Large List of Entries Due In Veterans' Farm Club Fair

Brooke E. Allen, Gainesville, Vt. has recently purchased the registered Brown Swiss bull Penstock's Michel Flopper 94980 from The Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa., according to report from Fred S. Idtse, Secretary of the Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders' Association, Beloit, Wis. consin.

Drift registrants previously classified as 1-A and subsequently notified have until September 1 to notify the local draft board in order that their classification may be changed.

The coming test has been arranged through the cooperation of the Superintendent of Schools. School bus operators who have previously qualified will be exempt from the special examination if they have been in continuous operation as school bus operators. It is estimated that there are 2,859 school operators in the State.

Veterinarians of Prince William County are doing a land office business preparatory to the opening of the Veterans' Farm Club Show to be held at Longview Park Speedway, August 31, to September 2. It is a requirement of the show that all exhibitors of livestock must have their cattle vaccinated.

According to County Agent Frank Cox there will be an exceptionally large number of entries and he anticipates the farm show will surprise the people of Prince William County with the ability and versatility of the young men who are arranging the products of their own farms or those of their parents.

"They are a mighty fine crowd of farmers," said Cox.

It is expected for the benefit of far announcements that all entries for the show must be on the fair grounds not later than noon standard time on August 31.

Special entertainment will be provided for fair visitors. Tod Mason's All-Star Rodeo from Hollywood has been engaged to present a variety show each night at 7:30 o'clock and in addition there will be matinees on each Saturday afternoon.

Judges have been announced for the various contests. Mrs. Francis M. Moffett and Mrs. Nancy Cocke have been chosen judges of the Home Economics department. Both are graduates of county residential schools. Judge of VPI will be Judge James Mackie, of Fauquier county, of the dairy entrants and Joseph Beard, county agent of Fairfax county, will have charge of the judging for farm produce, poultry

A LESSON FROM THE CHINESE

The story is told that the Chinese pay the doctor to keep them well, and if they contract illness, the doctor pays them instead. Whether or not this story is true, the general idea is sound. Serious illness often can be prevented by regular health examinations. Form a habit of visiting your doctor often—at least twice a year. If you do not have a family physician, we will be glad to recommend several from whom you can make your selection.

County Agent's Note Book Contains Seeding Advice

If you seed ladino clover and orchard grass now, your livestock will have a lush pasture panury by early spring.

That's the word from Dr. H. L. Dunton, head of the agronomy department at V.P.I., who points out that on the other hand, if you wait to seed until spring, there'll be no grazing until late fall of 1951.

Here are his tips:

In Prince William County this mixture should be seeded this month, at the rate of six pounds of orchard grass and one to two pounds of ladino per acre.

Be sure to inoculate the ladino seed well and do not plant them too deep.

Use about 800 to 1,000 pounds per acre of 2-12-12 fertilizer at seeding time.

In preparing a seed bed on land not subject to erosion, plow, disk well, and compact with roller or cultipacker. On land that may be rolling or subject to erosion, disk well but don't plow. Be sure though that you prepare a good seed bed.

Dr. Dunton says that no plant or combination of plants yet found yields as much high quality feed per acre as does ladino orchard grass.

LAWN TIPS

Want a better lawn next year? Now's the time to do something about it.

Home owners should check on the condition of their lawns now. Chemical weed killers will eliminate many weeds, but are no substitute for a good lawn fertilization program. Follow weed killers with an application of fertilizer in late August or early September. Even if your lawn is free of weeds, apply some fertilizer to keep the turf strong and vigorous.

If you plan to start a new lawn this fall, get the grading completed as soon as possible so you will be ready to sow the seed in August or early September. Virginians are advised to seed 80 percent (by weight) Kentucky blue grass, and 20 percent red top.

A light mulch of wheat straw spread over the soil after the seed is sown will help get a good stand. Beecher also says that now is the time to order bulbs for crocuses, daffodils, hyacinths, tulips and narcissi, for planting in October and November.

NITROGEN, 5 CENTS A POUND
Nitrogen at 5 cents a pound is possible if you turn under legume cover crops on corn acres.

Experiments at the Eastern Virginia Field Station at Williamsburg, conducted by Station Superintendent H. N. Camper, show that nitrogen added to the soil through the use of crimson clover cost only 5 cents per pound.

In the tests, corn yields on plots where the legume had been turned under rose to 104 bushels per acre. On plots where no legume was turned under, and where no commercial nitrogen was applied, yields were only 50 bushels.

A yield of 192 bushels of corn was obtained when 100 pounds of nitrogen were applied in commercial fertilizer—but that nitrogen cost 17 cents per pound.

Commercial nitrogen applied to the corn following a legume gave no increase in yield. Basic mineral fertilizer applications were uniform on all test plots.

Agronomists figure that if a farmer has say 25 acres of corn—he will save enough (about $300) by using a legume cover crop to pay the bill for his fertilizer top-dressing.

Corn yields following a cover crop of hairy vetch were 93 bushels per acre, and although vetch is not recommended when small grains are used in the rotation, it has the advantage of a late seeding date. Crimson clover and rye grass can be seeded up until October 15. Vetch can be seeded up until November 15.

The results at Williamsburg came from plots that were not grazed, but agronomists say that if livestock are taken off the cover crop in time to let the crop grow before plowing here will be no appreciable decrease in the amount of nitrogen added. Any reduction will be more than offset in feed value for the spread over the soil after the seed
