RICHMOND O P A ISSUES STATEMENT

Gasoline and Other Rules of Local Board are Explained

Motorists will be enabled to use their "A" ration books for trips in and out of the Eastern gasoline shortage area by special provisions announced here today by Mr. C. C. Cloe, chairman of the Prince William County War Price and Rationing Board.

These provisions are necessary, he pointed out, since eastern motorists are now using "A-6" coupons, while those outside the East are using "A-7" coupons from their basic book. In order to overcome difficulties in travel "across the border," a new amendment to the gasoline rationing regulations sets up procedures by which "A" ration holders may exchange any of their valid "A" coupons for other coupons that may be used in the area in which they expect to travel.

The provisions permitting retailers to make emergency reductions in the point values of rationed meats, fats and dairy products in imminent danger of spoiling, due to expire July 31, has been extended indefinitely. Mr. Cloe, chairman of the Prince William County War Price and Rationing Board said here today.

The emergency point reduction arrangements which is a safeguard against the spoilage of perishable foods which may be moving slowly, has worked out satisfactorily. As a result, the provisions will be retained with the same limitations as previously.

Holders of "B" and "C" supplemental rations for passenger cars and "E" and "R" non-highway use are no longer required to apply for renewal of their ration at the date specified on the covers of the coupon books, it was made known today by Mr. Cloe.

Now it will be possible for the holders of these rations to continue to use their stamps until they are exhausted, unless there is a change in the purposes and uses to which the vehicle was put at the time the rations were issued. The erstwhile expiration period is now the earliest date at which renewal may be made. Persons who run out of stamps prior to the renewal date are in danger of going without.

Dealers having in stock used passenger tires that are not fit for recapping, but which can be made serviceable for emergency use by temporary repairs, may brand them with an "O" on the sidewall and sell them with or without repairs, to consumers holding Grade Three ration certificates, Mr. Cloe announced today.

A dealer branding tires in stock must report to his OPA District Office not later than the tenth day of each month the number branded during the preceding month.

The "A" coupons on basic gasoline ration books issued outside the eastern shortage area will be valid as in the past for two-month periods. The "A" ration coupons in the book become effective July 22, the chairman of the county local War Price and Rationing Board said today.

HOME CANNING NOW IMPORTANT

CAN TOMATOES FIRST

The number one home canning crop should be tomatoes. Most of the other vegetables may be dried, dehydrated, brined or stored; but tomatoes, to keep that wonderful food value, must be canned, says Nell Grim, home demonstration agent.

How Much

For best nutrition, we need tomatoes, citrus fruits, or raw cabbage every day, because of our need for vitamin C.

To serve tomatoes or tomato juice four times a week, the homemaker should can 30 to 40 quarts of tomatoes for each person in the family. It takes about one dozen tomato plants to get two bushels of tomatoes, which should can 30 to 40 quarts.

Use Cold Pack Method

To retain the greatest amount of food value, flavor and color, cold-packed tomatoes are best. The method is simple:

Wash tomatoes, dip in boiling water, and skin. Pack in jars, pressing down gently until jars are full of tomatoes and juice. Add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart. Process in boiling water 30 minutes. Secure processing kettle has a rack, and that the water comes at least one inch over the tops of the jars. Racks may be improvised by using chicken wire or an old pan top with holes punched in.

A regulated oven or a steamer may be used for processing if one-fourth more time is allowed.

Make Juice Later

For a fresher flavor and a more nutritious produce, cold pack tomatoes as directed above, and make juice from them as needed.

Rotenone for Cabbage Worms

Regulations to conserve the supply of rotenone have not permitted the use of rotenone sprays or dusts on cabbage to control worms. As a relief measure, WFA announced July 20, rotenone may now be used on cabbage.

ARMY LIFE IN TENNESSEE

Down in the hills of Tennessee, Camp Forrest is the spot, Battling in the terrific heat In the land God forgot.

Just sitting here a-thinking Of what we left behind, We hate to put on paper What's running through our mind.

We've washed a million dishes, And peeled as many spuds, And paid out many a dollar To wash our dirty duds.

Many a mile we've marched And yet to leave our post; Through the wee hours we've studied The courses we wanted most.

Down with the snakes and lizards, Down where a man gets very blue, Down at the very bottom, A thousand miles from you.

Even at night the heat keeps coming, It's more than a man can stand. No, we are not convicts, But defenders of our land.

We're the soldiers of the Infantry, Earning our meager pay, Guarding people with millions For a dollar and a half a day.

Living only for tomorrow, And lonely for our gals, Hoping that when we return They are not married to our pals.

No one knows we are living And no one gives a damn, Back home it is soon forgotten That we are loaned to Uncle Sam.

These obstacles we've confronted They are very hard to tell; Let's hope that it's nice in heaven— We've served our time in hell.

PFC. HERMAN SMITH

Teachers interested in this work and desiring to renew certificate should apply for admission to either of these courses on Thursday, July 29 at 2 P. M. in the Fairfax High School Library.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY:

I have represented Prince William and Stafford Counties for two terms as Delegate to the General Assembly of Virginia, without opposition. I appreciate this honor and have tried to serve the people faithfully and fairly. It has been impossible for me to see every voter in the two counties, due to the gas and tire restrictions and to my farm duties, which are pressing at this time.

I appreciate the loyal support which you have given me. I have been successful in getting passed most of the bills for which I was sponsor or patron, and should I be re-elected. I will do my utmost to be of greater service to you in improving our county and solving its problems. If my record for the past four years has met with your approval, then I would like to represent you for another term.

I again appeal to the voters of Prince William and Stafford Counties to support me in the Democratic Primary, August 3rd.

The luncheon meetings provide a convenient place and an ideal time for consideration and discussion of affairs pertaining to the betterment of our communities.

At the luncheon meeting this week the Chamber of Commerce welcomed three new members, Mrs. Robert L. Lewis, Mrs. E. D. Gothaite and Miss Nell Grimm. Mr. Cloe expressed a desire to have additional ladies present next week.

A WARNING TO VOTERS

It is an old political trick to circulate untrue charges against a candidate for public office too late to be answered before time to vote. Should our county be circularized between now and next Tuesday, the voters should disregard any such underhanded methods, and be assured that if true, those making the statements would not have waited until the last moment, but would have come out in the open, with suitable opportunity for reply.

MEETING OF BETHLEHEM GOOD HOUSEKEEPERS CLUB

The Club met July 21 at the Manassas Grill with Mrs. W. M. Johnson and Mrs. William Pierson as hostesses. Fourteen members and three guests were present to enjoy the delightful program of songs presented by Mrs. Stickel, accompanied by Mrs. Mason. Mrs. Larkin and Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson arranged the program.

Mrs. Byrd entertained the meeting by reading several letters received from different parts of the country, inspired by interest in the History of Prince William County, copies of which are still selling and arousing attention among farflung people with connections in this county. The Club contributed to the Library Fund, making available to the children of the Bennett School fifty-seven new books for next year.

A committee has been formed to look up old records and coats of arms of the families prominent in the early days of Brentsville, when the old Courthouse was the meeting place of the world of law and fashion and Brentsville was the County Seat. This committee will aid the Girl Scouts of Brentsville in their community project of beautifying the Courthouse and help to make it "A Little Williamsburg of Prince William County."

The Civic Committee has volunteered to help in the campaign to clean up the streets of Manassas.

TELEPHONE BOOK IS PUBLISHED

Central Mutual Gives Highly Efficient Service

A new telephone directory has just been issued by the Central Mutual Telephone Company, of Manassas, for the communities of Manassas, Nokesville, Quantico and Dumfries. "Our aim," the directory says, and the experience of the subscribers amply verifies, "is to render a service that will be satisfactory in all respects to our patrons."

Heading our well known telephone company is Dr. George B. Cocke. Vice-President is T. E. Didlake and the Secretary-Treasurer is Harry P. Davis. Directors include, in addition to the above named officers, A. A. Hooff, R. S. Hynson, J. A. Vetter and Floyd D. Vetter, and the manager is J. A. Vetter.

The new 1943 telephone directory is quite a record of the business condition of the County in this time of war and particularly evidences the extent of growth and development in the Quantico area.

In the Manassas exchange are listed 541 subscribers. The Nokesville exchange lists 115, and the Quantico list reaches 357, a remarkable increase. On the Manassas exchange the names most frequently encountered are Lewis, Cornwell, Davis, Johnson and Carter—all old county names in the records of Prince William. Down at Nokesville the Harrings seem to lead as phone subscribers.

The Central Mutual Telephone Company, a strictly local enterprise, deserves much credit for its accomplishments, and particularly for the way it has managed to satisfy the needs of the community in these days of severe shortage in materials and labor. It even is defense minded, for on the cover of the attractive new directory we read:

"Please do not make telephone calls during or immediately after an Air Raid Alarm as it is essential that the lines be kept free for use by the Defense Authorities. If your telephone rings, however, answer it promptly."

BRENTSVILLE GIRL SCOUTS

The regular meeting of the Girl Scout Troop of Brentsville was called to order by Margaret Simpson on July 14. Since the object of the meeting was to learn some folk dances, it was held in the old Court House of Brentsville.

Mrs. Royer was there to teach the girls the folk dances. Before she did, however, she told us about the Nutrition Work Shop and explained how the children were taught.

Later she taught the girls the dances. They included the Virginia Reel, Skip to My Lou, Oats, Peas, Beans and Barley Grow and several others.

It was decided that Mary Lou Lipscomb would lead the girls at the next meeting. Plans for an outdoor dinner were discussed also.

The meeting was adjourned at 6 o'clock.

"Everyone recognizes that there are certain broad principles and some specific laws which must apply to the state of the nation as a whole to avoid confusion.

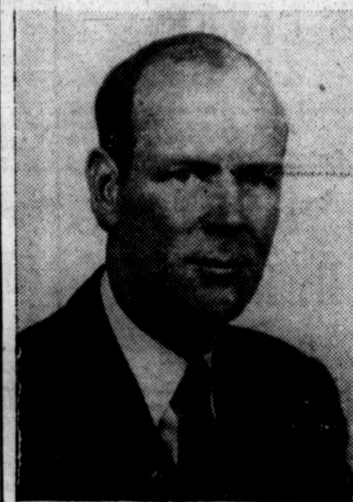

But there is no reason why most of the regulation of the individual should not begin and end with his local government. That is the government which the individual knows, and with which he is in intimate contact. If he has any complaint, he can go to the Court House or Town Hall and protest. He can't do that if the offending official is in Richmond or Washington.

"If sent to the Virginia Senate, I shall favor the return to the counties of all regulatory functions which have been unnecessarily vested in the State government. I shall fight very strongly against the relinquishment of any more authority over the people of Virginia to the National Government and shall attempt to recall to the State as much of such power as possible which has already been passed on to Washington.

"The attitude of governing bodies—county, state and national—has of late years has been to regulate the individual more and more. They have forgotten the old adage which has guided us so successfully in the past: 'That government is best which governs least.'

"Not the least burden resulting from the mania to pass laws is the necessary increase in taxes to carry out their administration, and the building of a bureaucratic oligarchy which grows fat and insolent upon the taxpayers money.

"It is the duty of the Virginia Assembly to protect the independence of the individual Virginian to the greatest possible extent during the present war emergency, and when that emergency is past it will be its duty to make a substantial effort, in cooperation with other states, to reduce the Federal bureaucracy and the taxes which support it, to their proper size.

Richard M. Smith

"To my mind, however, there is something much worse than the financial burden imposed by a strongly centralized government. A people which gives up its privileges and responsibilities to a central government far removed from the individual, has no sure protection against that governing body if it becomes corrupted by its own power and authority. This has happened in many foreign countries—and it can happen here."

Mr. Smith is President of the McLean Water Company. He was formerly vice-president of the Washington investment firm of McKnew-Fairfax & Company. Prior to entering the investment business he practiced law in the office of a former President of the American Bar Association. Mr. Smith's grandfather, father, and uncle were professors at Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Virginia, the latter having founded the women's college at Lynchburg, and the academies at Front Royal and Bedford.

Make summertime meals hearty!

One thing is certain: We can't "keep going" at our best speed unless we keep our summertime meals hearty and really nutritious. Easiest way to do this is to include at least one hot dish with all three meals of the day. And they don't have to be the kind that require hours and hours in preparation. Here are some suggestions for "quickie" hot dishes that will satisfy robust appetites.

TOAD-IN-A-HOLE—Form leftover, mashed potatoes into balls about 2 inches in diameter and press hole in the center. Partially fill hole with cooked, chopped meat, and add leftover gravy to fill hole to top. Place under broiler, and broil until potatoes are golden brown and gravy starts bubbling. Serve piping hot. Leftovers in grand disguise.

THIMBLE MEAT BALLS—Combine equal portions ground meat and dry bread crumbs. Add salt, pepper, grated onion, a bit of mustard, and a chopped tomato. Add a beaten egg and beat the meat as you would cake batter until all ingredients are completely blended. Form into meat balls the size of a walnut and brown quickly in hot shortening. Then add just enough water to cover bottom of the pan, cover pan and steam for 15 minutes. Thicken drippings in the pan and serve with meat balls over steamed rice or toast.

STUFFED STEAK—Have steak cut very thin. Spread steak with a thick layer of seasoned, breadcrumb stuffing. Roll up steak, jelly-roll style and tie or skewer. Brown steak roll in hot shortening, then add just enough water to create a steam and cover and steam for about 25 minutes, or until steak is tender. Make gravy from drippings. It makes a little steak really go around.

THURSDAY, JULY 29, 1943

THE DOWNFALL OF MUSSOLINI

Monday, July 25, 1943, went down in history as the terminating day of the regime of Fascist Premier Benito Mussolini, who for two decades has swaggered across the stage of European affairs. That his ignominious end was inevitable was assured not only by the overwhelming power that is rapidly rising against him, but by his own lack of those basic elements of human character which distinguish truly great men.

Collapse of the Fascist organization, does not necessarily mean the immediate end of military resistance in Italy. It is rather an evidence of a desperate effort to "find again a way of recovery," as the pusillanimous Italian King's announcement rather broadly states.

Without question the 71-year-old Marshal Pietro Badoglio, who has now been placed in command of all Italian forces, will employ strong measures to hold his country's apparent military power intact in a desperate attempt to gain something at the peace table. But it is a foregone conclusion that he will be unsuccessful that the disintegration of Italy will continue at an accelerating rate.

The "Axis" is about to be broken asunder, but the senior partner, Adolph Hitler, is yet to be overcome. This will follow, possibly more quickly than we had once hoped, but we must not relax nor in any way slacken our war effort.

THE GASOLINE SITUATION

All patriotic citizens are readily reconciled to endurement of hardship and privation that contributes to the winning of the war. It is quite understandable, however, that there should be resentment over favoritisms or inequalities in rationing that seem to evidence intentional discriminations.

It seems that Virginia, at no time popular with the Administration in Washington, is being made the object of very severe restrictions which do not apply in other sections all around us. We do not know personally that this is a fact, but the Governor of Virginia says so in a public letter to Secretary Ickes, and we place absolute confidence in what he says and further believe that he would not have said so if he did not sincerely believe that it is in the public interest to end this discrimination against Virginia.

The Governor says that the amount of gasoline in Virginia in storage is sufficient to warrant the same kind of treatment here as is being accorded North Carolina and Tennessee to the South, and Kentucky and West Virginia to the north. "There is no disposition here to question any regulation," the Governor writes, "which is necessary for the prosecution of the war, but there is deep-seated resentment against what appears to be unjust discrimination."

Coming from the Governor of Virginia, notification of the existence of "deep seated resentment" should be sufficient to secure a fair-minded review of the situation. This is not a private protest but a public one by the Governor of a great State, and therefore must be based upon circumstances which at least require a satisfactory explanation.

NO FOURTH TERM

Ordinarily we take no notice of unsigned communications, but this week we have received one we believe to be sincerely directed, asking us if we have the "guts" to print in this column that we are opposed to a Fourth Term.

We do not hesitate to say that we are opposed to any President serving for more than the two traditional terms, and that we hope that the Democracy of Virginia will definitely go on record at the next National Convention as favoring a Constitutional amendment making it again impossible for a President to serve more than two successive terms.

IN MEMORY

In sad but loving memory of our dear daughter, sister and mother, Mrs. Lelia W. Fitzwater, whose life departed us two years ago today, July 31, 1941.

The wheels of time have brought the day that fills our hearts with pain and lonesome hours of grief. Sad and sudden was the call of one so dearly loved by us.

It was a shock severe to part with one we loved so dear. Sadly missed by her MOTHER, SISTERS and SON.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our many friends and relatives for their kindness and sympathy given us during the illness and death of our son and brother.

CURTIS-ROBINS

The Manassas Presbyterian Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Mary Louise Robins to T. Sgt. C. Eugene Curtis which took place Saturday evening (July 24th) at 8 o'clock. The Rev. John M. DeChant, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. White gladioli were on the altar and ferns and white cathedral tapers decorated the chancel. Mrs. Paul J. Arrington sang "Because" and "At Dawning," accompanied by Mr. Cleveland H. Fisher.

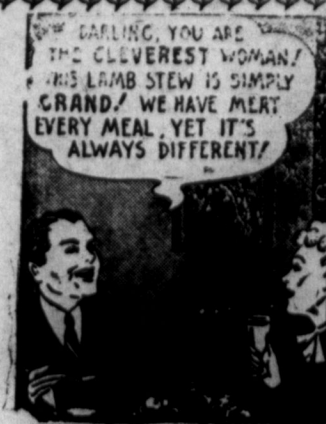

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Pence, and Sgt. Curtis, who is on furlough from overseas duty, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Curtis of Manassas.

Mrs. Willard E. Beane was matron of honor and only attendant. Her gown was of blue tulle with overskirt of matching net, styled with a square neckline and short puffed sleeves. She wore an arrangement of feathers and net as a headdress and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white marquisette fashioned with a sweetheart neckline outlined with lace. The full skirt ending in a train was gathered on to a fitted bodice. The bride's finger-tip-length veil was held in place by a heart-shaped band of white ruching, and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Pfc. Maury L. Wells served as best man and the ushers were William L. Miller, Naval Aviation Cadet and John L. Gregory, Quartermaster 3-c.

The goal of the Second War Loan drive is 13 billion dollars. That is just about one fifth of the estimated increase of the Public Debt for the fiscal year of 1944.

CLYDE McCUIN DIES SUNDAY FOLLOWING A WEEK'S ILLNESS

Mr. Clyde McCuin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McCuin, died Sunday morning, July 11, 1943, at Warrenton Hospital following an illness of about a week.

Mr. McCuin was born November 2, 1913, and has been for several years in the employ of Mr. Edmund Roland of Haymarket. He was a fine, strong young man and seemed in excellent health until July 3, when an empty milk can fell from the truck and struck him on the leg, inflicting a small cut over the shinbone. Not realizing the seriousness of the wound, he continued to work. Blood poison developed, and despite all medical attention given him, his condition was beyond human aid. Thus his sudden passing, while yet so young, was a great shock to his family and loved ones.

The funeral services were held at the home of his parents at 2 p. m. Tuesday, July 13. He was a member of Gainesville Church, and his pastor, Rev. Clark H. Wood, conducted the services.

The interment, in charge of George Baker and Sons, was made in the family plot in Gainesville church yard. The casket was borne by his cousins and friends, Messrs. Ralph McCuin, Charlie Smith, Edward Smith, Artemus Smith, Willard Allison and Raymond Sloper.

Many beautiful flowers were sent by sympathetic relatives and friends whom he served daily along his route. These were borne by his young cousins, Misses Virginia Smith, Evelyn Smith, Christine Smith, Elizabeth Smith, Mesdames Bernard McCauley, Timothy Baker, Charlie Smith, J. D. Harrover, Edward Smith and William Partlow. The deceased is survived by his parents, three sisters, Mrs. David Reynolds and Miss Audrey McCuin at home, and Mrs. William Corder of Arlington; three brothers, Messrs. Ernest and Roy McCuin of this community and Willard McCuin of Arlington; four little nieces and six nephews.

Little Miss Fay Clark Wood of Lynchburg is visiting her grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. Clark H. Wood.

Miss Evelyn Smith and Mrs. Walter Burke spent Wednesday in Centerville and Clifton visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Robert Billington of Manassas spent the week end at Lawns Vale Farm.

Miss Virginia Smith spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. John Minton of Alexandria.

DOES CHARLES HENRY SMITH HAVE A HIDDEN PLANK IN HIS PLATFORM

Following are excerpts from the ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE dated March 22, 1941—"TAX REFORM GROUP MEETS HERE TO-NIGHT"—"Opponents of Poll Tax sponsor mass meeting at 8 p. m."—"CHARLES HENRY SMITH, prominent attorney, will preside over the session."

Mr. Smith says, "That he is unalterably opposed to any encroachment on land in Northern Virginia by the Federal Government", if he is sincere in this statement, why did he preside at the above meeting at the Alexandria High School in Alexandria, Virginia? The subject of which was "TO ABOLISH THE POLL TAX IN VIRGINIA"? We are sure the people of Virginia do not desire to return to Carpet-Bagger Government or to vote for anybody who holds such beliefs.

Don't be misled but vote for ANDREW W. CLARKE, whose record justifies your vote.

FITZGERALD

To the Voters of Prince William County:

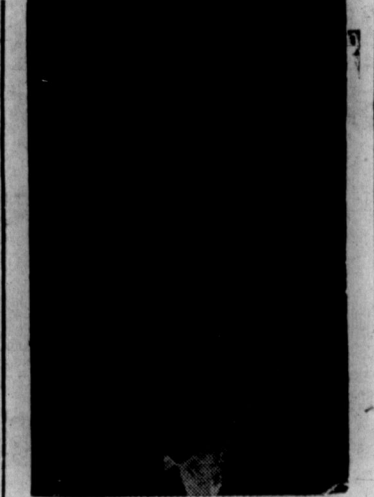

I understand that one of my opponents, Andrew W. Clarke, in his desperation at the last minute, giving me no opportunity to answer, will undertake to "smear" me in this county.

I hear he claims I attended a meeting in Alexandria several years ago which had as its purpose the abolishing of the poll tax.

If Clarke meant to be fair, he would tell the WHOLE TRUTH which is:

I appeared at this meeting to introduce an old friend of mine who personally requested me to do so. I stated publicly then, as I have many times since, that I am opposed to the abolishing of the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting.

On the contrary, this same Clarke, on July 5, 1943, at a round-table discussion in the auditorium of the public school at McLean, Virginia, in answer to a question, publicly stated that he favored the poll tax, but opposed it as a prerequisite to voting. In other words, if he meant what he said, he favors allowing persons to vote whether they pay their poll tax or not.

ALICE PUTS 'EM OVER!

Lovely Star Nation's No. 1 Song-
Pluggers

When it comes to putting over songs, Alice Faye is tops! The lovely blonde star adds to her laurels by singing in her incomparable style a number of ballads, old and new, in 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor musical, "Hello, Frisco, Hello."

In her first picture in over a year, which opens August 1 at the Pitts' Theatre, the honey-haired songstress sings one number in particular which, thanks to her knack of "selling" a song, is destined to be a hit tune—"You'll Never Know." The number was written especially for Alice by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren, outstanding Hollywood team of song writers.

Whether it's the way Alice wrinkles her nose when singing a song, or the dulcet tones she injects into a number that makes it an immediate favorite, is hard to say, but the fact remains that Alice is responsible for putting over more songs than any other Hollywood songbird.

Another record the star holds stems from her ability to revive old time ballads, a fact first proved in "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and later in "Tin Pan Alley." Irving Berlin, after seeing these two pictures, said of Alice, "She is one girl that could put over a song in any generation because of her style of singing."

"Hello, Frisco, Hello" is a lavish, colorful musical set to the gay tempo of life of old San Francisco's riotous Barbary Coast. Starred with Alice Faye are John Payne, Jack Okie and Lynn Bari. June Havoc and Laird Cregar are featured in important roles.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

When Richard Breckenridge's submarine made a hurried dive off Japan, a hatch jammed. But he ignored the order to abandon the rapidly flooding conning tower and remained behind, desperately trying to fasten it. By succeeding, he saved vital equipment for his submarine and became the first enlisted man in the submarine service to win the Navy Cross. He was willing to give his life. How much of your income will you invest in Payroll Savings?

Enough to Go Around

Now, for the first time in years, both farmers and manufacturers can work for the biggest possible yield without thinking about the market. This year they can sell all they can produce.

As things look now, this condition is due to keep up for some time, but we can't count on its lasting forever. Certainly nobody wants a prosperity built on war! So it's high time that everybody concerned—and that is everybody—gave some thought to keeping things running after the war.

You're busy, we know. So are we. The important thing right now is seeing that there's enough of everything to go around. But we've been devoting a little attention to the problems of the future, too. We feel that the people who have the producing job to do can contribute a lot to the solution of those problems.

And we hope that you, too, busy as you are with growing more food than this country's ever produced, will be turning these problems over in your mind. For if America's farmers and manufacturers, working together, can't find a way to keep the richest country on earth producing enough for everybody, and let the producers make a living in the process—if they can't, why then, who can? AMERICA SHOULD KEEP ITS LIFELINES STRONG

the enormous amount of troops and materials of war that the railroads are so successfully transporting today, it is not surprising that many people have assumed those figures represent big profits for the railroads. Actually, this is not true, even though the Class I railroads carried 80% more passengers in 1942 than in 1941, and 33% more freight.

2 IT IS TRUE the railroads are earning more money today than they have in recent years, but for many years past they have been making far less than other businesses. Even in 1942, a peak year, earnings were only 5.56% on investment. And in the ten years ending with 1941, the average earnings were only a fraction over 2%. Many small businesses like the little retailer pictured above have, over the years, made much more money per dollar invested.

3 IN THE FIRST WORLD WAR the standard return fixed by the government for the railroads amounted to 5.21% on investment. Today the railroads are earning about 6%—a little more than they did in 1918.
But they are carrying 24% more passengers and 55% more freight.

4 MAJOR FINANCIAL PROBLEMS now faced by the railroads include heavy taxes and greater cost of materials. Equipment now in service bears extra strain. The wheels pictured above travel more track in a week than they used to cover in a month. And rails and cars and engines are being used up at a rapid rate. Normal repairs cannot be made because of shortage of materials and man-power. Funds which should be put aside out of current earnings for making these repairs in the future are now taxed as "profits."

5 WEAKENING OF THE RAILROADS would be a national calamity.
They are our lifelines, the vital arteries of our industrial and commercial system. America must keep its railroads strong. Too much depends on them today, and will depend on them tomorrow, to risk the effects of any policy that would endanger what we now enjoy—the finest railroad service in the world.

Chesapeake and Ohio Railway

CLEVELAND, OHIO

"I'd like to tell you what the Japs did to some friends of mine"

LIEUTENANT (j. g.) ANN B. BERNATITUS, U. S. N.—a nurse, back from Bataan. I have a message for you . . .

"Those American boys—who fought for you with their backs to the wall, waiting for help that never reached them—came from the land of plenty. But when their lives were at stake, all they had was . . . plenty of nothing!"

"They were outnumbered, outgunned, and out-supplied. They were so short of ammunition that antiaircraft gunners often had to hold their fire until the enemy planes were on top of them. They were so short of bandages and gauze that we nurses had to wash out the old ones and use them again.

"But they were never short of courage. They never spoke of surrender. They just went on fighting, and hoping, and dying. And no sacrifice was ever too great.

"Let me give you an example. One terrible day on Bataan we had 285 patients on our operating tables in 8 hours—a new patient every two minutes of the day.

"A sailor was brought in with his abdomen blown to bits. He was a goner and I think he knew it. 'Doctor,' he asked, 'is there any hope at all?'"

"The doctor wished to reassure him and replied, 'We'll do everything we can!' The sailor tried to roll over. 'Doc,' he begged, 'get me off this table and save one of those other fellows who still has a fighting chance'"

"That was the kind of men we had at Bataan. And they would want you to remember not only what they did, but what they did without."

"They would want you to remember it, but not with flowers and memorials. The flowers are for yesterday and the monuments for tomorrow."

"Remember them now—this month and every month—by buying War Bonds!"

"Buy guns and planes and shells and ships and tanks—for those other countrymen of yours who are fighting so far from home. See to it that never again, any place in the world, will American fighting men be caught short as they were on Bataan! That never again will American wounded perish for the help your dollars might have sent!"
