Feature of the Week:

This Is The Place, Noted Conservationist Says After Years of Systematic Searching For Home

By Mrs. Wallace Rion

"For years we conducted a systematic search for a country home, in every direction from Washington. Finally last year we found this farm near Catharpin, and we said like the Mormons when they reached Utah, 'This is the Place.'"

So said Michael Hudoba, Washington and associate editor of SPORTS AFIELD and internationally known conservationist, in telling the story of how, once again, Prince William County became home.

Mrs. Hudoba and his young wife, Frances Dunken Hudoba, who looks like the fashion editor for a "slick," but actually works with her husband on the sportsman's magazine, moved to their farm just off Highway 234 near Sudley Church, last year.

Tribute Describes Search
Ted Kesting, editor of SPORTS AFIELD, described the successful search in a recent tribute to Mr. Hudoba published in his own column in the magazine—a tribute which contained also a tribute to Prince William County:

"Up until last year (Hudoba) lived in an apartment right in downtown Washington, but that had him working practically 24 hours a day. He now has a small farm in the beautiful, historic Bull Run battleground area of Virginia.

THANKSGIVING

In the Year of Our Lord, 1949

This is America's own day, the bounty paid
In thanks to God for more than daily bread.
More than the meager loaf, enough to share . . .
Our harvest feast across the world is spread.

Across the seas we speak to countless guests,
"Be strong, and walk in peace." The human race Must heed the call to prayer with the host.
"Give us this day, this thankful day of grace."

First Prizes Of Manassas Mart Given

In last week's Mart drawing, Lee King of Bristow, John Parrish, C. C. Miller and Fanny Braxton won the $25, $15, $7.50 and $5, respectively, to become the first winners of the contest.

Because the winners were not present when the announcement was made Thursday evening in all Mart stores, they will be sent half of the amount, with the remainder going towards the grand prize to be given the week before Christmas.

Some Cards Nullified.
N. T. McManaway, originator of the plan, says that some persons are still forgetting to put their complete address and name on the cards but that persons from this area and as far away as Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington and Leesburg are taking part in the contest.

Cards incorrectly filled out are not used in the drawing.

1,000 Collected Saturday
Last Saturday over 1,000 cards were collected from Mart merchants which is as much as was collected for the first drawing.

Since no purchase is necessary to enter the contest, a person may deposit one coupon per day at any or all of the Mart stores and thus increase his chance for the prizes and at the same time see the effort the merchants of this community are making in supplying this community with Christmas items.

Colonel Uses Mine Detectors To Find Civil War Souvenirs

CATHARPIN.—After walking over three Civil War battlefields with a mine detector Saturday, Col. C. L. Nelson, U. S. Marine Corps, of Catharpin, warned again that anyone keeping Civil War shells as souvenirs should turn them in to be destroyed.

Colonel Nelson and a group from Washington Saturday found various types of shells and pieces of shells when they toured the battlefields of Chancellorsville, the Wilderness and Spotsylvania. None of them were explosive.

In previous field trips, he accompanied a Navy mine disposal unit and an Army demolition team in an examination of the Fort Sedgwick and Cedar Mountain battle areas, and Colonel Nelson has used the mine detector in examining the Sudley Springs area on his own place and the Groveton field.

Steel Balls Found
Minnie balls (rifle cartridges), pieces of mortar shells, and the small steel balls, some an inch in diameter, with which the mortar shells were loaded, have been uncovered.

At Cedar Mountain the units found explosives—an eight-pounder and a 12-pounder. These shells, as so many which are kept as souvenirs, were fired during the Civil War. They failed to explode because of faulty fuses, but their explosives were still active.

Such shells may be turned in to the Blood Mobile Unit which will be at Quantico School December 19.

A spaghetti and meat ball lunch and supper will be held by the Edith Lacey Circle on December 3, at Grace Methodist Church.

Social Security Benefits Total $2,359 Monthly For County

ALEXANDRIA.—The Alexandria field office of the Social Security Administration today released its annual figures showing that monthly old-age and survivors insurance benefits are being paid to 130 residents of Prince William County. The total monthly amount of these benefits is $2,359.

This represents an increase of about 30 per cent in the number of beneficiaries at the same time last year. In the State of Virginia 41,500 residents are receiving a total of approximately $722,000 each month.

"The benefits are paid as a matter of right and are based on employment in jobs covered by the Social Security Act," said Mr. R. E. Parsons, acting manager of the Alexandria office.

Breakdown Given
A breakdown of the benefits amounts being paid in Prince William County shows that $1,408 in monthly benefits is being paid to 59 residents 65 years of age or over who have retired from covered employment; $183 monthly to 17 65-year-old wives of these same workers; $462 monthly to 40 minor children; $150 monthly to seven widows under 65 who have young children in their care, and $156 to seven widows 65 and over.

As benefits cannot begin until a claim is filed, Mr. Parsons suggested that retired persons 65 or over who have worked in employment covered by social security contact the office promptly to determine their rights to benefits.

The survivors of deceased persons who have worked in jobs covered by the law should also get in touch with the office within three months from the date of death in order to avoid loss of benefits.

The Alexandria office of the Social Security Administration is located at 519 First Street. Telephone TEmpire 8805.

Minimum Needed For 11 Schools Set At $1,965,500

At a joint meeting of the Board of County Supervisors and the School Board of Prince William County, held last Thursday, authorization was made to make application to the Literary Fund of Virginia for $1,965,500 which it was generally agreed was absolutely necessary in order to meet the minimum needs of the Prince William County Schools.

Under No Obligation

It was clearly the understanding, however, of both boards, that the County would not actually be obligated to borrow any portion of this money except on further action of both boards. Action would then be taken only on the basis of priority of need, after a determination has been made by the forthcoming session of the General Assembly on the amount of money that will be made available to the localities through State grants.

The Board of Supervisors and Education are unwilling, irrevocably, to obligate this County to any hard and fast financial program until it is definitely known how much money will be made available on an outright grant basis from State funds.

Figures Believed Accurate
The State Board of Education will probably be called upon by the General Assembly to estimate the maximum needs throughout the State, and the figures in the table given are considered by the Board of Supervisors and the County School Board accurately to reflect the total amount that will be required to bring Prince William County abreast of the present needs of the County as well as to permit a reasonable future growth.

No requests are included for McGrae or Antioch Schools, pending conferences and agreements between the School Board, school patrons and the State Board of Education.

Neighborly Yours

By Maggi Marchand Brown

Lets go through my mail today and find out what folks are doing in far-away places.

A friend at the Hacienda dos Olivos, in Colombia, S. A., has to travel five miles by horseback to the nearest open road. "My husband, children and I are very happy on our lost plantation," she writes. "For a hobby we have started a book-binding shop. By using leather, wall paper and calico, our old library has a sprightly new look." Erika teaches the Indians and her books have had hard wear for years.

Letter From Germany

The most delightful foreign letter starts off with a water-color drawing of a gleeful little boy in an old-fashioned wooden laundry tub. He is paddling around the cellar, making the most of a flood.

The artist and writer is Inge Ritter, a Bavarian girl, who is a draftsman for the Military Government of Germany by day and the maker of doll peasant dolls by night.

Discusses Bath

"Do you know the wonderful story of the Bath on Saturday Evening," which Wilhelm Burch wrote and painted? Inge asks me. "Well, I have just experienced such a story. Last evening I went down to the cellar to do my washing, and after hours of hard work I walked very satisfied upstairs to have the use of the rest of the evening."

"But after I started carving the face of a doll, I heard water running, and I rushed down to the laundry. A broken pipe. . . That room was overflowed with water. What a view! All washing tubs and pails were swimming around merrily, and my little brother became a great sailor at the head of a strange fleet."

"At first, this matter raised all the hair on my head, but then I had to laugh at the bold admiral."

As long as we can laugh everything is not without hope."

Baroness Writes

Another letter is from the Baroness von Wintzingerode, whose castle near the Czech-Slovakian border was built in 1238 A. D. There St. Elizabeth lived for two years, in banishment, high on a windswept mountain.

Even now the only convenience within huge old Pottenstein Castle is a had pump in the kitchen, and the rooms are immense and bitterly cold in winter. During this summer the Baroness opened her ancient castle to visitors, and with the help of her young son and daughter has kept a coffee garden on the rose-bordered terrace. The war left them penniless, but now they are making a fair living by showing the relics at Pottenstein.

Seot Describes Conference

From Geneva, Switzerland, has come a letter from a Scotsman who is attending a diplomatic conference for the protection of civilians in wartime.

"Our successful efforts to protect civilians have been due to combined work of your countrymen, the Canadians and British to show a united front on all important questions," he says. "Robert W. Ginnane, of Arlington, Va., assistant to the Attorney General, has proved the perfect co-operator of the conference."

An American attorney, practicing international law in France, complains that he must stand in line half an hour to buy a postage stamp or a token for use in telephoning.

The Parisians are worried about the kind of bombs for another war and are afraid of cosmic rays. And yet a French scientist told Mr. Sullivan that all the cosmic rays taken together could not lift an ordinary lead pencil an inch. "In any case," Sullivan advises, "Prince William County is the place to stay."

If you have the money to buy, and a good salesman is on your trail, you might as well take to the hills.

Miss Emily Luncford Weds Seargeant Emmitt Goodnight

NOKEVILLE—Oakdale Baptist Church was the picturesque setting of the wedding on November 16, of Miss Emily Doris Luncford, daughter of Mr. W. R. Luncford, and M.-Sgt. Emmitt Goodnight.

Amid the glow of candles and embankment of ferns and chrysanthemums at the rostrum beneath a large picture of Christ, the couple exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Guy Heyl, pastor of the Warrenton Baptist Church.

Mrs. Cleveland Flory played the wedding music and then sang "O Promise Me" and "Because," accompanied by Miss Marie Kerlin. Mr. T. H. Carrico, who with his family, are good friends of the bride, gave her away.

Mothers Pin Worn

The bride was attired in a suit of Copenhagen blue and a sheer white blouse with navy accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses and carried a white prayer book.

As something old but considered very precious in the bride's sight was a lovely Martha Washington pin belonging to her mother who passed away a number of years ago. The pin has been handed down to the girl in each generation in the family who has the name Dora.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Doris Carrico, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Carrico, who was attired in a suit of grey with navy blue accessories. She had as flowers a corsage of red roses.

IN MEMORIAM
Of Bessie Pearl Spinks who departed life on November 25, 1944.
A door swung briefly open,
And a loved one slipped away,
Slipped from life's dark shadows
Into bright, eternal day.

Where earthly griefs are over,
Where pain can be no more,
To peace past understanding,
God had opened wide the door.

Kenlan Red Clover
Is Now Available

Farmers who are interested in trying Kenland or Northern Neck red clovers this year are urged to get in touch with their county agents as soon as possible.

Extension Service officials at V.
P. I. say a limited amount of seed for the two clovers—both relatively new in Virginia—will be available for the next planting season.

Northern Neck is a Virginia native. Kenland was developed in Kentucky. Both are high yielders.

Veterans News

More than one-third of all National Service Life Insurance policies issued were still in force on September 1 of this year, according to the Veterans Administration.
The active policies numbered 7,220-000 and their total face value added up to 41 billion, 500 million dollars.
The total number of National Service Life Insurance policies issued since the NSLI program went into effect in October 1940, is in excess of 20,000,000.

Two-Thirds Have Applied
In a statistical report, the Veterans Administration announced that approximately two-thirds of all World War II veterans have applied for education or training under the GI Bill. From the time the law went into effect in June, 1944, until October 1 of this year, more than 10,000,000 veterans had applied.

The number of living veterans on the VA disability compensation and pension rolls totaled 2,326,630 as of October 1. Included were 595 Indian War, 22 Civil War, 97,526 Spanish-American War, 490,028 World War I, 51,146 Regular Establishment, and 1,687,313 World War II veterans.

Nearly three-fourths of all those receiving compensation benefits or retirement pay are veterans of World War II.

Q. As a World War veteran with a bad conduct discharge, am I entitled to any benefits under the GI Bill.

A. You should contact your nearest Veterans Administration office for a decision as to whether you were discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. Or you may apply to the armed service from which you received your bad conduct discharge for a review of your discharge under Section 301 of the GI Bill.

Q. I am now receiving compensation from VA but feel that I should be getting more. Can you advise me as to who may assist me in presenting my claim before the VA rating board?

A. Any organization accredited under P. L. 844, 74th Congress, any attorney or agent recognized by VA or a VA contact representative may present your claim before the VA rating board. VA will recognize anyone you want to represent you in your particular claim providing he files a proper power-of-attorney with the office where your claim is located and a statement that no fee will be charged for the service rendered.

cers of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard must have served honorably for at least one

September 2, 1945. Also personnel

the Army or Navy for a year dur-

FRANK COSTS LIFE
HAMPSTEAD, Md.—As Franklin
M. Wolfe, 13-year-old county youth, and a friend, Joseph Utz, 13, rode a ferris wheel at the Hampstead Volunteer Firemen's carnival, the boy reached out to catch hold of an electric wire as they passed it.
The first touch slightly burned his finger. The next time around, young Franklin succeeded in grabbing the wire, which carried a load of 4,400 volts, causing an explosion in the transformer box and plunging the carnival into darkness.

Rushed to a hospital, he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Turkeys Keep Couple Busy

CATHARPIN—Dressing and marketing at retail about one-third of their flock of 200 Narragansett turkeys, Mr. and Mrs. Stonewall Omera have been busy this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Omera, whose farm is about one and half miles, west of Stone House on High 234, have been raising turkeys for about twenty years, and for several years have had one of the largest flocks in the Catharpin area or in Prince William county. They term this year a "pretty good turkey year," say they had a good hatch, very few losses, and that prices, while not as good as last year, are not too bad.

Changed to Narragansett. The Omera's have been raising Browns, but this year changed to the slate gray Narragansett. The Manassas Hatchery incubates their own eggs for them, and this year they got from their first hatch 90 poult out of 105 eggs.

They dress their own birds, market most of them through the Alexandria Farmers Market, sell a few within the area.

Other turkey raisers in the Catharpin area are Will Brower, Mrs. P. L. Huffman, C. O. Poland, Mrs. Lester Anderson, Miss Evelyn Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Spencer.

Generally speaking, a small percent of turkeys in the area are going on Thanksgiving dinner tables, and most of them are being held for the Christmas market.

What a picture he makes—that small, bright little charmer—all dressed up in Pop's cast-offs. But one of these days, not too far off, he's going to need some dress-up clothes of his own, a home to receive friends and a good education. And as you know, these things cost money. U. S. Local Man Present At Ship Commissioning Lawrence R. Kruse, AS, USN, of Haymarket, participated November 5 in the commissioning of the destroyer USS Robert A. Owens, the Navy's newest anti-submarine "killer" destroyer, at the Boston Naval Shipyard Annex, South Boston, Mass.

The development of this destroyer in the increased emphasis on anti-submarine warfare by the Navy, was designed to combat the development of the high submerged speed type 21 submarine by the Germans.

BLACKSBURG. — Ranking first in 1948 milk production out of 36 Virginia Dairy Herd Improvement Associations, the Prince William DHIA averaged 8,256 pounds of milk per cow.

The average for the 36 DHIA's for 20,198 cow years (number of cows tested for a year) was 7,858 pounds of milk, testing an average of 4.3 per cent butterfat, and 336 pounds of butterfat.

SHE REFUSES $100,000

LONDON.—There is $100,000 waiting for 69-year-old Alice Davies, but she does not want it. The money was bequeathed to her by her aunt, Ethel Davies, who died in New York at the age of 91. She says, "I'm too old to worry about claiming the money and I'm happy as I am."

CONCRETE FARM BUILDINGS

With need for every pound of food produced, the nation cannot afford the loss of millions of dollars in feed, chicks and eggs destroyed each year by rats.

Rats can be controlled—with the aid of concrete. Ratproof and sanitary, fireproof and thrifty . . . concrete is particularly well suited for granaries, poultry and hog houses, barn and feeding floors, milk houses and cooling tanks, manure pits and other structures needed for increased food production.

There is no shortage of concrete materials for farm construction, repairs and improvements.

Concrete farm buildings are moderate in first cost. They offer sanitation, fireproof and lifetime service at low annual cost.

If you need help, get in touch with your concrete contractor or your building material dealer. Write for free booklet, "Restoring Old Farm Buildings with Concrete."

Happenings in Nokesville

By Mrs. Fred Shepherd

David Weimer's Motette of Washington thrilled a large audience on Monday night in the Nokesville church of the Brethren, with their beautiful spiritual concert.

Among our "own" Nokesville residents, George and Lynn Herring, of whom sang solos during the singing, there was Eleanor Orlin, an Fischer, Shirley Repass, June Ann, Louis Caterion, Carol Hampton, Doris Jordan, Janet R. D. Royce Boyer, Bennett and Edith Miller, Franklin Weimer, Eddie Caterion.

The latter also presided ably at the piano and electric organ. A number of the singers were young in their teens. They had offered to come and give the concert, but they might help with the festival. It was certainly a climax for the three days of festival.

Following the services Mrs. Carlin assisted by Mrs. Floyd L. served refreshments to the guests.

The ladies of the Nokesville church of the Brethren have so much to be thankful for this Thanksgiving Day of 1949. On Sunday, after figuring up their finances, of which realized by their church during the Harvest Festival, ladies found that they will have $100 to give to the building debt, and different organizations of the church and individuals present their offerings as part of the homecoming Sunday morning.

The ladies have worked very hard the past year. They have given much toward other projects, bought a lot of equipment for their new kitchen, that they have thought to say "Thanks" this holiday season.

On Sunday there will be an all-church meeting at the church. The worship at the noon hour when everyone will share their picnic picnics is something to look forward to, followed by an afternoon picnic. Everyone is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Richey and his brother, Mr. Millard Richey and his son have moved on farm where George Reedy works. Richey and his oldest son, who is going to manage the farm.

The Older D. Mitchell of Nokesville are planning to spend Thanksgiving with the Harold Hopkins. Mr. O. D. Landes entered the University of Virginia Hospital at Charlottesville on Monday.

You will receive the 1949 Christmas seals from Mrs. Grover Brown. The T. B. Association asks for financial help just this year. Remember "when you lick a Christmas seal you help lick tuberculosis."

The seniors have $110 more in their treasury as a result of their presentation of their play "Granddad Steps Out." The young folks entertained the audience for about two hours and it seemed everyone enjoyed every minute of it. Between scenes we were entertained by piano selections by Joanne Free and Christabelle Tolson, a vocal solo by Elizabeth Fitzwater, and a trumpet solo by Mary Hooker. The latter two were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Nunzia Barbera. The play was directed by the senior sponsor, Miss Hattie Mae Partlow.

We enjoyed so much meeting again the Rev. L. C. Messick, now pastor of the Second Church of Martinsburg, W. Va. He was the speaker each night last week at the Buckhall E. U. B. Church. The Rev. Mr. Messick is the oldest pastor in the Virginia Conference. He is still unusually active, despite his 70-plus age. The Rev. Mr. Messick and his family came to the Manassas charge in 1916. The first Sunday they "came home for dinner" with the Bowmans who then lived near Aiden. He and his family lived in Nokesville until the present parsonage for the charge was bought in Manassas. The four Messick children, two boys and two girls are grown now and have families of their own. Their faithful "Gertrude" is still with Mr. and Mrs. Messick who now own their own nice home in Martinsburg.

Keep in mind the Bazaar the ladies of the W. S. C. S. are planning on December 8, at the Fire Hall. The ladies have been busy sewing for this event and a turkey plate supper will be served in the evening for 75c, plus dessert and coffee.

Grubs Hurt Cattle Hides

BLACKSBURG—Virginia farmers bear a sizeable share of the $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 annual damage to hides by cattle grubs in the United States, says John Amos, extension entomologist at VPI.

Mr. Amos said nearly a third of all cattle hides produced in the nation are damaged by grubs, and that loss of beef and milk in addition to hide damage probably boosts the annual loss to between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000.

Some time between November 15 and January 15, the grubs will migrate through the animal's muscle layers and come to rest under the skin on their backs.

Become Legless Grub

There, the larva cuts a small hole where it continues to grow and becomes a legless grub. The body of the cow begins to isolate the invading grub by forming a pocket around it. It is at this time that treatment for control should be given.

Amos recommends rotenone washes, sprays or dusts, listing the spray method as the most practical if a large number of cattle are to be treated. The first treatment should be made about a month after the first bumps appear on the backs of cattle, with additional treatments at 30-day intervals.

He advises farmers to buy rotenone materials now so they will be on hand when needed.

Crop Train To Be Shown In Miniature

On display from Wednesday through Friday at Cokes Pharmacy next week will be the CROP Friendship Train, in miniature. It will also be on display at the large sale to be held next Saturday at the Manassas Livestock Market.

The train has two boxcars, symbolizing the car of dried milk and the car of corn which is Prince William's 1949 goal.

Will Go to Richmond When the local drive is completed, the two miniature cars will be sent to Richmond, to be displayed on the State Friendship Train at the State Capitol.

From there they will go to Chicago, to be assembled with a national Friendship Train. After a national dedication, the cars will be sent around the world.

Chances of filling both cars is good, according to a statement made by County Chairman Wilmer Kline, at a meeting of the County Committee Tuesday night.

$1300 Collected Approximately $1300 in cash is already in hand, and proceeds of the sale may reach or pass the goal set.

Sale bills have been distributed widely, showing that livestock, lard, eggs, cured meats, canned goods, poultry, fancy work, and grains will be on sale.

The sale will open with a brief

This Is The Place, Noted Conservationist Says

year to get old enough to be seated.

The conservationist came to Washington and worked as an examiner for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. He also met Frances Dunkin of Waco, Texas, and went down to Texas to marry her. "All those Texans, hundreds of them, and I thought how many friends Frances had. Then I find they invited only up to first cousins!"

It was Frances who sort of pushed him into going back into writing. When he threw down a Washington Daily News after reading his outdoor column, said, "Such a drive! I could do better myself," she said "Well, why don't you then?"

Wrote Column

So he did. Writing the Daily News column for awhile, he began to think it was such a pity that all the Washington news on conservation was nowhere collected in print. So he explained to Sports Afield how it really should be covered. They said, Write us a trial column of 400 words." He wrote 3000, two months later had his name on the masthead as associate editor, and has been at it ever since.

For in all those years of hunting and fishing he found, as every sportsman does, that fish and game were growing scarcer.

He found the reasons too, and was led into his current passion for conservation. For he realized that not only can game and fish not multiply in a land where streams are polluted and soil fertility is allowed to blow away with the wind and wash away with the rains, but that neither can human beings multiply and live happily in such a land.

Attended U. N. Conference
Explaining this conviction in his speech to the United Nations conference at Lake Success last fall, he said, "The difference in a turn of the furrow on the headwater of a rivulet touches the man dredging oysters two thousand miles off, and in between materializes the story of a lost farm, hungers a child in a distant city, adds to the tax levy of the manufacturer, impoverishes a church, and sires a governmental problem."

"We are feeding the world now," he says, "But we are dissipating our own resources at such a rate that we cannot long continue to feed either the world or ourselves unless conservation measures receive vastly increased attention. We are cutting more timber than we are growing. We are using up the top nine inches of top soil, in which civilization is rooted. Our water level is falling. The fight for conservation is a desperate fight, and advances must be speedy and steady."

Commends County Farmers

In Prince William County, he said, men are still taking crops and putting beef on cattle from soil that has been farmed for about 150 years, because in this section men have had a care for the soil. They know that if they are to keep taking from the soil enough to support their families and their schools and their churches, they must nail the top soil to the land and feed the soil itself. It is not everywhere so.

At present, Mr. Hudoba is a member of more than twenty-one organizations concerned with promoting conservation. He is the secretary for Outdoor Writers Association of America, composed of 1250 columnists on outdoor subjects. He is one of the directors of the National Park Organization, the director of the Federation of Sportsman's Clubs, an organization of 9000 sportsman's clubs actively interested in conservation and is a member of the Association for the Advancement of Science, the National Association for Conservation Education and Publicity, and so on throughout the long list.

And most proudly he says he is a member of the Izaak Walton Chapter of Prince William County.
