County School Calendar Set For New Term

County schools will open for the 1951-1952 session on Thursday, September 6, and close on June 13, 1952, under the calendar approved by the County School Board at its meeting on Wednesday. Teacher conferences will be held on September 4 and 5. The schedule provides for 163 teaching days, with 3 days leeway for bad weather.

In addition to other matters, the Board took the following action: Established a fee for use of the athletic field in Manassas during the ball season of $5 for day use, $20 for night use, receipts to be put into a special fund for operation of the field, replacements and retirement of debt on the field.

Elected Mrs. Florence Gue as school nurse for next term; Elected certain personnel, including janitors and bus drivers. Granted right of way to Virginia Gas Distribution Corporation, 1320 feet on the boundary line of the Technical School property.

Accepted for enrollment for next session children boarded in the County by the District of Columbia Welfare Department (some 18 or 20 at present).

Instructed Superintendent to investigate possibility and cost of re-publishing "Prince William—The Story of Its People and Its Places" (Sale of the WPA Writers Project has been handled through the School Board textbook fund, and the first printing of 1,000 copies has been exhausted).

Received plan and drawings contributed and prepared by Stanley H. Brewster, of Buckland, for Playground Committee of the Haymarket PTA, showing suggested grading and layout of playground for the school.

The Board also received a report of the agreement reached at a meeting of Federal, State and County authorities regarding the operation of the school at the Quantico Marine Post. The operation of the elementary school on the Post by the Federal Government will be continued, and facilities to house the increased enrollment anticipated for 1951-1952 will be constructed by the government as soon as possible.

Operation of the high school on the Post will be discontinued as of September, 1952, provided that Prince William County can accommodate the pupils in the regular County schools. There are at present approximately 80 high school pupils on the Post.

Mayor Davis Asks Daylight Saving Time
It's daylight saving time for Manassas, or at least, most citizens will go on new time beginning Sunday, May 6, following the action of the Town Council, Monday night, when they passed a resolution authorizing the Mayor to issue a proclamation requesting the public to set their clocks ahead to conform with the daylight saving period in the Washington area.

The proclamation also requested that the observance of new time begin May 6th. It is expected that most Manassas business places will operate on daylight time, although a few have stated they will keep standard time.

Schools here and throughout the county will continue to operate on old time, as will the farm communities of the county.

At Quantico, Triangle and other parts of the south end of the county, daylight saving time went into effect last Sunday.

FOOD SALE
The Manassas P.T.A. will hold a food sale May 5, at 10 a. m. in Dowell's Drug Store.

It's Clean-Up Time . . .

IT'S PICKUP TIME—The year around for these Town of Manassas employees, who make the weekly rounds for trash collection. Right now the collection is heavier than usual as local residents clean garrets and basements of accumulated trash.

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT . . . Mowing, trimming their lawns in an effort to keep one jump ahead of the heavy seasonal growth of grass. Rev. Clark Wood is caught by the camera as he pushes the mower on the lawn in front of his home here.

Get Sticker Early
The semi-annual official state inspection for automobiles, which opened May 1st, finds local inspection stations ready to serve motorists, and reporting that many brought their cars in Tuesday, opening day of the inspection period. Motorists are urged to get their cars checked early to avoid the last minute rush.

Motorists are urged to get their cars checked early to avoid the last minute rush.

Ends June 15
The inspection period will close at midnight June 15 and Captain W. L. Groth, safety engineer for the state police, states that there will be no extension. At the same time he warned that it is illegal to drive without the new gold sticker after the deadline. Virginia's percentage of defective vehicles in fatal accidents has been consistently about two-thirds of the national average, Captain Groth points out, and unlike other forms of insurance, a safe car prevents trouble rather than easing the burden after it happens.

The following pointers to car owners with a view to making the program run smoothly are offered by the Safety Engineer:

1. Present your car early and present it yourself. Persons other than owners authorizing repairs has been a constant point of controversy.

2. No station has the power to compel you to have repairs done. Continued on Page 2

County School Head Asks Release

Plans Ready For Additions To Schools

The new Bennett School addition is to be a L-shaped, one-story building, so designed that additions may be made as needed in the future, and located at the rear of the present Bennett and Osborn Schools. The present shop building, constructed many years ago, will be torn down and the new building will be constructed on the site.

The building will extend to the rear of the Home Economics Cottage, and will contain a kitchen, multi-purpose room (to be used as a cafeteria and for other purposes), and a special education room (to be used as a shop), at the back.

In the long arm of the "L" extending squarely behind the Home Economics Cottage will be six classrooms, with store room and lavatories.

New Shop At Nokesville
The new agriculture shop, to be constructed at Nokesville School, will be a one-teacher unit. The present shop will be converted into two and possible three classrooms. Architect's plans on the Occoquan and Nokesville school additions have been completed, and the School Board has set a meeting for Wednesday, May 23rd, to receive bids for the construction of the two projects. Plans on the Bennett School addition are almost completed and bids are to be asked shortly.

Rates Given For Triangle Sewer Hook-Up

Property owners in the Triangle Sanitary District are urged to apply for sewer connection without delay by members of the Sewerage Committee headed by C. C. Cioe, Jr.

The sewerage system is now under construction and the committee points out that considerable saving in time and cost can be realized if the property owners make application for connection now.

The rates for connection as established by the committee are: $80 the first year; $200 the second and third year; and $250 the fourth year and thereafter.

The sliding scale of rates shows the great saving to the property owner if he makes connection this year, rather than waiting until later.

Arrangements are being made with the contractor installing the system to make the connection to the property line of property owners desiring the work to be done.

Chairman Cioe states that his committee is anxious to assist in any way possible. Inquiries concerning the sewer system should be made to John Pattie.

Other members of the sewerage committee are Rev. H. S. Reamy, Joe Amidon and C. C. Willis.

Kiwanians Hear Talk By Home Society Head

J. Stuart Gilchrist, secretary of the Children's Home Society, gave an inspiring talk on the work of the organization, which provides homes for parentless children, at the regular meeting of the Manassas Kiwanis Club, Friday night.

The speaker reported that the society has six applicants for each child to be adopted. He cited many instances, where childless couples were made happy by adopting these children.

All Pass Physical
All members of the company, according to Major William Hale, came through their physical exams at Fort Belvoir recently with flying colors. He also stated that not one member of the company has requested a discharge.

Eight of the guardsmen are members of the 1951 graduating class of Osborn High and will be granted leave to return home for graduation in June.

Billeted At Hotel
It is understood that the Guard unit will be activated on May 15th and will be billeted at the Hotel Stonewall Jackson for one week prior to leaving for Camp Stewart, Ga. They will leave for camp in private cars.

AT GREAT LAKES
Freddy E. Gilbert, seaman recruit, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Gilbert, of Route 3, Manassas, Va., is undergoing two weeks reserve training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. Upon completion of his reserve training, Gilbert will return to his job at the Peoples Drug Store, Arlington, Va. He first entered the Naval service Feb. 7, 1951.

Busy With Kapers' Script . . .

Town Tax Rate Set At $1.25; Error Noted In Budget Figures

The town tax levy on real estate and tangible personal property was set at $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation, by the Town Council, Monday night. The budget adopted at the previous meeting shows estimated receipts totaling $144,975, to accrue, in the main, as follows: light and power rates, $71,000; tax levy, $23,125; license tax, $9,000; water rates $20,500; ABC allotment, $4,700. The balance of income will be derived from utility connection fees, sewer rates, vehicle tags, bank tax, fines and costs, burial and building permits, and gas tax refund.

Budget Figures
The town budget came in for some criticism when a representative of the Manassas Journal pointed out that the total amount of the budget announced by Town authorities as $158,112, was actually in error on their own figures, to the extent of approximately $18,000. It was asserted that the former figure was erroneously arrived at by counting as revenue various transfers and charges by one Town department to another, when actually all that such transfers and charges do is to take money "out of one pocket and put it into another." It was pointed out that on their own figures estimated Town receipts add up to $144,975, and actual estimated disbursements add up to approximately $140,000.

Survey Ordered
Councilman Frances Saunders, chairman of the annexation committee, reported to Council that the committee had met and approved certain annexation lines, which in their opinion could be justified in Court.

Mrs. Saunders offered a motion that the Town Manager be authorized to secure bids for a survey and land use maps. The motion was seconded by Councilman Gue and passed.

Saunders and Doggett
The otherwise dull routine of approval of bills for payment was enlivened by an interchange of remarks between Councilmen Saunders and Doggett.

Tax Levy Set at $2.90
The County tax levy on the $10 valuation of land and tangible personal property was set at $2.90 in all Districts except Coles. The District will be subject to a levy of $2.85 due to the fact that it is chargeable with no school district indebtedness. Merchants' capital levy was set at $1.00 on each $10 valuation assessment.

County Board Pass Budget; Hearing Draws Public Comment
Following the public hearing on the proposed County budget, the County Board of Supervisors on Monday, April 30, adopted the County budget as published, including the County school budget in the amount of $1,005,723, and the County budget in the amount of $738,592 for county officers, elections, poor relief, Virginia public assistance fund and general expenditures.

The Board by resolution provided that the item of $97,000 for capital outlay for schools is not to be transferred to schools except upon further resolution of the Board, indicating that the Board of Supervisors intends to exercise some supervision over the School Board in the letting of contracts for the expenditure of this fund.

PTA Favors Budget
During the public hearing at least three phone calls were received by members of the Board in favor of the proposed school budget. Jack Mercant presented the resolution adopted by the Manassas PTA in support of the budget.

Mayor Davis Heard
Mayor Harry Davis, who stated he was not "here to fight the school budget," objected to the form in which the budget was advertised. He protested that it was not "intelligent" to the people. Mr. Davis opposed any increase in the tax rate, pointing out that the Town of Manassas has kept the same levy of $1.25 for the past 10 years. It was his contention that a levy of this size for capital outlay for schools and jail place too heavy a burden on the taxpayer in one year.

Rev. Fred Edge
Reverend Fred Edge, who said he was speaking for the several dozens of boys and girls in the church who are of school age, argued in favor of the budget. He said, "The County has but one Continued on Page 3"

Peters Will Be Released From Contract

County Superintendent of Schools R. Worth Peters has asked to be released from his contract with the Prince William County School Board, it was disclosed at a meeting of the Board here Monday. Peters had asked for his release on April 4th, according to the minutes of the Board in session on that date, which read: "The Superintendent reminded the Board that his present appointment was through June 30, 1953, and requested that the Board grant him a release from his appointment as of June 30, 1953, in order that he could be free to give consideration to other opportunities. On motion of Mr. Alvey, seconded by Mrs. Crocker, the Board unanimously granted this request. On motion of Mr. Alvey, the chairman was directed to request a list of eligible persons for the superintendent from the State Board of Education for consideration of the Board."

The State Board has submitted a list containing the names and qualifications of five men, who are eligible and who may be available for appointment to the position, carry a salary of $6,350 per annum. Selection must be made by the local Board, it may request the State Board for another list. Four of the five on the list submitted are now county superintendents in the State.

Mr. Peters has been connected with education in the County for the past 20 years. He was principal at Occoquan for three years, then came to Manassas as associate principal, and later became principal at Osborn. He has served as county superintendent since September 1, 1948.

Stone House Inn Is Sold

The Stone House Inn, famous eating place, was sold this week by the present owner, Mrs. E. M. Lych, to Mrs. Mary F. Miller, of Indian Head, Md.

The new owner and her husband took immediate possession. They will continue to operate the inn along similar lines as in the past, catering to those who seek delicious food, it is understood.

Mrs. Lych had operated the Inn since it was built in the mid-thirties and had built up an outstanding reputation and a large clientele.

The Inn is located at the junction of routes 211 and 234, about six miles from Manassas. It was widely patronized by residents of Manassas and surrounding area, as well as by tourists to this section.

The sale was handled by John Shreman, local realtor. The sale price, it was learned, was $37,500.

Survey Shows Errors Made In School Figures Prior To '46

The Education Service Bureau of the University of Pennsylvania, which made a school survey of the county during last winter, in March called the attention of the County School Board to certain inaccuracies in past enrollment records and reports of county schools. Records since the beginning of the 1946-1947 term were found to be accurate. The committee reported that the years 1938 to 1946 seemed to be substantially in error to the extent of 10 to 15 percent above their apparently correct values.

The report of the survey committee was considered by the School Board on April 4th of this year, but the Board was unable to determine within any reasonably accurate degree the extent of any deficiencies, if any actually existed, or the length of time they had existed prior to 1946.

Errors apparently arose in the compilation of the reports on average daily attendance, which were made to the State, and which served as the basis for the allocation of State funds to the county schools. The reports were compiled as follows: The individual teachers made their reports to the principals, who compiled them and made their reports to the superintendent's office. This office compiled the principals' reports and made a summary report to the State. It was in this compilation that error has been indicated.

After being informed of the matter on April 4th, the County Board promptly reported to the State Department of Education that certain inaccuracies were indicated in the past, but that due to the period of time that had elapsed since the indicated inaccuracies had occurred, the Board was unable to determine the extent of the inaccuracies. The Board requested a statement of the attitude of the State Department in regard to attempting to make adjustments in the past reports and possible correction at either the local or state level.

Too Late to Rectify

A letter was read at the Board meeting on Wednesday, which had been received from the Supervisor of Records and Accounts of the State Department of Education, and which stated that in his opinion the matter cannot be adequately checked, and that even if it could be accurately checked, it would be impossible as a practical matter, at this late date, to make any correction at the State level. The Supervisor stated further that the reports for the years in question were submitted as the official county records and were so received by the state office. From the letter it would seem that the State Department is satisfied to consider the reports now on file as the official enrollment figures for those years and to consider the matter closed. The Supervisor thanked the local Board for calling the matter to the state's attention and for its cooperation in an effort to maintain clear, accurate and informative records.

Former Manassas Resident Promoted To Lt. Colonel

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Boatwright, who live at 1516 Claremont Avenue, Richmond, Virginia, former residents of Manassas, Virginia, received a cablegram sent from Tokyo, Japan stating: "Have been promoted—Love." This presumably meant that their son, Major Linton Sinclair Boatwright, had been promoted in rank to that of a Lieutenant Colonel. Major Boatwright's wife, who resides at their home 505 Huske Street, Fayetteville, North Carolina, received identically the same cablegram to mean a promotion in rank.

Major (or Lt. Col.) Boatwright and his wife are legal residents of Manassas, Virginia, that is he was born in a hospital in Washington, D. C., but reared in Manassas, and his wife became a legal resident and votes here, because of her husband's legal residential status (the legal spouse of an army officer has to be same as her husband's).

"Sinky" Boatwright, as he is affectionately known in Manassas was a graduate of the Osbourne High School of the Class of '37. He is the brother of Stanley Gariand Boatwright, who resides at 429 Lee Avenue, Manassas, Va.

The parents of "Sinky" Boatwright received a letter from him a few minutes before receiving the cablegram, but the letter said nothing about the expectancy of the promotion, but dealt entirely with the intensive preparation that he was concerned with in anticipation of the battle that is now going on in Korea. The letter was written presumably from his headquarters somewhere in Korea in the vicinity of where the IX Corps is located, and it was dated April 19. The cablegrams were received April 25.

Major Boatwright left by plane from Fort Bragg, North Carolina on August 3, with the nucleus of the staff for what was to be the IX Corps in Korea. He arrived in Taeju, Korea on August 8. He has been in Korea ever since. He has been attached to Headquarters Staff of the IX Corps in the G-3 Section. He has been Acting G-3 (Planning) Officer of the IX Corps since February 24, when Major General Oliver P. Smith took over the command of the IX Corps upon the untimely death of Major General Bryant E. Moore on that date. Major Boatwright was extremely fond of General Moore. He presumably was assigned as part of the honorary entourage that went with the body of General Moore to Yokohama, Japan, because Major Boatwright talked with his parents from Yokohama over long distance telephone on the day that General Moore's body, along with 50 others were loaded aboard a ship for return to the United States to be buried in Arlington Cemetery.

Major Boatwright was decorated again since he has been in Korea for "Meritorious Achievement." He was decorated sometime in October of last year by Major General J. B. Coulter, who headed the IX Corps from the time it was created in August 1950, until General Moore took over the command on February 13 at the time of shifting of officers that took place about that time or about the time when Lt. General Walker was killed in an automobile accident while going to a front point rendezvous to decorate some soldiers, including his own son. General Walker's son had just been assigned to the G-3 Section of the IX Corps with Major Boatwright the day before his father was killed, so Major Boatwright wrote his mother at the time. They had slept together in the same tent the (one) night before his father was killed. Captain Walker accompanied the body of his father back to the United States, and Major Boatwright has never seen him since.

Motorist Must

If you are not satisfied, request a "rejection sticker" which allows you to drive home or to any other stations of your choice for seven days.

3. Report any discourtesy or unfairness to the state police at once. The Department is most interested in eliminating unfair practices and 29 stations lost their privileges last year for non-compliance with regulations.

4. However, remember that, as in any other business, repair estimates can be at honest variance and you do not have to accept any particular one.

6. Be reasonable when your car needs repairs, even if they are expensive. No measure of protection should be neglected in the light of 910 traffic deaths in Virginia last year. Remember, it isn't only the owner's life that is endangered by defective vehicles.

ARMED FORCES DAY POSTER

Defenders of Freedom!

ARMED FORCES DAY - MAY 19

The Army, Air Force, Navy, and Marine Corps will display a poster during the month of May titled "Defenders of Freedom," in commemoration of Armed Forces Day, May 19, this year. The poster shows a soldier, airman, sailor, and marine above a farm and factory scene. The theme of the poster is that American servicemen stand ready to defend the American way of life.

The poster, by Jack Wittrup, a noted commercial illustrator, is one of a series that distinguished artists are doing as a public service for the Army and the Air Force. Among the artists contributing to the series are Howard Chandler Christy, Albert Dorne, Robert Fawcett, Coby Whitmore, Marjha Seyers, Robert Skemp, Steven Dohanes, Gail Phillips, Al Parker, Howard Scott, Al Moore, Douglass Crockett, John Gennep, and Nat White.

accordance with specifications of the Town Manager and the Council Utilities Committee.

Other matters acted upon were: Granted to Fred Hynson permission to build on certain lots, the plan for which had been made but not recorded before the present zoning ordinance went into effect. (Such permission had been recommended by the zoning appeals board.)

Referred to the Street Committee the request of a delegation present that the town surface East Porter Avenue (the delegation charged that although traffic was fairly heavy on the particular section in question, the dust, mud and rough spots are a driving hazard).

Adopted a motion that no further building nor utilities permits would be issued to any subdivider until conditions of his contract with the town as to the grading and surfacing of streets have been fulfilled by the subdivider.

Authorized Town Manager to purchase a new engine for the Fire Department's old Buffalo pumper (Although it is 22 years old, it was said to be "the best pumper we have").

Received several requests for relief from surface water, and a request for removal of unsightly scrap lumber and junk behind certain property on Main Street.

Broilers, fryers, and eggs are being featured on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's plentiful foods list for April.

way to increase its revenue and that is by increasing its tax rate. The town, while not increasing its tax rate, has increased our electric bills and our sewer bills.

Makes Plea

Dr. E. H. Marsteller made a plea for a "sensible plan" for a school construction program to be presented to the Board of Supervisors and the people in a "business-like way." Wheelley Johnson protested that he was not opposed to needed school construction, but was critical of projects costing more than originally estimated. He cited an instance of one school which was originally estimated to cost $125,000, but which cost $160,000 before it was completed. It was his opinion that the levy for school construction would not even meet school needs for this year. He termed it a "loop gap." Mr. Johnson proposed the levy for jail construction, and proposed that the county wait on plans for a new jail until after it had investigated the possibility of joining surrounding counties in a joint jail farm.

Eugenia Hilleary Osbourn

Her Life, Work and Influence

By CLARENCE WAGENER

Miss Eugenia was so in love with life, so anxious to live as long as possible that it is not easy to state definitely what aspect of life appealed to her most. I shall take the risk of picking Nature as her first love. She was captivated by nature—by all of its manifestations. She denied herself much by living in an inland town. On several occasions she expressed a keen desire to live where she could look out on the sea. Bodies of water fascinated her (as did mountains). On her annual trips to Baltimore, if she failed to work in a boat trip on the Chesapeake, she returned to Manassas slightly disappointed. Another regret of hers was that she had not been reared on a big farm, with all its wealth of animal and plant life. I recall her giving me a glowing account of a visit of a couple of years ago to the model three-acre farm of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Helms at nearby Yorkshire.

Music gave Miss Eugenia many hours of pleasure, until the increasing deafness nearly closed this portal to enchantment for her. With her hearing aid she was able to enjoy a number of concerts of recordings given to music lovers by Cleveland Fisher, a member of the Class of '35, Manassas High School. When listening to music, Miss Eugenia had the habit of closing her eyes, thus becoming completely absorbed in the rendition of beautiful harmonies. One year, around Eastertide, she heard Wagner's "Parsifal" in Washington. When she told of that experience, to her listener it was almost as if he were present at the Opera's performance.

Miss Eugenia's training in and love of art—of paintings and sculpture—were made manifest in the emphasis she placed upon art appreciation in the school. She leaned to the "old school." "Abstraction" and "Futurism" and such were not art to her, she unhesitatingly stated.

Civic-minded all along, Miss Eugenia became increasingly so as she grew older. When she was no longer "snowed under" with the interminable teaching and studying and school administration work, she took a very active interest in local, county, state, national and international affairs. She arrived at definite opinions in these matters. I never knew her to equivocate on any issue.

Miss Eugenia was a rooter for the Roosevelts—Franklin D. and Eleanor. She thought that both had done much for their country. Especially, she was for Franklin D. because of his world view and because of his concern and achievements for the common man. It will be recalled by many of her fellow citizens that Miss Eugenia took a decidedly active interest in Virginia's last gubernatorial battle.

As in politics, so in religion, Miss Eugenia was a liberal. True, she was a member of Trinity Episcopal Church, Manassas. But this did not hinder her from doing her own thinking. During the last three years, she and I had several long talks on philosophy and religion. The books of Harry Emerson Fosdick afforded her much comfort. She was frank to admit that she was skeptical about the Virgin Birth. Her veneration of Jesus Christ remained unabated. She felt that there is a Power or Something responsible for the love, the kindness, the goodness, the pity we find in the world. These great virtues are here. They are real. They could not have come from nothing. And since they were put here, it must be for a purpose. Having worked out a personal philosophy along these lines, Miss Eugenia did not fear death, I feel sure. But as enraptured as she was with life, she wanted to be here as long as possible.

The great suffering experienced by so much of life on our planet, the fact that all animal life exists by preying on other life—these things were given much thought by Miss Eugenia. As with many another thinker, she came to the conclusion that there was no way of explaining the suffering and cruelty in the world.

Miss Eugenia believed in and practiced the Brotherhood of Man. So far as I know, she never had to solve any personal problems of a racial nature. Undoubtedly, she saw clearly that the further emancipation of the colored people, the obtaining of equal opportunities by that race, cannot be achieved altogether in a few short years. In a democracy, she felt, they are entitled to its privileges since they are forced to take on its obligations. Colored soldiers and sailors die for the country. Colored property holders pay taxes.

During my last talk with Miss Eugenia she told of a little incident that occurred last summer when she was one of a small gathering. It was reported by a member of the group that a white woman out West had married a colored man, giving as her reason that he was the kindest, gentlest, most considerate person she had ever known and the only person she could be happy with. Now everyone who knew Miss Eugenia knows that she was as opposed to miscegenation as is any living Southerner. But such was her understanding of the woman's feeling that Miss Eugenia's comment, spontaneously given, was to the effect that the matter, to her way of thinking, was one for the woman and the man to decide. This comment of hers, Miss Eugenia said, was frigidly received by the others present.

Of course, Miss Eugenia was a great lover of books. Her taste in literature was truly cosmopolitan. She was an excellent book reviewer. With her remarkable memory, she could recall much of what she had read through the years. Although coming late to the library work, she found it absorbingly interesting. If she could have lived her life over, I think she would have chosen this as a career. While on the subject of living one's life over, Miss Eugenia regretted not having married. She said she had taken her work too seriously when young.

Before touching upon what I feel will come to be regarded as Miss Eugenia's greatest gift by all who attended her classes or knew her as a friend, I must report verbatim a message which she left with me a few years ago. I have it before me, in her own unforgettable handwriting. It reads:

"My only message to the Alumni and the School Board is that the quality of the work for which the School labored so long be kept up, and also that the Ruffner-Carnegie Library be cherished."

Emerson said, "No reason can be asked or given why the soul seeks beauty. Beauty, in its largest and profoundest sense, is one expression for the universe."

Emerson was right. Consciously or subconsciously, to varying degrees, all of us are seekers of beauty. It is all around us, all the time. But the countless distractions provided by civilization obscure our vision, if we fail to remain on the alert. It was the great and never-to-be-forgotten fortune of those of us who studied under Miss Eugenia to have beauty, in its manifold aspects, brought to our perception time and time again. For those who knew and loved her, this gift of Miss Eugenia of being able to impart a love of the Beautiful transcended all her other gifts. I can conceive of no more fitting way of expressing our appreciation for what Miss Eugenia did to develop a love of Beauty in our souls than to reprint, by permission, the following sonnet from the pen of one of Miss Eugenia's early pupils and a devoted friend, Alice Boorman-Williamson:

BEAUTY'S GARMENT (To Eugenia H. Osbourn)

If I have captured any slightest shred
Of Beauty's garment, that bright gossamer
Elusive as the airy ribbons spread
Across the sky when Sun and Rain confer,
And tenuous as silken mists that blur
The morning valleys with their fine-spun thread,
I owe to you the priceless souvenir,
Who showed me how to follow where she led.

It is because you taught my eyes to see,
And all my senses to become aware
Of Beauty's presence, that there came to me,
Slow drifting through the drowsy evening air,
This shining border from her cloak of blue
That I shall keep for love of her—and you!

Minor Addresses Pasture Group More Urged to Join Program

Eighty farmers, businessmen, organization representatives and others turned out for the Dinner Pasture Meeting at the Brentsville District High School on Monday evening. Following the invocation by the Rev. J. Murray Taylor, a bountiful meal was served the group by the Kensington Club.

The Hon. W. Arthur Minor, assistant to the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture and the leader of the National Grasslands Program, was the main speaker. The general theme of his interesting and instructive talk was "Not every acre in grasses and legumes but every acre a good acre." He brought out the importance of planning for good pastures in rotations as well as on land set aside for permanent pasture use.

Dr. Grover F. Brown, County Pasture Committee Chairman, announced that the goal adopted by the committee was to "Make Prince William the Best Pasture County in the State." Other committeemen reported that plans were being made to provide trophies for farmers making the most progress in improving pastures during the year and that green-on-white signs lettered "This Farm is Taking Part in the Pasture Program" would be furnished for farm entrances of County Pasture Club Members. These are being prepared by the Nokesville FFA Chapter. Robert Engle of the National Fertilizer Association called attention to the nationwide interest being taken in pasture development. He stated that he had just returned from Kentucky where the Governor had stayed throughout a whole week with a large group making a pasture tour of that state.

Mr. Engle showed the new agricultural movie "Deeper Acres" made last summer in Prince William County. William F. Hale of Nokesville had the leading part in the film of which a large part was made on the Hale Farm and in the Nokesville vicinity. Other parts of particular interest in the film included the showing of pasture irrigation on the L. W. Hunt farm, the inspection of a bumper corn crop by P. B. Reading and his Vo-Ag class, spreading fertilizer by plane on pastures on the Colvin Bros. Farm, and the making of a loan for soil improvement purposes by R. C. Powell of the Peoples National Bank, Center Street, in Manassas showed up well in the color movie.

Farmers of the county are being invited and urged to enroll in the County Pasture Club and to take part in the County Pasture Program. The committee feels that if farmers throughout the county will participate, Prince William will have an excellent chance of leading the State in pasture improvement in 1951.

Letters To The Editor

Editor Journal:

We have noticed several improvements in The Journal since you began editing the paper. But the one with which we are most delighted is the greatly improved school coverage. Ever since we moved to this county about five years ago, we have been hoping that one of our newspapers would try seriously to give us an accurate and fair description of our school system. The school news since you began editing The Journal, gives us hope.

Your story of April 28 "School Needs More Rooms. More Teachers Coming Year" and your breakdown of the '51-52 county school budget is the kind of thing we have been looking for. We honestly hope you will give us more and more of the same.

At the annual meeting of the Northern Virginia District PTA at Gainesville District School last Saturday, Mrs. Hunter Barron, State PTA president, emphasized the long-believed fact that the basis of our democracy is our public school system and the district chairman said that she had always felt that the solution to school problems (or, of course, any problem of a democracy) is an adequately informed citizenry. Probably most of the world agrees with her.

I feel very strongly that some newspaper could give great service to Prince William County by helping we parents and citizens to know our schools better. Give us more facts! Tell us about the county school bus system, the drivers and how they are chosen and trained, school guidance programs, plan and curriculum for eighth grade at Osbourne, exactly where and how crowding is most keenly felt in the schools, the school health program (facts, over, perhaps a period of years), work of the visiting teacher and the elementary supervisor, development and needs of the board, etc., etc. I for one, would be most interested in anything you can tell us about our schools, as long as I can depend on the information being absolutely as far as possible, fair, accurate, and unbiased facts. I do believe a number of parents would be equally interested. The sort of comparative figures you gave last week in reporting teacher salaries are most helpful.

More power to you!
Incidentally, as a Catharpin, I would love to see some Catharpin news. Why not add some correspondents from Gainesville District to your list and group them with Mrs. Meyers fine Haymarket news under Gainesville district heading!

Very sincerely yours,
Elizabeth H. Rion.
The whole tone of your paper is constructive. Thank goodness!

Bean, County Home Demonstration Committee chairman, and Mrs. Leona Barlow, Home Demonstration Agent, attended the District VII Federation meeting at Winchester in the new James Wood High School, Thursday. Nearly 750 women attended from the 12 northern Virginia counties. The theme, "The Family's Responsibility in Today's World" was highlighted by the talk of Miss Mary Louise Collings, extension service, United States Department of Agriculture. She spoke from her experiences in Japan when she helped plan and start a Home Demonstration program there.

Mrs. A. O. Bean represented Prince William county on the round table discussion when the highlights from the counties in the district were given. She reported on our Federation Goal activities and the work that is being done by the clubs on recreation. She also said that we had increased our club membership of 75 members more than any other county in the district. This has been accomplished through the organization of two new clubs and through the efforts of clubs to build a program which will meet the needs of the majority of the people in the county. Our county also contributed $10.50 to "Pennies for Friendship" which helps to finance our International organization, "Associated County Women of the World." The audience was delightfully entertained by two piano solos by Eugenia Holy Evans—concert pianist, Prague, Czechoslovakia and two modern dances by Marion Park Lewis—University of California. This group also enjoyed the beauty of the countryside on their trip through the apple blossom country. Dogwood and red bud blossoms are at their peak, and these also added more color to the various shades of green of the trees, to make a perfect picture.

Veterans Farm Club Is Host At Social

Last Friday the Prince William County Veterans Farm Club was host at a social held in the gymnasium at Nokesville High School. For entertainment The National Fertilizer Association's latest agricultural education movie release, "Deeper Acres," was shown. "Deeper Acres" is the newest and one of National Fertilizer's best. People from Manassas and Nokesville were really thrilled at seeing themselves and scenes from their own farms in the movie. Some local town scenes were also used. The color scenes from this area are beautiful, to say nothing of our talented people.

Robert H. Engle, who directed and filmed the picture, was the honored guest. In his talk introducing "Deeper Acres" for its first public showing, Mr. Engle stressed the vital need to present a challenge to most farmers to spur them on to using the better farming practices that are daily proving so successful on our better farms. Harry O. Swan thanked Mr. Engle for his fine talk and announced that advertising space is now being accepted for the Prince William County Fair catalogue.

National Music Week is May 8th to May 13th. The keynote for the 28th annual observance is, "enrich your living through music." Mrs. Vincent Davis, chairman for 1951, urges every group and organization to use musical talent and group singing.

Social Security

YOUR NEW SOCIAL SECURITY
By Ruth G. Duffy, Manager
Alexandria Social Security
Office

If you are employed or self-employed in any kind of work covered by the Social Security Act, you must have a Social Security card. Your card shows your account number, which is used to keep a record of your earnings.

You should use the same account number all your life. If you have had an account card but lost or misplaced it, you should get a duplicate card bearing the same number. If your name has been changed since you received your card, you should request a new card showing the same account number and your new name.

The number on your social security card distinguishes your account from the accounts of other people who have names similar to or exactly like yours. Both your name and account number are necessary to make sure you get full credit for your earnings. The benefits payable to you or to your family are based on the earnings recorded in your account. Your card, therefore, should be shown to each employer so that he may report your wages under your correct name and account number.

Treat your card like an insurance policy. Keep the stub or lower half of the card in a safe place. If you lose the account card but have the lower half of the card, you can get a new card with the same number without delay.

Each employer is required by law to give you receipts for the social security taxes he has deducted from your pay. He must do this at the end of each year and also when you stop working for him. These receipts will help you check on your social security account because they show not only the amount deducted from your pay but also the wages paid you. You should check on your account at least each 3 years, since there is a limit to the period within which certain corrections can be made.

The Alexandria office is located in the Ruple Building, 815 King Street. Office hours are from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. on Monday through Friday. This office also services the Counties of Arlington, Culpeper, Fairfax, Fauquier, Loudoun, Prince William and Rappahannock.

News From Nokesville

MRS. FRED SHEPHERD, Correspondent

A large crowd attended the P.-T. A. meeting at the school on Thursday night when officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, R. T. Gay; vice president, George Sonafank; secretary, Mrs. Ted Shepherd; treasurer, Mrs. Clay Wood, Jr.

Mr. W. F. Hale, Mrs. Floyd Davis and Philip Reading comprised the nominating committee, whose report was adopted unanimously. Mrs. Link presented monetary awards to the following pupils, who won in their respective classes in the recent health poster contest: Forrest Ross, Edward Croushorn, Peggy Shepherd, Norman Chastain and Jewell Dickerson and five little children from Mrs. Bryant's room. Mrs. Link thanked all who helped with the recent "band" supper at which $227.45 was realized. The Association voted to give $75.00 toward the cost of the recently purchasing movie projector.

A public movie will be shown on Saturday night, May 19. The program for the evening was given by the primary grades with "Health" as the theme. The acting of all the little folks brought enjoyment to all present.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Lester Hooker and Arthur Boatright of Richmond came on Sunday to help "Grandpa" J. A. Hooker celebrate his 84th birthday. In the absence of her mother, Miss Mary Hooker was home from college, to "take over." Mrs. Hooker, along with Mrs. Joe Byler, spent the weekend at Salisbury, Pennsylvania visiting friends and relatives.

TO CONDUCT SERVICE

The morning worship service at the Nokesville Church of the Brethren will be given by the women of the church. The guest speaker will be Mrs. Earl Mitchell, who will speak on "Christianity Begins at Home." The service will be in keeping with National Family Week. On Friday night, May 11, all families of the church are invited to come to the church for a "family" supper after which 38 members of the Bridgewater Glee Club will give a concert beginning at 8:00.

It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Polen have sold their home to the Leaches from Greenwich.

Firemen Will Sponsor Troop

The Nokesville Volunteer Fire Department voted Tuesday night to sponsor a Boy Scout Troop, and it will soon be organized, as fully 25 boys of Brentsville District School wish to become Scouts.

Very few members of the Fire Department were absent when President George H. Sonafank called for a vote on the project. All hands were raised in an unanimous "Yes" and there was no negative vote.

Action came after President Sonafank had introduced Percy Noel who has been working for months on the plan to have a troop and who offered the results of his labors to the firemen. Noel in turn introduced Edward Powell of the National Capital Council, who explained what the firemen's responsibilities would be as sponsors. In the question period and discussion which followed it was evident that the members believe Scouting would be a fine thing for Nokesville and its boys.

A film on Scouting was then shown with the ladies auxiliary of the Fire Department present.

President Sonafank expects soon to announce the composition of the firemen's Scout Committee of five or seven. This committee will choose a scout master and assistant scout master. Meanwhile, all boys are invited to register.

ANTIQUE SHOW SUCCESS

The Antique and Hobby Show sponsored by the ladies of the W. S. C. S. proved to be very worthwhile. The items on exhibit, and there were several hundred, and many were priceless, were so very interesting to view. Although the exhibit caused many hours of hard work for those who planned it, we are sure everyone who came was well rewarded.

WED SATURDAY

Congratulations to our newest, married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield S. Ross, Jr., who were married Saturday at 11 o'clock at the home of Rev. Barnett Grimsley. They were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Peggy Liskay, Mr. Glyde Hawkins and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mayhugh. They hope to find an apartment in Nokesville. Mrs. Ross is the former Miss Lillian Liskay.

Mrs. J. W. Hively, Linda and Bradley along with Mrs. Hively's sister, Joy, of Washington, spent the weekend at their parents' home in Huntersville, W. Va. Their father, Olive Alderman, returned with them.

The Lewine Kerlins of Washington spent the weekend at the W. F. Hale home and "took care" of the little Hale boys while Billy and Mildred went to Georgia.

BAND CONCERT

Monday, May 7, at 8:00 p. m. the concert by the Nokesville Band, under the direction of Miss Dawn Arey, will be presented at the school. Featured during the concert will be Peggy Wilkins, Bertha Wood, and Peggy Shepherd on their clarinets; Carolyn Dennis and Corale Shepherd, trumpets; Dorothy Marshall and Sarah Wood and Walter Carter, saxophones. The Glee Club will sing four numbers during the evening, featuring Nancy Sonafank as soloist.

Miss Kitty Kirshmer, Miss Alma Waits, Miss Barbara Weir and Miss Joyce Moyers spent Saturday in Washington and attended the performance of Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith of Bergton spent the weekend with the David Yankays and John Randall.

Miss Marian Poole, who is in training at St. Elizabeth's, came home on Saturday to help run the Fred Shepherd household while the "Momies" of the family rested after becoming very ill on Friday night. Marian returned to Alexandria Hospital on Tuesday where she will continue her nursing duties until she graduates.

District S.S. Convention Proves Big Success

Everyone who attended the District S. S. Convention at the Valley Church on Sunday seemed to enjoy the day so much. We feel sure everyone was spiritually blessed and went away with a determination to make his home a better place to live after hearing the wonderful morning address "Your Homes, God's First Concern," by Rev. Albert C. Winn. In the afternoon Dr. Minor C. Miller spoke on "What Should the Church School Give to the Home." The devotional periods, the readings and musical selections given during the day each brought a message well worth remembering, and with the warm welcome from the folks of the Valley church, the day was complete.

The offering for the day was $84.00 plus.

During the business period presided over by the president, Robert Peahm, with L. J. Bowman acting as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Wade Whetzel, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Philip Reading; vice president, Lester Flory; secretary, Ransdell Gough.

Each year as the district meeting is held, many memories of former meetings come to mind. Many of those who took such an active part in former years have passed away. Among these are D. B. Showalter, who was superintendent of the Valley church when the convention was held there on May 21, 1924, and Elder S. H. Flory, and "Pop" Hale, both of whom gave talks that day. Others who took part in the following years were Alfonse Armstrong, J. M. Billy May, Rev. J. K. Cooke, John Miller, D. E. Earhart, I. N. H. Beahm, A. K. Graybill and W. T. Wine. The interest of the convention has always been to further the work of the Sunday School. When the offering was taken on Sunday, the money given will complete the district budget for religious education for this school year.

GETTING READY FOR CAMP

The W. F. Hales, Wade Whetzel, Welton Albrites and Miller Whetzel left Friday night and returned Monday evening from Camp Stewart, George, (near Savannah) where they will all be moving soon. While they were gone the Hales bought a trailer in which they will make their home while there. The Albrites and Wade Whetzel already have their trailers ready to "load up." The folks seem to be favorably impressed with the surroundings of their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Flory have named their little son, Stephen Owens. Mary and little Stephen came home from the hospital on Thursday.

Mr. Hayward Pickens and daughters, Elaine, Sharon and Shawn and Mrs. Ethel Mae Cascioli and sons of Silver Springs, Md., spent Sunday with the W. W. Snyder family and the Bowmans. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Eliza F. Snyder, who had been visiting here the past week. She will spend this week at the Pickens home and will go back to her home at Mathias, West Virginia, next Sunday to live.

The first graders at school have missed their very nice teacher, Mrs. Everett Kline, who has been very ill since last week. Her oldest son, Everett, Jr., also is ill at home with the measles.

Test-tube promise

of practical reality

No longer is the atom the smallest bit of indestructible matter. Its innermost secrets have been discovered. It can be converted into energy or rearranged to form new matter almost at the will of science. The art of transmutation is now a reality. Progress in pharmacy and medicine is equally striking. Many drugs which were laboriously isolated from nature may now be synthesized economically in the laboratory. Many diseases which formerly terminated life or lingered for months may now be cured in a few days. Day after day, trained scientists study the problems of medicine and pharmacy. Although disappointments far exceed successes, the work goes on. Test-tube promises eventually become practical realities available to you in this pharmacy.
