

This 'n That

Young Phil Green Jr. is on the way. He had a worried look when he came in The Journal office last night to report the loss of a 1951 Manassas auto strip which his dad had given him to take home. As Phil explained it, he put the strip in his rear pants pocket, stopped at the "custard" stand for a bit of refreshment and when he came home the strip was gone. Realizing the youngster's predicament, the finder will read this column and return the tag pronto.

Local housewives must have caught up on their washing here recently when the Self-Service Laundry held a "Free Wash Day." Managers of the firm termed the event a big success, the response offering exceeding all expectations. As a result, many new orders were made for this type of laundry service.

Our Nokesville correspondent said: "With a request that we give space in this column to a delicious chicken supper at the Nokesville gym, April 14, from 5:00 to 8:30. It's planned by the 'Band Masters' for the benefit of the Nokesville band. Let's go."

Swell gesture! The steak dinner given by the four Manassas police officers as a farewell to Town Manager James Ritter the other night. As a parting gift, Officer Gerald Peters gave him a pair of cuff links bearing the Manassas emblem. Councilman Wallace Hook presented him with a pen for his desk. There's no denying that there are many who will miss Jimmy as he leaves to take up new duties at Marion next week.

Quite an event took place at the Journal this week. The winners were washed. And the boss was strutting around like a new person ever since. Isn't it wonderful what a little cleaning will do to one's pride and self-respect.

Overhead: . . . prominent business man saying, "I'm tired. Guess I'll go to Florida for a little rest." . . . another one remarking as he changed his new auto strip, "that's helluva a price to pay for the privilege of driving on streets like this."

Many Jobs But Few Applicants

Berbert B. Newell, manager of the Virginia State Employment Service office at 106 N. Fairfax street, Alexandria, Va., stated today that his office was receiving many calls for workers with very few job seekers with which to meet the growing demand. During the month of March, 2702 people called the local office, 984 of which were referred to jobs and 709 were placed in gainful employment. There were over 2,000 openings filled at the end of the month and that figure is steadily increasing.

In Manassas Monday Mr. Newell further stated that representatives of his office, along with representatives of the Civil Service Commission, would be in Manassas Monday, April 16, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. to interview carpenters, painters, laborers and plumbers for a nearby military installation. Mr. Newell wants all unemployed people with those skills to come to the Town Hall for a personal interview.

All other job seekers not possessing the above mentioned skills are requested to visit the local Virginia State Employment Service office at Alexandria.

May 1 Is Deadline For Filing State Returns

Commissioner of Revenue Charles E. Gnadl announced today that May 1 is the deadline for filing state income and personal property returns and urged Prince William citizens to file without delay. There is a 10% penalty for late filing, Mr. Gnadl stated.

Tax Budget Adopted; Tax Unchanged

Operating cost and capital outlay during the fiscal year 1951-1952 will amount to $158,112.00, under the budget adopted by Manassas Town Council on Wednesday night. No increase in the present tax levy of $1.25 per $100.00 is contemplated. This is estimated to yield $23,120.

Other receipts are estimated as follows: License taxes, $9,000; bank taxes, $3,000; fines and costs, $2,500; burial permits—$200; A. B. C. allotment, $4,700; building permits, $300; light and power department (net profit), $9,702; water department, $20,700; sewer department, $8,500; vehicle tags, $1,650; equipment rentals, $3,440; gas tax refunds, $700.

Disbursements are budgeted as follows: Town operation, approximately $32,000; light and power department, $61,298; water department, $20,700; sewer, $8,500; disposal plant, $4,250; streets (including $9,250 for new sidewalks and curbs)—$23,417; equipment, $6,145.

More For Sidewalks

As originally presented to Council, the budget provided for only $700 for sidewalks and curbing. At the insistence of Councilmen Doggett and Gue this amount was raised to $9,250. Mayor Davis pointed out that around $12,000 had already been allocated to that fund, but in response to a question from Mr. Doggett as to whether or not there was actually any money available for such purpose, the Mayor replied, "We have transferred from one account to another so many times that it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to straighten out the town accounts."

Recreation Gets Town Funds; Sub-Division Ordinance Voted

Parrish, Gue And Bolding To Seek Office

Three more candidates for offices to be filled at the Manassas town election on June 12 had filed or announced their intention of filing their candidacy with the County Clerk before the deadline at 5 p. m. today.

Perry Gue, incumbent, qualified a few days ago for re-election as councilman, and J. M. Bolding filed at the clerk's office yesterday for one of the council seats.

Harry Parrish stated that he would definitely qualify before the deadline but as The Journal went to press was unable to say whether he would file for councilman or mayor.

Mr. Gue, who seeks re-election, was appointed to serve the unexpired term of James E. Rice, Sr., who resigned last fall.

Mr. Parrish is a young businessman, being associated with his father, Edgar Parrish, in the operation of the Manassas Ice & Fuel Co., and also has an interest in the Manassas Frozen Foods, Inc.

He is a veteran of World War II, serving in the Air Force as pilot with the rank of first lieutenant. He is a member of the Legion Post, Volunteer Fire Department and past president of the Kiwanis Club.

Other possible candidates before today's filing deadline are Edgar Rohr and Councilman Wallace Hook for whom petitions had been circulated by friends this week urging them to enter the race. Mr. Hook had previously stated he would not seek re-election although his supporters were in hopes he might reconsider.

Other candidates, who had previously qualified, are Mayor Harry P. Davis who seeks re-election and Arthur L. Carter for councilman.

There are only two vacancies for Council, and with four or possibly more candidates in the race, a lively contest for the office is in prospect.

Red Cross Is Nearing Quota

Slowly but surely the annual Red Cross campaign in Prince William County is nearing its goal of $3,300, with a total of $2,755.23 reported as of yesterday.

This leaves slightly over $500 to go in order to put the drive over the top, according to Mrs. Joseph Mills Hanson, fund chairman.

Here are subscriptions reported by districts to date: Manassas, $1,680.40; Brentsville, $332.70; Gainesville, $98.18; Coles, $2.25; Dumfries, $416.85; Occoquan, $185.05; unallocated, $42.

Many workers, states Mrs. Hanson, have not completed their solicitation, and it is hoped the quota will be reached when all returns are in.

Correspondents are requested to send copy in early.

Directors Are Elected By Chamber

The Prince William Chamber of Commerce elected a board of seven directors at its regular luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Chosen to serve for the coming year were Leon L. Edwards, G. C. Russell, Benjamin Muse, Ruben Hicks, Edgar Parrish, R. C. Powell and J. Carl Kincheloe.

Among additional nominees presented at the meeting were Mrs. Deb Gothwaite, John Krien and Mrs. Florence Gue.

Dan Kelo gave a report on the progress of the Clean-Up Week campaign, stating that he was most gratified with the cooperation extended by various clubs and individuals in the project.

It was voted to change the April 24th meeting to April 25th at which time the group will have as its guest speaker, Duane Strawbridge, representative of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, who will speak on civilian mobilization plans.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the newly elected Board of Directors met and elected officers for the year.

The officers are: President, Ben Muse; vice president, Edgar Parrish, and secretary-treasurer, Leon Edwards, Quantico.

Trial Justice Court Handles Many Cases

Prince William County has one of the busiest trial justice courts in the state, according to Judge C. Lacey Compton, who presides over the court that hears trial, juvenile and domestic relations at the courthouse here.

A glance at the records shows that a total of 9,689 cases were handled by Judge Lacey's court in the nine months' period, July 1, 1950 to April 1, 1951.

Fines collected for this period totaled $473,626.59.

The number of cases in this local court is exceeded by only one other county in the state and that is at Norfolk.

Judge Compton states that about two-thirds of the cases arise out of the enforcement of highway weight limits at Woodbridge.

Recruiting Staff Is Increased Here

Cpl. Douglas R. Peekham, of Albany, Wis., has joined the staff of the local U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting station.

Corporal Peekham was for two years with the U. S. Coast Guard and with the regular army for the past year and a half.

M-Sgt. Frank R. George, officer in charge of the local recruiting station, stated that the increase in personnel will enable the local office to provide better recruiting service in Manassas and adjoining area.

Boy Scouts Will Collect Old Papers

Troop 19, Manassas Boy Scouts, will begin the collection of old newspapers April 14. The boys will be in uniform. The money from the sale of the newspapers will be used to buy supplies for the troop.

$2500 Purse Will Feature Opening Auto Race Program

The Longview Park Speedway is being put in readiness for the opening of the 1951 season, with a 200-lap stock car race scheduled for the opener on Sunday, May 6th.

Norman O. Helms, of Springfield, Ill., who heads Mutual Promotions, has leased the local speedway for the season.

There will be 36 cars entered in the season's first race, offering a purse of $2500, with a 1951 Henry J. auto as first prize.

Tiffany Named Acting Manager

Huntton Tiffany has been elected by Town Council as acting town manager, until such time as a new manager may be procured. Present Manager James W. Ritter expects to depart for his new post in Marion on Saturday.

Council has received 15 applications for the position, but has not had sufficient time to make proper investigation.

Mr. Tiffany served Manassas as town manager until he resigned a few years ago. He was succeeded by Ritter.

Legion Post Holds Session; Events Planned

Plans for Memorial Day observance and report on the Legion Exposition to attend the regular monthly meeting of Prince William Post 158, American Legion, and the Legion Auxiliary held Tuesday night.

Lt. Col. Paul Espenshade gave a talk on Brazil, and showed movies that he had taken while he was in South America.

C. H. Wine Jr. was appointed chairman of the Memorial Day committee, which will work with other patriotic groups on the local observance.

M. S. Burchard gave a report on the Legion Exposition to be held the first week in July. He stated that much progress was being made and full details will be announced at a later date.

It was voted to present an American play to the local Boy Scout troop.

Plans were made for a local delegation to attend the 8th District Conference to be held Sunday at Stafford High School.

It was voted that letters from the Post be sent to Virginia senators and the congressman from this district, urging their support of the Universal Training Bill without amendment.

It was decided to hold future Post meetings on the second Monday of each month.

Both the Post and Auxiliary voted to each sponsor a softball team in the community boys' and girls' softball league, providing such a league is organized this summer.

Planning Body Is Abolished By Supervisors

Taking its cue from the outpouring of citizens, who appeared at the public hearing last week in opposition to the proposed set-back law, the Board of Supervisors voted unanimously to abolish the County Planning Commission.

The action came near the close of the supervisors' regular session last Thursday, less than 24 hours after the hearing on the zoning ordinance had been held.

In fact so sudden was the Board's action, that R. J. Ratcliffe was called to submit the Planning Commission's report on the hearing a week earlier than had been planned.

The motion calling for the abolishment of the commission was offered by Jack Pick, Dumfries district supervisor.

The Planning Commission was formed in early 1945, and has been instrumental in making exhaustive surveys and studies on various county needs and problems.

Members of the Board serve without compensation.

House Destroyed By Fire At Greenwich

The Manassas Volunteer Fire Department made a quick run to Greenwich Sunday evening where a frame house owned by Stuart Hyde was destroyed by fire.

Warrenton and Vint Hill companies also responded and helped fight the stubborn blaze for nearly two hours. The house was a mass of flames when the firemen arrived.

Lions Plan Farewell Party For Guard Unit

Plans for a farewell party for the local National Guard unit, which has been called to active duty, were reported by Reuben Hicks at the regular meeting of the Manassas Lions Club Wednesday night.

Mr. Hicks reported that he had contacted other clubs in the community in regard to sponsoring a farewell party.

The club voted to pay the fee required for one of four boys from Manassas chosen to attend Boys State at V. P. I. this summer.

Paul Arrington, chairman, was instructed to proceed with an investigation as to entertainment for next year's annual music festival.

Ralph Hess reported that plans were moving along nicely for a joint dance with the Kiwanis Club to be held in the near future.

The club presented to Herman Lee a check for $125, the proceeds from the recent music festival to be used in support of the school band.

C. L. Wheat, who sported the loudest tie, won the dollar prize.

Lacey Compton Area Head For Scout Drive

C. Lacey Compton has been named area chairman for the Boy Scout drive for sustaining memberships in the Washington district, which is seeking $50,000 needed to carry on the program of Scouting in the area during 1951.

Paul E. Locke, Jr. is local chairman in Prince William County.

The additional funds are needed over those provided by the Annual Red Feather Drive which failed to attain its goal, it is stated.

A total of 3,000 volunteer Scout leaders are participating in the drive to contact Cub and Scout parents as well as Scout alumni and proven supporters of Scouting.

Shaw and Myers To Dissolve Partnership

Announcement was made this week that the grocery firm, operating as Shaw & Myers, West Center Street, has terminated its partnership effective as of April 14th.

After the above date the business will be conducted by Glen N. Myers under the name of the Center Market. Willard R. Shaw, the retiring partner, is planning to enter another business in town.

Mr. Myers states that the new market will be operated on a cash and carry basis. The market will be closed Monday thru Thursday, April 16-19, so that certain alterations and improvements to the store can be made.

Former Editor Writes Article On Life of Miss Osbourn

Starting with this issue, The Manassas Journal is printing in three installments an especially-written account of the life, work and influence of the late Miss Eugenia H. Osbourn, whose death occurred on March 12.

The author is Clarence Wagener, a former editor of the Manassas Journal and now promotion manager of the Jacksonville (Fla.) Journal.

Several years ago Mr. Wagener, a native of Manassas and who studied under Miss Eugenia in the days of the old Manassas Institute, began gathering material for this series of articles. The facts were checked by Miss Eugenia—upon the occasion of his annual visits to Manassas, while he was in residence here during the summer of 1949 and through frequent correspondence.

The Journal believes its readers will welcome this more exhaustive account of Miss Eugenia's life and work, and that Mr. Wagener's estimate of her influence supports his opinion that Miss Eugenia was the greatest person ever to call Manassas home.

The first installment appears on page four of this issue of the Journal.

The present incumbents were expected to file for re-election before the deadline at 5 p. m. today. They are Frank McIner, Hunt Moncure, W. S. Bourne and Percy Brown, councilmen, and Mayor A. E. McIner.

The fifth council seat is vacant at the present time.

Pilot Of Crash Plane Got Signal To Land At Manassas

The plane crash that claimed two lives and injured a third near Vienna, Va., in Fairfax County, Tuesday, might have been averted if the pilot had landed at the Manassas airport.

Information obtained by Dudley Waits, local airport manager, reveals that the plane had been in contact by radio with the control tower at the National Airport in Washington and was directed to land here.

The plane buzzed the Manassas field in seeking a landing but apparently the pilot saw the muddy condition of the airport and changed his plans. He radioed the Washington tower that the field here was exceedingly wet and he was proceeding toward Arcola or Leesburg.

Waits saw the plane come in as if to land and then take off again. At the time there was a heavy rain. Many local people heard the plane as it hovered low over Manassas house tops and sounded as if it might be in trouble.

In the crash near Vienna, the plane almost hit a house occupied by Mrs. John Spence and her daughter Sue, 4, finally crashing to the ground twenty feet from the house.

The dead were identified as John F. Dewey, 34, and William J. Iselin. The third passenger of the plane, Bennet S. Ross, 40, was taken to Arlington Hospital with undetermined injuries. All three were from Greenville, S. C.

County Firemen Meet At Nokesville; Discuss Finances

Finances highlighted the regular meeting of the Prince William County Volunteer Firemen's Association held at Nokesville Wednesday night.

A resolution was passed requesting the Board of Supervisors to make the coming year's appropriations to the various departments without specifying breakdown for operation and equipment.

In the past the amount appropriated to each department was specifically earmarked, with part going for operating expense and part for equipment. Last year each of the six departments in the county received $900 from the county of which $500 was for maintenance and equipment and the balance of $400 for operational expense. This year the total appropriation has been increased to $1,000 for each company.

A committee was appointed by President George B. Cooke to study and investigate means of financing the fire departments in future years, and particularly the establishment of permanent funds out of which fire equipment replacement needs could be met on an equitable basis for all companies.

Named on the committee were John Patten, Dumfries, C. B. Roland, Haymarket; Grover F. Brown, Nokesville.

Dr. Grover F. Brown has called a meeting of the Prince William Pasture committee at the county courthouse Friday night at 8 o'clock. Several important matters in regard to the pasture improvement program will be discussed at this time.

News From Nokesville

MRS. FRED SHEPHERD, Correspondent

Roads Topic Of Address At Ruritan Club

The Nokesville Ruritan Club held its April meeting Wednesday night in the basement of the Brethren Church. A delicious chicken dinner was served by the Kensington Club. President Wood presented a gold cup to Principal Dan Link to be given to the outstanding girl athlete of Brentsville District H. S.

The club sale that was scheduled for this spring has been postponed until August.

The club voted to give $5.00 to the Cancer Drive.

The highlight of the program was a talk by R. Werthington, area road engineer. Mr. Werthington stated that the two important phases of our government are our roads and schools. There are 48,000 miles of roads in Virginia; of these 39,000 are secondary roads. There are 9,000 primary roads. Virginia has the second highest system of roads in the nation. Mr. Werthington further stated that there is no debt now on our roads. The funds for roads in Virginia come chiefly from road use itself. Gas tax makes up 66 percent of the funds, tags 16 percent, tax on trucks 3 percent and Federal aid 14 percent.

At present there are many demands on the roads. He stated that they have only $1.00 to spend for each $10.00 that are needed on roads. It would cost approximately five hundred million dollars to bring the secondary roads up to a good level.

At present there are many needs for improvement in our primary system of roads. Approximately 3,000 curves should be relocated, 15,000 site places are inadequate, 200 grade crossings should be corrected and many vehicular bridges need to be replaced.

The money from the state is allocated to the counties on the basis of the following points: Area, population, vehicular miles, and road mileage.

Mr. Gay, chairman of the project committee, urges all committee chairmen to have reports ready for the May meeting on the progress their committee has made to date.

The Ruritan Club, through the efforts of Dan Link, will have as their speaker for the May meeting G. Tyler Miller, the former state superintendent of public instruction, and now president of Madison College.

Paul Irvin will have the honor of providing room and board for the club pig for the month of April. (This is what happens to members when they are absent.)

Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Nalley and little Ronald of Bridgewater spent Monday night with home folks.

FIGHTING IN KOREA

We want to try, as best we can, to keep up with our men in the service. Capt. Van R. Herndon, left home the last time on June 10, 1948, and was sent to Korea. He stayed there until December, 1948. He was then sent to Japan where he stayed until July, 1950, when he was sent back to Korea where he has been ever since. A recent newspaper clipping received by his family tells of the part he played in the final evacuation of Sinanfu in which he rode on an ammunition train loaded with refugees on a what should have been two-hour run and which took ten hours to make to get to Pyongyang. He has served 8 years in the Army. His family is expecting him home soon. We know he will be so very glad to get back to America, Virginia and his home near Aden.

INVITE NEIGHBORES

Buzz And The Off-Key Baritones

Reverend Lester of the church out on Hillsboro Road coaches his Young Peoples' Choir late Thursday afternoons—after high school basketball practice lets out.

Buzz Ellis pastures cows next to that church. Around 5 o'clock they used to make a lot of racket about wanting to go home. That made it kind of rough on the choir.

When Buzz learned what was going on he said to Reverend Lester: "I never yet heard of a cow that could moo on key. So, I'll just move 'em in a little earlier..." This started me to thinking. Buzz doesn't go to that church. And he's so tone-deaf he couldn't carry a tune in a bucket!

From where I sit, you might say that Buzz didn't have much in common with those singers. But he doesn't divide folks into groups he's "with" or "agin." Your politics, your personal preferences—the fact that you like a modern glass of beer—mean nothing either way to Buzz. He's a real neighbor to everybody!

Feeling The Pinch

Many are the problems of the Prince William County School Board. Long handicapped by the lack of much needed plant facilities, it now faces a more serious problem... a teacher shortage.

This grave situation was brought to the fore at a meeting of the Board last week. Many teachers will not return next year. They will seek more lucrative positions, either in the same profession or other fields.

Filling the vacancies that will exist in the local school system with the new school year presents a serious problem... one that should cause all of us concern.

Our school system is caught in the labor pinch. And it hurts!

Eugenia Hilleary Osbourn

Her Life, Work and Influence

By CLARENCE WAGENER

On January 12, 1867, at Upper Marlboro, Prince Georges County, Maryland, was born a child who was destined to achieve such nobility of spirit, such concern for everything relating to man's advancement and such pedagogic ability as are rarely united in one person. The child was named Eugenia Hilleary Osbourn. Her death occurred at Manassas, Virginia, on March 12, 1951, at the age of 84 years and two months.

Because of the eternal debt of gratitude that Manassas and Prince William County and other sections of Virginia owe this woman, a review of her life and work and an estimate of her influence follow:

"Miss Eugenia," invariably so called by everyone who knew her at all well, was a daughter of Dr. Richard Keene and Eugenia Hilleary Osbourn. Several brothers and sisters died as small children. Two lived to middle age: A sister, Fannie Buchanan (1857-1912); and a brother, George Washington, who died in 1919, leaving three daughters, Eloise, Lolita and Lillian.

Both the father's family and the mother's family were of English descent. The former came to Prince Georges County in the late 1700's; the latter in the late 1600's. The mother's family was granted a thousand-acre tract near Bladensburg, Md. The mother's mother was Scotch, a descendant of Alexander Macgregor who, for political reasons, was exiled from Scotland and forced to change his name to Magruder. He, too, settled in Prince Georges County.

Educated in private schools in Baltimore County and City, Miss Eugenia graduated from the Maryland Institute of Art, Baltimore, completing a four-year, art-teacher's training course. There she studied under Herbert Adams, noted sculptor, who completed the bronze doors at the entrance to the Congressional Library, Washington. Miss Eugenia received the highest rating in the sculpture class and looked forward to further art study in Italy, but was unable to carry out these plans. Instead, she taught art in private schools in Baltimore for two years.

In 1890, Miss Eugenia received an offer to teach art in a woman's college in Texas. She turned down the offer, to go with her mother to Manassas, to assist her sister, Fannie, who was conducting a private school there.

(It now becomes necessary to digress from the straight chronicling of Miss Eugenia's life in order to tell briefly how it happened that her sister, Miss Fannie, whose teaching career was to become inextricably interwoven with Miss Eugenia's, had already an established school in Manassas. In fact, Miss Fannie was the leader of the sisters-team and the part she played in the development of the Manassas schools was equally as important as the part Miss Eugenia played.)

Around 1880, Miss Fannie, who 20-odd years later was to marry a Manassas man, Murray G. Metz, obtained a position as governess in the home of Juan Weems, located about a mile from Manassas. Why had she come to Manassas? She had been advised to do so for her health. After two years of being governess in the Weems home, Miss Fannie returned to Baltimore, where she had previously graduated from the Maryland State Normal School, had studied piano at the Peabody Conservatory of Music, and had taken courses in French and German at the Berlitz School of Languages.

Then Miss Fannie, for a few years, taught in Baltimore County and for one session at the Friends School in Philadelphia. The subjects taught during the period included Latin, French, German, English, physics, physiology and mathematics.

It was in 1887 or 1888 that Miss Fannie resumed her position as governess in the Weems' home. Several families requested her to accept their children as pupils. Miss Fannie did, and in the fall of 1889 opened a school in what was then known as the Hotel Annex, later to be called the Goodwin House (the building, destroyed by fire as I recollect it, occupied the lot on Main Street directly across from the Southern Railway freight depot).

After a year of teaching in the Hotel Annex, Miss Fannie moved her school to the residential building which has long been known as the Baldwin House, now the centrally-located one of the group of Manassas Technical School buildings at the southern terminus of Battle Street. At present, the Baldwin House is the residence of the Osbourn High School principal, Mr. Dan Kelso.

(The digression ends. As previously told, Miss Eugenia had come to Manassas to assist her sister, after turning down the Texas offer.)

Miss Fannie's school accepted children for any of the primary or secondary grades. The school remained in the Baldwin House for three years. In 1891 it was named the Manassas Institute.

During the school's occupancy of the Baldwin House, Miss Eugenia took a year off. In the daytime she studied art at the Corcoran Art Gallery, Washington. During evenings she acted as governess in the Capital City home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Portner.

For the years 1893-96, the Manassas Institute was located in the west side of a stone duplex dwelling on Center Street, a short distance from the present Manassas Baptist Church. Then, thanks largely to the untiring efforts of George C. Round, who for many years was the driving force for educational advancement of Manassas and Prince William County (and who was sending his children to the Manassas Institute, probably as early as 1892-3), the school moved to a building on Grant Avenue. That building, now occupied by the Temple School, was erected especially to suit the needs of the Manassas Institute. It was financed by a group of stockholders, headed by Mr. Round. Miss Fannie and Miss Eugenia were granted use of the building, at no expense to themselves. When the Manassas Institute was transformed into the Manassas High School, as will be related later, the building was sold.

The first graduates of the Manassas Institute who were qualified to enter upon college work were those of the class of 1896. Two years later, Goucher College, Baltimore, granted the Manassas Institute certification rights. These rights permitted the secondary school graduates to enter that College without examination. Certification rights soon followed from three universities—Washington & Lee, Virginia and Cornell.

In 1903, Miss Eugenia, who was taking the lead in the effort to secure for the school the highest type of recognition, inaugurated the plan of standardizing the high school work by using the College Entrance Examination Board examinations in the junior and senior years. The University of Virginia endorsed the plan by agreeing to have the examination papers graded. As a result, the Manassas Institute was among the first of Virginia's schools to be admitted to the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools (in 1914).

Due to what was then known as the "May Drive"—a plan organized by Virginia in 1905 to increase the number of high schools in the State—the Manassas Institute, at the request of Mr. Round who was then chairman of the Manassas District School Board, was taken into the State's public school system in 1906. The name of the school was changed to the Manassas High School. Miss Fannie was named principal. Miss Eugenia acted as undesignated assistant principal.

The State Department of Education in 1908 added the departments of agriculture and home economics and a course in normal training.

The ceremony took place Thursday, March 22 at 7:30 p. m. in the First Presbyterian Church of Ellcott City, Md., with the Rev. Archibald Johnston officiating.

The bride was attired in a beige suit with green accessories.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a short Southern wedding trip.

They are making their home at "Springfield Farm," Haymarket, where the groom is engaged in farming.

The bride, who teaches in the Gainesville District School, received her B.S. Degree in education from Madison College, Class of 1949.

While in college she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha national social sorority and is also a member of the Staunton, Virginia chapter Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

The groom is a graduate of Osbourne High School and the Manassas Technical School, Manassas.

Armed Forces Day Observed By Kiwanis

"Armed Forces Day" was observed at the regular meeting of the Manassas Kiwanis Club last Friday, when the special guests were three veterans of the Korean war.

In welcoming the veterans, George B. Cooke, program chairman, said: "We are very proud and happy to have as our guests you three gentlemen who have returned from the actual fighting front. We would appreciate anything you have to tell us of your experience and what the boys over there think about the whole situation."

The guests were Lieut. Wurster, 5th Air Force; Corporal Abess and Pfc. Judd, both of the 2nd Infantry Division.

Each man spoke briefly, and Lieut. Wurster answered questions offered by the members of the club. Occasionally he replied, "I don't care to answer that one."

All three veterans had incurred injury of some nature. Corporal Abess was on crutches, having lost a foot in the fighting.

Tom McCall, featured automotive writer for "Mechanix Illustrated" (center), receives trophy emblematic of the 1951 official unmodified stock-car record from Bill France, President of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing. The record of 100.13 miles per hour was made at Daytona Beach, Fla., in a Chrysler New Yorker four-door sedan, powered by the new 180-horsepower V-8 FirePower engine. McCall entered the trials on the spur of the moment with a car that had been driven only 400 miles and that had been given no special tune-up. W. Brewster Shaw, Jr., Chrysler dealer in Daytona Beach, shown standing at the right, loaned him the vehicle, taking it off the showroom floor.

High Egg Prices Slow Movement Into Storage

Continued high egg prices through mid-March slowed the movement of eggs into cold storage, says D. U. Livermore, poultry marketing specialist at V. P. I.

As of March 17, there were 121,000 cases of shell eggs in cold storage, compared to 796,000 on the same date in 1950—an 85 percent decrease.

The higher level of egg prices during the first quarter of 1951 (about 35 percent above a year ago) has caused the decrease in storage operations to date, Livermore says. Egg production is about 3 percent below last year, but the supply of eggs for immediate consumption is greater than last year because of the reduced movement to storage, and absence of government price support purchases. Therefore, in the face of greater consumer supplies, the higher price level has evidently been sustained by a greater consumer demand, and a generally rising price level for all commodities.

However, Livermore says there is still plenty of time for storers to accumulate the egg stocks which will be needed to meet the demand next fall when production is at its seasonal low. April, May, and June are the heavy storage months, with peak holdings usually occurring in late June or early July. During the last week of March egg prices showed considerable weakness, declining 5 cents or more per dozen in most markets. Such a decline should stimulate movement into storage, Livermore says.

Vegetables on the April plentiful foods list include Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, celery, and spinach.

Farmers Experimenting In Use Of Birdsfoot Trefoil

Birdsfoot trefoil—a deep-rooted perennial legume—may some day have a valuable place in Virginia's pasture system.

Researchers at Virginia Experiment Station at V. P. I., and at the outlying northern field unit at Middleburg, say their one year's tests with the legume were so successful that farmers are being asked this year to make demonstration plantings in some 10 counties.

These demonstration plots are located in Shenandoah, Norfolk, Halifax, Sussex, Scott, Lee, Orange, Essex, Smyth, and Page counties. County agents can give details.

They think birdsfoot trefoil may prove an excellent supplementary pasture in summer and fall, when other pasture grasses are at low ebb. It also is expected to be valuable in renovating run-down bluegrass pastures.

In addition the researchers are continuing their tests at V.P.I. and at Middleburg.

They point out that now in Virginia, there is only one perennial legume species suitable for perennial pasture mixtures. Pastures, they explain, with only one leguminous species are in danger of loss of stands from diseases, insects, unfavorable moisture and temperature, or other environmental factors. Additional leguminous plants such as birdsfoot trefoil for perennial pastures are needed.

The Farm Forest

By George I. Bain, Forester

Too often, farmers and woodland owners think of a farm only as a pasture land and crop land. They have for too long a time considered the farm woodland merely as an area of land too poor for cultivation and as a wood crop to be harvested once in a lifetime or occasionally for farm materials. Far from this way of thinking, growing land can and should contribute more than just posts and fuel for the farm use. A well managed farm land can be a permanent income by yielding continuing crops and by increasing in productivity over a period of years. Adapted to almost any operation, woodland management does not demand immediate action as other crops do. market is poor, the wood can be allowed to grow and in value. Work in woodland farm labor is not otherwise needed. Of course it takes work and a little knowledge the results are well worth value to the landowner.

IMPROVEMENT STARTS WITH LIMING

It is generally agreed that the first step in pasture improvement is the application of the needed amount of Agricultural Limestone. It corrects the acid condition that has developed through years of neglect; stimulates the biological activity of the soil; particularly the nitrogen-forming process; renders and keeps other plant foods like phosphorus more available; and improves soil structure.

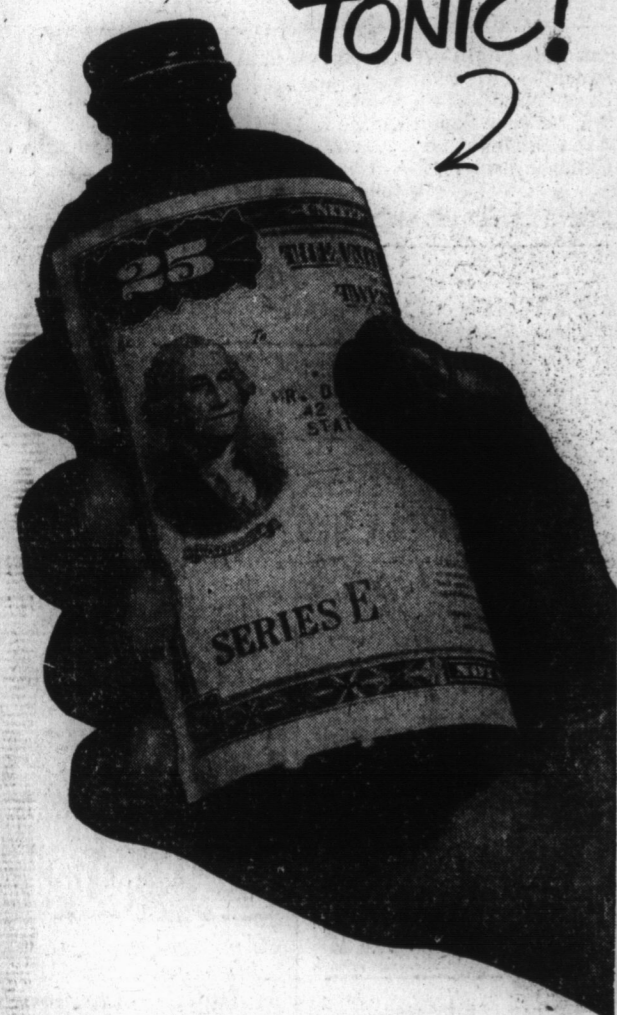

Calcium and phosphorus are the two bone-building elements so necessary in the production of healthy, profitable livestock. Most pasture soils are deficient in both of them and, consequently, the forage is deficient. application of limestone supplies the calcium, and superphosphate or rock phosphate supplies the phosphorus. Do not easily substitutes that are lumpy and contain from 15% to 25% moisture.

Ladino Acreage To Increase This Year

Acreage of ladino clover and orchard grass in Virginia this year is expected to jump to about 350,000 acres—an increase of 75,000 acres over last year, says P. H. DeHart, Extension agronomist at V. P. I.

The value of the increased acreage, he says, is seen in the answer to this question—"What will a ladino clover and orchard grass pasture do for you?"

In swine production, good pasture will reduce the grain requirements by 10 percent, and the protein supplement requirements by 50 percent.

In raising pullets, the feed cost can be reduced by 10 percent. One hundred pounds of digestible nutrients from good permanent pasture will cost about 50 to 60 cents; from a mixed dairy ration, 100 pounds of digestible nutrients will cost about $5.00.

A good system of pastures that will provide at least 240 days of continuous grazing will reduce the feed cost of producing milk by 20 to 25 percent.

Mail Box Contest Boasts Many Entries

Brentsville residents are responding excellently to the Mail Box Improvement Contest being conducted by the Home Demonstration Club. To date nineteen of the thirty-five families eligible to enter the contest have signified their desire to improve the appearance of their mail boxes. One citizen who has entered the contest has even composed a poem:

We are just little mail boxes,
Nothing else for us to boast;
All up and down the highway
You'll find us on our post.

After a season of cold and winter
Now that the frogs begin to croak,
Can you carelessly look upon our shape
And treat us as a joke?

Go get yourself a can of paint
And a brush to make us look better;
Then you'll look on us with pride
When you come to get your letter.

The three judges, Mrs. Thomas Dillake, Mrs. Amelia McBryde, and Mrs. Harry Davis arrived in Brentsville on Thursday afternoon, April 5, to inspect the mailboxes before improvement commences. After inspection they agreed that the slogan "Postal Beauty is Brentsville's Duty" was well chosen by the club and are anticipating a more attractive countryside when they return in early September to select the three winners.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Tyler and family visited his sister, Mrs. Lucy Earles, and family in Manassas.

Mrs. Grady Shoemaker returned home Saturday from the George Washington University Hospital in Washington, D. C., where she had undergone an operation. She is recuperating satisfactorily.

Jim Compton and family and Winston Martin of Warrenton visited the W. R. Stephens family on Sunday.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. L. M. Bean were her niece and family, Mrs. Robinson of Richmond.

Mrs. Harman of Maryland was a weekend guest of her son, John Harman and family.

Lt. Frye and family, Howard Pearson and Mr. DeSader of Quantico were Sunday dinner guests of the James Cooper family.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitey Blake and the Gary Keys of Fairfax visited Mrs. Joe Keys, Friday.

INTERESTING TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Spear and sons, John and Malcolm, have just returned from a two week's visit with friends and relatives in Brockton, Mass. On their return, they visited the Roosevelt home and memorial at Hyde Park. They also visited the new headquarters of the United Nations in New York City with a side trip to the temporary U. N. headquarters at Lake Success. Last but not least was a stop at the newly established Center for Research on World Political Institutions at Princeton University.

Mr. and Mrs. George Braden of Washington, D. C., spent the week-end with her parents the Joe Keys.

Shirley Bradshaw was elected a member of the Parish Council of the Brentsville Union Church to fill the unexpired term of Thomas Whetzel, who is leaving soon to go into service with the National Guard Unit of Manassas.

The Women of the Church of the Brentsville Union Church will meet at the home of Mrs. M. F. Walters at 2 o'clock on Tuesday, April 17.

Southern Railway Gets Award of Merit

An Award of Merit, the first of its kind ever received by a railroad or any other type of transportation service, has been presented to the Southern Railway System by the Associated Business Publications for the Southern's national advertising campaign inviting industries to "Look Ahead—Look South!" for greater opportunity, it was announced today.

The award was based on the manner in which objectives were set forth in the advertising campaign, and the results obtained in relation to those objectives. The Southern Railway advertisements published in nationally-circulated publications, direct attention to the South as an "industrial opportunity-land." Over the past ten years at the rate of more than one every working day a new factory has gone up, an existing industry has been enlarged, or a new distribution warehouse has been erected along the railway's lines.

Social Security

YOUR NEW SOCIAL SECURITY
By Ruth G. Duffy, Manager
Alexandria Social Security
Office

What is Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance? It is insurance for you and your family based on your earnings in work covered by the Federal Social Security law —that is Old-Age and Survivors Insurance.

If your work in employment or self-employment is covered by the law, you will make social security tax contributions during your working years to provide an income for yourself and your family in case your earnings are cut off by old age or by death.

The amount of your monthly payment depends on your earnings in work covered by the law. The amount paid to other members of your family to your wife, or to children under 18, for example—is figured from the amount of your benefit. Total payments to your family, therefore, depend on three things: Your earnings, the number of your dependents, and their ages.
The total payment to you and your dependents may not be more than

METAL HIGHWAY FOREST FIRE PREVENTION SIGNS ERECTED ON STATE HIGHWAYS—District Forester D. G. Wilfong, Jr. of the Virginia Forest Service Charlottesville District states that the new metal highway forest fire prevention signs have been strategically located throughout the 16 county Northern Piedmont District within the last year. A total of 5,400 of these signs have been erected along the primary and improved secondary roads throughout the State of Virginia.

In the 16 county Northern Piedmont District 747 signs appear along the highways, making an average of approximately 45 signs in this county.

The State of Virginia was among the first to use this forest fire prevention method established by the Virginia Forest Service. The states of West Virginia, Georgia, Florida and South Carolina are now using this effective forest fire prevention technique.

Virginia citizens and tourists can help decrease the yearly number of forest fires by following the slogans and messages on the signs in the above picture.

80 percent of your average earnings, or more than $150 a month, whichever is less.

If you are FULLY INSURED
when you retire at age 65 or later, you can become entitled to monthly insurance payments by filing an application. In case of your death at any age, certain members of your family may receive payments if you are either fully or currently insured and if application is filed.

The yardstick for measuring whether or not you are insured under the law is the "quarter of coverage." A quarter of coverage is a 3-month period beginning January 1, April 1, July 1, or October 1, in which you were paid $50 in wages or in which you were credited with $100 or more in self-employment income covered by the law.

Next week I will explain "fully insured" and "currently insured" requirements.

The Alexandria office is located at 815 King Street in the Ruple Building. Office hours are from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. on Monday through Friday. This office ser-

Mother of Two Praises Hadacol

HADACOL Supplies Deficient
Systems With Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>,
B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron

Mrs. Elmer Hise, 3225 2nd Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa, is a good mother, and like all good mothers she keeps a careful watch for the welfare of her two young children.
And when little four-year-old Lucille Hise wasn't feeling as her mother knew she should do something about it, Mrs. Hise gave Lucille HADACOL because she had heard how much it was helping children who had poor
appetites and stomach distress
caused by deficiencies of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron and Niacin. It helped her so much that now Mrs.
Hise gives HADACOL to both of
her children.

Lucille Hise decided to do something about it. Mrs. Hise
gave Lucille HADACOL because she had heard how much it was
helping children who had poor
appetites and stomach distress
caused by deficiencies of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron and Niacin. It helped her so much that now Mrs.
Hise gives HADACOL to both of
her children.

Here is what Mrs. Hise says:
"My daughter has taken two bottles of HADACOL and she has been eating more than before and also sleeps better. I think HADA-COL is the best thing for children who do not have an appetite. My daughter is four years old. Before taking HADACOL my daughter complained of her stomach hurting her, and I got her a bottle of HADACOL and she says her stomach doesn't bother her any more.
I think HADACOL is wonderful.
I am also giving HADACOL to my three-year-old daughter."

HADACOL is 5¢ Effective

An important thing about HAD-ACOL is that you get Vitamins
B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron in liquid form, which means that they are quickly absorbed and dispatched to the blood stream, ready to go right to work. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of the blood (when iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every part of your body.

Green Pastures and Lot of Cattle on This Nokesville Farm

By P. B. Reading
Agricultural Instructor
Nokesville, Va.

On the 146-acre farm of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Parsons and son, Lester, is a farmer's paradise—green pastures, fat cattle, neat buildings, strong fences, good machinery and plenty of water. All of these things mean good farming and good living, a satisfying life on a mighty small fraction of God's Good Earth. With 1,117 farms in Prince William County, this condition might be multiplied by a like number. The coveted "Land of Milk and Honey" is sometimes found in those green pastures.

Pasture is the cheapest feed that can be grown on the farm for any kind of livestock. Figures collected by the United States Department of Agriculture in 16 states show that each 100 pounds of digestible nutrients obtained from pasture cost 64 cents; from alfalfa hay, 83 cents; from corn, $1.38; from corn silage, $1.54; and from oats, $2.02.

Good pasture is also about the best feed. Many acres of poor pasture can be changed to good pasture by re-seeding, liming, and fertilizing. However, these practices will pay best only if there is good grazing management, including the planning of an all-season grazing program, and if surplus grass unavoidably produced in the spring and early summer is utilized as hay or silage.

On one field of the Parsons Farm, 2 tons of ground limestone per acre was applied in 1947. In September of 1949 it was disced and seeded with 2 lbs. of ladino and 10 lbs. of fescue per acre. 700 lbs. of 3-12-6 fertilizer was applied at the time of seeding. In 1950 an additional application of 2 tons of ground limestone and 700 lbs. of 3-12-12 fertilizer was made.

Another field had 2 tons of marl applied in 1947. This field was seeded with ladino clover and orchard grass at the rate of 2 lbs. of ladino and 12 lbs. of orchard grass per acre in April of 1950. Two tons of ground limestone and 700 lbs. of 3-12-6 fertilizer were applied at the time of seeding. In September of 1950, an additional application of 700 lbs. per acre of 3-12-12 fertilizer was applied. This field contains 20 acres, and during the past winter was covered with manure which had been augmented with 5 tons of 20 percent phosphate.

A third field had 2 tons of ground limestone in 1949, and was seeded with 12 lbs. of orchard grass and 25 lbs. of lespedeza per acre in April of 1950. Two tons of ground limestone and 700 lbs. of 3-12-6 fertilizer were applied at the time of seeding.

The first two above-mentioned pastures, 43 acres, carried 41 head of cattle from April 25 to October 1, 1950. Then they were transferred to the orchard grass lespedeza on October 1st after a crop (about 70 tons) of hay was harvested. Thirty-seven of these cattle were steers which weighed 555 lbs. per head when shipped from Oklahoma. It was estimated that the steers weighed from 750 to 800 lbs. when put on winter feed.

The pastures were clipped once in May and once in August, thus keeping down weeds and making them more palatable. Also a pasture harrow was used to scatter the droppings.

In another field on the Parsons Farm is a very promising stand of alfalfa which was seeded last August. This field had 2 tons of ground limestone applied in 1949 and an additional ton at the time of seeding. Fifteen lbs. of inoculated Kansas Common Alfalfa was seeded per acre with 1000 lbs. of 2-12-12 boronated fertilizer. This should provide an adequate amount of good quality legume roughage for the Parsons' herd of Herefords.

Pasture improvement has received serious attention only within recent years, but as a result of hundreds of experiments and thousands of demonstrations, many farmers now view their pasture as one of the most important farm crops. It is a crop that responds profitably to treatment, especially to the use of plant food, lime, and good grazing management. By following these three measures, a father will have green pastures and fat cattle which he will be proud to turn over to a proud and grateful son.
