POPPY DAY HERE IS ANNOUNCED

Local Legion Auxiliary Head Calls On All To Aid In Effort

Poppies of patriotic remembrance will bloom in Manassas on Saturday, May 23, Mrs. W. C. Staggs, President of Prince William 158 Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, announced today.

Every man, woman and child in the city will be asked to wear a poppy on that day in honor of the men who have given their lives for America. The poppies will be distributed by volunteer workers from the Auxiliary and the coins contributed for them will be used in Legion and Auxiliary work for the war disabled, their families and the families of the dead.

The poppies which will be distributed have been made by disabled veterans at a Veteran's Hospital. Making the little red flowers has given many veterans employment during the winter and spring months. The work is limited to men receiving little or no government compensation and those with families to support.

Contributions received for the poppies on Poppy Day are a principal source of support for the vast welfare work carried out by Legion and Auxiliary among the disabled men and dependent families. With the new war aiding to America's list of war victims, there will be greatly increased need for funds during the coming year.

Poppy Day has been observed by the Legion and Auxiliary annually for the past twenty years. With the new significance this year and will be worn as a symbol of patriotism by millions of Americans throughout the country.

More than 13,000,000 of the flowers have been made by disabled veterans for the Auxiliary, the largest number since the observance of Poppy Day was begun twenty years ago. Orders for the poppies from Auxiliary Units every where have been increased this year in anticipation of greatly increased demand for the flowers of patriotic remembrance.

"This year," said Mrs. Staggs, "the poppy not only honors and aids the men who defend America twenty-four years ago and their families, but also those defending America today and their families. Funds collected on Poppy Day will be used in the work the Legion and Auxiliary are doing for the disabled of both wars, and for needy families of men in the service as well as those of veterans."

"The Legion and Auxiliary have had twenty years of experience in aiding service men and their dependents. They are able to make every dollar do maximum service in this field. Their volunteer workers have had long training and know the quickest and best methods of bringing relief to veterans and their families found in need."

"Victims of the present war are naturally turning to the Legion and Auxiliary for aid, and we want to give them the benefit of our service. The increased burden calls for increased funds. We hope that the public will be generous on Poppy Day this year because from the contributions made for the poppies comes the principal means of support for our work during the entire year ahead."

STATE OFFICIAL ADDRESSES PTA

Dr. Clarence Spain Advises Parents On Child Welfare During War Period

The county Parent Teachers Association held its spring session at Brentsville District High immediately following the art exhibit and supper.

Mrs. R. C. Haydon reported as chairman of "home room" mothers, stating that interest was greater than usual despite the war program.

The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. John Powell, Occoquan; Vice-President, Rev. John DeChant, Manassas; Mrs. McDuff Green, Nokesville; Mr. B. M. Brunt, Occoquan. All of these represented re-elected officers. Objectives for 1941-42 were briefly reviewed by the President, who suggested that the executive board and president of each local group set up its own objective committee for the coming session.

At this point, the president introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Clarence Spain, director of adult education from the State Board at Richmond.

Dr. Spain dwelt in futures, stressing some of the good things that might grow out of the war such as increased loyalty, greater tendency to submit to sacrifices, a deeper sense of human sympathy, cooperation, etc.

As opposed to this he warned against the destructive results such as lowered morale, juvenile delinquency, impaired health, occupational maladjustments, lowered interest in Christianity, general sense of insecurity, etc.

It was a fine address, full of many things to bear in mind during the dark months ahead for all. All of these things the speaker declared would affect education, and he closed in urging a well-rounded life for the child which would include 1. Security; 2. Affection; and 3. Freedom.

BRIGHT NAMED STATE OF A HEAD

Former Mayor Of Richmond Will Administer Commodities

Dr. J. Fulmer Bright, former Mayor of Richmond, and who has headed the Tire Rationing Board of the State, has been named Virginia Director for the Office of Price Administration.

In notifying Dr. Bright, National Administrator Leon Henderson wired that, "Your duties will touch intimately the lives of every person in your State and I am confident that you will carry out the responsibilities to the credit of yourself and the OPA." More than 130 rationing boards are already functioning under Dr. Bright, and this organization, it is believed will be enlarged to handle the vast increase of work required for the expected rationing of sugar, gasoline and an ever increasing list of vital commodities.

The Governor is quoted as saying that he was glad to hear of the appointment of Dr. Bright and that he had written to National Director Henderson that he would render the State Director every assistance.

FREDERICKSBURG REFUSED DEFENSE RATING

The War Department has turned thumbs down on Fredericksburg's request for rating as a defense area. The City had requested this status in order to receive priority from the National Housing Agency.

However, in a letter to Representative S. Otis Bland, the War Department states that "as there is no War Department defense activity in Fredericksburg the War Department is not justified in declaring it a priority area."

MUSIC WEEK AT BENNETT SCHOOL

Warren McInteer, of Randolph-Macon Academy.

Warren H. McInteer of Quantico, a rising senior here at Randolph-Macon College, has been elected to serve as a Student Dean for the college session 1942-43, it was announced here today.

Mr. McInteer, varsity first-sacker in Baseball, is vice-president of the Chi Beta Phi scientific fraternity, a member of the Athletic Board, holds membership in the Varsity Club, the Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity and the Dance Committee and was listed on the Dean's List for his academic performance during the first semester of the current session.

FUTURE USE OF IRON FORBIDDEN

More Than 400 Items Ordered Discontinued

Total war this week descended upon iron products as the United States Government ordered thousands of manufacturing plants to cease production of more than 400 articles requiring iron. And no other substitute metal may be used instead, except gold and silver, of which there is an over supply, but which will be only sparingly used because of its obvious cost.

This is the most drastic order ever issued to the civilian population in this country, experts state, and its effect will be felt in every home shop, office, and on the farm. Indeed the order is considered the finishing blow to the entire "durable consumer's goods" industry.

It is impossible to name all these items in a restricted news account of the sweeping order, but if it is made of iron it is destined to go out of production within 90 days.

The order not only affects manufacturers and wholesalers, but retailers and even consumers are forbidden to receive articles known to have been made or delivered in violation of the order.

The new order will not be administered in Washington, but from New York in accordance with a policy of decentralization. A system of appeals has been set up, but it is not thought that there will be any great outcry over this severe restriction, as all know the absolute importance of iron in the war industry.

ONLY HALF OF OUR RIFLES TO BE REPLACED WITH GUNS

Adjutant General S. Gardner Weller has announced from Richmond that the Virginia Protective Force, as our militia is now known, will be allowed to retain at least half of its present supply of military rifles, those being requisitioned by the Federal Government to be replaced with shot-guns.

A previous order from the War Department had indicated that our militia would be requested to give up all of its military rifles in favor of shot-guns, and Virginia, always patriotic, was preparing to comply when the half and half substitute order came through.

State military authorities are unofficially quoted as expressing gratification over the new order which will give them plenty of shot-guns for handling mobs and riots, where this weapon is much more effective than high power rifles, and will at the same time provide long range guns when and where needed.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE TRAINING SCHOOL

116 Have Enrolled For Instruction At Manassas

The Civilian Defense Training School, organized at Manassas by Director-Coordinator Hunton Tiffany, has now completed two of the ten intensive instruction periods which have been scheduled for the month of May.

On Monday evening at the High School Gymnasium the class was in charge of Mayor Harry P. Davis, who spoke interestingly himself and introduced the instructor, Mr. William F. Barbour of the Alexandria Fire Department. The topic was Bombs, and a great deal of most valuable information was imparted to a class which numbered 116. Mr. Barbour was obviously an expert on his subject and his pleasing personality and direct method of instruction was very effective. He will speak again next Monday night on the subject of Gas Masks and Gas Defense.

On Monday evening, also at the Gymnasium, the class was in charge of Mr. Edgar Parrish, who introduced, or rather presented, for everybody locally known him, Mr. Jack Stauff, the instructor in First Aid. Mr. Stauff is not only especially well informed on the subject, as his lecture indicated, but in addition possessed the personal skill and dexterity which enabled him to give practical demonstrations of the first aid methods prescribed. The class was divided into two to work upon each other, and next Friday night, at the Town Hall, Mr. Stauff will continue his practical instruction. Each member of the class will then come with bandage material and a blanket for use in even more realistic first aid work.

As it is still possible to derive much benefit from the School, even if not being able to qualify by having taken the entire course, all interested citizens are cordially invited and urged to attend.

PREPARING NEW KIWANIS SONG BOOK

The chief officer of business on last Friday evening's program at the Kiwanis club was balloting on songs for the newest edition of the Kiwanis song book.

There was considerable "politicking" and "lobbying" for the various favorites, and Chairman Ray Ratcliffe has been busy all week trying to unravel the motley array of requests sprawled all over his nicely printed ballot sheets. No telling when the "vote" will be announced.

Prof. R. C. Haydon and Col. R. A. Hutchison were named delegates, along with W. L. Lloyd and Hunton Tiffany as alternates to the annual convention in June.

The regular meeting of Prince William Post No. 158, the American Legion, will be held in the Town Hall on Tuesday, May 12, at 8:00 P. M. Commander Staggs urges all members to be present.

THIS IS THE STORY OF CARBOLOY

How a Most Strategic Material of the War—Invented in Germany—Was Made Available to the United Nations

More Precious Than Diamonds in War Production... Carboloy is an American trademark for cemented tungsten-carbide, an alloy second only to diamonds in hardness, more precious than diamonds as a vital material in America's war program. It is used for the tips of cutting tools, and for wear-resistant dies. Carboloy is used in small quantities; it is difficult to make and difficult to use—but it has never been scarce in modern times. There is no scarcity now.

Invented in Germany—Krupp Protected by U. S. Patents... Cemented carbide was invented in Germany—it belonged to Krupp of Germany, and this made all the rest of the world Krupp's customer. In this country, Krupp was protected by patent grants from the United States.

General Electric Creates Independent Production... The General Electric Company two years before this had begun research on tungsten-carbide and foresaw its importance in industrial production. For immediate use in its own plants and for easier availability to others, General Electric undertook the long and arduous negotiations for the American rights. Limited rights were obtained in 1928, with Krupp continuing to export the material to its United States customers—a business which languished, however, as General Electric painstakingly developed its own Carboloy technique. This paved the way for General Electric to make the United States entirely independent of Germany for its cemented tungsten-carbide supply as early as 1936.

American Tool Costs Half That of German... From the start, two totally different businesses were involved. Krupp originally exported cemented carbides in chunks—and was unsuccessful. General Electric—and its subsidiary, Carboloy Co., Inc.—found it necessary to develop a complete engineering and manufacturing service, making various types of Carboloy equipped tools, training men in their use, and offering to its customers a specialized and successful production technique. For purposes of fair comparison, a typical German cemented carbide tool in 1928 cost $22.26 in the United States, while a comparable American Carboloy tool cost $11.11.

Loss to General Electric for Many Years—Art Taught to Industry... In times of peace—and 1928 was such a time—the measure of success of industrial adventure is to be found in profit to the adventurer. By such a measure, Carboloy could not be called successful. Initial expenses were great. For a time the Company lost at the rate of $1000 a day, and once had an operating deficit of more than a million dollars. One of the major contributing reasons was the continuing high cost of development, standardization, and training. In 1936—37 alone, training courses were given to 12,000 men in industry. Moreover, six major price reductions were made in the face of operating losses, until the standard tool blank had been reduced in price 90 per cent.

Faith and Perseverance... Depression was still another reason—labor-saving tools could not be sold to industry or labor at any price. But General Electric, with determination that now seems providential, kept on—increasing its capacity, granting new licenses, condoning instances of unlicensed production, staying ahead of its market.

Over the entire period of its existence up to January 1st, 1942 the total net profit of the Carboloy Company was 2.5 per cent of sales.

Production Multiplied Forty-five Times in Four Years... Cemented tungsten-carbide could easily have been a source of weakness here, as it was in England, had it not been for General Electric's policy of continued expansion. In 1939, the production of the Carboloy Company was less than 20,000 lbs.; in 1940, it was 55,000 lbs.; in 1941, it was 163,000—and in December came Pearl Harbor. Now, in 1942, the Company's production is going at a rate that is 45 times that of only four years ago.

Britain Dependent upon Us... By contrast, British companies, which had been content to continue as customers of Krupp, found themselves cut off from the vital material when Poland was invaded. But the General Electric Company was able to supply substantial quantities to British industry immediately and since then has continuously filled British orders. It has, in like manner, filled Canada's requirements since 1936. It is currently supplying Canada, Russia, and other United Nations. All this in addition to supplying the greatly expanded needs of American industry.

An Inspirational Story of American Industry... Thus, the story of Carboloy does not end in "too little and too late." Like many previously untold stories of American industry, it continues, a sturdy and inspiring example of public service born of private enterprise, and characterized by hard work, ingenuity, investment, research, risk, and courage—a familiar pattern on this side of the Atlantic. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Adam and Fallen Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches and societies of Christian Scientists, on Sunday, May 10.

The lesson text will be "O Israel, turn unto the Lord thy God; for thou art fallen by thine iniquity" (Hosea 14:1). Bible selections will include the following passage from I John 2:7, 8: "Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doeth righteous is righteous, even as he is righteous. He that doeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil."

One of the passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included in the Lesson-Sermon, reads as follows: "The real man being linked by Science to his Maker, mortals need only turn from sin and lose sight of mortal selfhood to find Christ, the real man and his relation to God, and to recognize the divine sonship" (p. 316).

STATE-WIDE CAMPAIGN FOR USO IS PLANNED

A county-wide drive in Fairfax as part of the Virginia State War Fund Campaign to raise $407,000 for the United Service Organizations is now being planned, Senator J. S. Battle, of Charlottesville, Chairman of the 8th Congressional District drive announced today. United Service Organizations, popularly known as USO, represents the combined activity of six great welfare organizations which are providing recreational and comfort facilities for men in all branches of our armed forces.

Sen. Battle in the near future will announce a drive chairman for Stafford County, who in turn will choose community leaders and workers to carry the appeal to every home in the county.

Heading the State-wide drive is John Stewart Bryan of Richmond as chairman. Governor Colgate W. Darden, Jr. is honorary chairman, and Mrs. Powell Glass of Lynchburg is woman's chairman.

Although Virginia has 41 USO clubs and units in the State, or the third largest number of any state in the Union, its part of the nation-wide goal of $32,000,000 is less than 1.3%.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in later years.

And Elijah came unto all the people and said, How long halt ye between two opinions? If the Lord be God, follow Him; but if Baal, then follow him.—1 Kings 18:21.

THE FALL OF CORREGIDOR

On Wednesday Corregidor Fortress surrendered almost on the very anniversary of the Capture of Manila by Admiral Dewey.

For many weeks the fall of this valiant outpost has been a foregone conclusion. The gallant stand of its defenders far exceeded either the calculations of their enemies or the hopes of their countrymen and their unparalleled courage has accomplished results fully justifying their brave resistance.

Pounded into helplessness by 28 days of continual bombardment, both from the air, and finally even more severely by huge siege guns, and blinded by having no aerial support, they were finally overcome, 16 hours after the assault of the final landing party. They had been subjected to more than 300 air raids.

The defeat of our powerful nation at this far away outpost, humiliating as it is all of us, is not an important military setback. It is, indeed a demonstration of the power and endurance of our fighting men—an inspiration to our armed forces for all time.

Our heroes on Bataan have wrecked the time-table of an Empire. This tiny force, battling against overwhelming odds, probably has saved Australia and they have proven to Japan that the United States cannot possibly be defeated.

THE RIGHT TO WORK

Speaking before the Alexandria Lion's Club last week Hon. Howard W. Smith made a statement which will find an echo in the hearts of all patriotic and unselfish Americans when he said, "Americans cannot sit complacently by and allow labor blocks to deprive men of their right to work.

Continuing, Judge Smith stated that he was opposed to all blocs because they menace the American form of government. Both the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. he added, "are making a deliberate and concerted effort to impose on the economy of this nation what is known as the closed shop."

Throughout the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia as well as all over the nation Judge Smith is commended heartily for the patriotic stand he has taken against the labor racket. So forceful, indeed, has been his insistence that free men shall not be required to pay tribute to a labor union as a requirement to work in the defense of their country, that his Bill went through the House. It was killed in the Senate, as the more recent Vinson-Smith bill was throttled in the Naval Affairs Committee (by the narrow margin of one vote) because of the enormous prestige of the Commander in Chief of the Nation in time of war, who apparently is afraid of Labor and is willing to let the unions continue to hold a knife at the throat of the defense effort.

The time will surely come, as it did so fearfully in France, when we will have to pay for this folly—the folly of allowing one class of our citizenry, no matter how patriotic they profess to be to remain above the law while the rest of the nation is legislated into compliance.

Editor, Manassas Journal,

Dear Sir:

Charles Edward Breeden, Jr. made application for the U. S. Navy this date.

His parents are the most typical American born. Did they hesitate to sign their name to the consent papers? No, not they! What was their reaction to seeing their boy going into the arm service? Well, I'll tell you.

I paid Charles Edward Breeden, Sr. a visit to ask about how he felt in regards to his son joining the U. S. Navy and would he consent by signing his papers, and pops Mrs. Breeden, "what right have I got to choose my son's vocation, if he wants to join the navy and help to defend our country that is the place for him, and in addition he will learn a trade from the ground floor up."

She states that the boy has not caused her nor any one any trouble and that he is a good boy, had taken a job at Glen L. Martin in Baltimore, Maryland, to help his Father so his brothers may continue in school, now that that is over he feels that it is time to go places and do something for himself.

That is the real spirit of all our youth, but not the spirit of all the parents, as those of Charles Edward Breeden, Jr. Parents. If all parents would take the same attitude as the parents of Charles Edward Breeden, Jr. there would be no fear of any aggressor. There should be more people of the Pilgrim type, ready to shoulder a gun to defend our country. They did not hesitate to let their sons even daughters to put a musket to their shoulder and pull the trigger, altho they were knocked down each time the musket went off, only to get their feet and reload.

To win this war, we have to do our bit, not by buying WAR BONDS ALONE but by rolling up our sleeves and digging in. There is lots of young blood ready to serve, only for their parents' approval. Show me one young AMERICAN that does not enjoy a good fight, and this is one to get into for you, and you, and ours.

Keep them floating,
Joseph Frank Picha,
Chief Boatwain's Mate

WHO REMEMBERS?

Conner's Opera House in Manassas was nearing completion. There was much speculation on the possibility that our town might even be included in a theatrical circuit.

The new hall is described in an issue of The Manassas Journal of that day as "far ahead of most of the theatres in small towns," and the stage curtain was quite a work of art. It is described and pictured as a landscape "which is really worthy of note, consisting of a background of ruin-covered hills, at the base of which flows a stream, spanned by a stone bridge over which runs a winding roadway." The coloring is described as "true to nature," and the perspective was said to be especially good.

Who remembers who painted this scene, and when was this great public improvement made available in Manassas?

LOCAL U. S. D. A. WAR BOARD AIDING IN COLLECTION OF SCRAP IRON, STEEL AND RUBBER

The U. S. D. A. War Board in cooperation with the War Production Board is arranging for government collection trucks to call at Prince William farms for scrap material. This scrap may be donated or sold to the government—the important thing is to keep it moving. When the scrap is picked up, it will be marked for identification if it is being sold. At the government concentration point, it will be weighed and defense stamps equal to the value of the collection will be mailed. If the scrap is donated, the money from its sale all goes to the government and will aid in the war.

In a letter being sent to Prince William farmers this week, a plea is made for all to help by making their scrap iron, steel and rubber available and the following instructions given:

1. Go over your farm, your buildings and house looking for all possible scrap iron, steel and rubber.
2. Fill in and mail the attached card. Indicate on it the amount of the scrap materials you have and whether you want to give them or sell them to the government.
3. Remove usable parts from the scrap.
4. After notice from the government indicating the exact day on which a truck will call, have all scrap that you can move at your gate.

Because all scrap on farms is badly needed now, this step toward bringing it into use for war purposes is being taken. Urgently needed scrap iron, steel and rubber still remains on many Prince William farms. It is useless to the war effort there. Every pound from every farm is needed and needed now. Whether it is sold or donated to the government or disposed of to a junk dealer does not matter. The important thing is to put it into use to hasten victory for us in the war in which we are now engaged.

Further information concerning the scrap collection plan may be obtained from the County U. S. D. A. War Board and Neighborhood Committees and Committeewomen of the County of Agriculture.

BIOLOGISTS URGE CAREFUL ATTENTION FOR HEDGES

One of the simplest ways of maintaining a supply of food and cover for valuable farm wildlife, according to a paper recently prepared by biologists of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, is to refrain from cutting down fence rows and from trimming back too far the vegetation along ditch and stream banks. By allowing such places to grow up into neat hedges of native shrubs, the biologists point out, wildlife food and cover is produced at no expense. The shrubby cover, in addition to furnishing a home for game and other valuable wildlife, is said to prevent erosion of the banks of ditches and streams.

Such hedges must be controlled carefully or they may encroach on neighboring fields and pastures. To prevent excessive and undesirable growth it is recommended that the opposite sides of the hedges be trimmed in alternate years. If the vegetation on one side of a ditch or fence is trimmed one year, and that on the opposite side is cut the following year, wildlife food and cover is not destroyed and the banks are not left bare and subject to erosion.

Native shrubs, such as wild plum, common privet, and native shrub lespedeza, are recommended for fence rows and stream banks. Wild grape and honeysuckle also provide good game food and cover. Honeysuckle is especially good in preventing erosion. If desirable shrub cover is slow to come in naturally it is often worth while to plant the proper kinds of vegetation.

Other combined soil and wildlife conservation practices include planting protecting vegetation in gullied areas, and sowing permanent border strips between cultivated fields and woodland. Steep, rocky and otherwise rough and unused areas where serious gullies are likely to start should be planted to shrubs or black locust trees. Permanent strips of perennial vegetation planted between fields and woodland have been found to stabilize the field borders, prevent woodland encroachment into the fields, provide a turnrow for work animals and machinery, and form excellent food and cover strips for wildlife. Sericea lespedeza, Korean lespedeza, partridge pea, common lespedeza, and vetch, planted in strips 10 to 15 feet wide, make excellent field borders.

With tanks fighting in scorching deserts or over icy wastes, Paratone-treated oils keep them operating and give U. S. forces a fighting edge. Paratone is the only product of its kind. "Don't apologize--this floor finish is waterproof--thanks to DAVIS of BALTIMORE floor varnish"

Now that a real varnish costs practically no more than shellac, you can enjoy a floor finish that will last and that you don't have to worry about whenever a little water gets on it!

For DAVIS of BALTIMORE floor varnish gives you a long lasting waterproof finish—it can even be washed without turning white or losing its gloss. It's easier to apply than shellac and lasts four or five times as long. Yet the varnish for 150 square feet costs only about $1.50!

FARMERS NAME
COMMITTEES AND BOARDS

Last week Director of Virginia's Agricultural Extension Division John R. Hutchison announced that the immediate objective of the extension program is to help win the war, and that the long-time objective is to assist farmers in planning ways to lessen the tremendous repercussions after the war boom is over. In doing these important jobs, Director Hutchison said, the 7,500 neighborhood committeemen and women, representing county boards of agriculture, would play a vital and important role in helping to keep farm people informed of the best methods of meeting production goals and of the war responsibilities falling upon them at this time. He also stated that he and every other farmer must take this viewpoint: "I have got to produce, whether it pays me or not" and that labor and industry must also come to this point of view.

HOW TO CARE FOR FATS

Don't spoil fats and foods cooked in fats with too much heat.

Why?

Food cooked in smoking fat are harder to digest.

Fat that has been heated to the smoking point is likely to become rancid.

Store table fats in a cool place, preferably a refrigerator.

Store cooking fats in a cool place also, though this is not necessary with hydrogenated fats that are sold on the market.

A BURIED TREASURE

By Chas. J. Gilliss

There is romance in the thought of buried treasure which at once commands the attention of the reader. We learn of the wealth of old Panama, carefully hidden when Sir Henry Morgan swooped down in his piratical raids; of Aztec gold of Mexico, hastily buried when the Spanish conquerors appear; and even the treasures of William Kidd, who in his ship the "Adventure Galley," sailed our shores where he buried his gold, and finally met his doom on the gallows, with his lips sealed forever as to the whereabouts of his ill-gotten gains.

These tales however, are as hazy summer dreams—interesting, yes, intensely interesting, but as we turn the pages of the past, are soon forgotten, as we count the distant miles from our every day lives.

Yet, suppose I were to tell you that within fifteen miles of the county seats of both Fairfax and Prince William Counties, Virginia, is a buried treasure, (if we believe the records); not a great treasure as measured in present day standards, but sufficiently large to be interesting, and this all in gold.

Let us turn to the 8th and 9th of April in the year 1755, when Major General Edward Braddock of the British Army, set out from Alexandria, Virginia, on his ill-fated expedition to Fort Duquesne. On these dates, a division consisting of Virginia's 11th and 12th regiments, including artillery and baggage wagons, started for Winchester. A second division was sent on the 18th, through Maryland to Frederick, but we are not concerned with this latter.

There was no road to Winchester, and the first division had to practically hew a path through the forests to make a way for the cannon and wagons. No doubt the Spring rains contributed towards keeping the ground soft, and much later was expended by the troops in keeping the heavily loaded wagons from bogging down in the hastily built road, and levers had to be provided to loosen a cannon wheel which had become hopelessly locked by the stump of a tree.

Finally, at a point near the present town of Centreville (originally known as Newgate), a tract of genuine Virginia jack clay was encountered, and when this happened, we are told that the "General swore mightily." Straining and tugging, the unfortunate cannon and the cannon and wagons, could make little progress; even with the aid of brawny Virginia riflemen pulling on ropes attached to the vehicles, or pushing on the wheels. The time was getting short, for Braddock had promised the Duke of Newcastle that he would be beyond the Allegheny mountains by the end of April. It was therefore decided to lighten the loads of the wagons and leave behind every thing of weight which could be spared. Two of the small brass cannon were also to be left behind, as well as a store of gold coin, variously estimated to be from $25,000 to $30,000, for payment of the troops.

The two cannon in question were dismounted and filled with the gold, and a wooden plug driven into the muzzle of each. They were then buried with the muzzles pointing upward, and two feet beneath the soil, "fifty paces East of a spring, where the road runs North and South." Of course the idea was that the gold would be recovered on the return of the expedition, which event, it was confidently expected, would be within a comparatively short time.

Apparently the hiding of the treasure was known to but few persons, and these (including Braddock), must have been all killed, for no one returned to dig for the guns, so far as is known. Braddock's reports and papers of course had been sent to England, and were no doubt duly filed away in neat packages, possibly unread, as reports are dry reading at best. And so it was, that not until many years after, when interest began to revive in this ill-fated expedition, led by Braddock, whom Horace Walpole describes as "desperate in his fortune, brutal in his behavior, and obstinate in his sentiments," but admits that he was still "intrepid and capable," that an archivist, in going over the papers, discovers by accident the secret of this buried treasure. A committee was sent from England to Centreville to search for the spring, which was to give the clue, but though they spent sometime in the locality, no spring could be found which seemed to give promise of the exact spot.

It is now believed that the cutting of the forest trees has caused the spring to dry up, and that the plow has leveled and obliterated all traces of where the spring used to be.

Never the less, there are those living near Centreville, who have their own ideas as to the location of the treasure. One of these places it where the road turns suddenly Northerly from a Westerly direction, where there is yet a strong flowing spring.

Of one fact we are sure however, and that the treasure has never been recovered, and that the British Government, which has never given up its claims, has offered one half of the gold to any one who can find it.

We wish to thank our various correspondents for sending their notes early this week.

THAT'S WHY ALL SOUTHERN BREAD IS "Enriched"!

★ America must be strong! America must be well nourished—with healthy bodies and steady nerves to better do the job that lies before us and win the victory for ourselves and our loved ones. That's why so few projects in recent years have been so widely supported by so many U. S. Government Agencies and other important trade and professional organizations as the "ENRICHED" bread program.

It's a proven fact that we all need to get more nutrition out of our food. The Bakers of Southern Bread realized this eight years ago and they were the first bakers in Dixie to introduce Bread enriched with vitamins. This important trend has been steadily growing.

Recently Government Agencies recommended ENRICHED bread as a powerful aid because it helps supply extra vitamins and minerals needed for proper nourishment. In quick cooperation with our Government the bakers of Southern Bread are now making not one—but three different ENRICHED loaves. And each loaf is immediately identified by the brand name "Southern" and the word "ENRICHED" on every wrapper. Look for them on every loaf you buy.

SOUTHERN ENRICHED BREAD IS A BASIC VICTORY FOOD

It looks and tastes the same as always. The price is unchanged. But Southern Bread in its new wrapper now gives you a great extra value—it is ENRICHED with important-to-health B-vitamins and minerals as recommended by the National Research Council. Bread is the food bargain of 1942 and Southern ENRICHED Bread is one of the best and cheapest sources of food energy your money can buy. Serve it today—and every day! Sold by better food stores everywhere.

CATHARPIN

Everyone in this section has been so busy trying to do his part in the Spring program that there has been no time to write and let folk know that Catharpin is still on the map.

Today, May 4 we had a most refreshing and much needed rain, the first we have had since the heavy snow of March 29. Hail fell in some sections nearby. The weather Bureau reports this April as the driest in 95 years.

Rev. Clark H. Wood, Mrs. Pullen, Mrs. C. T. Sinclair, Mr. Thomas Botts, of Gainesville, Mrs. Charles T. Caton, Mr. John S. Tribble and Mrs. L. J. Pattie of Sudley attended and enjoyed the Alexandria District Conference at Leesburg, Va. Much interesting history is connected with this Methodist Church—the original structure having been built on land which was purchased in 1766 and is said to be the first land owned by Methodists in the state of Virginia. The Old Stone Methodist Church was built in 1770, and it was here that the Sixth American Conference was held May 19, 1778 with Bishop Ashbury, presiding. Only the foundation remains today in this church yard where many of the sainted dead rest among the beautiful flowers and trees. The present Methodist Church was built one block away with the Rev. R. H. Forrester, pastor.

Rev. Clark H. Wood will deliver a special sermon at Sudley for Mother's Day, May 10th. You are most cordially invited to be present.

Services at Fairview Church will be held at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening. Mr. Emmett Pattie recently returned from a very much enjoyed visit to his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pattie of Triangle.

Mrs. J. M. Young of "Oakwood" was called to New Haven, Conn., about two weeks ago by the critical illness of her father, who passed away a few days later.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Hunter Smiley of Washington were visitors at their farm this week-end.

Mrs. Jeter and her grandson, Jackie of Washington, Mr. Ned Curtain of Kansas City, Missouri, and Miss Harriett Pattie were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Pattie Sunday.

Mr. William Beaumont, who has been farming on the Buckley property for the past year, is moving this week to his own home, the Buckley property having recently been sold.

Mrs. Charles T. Caton, and little daughters, Mildred and Eleanor, motored to Annandale Sunday afternoon to visit her brother, Mr. Fred Collins, who has been quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Andersen are echoing congratulations on the birth of a little daughter, April 12. The little lady has been named Peggy Elizabeth. A little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kidwell, April 13. Mr. Kidwell who was a former resident of Catharpin now resides near Fairfax Courthouse.

Mrs. Bertie Caton, who has spent the winter months with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Sara Caton, went to Washington last week for a short visit with her brother, Mr. James J. Riley. She was accompanied by her niece, Mrs. Claude Ellis.

Another of our much beloved boys of this community, Rolfe K. Ellison, has enlisted to do his part in our struggle for freedom. This is the third son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ellison, who is now in the service. Louis is in California, Harry at Fort Bragg, and Rolfe's address is Co. 809, A.S., U. S. Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Rumsey Light and children visited Mr. Light's parents at Hamilton, Va., during the week-end.

We are indebted to Miss Sabina Neel for her instruction in the Home Nursing Class which we recently completed at Hickory Grove. We very much appreciate Mrs. Jack Hunt's generosity in offering her home as a meeting place for this class. Because of the exceedingly busy season and illness in some homes, many were prevented from completing the course.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Alvey attended the funeral of their cousin, Mr. John Grayson at New Baltimore Sunday.

CENTREVILLE

Rev. Mr. Pendergast conducted services at St. John's on Sunday morning.

Mrs. Irene Woltz and daughters spent the week-end in Richmond.

Cards have been received from Mrs. Norma Brawley, written in Colorado, where she enjoyed a nice summer snow storm.

The Altar Guild met Monday with Mrs. Varnell Payne. Plans are being made for a lawn party to be held with Mrs. Payne on May 16th, at less one fine country ham will be raffled.

St. John's Guild is having a luncheon meeting with Mrs. Agnes Robey today, at 1 P. M.

A fine shower fell here on Monday afternoon. It was practically first rain of any consequence since the first of April.

Mr. John DeBell is at home for a visit.

It is reported that services at Christ Church, Chantilly, will be resumed, with Rev. Arthur Lyon-Vaiden, of St. Timothy's, officiating. The hour has not been announced.

INDEPENDENT HILL

Private John Shutlock spend part of the last week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Shutlock, of Independent Hill. His many friends were all very glad to see him.

"MOTHER'S SONG"

—: Margaret L. Lunsford —

A mother sat one day,
Watching little children lay.
In her arms she held her baby son,
In a voice sad and low
As she rocks him to and fro
She sings to him when the day is done.
For his father sailed away,
Ere he saw the light of day,
To fight and die in World War Number one.

"I wonder whom I'm rocking,
O little son of mine?"
A sailor or a soldier brave,
On a distant battle line?
When you're a man, my dear one,
And are called away from home,
My love and prayers will follow you,
Where'er you may roam
I wish that I could keep you
From all of wars alarms
"The sweetest child in all the world,
I'm rocking in my arms."

O, little boy whose drowsy eyes
Are closed in dreaming sleep,
"I pray for you an angel who
A loving watch will keep."
"May the King that dwells the stars
Guide you along the way,
And make me glad and proud of you,
When I am old and grey."

Now many years have past,
And her son a man at last
And from her heart there comes
Another song

"My draftee, my only
Precious soldier lad!
I fear if you sail o'er the sea,
You'll lie beside your dad."
"God keep you, and sleep you
Beneath your native sky,
To cheer in your country,
Its flag keep waving high."
