

Coles District Fire Company Organized; Citizens Will Ask County For Truck, Equipment

Cole's Magisterial District, the only major section of Prince William County without fire protection, has organized a volunteer fire department, and spokesmen for the district will wait on the Board of Supervisors at their next meeting with a petition for a grant to be used for fire equipment.

At a meeting at Samsky's Store, Independent Hill, Monday night, E. L. Herring was elected first president of the Independent Hill Fire Department of Cole's District, and Bill Reid was named chief and electrician of the company.

Other officers selected were John Samsky, assistant chief; Charlie Chupko, captain; Carlin Posey, first lieutenant and assistant electrician; Mickey Shullock, second lieutenant; Ray E. Wood, secretary-treasurer; Lawrence Runion and C. S. Johnson, engineers; Frank Samsky, assistant engineer; Franklin Keys, first aid man, and Andrew E. Samsky, recording secretary.

Armed with a petition signed by nearly 125 residents of Cole's District, officials of the fire company will go before the supervisors to ask for a truck, a 1,000-gallon tank and a pumping apparatus.

According to Andrew Samsky, an estimated 15 business establishments and about 500 farms and homes will be protected by their own fire company for the first time if the supervisors grant the request for aid.

Samsky told The Journal that at least three homes, destroyed by fire in the last two years, could have been saved had there been a fire company in the district. At present, Cole's District residents must depend on aid from volunteer companies located at Manassas, Triangle, Nokesville or Occoquan.

Another meeting of the new fire company is scheduled for Friday at Samsky's store, when Chief John Peety, of the Triangle-Dumfries fire company, and President R. S. Hall, of the Occoquan-Woodbridge-Lorton organization, will give the Cole's company pointers on operation of a fire fighting unit.

Signatories to the petition include: Mrs. Dorothy Keys, Mrs. Virginia J. Miller, Russell E. Cornwell, E. L. Herring, Floyd Davis, Andrew E. Samsky, Joseph C. Cornwell, John A. Gaba, Joseph G. Samsky, Nellie Davis, Minnie Posey, James B. Cole, H. F. Keys;

Unions Eye Farm Labor Of Manassas

Labor unions are making a drive to organize the farm workers of Prince William County. Representatives of organized labor have been quietly endeavoring to develop information for a membership drive among the dairy workers, particularly around Manassas, and among the first employer to be approached was W. T. Thomasson, one of the best known of Prince William County.

Mr. Thomasson reported on Tuesday that a labor organizer from Richmond had appeared at his dairy on Route 28, west of Manassas, and began questioning him as to the number of hours his help worked, what wages he paid and other questions about working conditions.

Mr. Thomasson asked the man, who did not give his name, if he wanted the information because he, instead of Mr. Thomasson, intended to pay the men's wages. To this the man replied, "If you don't want to cooperate, then someone will see you with whom you will want to cooperate."

Mr. Thomasson said the man's attitude was aggressive but he appeared to have been in contact with some of Mr. Thomasson's employees endeavoring to get additional information. Some of the men have been employed at Mr. Thomasson's dairy for more than ten years.

Unionization of workers in Prince William County began in other fields also during the present week. The Manassas Journal was notified by a printer of the Washington Typographical Union that the Washington union had taken jurisdiction over Manassas and that printers would be required to get $90 a week salary and work only 37½ hours. For years Manassas has been considered to be outside the required affiliation with the Typographical Union and its print shops, like most weekly newspaper establishments of the country, operated on an open shop basis, mixing union and non-union printers together.

The advent of labor organizers into the farm area was a development that dairymen considered a serious problem due to the fact that farm work is controlled by fluctuating conditions not found in industrial localities.

The Fine Arts Section of the Woman's Club of Manassas voted to contribute $5.00 to the Osborn High School band at its meeting held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. W. L. Lloyd. The club announced its plans to sell tickets to the National Flower Show in Washington March 23-29.

Speakers at the meeting were Mrs. Paul Coker whose topic was "Women Poets in the United States" and Mrs. Frank Cox who spoke on "Women Painters in the United States."

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Katie Lewis and Mrs. Clark Wood.

$7000 Jump In Town's Budget

Town Manager James Ritter will submit a budget of approximately $124,000 for the 1950 fiscal year to Town Council at its regular meeting Monday night. This is an increase of about $7,000 over the 1949 Town budget. The budget for 1948 was $102,000.

Electric power will represent both the largest single revenue and expenditure. The Town will collect about $37,000 in the coming year from its subscribers and will pay the REA about $36,000 for the raw power. The difference of $21,000 goes for maintenance, replacement, extension of lines, and debt retirement.

Other revenues are expected to be $15,000 from water, $9,000 from business licenses, $21,000 from real estate taxes, $5,000 from ABC allotment, and $27,000 from miscellaneous revenues.

Battle Not To Be at Sewage Demonstration

Although extended an invitation to attend the official opening of the Manassas town sewage disposal plant on March 14, Governor Battle wrote the town council yesterday afternoon, that he would like to be present but at this time could not attend. Perhaps on some other occasion he wrote. The letter will be received today by the town council. The information was given to The Journal by the governor's secretary Wednesday afternoon.

Invitations to the dedication ceremonies of the sewage treatment plant have been sent to many persons. The ceremonies will be held at four o'clock and include a demonstration of the automatic operational devices on the plant. Several prominent guests will give interest.

Ack-Ack Unit Is Discussed

Possibilities for the organization of an anti-aircraft battery of the Virginia National Guard in Manassas were discussed at a meeting of interested citizens last night in Legion Hall.

M. S. Burchard reported that the American Legion Post 158 has received several letters from Major General S. Gardner Waller, adjutant general of the Virginia National Guard, indicating that he would be favorably disposed to recommend Manassas as the site of one battery of a proposed Northern Virginia anti-aircraft battalion.

Requirements for battery headquarters would include, Gen. Waller wrote, a building suitable for close order drilling, locker and shower rooms, strong room for storage of arms, offices, a classroom, and an adjacent open field.

Farm Youth Here Celebrate National Future Farmer Week; Stage Plough Contest March 1

What Two Future Farmers Say

At the request of The Manassas Journal, two vocational agriculture students of Brentsville District High School, members of the Future Farmers of America, have contributed articles on their respective fields of agricultural interest. In observance of National FFA Week, their articles are printed below:

Dairy Offers Varied Work

By Eric Mauck

I have always been interested in farming, mainly because I have always lived on a farm and you just can't live on a farm and not be interested in it. Up until this time I really hadn't thought very much about one specific type of farming. After studying some of the advantages and disadvantages of some of the various types of farming it suddenly dawned upon me that of the various types, dairy farming is far more interesting than any other.

Dairy farming offers more of a variety of work. The dairy farmer not only works with cows but he also is a producer of grain. There are many secondary crops and varieties of livestock that fit very well into the program of work on the dairy farm and also convert the surplus and residues of the farm products into a very profitable cash income for the farmer.

There are on every farm certain waste feeds which do not have a direct and ready cash market. Milk or cream, on the other hand, is always in demand and possesses a direct cash value. It is economic and important that these waste feeds be utilized. Since the dairy cow is capable of using such feeds with a higher degree of efficiency than other farm animals, it is only natural that dairy farming would be a much more interesting and desirable type of farming.

Dairy farming also provides a continuous cash income. Many farms are less productive and less profitable than they could be made to be if the operator had more capital at his disposal. The dairy business is one which supplies a continuous income and therefore in a sense it provides its own operating capital. In other words, a dairy farmer always has the milk check coming in regularly, whereas the other types of farmer get their income almost entirely in one lump and if this isn't sufficient then he probably will go into debt.

Farm products, especially roughages, are very bulky. It is desirable that they be consumed near where they are produced and a less bulky product marketed in their place. Dairy products, especially cream, are not very bulky and therefore offer an advantage in marketing.

Also in order to conserve the fertility of the soil it is almost necessary to produce some legume crops that are quite bulky. The conversion into milk or butterfat on the farm solves the problem of getting these bulky products to market and also makes a higher cash income for

All Have Stake In Saving Soil

(See EDITORIAL, Page 8)

By Lloyd Green

Soil conservation is the science of preserving our natural resources. Soil is the major means of wealth for an individual person, for a state, country, and for the world.

Conservation of our soil does not mean ur 'soil' only. It also means our forest, and natural resources such as our mineral deposits, and coal.

To conserve our soils we must control erosion. There is no excuse for erosion. Erosion is like sin; you can accuse erosion as much as you like and still not hurt anyone's feeling. We're all against soil erosion and even if we weren't we wouldn't admit it. There are farms all over America that have been ruined by soil erosion. It needn't happen to another farm if we use only four tools which have proved their ability to stop erosion.

The first is organic matter. If soil is high in organic matter, it absorbs rain fall readily, like a sponge. There is much less likelihood of soil erosion when small granules of earth are held together by the organic matter in the soil.

The second tool is contouring and terracing, for slopes too steep for organic matter to handle alone. Contour lines and terraces won't do the job alone. They must work as partners of grasses and legumes.

The third tool is permanent grass for slopes too steep for cultivated crops. With our new knowledge of land management we can make these grassed slopes kick out as much income as fairly good corn ground.

The fourth tool is tree planting. To be used when the land is very steep, or the soil is so thin most other crops will not grow. The country is not growing trees as fast as they are using them. This makes

The 1950 crop season will be opened March 1, weather permitting, with a plowing contest under the sponsorship of the Brentsville District High School chapter of the Future Farmers of America, as part of the national observance of National FFA Week.

The contest will be held on a 40 acre tract a mile north of Nokesville on Route 655. The property is owned by V. W. Zirkle, of the Bank of Nokesville.

Farm equipment dealers of Prince William County have entered their latest machinery in the contest. These are Allis-Chalmers, represented by the Lewis Supply Company, of which R. A. Gibson is head; John Deere represented by the Manassas Hardware, and C. H. Seely, and International Tractors represented by R. J. Wayland. There will be other representatives handling farm equipment as well as fertilizer dealers, hybrid corn exhibitors, and a Washington engineering firm engaged in engineering for contour farming.

There are 28 members of the Brentsville High School FFA Chapter of which the officers are Herbert Wood, president, Jay Carman, vice president, L. R. Cowne, secretary, Harry Miller, Jr., treasurer, Eric Mauck, reporter, Charles Caton, sentinel, Lee Yankey, first conductor, and Charles Jones, second conductor. Other members are: Jack Green, Lloyd Green, Robert Herndon, Billy Manuel, Joe Spittle, Harold Wright, William Davis, Morris Fitzgerald, Jimmy Flickinger, Jack Carner, Mansdell, Gough, Jerry Herring, Lester Parsons, Lloyd Seely, Johnny Satpham, William White, Robert Wood, Leonard Yankey.

According to Philip B. Reading, vocational agricultural instructor at the high school, Virginia, in addition to being mother of presidents, is the mother also of the Future Farmers of America, the organization having started as the Future Farmers of Virginia in 1926.

The organization has approximately 300,000 members in 48 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. There are about 7,500 local chapters of FFA in rural high schools of the nation. Virginia has 216 high school chapters and a total membership of 7,571.

The Virginia association provides each of its members with official membership pins, emblems and supervised practice record books.

Personality of The Week:

Etaoin Shrdlu, Printer's Imp, Oldest Hand in News Business

You think you have troubles? You should come into a print shop sometime.

In every printing establishment there is a little man whom nobody ever sees, whom nobody ever pays, whom nobody ever talks to. His name is Etaoin Shrdlu, and he is the printer's imp.

Not the printer's devil—that functionary is a tangible character, the junior member of the composing room staff. He cleans up, distributes type and does other odd jobs. Quite a different person is Etaoin Shrdlu, who works not only for—or rather, against—The Manassas Journal, but against every other printing establishment, large and small, in the world. Shrdlu is the man in charge of typographical errors.

No one knows how old Shrdlu is, but his handiwork can be found in the first edition of Mark Twain's "Connecticut Yankee," and it is rumored that he was on the staff of Gutenberg, who invented movable type back in the 1400's. It is reported by some—though without authentication—that Etaoin Shrdlu is not just one person, but many, like the seedy Santa Clauses who ring bells on street corners at Christmas time. Others contend he is actually a magical sprite like THE Santa Claus, and that this one character single-handedly plays hob with all the newspaper operations in the world.

That he has been active around THE Journal office is beyond dispute. Last week Etaoin Shrdlu craftily inserted two lines of a legal notice into a clergyman's contribution to "The Pastor's Study" and fixed things so that three Nokesville men—Philip Reading, George D'Agata and George Sonafrank—found themselves playing on a ladies' basketball team.

Some printers like to work in small printing shops and others prefer the bustle of big composing rooms. Etaoin Shrdlu operates in both types of establishments with fine impartiality. The Saturday Evening Post reported in last week's issue that a whole section of a short story was thrown out of the magazine and its disappearance was not noticed until about thirteen minutes after the last million copies had come off the press.

It is always thus. Etaoin Shrdlu does his dirty work and then casts a magic spell over the eyes of printers and editors so they cannot see the damage done until after the press run is complete. One of the largest papers in the midwest had a bad three days one time due to the whimsy of Shrdlu. The paper ran a picture of a war hero who had returned to town, and on the first try the caption over the picture read, "Battle-Scared Veteran." The veteran objected, so the paper tried again. This time it came out "Boide-Scared Veteran." Etaoin Shrdlu apparently lost interest on the third try, because the hero was correctly designated as "Battle-Scared Veteran." (Ed. Note: See ETAOIN SHRDLU, Page 12)

Don't Worry If Kids Watch TV; They Won't Grow-up As Indians

Millston, television-radio editor of the Washington Times-Herald, is the author of a story which is both amusing and of this column's knowledge, true. It concerns a scene in a television show some time between five and six o'clock.

A lady of the house had put a fire-tray on the stove and was preparing to go to the second floor to spruce up the kids' room. Daughters five-and-a-half, going to be seated on the floor in front of the television set.

Her mother heard daughter "Mommy, the kitchen's on fire." About half a second later, Mommy reached the first floor to investigate, daughter was in the middle of the living room, undisturbedly gazing at the screen.

It is the sort of thing you are sure to experience if you own both a television set and a five-and-a-half-year-old child. That such a scene could take place is no great feat against a television set, all you are going to depend on is a television set to help you fight the fire.

There are other arguments against television for children, but in the opinion of one who has seen a television set, the children couldn't get the children from the set long enough to get a television set, but such a point seems to be an admission of lack of parental control and the likelihood the kids are reading comic books or doing something else besides homework now. Others comment that, "My goodness, all those wild cowboys and Indians; the children will grow up to be bums or barbarians." It is a sad fact, however, that any parent under 40 probably saw some of those same shows himself—as movies—when he was a child.

It is doubtful whether shoot-'em-ups will have any lasting effect on any child who watches them on television. If childhood ambitions amounted to anything, most of the men in Manassas today would be driving locomotives up and down a crowded Southern railway track and most of the women would be working as nurses in Warrenton.

No, the television younger generation will probably grow up to be about the same sort of folks as their elders. For the information of the youngsters, that shoot-'em-up, Cowboys-and-Indians stuff is all make-believe; did you know that the great Gene Autry, who "killed" many a redskin in his early days, once had a Cherokee Indian named George Goodale as his press agent?

Eugene Worley, who has a good bit of seniority among TV owners in Manassas, doesn't have to worry about the westerns—yet. His child is only about 2, and looks at the television set only rarely and without much interest.

Not so the Worley adults. The television set—their third since 1948—"keeps me at home a lot more than I used to be." He bought his first set early in 1948 (See TELEVISIONS, Page 10)

The Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Killed Their Own Case!

For ten years the anti-trust lawyers have been attacking the business methods that make it possible to give the public the best quality food at the lowest prices.

In our last ad we told you how Federal Judge W. H. Atwell, at Dallas, threw the anti-trust lawyers and all their inflammatory charges against A&P right out of his court.

But the anti-trust lawyers were not satisfied with decisions against them by three federal judges.

They still wanted to destroy A&P.

They Appealed to New Orleans

So they appealed Judge Atwell's decision to the three-judge Circuit Court at New Orleans.

One of the three, Judge Curtis L. Waller, agreed with Judge Atwell that the case should be dismissed.

The other two members of the Circuit Court, Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson, Jr., and Judge Allen Cox, although saying the case should be tried, agreed that the indictment was vague and contained many allegations which were inflammatory.

They decided that Judge Atwell at Dallas should protect A&P from these inflammatory allegations, and could order the anti-trust lawyers to supply the defendants with a bill of particulars.

So the case was back in Dallas again.

Judge Atwell, carrying out the decision of the Circuit Court, struck out the inflammatory matter.

He said that without this inflammatory and prejudicial matter the Grand Jury might never have returned the indictment.

Judge Atwell said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"There are many statements in the indictment which are not at all in violation, and are highly prejudicial and inflammatory."

The anti-trust lawyers objected. They advanced an amazing argument. They said that the removal of their inflammatory allegations (which all four judges had agreed did not belong in the indictment) destroyed their case.

Judge Atwell instructed the anti-trust lawyers to furnish the court with a bill of particulars. In short, he wanted specific charges instead of vague generalities. He set the deadline for furnishing this material at January 15th, 1944.

When the anti-trust lawyers twice asked for more time, pleading sickness among their staff, Judge Atwell extended the time to February 25th because he believed that they were honestly trying, in good faith, to prepare the material he had requested.

Actually, it developed, they were using the time to get ready to drop the case in Dallas and start it in another court.

They Quit in Dallas

On February 26th, while the judge was still waiting for his answer, and without any previous notice to him, the anti-trust lawyers gave a story to the newspapers in Washington, announcing that they were dropping the case in Dallas.

They said that it was their intention "to file a substantially similar suit in an appropriate jurisdiction at an early date."

The "early date" turned out to be the same day.

As soon as one anti-trust lawyer killed the case in Dallas, another anti-trust lawyer filed a new case in Danville, Illinois. This new case made most of the same allegations that had been made and dropped in Dallas, and that are being made against us today.

So now, according to the anti-trust lawyers, all four judges who had ruled on the Dallas case were wrong.

Despite defeats in three federal courts in widely separated parts of the country, they continued their campaign to destroy A&P.

When Judge Atwell heard of their action he ordered the anti-trust lawyers to prepare an order for his signature dismissing the Dallas case.

In signing this order he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"This nolle prosequi does not have the sanction or approval of this court. That is not necessary, nor that the government ask for the court's approval."

"It is, however, a matter that may be presented to the other court and may be of interest to the people at large."

So after their efforts to destroy A&P had failed in Washington, D. C., Wilson, North Carolina, and Dallas, Texas, the anti-trust lawyers moved on to Danville, Illinois.

They were still determined to destroy this company which had brought more and better food at lower cost to millions of American families.

They Were Wrong Three Times Before!

Three times the anti-trust lawyers went into federal courts and made serious and damaging charges against A&P.

Three times federal judges said the anti-trust lawyers were wrong and rendered decisions against them.

In previous ads in this series we told you about these other anti-trust "cases" involving us, which the judges said were not cases at all.

We think you should know about these previous cases, because once again the anti-trust lawyers are making damaging "allegations" that could seriously affect our business if they were believed by the public.

There was the time in Washington, D. C., when they said we and other good American citizens conspired to fix the price of bread in that city.

This was the time Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough ruled that A&P and the other defendants did not even need to put in a defense. He instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty".

It was the time Judge Goldsborough said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all."

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

There was the time in Wilson, North Carolina, they said we and other good American citizens conspired to fix prices paid farmers for their potatoes.

This was the time Federal Judge C. C. Wyche directed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty".

It was the time Judge Wyche said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"In my opinion there is no testimony produced from which it can reasonably be inferred that the defendants entered into a combination to depress or lower the price of potatoes."

"I might say that I never tried a case in my life where a greater effort, more work, more investigation had been done, combing almost with a fine-tooth comb to gather evidence."

"But, as was said a long time ago, you can't make brick without straw, and you can't make a case without facts."

There was the time in Dallas, Texas, when they made practically the same "allegations" they are making today.

This was the time Federal Judge W. H. Atwell ruled that the case should not even be tried. He said that the indictment contained inflammatory statements that he would not permit to be presented to a jury.

It was the time Judge Atwell said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"I know of no American rule, and I wish I had the power to underscore the word 'American,' which permits us to try a man because of his size."

"If I thought I was presiding over a court and that I might have to sentence some person because he was a great big fellow, or because he was a Lilliputian, I would feel like resigning. God knows we don't want it ever to occur in America that the size is going to determine whether a man is guilty or innocent."

MILKMAKER DAIRY FEEDS

It doesn't pay to rely on your roughage as an all-around source of nutrients during winter. Cows need plenty of extra protein, vitamins and minerals at this time of the year. And it will pay to make sure they get what they need.

The easiest and most economical way to do this is to feed you hard a nutritious, all-around ration like Southern States Milkmakers. Rich in the ingredients needed to make milk, these feeds are designed especially for balanced feeding with good roughage during this critical time of the year.

And you'll find that Milkmakers are economical feeds, too. More Total Digestible Nutrients (TDN) per dollar! Ask for Milkmakers today!

Time Out

BY THE WATER BOY

Our friend across the street, John Parrish, was a trifle irked last week that we could not attend the Red Sox meeting reported elsewhere in these columns. We cannot blame John, but want to go on record that it was press of other business—and not lack of interest in the Manassas Red Sox—that caused our absence.

Even in the newspaper business a man has to make decisions occasionally. Last week the decision was whether to attend the Osborn game at Fredericksburg or the Red Sox meeting at Manassas. We decided on the basketball game rather than the baseball meeting because the cage season is coming to its climax while the diamond dust will not begin to blow for a couple of months yet.

Anyway, John was heard to mutter that he had a good mind not to let us have access to his box scores this coming baseball season unless we attended the Red Sox games and covered "as the newspapers do in the big leagues."

Now, if John had said he wouldn't give us a haircut unless we made a personal appearance at the PEOPLE'S BARBER SHOP, Manassas, Dependable Service, Adv. "like the big town newspaper reporters do" that would make considerable sense. Believe us, if we could detach our head momentarily and send it across Center street for periodic shearing, we would do just that; we're that busy.

For the same reason—that we are pretty busy—we can't promise to be on hand for every ball game. From the general manager to the guy who holds the handle on the big Goss press we are all busy sometimes—notably Thursdays. If, for instance, the Red Sox should play one Thursday, we'd have to make another decision: skip an issue of The Manassas Journal or skip reporting a ball game.

Seriously, we don't want to do either. So, Mr. Parrish, won't you please be friends? We'll come to all the ball games we possibly can, and we'll rely on you for box scores when we can't.

One of our friends dropped in this other day to inform us that he had won top honors in a bowling contest in Washington. The mental picture of a bright and shiny alley with the seven and ten pins standing in a lovely split and a perplexed bowler staring from the other end of the hardwood made us ask ourselves, "Why is there no bowling alley in Manassas?"

Some time ago there was one above The Journal office, where the police want to lodge their bawling boys club. The sound of the flat-bed press banging, the linotype clicking, the metal saw singing and typewriters pounding must have blended beautifully with the noise of balls hitting pins—or missing them.

Offhand we can't think of a suitable building in Manassas for a bowling alley. But it is our firm belief that if someone started an alley, leagues would form soon afterward and another sports activity would be open to the people of Prince William County.

Side note: have you noticed two things about bowling? One is that a decade or so ago a bowling alley was not exactly a proper place to be seen if you made any pretensions to dignity; now, all strata of society bowl—and often bowl together. For instance, a government league team in Washington counts as its two best bowlers a lowly little civil service file clerk and the senior

Old Red Sox Officers Are Re-Installed

John Parrish was re-elected president of the Manassas Red Sox and Dallas Posey was re-elected field manager as the baseball club met in Town Hall Friday. Opening of training season was set for March 26.

Officers and ballplayers of the club, which finished in second place in the Rappahannock League last year, made plans to open the season April 30. The team was officially admitted to the revived Old Dominion League two weeks ago.

Other officers elected were: Oscar Kline, vice president; Buddy Merchant, treasurer; Joe Nycz, treasurer; J. L. Wood, business manager; Buddy Wilt, assistant field manager; Carlin Posey, equipment manager; R. L. Byrd, Jr. and Will Kerlin, ticket manager; and Larry Mitchell and Harold Goldberg, scorekeepers.

Most of last year's team were present for the meeting and all of the old players are expected out for the first practice on March 26. The big difficulty facing the club at this time, according to Buddy Merchant, is how to get the roster down to the maximum of sixteen players as required by the League.

For besides last year's team, the club expects about six more men to show up for practice. These new players are: James Shelton, Calvin Smith, Osborn Polen, Robert Alvey, Jackie Saylor, and Floyd Jones.

Earlier there was a possibility of raising the 16-man limit, but other League members expressed doubt of getting even 16, so the limit was not changed. The Red Sox apparently have the highest number of recruits of any club in the League.

Last season players present at the meeting were: Carlin Posey, Dallas Posey, Bobby Wilt, Eddie Tyson, Billy Tyson, Buddy Merchant, Warner Stutler, Bucky Kincheloe and Elvan Posey.

Warrenton Adds Victory

The Manassas Hawkettes barely lost to undefeated Warrenton girls in Osborn gym Thursday. Final score was 39-38. The Hawkettes led by five points midway in the fourth quarter, but saw their chances fade as Warrenton tied the score and then sank a winning foul shot with 30 seconds to play.

Leading the losers were Lloyd with 22 points, Blakemore with 13 and Haskins with two.

The Manassas Hawks couldn't get off the ground as Warrenton handed out a 44-30 defeat Thursday night. The Hawks' eyes were dim as they missed many of their shots, allowing Warrenton to lead from start to finish.

Hawks' Vetter with 12, Robinson with six, and Swank and Todd with five, and Polen with two, led the hometown scorers.

aid to the Chief of Staff of the army: The other thing about bowling is that it lets you know about muscles that aren't even described in Gray's Anatomy—at least till those muscles get used to the task of rolling a ball down a long wooden corridor.

Michael Martino, of Manassas, won single honors in the Washington inter-city handicap bowling tournament last Sunday with a score of 704. He also won the All Events with a 1900 total and placed eleventh in the doubles. Martino's team, District Motors, placed eighth in the team competition.

Osborn Hi Still Hopes For Finals

James Monroe overpowered Osborn 55-30 in Fredericksburg Friday. The defeat gives the Manassas boys a record of two wins and seven losses, with still an outside chance for a bid to the District tournament to be held in Ashland, March 2, 3 and 4.

Osborn played a fast, hard game, but saw James Monroe steadily pull ahead by fast breaks and fancy shooting under the basket. Saylor, Peters and Breedon lead the Osborn, scoring, until the team began to tire from the losing battle midway in the fourth quarter. With the game already lost Peters went out on an injury, and then Coach Fortuna started pulling his first string to sit out the last few minutes.

In the earlier game James Monroe Jayvees defeated Osborn Jayvees 28-10.

Brentsville Hi

The Brentsville District High School had the pleasure of having the representatives of Occoquan and Manassas at the County Federation meeting on February 3. Some of the things they discussed were school papers, sportsmanship and school spirit.

The social committee has planned a big social to be held on February 21. The party is to be given for the seniors, who won the clean-up campaign.

The seniors have only nine more pages of their year-book to go to press. They expect to get the annual out by May 15.

The Juniors have picked their play, "The Skeleton Walks." They hope to present it in April.

The Nokesville students are proud of their new school bus.

The Home Economics girls plan to give a program for the S. C. A. in two weeks. The theme will be what the Home Ec. Club stands for and what it means to all F. H. A. girls. The club is also presenting a play with a home making plot.

Most of the Agriculture IV class went to Washington to the Dairy Banquet on Monday. The rest of the boys had a pie eating contest.

Billy Manuel got most of the pie. The new S. C. A. officers were installed in a candle lighting ceremony on last Wednesday. The officers were Samm Todd, president; Eric Mauck, vice president; Shirley Bradshaw, secretary; Bobby Wood, treasurer.

quite busy accessioning books. The elementary grades received $100, and the high school got $20.

The Nokesville bus drivers have received "Safety Awards" for their careful driving these past months.

Speakers for the 1950 Commencement season will be Supt. W. A. Early of Arlington County and the Rev. Albert C. Winn of Greenwich. The class sermon will be delivered in the Nokesville Church of the Brethren.

Recent ads in The Journal have been stressing the approach of the clean-up, paint-up season. For housewives who get paint in their hair, here is a tip: soak absorbent cotton in nail-polish remover and rub the cotton into the daubed locks; the paint will come off easily.

Legion Girls Winners; Boys Lose 2 Games

The Manassas Legion boys lost two games last week, while the Legion girls won two. In the Wednesday game Callahan's boys topped the Legion to 21 with Loughborough leading the win by scoring 10 points.

Thursday Occoquan sunk the Legion under a 75-44 deluge. Occoquan's Sanford pitched in 26 points.

The Legion girls, capped with both dates, by taking Callahan 45-28 and Occoquan 26-16. Legionette Johnson was high scorer in both games.

The Clericus Chorus from Bridge-water College, numbering twelve young ministers and their director, gave a wonderfully inspirational hour of music at the Nokesville Church of the Brethren on Sunday morning. These young men are touring the Eastern Brethren churches and using the offerings they receive toward their goal of $1000.00 which will be used to pay the college expenses of several foreign students who are attending the college.

On this trip, the young men sang at the Manassas and Oakton churches of the Brethren, also. They will be singing at the various churches of the Brotherhood nearly every Sunday from now until the end of the college year. During the Easter vacation they will make a tour of all the Churches of the Brethren in Florida. What a wonderful experience this will be for them. Included in the twelve, of course, is our own Eugene Nolley.

The ladies of the Church of the Brethren spent a profitable afternoon on Wednesday, both in the amount of sewing accomplished and the large amount of business transacted. A budget of $1200 was set up for this year, which means that the ladies will be quite busy in the months to come. The committee in charge of the recent Bake sale announced a total of $65.00 to add to the treasury fund. The ladies are now planning to serve lunch at the V. W. Zirkle sale on March 2.

Glen Somers has entered the hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va., for further treatment. We are sure his many, many friends here are hoping he will make improvement very fast.

Private Duranside Tige, long-pedigreed registered bulldog, has officially "enlisted" in the Marine Corps. He immediately embarked by plane for Camp Pendleton to enter upon his duties as mascot. He was donated to the Marines by Mrs. Richard M. Tigner (center), of Washington, D. C. Master Sergeant Charles D. Prindle (left) enlisted Tige and Captain Warren F. Lloyd (right), accepted him for the Marine Corps.

Sunday guests of the Ted J. Shepherds were Mr. and Mrs. Nunzio Barbera, Ernie and Rita and the Fred T. Shepherds.

Mrs. Ernest Patton has been making her home with her nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Shaeffer, while Mr. Patton has been in the Alexandria hospital.

Misses Shirley Poole and Myrna Dove spent Sunday night with Misses Sarah and Bertha Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Hosea Duffey of Washington, D. C. spent Sunday with relatives around here.

O. J. Fitzwater officially was thanked for the large electric score board and time clock preceding another evening of several unusually interesting basketball games in the Nokesville gym on Friday evening. Thanking Mr. Fitzwater on behalf of the school was the principal, Caleb Gibson.

Carrying banners which said "Thanks" to Mr. Fitzwater were children from the third and fourth grades. Music for the evening was provided by Nunzio Barbera and the band.

The first game of the evening was Miss Ware's third grade girls playing Miss Wright's fourth graders. The score was 4-2 in favor of the fourth graders.

The second game provided plenty of laughs when the lady teachers played the regular high school girls team. Playing for the first team were Louise Hopkins, Barbara Ware, Alma Watts, Alice Wright, Betty Flickenger, Ruby Gibson and Marian Reed. The final score was 29 to 17 with the high school girls the victors.

The nightcap was very exciting with the men teachers and those connected with the school playing the regular boys' team. The "old men" came out ahead, the final score being 36 to 34. Playing on the first team were George D'Agata, Harry Swan, Philip Reading, John Devlin, Caleb Gibson, Raleigh Nelson, Wallace Bolling, Eddie Nelson and Nunzio Barbera. Refereeing all of the games was Robert Nelson. Proceeds for the evening went to the Athletic Association.

Very active cheerleaders were the four girls who have been very busy "yelling" at every game, Elsie Ridgely, Shirley Thelmer, Shirley Bradshaw and Lois Mauck.

Monday night guests of Connie and Peggy Shepherd were Dorothy Marshall, Sara Lee Gay, and Carolyn Dennis.

How to Get That Homework Done

Miss Gilbert, our grammar school principal, spoke the other night at the regular Parent-Teachers' meeting, on getting children to do their homework when they want to listen to the radio.

"We mustn't give them a flat 'no,'" Miss Gilbert said. "If we adults really believe in tolerance and moderation, we should instill these qualities in our children. Listening to the radio is fine—in moderation—as long as homework gets done, too."

From where I sit, the lady was dead-right. This radio vs. homework problem is a wonderful way to see to it that our youngsters acquire the sensible moderate habits they'll need later on.

I've never believed in hard and fast rules—except where absolutely necessary. Let the other fellow do as he likes, as long as he's temperate and tolerant. Guess that's why I've never felt we should quarrel with the fellow who is partial to a glass of beer—the "Beverage of Moderation."

Trooper Wed

Miss Reba Welsh was married to State Trooper Clarence Bell in the Gainesville Methodist Church last Saturday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Duley. The wedding march was played by Miss Barbara Buckmaster of Arlington. The church was decorated with tall white candles and baskets and vases of white gladioli, snap dragons, and acacia.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Ronald Dunton. The bridegroom's brother, Carl, of Charlottesville, acted as best man.

Miss Welsh went to the altar in a frock of ice blue satin, with small matching hat trimmed with ostrich feathers and tulle. Her bouquet consisted of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore a pink satin dress with a small pink feathered hat and carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

OH, WHAT A SCORE

Nokesville boys set a season scoring record Saturday as they ran up 106-47 score on hapless Occoquan. Zavada's 36 points and Owens' 24 paced the high scoring Nokesvillians.

In the earlier game Nokesville girls won by default as their opponents failed to show up.

FOR SALE Bears Den Farm

At the confluence of Thumb Run and the Rappahannock River, extending over one mile along each stream, lies this 404 acre tract. Just 12 miles from Warrenton, 3 miles from Orlean, with a hard-surfaced county road to the gate and open land; but practically no road through property. There is an old 4 room house, with two large stone chimneys, overlooking the river; a small, good, comparatively new barn; electricity to the house, no other conveniences. About 160 acres are clear, on which cattle were grazed last Summer. Fishing and hunting is excellent. This is one of only a few such large, sportsmen's areas, with other definite investment possibilities, still available in Fauquier County. Priced under ten thousand.

Red Cross to Meet Tonight To Plan Drive

Plans for the 1915 Red Cross Fund Drive in Prince William County will be completed at a meeting of district workers Friday. The county goal for the drive scheduled to begin March 1 and continue the rest of the month is $3000.

Additional district chairmen will be appointed at Friday's meeting to be held in the Methodist Church at 7:45 p. m. Some chairmen were appointed at an earlier meeting. These, as announced by Mrs. J. M. Hanson, county chairman: are Mrs. N. N. Free, Brentsville; Mrs. Daisy Douglas, Gainesville; and Miss Naomi Wright, Prince William Negro chairman.

The Manassas District is to be divided into three sections. J. Carl Kincheloe was appointed chairman of the business area and Ted Ritter is chairman of the suburban areas, while the chairman of the Manassas residential areas has not been announced.

Edward R. Stearn, field representative for the Eastern Area, will speak at the meeting Friday and also show motion pictures to the workers.

During the coming campaign motion pictures will be shown in local theaters and 16 mm films will be available for organizations and clubs, Mrs. Hanson said.

This Sunday has been designated by workers as Red Cross Sunday and churches have been asked to observe this in their worship services.

After further experience in the New York zone he came to the Central office as assistant parts manager and two years later was named Assistant Zone Manager at Boston.

and traded it in on a later model with better tuning and a larger screen. His present set has even later gadgets on it and has a 12-inch screen.

There has been much improvement, Mr. Worley notes, in the presentation of TV programs—especially sports—since he bought his first set. He is not sure whether sports now are easier to follow than they used to be because camera technique has improved or the sets themselves are better. Anyway, sports, sports and more sports are his third, fourth and fifth choices for viewing, "Cavalcade of Bands and the Philco Playhouse being his first and second selections. "The program I despise most," he says, "is when my wife tunes it in, I leave."

Veteran Televiewer Worley has advice for viewers: "Don't sit too close to the screen. Figure the right distance as one foot from the screen for every inch of screen width—a 12-inch set, sit 12 feet away."

Recent installations of television sets announced by Fitzwater's garage in Nokesville, the Admiral dealer, have been for C. D. Baker, Nokesville; Brother Cassel, Calverton; Alton Flickinger, Nokesville; Ed Michael, Nokesville, and Herbert W. Burke, Manassas.

R. C. Ennis, of the Triangle Hardware, announces recent installations of television sets to Vernon Acord, Triangle; Elvan Keyes, Dumfries; W. T. Smith, Dumfries; and M-Sgt. Thomas M. McLaughlin, of the Marine Base, at Quantico.

New television set purchasers are Joseph Speaks, Buckhall; E. R. Cornwell, Manassas; Thurman Street, Manassas; E. C. Lunsford, Nokesville, and Harry Lee Woodson, Yorkshir, as reported by George Turberville, Crosley dealer at Oentreville.

Arthur Carter, new owner of Hibbies' reports recent Manassas television installations for E. E. Collins, J. C. Datterer, Conrad Kerzendorfer, Grace Beavers, S. W. Tyson, Robert Hall and R. B. Lewis.

Conversion of this submarine to a Guppy-type was accomplished by superstructure streamlining and increasing battery capacity to give greater submerged speeds. Board Urges Care to Stem Forest Fires

A fire prevention resolution was approved Monday at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors. The text follows:

Whereas, two-thirds of all forest fires in Virginia are caused by smokers, campers and brush burners, and whereas, forest fires destroy timber needed by industry, spoil recreation and scenic areas and make for hunting and fishing, and whereas, the conservation of the forest resources is essential to the social and industrial prosperity of Prince William County, and this Board wishes to cooperate with the Virginia Forest Service in the prevention and control of forest fires,

Now, therefore be it resolved that each citizen of Prince William County who has occasion to burn brush and trash, or who smokes or builds campfires in or near the woods be requested to be most careful not to start a forest fire, and, to this end, it is suggested that all citizens observe the following forest fire prevention rules:

Brush Burners: Rake or plow a safety strip. Have tools and water ready. Pick damp, calm day to burn. Burn after 4:00 p. m., if calm. Drown smoldering fires with water or cover with clean dirt. Inspect next morning. Help us to Keep Virginia Green.

Smokers: Never throw a burning match, cigarette, cigar or pipe tobacco in brush or grass. Be sure your match is out. Crush out your cigarette, your cigar, your pipe ashes, and Use the ash tray in your car.

FARM INCOME RISE
Pointing out that the nation's low-income families represented "our greatest under-developed market," Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan pointed out that clothing sales alone could be increased by $121 million annually if the incomes of 2 million 400 thousand farm families grossing less than $3000 in 1946 could be nudged upward into the $3000 to $3500 income bracket. He added: "No farm family needs to be educated to the fact that the children need shoes, the mother a new dress, or the father new farm implements."

Soil

trees look like a good investment. Use these four tools and your farm will be fertile for your son and grandson. It will also keep making money for you.

Grasses help conserve or protect our soil, and prevent erosion and leaching. They prevent erosion by holding the soil with its roots, this makes the water seep into the soil instead of running off with part of the soil in it.

The basic necessities of life, food, clothing, and shelter are primarily derived from the soil. We can continue to keep our high standards of living only as long as our soil, and natural resources remain sufficient enough to permit an ever-increasing farm population to produce the food required by the city people.

Every American citizen should be interested in what is happening to our land and its resources; farmer, businessman, position or job, has a stake in the land.

The answer to it all is, use our land not only profitably but wisely; don't try to drain everything out of the soil without putting something back into it. Be conservative and let's keep our soil and natural resources as plentiful and rich as possible.

There are a few of the advantages of the dairy industry, but it is not always this easy. There are also some disadvantages to it. Probably the most discouraging thing is that dairying is confining and requires long working hours. Dairying requires the investment of considerable money to get started. The need for much equipment and good, clean, sanitary barns that meet all requirements of the market is obvious. The cattle of a dairy farm are also of a much higher type than the animals on other sorts of farms. These are a few of the disadvantages that you find in dairying but no matter what business you intend to go into you will find advantages and disadvantages.

17 New Features Offered in Tractor

By R. A. Gibson
Lewis Supply Company

All's Chalmers is making tractor history again . . . with the new model "W". Seventeen major new features have been built into this tractor to give it ease of operation, versatility, new comfort and economy.

"More than any development since Allis Chalmers introduced the first tractor with rubber tires in 1932, the hydraulic Traction Booster increases the usefulness and pulling power of the farm tractor. Its 4 cylinder hydraulic pump mechanism automatically shifts weight to the rear wheels as the load increases. It also lifts and lowers the quick hitch implements with finger tip control.

"Another feature that is liked particularly is the Two Clutch Power Control System. It enables you to start and stop the tractor without interrupting operation of the power take-off and the hydraulic system. Just picture to yourself what that single feature means when you do work such as harvesting, picking corn, mowing and baling.

"This tractor actually changes the rear wheel treads for you. All you have to do is make a simple adjustment and the engine does the rest, while you are sitting on the tractor seat you can do all this in 5 minutes. Other outstanding features include: easier steering, light pressure brake pedals that stop the tractor quickly in either forward or reverse travel. The noise of the engine is muffled with a low pitch muffler, and you sit back on a smooth riding seat with a two-way hydraulic shock absorber that takes the bounce and jar out of driving over rough and uneven ground.

Here is down-to-earth power for any family farm. It's years ahead.

OWNER GETS WATCH AFTER 17 YEARS

BALTIMORE, Md. — Seventeen years ago, some one stole a watch from the Baltimore home of Charles Despeux. The watch was recovered by the Baltimore Police Department 17 years later, to the day. In going over pawnshop sheets, Edward J. Hibbitts, Detective Bureau clerk, noted that a yellow gold hunting-case watch had been pawned at a local pawnshop. Leafing through yellowed files, he found a watch of this same make and case number listed as stolen from Mr. Despeux, along with a pair of eyeglasses. Now the police have to find the person who pawned the watch.

New Tractors Are In Class By Selves—Seely

By Conway L. Seely,
Manassas Hardware Co.

You've no idea of the great forward strides John Deere has made in general-purpose farm power until you see and drive one of these new A, B, or G Tractors for the first time.

Here are tractors in a class all by themselves when it comes to modern design—tractors with entirely new and exclusive features, pioneered and developed by John Deere to handle your every power job faster, with greater efficiency . . . tractors that will make your farming operations much easier, more profitable, more enjoyable.

Here are tractors that are proved performers in the field because they offer you the same exclusive two-cylinder advantages of greater dependability, greater economy, and longer life as their famous predecessors.

The model "A" matches the exacting requirements on larger row-crop farms. It's a heavy-duty tractor with an abundance of power to handle four-row equipment . . . big capacity plows, bedders, disk harrows . . . larger harvesting and belt-driven machines—a tractor that will do a greater percentage of the everyday farm jobs in third or even fourth gear, materially increasing daily work output.

Cyclonic fuel intake is a development of John Deere engineers that makes these John Deere Two-Cylinder Engines even more efficient, more economical on fuel than their famous predecessors.

Etaoin Shrdlu

SHRDLU, KEEP YOUR HANDS OFF THIS!

Sometimes he does little things, like adding a letter (in a New York paper) to the ad of a tailor who offered—according to the printed version—"Alterations while you wait," or dropping out a letter from such a word as "slaughter," as in a newspaper's comment on the carnage at Coventry: "The laughter was unbelievable."

Etaoin Shrdlu is certainly the best known of printers. When Mergenthaler invented the linotype he foresaw the added opportunity the machine would give the printer's imp, and in honor of the oldest man in the shop he arranged the keys on the first two linotype key-rows to read "E-T-A-O-I-N-S-H-R-D-L-U."

Some people say Etaoin Shrdlu got his name from the linotype keys, not vice-versa. Such people are overly disenchanted; they don't believe in Santa Claus. They don't believe in Etaoin Shrdlu, either.
