A President is Born

HE is so small and helpless. So dependent on you for his life and well-being. And yet you are able to look at him and say—

"Someday he may be President."

Put it down as foolish sentiment. Put it down as parental pride. But where else in the world could you envision for your child the possibility of his attaining, one day, the highest office in the land?

Maybe your child won't make it. But one child, very much like him, will. One child out of the three million babies born this year—or the next—or the year after.

Whether or not he attains this high position is not so important. What matters is that here, in America, he is born with that opportunity. He is born in the stubborn tradition of free men—men who felt that in government, the wisdom of the many is preferable to the ambition of the few. He is born in a tradition of self-reliance—where he may succeed or fail, win or lose, rise or fall, according to his own efforts.

Because of that, you will train him to think for himself, to fight his own battles, to make his own way.

You will teach him that responsibility is inseparable from freedom. And that if he joins with other men in an enterprise he should demand the same responsibility and freedom for his business that marks his birthright as an individual.

Someday he may hear, as you have heard, voices that say, "Surrender your opportunity for the certainty that you shall always have bread"—as if man lived by bread alone. As if the country were better served by limiting all to mediocrity—instead of assuring to all, under law, an equal chance to rise by their own efforts, conscious of their obligations to others.

What that son of yours learns at your knee will decide whether or not he will ever have to bend his knee before dictation and tyranny.

And because of what you teach him, he too may one day look with that same foolish pride on his own son to say, "Someday he may be President."

Julia says—Try a new kind of breakfast tomorrow

MICKY MOUSE, inspired by the wise Mr. Disney, puts it this way: "You can't breakfast like a bird and work like a horse!" Guess we'll all agree to that—and most of us are working like horses these days.

What kind of breakfast will your family start the day with, tomorrow? Will it keep them strong right up to lunchtime—or will it be a sparrow's breakfast?

What, No Time? If it's lack of time that's worrying you, remember that you can get a good breakfast together in ten minutes—the time it takes to make a cup of coffee! Modern cereals are quick and easy as opening a package, and they come in more varieties than you can shake a stick at. And the cereal breakfast foods of 1944—natural, whole-grain, restored or enriched with vitamins and minerals—make an important contribution to the daily requirements of proteins, B-vitamins, minerals and fuel for energy.

You can serve a big bowl of cereal with fruit and milk and sugar in it, and have a breakfast in that single bowl! An egg or some meat takes only a few minutes, and rolls or bread or toast and butter (or margarine) add to the score.

Look Ahead! Or if it's variety that's stopping you, maybe a "pin-up" plan will do the trick. All that's required is to make out breakfast menus for a full week in advance. Then pin them up over your range or kitchen sink, and run through the pattern. Hard to do? Easy!

First make yourself a list of the fruits your family likes and which are on the market (oranges, grapefruit, dried prunes, apples, etc.)—and remember they can be served alone or on cereal. Put opposite each one, the way you want to prepare them—stewed, sliced, fresh, squeezed (ever squeeze a grapefruit for the juice alone?—mmmmmm!).

Then make a list of the cereals your family likes best, including a few different ones for them to try as a treat. Wheat, corn, oats, barley, bran, rice—what's their favorite flavor? Rolled, ground, flakes, made into shreds, biscuits, rounds—all shapes and sizes!

Make a list of the ways your family likes its bread—as many as you can. The same goes for eggs and meat. Change the style or choice as you follow the week through.

There's the basis for your week's "pin-up" breakfast plan!

MOVIE GREMLINS AT WORK ON "HEAVEN CAN WAIT"

For a long time now directors and producers in Hollywood have known that something was at work to ruin scenes, to prevent the completion of pictures on time and to cause trouble of many different sizes, shapes and forms. But it remained for the R.A.F. to point out the true reason—"Gremlins!"

These are the little fellows who aren't there, yet continually cause trouble of all kinds. Which is not to be taken as a slur at all. Gremlins sometimes can be very helpful. They were continually popping up during production of the new 20th Century-Fox Technicolor comedy, "Heaven Can Wait," which was produced and directed by Ernst Lubitsch.

Twice, they spoiled love scenes between Gene Tierney and Don Ameche. Just when Gene and Don were exchanging hushed romantic dialogue, the little demons went to work—in a new and unexpected place: the arc-lamps on the set.

"Heaven Can Wait," due at the Pitts Theatre soon, being in Technicolor, required the intensive lighting supplied by huge arc-lamps, which are operated by small electric motors and burn a special type of carbon.

Before the war, this carbon was imported. Now substitutes have to be used. Also, the motors in the lamps are beginning to wear out—with new lamps and parts unobtainable.

This is where the Gremlins took over and started to complicate the life of movie-makers. They invaded the motors which immediately started to emit sharp squeals. They made the carbon sputter. They did everything to create sound effects that were anything but romantic.

To combat this, Producer-director Lubitsch ordered a full minute of absolute silence before shooting each scene—while the sound man listened for noises from the lamps. If everything was quiet Lubitsch then called for action before the Gremlins could get to work!

STATE FARM MUTUAL PAYS CLAIMS TOTALING $50,000,000

Whenever collision costs to their own cars are involved, automobile owners protected by the State Farm Mutual 80 percent collision policy stand to receive 80 percent of the costs, and this extended type of protection is gaining in popularity. Reams E. Bennett, of Manassas, local agent for the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company declared today.

Automobile collision insurance of the 80 per cent deductible type was originated by State Farm Mutual in 1922, and today the company writes more insurance of this type than any other company in the world.

Under the 80 percent plan, State Farm Mutual pays the protected policyholder 80 percent of all collision costs, regardless of the amount involved. This means that if an auto owner damages his car to the extent of $25, he is repaid $20. Under the 25 or $50 deductible collision insurance policies, the auto owner would receive nothing, since the first $25 or $50 of damage is stood by the owner.

This type of protection, which enables every auto driver to definitely limit his collision losses, is offered by the world's largest auto insurer, an organization which writes over $25,000,000 of automobile insurance each year.

State Farm Mutual also provides auto owners with liability protection (where damage to other persons is involved) at economical, mutual rates. State Farm Mutual now writes over one-fourth of all the auto liability insurance in Virginia, with some 85 companies in the state sharing the rest.

The Southern serves...and sells...the South

LOOK AHEAD
It is the duty of each Southern Railway System... to look ahead... to the future of America's great and growing Southland.

LOOK SOUTH!
Look South!... for new opportunities after the war is over.

War Plant
The Southern Railway System... is a vital part of the war effort.

Southern Cooking
The Southern Railway System... is a vital part of the war effort.

Sinews of the South
The Southern Railway System... is a vital part of the war effort.

FAITH is the keynote of these advertisements of the Southern Railway System... a compelling, abiding faith in the future of America's great and growing Southland.

These advertisements, and others like them, appeared in nationally-circulated magazines all last year... telling their inspiring stories to millions of people from border to border and from coast to coast... selling the South.

Proudly, they tell of the tremendous contributions the South is making to help speed Victory.

Proudly, they point to the amazing industrial, commercial and agricultural growth of the South in recent years.

Proudly they say, "Look Ahead... Look South!"... for new opportunities after the war is over.

Thus, in still another way, the Southern Serves the South.

ALL-OUT EFFORT URGED TO SPEED WAR'S END

By

LIEUT. GENERAL JOSEPH T. McNARNEY

Deputy Chief of Staff, U. S. Army

In the initial deployment of our troops, we were forced to dispose our forces all over the world. We had to scatter them initially in a plug-the-line effort that further dissipated what was already an over-extended deployment. Today the picture has changed and we have shifted to the offensive.

Our air offensive has materially softened the enemy and has greatly reduced the capacity to resist. It greatly assisted the Russians by forcing the Germans to withdraw a sizeable portion of their air forces from the Russian front.

The combined bomber offensive against Germany has forced the Germans to drastically reduce the production of bombers and to concentrate on the production of fighters. To every thoughtful member of the German air force, this step could have but one meaning—that Germany has given up hopes of winning the war and is turning to every effort to keep from losing the war.

Our equipment losses have been very heavy though our operations thus far have had relatively easy going. Our losses of material during the 37 days of the Sicilian campaign were significant. 46% of all the 57 mm. guns we landed were destroyed; 36% of the motor carriages of our 75's; 22% of the carriages for 105 mm. howitzers and 54% of the carriages for our 37 mm. guns.

We are now rapidly approaching the time when we can come to grips with the enemy in decisive action. By far our greatest asset is that we now hold the initiative. We can strike the enemy when and where we choose.

In all our thinking and planning, we have sought to capitalize on our superior equipment and weapons. We are determined to give the American soldier every possible break by arming him with the best, by giving him every possible support in the form of armor, superior planes, better guns, massed fire power and every other conceivable mechanical aid which will increase fighting power and save lives. We will not hesitate to sacrifice equipment, munitions and supplies, if by so doing we will save the lives of American soldiers.

With competent leadership and with fine American soldiers, there is but one other essential item and that is an all-out effort on our production front to give us more weapons and more ammunition and more equipment.

Protect My Kid From Infantile Paralysis

NOT All the enemies are over there. One of the most cunning is hiding out on the home front. Call him The Crippler, call him poliomyelitis, call him INFANTILE PARALYSIS! Call him anything you like, but FIGHT HIM!

Track him down. Corner him and destroy him. For he destroys innocent children... MY kid, YOUR kid... future citizens of the United States of America and of the world we are fighting and dying to remake.

The "rebirth of freedom" that Old Abe Lincoln had something to say about—let's make it a rebirth of freedom from disease. THAT'S the children's first enemy on the health fronts of America.

"Look ——— pal. No use trying to keep the news from me just so it won't burden my mind while I got a job to do. I know there was an epidemic of infantile paralysis in 1943—more than 12,000 cases. Third biggest epidemic of this thing in recorded history in the USA.

This was back on YOUR front in 1943.

It was a great break for the kids—you kids and mine—that there was the NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS to fight the Crippler. But fighting costs money. And the docs at home say there'll be another epidemic in 1944 and so long as there is inevitable wartime crowding and mass movement of people.

That's what I can't get off my mind. THAT'S why I want you to support the NATIONAL FOUNDATION'S ANNUAL FUND APPEAL AND ITS MARCH OF DIMES in nationwide celebration of THE PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY.

That's why I've laid my rifle aside long enough to do some straight talking. I'm picking it up again now, for I've got some pretty stiff fighting to

Dear Mom,
 Watching our fellows go out day after day, I can see what a big part the military medicine made from your used kitchen fats, play in keeping our boys fit. Their own mothers couldn't be more careful of our boys than the flight surgeons. You can help keep 'em flying by turning in your used fats and now that you get nation points for your fats too, everybody benefits. Give my best to all.

HAVE YOU BOUGHT EXTRA BONDS

1944 TO DECIDE FUTURE OF WORLD, PATTERSON SAYS

By

HONORABLE ROBERT P. PATTERSON

Under Secretary of War

The greatest strain in history is about to be put upon this country... on labor, on industry, on the entire population. There have been troubles and difficulties in the past and we have, in the main, overcome them. But the most difficult job of all lies ahead. That is the drive to Victory!

War in a democracy is, and must be, a partnership. It has been repeatedly proved in combat that the soldier who knows not only what he has to do but why he has to do it is the best soldier and the most dogged and determined fighter. He is a partner in the battle strategy.

Civilians, too, are partners in the war, and none more so than the men and women who make the weapons with which our soldiers fight. Victory is ahead but it is the considered judgment of our military leaders that we still have a long, hard fight.

The war has taken a turn in our favor. Recent campaigns have been successful. It would be impossible to overestimate the part that American-made equipment has played in these victories.

Industry and labor have done a magnificent production job in this war. I know of no parallel to it. But we must do better and better. The big operations, the decisive operations, lie ahead. This is no time for patting ourselves on the back. The job ahead is too hard for that.

We shall all carry a heavy burden during the coming twelve months. It will be a costly year, costly in blood and men, but it is a year that will determine the future of the world. The stakes are worth fighting for. On my trip to the Pacific I saw many things. I saw the lonely graves in the jungle. I saw the wounded and sick in the hospitals. I saw thousands of brave American and Australian soldiers winning under the hardest conditions. We have pledged those men and the men fighting on other fronts the full resources of the nation to support them. We must not fail.

AMERICAN LEGION HITS AT STRIKES

ACTION OF HERNDON POST OF STATE-WIDE INTEREST

At the regular meeting of Herndon Post No. 91, American Legion, the following resolution was adopted upon motion duly seconded, of comrade F. W. Robinson:

"Whereas, upwards of 10,000,000 patriotic young men have been called from their homes and firesides to defend and uphold the integrity, the liberty and the right of all the people to the pursuit of happiness, and

"Whereas, these, the flower of American manhood, have not only sacrificed the golden opportunities which afford the impulse to forge ahead and which, collectively, make for the well-being and progress of a nation, but have offered and are offering their lives, as dear to them as to any of us at home, that we may continue to enjoy the greatest blessings that it has ever been the lot of any nation to possess, and

"Whereas, since the United States entered the Second World War there have been numerous strikes by workers in essential industries, and

"Whereas, the lives of these, our comrades, are further endangered as a result of the failure of those whose duty it is to uphold the hands of our fighting men by producing and transporting the munitions, equipment and food without which all of their sacrifices will be in vain.

"Now Therefore, Be It Unanimously Resolved, that the membership of Herndon Post No. 91, American Legion, Department of Virginia, do vigorously assert as our sincere belief that no citizen of these United States has the right nor should be permitted to strike, or except in the case of absolute necessity, absent himself from his post of duty, be it farm, desk or factory, or any other activity essential to the war effort for the period of the present emergency, and

"Be It Further Resolved, that we are opposed to work stoppages on the part of any body of workers for any reason other than an act of God or because of circumstances beyond their control, and we earnestly petition the authorities who have the power either to enforce or to enact appropriate laws to prevent such work stoppages whether they result from strikes or other causes engineered and executed by the workers or by those elected or appointed to represent them in workers organizations.

"Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Legislative Committee of the American Legion, Department of Virginia, for proper action, and the Virginia Legionnaire, Richmond, Va., and the local newspapers for publication."

Pin-up picture for the man who "can't afford" to buy an extra war bond...

YOU'VE HEARD PEOPLE say: "I can't afford to buy an extra War Bond." Perhaps you've said it yourself... without realizing what a ridiculous thing it is to say to men who are dying.

The very least that you can do is to buy an extra $100 War Bond... above and beyond the Bonds you are now buying or had planned to buy. In fact, if you take stock of your resources, you will probably find that you can buy an extra $200... or $300... or even $500 worth of War Bonds.

Sounds like more than you "can afford"? Well, young soldiers can't afford to die, either... yet they do it when called upon. So is it too much to ask of us that we invest more of our money in War Bonds... the best investment in the world today? Is that too much to ask?
