Annexation will be discussed at today's meeting of Town Council. Several studies have been made of the areas of possible annexation. Expert consultation has been heard. Now Council must decide whether to go through with the project.

Names of the five draftees from this area who will be inducted into the armed forces on September 28 are as follows: Thomas Lewis England, Fairfax Station; Charles Donald Smith, Gainesville; Allen Crover Ellison, Manassas; and Stewart Hartman, Woodbridge; and Robert Lee Jones, Dumfries.

Twenty-seven men have been ordered to report to Richmond for physical examination on October 2. No draft quotas have yet been received from Prince William County for the months ahead.

The State Highway Department has let a contract for 3.4 miles of road surfacing on secondary Routes 38 and 62 to W. W. Sanders of Warrenton. The $32,728 improvements will be made between Bethel and U. S. Route 1.

Members of the Manassas Baptist Church, under the direction of pastor John D. Edens, are preparing to take a religious census of Manassas and vicinity on Sunday afternoon, September 24. Cooperation is asked when the census taker calls.

All Northern Virginia owners of purebred dogs and puppies over the age of three months are invited to attend the Sanction Match of the Old Dominion Kennel Club which will be held Sunday, Oct. 1, at Beech Tree Farm, just off Route 50, outside Falls Church. According to Mark Taynton, chairman of the event, this will be an unusual opportunity for inexperienced dog owners to show their animals. All the judges will be professional handlers. Novices as well as those with some experience may obtain expert reaction to their handling technique.

Three hundred feet of water main are now being laid on Prescott Ave. from Center St. to the corporate limits. The new water line replaces a temporary one in the area and should afford better protection for business establishments in northeast Manassas.

The Rev. H. Fred Edge, pastor of Manassas Evangelical United Brethren Church, has been re-assigned for the coming year to the Manassas circuit by the Annual Conference held recently at Waynesboro.

The regular meeting of the Nova Shrine Club will be held next Monday evening at the Stonehall Jackson Hotel, Manassas. Refreshments at 6:30 p. m. and dinner at 7. A good speaker is promised.

The Occoquan-Woodbridge-Lorton Volunteer Fire Department will hold a baked ham and turkey supper in the fire hall of Friday, September 29, from 4 until 8 p. m. Proceeds are to benefit the firemen's building fund.

The first Fall meeting of the Manassas FFA will be held tonight at 8:30 in the Osborn high school auditorium. Teachers and parents are invited.

The district highway engineer at Fredericksburg has suggested a new approach to the problem of promiscuous roadside dumping of trash and garbage. Upon his recommendation the Garden Club of Fauquier County obtained a piece of land where the public was permitted to dump without charge, and three or four times a year the highway department smooths the dump with a bulldozer. The County pays for the bulldozing, which amounts to about $100 a year.

Mr. Egg has gotten too big for his breeches, says D. U. Livermore, VPI poultry marketing specialist. Successful efforts to breed larger eggs have resulted in eggs that no longer fit the standard shipping cartons. Livermore says that although there are 50 per cent more "fat" eggs and 100 per cent more "too long" eggs today than there were 30 years ago, the fillers and flats designed for 1917 model eggs are still being used, resulting in damage in transit.

CIRCUIT COURT TO DECIDE ON REFUND TO HEALTH CENTER CONTRIBUTORS

Itinerant Termite Exterminators Seek Out Widows as Special Prey

If a stranger presents himself at your door and prophesies your house a shambles, attacked, chewed and digested, all in the space of an hour, with nothing left but few brass door knobs and the foundation, the guy is probably a fraud. Dismiss him from your premises!

That was the advice of the Manassas Chamber of Commerce after they heard at their Tuesday meeting how there are men traveling in Prince William County who pass themselves off as competent termite exterminators. Exorbitant prices are asked but the services rendered ultimately reveal a complete lack of appreciation of the ways of the termite.

Dr. George B. Cooke warned the Chamber against contracting with unknown men who purport themselves to be exterminators. A recent article in a Washington newspaper warned citizens of the metropolitan area to be on their guard and protect themselves from itinerant exterminators, he said.

Reportedly, there have been several instances recently in Manassas of people being taken for a far worse financial debacle than the termites could ever hope to produce. Strangers come and point out the dangers of termites in such a forceful way that few householders can resist employing them, it is said.

Once employed the pseudo-exterminator makes noise like an exterminator true, and exhibits enough professional show to convince the uninitiated, but in the final analysis he isn't even a good apprentice. He may arrive at your house with a truck full of tools and a barrel full of chemicals, but chances are the chemicals are cut and he doesn't know which end to hold the tools by. In short the fellow would make a better sideshow Barker than exterminator and there is not much good can be said of him.

Perhaps it is only a fierce hatred of wood-devouring insects that causes him to recall instances of two-story houses suddenly crashing down in a heap around the ears of what had been a jolly, prosperous family. Or he may tell of the awful screams of pretty little babies who are awakened deep in the night by falling lumber bashing in their cribs.

And perhaps it is a neurotic fear of the termite that causes the self-professed exterminator to exaggerate the dangers of termites. Some Chamber members thought the menace was never great and the damage light even when the pests were given a head start.

And perhaps it is only a spirit of religious determination to rid the world of termites and their race that causes the faker to demand unreasonable remuneration, much like the Holy Crusaders felt fully justified in ravishing transpired lands in order that they might prosecute their wars against the infidel.

But for none of these doubtful reasons does the stranger-exterminator solicit chiefly among aged widows. It doesn't take an experienced con man to perceive the possibilities of alarming a widow by picturing the unreal dangers to her home.

Mayor Harry P. Davis solemnly reported that three widows have recently come to him asking advice. In each case the woman had been visited by a strange man who told her of termites and of dangers to her house. One woman told the Mayor she had been asked $900 for the job. He told her that if it cost that much to exterminate a house, she had better let the bugs eat their fill and then rebuild if needed. It wouldn't cost much more. Another woman was caught by his Honor just in time as she was preparing to fork over $700 to have her house eradicated of termites.

Unfortunately, not everyone was safeguarded, the Mayor said, and

Eastman Keys Murder Trial Verdict Today

A decision was expected this afternoon in the Eastman Keys murder trial, as the Journal went to press.

At noon, Commonwealth Attorney Stanley A. Owens was speaking to the jury, following the completion of testimony and examination of evidence. Circuit Court Judge Arthur Sinclair was expected to instruct the jury shortly afterward.

The present trial of Keys began yesterday. A deadlocked jury resulted July 25 when Keys was first brought to trial for the murder. The jury was reportedly deadlocked at 9-3. Owens announced then that he would bring Keys to trial at the next term of Court.

Eastman Keys is charged with the fatal shooting of his 44-year-old sister-in-law and housekeeper on March 16, 1948 at his home in Dumfries. On the same day Keys suffered a gunshot in his left arm that made amputation necessary. It is believed that he attempted suicide after shooting his sister-in-law.

Just as they did in the July trial, psychiatrists appeared yesterday as expert witnesses for both sides and held that Keys was mentally irresponsible at the time of the shooting and, conversely, that he was sane. Inability of the jury to reach a verdict on the point of Keys' sanity may again stretch the trial out to another term of the Court.

Defense maintained that the shooting occurred while Keys was temporarily insane and the prosecution tried to establish that the shooting resulted from a fit of jealousy over the attentions paid Mrs. Charles Eastman.

BOND ISSUE

Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond ruled yesterday that a referendum on school bond issue may be held on the same day as the general election on November 7.

Almond thus cleared up misunderstanding in Prince William County over the possibility of holding the referendum on general election day. The Circuit Court must set the date for a referendum and it is now believed that Judge Brown will set the date for November 7.

In a letter to Commonwealth Attorney Stanley A. Owens, the attorney general said special ballots and special ballot boxes must be provided for such an election, which, he pointed out, technically is not a part of the general election.

Vets Farm Club Says 'Thanks' For Fair Help

Following is a letter received from Joseph Johnson, president of the Veterans' Farm Club in which he expresses thanks for cooperation and encouragement given the Club in its recent successful efforts to revive the Prince William County Fair.

The fair, held last month, was the first in Prince William for almost 30 years.

September 20, 1950.

Editor, Manassas Journal:

The Prince William County Fair Committee is both proud and happy to publicly thank the Manassas Journal for its wholehearted and enthusiastic support in the establishment of the first Prince William County Fair in many years.

We feel that this type of fair has long been needed and we shall devote our efforts to have it repeated in the years to come.

The cooperation of the many public-spirited citizens, who gave freely of their time and effort, is acknowledged: Mrs. Leona Barlow, who so capably handled the Home-making Exhibits, with the able assistance of Mrs. Helen Champion and the other members of the County Home Demonstration Club; County Agent Frank Cox and his assistant, Charles Hall; and Philip B. Reading and Raymond R. Fishpaw, Vocational Agriculture Instructor.

We are grateful to our local merchants for their cooperation in entering displays of merchandise and lending their financial assistance.

Through the generosity of the Board of Directors of Longview Park, and Mr. John Counts, manager, the park grounds were made available to the committee for the three days of the Fair. The convenient location and many facilities of Longview Park made it an ideal site for the event.

We wish especially to thank the people who donated registered calves which were awarded as prizes to FFA and 4-H Club boys in the livestock and dairy classes:

Mrs. Olive M. Hooker-Holstein, L. R. Cowne-Holstein, Harry Miller and son—Holstein, Harry Wilson—Holstein bull.

Committee Hears Report On Highway

Since no decision has been announced by the CAA on the site of a proposed new Federal airport, backers of the Monticello Highway are not pressing their plans too far, hoping that the airport ultimately will be located in Fairfax or Prince William County whereby the Federal government would obligingly build a portion of the highway for them.

Possible sites suggested for the proposed airport have been almost as numerous as the aircraft field would serve and those people who would like somehow to tie in Monticello Highway with the airport have been in a spin.

At a closed meeting of the Executive Committee of the Monticello held in the Manassas Town Hall Tuesday night, members present heard a report on a recently completed engineering survey of the most favorable route for the new highway. Authorization for this survey had been given by the State Highway Department and the engineers were to recommend a likely route to the Department. About two months ago the boards of Supervisors of Fairfax and Prince William Counties voted to match State funds for the employment of Richmond engineers to make the survey. Fairfax contributed $2,000; Prince William, $1,000.

The engineer's survey, one member of the committee reported, recommended a route that begins at Edsall cloverleaf on Shirley Highway and runs southwest, through Chifton and intersects Route 28 in the vicinity of Yorkshire Acres. The route curves behind Manassas, crosses Route 234, and intersects Route 28 again, this time about one mile southeast of Manassas. The highway then is supposed to go straight south-west-south to Charlottesville.

General James A. Anderson, head of the State Highway Department, is reported to have told members of the committee that the highway is assured along the route described above. But only a two-lane highway can be built at first, he is reported to have said, the other two lanes will have to be built later.

Full Refund Or Pro Rata Is Question

No Precedent Owens Says

Whether full refunds legally can be made to contributors to the Prince William War Memorial Health Fund will be decided by the October term of the Circuit Court.

Commonwealth Attorney Stanley A. Owens handed this problem to the Court when he filed a petition asking whether the refund should be made in full or on a pro rata basis. The County treasurer now holds about $18,000 which was given and accepted on condition that it be used for the construction of a health center or clinic in honor of Prince William's war dead.

The County Board of Supervisors earlier this year decided not to appropriate the additional funds needed for the project, thus the legal problem of just how it should be refunded has been a perplexing one, since some of the money already has been spent.

The petition filed by Owens lists the names of several score contributors and the names of the other contributors numbering approximately 1700, are known to various members of the fund-raising committees.

In 1947 about $14,800 was raised through public subscription for a war memorial and two years later the Board of Supervisors voted to transfer $66,000 from the County general fund to the war memorial fund making a total of about $24,800. However, $6,476 was expended, chiefly for architect's fees ($2,200) and for the purchase of a three-acre lot where the once-proposed health center was to be located. Thus, the Court must decide whether the County should return to each contributor 100 cents on his dollar, or to pro rata the expenses which would mean that each contributor would be refunded something less than 100 cents on his dollar.

When asked by the Journal, Owens stated it was his opinion that since funds were accepted initially on the condition that they be used for a specific purpose, and that now they were not to be used for that purpose, the contributors should have a complete 100 per cent refund. Action in the matter became necessary, he continued, because there is no precedent for this particular legal problem, and he felt a court determination of the matter ought to be sought for the guidance and protection of the Board of Supervisors and other County officials who will be called upon to issue refund checks.

Proposals for a war memorial originated shortly after the last war at a meeting of interested citizens at the Courthouse. Plans for the solicitation of funds were made and later two committees, headed by D. J. Martin and Dr. E. H. Marsteller, collected about $14,800 from residents of the County.

Gradually plans for a health center evolved and in 1949 the Board of Supervisors voted to add $10,000 to that already privately collected. Federal and state grants-in-aid amounting to about $50,000 for the construction of a health center.

As envisioned, the health center was to cost about $75,000 and was to employ trained nurses on duty 24 hours a day, and be equipped with X-ray facilities. Physicians of this area were to be free to practice there.

However it became evident that a health center of this sort could not be built as civilian technicians were not available. Later, after discussion of other types of war memorials, the whole plan was dropped.

There the matter stood until some contributors to the fund began to ask for refunds of their money and County officials were perplexed, not knowing just how to go about refunding contributions after some of the money had been spent.

There is a possibility that the Court will direct the County to sell the three-acre lot bought for the site of the health center and return the revenue to the fund. In this event $3,000, or almost half of the expenditures, would be saved. The lot is located on Sudley Road, just outside the Town limits.

Bond Issue For Drain System Before Council

Manassas Town Council, at its Monday meeting will consider the feasibility of a $20,000 bond issue to finance a drainage system to relieve the northeast area of town from surface water after heavy rainfalls.

Town Manager James Ritter says he favors a general obligation bond issue as the only way to obtain funds for the needed project.

At its last meeting Council discussed digging an open ditch through property owned by the Manassas Recreation Association to carry off the excess water which accumulates west of Centreville Road after heavy rains.

Council also considered the possibility of building a system of culverts from Centreville Road to Grant Avenue.

Richard Worthington, resident highway engineer, earlier told Council that, although he could not make official promises, he thought the State might contribute to the cost of culverts under Grant Ave., since Grant (Route 234) is part of the State highway system.

J. A. Vetter, general manager of the Central Mutual Telephone Company, following an operation September 13 for gallstones, is feeling much better and resting comfortably, according to his son, Stuart Vetter, of Manassas.

Lung complications developed after the operation and Vetter, in critical condition, was placed under an oxygen tent. His condition was enough improved by September 17 to permit physicians to remove the tent, but Vetter is not expected home for at least another week.

Vetter entered the hospital September 15 for observation after being in a run-down condition for several weeks.

Word comes that after two consecutive mild winters, State highway forces in Prince William County are expecting a severe one this year and have been ordered to take every possible precaution so that road damage from wintry weather may be minimized in this County.

new little girl, born at Arlington Hospital on September 9th, her brother Eddie's birthday. The little 6 lb. 8 oz. miss has been named Donna Marie.

Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Munzing and family, who are quite well known here have accepted the pastorate at the Linville Creek Congregation near Broadway. Rev. Munzing recently graduated from Bethany. This church is the home church of our librarian, Miss Joyce Moyers.

Miss Kitty Kirchmeyer spent the week-end with her apartment-mate, Miss Dawn Arey at her home at Hinton.

So many of our parents took trips to the various colleges during the past week to take their "college kids" back to school or there for the first time. Lowen Marshall went back to Dayton, Mary Hooker, Jay Garman, Warren and Charles Wright are at Bridgewater (Charles and Warren had been called one week ahead of school opening to practice for football); Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Nolley left the first of last week so that Eugene could attend the Youth Planning conference at Rawley Springs—Eugene is the co-president of the Student Christian Movement at Bridgewater; Anna Hooker is back at William and Mary; Elizabeth Fitzwater is attending R. P. I. at Richmond; George Croushorn was home over the weekend and returned back to the University of Maryland on Monday where he has been working all summer and where he will enroll the last of the week for next year's session. Eloise Sonfrank, Christobelle Tolson, Joanne Free, Carolyn Irvin and Peggy Liskey are attending the Vocational School in Manassas.

Mrs. Daisy Crumpacker, who spent last week with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Herring, and this week with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Beahm, is planning to leave on Saturday for Martinsburg, West Virginia, where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. Francis Solinger.

Sgt. Ralph Diehl has been spending some time here before reporting for active duty in Texas. Mr. George Beahm returned home on Monday from a week's vacation. He had returned home with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beahm and Mr. and Mrs. John Sanderson of near Roanoke on Monday after they had spent the weekend here. He spent several days with them then the Sandersons took him to Bedford where he visited two of his nieces and their families—Mrs. S. L. Bandy and Mrs. Mary McKenney.

Mr. Oliver Rowe is again critically ill at the Charlottesville Hospital.

Rev. I. N. H. Beahm came to town on Saturday long enough to make a few purchases at the Graybill home—for memories' sake, we know.

The Graybill sale brought an unusually large crowd, many out-of-town folks. The Graybills built their home here in 1911 and have raised their family and lived here ever since then. It will seem strange for the house to belong to someone else.

Forty-three "Croushorn relations" met at the home of Mr. J. W. Croushorn at Aden on Sunday to help him celebrate his 79th birthday. Those who helped to make the day nice for him were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brown, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Yates, and Mr. and Mrs. Rubin Hefflin of Catlett, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Owens and family of Hyattsville, Maryland, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, Mr. Henry Byers and Russell Byers and daughter of Mt. Cave, Mr. and Mrs. William Croushorn and family and M. L. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Croushorn and family, Mrs. Roscoe Croushorn and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Homer P. Swank.

Mr. L. L. Payne continues to be critically ill at the Mark Kerlin home. The Paynes who for a number of years have lived at Christiansburg since living at Aden had had such an enjoyable week visiting their old friends. Indeed, when they were leaving for their home, they were making plans to return here to live again. Mrs. Payne isn't at all well either. Mrs. Ernest Splitter, Jr. has been helping out with the nursing duties, since Mr. Payne is too ill to be moved to a hospital.

Mr. E. C. Owens, we are so glad to report, is convalescing satisfactorily at his home. Also out again is Mr. Bowman, who still isn't well enough to return to his school bus driving duties.

Of interest to the many friends Gerald Caplinger of Mathias, West Virginia who made his home here for several years is the news that on Saturday evening, September 2, he was married to Miss Velma Doris Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis of Broadway in a double ring ceremony at the Lutheran Parsonage of Timberville with the Rev. S. W. Berry, pastor of the bride officiating. The bride is a graduate of the Broadway High School in the class of 1946 and both the bride and groom are employed by the Rockingham Poultry Coop., Inc., of Broadway. They will make their home in Broadway.

Miss Bernice Hooker came home on Saturday evening to spend a week before starting her new job at the hospital in Richmond. Another one of our "old-timers" passed away this week. Mrs. Aeneith Ritenour died at the home of her daughter's, Mrs. Clarence Twomey, near Aden where she has been very ill for some time. Mrs. Ritenour and her husband came here from Mathias, West Virginia more than 40 years ago. She still has a farm below Aden where now live. Funeral services will be held at the Asbury Methodist Church at Aden on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Joyce Moyers' mother and two brothers brought her back to Nokesville on Monday evening after she had spent the weekend with them at the Moyer home near Broadway. Miss Moyers' brother, Clarence, who will be at Bridgewater College again this year went on to Manassas to take back with him his roommate at College this year, Carroll Conner.

Mrs. M. J. Shepherd, Mrs. Ted Shepherd and Mrs. Wilford Wilkins spent Wednesday in Washington and visited Mrs. Shepherd's sister, Mrs. Pearl Owen who isn't at all well. She has been quite ill for some time.

The Senior Women's H. D. Club met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Floyd Lanier with Mrs. Carl Miller and Mrs. John Randall as co-hostesses. During the afternoon Mrs. Barlow gave a report on the trip which many of the rural folks took to V. P. I. this summer. Mrs. W. R. Free reported on the planning meeting held in Manassas recently. It was decided to make the United Nations Flag and present it to the community on Flag day if possible. Mrs. Ellen Frew was appointed to make the flag. Quite a lot of discussion was made on the recently held Fair and the sentiment was that most Nokesville ladies would be very glad to help out next year. Our Agent gave a very interesting demonstration on Table Service. The hostesses very graciously served refreshments while the ladies enjoyed "just visiting."

Mrs. M. J. Shepherd and Mrs. Ted Shepherd went to Leesburg on Saturday and brought back Mrs. Howard Johnson, Grace's grandmother, to spend the weekend with the Shepherds and Rices and Foleys in Manassas.

Tuberculosis Group Notes Milk Funds

The Prince William County Tuberculosis Association at a meeting last Wednesday voted to appropriate $400 for milk for indigent school children who are tuberculosis contact cases.

Jack F. Pick, Jr., president of the association, reported that there are in the County 313 tuberculosis contact cases, including 203 adults and 110 children. Most of the children with this disease are school children, he said.

The association set the second day of every other month as a similar meeting date. However, the annual Christmas seal campaign, sale of the seals provides the sole source of revenue for the association.

Among projects sponsored by the association are health education, finding X-ray clinics, relief of patients, sanatorium care, and preventative and control measures.

The Association's X-ray clinic is in the County Health office the second and third Wednesday of each month.

Red Sox Bats Testify Ball Crown No Fluke

Just to prove there was no fluke involved when they previously beat the Manassas Macs two out of three for the Town baseball championship, the Red Sox did it again last Sunday at Swavely Field. The score: 21-11.

The decisive game convinced just about everybody that the Red Sox had been right in their early-season assertions to the effect that they could easily down the Macs. The outcome also aroused speculation on what the Red Sox might have done in the Northern Virginia League in which the Macs played. Some Red Soxers claimed that they could have won the pennant there since the Macs, second place finishers in their league, were able to win only one of four meetings with the Red Sox. "If the Macs could finish in second place, and yet not give us much trouble, I figure we could have won the league," Buddy Merchant, Red Sox second baseman said. The Old Dominion League in which the Sox played was a much faster circuit, he thought.

POLIO TREATMENT COSTS $2,000 IN AVERAGE CASE

But New Policy Provides $5,000 For Full Care If Disease Strikes

The cost of treatment for the average case of polio amounts to $2,000, according to figures released by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. In severe cases, the figure can go much higher.

But now it is possible for the average family to pay for the best treatment available should polio strike one or more of its members.

Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company, nationally known insurance organization, can give you a family polio policy that will pay up to $5,000 expenses for each member of the family that may be afflicted.

Modern Pitts, Drive-In Movie Is Planned

Many of the most modern features, including individual speakers, will be utilized in Pitts' drive-in theater to be built this fall on Route 28, outside the Manassas corporate limits, according to T. I. Martin, manager of the Pitts chain.

A site for the drive-in has been selected and Martin says construction will begin in a few days. This will be the third drive-in theater built by Pitts. Plans are now under way to build five or six more, Martin said, and when added to Pitts' 30 movie houses, will make him one of the largest movie exhibitors in Virginia.

Generally about two months are needed to build an open-air movie theater, but there is not much chance that the theater will open until next spring. The new theater will not affect the hours or show bills of the present Manassas Pitts Theater, and it is expected that the same kind of entertaining films will be shown as have been seen in the past.

Grace Methodist to Be Host To Leader Training School

Grace Methodist Church, in Manassas, will be host to Sunday School members and workers and parents when the Leadership Training School is held September 24 to 28. Members of other Methodist churches and denominations in this area are invited to avail themselves of the opportunity of attending the two classes to be taught each night Sunday through Thursday. The classes will begin at 7:45 p. m.

One of the classes will appeal to parents of children and Sunday School teachers of children. This class, teaching children, will be taught by Miss Carrie Lou Goddard, of Richmond, director of children's work for the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Roy H. Blakemore is the local promoter of this class.

Another class will give direction to all persons who want to know more about their Bible. This course, on the New Testament will be taught by Dr. Roscoe M. White, executive secretary of the Virginia Conference Board of Education, with offices in Richmond.

The pastor of the church, Dr. H. E. Hudgins, estimates that approximately one hundred persons will attend the school.

Church services at Woodbine Baptist Church this Sunday will be as follows: 10 a. m., Rally Day and Sunday School promotion exercises. Special music by the Intermediate choir with recitations by the pupils. Youngest baby present will be given a gift. 6 p. m., Baptist Training Union, 7 p. m., Evening Worship, the pastor's message: "The Blood of Christ."

The Town Council at their next meeting Monday night will consider a bond issue to relieve the Town drainage problems. A $200,000 general obligation issue is presently favored by some members. A referendum on the issue will be necessary.

Pies in the freezer will be welcomed when you have company—expected or unexpected—and on those busier-than-usual days.

Here's how:
Prepare the pastry as usual. All fats seem to be equally satisfactory. Line the pie pan, put in the filling, and cover it with the top crust. Moisten the rim of the lower crust in the filling, and cover it with the top crust. Moisten the rim of the lower crust with water. Fruit fillings in frozen pies tend to boil over during baking. Be sure that the top crust does not dip down into the filling. Don't cut vent holes in the top crust before filling. A solid top crust helps prevent discoloration of the filling of fruit pies, and helps protect all fillings from loss of flavor and aroma.

Some fruit fillings, such as peach and apple, discolor readily. Steaming the sliced fruit or sprinkling lemon juice or ascorbic acid solution on the filling may help prevent this darkening.

Fruit pies made from some canned fruits, such as cherries, cannot be frozen as satisfactorily as those made from frozen or fresh fruits. The fruit may discolor, lose flavor, and become dry and limp, especially when the pie is baked before freezing.

Fruit pies made from frozen fruits, however, are as good as those made from fresh fruit. Loose-pack frozen fruits need no thawing before they are put into the pie shell. Thaw other frozen fruit just enough to spread them in the pie shell. In making fruit pies from frozen fruits packed in syrup, draw off part of the syrup to keep the pie from being too runny or juicy. A pie with a very runny filling is likely to boil over and to have a soggy bottom crust. A moist undercrust does not brown evenly or well. Add tapioca or cornstarch or other thickening to the remaining syrup and cook until clear. Cook the thickening syrup before adding it to the drained fruit. Use enough filling to fill the pan, but not so much that the pie runs over during baking. Seal well.

Probably the most common failure in frozen pies is a soggy undercrust. This can be prevented by making deep-dish fruit pies that have no undercrust. Probably any good recipe for two-crust pie can be satisfactorily frozen as a deep-dish pie, by omitting the bottom crust and increasing the amount of fruit. Paper pie plates with metal rims are convenient containers in which to freeze two-crust pies, and later bake until.

A simple method of packaging is to cover the pie with a paper plate to protect the upper crust, then wrap it in moisture-proof cellophane; heat-seal the package carefully, and place it in stockinette or in a paper box. If you have a pasteboard box of the correct size, just wrap your pie in cellophane or aluminum foil, heat-seal it, and put the pie in the box.

Be sure to stack pies right side up in the freezer. Otherwise some of the juice may leak through tiny cracks in the crust and portions of the top crust will then be soaked with the juice when baked. Pie fillings may be frozen in tubes or in glass jars and used in freshly made pastry. Don't freeze meringue pies as meringue is destroyed by freezing.

The September meeting of the Manassas Garden Club will be held on the 26th at the home of Mrs. Amelia Brown McBryde at 2:30 p. m. Topic of the meeting will be "Flower Arrangements for Tables" and members are asked to bring a table arrangement for display.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS
By Ruth G. Duffy, Manager
Alexandria Social Security Office
The Social Security law is your policy for old-age and survivors insurance and your social security card is the symbol of that policy.
Perhaps you are among those now protected by this program in Prince William County. You may be one of those now receiving monthly insurance payments under this law
if you are among the latter group.
Your September check, which you should receive early in October, will show the increased payments you will receive under the newly amended social security law.

of these increases will depend largely on the amount of the insured worker's enlarged benefit. In no case will increased family benefit payments exceed 80% of the worker's average monthly wage. All of the increases I have mentioned apply to those now receiving payments. The new law makes it easier for workers to qualify for benefits.
In my next article I shall discuss this importance of your new social security.

Be ready to take the plunge

Like your job? Want to make it your life's work?
That's good, if you do!
But maybe ten years from now you won't be happy with any job!
Maybe you'll want to strike out on your own—start your own business.
If and when that time comes, be ready for it. Be ready to make the most of every opportunity—to take the plunge if you want to.
How can you get ready?

Start saving now, today. Put away a little (or a lot, if you can) every month. Put it away in U.S. Savings Bonds.
Then at the end of ten years you'll get back $4 for every $3 you invest today. Suppose you save $18.75 in Bonds every week? By 1960
you'll have $10,828.74.
Enough for a plunge? You bet, but just be careful to look before you leap.

Keys

by a Quantico Marine sergeant. Mrs. Margaret Smith, the defendant's daughter, testified how she went to her father's house on March 16, 1948 to prepare his evening meal, as she was accustomed to do, and found both her father and Mrs. Charles lying on the floor of a bedroom. She immediately called a physician, she said, who came and found Mrs. Charles was dead and Keys was wounded. Keys lay across the weapon used in the shooting, the physician said. Keys told the court that he remembers nothing that happened on the day of the shooting or for several days afterward.

The defense introduced as a witness Dr. John R. Saunders, of Richmond, a psychiatrist, who testified that he had treated Keys following the shooting. Dr. Saunders testified that in his opinion Keys on the day of the shooting was not of sound mind.

For the prosecution Dr. Joseph R. Blalock appeared. Dr. Blalock, who is a physician, and a psychiatrist, and superintendent of the Southwestern Hospital at Marion, said that it is his opinion that Keys is and has been sane. He and his staff observed Keys for more than a year and one-half, he said.

At the July trial, Mrs. Smith told of how her father had been suffering extreme mental depression and had once attempted suicide by hanging in his garage. Keys is widely known throughout Prince William County and for 21 years was a school bus driver in Dumfries.

Yesterday's jury was composed of John P. Earhart, Hobart Herford, Fred C. Carter, D. H. Herndon, L. R. Cowne, J. F. Berryman, William H. Wheeler, C. A. Cannon, Herbert R. Runnels, John F. Donavan, W. Herbert Crummitt, and Edgar Parrish.

Thanks are also extended to the many exhibitors who entered animals in the beef and dairy classes, to the 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America who took part in the fair, and last, but not least, to the ladies who entered exhibits in cooking, sewing, and canned foods. We look forward to seeing them J. F. Hale and son—Guernsey again next year with more exhibits in a bigger and better County Fair. This is an agricultural community and as such, any encouragement that can be given to the farmers and townspeople of the county to compete in producing the very best in livestock and farm products, is for the good of all. The young people especially, FFA and 4-H boys and girls, benefit from this type of competition. We solicit your support and cooperation, and hope you will begin planning now on having an entry in the 1951 Prince William County Fair.

Very truly yours,
Joseph B. Johnson, President
Veterans' Farm Club.
