TOWN AND FARM IN WAR TIME

OFFICIAL FACTS FROM THE OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION

Meat Ceilings Postponed

Maximum prices on beef, veal, lamb, and mutton sold at retail will not become effective until May 17. OPA suspended ceilings scheduled to go into effect April 15 in order to be sure that the prices were in line with other living costs.

Raise Corn Prices

A ceiling price five cents per bushel higher than present maximum, established April 14, will be effective until September 30, 1943. According to the State OPA, which acted upon instructions from Stabilization Director Byrnes and Food Administrator Davis, there will be no further increases in corn prices during the 1943 market season. The price raise is designed to relieve the present acute market shortage of corn for livestock feeding and industrial processing.

Virginia and the Draft

More skilled labor is assured for Virginia's farm production this year through the new Selective Service regulations, which include two classifications specifically covering agricultural occupations—Class II-C, a "man deferred by reason of his agricultural occupation or endeavor," and Class III-C, a "man with dependents who is regularly engaged in agricultural occupations or endeavor." Selective Service has eliminated Class III-B, men with bona fide dependents and also engaged in essential war work, because men with dependents now constitute the bulk of physically fit registrants. Married men without children face induction unless they hold key jobs or in cases where induction would cause extreme hardship.

Farmers Who Sell To Retailers

A Virginia farmer who sells butter, lard, or any other rationed food to a retailer must collect ration points for the sale, just as he has done in selling to consumers since March 29, according to OPA. All farm sales must be made at current point values and stamps collected must be turned into local ration boards with a report made on OPA Form R-1609. This form will be available to all local boards during the last week in April. The first report is due during the first fifteen days of May and will cover sales made between March 29 and the end of April.

Women's Land Army

Good news to the State's hard-pressed farmers should be the decision that a women's land army of about 60,000 city and town women will be recruited, as a part of the U. S. Crop Corps, to help meet the farm labor shortage. Ten thousand of the women are expected to enroll for year-round farm work and about 50,000 for seasonal work for one month or more. Three hundred thousand women will be placed by county agricultural agents for short-time emergency jobs on farms—women who can spare week-ends, a few days, or a few weeks, women who wish to contribute their services await the local call.

Farm Values Up

Farm real estate values on March 1, 1943, showed an increase of nine percent over last year, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced. This is the most substantial gain that has occurred since 1920. Land value increases during the past year were widespread, with some advance reported for each of the 48 states.

Job for Radio "Hams"

Radio "hams," formerly banned from the air because of the war, may now serve their country in the War Emergency Radio Service. For further information, write to the Editorial Section, Office of Civilian Defense, Washington, D. C.

Ceiling on Fresh Vegetables

Retail ceilings for cabbage, carrots, lettuce, peas, snap beans, spinach, and tomatoes will be established beginning April 22 through the use of uniform mark-ups over the retailer's net cost, according to OPA. For each vegetable except cabbage, the retailer will determine his ceilings by multiplying his net cost by 1.39. On cabbage, where spoilage is greater, the mark-up is 1.65 for independent retailers having an annual volume of $250,000 or less, 1.54 for chain retailers with an annual volume under $250,000, and 1.50 for any retailer with an annual volume over $250,000. Retailers will determine their ceilings

THE GREENS MOVE FROM WORTLEY FARM

Mrs. Allison Howison Green's home, Wortley Farm, has been taken over by the Government. Wortley was part of the original grant to the Howison family and descendants have lived there for five generations. Mrs. Green bought Little Falls Farm in Stafford near Fredericksburg where she moved last week accompanied by two of her daughters Mrs. Benj. Brown, Jr. and Mrs. J. Jenkyn Davies and her son McDuff Green and his family. Stafford was the childhood home of Mrs. Green, formerly Mary Lelia Montague, daughter of Doctor T. C. Montague.

MUSIC LEADERS COMPLETE PLANS

EVENTS OUTLINED HERE FOR ANNUAL CELEBRATION

As Music-Week draws near, plans are nearing completion for a large observance of the occasion here. The general chairman, Mrs. M. S. Burdard is requesting all organizations to have special music or group singing at their regular meetings in this observance. If the meetings do not occur during Music-Week, May 2-9, their musical contributions may be listed as "postponed Music-Week activities" and in this way the county will get credit at the National headquarters. It is hoped that all the churches will co-operate and if no special music is arranged, at least hymn-singing precede the regular services.

On Wednesday evening, the Vocational School will observe "Music-Week" with a "sing" at their regular assembly meeting. Some of the talented students will take part and it will be a worth-while occasion to all friends of the school who wish to attend.

On Thursday, May 6, the public schools will observe Music-Week with open house and the musical program will be in charge of Miss Jessie Mae Conner.

On Sunday, May 9, at Grace Methodist Church a Mother's Day Sing will take place. It is hoped that members of all churches will join in this observance. The time will be 8:00 o'clock, and this will enable those who visit their mothers on that day, to return home in time for the meeting. Soloists and groups of singers from the several churches will take part on the program which will be published next week. The program will include secular as well as sacred numbers, just the ones Mother used to love. Please plan to attend, sharing your car with your neighbor.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING

The regular meeting of the Executive Board of the Woman's Club will be held Wednesday morning, May 5 in the home of the President, Mrs. Lewis J. Carper at 10:00 o'clock. This is the last meeting of the "old" Board members, and all are urged to be present.

each Thursday by applying given mark-ups to the net cost of the vegetables based on the largest scale single purchase of the preceding week.

Exempt Small Sales by Farmers

Any Virginia farmer who sells not more than $75 worth of foods per month to country shippers or to consumers is exempt from price control recently established for seven fresh vegetables. If the farmer is a country shipper, he is subject to the price regulations.

Higher Support Prices

Support prices for dry beans, dry peas, peanuts, soybeans and flaxseed have been raised, according to the War Food Administration. Payments have also been announced for Irish potatoes and truck crops for production between 90 percent and 110 percent of farm goals.

Coal Situation

Coal users are reminded again that stocks will be low and transportation inadequate during the Winter of 1943. Coal producing capacity is definitely limited and the user who has inadequate stocks on hand may be caught short next Winter by a tight market and delays in shipments. Virginians are urged to lay in their next Winter's stocks now or during the early Summer.

CCC To Buy No. 2 Beans

The Commodity Credit Corporation will purchase No. 2 dry edible beans as well as No. 1 from the 1943 crop. The price for No. 2 grade will be 15 cents below the prices for the No. 1 grade.

An arrangement of ferns, baskets of white snapdragons and gladioli and lighted tapers formed the background for the ceremony. Those present were the family and relatives with whom the bride has made her home while in Manassas, the parents and relatives of the groom, and close friends of the couple.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. I. Jack Breeden, the groom's cousin, and the selections included "Ave Maria," "I Love You Truly," and "Oh, Promise Me."

ENJOY FISH BAKE AT WIDEWATER

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SPONSORS DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

The Chamber of Commerce was host to a delightful fish fry which was held at Widewater, on the Potomac, on Wednesday evening. A large crowd, both ladies and gentlemen, gathered on the banks of the Potomac for the occasion and a spirit of conviviality reigned supreme, affording those present the opportunity of laying aside the many worries and cares of the day.

The candidates for the various offices were very much in evidence, and paraded through the crowd throughout the entire evening, endeavoring to display themselves in the most attractive light.

Dr. George B. Cocke was in charge of special arrangements, and special mention should be made of the delicious food which consisted of fish, both rock and shad, corn cakes and coffee. The gentlemen who prepared the food performed an excellent service and could, without question, qualify as the nation's leading chefs. We bow to their culinary art. Acknowledgment also goes to Sheriff Kerlin and his assistant, Mr. Joseph Amidon. Both did valiant service in aiding the arrangement committee.

It is hoped that the Chamber will, in the near future again sponsor such a joyous festivity.

In the absence of the members of the program committee, Mrs. P. A. Lewis introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. J. B. Johnson, who gave an interesting and instructive talk on the problems of home vegetable gardening, with particular emphasis on the use of what fertilizer is now available and the use of insect control products now furnished the public during the war period.

Delicious refreshments were served at the end of the talk and the members enjoyed a pleasant social hour.

SUBVERSIVE PROPAGANDA

(A series of editorials on Un-American activities)

A few months ago there was let loose in Virginia a propaganda exhibiting characteristics described by the Dies Committee Investigating Un-American Activities as peculiar to "United Front" and "Transmission Belt" Organizations. Involved in that particular onslaught were organizations which have been definitely denounced by legislative investigating committees. In a public statement, issued at the time, Governor Darden said, "I regard such propaganda as extremely detrimental to the public interests."

It is not often that subversive groups come together publicly in a "united front," but in this instance they came out in the daylight and the association of organizations was published.

Some of these organizations seem to be making their initial attempt in this field of propaganda and still enjoy a great deal of public confidence on the merit of humanitarian accomplishments so far; particularly religious federations and councils.

One of these at present enjoys such high prestige that it is with wonderment and bewilderment that we see it associated with propaganda definitely denounced as subversive by legislative committees investigating Un-American activities. We refer to none other than the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Why should this outstanding religious organization be linked in subversive propaganda with such notorious outfits as the Civil Liberties Union, the Workers Defense League, the Southern Tenant Farmers Union, etc.? Frankly we do not know the answer.

All of these various organizations have their individual objectives and their only seem

Fighting on the Financial Front

You have heard much about the job banks are doing in the sale of War Bonds, and in the various War Loan Drives. Other war jobs of banking are not so spectacular, yet are vital — such as supplying credit for war production, maintaining essential financial services, safeguarding funds and combatting inflation. Of one thing, however, you can be sure. This bank — and thousands of others — are determined that the battle on the Financial Front can and shall be won.

to come together at the instance of some overhead power which at present can only be guessed at, but apparently even these individual projects may well be questioned. One of these movements is the "Open Peace Forum."

We do not undervalue the importance of post-war planning, but we do question the value of this particular propaganda and look with askance at its national sponsorship. And if it is backed by any outfit which associates itself in effort with groups that have been denounced by the Dies Committee, we certainly do not care to have anything to do with it no matter how plausible its aim may seem.

Some time ago we sounded a warning in this column against local collaboration with nation-wide propaganda organizations, and we take this occasion to again issue that advice. There is no doubt that if one of these national groups should be found to be subversive in character and its objectives inimical to the war effort, then its local following would undoubtedly suffer a damaging loss of prestige.

(Editorial note: We wish to thank The Northern Virginia Daily and other newspapers which reprinted last week's editorial of this series.)

ADOLESCENT DELINQUENCY

Wars are fought and won by the matching of aggression with aggression, ruthlessness with ruthlessness. The culture of a nation tends to change from prohibition to permissiveness of violence. When the adult world is engaged in work of destruction adolescents will, in effect, engage in similar activity even though it may be inappropriately directed. If this is not brought about through example, it may be brought about through the opportunity that is being afforded for the expression of those primitive impulses that have been curbed from early infancy and eventually made dormant in the interests of orderly civilized living. When the modifying influences of the adult world itself give sanction to that which was formerly prohibited, these buried urges come to the fore and the censor (conscience) always operating against pressure from within, becomes sufficiently weakened during such period to permit expression in the form of behavior designated as anti-social.

In war-affected communities we have the usual conditions brought about by overpopulation and inability of the community to absorb the newcomers into their own cultural milieu. We have inadequate wholesome recreational resources and greatly overburdened social service — we have the usual spectacle that is characteristic of the boom town with congested housing, crowded living quarters, inadequate schooling, undesirable commercial recreation, distortion of the ratio between the male and female sexes resulting in sex delinquencies and problems around prostitution and, in general, life on a more primitive level. We also have the spectacle of greater economic opportunities superimposed upon unwholesome social conditions, resulting not in improved living standards but, as a matter of fact, in further deterioration.

What is needed at this time is the mobilization of all personal and group services, private and public, in the interest of our adolescents and children, cutting across functional and specialized lines and considering the adolescent personality needs on a unitary basis. There is no guarantee that democracy will be preserved and fostered if we do not assure ourselves of a mentally sound and emotionally healthy adult of tomorrow who is the adolescent of today.

— John Slawson.

TOWN AND FARM IN WAR TIME

Poultry Price Violations

The State Office of Price Administration is starting an intensive drive to wipe out black markets in poultry, and to end sales at higher than ceiling prices. An OPA investigation has shown that virtually every handler of chickens in the Valley of Virginia — where poultry is a $16,000,000 industry — is breaking regulations by selling above established prices, and steps are being taken to correct this condition. Sweeping changes in poultry price ceilings were recently announced as part of the campaign to stop illegal sales, with prices reduced from one cent to 10 cents per pound on expensive birds and raised one or two cents per pound for cheaper poultry. Revised prices are expected to effect substantial savings to consumers.

Loans for Conserving Fuel

Virginia home owners who want to convert their oil heating equipment to use other fuels, or to install inside insulation, weather-stripping, storm doors, or storm windows may get FHA loans on a delayed payment plan. Initial payments on loans made between April 20 and September 1, 1943, if the entire loan is used for such work.

Live Hog Ceiling Threatened

State livestock producers and packers were warned last week by Chester C. Davis, food administrator, that a ceiling would have to be established on live hogs if prices did not adjust themselves in line with wholesale ceilings. He remarked, however, that the recent course of the holy market has been most satisfactory.

More Soya Foods

Edible soya products — the high protein foods soon to have an important place in both military and civilian diets — are expected to reach 1½ billion pounds annually. The quantity available for civilians will be many times as large as in the past year. Soya products have already played a significant wartime role. Rich in valuable proteins, minerals and vitamins, they are readily adaptable to large scale use as a human food to supplement meat, milk and eggs.

IN ARIZONA

Some of our friends will recall "Pop" Rockwood who so nicely helped us last fall when we were without a linotype.

"Pop's" wife was not so well, so they hit the trail around Thanksgiving. They were at Box 985, Route 6, Phoenix, Arizona, the last we heard of them.

"Pop" was real old-timer, and a fine gentleman. Good luck to him wherever he may be.

The district, composed of Alexandria City, Fairfax and Prince William Counties has a complex situation that needs the services of the most experienced man whom the voters can secure. My service in the General Assembly which extends over three sessions has fitted me to represent the best interest of all the peoples in this District.

As a life long farmer, I am fully acquainted with many rural problems which face the farmers of this District. Having served as a member of the Board of Supervisors of Stafford county and as clerk of the court of that county, I am in a position to assist in problems of county government which may arise.

Owing to war restrictions it will not be possible for me to see many of the voters of the District. I am taking this means to solicit your support and consideration of my candidacy, with the pledge that if elected I shall certainly devote my whole hearted efforts in the interest of all of you.

GEORGE W. HERRING,

TO THE CITIZENS OF PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY:

I HEREBY respectfully announce myself a candidate for the office of Commonwealth's Attorney for Prince William County, Virginia, subject to the Democratic Primary to be held August 3rd, 1943.

STANLEY A. OWENS
49 to end.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Attorney for the Commonwealth, Prince William County, Virginia, subject to the Democratic Primary to be held on August 3, 1943.

I wish to express my thanks to the people of Prince William County for their support and cooperation during my present term of office. You know my record, and I feel, that with my past experience, I can successfully render a service to the people of my county. Due to the gasoline shortage it will be impossible for me to see each and every person in the county and so I take this opportunity of soliciting your continued support. You know what I have done in the past, both in private life (as I was born in your midst), and in public life.

If my efforts have met with your approval, I will greatly appreciate your help in the coming election.

Sincerely,
W. Hill Brown, Jr.

RIVERS OF GLORY

by F. Van Wyck Mason

This fascinating novel portrays certain scenes, characters and events during the fourth and fifth years of our War for Independence. With the Siege of Savannah as a background for a part of this book there are disclosed evidences of the folly of a nation's depending on its allies to win a war for it. These evidences show particularly the attitude of the patriots toward the French when they joined in battle against the British at Savannah. Neither army was cooperative and patriots decidedly let the French lead into the intensive fighting.

This story hits upon other points of interest, for there are daring actions from Boston to Tory New York and turbulent Jamaica, climaxing in the great siege of Savannah.

Intermingled with the main action are the daring services of Lieutenant Andrew Warren of the Continental Navy. Young Warren undertook a dangerous voyage to Jamaica for medical supplies needed by the desperate patriot armies. Although the voyage proved most disastrous, it was not a complete failure. The fact that the waters to Jamaica were infested with British warships made this voyage perilous and, to add to Warren's tension of the journey, a young lady, Minga Allen, forced her passage on this ship. It was not a desirable trip for a passenger, but because of the necessity of reaching her aunt's plantation in Jamaica, she was determined to add her person to those on board the "Evergreen."

There was great friction between the two because she was a Tory and he a Patriot, yet they were irresistibly attracted.

Shipwrecked after a bloody battle with thirsty Spanish pirates, they were rescued by a British Man-of-War which was due to put in port at Jamaica. Without papers, money, or ship to return with the supply of medicines, Lieutenant Warren's future was uncertain, but by an unexpected turn of events he was able to complete his mission.

At this time Jamaica wasn't under careful control and horrible massacres were made on plantations by the black tribes on the Island. How these savage attacks spilt human blood and what effect it had on our Andrew and Minga I will not write. The two, play out their dangerous intrigue in the violent interval of 1778 and 1779.

"Rivers of Glory" tends to awaken the important three of your five senses bringing you closer to the period of events. Read this historical novel packed with thrills and romance. This book, published by J. B. Lippincott Company, maybe borrowed from the Ruffner-Carnegie Library.

"STAND BY FOR ACTION" TELLS HEROIC STORY OF CONVOY DUTY IN PACIFIC

Battle and high adventure on the high seas, the exploits of a gallant old destroyer and her crew on convoy duty under fire in the Pacific, provide thrills galore, in "Stand By For Action," which opened last night at the PITTS Theatre. The picture presents Robert Taylor, Charles Laughton and Brian Donlevy as naval heroes, amid fights with enemy aircraft, rescues, and attack on a battleship under smoke screen.

Taylor plays a young lieutenant assigned with an older officer, played by Donlevy, to a recommissioned destroyer. They are assigned to guard a convoy, and amid amazing adventures, including the rescue of twenty babies in drifting lifeboats (which forces all hands to turn amateur nursemaids) bring their charge safely to port. Laughton plays an American admiral, and his address to the men on the destroyer, with its tribute to John Paul Jones, is an inspiring moment in the thrill-packed production.

"REUNION IN FRANCE" THRILLING STORY OF UNDERGROUND MOVEMENT

Teamed for the first time with romantic Philip Dorn who proved himself a great actor in "Escape," "Underground" and "Random Harvest," and John Wayne, Joan Crawford flashes across the screen in M-G-M's impressive "Reunion in France," seen at the Pitts Theatre.

"Reunion in France," directed by Jules Dassin and produced by Joe Mankiewicz, provides Miss Crawford with one of the most highly dramatic roles of her career. She is seen as a young carefree French girl who comes face to face with the brutalities of the Nazi occupation of Paris when she discovers that her wealth is gone, and that her fiancé, Dorn, is also apparently one of the clique whose Nazi tendencies led to the betrayal and fall of her country.

Dorn, rapidly becoming recognized as one of the screen's great romantic stars, and John Wayne have the principal male roles, the former as Joan's fiancé and the latter as an escaped prisoner of war, an American member of the R. A. F. whom she endeavors to aid in his efforts to reach England.

Pointwise pointers
on vegetables

Camouflage vegetables in casserole dishes, in souffles, omelets, or serve them in oversize salads and as simple garnishes. Tomatoes, onions, summer type squash, peppers, turnips, cabbage leaves, and cucumbers can be stuffed with a meat, cheese, or egg mixture and prepared as the main course. These are just some of the ways you bait your family and get them to eat their share of the precious vitamins and minerals offered by vegetables.

MIXED VEGETABLE TAMALE—Combine 2 or more kinds of cooked, drained, diced vegetables in a well-greased casserole, season with salt and pepper and top with a layer of corn meal muffin batter. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) for about 25 minutes or until done or topping is golden brown. Any combination of vegetables is delicious, but be sure to try spinach and sliced turnips, squash and tomatoes, green beans and carrots, and eggplant and celery.

CARROT STUFFED ONIONS—Fill uncooked onion cups loosely with shredded raw carrots, season, and steam with a small amount of water in a Dutch oven or tightly covered sauce pan. Serve with the main course as a vegetable and garnish.

VEGETABLE SALADS—If the salad is generous enough in size, it may serve as both the vegetable and salad. Raw vegetables, of course, preserve all of the valuable minerals and vitamins. The flavor and texture of cooked vegetable salads are heightened by the inclusion of at least one raw vegetable. It adds that necessary crispness. For interesting and unusual combinations try chopped cucumbers and coarsely grated carrots... shredded raw cauliflower and tomato wedges... cooked asparagus, pickled beets and sliced radishes... cooked green beans and sliced cucumbers.
