THE GREAT INVITATION
International Sunday School Lesson
for November 20 1949

MEMORY SELECTION: "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near." Isaiah 55:6.

Lesson Text: Isaiah 55:1-11

In your study of this lesson, picture in your mind, if you will, the father of a large family. He has been to the individual members of the family everything that their hearts could desire. He has furnished them with food, shelter, clothing and the wisest counsel at all times.

Think of the agony, therefore, which this father suffers as he sees his children forsaking his counsel, despoiling his property and, seemingly, utterly ungrateful for everything which he has so lovingly provided for them.

So deep is the love that this father has for his children, however, it overshadows his disappointment and his consuming desire is to win them back to his loving and tender care.

Is there anything in the above word-picture to suggest the love which our Heavenly Father has for his children? Surely, our experience with Him and the experiences of mankind in the past, as recorded for our consideration in His Holy Word, reveals God as the father described above. Isaiah, in our lesson for this week, pictures God as pleading with His children to forsake their sinful ways and return to His loving care and guidance.

While the human race is rather self-confident and satisfied that it can manage its affairs without interference or advice, experience should have taught that this confidence is not justified by the results attained. When man has stayed close to God and has tried, as best he could, to follow the leadership of his Heavenly Father, all phases of his life have prospered. When man became cocky, self-conceited and self-assured, he has suffered the consequences.

The invitation issued by Isaiah for God should be shouted from every temple of worship and every hilltop today. Surely, this message should be repeated over and over again until men in all walks of life shall hear and respond to it—"Seek ye the Lord while he may be found; call ye upon him while he is near." How many need to hear that message today!

How may God be found? Isaiah answers this question in the seventh verse of the 55th chapter of his book: "Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto Jehovah."

Dr. W. M. Smith, Bible scholar, says if this great verse: "Here is the very center of our wonderful chapter—the climax, as it were, of the gracious invitation here extended by an infinitely loving God. Four things God asks man to do: to seek the Lord, to call upon the Lord, to forsake the ways of wickedness, to return to the Lord. Four things God promises if man will do what God asks if he seeks the Lord he will find him; if he calls upon the Lord, he will be heard; if he forsakes his way and returns unto the Lord, God will have mercy upon him; and God will abundantly pardon him.

"Man cannot save himself and God does not ask him to do so; man cannot deliver himself from the enslavement of sin; man cannot do what is right but men, no matter where they are, or however deep in sin they are, or however faces to the Lord and they can say in their own hearts that they are through with wickedness and cry to God for deliverance from sin. Really, the two go together. No man can truly turn to the Lord unless at the same time he longs to forsake his sin. On the other hand, a man who is willing to give up his sin at the same time is ready to turn to God for help."

The great restlessness prevalent in the hearts of men today would be calmed if only they would turn to God, forsaking their sins, and be guided by his word and by his son, Jesus Christ, who came into the world to give man an example of living, and died that all who believed on him could be saved to eternal living.

If believers everywhere would rededicate themselves to God and then, in turn, bring others to dedicate their lives to him, much, if not all of the trouble in the world today would be ameliorated.

More Turkeys Are Available For This Year

November is turkey time and with the U. S. Department of Agriculture reporting about 29 per cent more turkeys raised, this season than in 1948—Miss Leona Kline, home agent, pointed out that heavy turkey marketings in November are expected to see both wholesale and retail prices drop below those of a year ago.

Plenty of Cranberries
Miss Kline also said there'll be plenty of cranberries this year— from a better-than-average crop—to team with turkeys. Broilers, fryers, and stewing hens are listed as plentiful foods for November.

Pork also appears on USDA's list, for the first time in several years. Miss Kline reported last season's large corn crop, and heavy spring pig farrowing, were given as reasons for the increasing supply of pork.

Fruits Plentiful
Fruits will be well represented on the November plentiful list, with apples, grapes, and winter pears sharing the limelight with raisins and dried prunes. Plentiful vegetables will include fresh sweet potatoes, greens, cauliflower, canned corn, and canned pumpkin.

Eggs are slated for an increase in supply, and bountiful supplies of manufactured dairy products, and dried beans and peas, offer other sources of protein for fall meals. Tree nuts—almonds, pecans, walnuts and filberts—cooking fats, honey, sugar cane sirup, and molasses, also are plentiful on Southern markets.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa:

I am in love with a widower who has two children, 2 and 4 years old. I am very fond of both of them now, but do you think that they will be too much of a proposition later on. Everyone in family talks about the poor time a stepmother has.

What do you think?

ENGAGED.

Answer:

Whether or not you have a "poor time" later on will depend largely on you and your husband. The children are young enough to grow up loving you as much as they would their own mother.

If you and the father cooperate in their training, I see no reason for you to have any more trouble with them than the average parents have with their children.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I recently came to live with my son and I have tried to be a good mother-in-law by not tagging along with my children everywhere they went. But now the shoe is on the other foot and they have gotten the idea that the greatest joy in my life is to never to go anywhere but to sit home with the children while they galivant out every night. I am sick and tired of being a permanent baby sitter and I am thinking of going off and living by myself. What do you think?

GRANDMA.

Answer:

As there are always two sides to every problem, your children should make just as much effort to be considerate of you as you of them. Why don't you find something that you like to do in the evenings and let your children know that you are not going to be home every night? Get a friend and go to the movies or to a concert or lecture.

There are lots of worse things than living in your own little home, alone. You can always visit your children but it is nice to have a private place of your own when you get tired of them.

LOUISA.

To The Homemaker

November and Thanksgiving call for pumpkin pie traditionally. Why not cling to tradition and at the same time have a little variety by serving pumpkin tarts?

Here is a tested recipe that has a good spicy flavor.

Don't worry if the filling seems thin when mixed. The long cooking period and eggs both help to thicken it, and when the tarts are done, the filling has the right consistency.

Pumpkin Tarts

- 1 No. 2 can pumpkin
- 2 cups brown sugar
- 4 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tbl. butter, melted
- 1 tbl. molasses
- 1 tsp. ground cinnamon
- 3-4 tsp. ground ginger
- 1-2 tsp. ground nutmeg
- 1-2 tsp. salt

Plain Pastry

Line 16 good-sized tart tins with plain pastry. Mix the other ingredients thoroughly and fill pastry shells with the mixture. Bake about 40 minutes in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.).

Serve hot or cold. If they are served cold, spread top with a layer of whipped cream or cottage cheese.

Veterans News

Approximately 6,340,000 veterans have had some sort of GI Bill training since the law went into effect in June, 1944, according to the Veterans Administration.

Classroom studies attracted most of the ex-servicemen. More than 93 per cent were enrolled in schools, 6 per cent in job training establishments, and 1 per cent in institutional on-farm training.

College Students Youngest

The college students in age are the youngest group of veteran trainees. Their average age is 15 compared with an over-all average of 26.6 years.

Institutional on-farm trainees, with an average age of nearly 30, were the oldest. Job training averaged 27 years of age, and veterans in schools below the college level averaged 28.

The average veteran, at the time he entered training, already had three years of high school. Slightly over 50 per cent of them have one or more dependents. Ninety-nine out of every 100 veterans in training are males.

Studies Recently Completed

These are among the conclusions in a Veterans Administration study of characteristics of veterans in training under the GI Bill. The study, recently completed, was based on VA data as of November 30, 1948. The averages apply generally today, VA said.

The study revealed that 65 per cent of the veteran-trainees had had some high school training at the time they entered their GI courses. Eighteen per cent had gone to college, while 17 per cent had not progressed beyond elementary school.

Q. Will I be entitled to subsistence allowance if I enter school under the GI Bill to become an accountant?

A. If you enter training in a state-approved institution that has been in operation for more than one year, you may be eligible to receive subsistence.

Boys Trained To Fight Fires

CHARLOTTESVILLE.—In preparation for the rapidly approaching forest fire season, more than 10,000 high school boys are being trained as forest fire fighters, according to an announcement today by State Forester George W. Dean.

Crews Established

Emergency forest fire crews are being established in all rural high schools of the State and will number more than 800 when completed, according to Mr. Dean. The fire fighters, known as Keep Virginia Green crews, are made up of physically able boys who receive permission from their parents and school principals to serve whenever called for duty by state forest wardens. The KVG boys are provided equipment, transportation and are paid by the Virginia Forest Service while on duty. Their training, in addition to principles of forest fire suppression, includes forest conservation and safety.

The Virginia Forest Service regards their KVG boys not only as fire fighters but, equally important, as "fire preventers." KVG crew members don't miss an opportunity to point out the dangers of improperly extinguished matches or cigarettes, or of careless brush burning.

The trouble with the American government is that our people expect too much for too little performance.

Refunds to Veterans

Beginning in January, the Veterans Administration will distribute some $2,800,000,000 to approximately 16,000,000 veterans.

The refund represents a return of premiums paid on service life insurance policies and will range from ninety cents to $528, depending upon the amount of insurance the veteran carried and the length of time he paid premiums.

It will take some time to mail checks to all the veterans entitled to refunds. In order to be fair to all entitled to payments, the VA will use the last three digits of the veterans' serial numbers as a guide to the mailing of checks. This means that those whose serial numbers end with 000 come first, those with 001 come next and those with 999 come last. The method, it is said, places officers and men on the same basis.

Federal Deficit Ahead

An official review of the Federal budget indicates a deficit of $5,500,000,000 in this fiscal year instead of the $900,000,000 deficit forecast by the President in his January message to Congress.

The deficit is explained by an increase of $1,600,000,000 in expenditures and a prospective decline of $3,000,000,000 in receipts due to a declining national income. The other $900,000,000 represents the deficit predicted by the President last winter.

The prospective deficit compares with one of $1,800,000,000 in the 1949 fiscal year, which ended last June 30th, and surpluses of $8,400,000,000 in the 1948 fiscal year and $754,000,000 in the 1947 accounting period.

While there may be many explanations for the deficit that looms ahead, it should be apparent to the people of this country, and to those in official position, that the United States cannot operate permanently on a deficit basis. While it is impossible to say exactly how far the national debt can safely go, no gift of prophecy is necessary to state that it cannot go on forever.

Safety From Atomic Bombs

In the event of an atomic bomb explosion, you are almost sure to escape death or injury if you are four miles or more from the explosion, says Major Albert J. Bauer, of the U. S. Army Surgeon-General's office.

The Major's remarks were based upon a report which involved a study of the explosions at Hiroshima, Nagasaki and Bikini. The safest thing to do, say these experts is to stay indoors, wherever you are, unless there is a specific reason for getting outside.

In a half-mile radius of the explosion, there will be almost complete destruction and fatalities close to one hundred per cent. Outside the half-mile circle, the chances are about even that a person will escape alive.

Looking ahead to the possibility that the next war might include atomic bombing, the experts say that preparations of a community, to meet such a disaster, are about the same as might be made against conventional bombing.

6,009 Tax-Free Farm Co-Ops

According to the last official listing of the U. S. Treasury Department, there are 6,009 farmers co-operatives of all types doing business tax-free in the United States.

The Treasury estimates that the Government could collect up to $20,000,000 more in income taxes annually if Congress would plug the loophole which permits the cooperatives to escape the payment of taxes, just like other business enterprises.

The question is certain to receive some attention in Congress. Representative Noe M. Mason, of Illinois, who has made a study of coops for the House Ways and Means Committee, says that they go far beyond simply marketing farm products and that they are "big business." He points out that the largest of all American co-ops, the Cooperative Grange - League - Federation Exchange, of Ithaca, New York, has given up its tax exempt status voluntarily and paid the Government, last year, $928,000 in income taxes.

Washington Notes

DIVIDEND PAYMENTS

About 16,000,000 veterans are eligible to receive payments from the $2,800,000,000 special insurance dividend, which are to begin in January.

GI TRAINEES

The Veterans Administration has revealed that the average age of female war veterans training under the GI bill is three and a half years greater than that of male veteran students. A survey based on data gathered in 1948 listed the average of women students and trainees as 30, and that of men 26.6.

GI BILL BENEFICIARIES

A survey conducted by the Veterans Administration during the latter part of 1948 reveals that about 40 per cent of the 5,000,000 eligible World War II veterans have had some sort of GI bill training since the law went into effect in June 1944. Ninety-nine out of 100 veteran trainees are males, with only 1.3 per cent of the veterans training last November 30, or 30,000, women.

INDUSTRIAL SHIFT

An official census of manufacturers reveals that the great U. S. industrial region of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, like New England, is losing ground in relation to the United States as a whole, in manufacturing, trade, income and population. Thus, the East, once the unrivaled center of U. S. population and manufacturing, gradually is losing some of its dominance to areas once considered "backward."

FARMER'S SHARE

The Agriculture Department predicts that the farmer will probably lose three more cents of the consumer's food dollar in 1950, reflected in a sharper decline in agricultural prices than in retail prices. Taking an average share of 49 cents this year, the food producer may have to be content with an average of 46 cents next year, according to the Department. Labor costs in the food industry are expected to average higher next year, as are transportation charges.

HIGH DEATH TOLL

Unless a new incentive for safer driving and walking is found, "the nation can reconcile itself to an annual traffic death toll of around 32,000," the National Safety Council states. Traffic deaths for the first nine months of 1949 are about on a par with the same 1948 period, 22,320 as compared with 22,750 in 1948.

1949 BUSINESS

American business "is having other tremendous year in 1949," according to Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, who declared that "sensible predictions that the nation could not return to 'conditions of abundant supply without serious dislocations of the economy have proven unfounded.'"

POPULATION

The total population of the United States as of July 1st, was estimated 148,720,000, including members of the armed forces stationed in this country, according to the Census Bureau. The 1940 represented an increase of 42,051, or 12.9, since the latest full census was taken April 1, 1940. Only 4 states showed population decrease: North Dakota, Nebraska, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Montana.

BUILDING

Building hit a record high $18,800,000,000 in 1948 and is expected to rise to a new peak, $19,000,000,000 this year. Pending demands for public housing, school hospitals and highways is expected to run the total to a new record 1950.

DIVIDENDS

Dividend payments for the third quarter of 1949 were 6.5 per cent higher than for the same period of 1948 and, for the full year may exceed the record of 6.1 per cent of 1948.

Rumsey Light, Jr., and Sylvia Light were sick last week, and missed several days at Haymarket School.

Police say it happens frequently in Washington: When Robert Alvey started across the District with his truck loaded with merchandise for J. W. Alvey & Son, Catharpin, a large packing box of cigarettes topped the load. When he parked in Georgetown, the cigarettes, many cartons of them, were gone. He had stopped only for red lights.

Police believe they were stolen while he was stopped for a red light, and say similar thefts from loaded trucks are frequently made by two persons working together.

New Service
For Teachers
Is Provided

RICHMOND. — A registration service for certified degree teachers, who are not now employed, has been established by the Virginia Education Association, Robert F. Williams, executive secretary, announces.

This service, which will be operated without charge, is intended to provide replacements for teaching vacancies which occur during the school year.

Due to Shortage

Because of the acute shortage of teachers, resignations often result in children being taught for long periods by unqualified individuals. It is believed that such a registration service will help relieve this undesirable situation.

Prospective registrants should immediately write Virginia Education Association, 401 North Ninth St., Richmond.

TWO MISTAKES
SOUTH PASADENA, Calif.—William R. Livingstone, 29, made two mistakes recently: 1. Burglarizing a cleaning establishment; and taking a suit of clothes belonging to Police Capt. Robert Blakely, and 2. sending the suit to the same plant to be pressed. Captain Blakely gave the case his personal attention.

Robert Ryan is to have the starring role in "Made With Much Heart," the Gerald Smith novel which RKO bought. It's a love story with some real fast-action. Its British background will be shifted to New England for the film.

As soon as Kent Smith, who is here for "The Victim," with Joan Crawford, finishes work he returns to New York to do "Good House Keeping" on the stage.

Betty Hutton, who had never danced before Fred Astaire taught her the steps for "Let's Dance," has decided to go on with her terpsichorean training. She says it's a great weight reducer. She dropped from 134 to 117 pounds during the shooting of the production.

Lauren Bacall has been suspended again by Warner Brothers, this time for refusing to appear in a picture titled "Storm Center." She's getting to quite a "storm center" herself at Warners.

Sally Frest has been rediscovered by Metro. She was under contract by that studio but released. Ida Lupino discovered her and gave her the acting leads in "Not Wanted" and "Never Fear." Metro, realizing their mistake, grabbed her back and now is testing her for starring roles in two pictures.

Haymarket

By Mrs. A. H. Meyer

The executive committee of the Haymarket P.T.A. met Tuesday in the library of the school. Final plans were made for the annual turkey and oyster supper to be held December 9, of which Mrs. N. Lightner is chairman.

Room mothers of the Haymarket School have started to entertain their respective rooms. Last week Mrs. V. Wood entertained Mrs. Janet Russell's first grade in honor of her son, Roy Wood, on his seventh birthday.

The following teachers attended the State Teachers Convention held recently at John Marshall High School in Richmond: Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Carter, Miss Dorothy Taber, Miss Janet Russell, Miss Isabel Dickinson, Mrs. R. Terrill, Mrs. W. Corder, Mrs. J. E. Norman and Mrs. L. Lynn.

The movie "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," sponsored by the S. O. A. was shown last Friday by Edward F. Cross in the school auditorium and was most enjoyable. The most outstanding and colorful scene was that of the Apple Blossom Festival and the most interesting scenes were of the birds in their natural surroundings.

Juanita Eckles, Martha Dawson, Betty Garman and Homer Jenkins sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

The principal, Mr. C. G. Carter, and all the teachers have joined the National Education Association, N. E. A.; the Virginia Education Association, V. E. A.; and the local Prince William County Teachers' Association. So Haymarket School has 100 per cent membership in these organizations.

Last week being National Education Week, there were approximately 40 mothers who visited the various rooms at school. However, parents are welcome to visit the school at any time.

The confirmation services held in St. Paul's Church last Sunday were most impressive. The Right Rev. F. D. Goodwin, D. D., Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Virginia administered the Sacred Rite of Confirmation to Barbara Polten Piercy, Homer Allison and Tommy Lightner. The sermon was delivered by the Right Rev. Arthur Lea, D. D., a Canadian bishop who has served many years in Japan.

Armistice Day guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Utterback were Mr. H. S. Herrell, Mr. Russell Herrell and Mr. Calvin Herrell.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Carter of Broad Run Lodge entertained as their guest, Mrs. Carter's cousin, Mr. C. A. Leake, who is special inspector for the Spur Distributing Co., of Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Fewell Melton and sons and Mrs. E. Thomas visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Megath in Aldie last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smallwood of Cherrydale were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Mrs. Viola Gray.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rust on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. John Douglass and daughter from Buckingham Courthouse and Mrs. Winter Powers and children from Woodbridge.

Virginia and Ann Carroll from Washington were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gossom on Sunday.

The Home Demonstration Club will meet in the Fire Hall November 25 at 1:30 p.m. at which time

Construction On Route 233 To Begin Soon

Plans for a 15-mile road improvement project on Route 233 in Fauquier County were revealed last week by the State Highway Department.

Construction will grade the old road to a uniform width, straighten curves and ease grades where practicable, and surface with a heavy stabilized base and bituminous top, from Catlett to Morrisville.

To Work This Winter Highway District Engineer R. I. Mount said that only work that will not disturb the existing highway will be done this winter. Present plans, he said, call for crushing and stock-piling stone for the base course and relocating several long curves during the winter months.

In the spring when work can be done along the old road, without serious inconvenience to traffic, full scale operations will be started on the widening and improvement work.

The road will be rebuilt by forces from Construction Camp No. 11, who are now doing other work in the Culpeper highway district.

Super market rise is set at $6.00 by 1950 in nation.
