DEFENSE COUNCIL ASKS ASSISTANCE

Mr. Tiffany Desires Assistance In Completing Set-Up

A meeting of the Defense Council of Prince William County was held in the Town Hall at Manassas on the evening of Thursday, April 9. Mr. Tiffany presided and outlined the organization as it now stands, asking also for assistance in completing the same.

Reports were heard from Mr. Hall, who is Deputy Coordinator for Occoquan; from Mr. J. A. Vetter, Chief of the Fire Department; and Capt. Joyce.

For the police, Mayor Davis, of Manassas, and Sheriff Kerlin spoke, and Mr. Moncure urged a school of instruction for the Quantico section. Mr. Parrish reported on the Air Raid Wardens, stating that his organization is almost complete. He has also compiled a map of the town showing the various zones, together with other important information.

Mr. Royer described the defense work at the N. Y. A. School where plans are perfected to use every student on some kind of defense work. Dr. McNeil represented the Health Department; Mr. Johnson reported on Voluntary Participation, stating that splendid work was being done in the county along this line. Professor Haydon described the defense work in the public schools, particularly the fire drills and other precautions, and Miss Alice Webb spoke on emergency food and housing, stating that much interest was being shown in victory gardens and food conservation.

In the general discussion made the valuable suggestion that a mobile unit be purchased to be sent where needed.

DEFENSE CLASS

AT HAYMARKET

A mass meeting was held at the Gainesville District School, Haymarket, on the evening of Friday, April 10 for the purpose of stimulating public interest in defense work and to organize a class in civilian defense training. Dr. Wade Payne presided and introduced Mr. Hunton Tiffany, the County Coordinator.

Mr. Davis, Mayor of Manassas, then spoke, explaining the defense law, the dangers of air raids and the local defense set-up. He stated that it was necessary to have so many Manassas men and women at the head of different defense departments because the central control office for the county was at the County Seat.

Mr. E. G. Parrish spoke on the air raid warden setup, Sheriff Kerlin on auxiliary police and then a very interesting address was made by Senator Heller, of Bedford, Va. who is in charge of the aircraft warning system of the State Defense Council.

It was announced that a course of instruction would begin on April 14, and the first meeting was held on that date with a large number present. A committee was named to confer with Mr. Tiffany and the class is to begin on April 21. The committee urges everyone who can to be present and is confident that all in the community will do his or her part.

SHOT GUNS MAY REPLACE RIFLES

War Department Said To Favor Surrender Of Military Rifles By State Guards

The possibility of arming the Virginia Protective Force and similar home-guards in other States with ordinary shot-guns looms as a definite possibility this week as the War Department makes known its desire that all State troops surrender their present Springfield rifles, to be replaced with shot-guns.

In Maryland it is reported that opposition to the idea is more pronounced than in Virginia, but sportsmen and farmers are not likely, in Virginia, to take kindly to the proposition unless necessitated by most important military considerations.

The War Department is quoted as stating that it expects to re-possess around 44,000 military rifles, now in possession of State troops. They say the guns are not to be used by the United States Army, which is now rapidly being equipped with the new Garand automatic. It is presumed that the actual need for these weapons is military information and not available to the general public.

Governor Darden is quoted as saying that Virginia will go along with the Federal Government in this matter if they feel the rifles are needed, but Brig. Gen. E. E. Goodwin, Commander of the Virginia Protective Force is said to have expressed the hope that an exception can be made for a sea-board State like Virginia, which he says "is very vulnerable."

The War Department has also issued an appeal to sportsmen possessing 1903 Springfields and 1917 Enfields to make them available to the Army, if in good shooting condition.

ERWIN SIMMONS SELECTED BY N. Y. A.

Ervin R. Simmons, 22 years of age, has been selected as "The Youth Most Valuable to War Production" at the Manassas resident project of the National Youth Administration.

Wednesday of this week young Simmons was presented with an award in recognition of his outstanding merit by State officials of the N. Y. A. at ceremonies held at the Manassas work center. This award was in the form of a handsome certificate signed by both Aubrey Williams, National Administrator, and T. Edwin Burke, State Administrator, of N. Y. A.

Ervin now will be eligible for selection as the most valuable NYA youth in Virginia, this honor will be conferred by the State Administrator on the youth selected from among the winners at 10 Virginia projects as being the most meritorious in the entire State. The winner of the State designation then will compete with the winners from 47 other states of the Union for the title of "Most Valuable Youth to War Production in the United States."

Ervin Simmons was born in Pendleton County, W. Va., and was an honor student at the local schools he attended; also he was prominent in various sports and was active in the United Brethren Church. He enrolled in the N. Y. A. Manassas project in December, 1941, and the work experience and training he received enabled him to become an efficient welder. Ervin anticipates becoming a part of his nation's defense forces at an early date, either as a worker in vital war production or by enlisting in some branch of the armed forces.

"Young Simmons is one of many youths at the Manassas project and other NYA work centers who are acquiring work experience and war production training," declared A. E. Jakeman, area Director, yesterday, "that fits them for employment in war work industries; many of them already are working at Norfolk Navy Yard, Newport News Shipbuilding plant, Glenn Martin aviation plant at Baltimore, and other great war industries."

Defense Saving Drive Gets Under Way

UNFINISHED SYMPHONY

ATTENDED STATE CHAMBER DINNER

C. C. Cloe, president of the Prince William Chamber of Commerce, was in attendance at the annual banquet of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce held at Roanoke last week. He was accompanied by C. W. Alpaugh, also a member of the local chamber and a director of the state group.

The highlights of the meeting centered around the address made by Governor Darden, Ambassador, Hu-Shih, of China.

Governor Darden's remarks were straight forward about the part that Virginia is taking in the war effort. He pledged a continuation of such work.

Ambassador, Hu-Shih gave a detailed history of the struggle China has made against the aggressions of Japan in the past five years, and pointed out with confidence that as a result of American aid and the other allied nations, victory was certain although the conflict may be long and harsh.

The retiring president, Mr. James Easley was presented with an appropriate silver service by the board of directors. He was much affected by the ceremony and expressed his keen appreciation.

John D. Rockefeller was presented with an engraved memorial in acknowledgment of his generous contributions in helping restore Williamsburg.

The Chamber went on record as opposing the McCarran bill to restore the portion of the District of Columbia which was ceded to Virginia in 1846.

HOUSE BURNED

About 1 P. M. Sunday the Manassas Volunteer Fire Department was called to extinguish a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Walthall, about a mile south of Manassas.

Believed to have started from a defective electric refrigerator, the fire had made considerable headway, but probably the house could have been saved had there been any adequate water supply. However the water quickly gave out and the fire, which could no longer be controlled, destroyed the house and much of its contents.

Mrs. Walthall is secretary of the local office of the Farm Security Administration. The house belonged to the estate of the late L. S. Jeffries, and was partially covered by insurance.

CAUGHT IN THE BLACKOUT

Antber Prince William County residents were caught in the blackout Tuesday night as they passed through Fairfax County. They were delayed for fifteen minutes, from 10:30 to 10:45 when the all clear signals were sounded. Three shots from a small cannon at Centreville, which announced the blackout there was heard by a number of motorists.

American Legion, Ladies Auxiliary And Junior Woman's Club Conducting Canvass

At a meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stagg the plans were completed for the house to house campaign for the signing of pledge cards to purchase Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps.

To the efforts of the American Legion and its Ladies Auxiliary has been added that of the Junior Woman's Club, of Manassas, and any other organization in Prince William County that is willing to aid in this patriotic work should get a touch with Mr. C. W. Stagg, or any member of the American Legion.

Committees have been named as follows:

Brentsville District: V. W. Zirkle, C. W. Bittle.
Coles District: Rev. C. Murray Taylor, William Ellicott.

Gainesville District: Dr. C. Wade Payne.

Manassas District: Mrs. C. W. Stagg, Mrs. E. G. Parrish, Mrs. John Beard, Mrs. Wallace Lynn.

Mr. G. Raymond Ratcliffe, Chairman of the Prince William County Defense Savings Committee has expressed the deepest appreciation of the cooperation of the American Legion, The Legion Auxiliary and The Junior Woman's Club in undertaking this drive. He calls attention to the fact that the house to house canvassers are not soliciting any money; that the information supplied by the pledge card will be held strictly confidential. No one but the canvasser and the recording official will know how much anyone has pledged. The pledge is entirely voluntary and no one is forced to do so.

It is also important for all to know that those who are already buying Defense Bonds should sign one of these cards, because one of the purposes of the campaign is to find out how many people are already participating in the program and the extent they intend to pursue the regular purchase plan. There is a space on the Pledge Card where the signer may indicate which method of purchase, if any, is already being used by him.

The card which is being used in this canvass is again being reproduced on page 5 of this issue of the Journal.

Transients will be registered at any place they may be on that date and their registration cards sent to the proper local board within the State or to State Directors without the State.

Mr. Cloe states that registrants in this category are not liable for military service. Therefore their cards will not be serially numbered and no lottery will be held and no order numbers assigned.

RUFUS E. Mc ALLISTER

One year ago today, recalls the sad memory of my dear brother, Rufus E. McAllister, who passed away April 10th, 1941.

Brother dear, your voice, is hushed
Your loving heart is still;
And on your pale, and peaceful face,
Is resting death's cold chill.
The hands are clasped, upon your breast
And in my aching heart, today;
I know, I have no brother now.
But your memory, will be with me forever.

Till we meet on a far distant shore,
And the heart that is broken now
Shall greet you,
When we meet, to part, no more.

These verses, I also dedicate to the memory of each of my beloved "loved ones."

Father, mother, Sister and dear son, Willie L. Russell.
Devoted daughter, sister and mother,

MEN OF WAR

General Electric men and women—thousands of them! Four typical scenes show the spirit with which they are tackling the grim job of producing for war!

1. Thousands of employees, only ten days after war declaration, gathered in mass meetings in most major G-E plants to pledge all-out war effort!

2. Almost 85 per cent of all General Electric employees signed up to buy U. S. Defense Savings Bonds totalling more than $20,000,000 a year!

3. A sign chalked by a G-E workman on a big machine being built for war. The sign carried this challenge to fellow workers: "Remember Wake Island!"

4. And day and night—around the clock—G-E workmen keep steadily at the most important job of building weapons and supplies for U. S. fighting men!

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

"Yes, Major—Uncle Sam has the right o' way!"

America's war needs get first call on Chesapeake and Ohio services. For the railroad is a primary arm of defense... and it's "in for the duration!" We know that if the public is asked to defer to military needs they'll do it gladly, as a contribution to America's victory.

Chessie's railroad has a big job on its hands. Our rails are humming 24 hours a day... with trains hauling raw materials to war industries in The Chessie

Corridor... with trains taking war goods to ports and camps and supply depots... transporting troops—and always trying to keep commercial shipping and regular passenger service up to Chesapeake and Ohio's high standards.

So, if your shipment is a bit late, or your passenger train waits a few minutes for troops and war materials... just say to yourself, "These bring us a few minutes closer to final VICTORY."

HORSE AND BUGGY DAYS MAY COME AGAIN

By Elizabeth H. Smith

Farmers who think they can get tires for their cars and trucks just because they are included in the present rationing set-up may be due for a let-down," Dr. T. K. Wolfe of Southern States Cooperative commented yesterday. He continued by pointing out that the rubber situation in the country is so tough that mighty few tires are going to be available even for those right at the top of the rationing list.

Maybe the "horse and buggy days" we hear so much about will return sooner than we anticipated, and maybe it will be a good thing. When this country was developing into the greatest nation on earth, horses, buggies, oxen, and wagons were the chief means of transportation—remember the covered wagon. The rich West was opened by people who rode toward the setting sun, not by motor-driven vehicles but by the power of horses and oxen. These people who rode at the leisurely pace set by their beasts of burden had time to think and meditate on the past and present, and time to dream of and plan for the future of the Golden West, a West which must surely have developed beyond their most elaborate dreams. Who knows what further advancement this country might make if it once more had time to think?

We presume that horses used to do some thinking when they had the bit in their teeth, because the accident list was then quite short as compared with what it has been since transportation has become motorized. We talk a lot about "horse sense," and we certainly never needed horse sense more than we do today.

We see in the news that a shipment of buggy whips has just been delivered in New Richlands, Minn., the first sent there in 20 years. Evidently farmers in that section are definitely returning to the horse and buggy days.

Many provident farmers will be getting out their buggies and wagons and painting and greasing them for use again on the highways. Harnesses will be mended and dressed, and the old gray mare will get a new set of shoes. Fuel for the "jitney" will be grown at home—this will help take care of the gas shortage. With speed of travel reduced, people should once again be able to relax, and maybe the family will get a little better acquainted while they are riding around at 10 miles per hour instead of 60.

Folks won't stay at home because of the tire shortage; they'll go to town as usual on Saturday afternoons, but their transportation will be provided by the faithful old gray mares and buggies that have been waiting on the farms to meet just an emergency.

When the war is over and victory is ours, we will return to the automobile again. And there will be in use in the not far distant future privately owned airplanes priced at a figure within the reach of the family pocket-book. Thus the return of the horse and buggy days will be but a period, elapsing before further advancement in the march of progress in this great nation. During this period, though, all will be willing to forego conveniences and pleasures, for in so doing we can more promptly slap the Japs and beat Hitler by using metal for guns and tanks rather than for civilian luxuries and by letting chemicals go into the making of deadly explosives rather than into certain fertilizers. The victory is the thing that counts.

Have you had dinner lately with the Macaroni family?

In which Safford's Macaroni Bureau tells about the many macaroni products

You could fill a dozen recipe books with appetizing dishes made from macaroni products. For there are over 100 different members of the macaroni family (vermicelli, spaghetti, tagliarini, to name a few) all varying in size and shape—but all possessing the same family characteristics: flour, salt and water. The addition of eggs sets noodles slightly apart.

You'll get best cooking results if you insist upon macaroni products made from semolina flour. They retain their creamy whiteness after cooking—inferior varieties may turn gray. According to endless tests made in the kitchens of the Safford's Macaroni Bureau, this method for boiling any macaroni product has proved the most satisfactory.

BOILED MACARONI, NOODLES OR SPAGHETTI

General Cooking Directions

4 quarts boiling water

1 lb. macaroni

Bring salted water to vigorous boil in large kettle; add spaghetti, macaroni, or noodles gradually, so as not to stop the boiling. Do not cover. Boil until pasta is tender, or until a small piece rolled between the fingers feels soft. Cooking time: about 10 minutes for macaroni; 15 to 20 minutes for noodles; 20 to 25 minutes for spaghetti. Drain immediately. Serves 6.

If you don't want to take time to cook spaghetti (or any other macaroni product) separately, try this:

QUICK SPAGHETTI DINNER

With ham, mushrooms, tomatoes, and cheese

1 lb. spaghetti

1 lb. ham, sliced

1 lb. mushrooms, sliced

1 lb. tomatoes, sliced

1 lb. cheese, grated

1 lb. dried beans

Melt shortening in deep-sided frying pan; add chopped onion and sauté; add green pepper strips, mushrooms and liquid, diced ham, tomatoes, seasonings, and spaghetti in order given. Mix well; cover, and cook slowly about 10 minutes, or until spaghetti is tender, stirring occasionally. Add grated cheese, and serve at once. Serves 8 to 10. (Note: 2 cups cooked peas may be added for variety.)

How to be sure it's really fresh produce

Q. Is freshness really important in produce?
A. Absolutely! Vitamins escape as produce stands after being picked. It loses its crispness and juiciness, too.

Q. But what if I can't use a big bunch of carrots right away?
A. Buy carrots, and other produce, by the pound. This way you can get just what you can use while it's still fresh and good.

Q. Well, if carrots are priced by the pound, what about the tops?
A. You don't pay for the tops. Safeway cuts them off. This saves needless bulk and weight in shipping, too. A savings which is passed directly to you.

Q. Don't the tops help keep them fresh?
A. On the contrary. The tops sap the vegetable of its moisture and freshness.

Q. Well, how can I tell a fresh carrot from any other if the top is off?
A. Just look for the fresh green tuft where the tops have been removed.

Q. Where can I find produce like that?
A. At Safeway. Safeway produce is selected by experts in the fields and rushed direct to Safeway daily. We guarantee produce to be fresh—or we'll give you all your money back.

Please Pay Your Subscription! DOING RIGHT BY VICTORY GARDENS The alert Victory Gardener has already made his garden plan and ordered his seed. He expects to use only good seed of suitable varieties, and he'll put out in groups that mature at about the same time, to allow for succession crops—his plan calls for that. His tall-growing vegetables won't shade smaller ones; his rows will be straight and across the slope. He will have a good assortment of vegetables perhaps a few new varieties. He will be prepared for the insects. This much, says County Agent Frank D. Cox should be water over the dam as far as Victory Garden planning is concerned. Good planning, he adds, should be coupled with good practices, so that garden crops may be all our war effort demands. Using plenty of manure is an excellent garden practice. Twenty or thirty tons to the acre, applied before plowing, is not too much. This will improve the condition of the soil and provide some fertility, but commer- cial fertilizer is recommended in addition. A thousand pounds to the acre of a 5-10-5 or 4-12-4 will, if properly applied, pay for itself in increased production. Half should be broadcast before plowing and half placed in the rows and thoroughly mixed with the soil. Between plowing and planting, it's well to harrow the ground thoroughly, as a well-prepared seedbed is another essential to good gardening. There is an art in planting seed, Mr. Cox says, but these general rules will help: Put seed at a depth that is about three times the size of the seed. The soil should be firmed over the seed to insure quick and better germination. A light mulch on parsnips, carrots, and radishes will be helpful. Care in transplanting tomatoes, cabbage, and other plants will also pay dividends. Leave as much as possible on the roots in lifting the plants from the plantbed. In setting the plants, firm the soil around the roots, and water thoroughly. After the date has soaked in, pull some dry dirt over the moist soil. Cutworms sometimes chop off tender vegetable plants almost as fast as you can put them out. To protect tomatoes, cabbage, peppers, etc., wrap the stems in paper bands with an inch of paper below ground and one to two inches above. Aphids are also early visitors to the garden and do serious injury to young plants. They may be controlled with a spray of nicotine sulphate (Blackleaf 40), or with a homemade spray of one pound of tobacco stems or refuse soaked in a gallon of water for 24 hours. Be prepared for other pests, too. WINS DRAFT APPEAL Roy James, who resides near Chantilly in Fairfax County, has won an appeal from the Selective Service Board of Fairfax County. Mr. James operates a dairy farm with his father and brother and claimed exemption as necessary to the farm. Twice his local Board placed him in Class 1-A, but finally, on appeal to the national authorities he has secured a rating of 2-A.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in their lives.

"But all the children of Israel had light in their dwellings." Exod. 10:23.

APPOMATTOX AND BATAAN

Separated by a period of exactly seventy seven years to a day, two gallant American forces surrendered under virtually the same conditions. It is sometimes said that comparisons are odious and we shall not attempt to draw a parallel between the horde that Lincoln fostered on the South to the far more uncivilized ruffians that this week accomplished their work on Bataan peninsula.

Both of these vanquished commands were fighting for substantially the same thing, the main difference being that one was fighting purely to protect territory only temporarily under American control and which will eventually have its own government, without fear of domination from the United States while the other group was fighting to the last breath for farm and fireside.

Much is said of the necessity of "winning the peace." That is what Lee and his brave men did. The last great army of chivalry did not win a fight but they went to their homes under the most humiliating treatment and everlastingly "won the peace" by their steadfastness of purpose and their adherence to the principles of Christianity—two things which are being shouted from the housetops today as essentials in "winning the peace" which will shortly follow the present terrific conflict.

Lee and the Confederates who fought under him will forever remain the shining example of history that will lead us to "win the peace," now and always.

SHOT-GUN HOME DEFENSE

When the "embattled farmers fired the shots heard around the world" they used the hunting rifle. It was the prevailing household fire-arm of that day and an absolute necessity for the protection of the home and procurement of food.

In subsequent decades the shot-gun has more or less replaced the rifle as the household weapon of rural America. Hardly a country home, especially in the South, is without this valuable and substantial protection. And a very good protection it is, too. The deadly effectiveness of the shot-gun at close range is well appreciated by all who are familiar with its use, and was historically recorded at the time of the First World War when Germany officially protested to our State Department against the "in-human" use of sawed-off shot-guns by General Pershing in trench fighting.

However, a shot-gun has a very restricted range. Beyond something like a hundred yards it becomes quite ineffective, while any military rifle is deadly at 500, or even 1000 yards. There can be no question, therefore, that our State Guards would be greatly reduced in effectiveness by arming them with shot-guns, and the proposition, now advanced by the War Department of repossessing all the military rifles now in possession of the Virginia Protective Force and similar bodies in other States, cannot but be viewed with deep concern, particularly if this action should then be followed by a general call for privately owned shot-guns with which to arm them.

THE OBSERVER SAYS

No doubt in reaction to the angry wave of indignation which went the nation at knowledge of the appointment at high salaries of all sorts of foolish officials, such even as coordinators of ping-pong and fan dancers, the national office of civilian defense has in a way begun to clean house, and to confine its activities more to actual attention to air raid precautions and other material defense measures.

The Physical Fitness Division was transferred bodily to another Department of the Government. Many think, however it should have been abolished. Federal Security Administrator Paul M. Nutt was given jurisdiction over this notorious outfit. The "Arts Council" is now said to be restricting its activities to supplying talent for the government. The Information Division which was rapidly expanding to elephantine proportions has been restricted. The "Know Your Government" and "Youth" Divisions seem to have been abolished; and about twenty highly paid "advisors," "racial relations experts," "roving reporters," "consultants," etc. at salaries around five and six thousand dollars a year have been eliminated.

In the technical phraseology of official announcements, "the social experiment phase of civilian defense is now on the decline while the protective services are expanding."

In Virginia, where Governor Darden had already cut off the social experimentation proposed by the national O. C. D., it is gratifying to note that our Civilian Defense never departed from the major objective of protective service. In full confidence in our State and local defense, we are doing the best we can with what we have. Our greatest need, however, is for more people to realize the gravity of the war situation and the realistic nature of black-out tests and other preparations for enemy attack.

BENNETT CHILDREN RENDER EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Professor Worth Peters sprang a program out of the usual run of Bennett programs since Christmas, including the rhythm band of the first grade of Bennett graded school as a special feature last Friday evening. They were under the direction of their teacher, Miss Laurine Billings.

Mary Lou Trimmer introduced her little classmates. After this the rhythm band went to action for several numbers. Mary Lou Trimmer sang a solo, the other children in on the chorus.

A difficult piano duet was delightfully performed by Catherine Dennis Baker and Mary Anne Sinclair.

The comedy bit of the evening was put on by Master Billy Spritz, who was dressed in a monkey suit. He sang and danced to the amusement of all hands.

Mary Lou Trimmer and Martha Anne Earle sang a duet, the class again joining in on the chorus.

The Kivanians thoroughly enjoyed themselves and Miss Billings was thanked for her efforts.

Before adjournment, Senator Heller of Bedford, spoke in behalf of the airplane detector force in the county, and urged the Club to sponsor at least one post. Senator Heller was present as the guest of Mr. E. G. Parrish.

The Club was augmented by the return of Father Jim Widmer who had taken a recess during the Lenten season.

The Club also welcomed one of its old members, Arthur S. Boatwright, now residing in Richmond.

The interclub meeting with Alexandria and Arlington will take place at the high school gymnasium tomorrow evening at the usual hour. During the summer season, the meeting time has been set down to 7 P. M., Eastern time.

CENTREVILLE

The black-out test at Centreville Tuesday night was very successful. Zone Warden A. P. Holmes had done a great deal of preliminary work, including the preparation of a detailed map of his area, showing every house.

Assisting as auxiliary wardens were Howard Havener, Chas. K. Belcher, Stuart DeBell, Ben Leedy, Claude Makely, George Menefee, Ewell Mohler, Lester Mohler, W. S. Norman, Otto Saunders, Ray Thompson, George Turberville and Robert Wrenn.

W. H. Lamb served as Chief of Communications and received the yellow flash at 10 P. M. Contrary to general expectations the yellow signal was maintained for 27 minutes. Then from the County Communication center, at 10:27 came the red flash for the black-out. The official alarm was given with a little Winchester Cannon, which was found to outdo any other local noise making facility, and this was supplemented by ringing of the old farm bell at Royal Oaks.

The white all clear signal came fifteen minutes later at 10:45. Thus ended Centreville's first total black-out test.

Rev. Jack Neeson, of Seminary, conducted the services at St. John's on Sunday morning. Regular services as usual at 9:45 this coming Sunday.

After that time, the hour may be moved to 10 A. M.

Mrs. Agnes Robey has returned home after spending the holiday season in Washington, visiting relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dye have moved into their home just north of Centreville.

A child fell from an auto near Payne's tourist home on Sunday afternoon. He was badly hurt and was rushed to Georgetown hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne had as Sunday guests, Mrs. Payne's sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wise and niece, Janet, from Arlington.

Other recent callers at the Payne's were Mrs. Payne's brother, Mr. W. T. Boyce, of Chevy Chase, Md., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arnold, of Fairfax.

Mrs. Eva Utterback entertained relatives on Sunday.

The local first aid class of the Red Cross closed its sessions recently. A surprise party was given the instructor after the regular session. Members of the class are continuing the advance work under the same instructor, classes now being conducted at Fairfax High.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Harrison have recently returned from Hallendale, Florida where they purchased a winter residence in the town. Mr. Harrison has important contracts in Arlington that need his attention.

OCCOQUAN

Occoquan was signally honored this date by the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion of the Eighth District who selected Occoquan as the place to hold their Convention. They arrived here en masse, about 75 of them. We are glad to note that we believe they enjoyed themselves better than if they held their Convention in one of the large cities. The ladies of Occoquan and Lorton are entitled to a standing vote of thanks for their work in getting those good women to come here, and in providing for their entertainment most lavishly.

Mayor Thomas F. Joyce of Occoquan welcomed the members of the convention in a very diplomatic manner. He gave them a short history of the Pre Revolutionary industries of Occoquan, and the part they played on the final outcome of that war, and of the later decline of those industries. He invited the members to make themselves at home, and hoped they would enjoy their stay with us, and hoped they would make us a return visit, either at another Convention, or individually when they could spend more time seeing our beautiful town and scenery.

The ladies held their meetings in Mr. Robert S. Hall's building, and were entertained at luncheon in the Fire Department Building.

NOTICE TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Notice is hereby given that the Occoquan Company has filed with the State Corporation Commission of Virginia an application for a license to construct, operate and maintain a hydro-electric development on Occoquan Creek in Fairfax and Prince William Counties. The proposed dam is to be located on Occoquan Creek about 114 mile upstream from Highway Bridge on Route No. 123, at Occoquan, Virginia, and will be about 125 feet high. This dam will form a reservoir extending upstream about 19 miles to the Blands Ford dam on Broad Run and to the Bull Run Power Company's dam on Bull Run, which is about 6 miles upstream from its junction with Occoquan Creek. In connection with said dam it is proposed to construct a power station having installed two 24,400 horsepower vertical reaction turbines, each direct connected to a 22,500 K. V. A. (at 80 per cent power factor) water wheel generator. It is further proposed to supplement the stream flow at the dam by pumping water back from the tailrace into the reservoir, and for this purpose two 17,000 horsepower pumps, each delivering 1,000 C. F. S. against a head of 126 feet and driven by direct connected 17,000 horsepower synchronous motors, are to be installed in the power house.

Notice is further given that the State Corporation Commission has set said application for hearing, in its court room in the City of Richmond, Virginia, at 10:00 o'clock A. M. on Thursday, April 23, 1942, and at such public hearing the applicant and other interested persons, firms associations, or corporations, will be given an opportunity to present facts, evidence and argument for or against the granting of said application.

Description, maps and plans of said proposed development are on file in the offices of the State Corporation Commission, and in the offices of the State Commission on Conservation and Development, and also in the offices of the Charles B. Hawley Engineering Corporation, 1016 Munsey Building, Washington, D. C., engineers for the Company, at either of which places they may be seen and inspected by any interested person.

FIGHTING U-BOATS WITH HELIUM

Big non-rigid airships, more popularly known as "blimps," are rapidly proving to those who have in the past questioned them that they are a military weapon of A-1 worth. They are being used to protect shipping, to sight and attack submarines. The factor today stands out foremost as lighter-than-air, sails into a new and brighter dawn. The factor is helium. The story of what this miracle gas means to modern warfare is told in an illustrated feature article appearing next Sunday in the Washington Sunday Star.

New High in Ship Production

LIBERTY SHIPS BEING FITTED OUT AT A BETHLEHEM YARD PREPARATORY TO SEA SERVICE. THE YARD IS PRODUCING A CONTINUOUS STREAM OF VESSELS OF THIS TYPE.

Bethlehem ship production this year will represent the greatest all-round shipbuilding output by any company in the history of the country.

Speed, speed and more speed is the constant objective; and always speed with quality, for a jerry-built ship is virtually useless in the grim tasks of maritime war.

The first Liberty ship which recently discharged supplies at a Red Sea port was built in a yard that was virtually non-existent a year ago. A tanker was delivered in 100 days from laying of keel. A battleship will be delivered 14 months ahead of schedule.

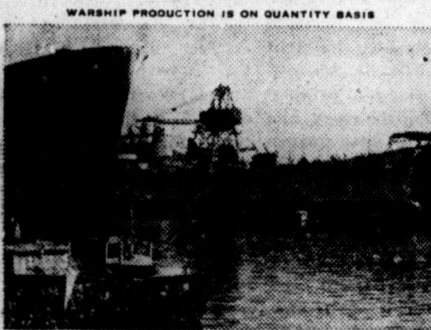

Cargo ships are being built in less than one-half the time required in the first World War. Comparable speeding up has been achieved on other types of ships and the schedule is being constantly stepped-up.

Expanding old yards, building new ones, tripling employment in a year's time, training thousands of new men, putting every effective facility to use, adopting pre-assembly and mass production methods—all these spell tonnage and more tonnage, a steadily-mounting output of ships from Bethlehem yards.

All hands are doing their utmost for Victory, working to achieve the maximum for the U.S. Navy and the U.S. Maritime Commission, so that the "bridge of ships" shall be maintained and steadily enlarged.

WITH THE MONEY YOU SAVE

One extra plane...

... or extra tank, or extra gun, or extra ship completed tomorrow may, in a few months, turn the tide on some distant battlefield; it may make the difference between life and death for some of our fighting men.

—PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT,
February 23, 1942.

Would you be the one who failed to help buy that plane, tank, or ship—by failing to buy your share of Bonds? Could you sleep nights knowing that American boys were being killed because you and others "put off" doing your part?

Remember, they are OUR boys now—from your State, your town, perhaps your very home. They're out there risking their lives—giving their lives—so that America, your free America, can live. And just as you are counting upon them to give everything they've got, so they are counting upon you to give everything you've got—by working harder than you ever have before and by investing in Bonds to the very limit of your powers!

Can they count on you? Make your answer ring clear and true—let our boys know that every man, woman, and child in America is behind them 100%! Go to your local post office, bank, savings and loan association, or other official sales agency today. Pledge yourself to buy all the Bonds you can—regularly, every pay day until this war is won! The more Bonds you buy, the more planes will fly.

I Like This Book

One of a series of book reviews by students of Osborn High School, Manassas—Session 1941-42 in competition for the W. C. Wagener Memorial Prize.

Full Ahead was written by Felix Riesenburt, Jr., and published by Dodd, Mead and Company in 1941.

This book tells the story of a boy who wanted to join the Navy. He also wanted to go to West Point to study, but he could not fulfill either of his desires.

One day he was out in his yacht trying to forget about his disappointment. He had not noticed that a storm was coming, so he did not put on his life belt. An American Liner was coming, and he would crash into it unless he changed his course. In the few minutes of struggle which followed, he was thrown overboard.

One of the cadets on the ship was with him when he regained consciousness, and after he had learned about Jack's disappointment, he told him about the Merchant Marine. Becoming interested in the information given him by the cadet, Jack told his father that he had changed his mind about his former plans and was going to enlist in the Merchant Marine Service.

He made many friends while he was at sea, and he enjoyed his work very much. He was glad that he had joined the Merchant Marine Service, instead of going to West Point. After many adventures during his first year at sea, Jack was assigned to a ship that went to the coast of South America.

This book was very interesting, and I liked it very much because I have always liked stories of the sea and of boats. Also I think that stories of any part of the Navy are interesting, too. Because this book is full of adventure, I think that everyone would like it.

This book may be borrowed from the Ruffner-Carnegie Library.

STAFFORD LADY BEST SPEAKER

New Hope H. D. CLUB
Member Wins Honors

Mrs. J. T. Harrell of the New Hope Home Demonstration Club was chosen best speaker of the ladies representing the six counties attending the district meeting of the Virginia Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs held at Manassas, April 7, so reports Miss Glenna Angle, Home Demonstration Agent of Stafford county. One lady was selected from each county to give a five minute talk on "The Homemaker of 1942."

Following is Mrs. Harrell's speech: "We have all read in our history books that the shots fired on that 19th day of April, 1775, at Bunker Hill were 'shots heard around the world.' The shots fired at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941 were not only heard around the world but they are still resounding, re-echoing and reverberating in one form or another through every American home. They have brought to our homes a time of change, of sacrifice, of trial, of added burden. How shall we, the homemakers of 1942, respond to the challenge of our time?

In the first place we will be more responsible. It will be our responsibility to see to it that our families are better fed according to the best standards of good nutrition. Some one has said that as the radio came out of the last war so better nutrition would certainly result from this war and out of better nutrition will come a healthier, happier people. We will be more responsible for conservation in the home, conservation of all our hard to replace household equipment, of all the surplus foods grown in our home gardens, of the clothing and especially the woolen clothing of our families shall be one of our main projects for the coming months. Our country needs every cent, every dollar that we can spare, so we must be more responsible for the careful spending of the family income.

In the second place as homemakers of 1942 we will be more resourceful. We all know the old adage "Necessity is the mother of invention." So as necessity arises we must be alert to use every resource at our command. We will find more and better ways to use every home-produced commodity. We will learn to use substitutes for sugar and other limited products. We will be resourceful, too, in the wise planning of our time that we may give some part of every day to the reading of current events, of articles on gardens, poultry raising, and markets, of articles on foods, household management, child care, etc. Unless we read and study we cannot know if we are doing our part, and doing it well, in the whole program of national defense.

We need to so plan our time that we may have a part in the activities of the Red Cross and other community and church projects.

With the increased shortage of tires and cars the social life of our communities will soon be changed. All of us will have to forego much of the recreation that we found in parks, in resorts, and beaches at a distance from our homes. Some forms of community recreation will be necessary and it will require all our powers of resourcefulness to provide for the social welfare of our communities.

Finally as homemakers of 1942 we will be more religious. I am not saying this because the work religious sounds well with responsible and resourceful; but I am stressing this point because it is a fact that times of emergency of self-denial have always made Christian peoples more aware of Christian principles and have strengthened their faith and belief in those principles. In the last few years we have put our faith too much in science, in education, in politics, in money, only to see them all fail to bring peace and harmony and lasting security. We must in our time of great need turn to God who is the same yesterday, today and forever.

As homemakers we especially need to be more religious that by our faith and hope we may bolster the morale, strengthen the courage and fortitude of those in our families who must bear arms or work in field and factory that our cause may be victorious.

The great French writer Rousseau wrote these words "Man goes down to his grave bearing in his two empty hands only the things that he has given away." So here today we pledge to give our time, our talents, our mentality, our prayers, ourselves, in service to our families, our communities, our country and our God."

YOO-HOO at you?

Healthy, skin-boosting girls rate that attention! Beauty girls are seldom attracted. You can't put on curves if you haven't the appetite for proper foods. VINOL with its Vitamin B1 and iron encourages appetite. Your doctor has been pleased with VINOL.

Defense: In a meeting held Sunday in the Senate Chamber of the Capitol 125 civilian defense officials from all sections of Virginia made plans to enlist 20,000 additional observers in the Virginia Aircraft Warning Service. Already 30,000 are manning the 600 active observation posts.

J. H. Wyse, Civilian Defense Coordinator for Virginia has reported that 81 County Councils have been organized embracing 93 towns, 24 city councils and 14 independent town councils. There are 29 still remaining to be organized, and among these are Amherst, Bland, Brunswick, Carroll, Charles City, Floyd, Goochland, King George, Louisa, Montgomery, Nottoway, Page, Pittsylvania, Prince Edward, Rockbridge and Spotsylvania.

The State Defense Council is preparing rules and regulations to govern blackouts which will have the effect of law and will make it unnecessary for local law enforcement officers to proclaim them.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

Mrs. Tubbs, of Triangle, says that in searching over rubbish in her woodshed and attic, she found at least twenty pounds of rubber in tires, old shoes, etc. She turned it in. Why not all of us do likewise?
