It has been ruled by Town Attorney W. Hill Brown, Jr., that if a hauler of coal maintains a stock at his place of business but does not sell therefrom, he is a dealer and must pay a coal dealer's license; that if he sells he must pay a retail merchant's license. Without specifically mentioning Roy Doggett, counselman, the rule is being interpreted by town officials, that Doggett will have to pay one of the two licenses to the town. Doggett says he will fight the case. However, Doggett on Wednesday bought license tags for operation of a truck which he had threatened to do.

Mr. Jackson Ratcliffe, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has suggested the restoration of the old War fort on the horse show grounds on the Jack Breiden property as a point of interest for tourists. It is known as Fort Beauregard and was used by the Confederates to successfully deceive the generals in the First Battle of Manassas. Its guns were made of wood and painted black and were known as "Quaker guns." It is supposed that the restoration inside the wooden guns. Town manager James Ritter says Manassas residents not having auto licenses on their cars are summoned before the Mayor's Court and fined for their failure to buy the tags before the deadline. There are some small offenders, Ritter stated, but he has never purchased tags and is impossible for us to enforce ordinance unless they do so. The officers have thus far given tickets to cars found without the tags, and henceforth will issue citations.

Congress Considers 2 Bills To Take Arlington Cemetery From Under Control of Army

Developments came fast following the disclosure by The Manassas Journal that General George C. Marshall had permitted the illegal burial of Sir John Dill, British Field Marshal, in Arlington National Cemetery and had set aside an acre of land of that hallowed burying ground for the exclusive use of the field marshal.

First: The Army after calling for 5 copies of The Journal to read the expose put its mimeograph machines to work turning out propaganda to defend its former chief of staff.

Second: Two bills have been introduced in Congress which if passed would take control of National Cemeteries away from the Army and place them under a civilian commission to be appointed by the President.

Third: The Journal followed up its original charges by asking the Army to produce a copy of the opinion of the Judge Advocate General of the Army that the burial of Sir John Dill is legal and to whom and at whose request was this opinion given.

Fourth: The Army was asked by The Journal to produce legal proof that an acre of ground is authorized for Sir John Dill's grave-site as well as proof that it has congressional authority to erect an equestrian statue of the British general on this acre of land. When replies are received; they will be published.

Fifth: The Washington Times-Herald, and its nation-wide news service, copied parts of the Manassas Journal article about Arlington and the illegal burial there of Sir John Dill and broadcast the information to the country under the signature of Whiter Trohan.

The Manassas Journal had anticipated the Army's propaganda. In its original article The Journal charged that this ruling, made by the Judge Advocate General of the Army had no valid standing in the light of two United States Supreme Court decisions, which are cited in Sutherland Statutory Construction, Vol. 2, Section 4804 and the report of the case of Yazoo Railroad v. Thomas, 132 U. S. 174, 188.

But the Army and its propaganda organization has still failed to produce any resolution by Congress, signed or unsigned, which authorized the Army to turn over an acre of ground in Arlington Cemetery forever as the burial space for Sir John Dill. This acre for Sir John Dill the Britisher is in striking contrast to the 8 feet square given to General John J. Pershing of World War I fame, as it is also in contrast to the space given President Taft.

It has also failed to produce any resolution by Congress which authorizes the erection of an oversized equestrian statue of Sir John Dill on this acre of land which dominates the entrance to the historic burying ground.

The Army took official cognizance of the article in The Manassas Journal in the following letter: "It is requested that five (5) copies of the Manassas Journal edition of this week be mailed to: Fiscal & Procurement Unit, Office of the Chief of Information Department of the Army, 2 D 644 Pentagon, Washington, 25, D. C.

"Please send invoice in triplicate, signed and certified by an official of your firm to the same mailing address mentioned above.

Sincerely yours,
Frederick D. Blanchard,
Major, GBC,
Administrative Officer."

Although The Journal already has information as to what the Army's

Sewage Plant Springs Leak; Repairs Asked

A serious leak in the main "digester" tank of Manassas' new sewage disposal plant, resulting in the release of large amounts of raw sewage into a tributary of Bull Run, has been discovered by the town government. Efforts are now being made to have the builder, E. L. Daniels of Arlington, repair the defects. Town Manager James Ritter has written Daniels, asking that repairs be made.

At the same time, it has become evident that the plant, built to specifications supposedly adequate for a town of 3,100 persons, is already overloaded. As a result of recent rains, approximately a quarter of a million gallons of untreated sewer water is being emptied into Flat Branch, the Bull Run tributary, each day.

On Monday, Town Manager James Ritter reported a metered flow of 1,000,000 gallons a day was noted at the intake of the sewage disposal plant. Capacity is rated at 310,000 gallons. On Tuesday the flow rate was about 490,000 a day—180,000 gallons over capacity.

Much of the liquid now being taken into the sewage plant is rainwater from house drains and from leaks in existing sewage lines. It is understood. At the present time there is no way to separate this water from actual sewage, and consequently no way to insure that liquid bypassing the sewage disposal plant is anything but somewhat diluted sewer water.

Early this week, the inflow at the disposal plant was regulated so that about half the water went into the sewage treatment apparatus and the other half flowed directly into Flat Branch. Upstream from the outflow point of the treatment plant the water of the creek was clear. Downstream the water was murky and gave off a definite odor. The volume of water flowing from the treatment plant was estimated to exceed by 100 percent the volume of water flowing in the creek.

The leak which the town officials believe they have discovered apparently allows the heaviest and most-contaminated liquids to flow directly from the main digester tank into an overflow system from which the fluids is allowed to go through an overflow pipe directly into the stream.

This overflow release point is about 150 feet downstream from the main outflow pipe of the disposal plant. In contrast to the definite but not particularly offensive odor given off by the murky water from the outflow pipe, the liquid released

Will you kindly mail us a copy of your issue in which you called on the congress to halt plans for erection of a memorial over the grave of Sir John Dill, British field marshal, in Arlington cemetery?

Manassas Journal readers generally think the burial of Sir John Dill in Arlington National Cemetery should not have been permitted, that under no circumstances should an acre of land in Arlington be given as his grave site and no monument should be erected where he is buried. These comments were made after subscribers had read last week's edition of the Journal in which the unauthorized burial of Sir John Dill at the instance of General George C. Marshall was disclosed.

Here is what some of the readers said to the Journal:

MRS. MASON GOUGH, housewife, Manassas—"I guess its all right to bury the Field Marshal in Arlington; the Army and the General's generally do as they want to anyhow. An acre is right smart land but the people don't have much to say about what the Army does. Since the Englishman was already here they might as well have buried him, but the foreigners shouldn't be over here in the first place."

MRS. L. K. LYNN, Manassas, housewife—"I think Sir John ought to be sent home to his own country."

Last week's Editorial in the Journal regarding the allocation of one acre of ground in Arlington National Cemetery for the burial of an English Citizen, Sir John Dill, has brought forth much comment against such an outrageous action by the Military officials. Council Hears City Planner On Annexation

The first step toward annexation of adjacent areas of Prince William County into the corporation limits of Manassas was taken this week when the Town Council met Tuesday afternoon with a St. Louis (Mo.) city planner.

Harland Bartholomew, on whose studies the pending annexation suit of Falls Church is being conducted, examined Manassas' plans for annexation an agreed to meet again with the council next month. Meanwhile, he asked that the town and its attorneys examine further the desirability of annexing outlying territory.

Present at the meeting at the Town Hall were Councilman Rice, Hook, Saunders and Doggett, Town Manager Ritter, Town Attorney Brown, Chamber of Commerce President R. Jackson Ratcliffe and Mr. Bartholomew.

Ritter displayed an aerial photograph, made in 1949, on which were drawn tow lines, one in yellow indicating the present town boundary and one in black showing the desired limits after annexation. The new boundaries could be described roughly as a belt about one-third of a mile out from the present corporation limits. Annexation of this region would take in the REA Headquarters and generating plant; the Manassas Lumber and Furniture companies, the Birmingham Dairy, Liberty Motors, and a large number of dwellings.

The town manager estimated the population of the annexable area to be in the neighborhood of 1,000, and fixed at $587,000 the probable assessed valuation of property in that area. He cited examples of assessments in the outside area as follows: REA generating plant, $300,000; REA headquarters, $10,000; Birmingham Dairy, $8,800.

Early Report Shows Error For Quantico

The preliminary census count of population for Prince William County is 22,384.

Manassas population is counted as 1,789.

The first figures given out Wednesday noon by the census bureau in a letter to J. Murray Taylor, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, as required by law, gave Quantico a population of 2,064.

At 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening Archie L. Miller, census supervisor at the Alexandria District office, 2415 Mount Vernon avenue, telephoned The Journal that the Quantico figures were in error and that the correct Quantico census count is 1,211.

This Mr. Miller explained was due to including part of Quantico base in the original count but upon rechecking the discrepancy was noticed. Speed in an effort to help the Journal get the census figures for this edition actually caused the error.

In his letter to Mr. Murray, chairman of the supervisors, Mr. Miller stated:

"These figures are believed to be substantially correct but are subject to revision after returns for non residents are credited to their proper locality and other routine checks have been made. Although material revision of the preliminary count is unlikely, it may possibly occur after careful examination of the returns. The official announcement of the census will be made at a later date."

If announcing the figures the census bureau gave Prince William County an increase of 63.8 percent in population since 1930 when the total count was 13,650. In 1930 the county population was 13,951 and in 1940 it was 17,738.

Manassas increased from 1930 to 1920 to 1789 in 1950, or 37.9 percent. Between 1920 and 1930, according to the census bureau, Manassas lost population and dropped from 1,305 to 1,215 but increased again in 1940 to 1,789. The increase from 1940 to 1950 was also 37.9 percent.

Quantico's increase was more than 80 percent above 1940 when its population was 1,139. In 1930 only 538 persons were listed by the census bureau as living in Quantico. In 1920 there was no town of Quantico.

Before the official figures were announced the Journal was advised by the Census Bureau that they would be available Wednesday morning. In stating this fact a few individuals it was learned from Dr. George Cocke that he and Mrs. Cocke were not counted because they were in Florida. Another couple, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Free of Nokesville, told the Journal they were not counted. As a climax to these surprises the Journal was advised by Mayor Harry Davis, that he and Mrs. Davis were not counted. These facts were turned over to Mr. Miller the Census supervisor.

Just to add to the confusion C. R. Rorer, of the Journal, reported he had been counted in both Prince William and Nottoway County, and Lawrence Weekly, also of the Journal, doubled up in Henrico County and Prince William.

On the basis of the figures already announced Mrs. Sonja North, of the Gethwaite Apartments, wife of E. M. North, a teacher at Osburn high school, won the Journal prize of one dollar per thousand for each thousand of persons in the official county. Her guess was 22,384 against the official count of 22,384 a difference of 150. However, Mrs. J. E. Beale of 318 N. Battle street, estimated 22,540 as against 22,384 a difference of 156. If it should develop that The Cocke, Free and the Davis families were not counted this would make an additional six to the official count and Mrs. Beale would have been the closer.

The Journal disclosed the Manassas figures to several persons as soon as they were received and the general feeling was one of the $300,000; REA headquarters, $10,000; Birmingham Dairy, $8,800.

Considerable interest is being shown in the proposal to build on the property of Walter L. Flory, the county game warden, three miles east of Nokesville, a dog pound. There is some opposition on the ground that Flory's property is not centrally located and anyone recovering a stray dog from the game warden would be required first to go to Nokesville to identify the animal, then come to Manassas to pay a fee for its release and then go back to Nokesville to recover the animal.

Robertsons to Sell "Wyndham" Estate

"Wyndham," a charming 72-acre
Virginia estate which is the present residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bolling Lynn Robertson, at Warrenton is being put up for auction and the Robertsons who have been prominent socially in the Warrenton and Manassas area are moving to New Jersey because Mr. Robertson's business requires that he be there. The Robertsons formerly lived in Manassas.

The rolling blue grass hillsides of Wyndham were once used as at 9-hole golf course and it is considered one of the most attractive estates in northern Virginia. It has, in addition to the main residence, a large guest cottage, and servants quarters. It is expected that scores of Washingtonians who have heard of Wyndham will go to the sale which will be held on May 27.

Census

"We've been robbed" was the feeling.

There was some feeling that the town officials might ask for a recount but this would have to be supported by strong evidence that the census enumerators had not done a thorough job of nose counting. "We've got to do something about this," was the comment of City Manager James Ritter, who immediately went to work gathering data on electric, water and other utility connections to support his contention that Manassas has a greater population than 1789.

Late Wednesday afternoon Mr. Ritter was willing to accept the census bureau figures as probably correct. He based this on 592 electric light connections within the city, of which 52 are business concerns, leaving 540 residential connections. This figure divided into 1789 Mr. Ritter said would give 33 residents per connection, a figure he thought was probably right. In the last 10 years Mr. Ritter said there had been 80 new homes built inside the corporate limits and by using 3.3 residents per home this would bring the population of Manassas 1056 above the 1940 census. The census bureau comparative figures give Manassas an increase of 925.

Mr. I am sure he was a fine soldier and it may have been a fine thing to bury him in Arlington temporarily, but now that shipping is once more possible he should be sent home just as our boys are being returned to America. I should think the English would want him over there. Besides an acre of ground is ridiculous; it looks like General Marshall is trying to run the whole Army.

CARL MILLER, farmer, Nokesville—"Both Mrs. Miller and I think that the burial of Dill in Arlington is taking away what belongs to Americans and detracting from the national shrine. It sounds mighty narrow-minded on somebody's part. As for the statue, that would not be appropriate at all."

MRS. A. O. BEANE, housewife, Manassas—"I think it is a very forceful article. Giving an acre of ground to a British Field Marshal seems a strange thing to do. I don't know what other countries in regard to their national cemeteries. The ground may have been given in recognition of British cooperation, rather than just to honor a single man."

MRS. WARREN ORR, housewife, Manassas—"I think the article is very interesting and I am sending a copy to my parents. One acre of ground is too much to give one man. I don't know whether the law should be amended to make legal the burial of foreign nationals in Arlington."

"MRS. ROBERT H. SMITH, government employee, lives near Manassas—"I think it is quite right to bring this to the attention of the public, however it may stir up trouble and with world conditions as they are I don't know whether we can afford to stir up trouble. But Field Marshal Dill obviously should not have been buried in Arlington in the first place... an acre is an awful lot of ground. I doubt that an American general would be given the same consideration in England, that Dill has received from General Marshall."

THE REV. G. W. BEAHM, Nokesville—"I think the burial of Sir John Dill in Arlington Cemetery is unfair and unjust as well as illegal. It would take a lot of acres to give each man one of his own."

RALPH SPEAR, Brentsville, federal government employee—"The subject did not warrant such an attack on General Marshall and the Army. There are always before us a number of issues, the resolution of which are more important than this. It can only stir up strong feeling. In regard to the illegality of the Field Marshal's burial in Arlington, we all know that the law is sometimes honored in the breach."

REV. E. G. BROWN, Manassas—"If it is true that Field Marshal Dill is buried in Arlington without proper authorization, then the body should be removed at once, or else a law should be passed permitting burial of foreign nationals in Arlington Cemetery. But the burial of foreign nationals there would break down the idea of a national cemetery and it would become just a government burial ground. In any case, it doesn't take a whole acre to bury an Englishman."

Following The Macs

By Maurice B. Smith

The Manassas Macs were noed out by a one run margin, 5-4 by the Triangle Lions last Sunday in a game played at Lions Field. The winning run was scored by Able Saylor in the 7th inning.

The Macs lost the game in the first inning when they loaded the bases and then with none out failed to score. Three successive singles by Slusher, Atkisson, and R. Polen filled the sacks. Leo hit an infield single that forced Slusher at home, McBryde struck out and S. Vetter filed out to left field to end the inning.

The Lions put one run across in their half of the first when Florence got to first on an error by Slusher and scored on a hit by Thomas.

In the second inning the Macs went down in one-two-three order and Triangle was retired with no score, after a single by Alexander.

Triangle scored two more in the 3rd on a walk by pitcher Jack Leachman and doubles by Thomas and Peacher, and another Triangle run came across in the 5th to give the Lions a 4-0 lead.

The Macs got hot in the 6th and tied the score after two men were out. Slusher led off the 6th frame by grounding out and Leo followed with a single. McBryde walked and S. Vetter pulled up at first on a fielder's choice that forced out McBryde. Glover then doubled into center, scoring Leo and sending Vetter to third. Pinch-hitter C. Wine drove out a single to score Vetter and Glover and Leachman followed with another double to score W. Polen who was running for Wine.

That ended the scoring for the Macs and with the score at 4-4 Triangle scored the winning run in the 7th on two walks, a long fly, and a single by Amidon.

Following The Red Sox

By Buddy Merchant

The Manassas Red Sox were bolstered considerably when it was learned this week that "Bobo" Stutler and Stan Monroe, the sensation of Washington and Lee High School, have signed up and will join the Red Sox immediately.

"Bobo" Stutler will probably hurl the Sox next game, while Monroe will be ready for the next home game in Manassas. Monroe, just out of Washington and Lee High School, hurls one of the fastest balls of any high school boy in this section and is a sure shot to stick with a minor league team when he finishes college.

The Red Sox met once more with the unseen jinx last Sunday as Forestville came from behind to defeat them 5-4. It was the second straight Sunday on which the Sox have lost by that same score.

Poor base running was the biggest reason why the Sox lost, as time and again Red Sox runners and potential runs were picked off the bases.

The Red Sox at one time held a 4-1 lead, but Forestville came back to win with 3 runs in the sixth and one in the seventh.

Squizzer Polen and Sevinger hurred for the Sox while McMahonney went all the way for Forestville.

The Red Sox scored all their runs in the sixth inning after two men were out and none on. Merchant walked and reached second on a balk. Bobby Wilt then reached base on an error and Merchant scored. Wilt moved up on a wild pitch and D. Posey walked. Carlin Posey then lined a single to center and Wilt scored. Eddie Tyson also singled to center and Dallas Posey scored and Billy Hawes then singled to left and Carlin Posey raced home with the fourth and last run.

The Red Sox play at Triangle Wednesday night and travel to Arlington Sunday to meet the strong Randall Motors A. C. The Sox will then be home for 4 straight Sundays.

of the most hazardous Spring forest fire seasons experienced in the State of Virginia since 1942. I am very glad to tell you though that our record has been very good in keeping the size of the fires in each county as small as possible. This has been done thru the cooperation of the forest wardens organization and the citizens of each county. I may also say that a large part of this success has been made possible by the fine cooperation that we have received from your newspaper.

Please find enclosed an article which I would like to have published in the next edition of your paper.

THE LAST THREE DECADES have brought many changes in matters pertaining to health. The normal span of life has been increased materially. Consider diabetes, for example. Diabetes was first recognized about the time of Moses, or 200 years before the birth of King Tut. It was not until 1921, however, that a specific remedy was discovered. Today, through the use of Insulin and a balanced diet, the diabetic can reasonably expect to live about as long as anybody. Your physician will promptly recognize the symptoms of diabetes. He knows all about the treatment. And remember this, all advertised cures for diabetes are questionable. Don't be victimized.

ways is a very welcomed guest. Five members were initiated into the club to complete the evening's activities: W. W. Tschiffely, Randall Gough, R. T. Gay, Percy Noel and George D'Agata. A large number of very useful books were donated to the school library by the members of the club.

The Nokesville Methodist Sunday School is planning for a trip to their District Camp located in Loudoun County near Middleburg on Sunday, May 21. They will leave from the Nokesville church at 11 o'clock and will have a picnic dinner upon arrival at the camp grounds, with preaching service in the afternoon.

The Library staff of our local staff with Miss Hattie Mae Partlow as librarian and Eleanor Mayhugh as student librarian want to thank all the patrons and friends who have contributed toward the improvement of facilities and the enrichment of the offering it has been able to make to the students of the school. Various organizations, as well as individuals, have made very worthwhile contributions to the library this year. Included in these donors have been the contribution of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, through Miss Isabelle Hutchinson of Manassas. Additional funds and facilities were provided by the County superintendent and the school board, to make the library more adequate for the needs of the students.

Commencement week will soon be here! Definite plans are shaping up for the activities at school the first week in June. Baccalaureate services will be held at the Nokesville Church of the Brethren on Sunday night, June 4 beginning at 8:00. Rev. Albert Winn, pastor of the local Presbyterian churches will be the speaker. Graduation night will be on Tuesday, June 6 in the Auditorium. Dr. William Early, superintendent of schools of Arlington County, will be the speaker. Plans are also being made for Class Night, date to be announced later.

The George Sonafanks entertained the young folks of the Church of the Brethren on Sunday night in their home.

Miss Joy Alderman and Mr. Clive Alderman, Jr., of Huntersville, West Virginia are visiting their sister and family, the James Hivelys. Both of these young folks have secured jobs in Manassas and plan to get an apartment there soon.

Invitations have been received from Rev. and Mrs. Dewey D. Fleishman to the wedding of their daughter, Melva, to Mr. Danie Restuccia of New Jersey on Saturday, the twenty-seventh of May at 3:00 in the afternoon at the Nokesville Church of the Brethren.

Little Silas William Carrico, Jr. came to make his home with the Senior Carricos at their home near Aden, on Sunday morning, May 7. The little fellow is doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holsinger and sons of Springfield spent Sunday evening with the Bowman family. Mrs. Holsinger—the sister of Johnnie Wood, who lived with the Bownmans for many years.

George Croushorn of Maryland University spent the weekend with the homefolks. George has never failed to come by to say hello. He's still enjoying the Journal every week, he says.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Britton of Silver Spring, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Frances Wells, Ronnie and Effie Jean of Manassas and Mr. and Mrs. Vance Somers and Johnnie and Glen Somers spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. David Somers. We are so glad to hear that Glen is able to work with his father. We are glad for two reasons—we are so happy he has recovered from his recent illness and then Nokesville needs, very badly, some more carpenters.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Kerlin have started building plans for their new home in what we Nokesvillians call "Republican Heights." Their lot is next to the Elwood Wood-yard home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hively have sold their home and have bought the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hively. Mr. and Mrs. John Hively are selling all of their personal property on Saturday in preparation to return to California, Mrs. Hively's home State.

Miss Marian Poole, who is getting along fine with her duties as a nurse at Alexandria Hospital, spent the weekend "doctoring" us "ailing" Shepherds.

Mrs. Ellen Frew and Mrs. W. R. Free attended the District meeting of the W. S. C. S. at the Clarendon Methodist Church on Tuesday.

Sunday guests in the C. M. Hively home were Mr. and Mrs. John Hively and sons, Mr. and Mrs. James Hively and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Sonafank and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Vance and sons, Mr. Grover May, Mr. Joe Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Milling and two little daughters of near Washington. The Millings are the folks who have bought the Hively farm.

The M. J. Shepherds arrived home on Thursday evening, from their winter home in Sebring, Florida.

Mr. Saylor Diehl is expected to arrive from Sebring this week. Mr. Diehl has purchased a trailer and has parked it in the Shepherd Trailer Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Frederick and Roy, Jr. of Arlington spent Sunday with the John Fearnleyhoughs. Mr. Lester Huff had to be taken to Doctors Hospital for treatment last Tuesday.

It's good to see that Mrs. V. W. Zirkle is able to be out again—also Wayne Vance who had a "backset" with the mumps.

Mrs. Cleveland Flory and Brenda spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Max Loeffler. Cleveland went down on Sunday and brought them home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hale and Mr. and Mrs. Conway Owens, Jr. and little son of Falls Church were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hale.

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Nelson and Mrs. Mary Nelson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dudley and family in Silver Springs, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith are building a very nice dairy barn on their farm, formerly the old Wright place on the Nokesville-Aden road.

Nokesville's first May Day in many years was a definite success. The affair was held on the athletic field on Thursday afternoon and was attended by a very large crowd of parents and patrons of the school.

Prof. Cale Gibson crowned Miss Elizabeth Fitzwater, one of this year's seniors, the Queen to open the afternoon's activities. Miss Fitzwater wore an unusually lovely gown of ivory broadened satin with a long train. Her escort and King of the May was another senior, Herbert Wood. In the court were Misses Shirley Bradshaw, Gladys Wright, Frances Fitzgerald, and Christobelle Tolson. Their escorts were Jay Garman, Sherwood Vance, Eric Mauck, and L. R. Cowne, Jr.

Little Miss Hazel Breeden was the flower girl. Bobby Hale was the Crown bearer and little Miss Linda Wood was the train bearer.

Following the crowning ceremony, the school children put on a lovely program under the direction of Miss Alma Watts and the teachers of each grade. They performed before the Queen and her court which sat before a large trellised platform covered with lovely flowers.

Mrs. Fleming's first grade acted the singing game, Looby Loo; Mrs. Whetzel's second grade played the singing game, I See You; Mrs. Kline's first and second graders had a flag drill; Miss Wright's fourth grade had a folk dance "The Country Garden"; Miss Ware's third graders acted out "The Tom Thumb Wedding"; Mrs. Cross's fourth and fifth graders danced the Virginia Reel; the Tonettes played; Miss Breeden's fifth graders had a folk dance, "Shoo Fly"; Mrs. Marshall's figures, Ritter said, were 40 percent of fair market value being the usual basis of assessment in Virginia. The town was made that some of the assessments were low, especially that for the town of Manassas, he said. He told the council that while he had prepared annexation suit studies for many cities in Virginia, including Richmond, Danville, Williamsburg and Falls Church, he had never worked on a town annexation proceeding. Because of financial disagreements between cities and counties—disagreements which would not exist in a town suit—Bartholomew said he believed such an action as Manassas seeks would be easier than many he has participated in.

It will take the best part of a year to carry through an annexation suit, Bartholomew said. Among the things to be done, he explained, are these:

- 1.—A survey of the physical situation; a financial study to include number of people, amount of area, amount of assessed property valuation; an enumeration of the services to be rendered by the town to the newly annexed area.

- 2.—The adoption of an ordinance by the Town Council fixing the new boundary; the presentation of this ordinance to the county court.
- 3.—The appointment of three judges, one of whom would be either Circuit Judge Paul Brown or Associate Judge Arthur Sinclair.
- 4.—Filing of date for hearings.
- 5.—The trial itself.

Early in the conference this week, Bartholomew was confronted by the question of costs of annexation. He said he would be unable "at this time" to estimate the costs, and such an estimate was one of his reasons for suggesting another meeting.

Bartholomew pointed out, however, that the law provides that no taxes can be laid on a newly-annexed area until the town has spent within the annexed area, a total of 12 percent of the area's assessed valuation. As soon as this condition is met, he said, the town can levy its full tax against property owners in the annexed region.

Ritter told the city planner that the added tax revenue is "one of the reasons we want to annex." Mrs. Saunders added that "We need the revenue."

According to Ritter's figure of $587,000 assessed valuation, the town would be required to spend $70,440 in the new areas before it could levy its taxes. The usual way to meet this condition, Bartholomew told the council, is to float a bond issue and spend the money on streets, lights, sewers and water in the first year. At $1.25—the present tax rate—it would take the town approximately ten years to recoup in taxes what it would spend in the first year to qualify for tax-collection privileges.

Unresolved were such questions as what to do about utilities—REA serves the area now sought by the city—and what to do if out-of-towners decide to hire a lawyer to fight annexation.

How soon will you be WELL HEELED?

Do you have any idea of when you'll be well off and secure . . . well heeled?

Are you—in other words—among the many thousands of wise Americans who have done something about their financial future? Or are you one who still does his banking out of his hip pocket and sits back to await the “breaks”?

If you are at all concerned about money matters (and you know how much money really matters) you will be interested in the most systematic, hardly-feel-it way ever devised for having money in the future.

That, of course, is by buying U.S. Savings Bonds regularly, either on the Payroll Savings Plan or the Bond-A-Month Plan.

The Payroll Savings Plan is the wonderful way wherein you ask your employer to set aside a certain portion of your weekly wage. There never is another moment's bother for you.

The Bond-A-Month Plan is for you who have your own business or no regular employer. You arrange with your bank to automatically buy you a Bond a month from your checking account. You don't touch that part of your money so you're not tempted to spend it.

In what seems like no time, it mounts and grows, and when the Bonds mature in 10 years you make $4 for every $3 you put in.

Four for three . . . not bad eh?

Dental Clinics For Children This Summer

Dental clinics will be held this summer for both white and colored school children in the Prince William-Fauquier Health District. Plans are now being made for a clinic to be held for the white children at the Occoquan school from July 12 to August 11 and for the colored children at the Brown and Summit schools.

These clinics are open to pre-school children, who are entering school in the fall as well as those of grade school age. The opportunity for sodium fluoride treatments as well as corrective work will be given to children of pre-school age.

The sodium fluoride program in the elementary school of the Prince William-Fauquier Health District has been completed for the present school year, since the completion of the sodium fluoride program, clinics are being held for the correction of dental defects.

Dr. George A. Fell, Public Health Dentist, assisted by Miss Agnes M. Warren will conduct the clinics in the white schools and Dr. John

M. Carson, Public Health Dentist, assisted by Miss Dorothy H. Bess, similar clinics in the colored schools.

Several schools, both colored and white, were omitted from the sodium fluoride treatments this year since these schools had all their children treated last year. The schools omitted this year will receive the treatments next year.

Of the total enrollment in the Prince William schools visited, both white and colored, approximately 95 percent received the sodium fluoride treatments. This high level of participation was made possible by the response of pupils, parents, and the cooperation of schools authorities. Dr. Fell stated that in the white schools dental records were made, cleanings and sodium fluoride treatments were given to 848 children. Of this number 553 needed some kind of corrective dental care. Dr. Carson reported that 90 colored children received these same services. Of these children 67 needed some type of corrective dentistry.

The sodium fluoride program in Fauquier county was concluded for the year with similar results. There were 1157 white and 344 colored children treated in that county.

The sodium fluoride treatments are designed to reduce by about 40 percent the incidence of dental cavities in the children treated. This ratio of about 40 percent reduction in dental cavities can be lost by frequent consumption of concentrated sugars, such as candy. Regular visits to the family dentist will still be necessary as well as the practice of mouth hygiene in the home and a wholesome diet in childhood.

Dr. Carson conducted a clinic in the Anloch and Cabin Branch schools where the children had their dental defects corrected.

by the leak was dark and had an offensive smell characteristic of raw sewage.

Daniels, the contractor, is under a $10,000 performance bond for a one-year period after completion of the disposal plant. Ritter has indicated that if the contractor does not respond to his letter, the town will seek enforcement of the performance bond.

The town manager expressed the opinion this week that Daniels could patch the leaky digester with hot asphalt or some such preparation. He told The Journal that the heavy sludge in the digester eventually would clog up any leak, but that repairs should be undertaken by Daniels in any event.

Councilman Roy Doggett, long a critic of the construction methods used by Daniels and an outspoken opponent of final payment of the contractor, said he would oppose allowing Daniels to use makeshift methods to repair the leak.

entrance to the camp.

Explorer Scouts, the older members of the movement, will check into the campsite between 9 and 10 a. m. Saturday. Check-in for Scout Troops made up of boys younger than Explorers is set between 10 a. m. and noon. Initial camp inspections will be made at the time troops check in.

Between arrival time and 2 p.

m. Saturday, Scouts will be busy arranging their exhibits of scoutcraft and campercraft. Judging of these exhibits is scheduled for 2 p. m. Points will be given on the basis of how tents are pitched, how the campfire is located, the establishment of woodcutting places, the location and construction of latrines and "police" or cleanup of the camp.

A campfire, with singing, storytelling and the other usual entertainments, will be held at 8 p. m. Taps, calling all scouts to bed, will be sounded at ten o'clock.

Reveille Sunday morning is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock, with Church services at 9. There will be a bugling contest at 10 a. m. Sunday, and a final inspection at noon.

Announcement of scores will be made at 1 p. m., and awards will be made subsequent to the 1:30 check-out hour, trophies being given as the individual troops depart.

Purpose of a Boy Scout Camporee is to enable Scouts to put into practice the theories of woodcraft and camping they have learned at troop meetings. The entire operation of a camp is undertaken by boys from 11 to 16 years of age, supervised by their adult masters.

The exact number of Scouts will attend is not yet known, but the estimate of 500 to 1,000 is based on the basis of usual summer events. One troop of North Fairlington, with about 40 boys—almost all membership—on the Camporee
