The Town Council will hold an adjourned meeting sometime next week for the purpose of further discussing annexation. Council has not yet officially given support to annexation plans, but members are individually in favor of it. CLOSE MARGIN SEEN IN SCHOOL BOND VOTE MANASSAS RETURNS MAY BE DETERMINANT

November 7 Set For Occoquan Bond Voting

The October term of the Prince William Circuit Court this week set November 7 as the date for a referendum on a $147,677 bond issue to be used in the construction of a water system in Occoquan-Woodbridge sanitary district.

If the bond issue passes, and sentiment in the Occoquan area is heavily in favor of it, connections and meters will be installed at each dwelling in the district. The Alexandria Water Company has a six million dollar plant on Occoquan River and would supply filtered water at a rate of about 25 cents per 1,000 gallons.

There are about 350 families in the Sanitary district which comprises Occoquan precinct, now using well water. Residents of the area point out an inadequacy of well facilities that forces families to double up on wet wells. One well is used by eleven families, it is said.

The proposed water system will include fire hydrants to be placed along the road between Woodbridge and Occoquan and the Alexandria Water Co. allows a percentage of metered water to be used free from fire hydrants.

The Alexandria Water Co., owned by a New York utility syndicate, now is supplying Alexandria and Fairfax County with water.

Eventually, it is hoped also to construct a sewerage system in the district to replace the septic tanks now in use.

Expenses for the 12-day trip will be paid by the Virginia FFA Association. Wright is also a member of the Osborn football team and School Patrol.

The Order of Easter Star will hold a rummage sale in Parish Hall on October 21, 9 a.m. until noon.

Civil Defense Units Here May Be Needed In Washington

A new light was thrown this week on Manassas' civil defense responsibilities when a Maryland civil defense commission announced that the chief aim of civil defense in that state would be to administer aid to Washington or Baltimore in the event of an air raid on either of those metropolitan centers.

Manassas, too, might be called on to give aid to Washington, for there is where bombs would be aimed and there is where the damage would be greatest. It would be a misdirected enemy pilot indeed, who dropped his bombs on Manassas when Washington lies only 20 air miles away.

Logically, any plans for the formation of a civil defense unit in Manassas should be made with respect for the needs of Washington.

A recent book on civil defense, prepared under the direction of W. Stuart Symington, chairman, National Security Resources Board, stresses the need for mutual aid in the event of an atom bombing of any metropolitan area.

A major enemy attack, the report states, on any one of this country's metropolitan centers could place a civil-defense burden on that community far beyond the capacity of the community's own organized protective services. In order to preserve lives and property, the stricken city would need the immediate assistance of organized forces from outside its own boundaries.

Civil-defense planning therefore, calls for a complete and effective system of mutual aid among communities.

The book calls for the organization of mobile support teams composed of personnel and equipment to operate such segments of civil defense services as rescue, first aid, emergency feeding, radiological and chemical defense, engineering, police and fire services.

Heads March of Dimes

General A. A. Vandegrift

General Alexander A. Vandegrift, former Commandant of the Marine Corps, has accepted the chairmanship of the 1951 March of Dimes for Virginia, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, announced today.

This marks the third consecutive year Gen. Vandegrift will serve as Virginia State Chairman of the National Foundation's fund-raising appeal in his state. In this capacity, as in prior years, he will coordinate the activities of county and city March of Dimes campaign directors.

Basil O'Connor said, "Upon the success of the 1951 March of Dimes depends the future of many youngsters. The costs of carry-over medical care are tremendously high, and many of our boys and girls will require hospitalization for a long time to come. I feel certain that General Vandegrift's efforts, with the cooperation of the citizens of Virginia, will help assure the care and treatment of those who look to us for assistance when polio strikes."

Quantico Gets New Rail Depot

Foundations were being dug this week on a new, $124,000 railroad station at Quantico. The Richmond, Fredericksburg, and Potomac Railroad will build the brick depot to replace the present frame one, which has long been inadequate for the needs of the Quantico community.

The one and one-half story depot will also serve the Quantico Marine Base. Although there are rail sidings on the base, many of the Base personnel use the Quantico depot.

Site of the new depot will be adjacent to the present one, on the Potomac River side.

Doye and Russell of Richmond are contractors for the job, which will ultimately cost about $140,000 when streets are extended and paving laid.

Workmen are now waiting for steel to be delivered before proceeding further with construction work. A shipment is expected in about 10 days.

A. F. McIntire, mayor of Quantico, is general agent for the R.F.P. in Quantico.

Guard Unit Finally Gets Recognition

Long awaited Federal recognition for Manassas' National Guard unit came last night at meeting of guard members attended by National Guard officials from Sandstone and Richmond.

Representatives of the Guard unit were expected to go before the Board of Supervisors today and make final plans for construction of a $5,000 annex to Osborn high school gymnasium. The Supervisors several months ago approved the project and agreed to set aside $5,000 for the building which will be used as an office and as a strong room for the storage of weapons. Some member of the guard will be employed full-time to care for the property and keep records.

After the annex is constructed, the gym will serve as the unit's armory. Permission has been granted by the school board for the guardsmen to use the gym on Monday nights for drilling. Meanwhile, until the annex is constructed, the unit will continue to meet on Wednesday evenings in the Legion Hall.

Formally activated as the 177th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Operational Detachment, the unit now has two officers and 13 enlisted men on the payroll.

Maj. Andrew D. Budz, Jr. of Richmond, officially recognized the unit and gave it Federal sanction. Other visiting officers were: Col. John W. Squire, commanding officer of the 107th AAA Brigade; Col. Henry McLaughlin, executive officer to Instructor's Office, Virginia National Guard; Maj. Robert J. Urbach, Operations and Training officer of the 107th AAA Brigade, and Sgt. Major Charles J. Jyer, of Headquarters, 107th Brigade.

The Manassas unit was officially attached to the 107th AAA Brigade at Sandstone.

The November 7 referendum on a $2.4 million bond issue for schools construction and improvement in Prince William will probably be swung by the Manassas vote, it is believed by observers here.

The Circuit Court with Judge Paul Brown on the bench this week gave the go-ahead on the referendum by setting November 7 as the date.

Residents of the lower end of the County are expected to be heavily in favor of the bond issue, since their spokesmen often have voiced requests for additional school facilities. They are determined to get additional facilities and have stated that they will petition the Circuit Court for permission to hold a district referendum in the event the general bond issue is voted down November 7.

Most voters in Gainesville district will probably cast negative ballots, thus offsetting the lower County vote, and leaving the outcome to be determined by the large Manassas vote.

The bond issue was proposed by Superintendent of Schools R. Worth Peters and the County School Board to replace Prince William's application to the State Literary Loan for funds with which to undertake a schools building and improvement program. Application was made to the Literary Loan for about $2 million, but this did not include revised building cost estimates which raised the sum needed to $2.4 million.

No matter whether the bond issue passes the referendum, the County is obligated to spend on the schools building program at least as much money as requested in the Literary Loan application. The County Board of Supervisors approved this application last Spring.

Plans to obtain money from the Literary Loan were abandoned when it became evident that a flood of applications to that agency had completely eliminated Prince William's chances of immediately obtaining the sum applied for. Estimates on the number of years before $2 million would be available to this County ranged from 3 to 12.

Interest rates on the Literary Loan would have been 2 per cent, as set by the State Department of Education. But it is possible to get on the bond issue an interest rate of as low as 1.5 per cent. Superintendent Peters says he hopes this may be done, since it would mean a considerable saving to the County. The bonds will be payable in 30 years.

In no case is the interest rate of the bonds expected to equal 2 per cent and an interest rate of 1.5 per cent, compared with 2 per cent, would mean a savings of $12,000 on interest during the first year following the bond issue.

Supporters of the bond issue point out that the bonds, if passed, would enable the County to proceed immediately on the building program outlined in the schools building program of August and to get the additional school facilities now when they are needed most. Also they point to the savings to be expected if construction work is done aggregately instead of piecemeal.

Over-crowded conditions in County schools are undisputed and an extreme example is Manassas where three first grade classes are currently meeting in the Technical School dispensary.

The building program includes nine schools and the total proposed expenditures are $2,400,000. Total estimated enrollment in the nine schools is 4,065. Following is a digest of the building program, giving cost of estimated work planned at each school, type of construction, and number of students enrolled there.

Bennett, estimated enrollment, 900; alterations and addition, $68,000; Bethel, estimated enrollment, 90; alterations and addition, $7,500; Brentsville district estimated enrollment, 600; alterations and addition, $235,000; Dumfries, estimated enrollment, 500; addition, $100,000; Garfield, estimated enrollment, 500; new $530,000; Haymarket, estimated enrollment, 350; addition, $10,000; Macrae-Antioch, estimated enrollment, 175; new, $25,000; Occoquan Elementary, estimated enrollment, 500; alterations and addition, $60,000; Osborn estimated enrollment, 600; new, $880,000; Regional high and elementary, estimated enrollment, 350; alterations and addition, $375,000; Woodbine, estimated enrollment, 100; alterations and addition, $7,500.

Longview Races Wow Fans; Nearly Half of 33 Cars Crash

The boys who tinker with automobile engines will probably be talking for many seasons about the stock car races at Longview Speedway last Sunday. They were races that enthused not only the excited spectators, but also the hard-core old hands at the racing business.

Thirteen cars smashed up during the seven races, five of the crashes coming in the crowded, 18-car final. Most of these occurred through the popular expedient of crashing through a fence, but several of the drivers managed to throw wheels while hitting a turn at about sixty.

The trouble with most auto races, the Monday quarterbacks say, is that not enough people get killed. But a dozen guys could have lost their heads—and brains—in those races Sunday.

For instance, take the time "Red" Fowler did a slow roll right over the fence. "Red," who is a former Hell-Driver, came into a turn and looked as though he was going to make it okay, but all of a sudden he took off like a catapulted Corsair. Though, the take-off was good, "Red" lost control of his ship at an altitude of about six feet and went into this slow roll that carried him to the bottom of an eight foot bank and—they thought—to his grave. The bottom of the bank was no final resting place for "Red" though and with a long bounce he was off again, this time doing a couple of ground loops before stopping somewhere beyond deep centerfield.

Admittedly, all those stock car drivers haven't got the talent for showmanship "Red" has got and sometimes the best one of them can do is to go careening off through the fence right side up, or come crawling down the straightaway while a dozen frantic drivers try to be nothing more intimate than witnesses to the impending wreck. The crawfish may, as happened a week ago, suddenly get completely out of control and go slinging toward the officials stand and the pit, scattering grease-monkeys like they were ants before a fire.

Wally Gore, sometimes known as the "Arlington Flash" won the final and feature race of Sunday's card. But he didn't win without a fight. Gore started in eighteenth position and, by creeping slowly on the field, reached first place at the 23rd lap. He held there for the final two laps. That race wasn't even off to a good start before four cars piled into a spinner and all five had to be dragged from the track.

All in all, it was a pretty good show the Northern Virginia Stock Car Association put on, and they were some what put out in putting it on, too. Consider thirteen cars out of 33 wrecked, some beyond repair. Mechanics, as late as Monday afternoon, were still hard at work trying to clear up the wreckage. The scene somewhat resembled an Army vehicle graveyard.

One thing seems sure: the races are going to be good, as long as, as the Association's supply of cars last.

Kenneth Returns Home at Last; Excited Sister Struck By Car

A small boy, afraid of being punished by his father, was the indirect cause of an accident which almost cost his young sister her life last Saturday in Haymarket.

Kenneth Jones, a fourth grade student at Haymarket school disobeyed his father early last Friday, according to his mother, Mrs. V. Jones, and knew that he would be spanked when he came home. So Kenneth just didn't come home, she said. He stayed away all Friday night and most of the day Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were frantic, not knowing where the child might be and they notified police, who began a search for the boy.

Meanwhile, about dusk Saturday, Kenneth showed up at home and, sensing the situation, fabricated a story of being kidnapped and bound with ropes by two men. However, police quickly got to the bottom of Kenneth's story and he admitted fibbing and confessed he had been afraid to come home after disobeying his father. He had spent the night, he told his parents, atop a shed near his house.

In the midst of all the excitement, Kenneth's 7-year-old sister Marilyn, was scurrying around telling friends that Kenneth was home, and ran heedlessly from behind a parked car and into the street where she was struck by a passing auto. The small girl was thrown about 15 feet. Witnesses to the accident said it was a "miracle" that she was not killed. At the time of the accident, Kenneth was sitting in the car with his father, and the girl was suffering multiple bruises and a possible brain concussion, but was in a satisfactory condition.

The driver of the automobile, a man from West Virginia, "did a wonderful job of stopping," so said he, "he did," said Mr. F. W. Melton a witness to the accident.

Link had introduced the teachers and gave his ideas on "Why Does the PTA Need You?" Mr. Clinton DeBusk's eight graders won the banner for having the most parents present.

If you want any homemade apple butter, you'd better let Mrs. George Garman know very quick. The 38 gallons which the women of the church made at the Garman home on Wednesday and Thursday is going fast. For many of the younger women, this was the first time they had ever made apple butter in a big kettle. Despite the little burns, sore feet, bad colds, and very, very tired bodies, we still say, we enjoyed the day. We would add that without the help of Mr. Garman and our pastor, Rev. Fleishman, we would have been much more tired.

The folks at the Aden U. B. Church are planning a Halloween party in their church basement on Wednesday night, October 25. The Nokesville Band will be there and there will be plenty of prizes including a door prize. Halloween parties are such nice entertainment and young folks, especially have such a wonderful time getting their costumes ready. SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

By RUTH G. DUFFY, Manager, Alexandria Social Security Office

Under the new social security law, the title "Widow's Current Insurance Benefits" is changed to "Mother's Insurance Benefits."

This means more than a change of title. While, as before, insurance benefit payments will be made to a widow with a child in her care, provision is now made for such benefits to a divorced wife of a deceased insured worker. It is now possible for a widow and one or more divorced wives of a deceased worker to be entitled at the same time to insurance benefit payments based on his social security wage record.

In order to qualify as a former wife, as far as social security is concerned, the divorce must be the natural mother of his son or daughter, or have legally adopted the insured worker's son or daughter while she was married to him, or have been married to him at the time both of them adopted a child. In either case, the child must have been under 18 at the time of adoption. In the case of a divorced wife, the old requirement of "living with" at the time of his death, is changed to "receiving at least half of her support" from him at the time of his death. She must not have remarried. She must have a child of the deceased worker in her care and the child must be her own son, daughter, or legally adopted child and the child's benefits must be payable on the same wage record as hers, which is that of her former husband.

The Alexandria office is located at 815 King Street in the Rully Building. Office hours are from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Monday through Friday. A representative of our office is in Manassas on the 19th Thursday of each month at 9:30 a.m. in the jury room of the Courthouse. The next trip to Manassas will be on Thursday, October 19. If you have any questions about the social security program, please meet our representative on that date.

CUSTOMER'S CORNER

Packing your order may sound like a little thing, but our trained employees give it a lot of thought.

They know that it isn't right to place five pounds of flour on top of a quarter pound of butter—or to place soap next to cheese.

The men and women of A&P will appreciate it if you will let them have any suggestions as to how they can make it a handier package for you to take home.

Why are Prescriptions often Written in Latin?

Perhaps you have noticed that the prescriptions which your physician writes are usually written in Latin. No doubt you have wondered why. Prescriptions are written in Latin because Latin is a dead and never-changing language, universally employed in medical practice. A Latin prescription written in America or England can be filled in Puerto Rico, Russia, or France, even though the pharmacist may not know a word of English. On the other hand, no matter where your prescriptions may be written, we can fill them promptly and accurately. That is our specialty.

Mrs. Martin Hostess To Bethlehem Club

Mrs. W. S. Athey and Mrs. Dudley Martin were hostesses to the Bethlehem Club at the Stonehill Jackson Hotel, September 21st. The president reminded the members that Mrs. John Cox was sending in orders for stationery and Christmas cards as previously for money for the Christmas baskets. Mrs. R. L. Byrd reported that inquires were still coming in about The History of Prince William, published by the Bethlehem Club some years past. It was voted to continue to give hot lunches to an underprivileged child, if needed. A contribution of ten dollars was made toward the furnishings of the Home of the Francis Cannon Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The civic committee was asked to keep in touch with public events in the county and to do their part in anything the club could help with.

The president extended Mrs. Victor Haydon's invitation to meet with her in October. Mrs. Haydon is a former member and has continued to entertain the club since her resignation.

Mrs. R. C. Powell and Mrs. Myrtle Mitchell were program chairmen for the month. Mrs. Powell read a very interesting account of The Beginning of the Free School System in America by William Monroe in 1789, in Orange County, Virginia, in 1811. Orange Humane Society was incorporated by the legislature. This society was to care for indigent children, a unique organization and the beginning of the free school system in America. This organization is still strong in Greene Co. which was formed from Orange Co. After the program a delicious salad course was served. The following poem written by Mrs. R. L. Byrd was read by her at roll call.

"I love to go to Bethlehem To hear the ladies talk, They tell of yesterdays and now And what the future wrought. Their words are kind, Their hearts are true, And as we pass along, I'd rather go to Bethlehem Than mingle with the throng. Bethlehem, dear Bethlehem, The club of many years, Has weathered storms of wars and woes. And yet, we must confess, Has come out victor over all. And, tho the way is rough, We still shall tread the beaten path And wave our banner high, And shout hurrahs for the dear old Club; Oh, may she never die!"

Although the big cat was semitame, it took a lot of courage to corner it against a cliff and hold it at bay until its trainer lured it back into its cage and that's what Roy did.

"You never miss the water till the well runs dry..."

Like the water we drink, the availability of adequate railroad service is often "taken for granted" in normal times.

This is a high tribute to the railroads. But unfortunately, it is also too often taken for granted that railroads can always be strong and ready for any job, on a moment's notice... despite strength-sapping factors over which they have little or no control. Subsidized competition. Inadequate earnings. Hamstringing regulation. And forced continuation of services no longer needed or used.

Today, America can no longer afford the luxury of taking its railroads for granted. For more than the future of the industry is at stake. The railroads are our country's "transportation backbone." In the public interest, railroads should have equal opportunity with other carriers. Given that, they will always be ready to play their vital role in helping to shape the strength and security of America.

Mildred Elsie Wright Weds William Gregory

In a garden setting of white chrysanthemums, gladioli, palms and candles in the Bethel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Miss Mildred Elsie Wright, daughter of Mr. David A. Wright and the late Mrs. Ada Wright of Nokesville, was married Sunday, October 1, at five o'clock in the afternoon to William Elwood Gregory, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence Gregory of Manassas.

The Rev. E. Outhrie Brown performed the ceremony, after which a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence Gregory.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin made with full skirt and a fitted bodice, full sleeves, and a finger-tip veil. Her only adornment was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of white roses, mums, and lily of the valley.

Miss Marian Gregory, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. The other attendants were Miss Louise Smith of Washington, Miss Thelma Furr of Washington, Miss Anna Hibbs of Manassas, Mrs. Jean Hurst of Manassas.

The maid of honor was attired in a gown of fuchsia taffeta with matching headress and carried a bouquet of yellow and lavender chrysanthemums. Miss Hibbs and Miss Hurst wore gowns of blue with taffeta matching headresses and carried bouquets of yellow and lavender chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Gregory, mother of the groom, wore a gown of spice colored faille with matching accessories, and a corsage of tallisman roses.

John Oliver Gregory was his brother's best man and the ushers were Oden Breeden, Jr., James E. McCormick, Wayne Armstrong, and James Gregory.

The bride is a graduate of Brentsville district high school and Mr. Gregory is a graduate of Osbourn High School.

After a Southern wedding trip, the couple will reside in Manassas. At the reception Mrs. Leslie Or-dorff of Stephens City and Mrs. Elmer Hurst of Manassas presided at the punch-bowl. Centerpiece for the punchtable was a lovely arrangement of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. Mrs. James Leo cut the wedding cake.

COMPLETE oven meals cook automatically while the cook is out of the kitchen. An automatic clock control turns the gas on and off at whatever time you decide. A hearty oven meal with all dishes baking at the same time and temperature of 350°F. for 1½ hours includes Stuffed Pork Chops, Succotash, Sweet Potato Pudding and a Cherry Cobbler for dessert. Sweet Potato Pudding: mix 2 beaten eggs, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup milk. Add to 2½ cups grated raw sweet potato. Then add 1 tsp. nutmeg, 2 tbsp. butter, ½ orange, sliced thin. Succotash: mix together 1 cup canned corn, 1 cup canned or cooked lima beans, 1 cup minced tomatoes, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tbsp. minced onion, ½ cup liquid from vegetables, 2 tbsp. butter. Cover both dishes before sliding into the oven with the Pork Chops and Cherry Cobbler.

Keep cooked rice in covered container in your gas refrigerator. Handy for stuffed peppers, rice puffs, any fruit desserts using rice.

It saves time and gas to separate light weight fabrics from heavier clothes when drying them in the automatic gas dryer because the lighter laundry dries faster.

Cheese keeps fresh longer if it's wrapped in cloth that has been sprinkled with vinegar, dipped in water and wrung out. When cloth dries out, repeat vinegar and water treatment.

There's very little bother with ashes when garbage is burned in a gas incinerator because with average family waste, it takes nearly two weeks for the ash tray to fill up.

Tabasco Butter: Cream ¼ tsp. Tabasco into ¼ tsp. butter. Delicious with any seafood, chicken, meat or vegetables.

 ning, was graciously introduced by Mrs. J. Vincent Davis. Mrs. Parsons' topic was "Club T. V." She gave both serious and humorous lustrate her points, and to emphasize the great part which women and

Mrs. Parsons ability and skill in dramatizing and mimicking her characters in a realistic manner was most effective and highly entertaining.

She urged the members to give est civic group of women in Prince William County.

 program of music and the meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Lynn Honored on Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Lynn were honored Sunday afternoon, September 24th, at a golden anniversary celebration given by their daughter, Mrs. Laurence Pabst of Atlanta, Ga., and their son, Mr. Louis K. Lynn of Vienna, Va. The Lynn home on Battle Street was tastefully decorated with gold chrysanthemums and the guests, who numbered about two hundred, registered in a gold-covered book. A three-tier wedding cake, punch and sandwiches were served in the dining room with the assistance of Mrs. C. C. Cushing, Mrs. Louis Lynn, Mrs. Mary W. Ayres and Mrs. Charles Brower. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Odis Turner of Silver Spring, Mr. and Mrs. George Dyson of Washington, M. and Mrs. Keller Greyson of Warrenton, Mrs. Louise Merchant of Herndon and Mr. and Mrs. S. Shelton of Arlington.

Mrs. Theodore M. Reeves Surprised With Party

A surprise birthday party was given last Sunday for Mrs. Theodore M. Reese by her family at her home on Quarry Road, Manassas. After the presentation of gifts, a delightful buffet supper was served. Among the guests were her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thompson of Washington, D. C.; two sisters, Mrs. Aubrey Parr, Mrs. William C. Yokum and niece, Mrs. Joyce Yokum, of Kensington, Md.; a brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Cogan; and her niece, Miss Peggy Cogan; and a

Good Posture Effects Told By Dr. Johnson

"Mind and body are closely related, and thinking straight about standing, walking, and sitting is the first step toward improved health, appearance, and efficiency that results from better posture," said Dr. Walter R. Johnson, County health officer, in announcing yesterday that Manassas was joining in observing the 12th annual National Posture Week.

"Make up your mind that you want better posture and your body will cooperate," Dr. Johnson said. "Of course, all men and women are interested in their appearance. In the cramped position created by poor posture, the lungs find it harder to get the normal quota of oxygen needed by the body for creation of energy.

"The ramrod school of good posture is long since passed. Today the very essence of good posture is ease and grace. Stand 'tall, walk 'tall', and sit 'tall' while working, exercising, or relaxing. Raise your chest, straighten your back, make sure knees are straight, but not stiff and that your weight is distributed evenly on both feet. Draw the abdomen in, pulling it back and upward. Keep these things in mind until they become a habit. In a short time improved posture habits will produce improved health."

sister-in-law, Mrs. Louis Cogan, all of Silver Spring, Md. Daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Marshall Perkins, and granddaughter, Miss Nancy Perkins, of Arlington, Va.; granddaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Hunter, also of Arlington; daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ray Dodd and grandchildren, Miss Mary Alice and Jimmy Dodd of Manassas. Also present were Mr. Lloyd Dye of Washington, D. C., and Miss Joyce Sullivan of Manassas.
