

LEE PICTURE IS GIFT TO SCHOOLS

LOCAL U.D.C. CHAPTER THUS OBSERVES HISTORIC ANNIVERSARY

The annual observance of Lee-Jackson-Maury birthdays was held at Osborn High School, on Thursday, January 21st, 1943.

The program, directed by Miss Emily Johnson, was presided over by Chairman of Assembly Committee, Miss Betty Van Doren.

Mrs. Robert A. Hutchison, president of Manassas Chapter, U.D.C., was introduced and made formal presentation of the handsome portrait of Robert E. Lee—Mrs. Hutchison explained that the portrait had been given to the Chapter by the Virginia Division, U. D. C., following the convention in 1908. Mr. R. Worth Peters had supervised placing the portrait and in response to Mrs. Hutchison's talk expressed appreciation to the Chapter and stated that at some future time he hoped to have the pleasure of placing a likeness of Jackson along with Lee.

Major Joseph M. Hanson, the speaker of the occasion was introduced and in the brief time allotted tactfully summarized the important points on the Manassas Battlefields and concluded by reading a most fitting tribute to Lee and Jackson by Stephen Vincent Benet from his book with the mystifying title "John Brown's Body".

The music was led by Miss Jesse Mae Conner with Mrs. Nancy Lyons piano accompanist.

The assembly joined in singing "The Bonnie Blue Flag" and "Old Time Confederates".

The program closed by the usual school announcements, and the impromptu singing of "Happy Birthday" to student, Barbara Bean.

PARSON HEMMING REVIEWS KIWANIS HISTORY

At the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club last week it was further demonstrated that things are really getting under way. All committees but one or two had then filed a planned report of action for the year.

To celebrate the 28th anniversary of the founding of Kiwanis, Kiwanian Ernest Trusler introduced Rev. H. H. Hemming, a former lieutenant governor in southwest Virginia.

Giving one of his usually snappy talks he briefly compared the organization from its set-up to present day requirements.

"Character building," he said, "is the chief aim of Kiwanis"—Today Kiwanians are faced with the most momentous situation in the history of the club.

He urged all Kiwanians to do their best in the all-out movement of today in the preservation of civilization and Christianity.

Closing his address, with the Kiwanis pledge of rededication in which he was joined by the members of the club, all standing, Father John Stanton gave a special benediction for the occasion.

TALKS ON RECENT SURVEY

Lieut. Quinn, U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday.

His discussion pertained mostly to the work of the Survey. He explained how the area now being surveyed was a matter of plotting a "blind" not previously worked by former surveys.

He showed the value of the permanent markers left under the triangulation towers which could be used as reference points for private surveys. This survey has been brought about by Federal acquisitions to the south of Manassas in the past few months.

WANTS PROPERTY OWNERS ADDRESSES

A. W. Embrey, Jr., Attorney of Fredericksburg, Va., has issued an appeal through the columns of this paper that all land owners who failed to register their new addresses with the Military at Triangle, will please send them to him at once. His address is Box 553, Fredericksburg, Virginia. Mr. Embrey is representing the government in making final settlement.

Noble Grand Gum being the winning team Captain and Greene's Willis being the losing team Captain. The banquet took place after the regular meeting.

JOIN THE MARCH OF DIMES
Professor Worth Peters, Prince William County Chairman of the Infantile Paralysis Fund, announces that the response of the public has been quite gratifying but that the fund still has quite a way to go to fill the expected quota.

Remember that the campaign closes nominally on the President's birthday which comes at the end of this week.

WILL QUIZ MANY FEDERAL GROUPS

JUDGE SMITH LASHES OUT AT GOVERNMENT HIGH HANDEDNESS

Representative Smith (Democrat), Virginia, has called for a Congressional investigation of "all acts of government agencies exceeding their statutory and constitutional authority."

He introduced a resolution calling for creation of a special committee, which was referred to the House Rules Committee, of which he is a member.

The move, he said, was "directed at all the bureaucrats against whose arbitrary acts members of Congress and others have been complaining."

The resolution, he added, would give members of Congress "a chance to do something about it."

The resolution mentioned no agency but included them all, the Virginian said.

Under its authority, the special committee would be empowered to require any Federal agency to cite its authority for any action taken.

Smith in the past has been especially critical of the wage stabilization order of the Office of Economic Stabilization, insofar as it was made applicable to salaries or wages paid by States and political subdivisions, except where fixed by statute.

He also criticized the action of the War Labor Board in intervening in a strike by employees of the City of Newark, N. J., in which the board, he said, "had the effrontery to propose that the City of Newark be ordered to reinstate city employees who were discharged for striking against the government and in violation of the law of the State."

In the latter case, the War Labor Board subsequently withdrew, ruling that it did not have jurisdiction.

JOINS STAFF OF MILITARY SCHOOL

Captain James W. Wright, formerly of Nokesville, is noted as the most recent addition to the faculty of Greenbrier Military Academy, of Lewisburg, West Virginia.

Captain Wright has travelled extensively all over the world and has taught at other nearby educational institutions, such as Madison College, Harrisonburg, Virginia.

More recently he has been doing postgraduate research at Columbia University.

FRATERNAL GROUP ELECTS AT DUMFRIES

The Jerico Travellers Club met at the Odd Fellows Hall at Dumfries, January 20, 1943, at which time new officers were elected and installed.

The new officers are: O. L. Mitchell, president; R. L. Phillips, vice-pres.; Capt. W. J. Holloway, secretary treas.

Two new candidates were initiated making an attendance of twenty members. After the business session a buffet supper was held in the basement.

The Club consists of third degree Odd Fellows and invite any eligible member to join.

KING—NELSON

St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Orange, Va., was the scene of a wedding Tuesday at noon when Miss Alice Marshall Nelson, of Manassas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Nelson, of Richmond, became the bride of George Morton King, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Virginus King, of Thorn Hill, Orange County.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Ossman, rector of Monumental Episcopal Church, Richmond, and the Rev. Charles V. Covell, rector of St. Thomas' in the presence of the immediate families.

Peach gladioli decorated the altar, while cathedral candles were used in the chancel.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a tan and brown tweed suit with brown accessories and her flowers were a corsage of gardenias. Miss Mary Berkeley Nelson, of Manassas, was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a beige suit with brown accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

Mr. King had as his best man his cousin, William Morton, Jr., of Thorn Hill.

Immediately after the wedding a breakfast was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Macon, on Madison Road, after which Mr. and Mrs. King left on their wedding trip.

A FATHER'S PRAYER FOR HIS SON

(As he enlists in the service of his Country)

To Thee our Father in Heaven, we lift our hearts in prayer for our son, as he sets forth upon this hazardous way. Never before have his mother and I found it so hard to be brave and strong. We need the spirit of Him who heard the voice of the Lord saying: "Take now thy son, thine only son, Isaac, who Thou lovest, and go to the Mount of Sacrifice." We need supremely the spirit of Him who so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son.

We have always tried to shelter our son from the dangers and temptations of the world. So soon he has become a man, ready for a man's high tasks, May he dwell under the shelter of the most High.

We thank Thee for all he has been to us, and for all he means to be and to do for others (we are proud that he was not content to remain in some safe spot, while others were doing deeds of daring and gallantry on battle fields of the world. Grant that he may do his part manfully and courageously, and if the highest price of all be exacted of him, grant that the world may have been lifted closer to the Master's dream of world brotherhood and universal peace. If in Thy providence his life shall be spared, may he come back as a dauntless, veteran warrior, for the kingdom of Heaven on earth, still to battle loyally against the selfish and greedy and to follow Him who has compassion on the multitude. Grant these our petitions, O God, in the Redeemer's Name, Amen.

LOCAL MODERN HERO STORY (Contributed)

Two youths of Quantico miraculously escaped death when their car turned over several times on route 234 near Independent Hill while en route to Manassas at 9:15 p.m., January 19. A local lad rendered first aid of inestimable value to the victims, "Bill" Radcliffe, son of a Marine Captain, and his companion.

Andrew Samsky, alone at home except for an elderly uncle, heard the car crash and took action immediately. Realizing that such a crash could be fatal to the occupants of the car, he hastily grabbed two towels and hastened to the scene of the accident. In the moonlight, "Andy" easily discerned a man lying on the ground in a growing puddle of blood. The other victim was still in the car and seemed to be in better condition than the one thrown clear of the vehicle, although both appeared to be suffering from fractures of internal injuries.

The towels that "Andy" had snatched up as he left his house were most useful. The victim on the ground had a severed artery besides what seemed to "Andy" to be a broken back and other broken bones. The "arterial bleeding" he stopped with a tourniquet fashioned from a towel. The other towel he applied as a direct compress to "Bill" Radcliffe's head which was bleeding severely.

The night was very cold, so, "Andy" aided one victim into his house, fearing compound fractures and complications from internal injuries that might result in moving the other victim without help, he brought blankets and hot water bottles for the man on the ground after calling an ambulance. Soon the ambulance appeared and hustled the injured off to Quantico Naval Hospital. The Doctor highly praised "Andy" for his splendid, rapid first aid.

Andrew is a student at Osborn High School where he is taking the "Pre-flight Course". Recently his family was forced by government and purchases to leave his native Stafford County where he received his basic first aid training. After moving to Independent Hill, he continued his first aid class at Stafford. Mr. Saunders of Osborn High also taught "Andy" some first aid principles.

C AND P COMMENT ON PHONE TOLLS

PRESIDENT DOES NOT THINK ANY BURDENS WILL BE ADDED BY CHANGES

In commenting on the agreement between the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Federal Communications Commission which terminates the rate case instituted by the F. C. C. show cause order of November 20, 1942, President Walter S. Gifford said:

"It will be noted that no reductions in basic message rates are to be made and that the reductions agreed to were those least apt through stimulation of business to add further burden to the already overloaded long distance lines. The extraordinary volume of long distance business and the overloaded condition of the long lines plant have resulted, in all probability only temporarily, in a rate of earnings for the Long Lines Department of the Company which is in excess of the average for the Bell Telephone system as a whole.

The Long Lines Department rates are under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission which has jurisdiction over interstate rates only. The Commission insisted that the earnings from such rates should be considered by themselves regardless of overall system earnings and insisted that when so considered, they produce a greater return than could be justified. The reductions in rates were agreed to by the Company because of this position of the Commission which the Company believes is unsound under present conditions but which the Commission considered is within its discretion, and because the Company felt it important to have the rate proceedings discontinued so that it could get on with the business of helping win the war."

The demands of war make it impossible to meet military and Lend Lease needs for canned foods and still supply normal amounts to civilians. Thirty-five percent of the 1942 pack of the most important canned vegetables was set aside for Army and Lend Lease uses. Over one-half of the 1943 commercial pack will be purchased by the government. This means that civilians will have to depend more and more upon fresh supplies through home-garden production. Furthermore, because of the military and Lend Lease demands for the major portion of our commercial canned supplies, it will be necessary for gardeners to store and preserve for winter use as much as possible of the products of their gardens.

TOWN AND CITY VICTORY GARDENS NEEDED IN WAR EFFORT

America must have millions of town and suburban Victory Gardens in addition to those grown on farms if sufficient food is produced during the coming year, according to H. W. Hochbaum, chairman of the National Committee on Victory Gardens. Vegetables and fruits from these town and suburban Victory Gardens and from gardens of non-farm families having homes in rural areas must necessarily make a real contribution to the total civilian food supply for sustained well being of the individual families and of the civilian population as a whole.

The demands of war make it impossible to meet military and Lend Lease needs for canned foods and still supply normal amounts to civilians. Thirty-five percent of the 1942 pack of the most important canned vegetables was set aside for Army and Lend Lease uses. Over one-half of the 1943 commercial pack will be purchased by the government. This means that civilians will have to depend more and more upon fresh supplies through home-garden production. Furthermore, because of the military and Lend Lease demands for the major portion of our commercial canned supplies, it will be necessary for gardeners to store and preserve for winter use as much as possible of the products of their gardens.

Garden contests and vegetable shows, sponsored by Garden Clubs, were responsible for continuous and successful garden efforts in thousands of American towns and cities in 1942. The raising of a Victory Garden is a patriotic duty and a means of having adequate food during the coming year.

SHOW ENTHUSIASM AT P.T.A. MEETING

VARIOUS GROUP ACTIVITIES SHOW EXCELLENT PROGRESS

A large group of patrons and friends of the Manassas Parent-Teacher Association attended the January meeting, held in the auditorium of Osborn High School last Thursday evening.

During the business meeting, Mr. Vincent Davis outlined the qualifications necessary to make every home a V-home—one of the chief projects of the P.T.A. this year. She urged everyone to try to attain this standard, not just as a project, but as the duty of every patriotic American citizen. She listed these five requirements:

1. Follow air raid instructions.
2. Conserve food, clothing, health, transportation.
3. Assist in procuring salvage.
4. Refuse to spread rumors designed to divide the nation.
5. Buy war stamps and bonds regularly.

Miss Sue Ayer, County School Supervisor, announced plans for holding a pre-school round-up on March 1st at 2:00 p.m. in Bennett School, for the purpose of providing medical examination for all pre-school children between the ages of two through six years. This is the first time this has been attempted for so large a group, and it is hoped that all parents will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to safeguard the health of their children.

Mrs. Paul Cooksey told of plans now under complete for providing hot lunches at the school and enlisted the help of mother's in preparing and serving them.

Prof. Peters told of the enthusiastic support being given the penny milk program over four hundred and fifty ½ pint bottles being used by the children daily. This is a new, but very worthwhile project of the association, one which should greatly benefit the health of the students.

The program, given by the boys and girls of the recently organized Victory Corps of the Osborn High School, was packed with thrills and surprises. A picked squad of uniformed girls under their captain Betty Norman, drilled with fine military precision. This was followed by the bugle-call by a squad of the Victory Corps boys, under the inspection of Captain Robert Robinson and other officers of the Corps.

The school glee club and their leader, Miss Jessie Mae Conner, sang several patriotic and war-time tunes during the evening, with Mrs. J. P. Royer at the piano.

Mass calisthenics and rolling and tumbling exercises were expertly performing the added attention now onstrating the added atention now being given to the health program by the school authorities under the new war-time schedule.

OD'S WORD

"Sirs what must I do to be saved? ... believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house."—Acts 16:30, 31.

PASTOR OF GRACE METHODIST CHURCH SPEAKS TO HIS PEOPLE OF GRACE CHURCH AND HIS FRIENDS FROM HIS PRIVATE ROOM IN THE DOCTOR'S HOSPITAL.

My dear people in the faith of the Lord Jesus Christ: First of all I find unusual joy in being privileged to call you my people and my friends.

I am keenly aware that you are a deep and whole-hearted democratic folk. Tillers of the soil—browsers of wood and of stone—professional men and women, and educators—little ones and grown ups—and yet you have been built into a holy brotherhood that enables you to come together each Sunday morning and unite your voices in, "The Lord is in His Holy Temple," and "Our Father who art in Heaven." The day you lose the art of such simple living and service you uncrown yourselves and become slaves of things and rules whose ends are numbered.

I claim that I have been in God's faithful world long enough to know few things and a few people, therefore, in the light of the Gospel I know of no church your size that enjoys greater talent in so many fields, and more willing leadership in every field, greater liberality, and a deeper passion to seek for the last. Naturally the local social life of such a people might seem, in the eyes of certain ones, somewhat impaired. But we are always to remember that our program is divinely given and before, far reaching, which gives it little emphasis to what might be called society. We are never to be embarrassed or feel left out of a great many social functions of a local community. Our Master has taught us that His Kingdom which is primarily spiritual must come first, and His exhortation is, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God."

We believe there is health and happiness, peace and joy, beauty and romance for the one who sets out in life's early morning on this Holy quest.

I almost started to say that I knew how much affection and interest you have for and in your Pastor but I have said that the hundreds of smiling flowers of all hues and the hundreds of radiant messages on cards or letters which line my little room would be ready to testify against me. Therefore, deep and keen is my knowledge of you all to your affection and interest in our Pastor and friend. You have listened to me as a father would listen to a little child, or a little child would write to a father.

Your thoughts, your love, and your interest in me have been so clearly set forth in the hundreds of letters, cards, telephone calls and flowers. Deep and whole hearted is my appreciation for it all.

Next Sunday morning Dr. A. P. Williams will have charge of morning and evening services. Every one of you will want to show your genuine loyalty to Christ and to your church by attending both services. I shall be in prayer for the upbuilding of our faith.

I shall soon join you in His work again.

Sincerely and affectionately your friend,

W. O. Luttrell.

"THE COUNTRY EDITOR"

Henry Beetle Hough

Hurry! Scurry! Slush! Bang! Bam!

Rustle rustle! Then to the postoffice!

To many local citizens and to many Americans these words express their opinions of the complete editing of a small newspaper. Little is realized of the difficulties with which the underfinanced small-town editor has to cope. His problems, mechanical, social, mental and financial are very great in comparison with the large dailies that scream out their murder headlines. The country editor, like the country doctor, does not stand out in the community, but he does "stand in".

Whalers in the year 1642 came upon the island, "Martha's Vineyard," where they found a suitable base for their whaling operations. On the same New England Island many years later, Henry Beetle Hough wrote an autobiography which concerns a great part of that island today. "The Country Editor".

Hough and his wife, although quite young, found that editing a weekly newspaper with a few hundred subscribers in a small town was immensely different from their former positions with New York papers. About 1920 Hough bought out the "Gazette" with which he also got Mr. Samson, a most efficient and sincere printer. Between 1920 and 1940 the new proprietor of the "Gazette" made an impression with his rapidly improving paper but not without a "heap" of interesting experiences.

"Thunder would be an adequate name for his first printing machine which shook and roared when they were "running" until the grocery store below must have quaked. Mr. Samson devised a paper folding method with a piece of string that saved the "Gazette" several hundred dollars. The inside story of job printing is portrayed. (Is Mr. Lamb going to print some letter-heads for you?)

Did you ever wonder where the "Brief Locals" come from? "The Country Editor" tells of one such contributor who starved herself to death. Mr. Hough had contact with two old Adams brothers that lived together in the shire town where the "Gazette" was published. They were never known to quarrel. One night late in the fall it had started to get cold, for it had been snowing. One brother decided to draw the water from the pump to keep it from freezing. Too late, he discovered he had thrown his brother's false teeth into the snow with the water which covered them until spring, so the "old boy" really had to "gum it" that winter. They still they didn't quarrel.

At your first opportunity, if you read at all, borrow this romantic, humorous and educational autobiography from Ruffner Carnegie Library. "The Country Editor" was published by Doubleday, Doran and Company, Inc.

Edward Jasper.

BAD STORM

As the Journal goes to press, the children are enjoying the first real snow for some time. Last night, the elements let fly with everything they had, and sledding is right in order.

By the middle of the forenoon, all buses reporting had been turned back, and a holiday till Monday declared. The storm was quite general so there are probably quite a few happy youngsters to match the thousands of worried motorists.

The storm is being hailed in some sections of Virginia as the worst fall of sleet in a half century. Stories of weather further west indicate that we got off easy.

Windows On New Worlds

Hair-splitting is no longer a joke with the new electron microscope, which makes visible a whole world that has previously been too small for scientists to study.

1. Using particles of electricity instead of light, the instrument makes a mosquito's stinger 1/1000 the diameter of a hair, look like this.

2. Crystals, dust particles, disease-producing viruses can be enlarged to a million times to examine their nature and structure.

3. Portable, operating from ordinary power lines, it is expected to speed war research in laboratories of colleges and war plants.

4. After the war, it may be useful in many fields—for example, in searching for the cause of such diseases as the common cold.

RECEIVE INTERESTING SOLDIER LETTER

The Journal is in receipt of some interesting lines from private Melvin Loy Joyce, of Kellogg Field, Battle Creek, Michigan.

Mr. Joyce is one of a family of four boys, all in the Armed Services. He states that he has just returned from a visit to his brother, Sgt. Ivan Joyce and wife, the latter being stationed at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Illinois. This was the first time they had seen each other for over a year.

Private Joyce says "hello" to everyone and adds a most fervent plea to buy war stamps and bonds, and to keep on buying them.

Here's Where Your Fertilizer Should Be... Right Now!

WAITING until spring to place your fertilizer order may cause disappointment—costly delays. With the serious shortage of transportation, the place for your fertilizer is in the barn—where it's available the minute you need it in the spring.

First call on nitrogen is for explosives. All fertilizer will doubtless become scarcer as the war continues. Now, more than ever, it is vital that you buy fertilizer that gives you a full quota of plant food per ton—that does a better job of growing crops.

Southern States Open Formula Fertilizers show on the tag just what's in the bag. Made of the highest quality ingredients—according to formulas approved by plant food specialists at state agricultural colleges—and skillfully mixed in your own cooperative plants, they offer you more for each fertilizer dollar. Take your delivery now!

Homemakers' Guide

Hunches for Carry-Lunches

The lunchbox has assumed an important place in our daily menu these days. We're passing along a few hints that may help to add interest to meals that go to work.

THE BREAD'S IMPORTANT Sandwiches are the mainstay of the lunchbox . . . and that means bread.
Be sure the bread is fresh. Keep the crusts on because they add chewiness, and besides, crusts help to keep the sandwiches from drying out.

Since nutrition is important, it's important to see to it that the white bread is enriched so that none of that important vitamin B is sacrificed.

MEAT FILLINGS—Cold cuts, cold roasts, meat loaves, canned meats, chicken, and fish are all welcome when lunchtime comes around. If you want to stretch them, then grind the meat and add olives, pickles, hard-cooked eggs or chopped cheese.

EGG FILLINGS—Chopped hard-cooked eggs with mayonnaise or mixed with relish, cheese, bits of leftover cooked bacon, ham, olives, relish or chopped nuts have that substantial quality that workers need.

CHEESE—Sliced cheese or chopped cheese mixed with dressings, meats, nuts, and relishes can add variety and deliciousness to that lunchbox.

DON'T FORGET DESSERT
Fruits are the easiest dessert to carry,
and they supply valuable vitamins and minerals to the menu. But puddings and custards in paper cups or jars, individual pies, tarts, turnovers, cake, cookies and candy can be packed for a change. And there's nothing against putting both fruit and an added sweet in the lunchbox.
