of Game Propagation of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

In the course of the most careful studies of the bobwhite quail, Mr. Phelps pointed out, no birds have ever been encountered which failed to pair off and nest just because they were members of large fall coveys which were not hunted. Some birds do not nest, he said, but the size of the coveys is not thought responsible.

There are normally a few more cock quail than hens, game men have discovered, and occasionally a covey may be made up almost entirely of male birds. Such a group of quail, found together during the nesting season, might give the impression that the large covey had not paired off at all. A covey is sometimes produced as the result of a freak winter nesting, and the birds are not fully mature at the normal mating season.

Game men also doubt that the Mexican quail imported and released in Virginia several years ago have had any marked effect on the habits of the State's quail population. In recent seasons the birds have been reported very wild and prone to fly into the woods and perch in trees where it is impossible for dogs to locate them. Many sportsmen have found that the birds run and "flush wild" instead of "freezing" before the dog.

Such habits are often attributed to the introduction of Mexican bobwhites, but biologists point out that if all Mexican birds released by the Game Commission had been put at one time, and if all had survived, they would have made up only about one percent of the State's nesting quail population. It is more likely, it is said, that the alleged change in quail habits is caused by a gradual "education" of the birds and by a "survival of the fittest."

THE BRITISH EMPIRE

This book was written by Stephen Leacock. It was published by the Dodd Mead and Company in New York in the year of 1940.

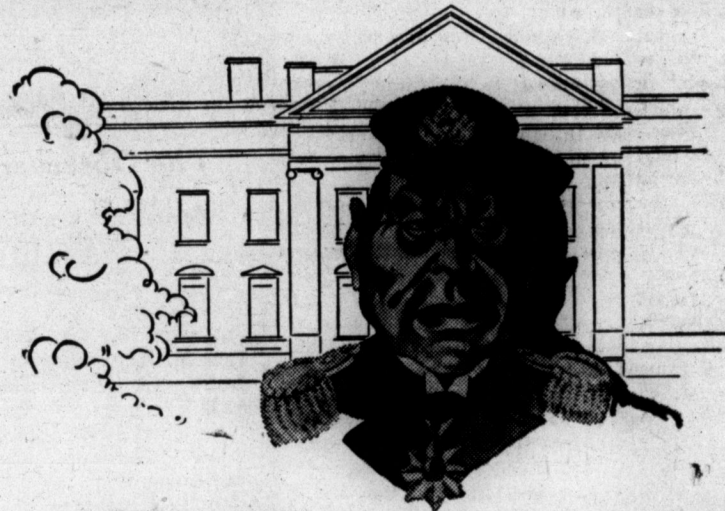

I have chosen this book to write on because I think the information included here is very important at the present time. Mr. Leacock gives an account of the British Empire, its wealth, economic conditions, colonies, and the government of those colonies.

The wealth of the British Empire, the author tells us, is not as great as that of the United States because of their debts left to them by many unforeseen incidents in history.

The settling of the United States cost the British Empire a great deal of money and lives. As most of you know England first tried to settle America in the 17th century. After England had ruled America for a good many years, the people of the United States won their independence in the year 1776. After this war there were some changes in the government of England. Up until this time the king was the highest man in the British Empire; the king now became second highest and the Houses of Parliament appointed a man as Prime Minister. In the colonies of the British Empire were set up new governments which were similar to the government of the mother country.

I liked this book because it gives you the history of the British Empire. This book may be borrowed at the Ruffner Carnegie Library.

THE SPEAKER OF OUR HOUSE OF DELEGATES

By Virginia Waller Davis

Six foot Two, with keen blue eyes that twinkle behind goldrimmed spectacles, Thomas B. Stanley, Virginia's Speaker of the House of Delegates, is taking his job in his stride.

Used to filling the soil as a lad in short pants—the youngest of seven children—watching over other people's money as a bank teller when just out of school; in later life building a mighty factory organization on bare plains where none flourished before and with 12 years of legislative experience behind him, there is little wonder that the speaker had few qualms concerning his job.

Born and bred in Henry County, this 51-year-old son of soldier and politician Crockett Stanley, who served as a private during the Civil War, comes by his politics naturally. His father served 20 years as commissioner of revenue for Henry County. The son started in early to take an active part in the political and civic life around him—was made a member of the Henry County School Board in his early thirties—elected to the House of Delegates at 39 and for some time has been County Democratic chairman. This is in addition to operating three farms of some 1,500 or more acres on which he raises pure bred Hereford cattle, Hampshire sheep and other livestock—plus blue grass; and owning and operating the Stanley Furniture Company, employing approximately 700 persons.

Three times is lucky for Speaker Stanley. He has three jobs, farmer, manufacturer and politician. He operates three farms, "Stoneleigh," in Stanleytown, which he built and which he calls "home"; "Susan Walker," further away, but in Henry County, where he was born and which he named for his mother, the former, Miss Susan Walker of North Carolina; and "Laural Glen," his blue grass farm in Wythe County, incidentally, his farm adjoins the Jefferson National Forest and on it, and near by, are thousands of acres of the finest grouse shooting. For the fishermen, all sorts of game fish, like bass and red eye, are to be caught in Reed Creek, which runs through the farm.

So how three children, Anne, Mrs. Hugh Chatham, 21; Thomas, Jr., 15, a junior at Augusta Military Academy, and David, 9, now attending public school near home.

Three times have towns been named for his family. First, the little North Carolina town where his mother's family lived and which was named in their honor, "Walkertown," second, the town of Bassett, Virginia, named in honor of Mrs. Stanley's family, who there located the Bassett Furniture Company around which the town grew and from which it took its name; and last, Stanleytown itself named for Virginia's Speaker of the House who, on a blustery April day in 1924, having studied many locations, decided on this because of both its rolling and flat land and its proximity to a railroad.

He went to work at once with local architects, contractors, masons and carpenters and soon the original plant, costing $400,000, sprang into being. Since then the plant and its value have doubled. From 100 employees the roll has grown to nearly 700, and around the factory has sprung up a modern village. As the town grew, one of the first things Mr. Stanley did was to build a church and turn it over to the factory employees who made their home in Stanleytown, where the company has built approximately 125 homes for the plant workers.

Since the first year of operation, Mr. Stanley has shared the profits of the business with the employees in a twice-a-year bonus.

Three again was Mr. Stanley's number in that, when he deserted his job as bank teller to become connected with the furniture business, he first went with the Vaughan-Bassett Furniture Company as vice-president and finally settled down to found and operate his own.

Mr. Stanley keeps homes in operation—"Stoneleigh," which really is headquarters; his birthplace at the "Susan Walker" farm; and "Hope Sound," near Palm Beach, Florida, to which, bag and baggage, he and all the family go every other year to bask in the sun, swim and fish and generally take it easy.

Like his father before him, his farms are dearest to his heart and he takes all manner of pride in his pure bred Herefords, of which he owns 200. He has recently been elected president of the Virginia Hereford Breeders Association.

Mr. Stanley is a firm believer that breeding and raising of livestock are the answer to the farmer's problem in his section of the country where the farm lands have become depleted by the continual cultivation of tobacco.

During his 12 years of service in the legislature, Mr. Stanley has been actively interested in the improvement of the highways and has been a member of the Roads Committee; has led the problems of the farmer at heart; was the sole patron of a bill in 1936 which increased the number of state troopers by fifty and restored their pay cuts; served on the Appropriations Committee; the Governor's select advisory board was chairman of the Manufacture, and Mechanical committee, as well as being chairman of the Interstate Cooperative committee.

Mr. Stanley is the forty-seventh individual to become Speaker of the Virginia House of Delegates, under the Constitution of 1776.

The long parade of speakers, led by Edmund Pendleton of Caroline County, and ended last year by Ashton Dovell of Williamsburg, has in it three signers of the Declaration of independence; five governors of Virginia; two fathers of presidents of the United States; United States senators; cabinet members, soldiers, diplomats, statesmen and business men of all ages.

Virginia's broad-shouldered Speaker of the House is typically American—farm boy to owner of farms and head of a large and successful industry—he takes his job in his stride.

We are definitely in an area that is recognized as likely to receive attention from the air force of the enemy. Experts do not believe that it is advisable to construct air-raid shelters, but these do insist upon adequate blackout preparations in a zone 300 miles deep all along the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Coasts.

MR. BYRD AND EXCESS PROFITS

Senator Harry Byrd is on the right track in proposing, as chairman of the Joint Committee on Nonessential Expenditures, that the Federal Government impose recapture provisions on the earnings of companies with war contracts, to the end that "unconscionable profits" may be prevented.

Mr. Byrd showed last month in his cross-questioning of J. E. Barnes, Washington representative of the Todd Shipyards, that he would not consent to exorbitant war profits on the part of corporations. Only last week he assailed Barnes for his failure to deliver data on the Todd concern's war profits, nearly a month having elapsed since Barnes promised to do so.

It will be recalled that Mr. Barnes told the Senate Naval Committee early in February that while his company would be very happy with a profit on shipbuilding contracts of 1-2 to 1 per cent (after taxes), its books would show a profit of 17 to 18 per cent on its invested capital during the preceding year. Senator Byrd said the figure would reach 50 per cent for 1942. Mr. Barnes put the blame on Hitler, the idea being, in the somewhat facetious words of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, that "the Fuehrer just didn't allow time enough to negotiate a contract on the modest terms which Todd would prefer."

Senator Byrd was slightly skeptical, it appears, for he promptly issued a call for an investigation to ascertain who is responsible for such profits. He evidently has information now which leads him to conclude that enormous sums are escaping taxation. He thinks the total may reach $3,000,000,000. This would be a neat figure, indeed, to recapture in the form of excess profits and to channel back into the United States Treasury.

Times-Dispatch

The Observer Says

We may not win this war under the present philosophy of government. Many are apparently determined to advance socialistic reforms and to stoutly maintain the gains so far secured in the face of the undeniable fact so far we are being defeated by the axis.

We are not likely to overwhelm the kind of enemy we are fighting by appropriations of money. We might have to make an all-out national effort commensurate with the kind of savage death struggle we have been plunged into.

We may not win this war on a forty-hour week work basis, and we may not win so long as organized labor can strike with impunity; can picket defense plants, and can extract huge fees from workers as a prerequisite to gaining employment in the manufacture of war materials.

We may not win this war so long as Civilian Defense continues to employ high salaried entertainers and morale experts who seek social reforms under the cloak of civilian defense.

We may not win this war so long as the government is denounced by investigators of fifth column and un-American activities continue to hold positions in the government, and particularly those positions which deal officially with un-American activities.

The time may come when thousands of our best men have been slaughtered on many battlefields. Then, if not too late, we will have to rise up as a nation and clean house. Even now we look too much like France in the days of fancied security behind their "impenetrable" line of forts.

"OF CABBAGES AND KINGS"

By Ruby Lynn Hornsby

Everywhere there are troops, trucks and men in uniform. From here everyday I hear the Marines "shooting the range" bang, bang, for hours. In every jerk joint the Nickelodeon plays "Remember Pearl Harbor" and the radio is constantly giving out "white cliffs of Dover" which makes me weak in the knees. We're told constantly, "This is war," and we're going to feel it more strongly as time goes on; so let's take a deep breath, draw in our belts and snap out of our lethargy.

What do we have to complain of here in America anyway? Oh, you feel you're underpaid, you work forty eight hours and just get paid for forty. Remember our soldier boys get about forty a month for the privilege of being targets. Do they kick?

You say food stuffs are too high. You still order what you need and want, don't you? I'll bet our men prisoners in Singapore don't get to select their daily diet.

Uncle Sam taxes your income, which already won't cover your obligations and then deducts some from your paycheck towards a defense bond every month. In the first place where else would you get such an income and in the second place none of us will kick about taking back our savings and profit in ten years which the Government guarantees us.

Some people make all the money out of war. They get appointed through officials to a c. a. f. job No. 15 when you've been struggling and studying for years to make grade No. 5 under civil service. Yes, but right now someone else is also doing the dieing. We are not.

SIX-INCH SQUARE CAR

LICENSE FOR STATE

The 1943 Virginia automobile license plate will be only six inches square and will be placed over the right-hand corner of the 1942 plate.

C. F. Joyner, Jr., assistant director of the Division of Motor Vehicles, said that this change will save about 295 tons of steel. Approximately 300 tons of steel were used in the manufacture of the 1942 plates, which will go on sale this month, as compared with about five tons required for the mid-gate plate next year. The saving in money, Joyner said, will be about $60,000.

WAR PRODUCTION DISCUSSION INTERESTS CLUB

Mr. J. E. Bradford presented a very interesting program to the Kiwanis Club at its regular meeting last week. Using "Chick" Gillan as a "stooge," he introduced a statistical "dialogue" by which many interesting current facts and figures were outlined.

This was chiefly devoted to the part that the automobile industry is now playing in the production program in the all-out war effort. Confidence in the auto industry in what it is about to do and is already doing was fully shown during the discussion.

Col. R. A. Hutchison, chairman of the interclub committee, announced an interclub meeting at Arlington on March 25th. The Arlington Club meets at 12:30 at Evans Coffee Shop, intersection of Glebe Road and Lee Highway. Other nearby clubs will take part in this meeting. Manassas will stage one here in April.

HOME NEAR FAYMAN

DESTROYED BY FIRE

On Monday, the home of Mr. "Nat" Crump burned to the ground. Fanned by a strong wind, it seemed only 15 minutes, from the time the smoke was noticed until the 75 year old log home was gone. It also burned the end out of the kitchen, built close by. Most of the kitchen furniture was saved.

Much praise is due Aunt Martha, an elderly colored lady, who has been keeping house for Mr. Crump and his son.

Aunt Martha and Mr. Crump were alone when it caught. Mr. Crump has been bedfast for a long while.

On some unknown way she took him from the burning house.

will be faced with the tremendous task of issuing license plates for all motor vehicles in Virginia during a thirty-one day period and at the same time handling all of the applications for driving permit renewals.

All driving permits are issued from the Division offices in Richmond where a photostatic copy is made of the application filed by a motorist. There are approximately 800,000 motor vehicle operators licensed in Virginia, the Assistant Director said.

The motor vehicle registration is expected to exceed 500,000.

FOREST FIRES WARNING ISSUED

District Forester Reports On Causes And Damage

According to a report recently received from District Forester Berlin Eye covering the forest fire control work in Prince William County for the calendar year 1941, there were a total of 45 fires burned on a total of 535 acres. The following list shows these fires by causes:

Railroads	5

During the year there was spent in the County out of State funds for fire control work, including both prevention and fire suppression, a total of $1169.15. During the same period there was spent out of the County Treasury for men and means employed by the warden organization of a total of $207.07. Of this amount $25.31 was collected by the warden organization and returned to the County leaving a net total of $181.26 expended by the County. Service organization is 125,021 acres. The 535 acres burned during the year represents 0.43 per cent of the protected area burned, or a total of 4.3 fire was 11.88 acres.

Prince William County is included in the third Administrative district in State, which comprises the following 20 counties: Albemarle, Augusta, Clarke, Culpeper, Fairfax, Fauquier, Fluvanna, Goochland, Greene, Loudoun, Louisa, Madison, Orange, Page, Prince William, Rappahannock, Rockingham, Spotsylvania, Stafford, and Warren, lying in the northern part of the State. The total area protected in District 111 is 2,475,315 acres. Of this area protected there was a total of 19,565 acres burned during the year which was the result of 606 separate fires. The average acreage of each fire in the district was 32.29 acres. The total per cent of protected area burned was 0.79, or 7.9 acres in each 1,000 acres protected. During the year there was a total of 12,650.17 spent in District 111 out of State funds for fire prevention and fire suppression purposes. The counties spent $3,255.51 for fire suppression work, of which amount a total of $264.85 was collected and returned to the counties, leaving a net total of $3,000.66 spent by the counties in the district.

The calendar year 1941 was peculiar in that an almost continuous fire season prevailed throughout the year. Fires started in February and continued until late in December with but little cessation when an occasional local rain would occur. There was a deficiency of almost 33 per cent of normal rainfall during the year, and the extremely hazardous spring fire season was accompanied with low humidity and high winds. 1941 was the second most hazardous fire season ever encountered in the history of fire control throughout the Eastern part of the United States. This condition still prevails on into 1942 and indications are that a severe fire season may be experienced during the spring 1942 season.

Due to the present emergency the Forest Service organization has many difficulties to combat in carrying out their fire control objectives. The members of the organization are facing a serious fire famine and as yet have not been able to secure priority on tires. So many men have been called into the armed forces of the nation and others are engaged in essential war industries so that it appears that the organization may experience extreme difficulty in being able to secure adequate man power to carry on fire suppression work. Consequently, the fire control organization must depend in a large measure on help from private individuals residing in the section where fires may occur and other agencies for its fire suppression assistance in the future and until after the present emergency has passed. The cooperation and assistance of the general public is solicited in this most vital and necessary work.

produce his crop and can conveniently repay from his farming operations. Every effort is made to keep down the expense of the loans both to the borrower and to the Government.

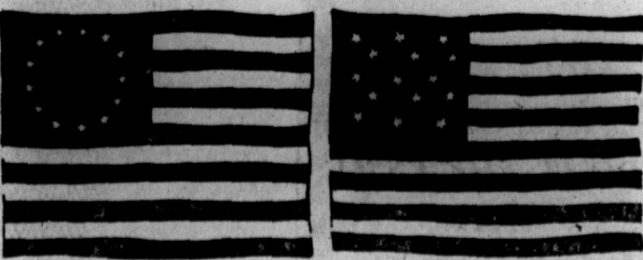

He stated that the primary factors in determining eligibility are the character of the applicant, his ability to grow and take care of the crops, and the acreages and crops to be planted.

PRE-INDEPENDENCE FLAGS—Depicted above are banners carried by American patriots when they first took up arms in 1775. At the left is the blue flag with its white crescent which was nailed to the staff at Fort Moultrie by Sergeant Jasper. In the center is the Rattlesnake Flag of the Virginia minute men at Culpeper. At the right is one of the New England pine tree flags.

This is the first Stars and Stripes. The Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, resolved: "That the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation." According to legend the five-pointed stars were designed by Mrs. Betsy Ross.

With the admission of Vermont and Kentucky to the Union two stars and two stripes were added to the flag following an Act of Congress in 1794. It was a flag of 15 stars and 15 stripes over Ft. McHenry that inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star-Spangled Banner." Congress in 1818 restored the original number of stripes.
