

This 'n That

Pet Peeve of the week... the hole in the center of the pavement. One hole made repair a water line in front of Manassas Hardware Co. is not hard on passing vehicles but as well. After a heavy rain, the hole fills with water and is walking along the street subject to a good splashing. I thought to see our mud-splatter-slacks. How long are we going to put up with such thoroughness?

We asked Sheriff Kerlin if he busy kissing babies these days his election campaign. His reply: "Only the bigger ones, and too old at that."

Understand Gerald Peters has a position with the Falls Church police department. Peters recently resigned as a member of Manassas police force.

H. B. Whitmore continues quite at his home here. He marked 75th birthday on July 25th.

The warm spot that Manassas is in its heart for Miss Phyllis Taylor, English exchange teacher, fully exemplified in the round-off by friends and students gathered at the station Saturday afternoon. When the 4:45 train Washington pulled in to take on the first leg of her trip to her native England, the large crowd assembled gave her a big send-off and sang her favorite, "For a Jolly Good Fellow."

Every state in the Union but one has been represented among visitors at the Manassas Battlefield Park this month, according to James Myers. Attendance this year, he states, has been especially good.

Well the politicians and the would-be politicians don't leave us alone, we'll never get The Journal this week.

Caton's Esso Servicenter Will Open For Business on Saturday

Paul Locke has been named manager of Caton's Esso Servicenter, which will open to the public here this Saturday.

The new Caton's Esso Servicenter on Center street will formally open this Saturday, and W. Caton Merchant, the proprietor has planned a gala celebration and sale to mark the event.

Beginning opening day and continuing all next week, prizes and souvenirs will be awarded to those who visit the new servicenter. Special low prices will be featured on tires, batteries and slipcovers.

The grand prize for opening week will be a television radio-phonograph combination. It will be awarded on Saturday, August 4th.

The new servicenter is located in the garage building formerly occupied by Wheat Chevrolet and will offer complete automotive service, washing, lubrication and accessories. Esso products will be featured.

The building has been completely remodeled and painted to present an attractive appearance.

Paul E. Locke, Jr., will serve as manager of the servicenter. Mr. Locke has recently completed training with the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and has received his managerial certificate. He has been associated with Mr. Merchant in the operation of service stations and Firestone stores in this section for the past year. Prior to that, Mr. Locke served as manager of the A. & P. Food Store here. He has a wide acquaintance in Manassas and vicinity.

The new enterprise is the third in a chain of service stations operated by Mr. Merchant, one in Centreville and two in Manassas. He also owns and operates the Firestone Stores here and at Quantico.

Mr. Merchant started with the Firestone Company in Washington in 1942, and in a short time had learned most phases of the operation of a Firestone Store.

He entered into business for himself in 1945, opening the present Manassas Firestone Store, and a month later opened the Firestone Esso Station on the corner. He later expanded his operations and gradually developed the business to include three service stations and two Firestone Stores. Besides his large retail business, he is the largest wholesale tire dealer in Northern Virginia.

Another speaker was C. Willenbrucker, U.S.N., executive vice president of the Retired Officers' Association, who spoke on "World Federal Government."

A number of special guests attended the meeting.

Major Urbach Is Speaker At Lions Meeting

"The National Guard" was the subject of an interesting talk by Major R. S. Urbach at the regular meeting of the Manassas Lions Club held last night at Hotel Stonewall Jackson.

Major Urbach, who is from Headquarters 107th AAA Bridge, Virginia National Guard, spoke of the progress being made in forming another Guard unit here, and the possibility of a new National Guard armory for Manassas, providing the new unit organization is completed.

He spoke highly of the record which is being made by the first Guard company, now in regular service at Camp Stewart, Ga., stating that it was one of the most outstanding units in camp. He also gave a brief history of the National Guard and the part that it has played in the country's history in both war and peace.

Another speaker was C. Willenbrucker, U.S.N., executive vice president of the Retired Officers' Association, who spoke on "World Federal Government."

A number of special guests attended the meeting.

Private Jamerson is cook with Army in Korea.

WITH IX CORPS, U.S. ARMY IN KOREA—Private Ernest S. Jamerson of Farmville and Manassas is now serving as a cook with the mess section of Headquarters Company, IX Corps, on the central Korean front.

Private Jamerson's section has the all important tasks of converting the hungry men of the corps headquarters into well fed and satisfied patrons. Mess personnel have received high praise for their efficient operation in spite of such handicaps as frequent moves, extremely adverse weather conditions, guerrilla threats, shortages of fresh rations and lack of replacement parts for cooking equipment.

A long time resident of Farmville, Private Jamerson attended Cumberland High School. In civilian life he was employed by R. H. Towler, of Manassas, Va.

He was inducted into the Army in October 1950 and received his basic training with the 3rd Infantry Division at Fort Meade, Md. Upon completion of training he was sent to Korea where he joined the corps in 1951.

Private Jamerson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jamerson, live in Farmville, Va.

Lions and Kiwanis To Clash At Softball

The local Lions and Kiwanis clubs will stage their annual softball game on September 7th, with proceeds to go to the Manassas Recreation Association.

This is the second annual game between the two service clubs and interest is at high pitch. Last year the Kiwanians were victors and the Lions are out for revenge.

The game will be held at Swavely Field under the lights and get underway at 6:30 P.M.

Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25c for children.

Milk Shortages Possible In Certain Areas

Increased demand for fluid milk may cause fall and winter milk shortages in some heavy consumption areas, says B. F. Morgan, dairy marketing specialist at V.P.I.

He points out that May is one of the flush production months, and the overall surplus was only 19.5 percent of total deliveries including government contract sales. May was the first month this year that all markets had enough deliveries from base holding producers to fully supply the Class I demand.

Morgan also forecasts higher prices for fluid milk at retail later this year.

Average prices paid by plants for manufacturing milk in the January-June period this year were 20 percent above 1950. Distributor average buying prices for fluid milk were up 7 percent.

Market prices of dairy products held steady during the past three months, except for small changes in the price of butter. This stability indicates a strong market, Morgan says, since production has been increasing steadily from January through June.

Market prices of feed grains and many by-product feeds declined in June. The most noticeable decline was in barley and oats, with corn showing some weakness.

Corporal Bryant Is Awarded Combat Badge

WITH THE 7TH INF. DIV., U.S. ARMY, IN KOREA—Corporal Sydney E. Bryant, son of Mr. Alvie V. Bryant, 122 Jefferson Ave., Manassas, Virginia, was recently awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge for "excellent performance of duty in ground combat against the enemy."

In ten months of Korean campaigning, Bryant's unit has captured more than 4,000 Chinese and North Koreans and inflicted more than 12,000 casualties on the enemy.

Bryant attended Oshorn High School before entering the Army.

Primary Contest Warming Up As Election Day Nears

The several contests in the Democratic Primary on August 7th are keeping Prince William voters stirred up to a high pitch, and candidates are at their busiest in an effort to corral as much support as possible in the short time remaining before election day.

For county office there is only one contest, for sheriff, and this a three-way affair, looks like a tight race right down to the wire. Sheriff John P. Kerlin, the incumbent and veteran campaigner, is battling out with Turner D. Wheeling and H. Layton Laws. All three candidates are making a strong bid for the nomination.

Blister Fight
Bitterest contest is for supervisor of Manassas district, which finds incumbent Supervisor J. Carl Kincheloe, former supervisor Wheatley M. Johnson and Roy Helms engaged in spirited campaigns for office. Large newspaper ads have figured in this contest, with Helms, especially, aggressive in his attacks on the two opponents and the Board of Supervisors as a whole.

PERSONAL
Miss Elizabeth Ann Bayne returned home Monday after spending the weekend at West Point. Mrs. Temple Barron spent last week at Virginia Beach with her husband who is stationed aboard the submarine Tigrone at the Norfolk Naval Base.

Kincheloe, in particular, has been the target of Helms' barrage of questions and publicity.

The Latest
Latest episode in the campaign was the mud-slinging letter circulated in town this week in attempt to smear Kincheloe's reputation. The letter is signed by W. B. Doak, of Clifton, Va.

Doak, himself, distributed the letters in local business places, and The Journal has been unable to learn whether or not he is alone in his efforts to discredit Kincheloe. The management of the Journal did receive a request to publish the letter as a paid advertisement, and rejected it on the grounds that the contents were libelous in nature, and were not based on facts.

Supporters and friends of Kincheloe termed the letter "one of the rottenest, lowest and dirtiest pieces of political propaganda ever issued."

Other District Races
Supervisor contests in other districts of Prince William County have thus far been conducted on a high plane, and while spirited, lack the bitterness that has developed in the Manassas race.

Million in Heavy Construction Equipment to Be Sold at Auction

Heavy construction equipment, valued at $1,000,000, will be placed on the auction block here August 7th, to make it the largest sale ever held in these parts.

The equipment, which covers a three-acre tract near the Regional High School in Manassas, is being sold by Smith Contracting Corporation, of Fort Worth, Texas, as a voluntary liquidation, with the Herz Auction Sales, of Warren, Ohio, handling the sale.

Huge earth-moving behemoths, tractors, bulldozers, ditchers, road boring machinery, trucks, jeeps, tools and compressors are included in the sale. The equipment was used only a few months on the 30-inch Transcontinental natural gas pipeline constructed through this section.

Manassas has served as the Virginia base of operations for the construction firm, which has an additional million dollars worth of equipment at Fort Worth.

Wide interest is being shown in the sale by construction men throughout the country, and the auction company is confident that the equipment will be disposed of quickly.

$1,000,000 Equipment to Go on Block

PAGING ALEXANDER BOTT... the Earthworm salesman of Saturday Evening Post fame, would welcome an opportunity to swing a deal on the heavy tractors and equipment shown in the above pictures. Three acres of earth moving machines, valued at $1,000,000 will be placed on the auction block here on Tuesday, August 7th, by the owners, Smith Contracting Co., Fort Worth, Tex.

J. Carl Kincheloe Is Active In Many County Enterprises

The present supervisor for the Manassas district, J. Carl Kincheloe, who is seeking his first full term on the Board of Supervisors, is a man of many and varied interests... a successful farmer, business man and leader in civic affairs.

Supervisor Kincheloe was appointed to the Board by Judge Brown in 1949 to serve the unexpired term of Wheatley M. Johnson, who resigned.

Mr. Kincheloe was born in Prince William County in 1899. After graduating from high school, he soon became interested in business and since the age of 20, has been engaged in one or more enterprises in this section.

He was the partner in the firm of Conner & Kincheloe, which operated a grocery and meat market here, from 1920 until 1940. The firm also bought and sold cattle.

In the early thirties, he purchased the Birmingham dairy farm, on the outskirts of Manassas. Successful as a dairy farmer, he organized in 1934 the Birmingham Dairy, Inc., which is now one of the county's largest business enterprises and distributes milk products throughout Prince William and nearby counties.

He owns and operates three dairy farms in the county, and in recent years had been active in building homes for growing Manassas.

He has always taken a leading part in civic affairs. He is past president of the Manassas Kiwanis Club, a director and a 17-year attendance member. He is also a member of the Masonic lodge.

He is a director of the Prince William Chamber of Commerce, secretary-treasurer of the Prince William Development Company, and a director of the Peoples National Bank.

He is a steward of the Methodist Church.

A hard worker and a man of keen business acumen, Mr. Kincheloe takes his greatest pleasure in his farm home, "Birmingham," which antedates Civil War days and is one of the showplaces of the county.

Anniversary Of Battle Is Observed Here

The noise of cannon sounded through the quiet countryside at Henry House, scene of the Battle of Bull Run, Saturday afternoon, as hundreds gathered to mark the 90th anniversary of the famous Civil War engagement, which occurred July 21, 1861.

Maj. Joseph Mills Hanson, former superintendent of the Manassas National Battlefield Park, described the battle which raged for a full day over the rolling green hills.

Over 300 spectators crowded into the shade offered by a grove of elms. Many were members of organizations memorializing the efforts to found a Confederate States of America and knew the story of the First Battle of Manassas. Historians now refer to it as the battle of Bull Run.

Maj. Hanson added some interesting facts to the Bull Run story. He told of the first use of telegraph in a military engagement. It was a message sent by Gen. Beauregard to Richmond, asking for aid.

Another first, he said, was the transportation of 10,000 men of Gen. Johnson's command at Harpers Ferry by rail. They disembarked at Manassas Junction, a railroad leading into the fruitful Shenandoah Valley and joined Jackson on Henry House hill. They turned the tide of battle which had begun at sunup, causing it to end at sundown with the Union Army under Gen. Irvin McDowell in full flight.

Birth of Signal Corps
The modern signal corps actually had its birth during this battle, another first, according to Maj. Hanson. It was because of an alert signal officer that entrapment of the Confederate forces was avoided just after sunup.

Finally, the famous rebel yell was born amid the blood, smoke and dust as Gen. Bee called to his troops to rally around Jackson and his men who were standing "like a stone wall" atop Henry House Hill.

The observance yesterday was sponsored by the Confederate Memorial Committee of Washington and Confederate groups of Manassas. Wheaties were placed at the mounted statue of Gen. Jackson and at the Col. Francis S. Bartow memorial.

Centreville Fire Company Raises $2300

The treasury of the Centreville Volunteer Fire Department is $2,300 richer as the result of the popularity contest, and the community dance, which climaxed the contest, Friday night.

The dance, which was held at Hunter's Lodge, drew an overflowed crowd to witness the crowning of the 1951 popularity queen, who was Mrs. G. L. King.

Russ Cullen, of Manassas, acted as master of ceremonies, and introduced the 14 contestants who were sponsored by merchants in Centreville and Manassas for the popularity award.

The winner, Mrs. King, received a 17-jewel wrist watch. Mrs. Marcela Fisher, as runner-up, was awarded a $50 savings bond. Nancy Fisher, third, was the recipient of a $25 bond.

The contest, which attracted wide interest, lasted a month.

The proceeds will go toward the payment of a new fire engine. A new firehouse has recently been built to house the new equipment.

Tennis Exhibition
Ray Gibson, instructor in tennis for the Manassas Summer Recreation program, announced that tennis exhibition matches have been arranged for Sunday at 2:30 at the Dudley Martin courts.

Well-known Washington amateurs will appear in the exhibition matches which will include both singles and doubles.

Tennis instruction is now being given to a class of six youngsters every Monday, according to Mr. Gibson.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Grant of Washington entertained guests on Sunday at their summer home, near Linton Hall, in honor of Mrs. A. H. Kirk's birthday. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bixler, of Herndon; Mrs. Mabel Grant and Mr. Harry Hancock, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wetherall, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wetherall, and son Jack, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Albrite, all of Manassas.

Macs Outhit Occoquan, 16-14: Quantico Jrs. And Ole Timers Clash Sunday

Manassas and Occoquan engaged in a slugfest Sunday, with the Macs emerging the winners 16-9 due largely to the heavy hitting of "Dee" Vetter who connected for a home run and a triple, got two free passes and scored two runs.

A total of 24 hits by both teams kept the scorekeeper busy. Jackie Saylor got four for five and Pittman three for five for the winning Macs. For Occoquan, it was L. Gilliam with a double and two singles in four times at bat.

G. Shepherd went the route for Occoquan and was the losing pitcher.

cher. Dennis Floyd was the Manassas' starter and gave way to Mayhugh in the sixth, who was credited with the win.

Nokesville Wins
Nokesville had an easy time with Bristerburg, winning 9-3. The winners collected 11 hits off Clarke, while Jones gave up 10 but was especially tight with men on the bags.

A home run and a single by Irwin paced the Nokesville attack. Brown had two singles and a double, Owens three singles, Flickenger a triple and King and Splitler a single apiece.

White Oak Beats Triangle
White Oak continued to set the pace for the "A" division leadership by downing Triangle, 6-4. Tops Amidon went the route for the losers and was in fine form, allowing but one extra base hit. Beard was equally effective for White Oak and was relieved by Moncure in the eighth because of excessive heat.

4-H NEWS AND VIEWS

By L. D. Wissinger

"What are you going to show at the fair this year," is the question most 4-H members are asking each other these days. For some time now they have been active in planning and fitting their animals for this big occasion.

Last Monday, July 23, the members of 4-H and FFA were given a very extensive and step-by-step lesson in fitting their show animals.

This took place in the form of a demonstration which was held at Lillian Smith's. (Harvey Smith Farm Nokesville) R. G. Connelly, extension dairyman, Blacksburg, conducting the demonstration, stressed the importance of good feeding, feeding to fit the animal and suggested a desirable ration for this purpose. The members were shown by Mr. Connelly how to use the clippers, brush and other tools of the showman to best advantage. Several of the boys had a hand at clipping and various other operations. The whole demonstration was on a suitable level that every member could well understand.

As a follow up, some of the older members with the experience of several shows and ribbons behind them have taken it on themselves to assist some of the younger "first year" showmen in preparing their animals. Tuesday evening Buzz Mayhugh, Bobby Michael and Charles Young made a trip to Broadlands Farm, the home of Jack and Paul Broadbudds. Their heifers were pretty rough but with some hard work and lots of enthusiasm the boys started down the long road toward getting the animals ready. They say they want to visit Bobby Mayhugh next and they plan to help several other youngsters the same way.

Manassas Shrine

In the New York Times of July 15th, Anthony Leverio writing on "National Museums" gives considerable space to the Manassas National Battlefield Park as follows:

Manassas Shrine

"In near-by Virginia, at Manassas, the visitor can spend about a half hour absorbing the story of the First and Second Battles of Bull Run. Then he may step outdoors, look out over the peaceful fields and visualize the events that occurred there no farther back than grandfather's day.

"Inside the museum he will have seen the painting of a long array of the troops of Thomas 'Stonewall' Jackson, waiting for the decisive moment. Outside he may look upon the sunny fields where the men actually stood, where the legend of Stonewall actually began.

"Or the visitor may skim over the tactical diagrams and see the conflict in the smaller compass of 'The Story of Captain Ricketts,' who commanded one of the two batteries of regular artillery in the unseasoned Union Army of the Potomac. The captain was wounded and his wife followed him to nurse him in the military hospital. She kept a diary of her experience, which the museum now has. She was a good nurse and her captain lived to fight another day, as a brigadier general in the Second Battle of Bull Run.

"In another display case is a uniform of an identified Confederate artilleryman who had lived near-by. The museum was fortunate enough to get a deguerotype showing the local boy wearing that very uniform.

"These personal mementos have a poignant appeal that tell the age old story of the individual in any war. For the scheme of the battle itself, the visitor at Manassas may go to a panoramic display. By flicking a set of electric switches in sequence he will see in flashing lights the successive tactical phases of the fighting.

"With a care for the sensibilities of both North and South, the museums, which are under the control of the Interior Department, avoid the controversial by illustrating much of the story through contemporary prints and cartoons. How well the balance is kept is illustrated by a very recent occurrence.

"A group of Congressmen went out to the Manassas battlefields. They were looking over a site where it was proposed to build some office buildings for a dispersion of the Government in case of war. Then the Congressmen went through the museum and concluded that they were treading on hallowed ground. As they left one of them turned to the curator and said, 'Mister, you have just won the third battle of Manassas.'

"What the visitor sees in this museum of the Bull Run battles is typical of other Civil War museums at landmarks like Fredericksburg, Vicksburg, Shiloh and Appomattox Courthouse, where General Lee surrendered his forces to General Grant."

Hill Billy Music Test

WARRENTON, Va. — Fauquier County's routine schedule of summer crowd-gathering events will be garnished August 4 and 5 by a rediscovered craze that's old as these Virginia hills—a hill billy music test.

Billed as the National Championship County Music Contest, it already has brought inquiries and hotel reservations from as far away as Tennessee and New York State.

Open to all country musicians, the contest will feature $1,200 in prize money, which will go to the best old-time fiddler, banjo picker, guitarist, hill billy band, square dance team and male or female singer. No application or entry fees are required.

Connie B. Gay of "Radio Ranch", Arlington station WARL, will be master of ceremonies, and heading the board of judges will be James R. Denney of Nashville, Tenn., and the Saturday night radio show, "Grand Ole Opry."

New Crabgrass Killer

Only three simple steps are required to kill crabgrass with potassium cyanate. STEP No. 1—Carefully read and follow the directions found on each can of potassium cyanate crabgrass killer. STEP No. 2—Mix with water, in a pail or in the sprinker or sprayer itself. STEP No. 3—Spray it on. If the crabgrass is bad, spray the whole lawn. If it appears only as individual plants or in small patches, just spot spray at close range, as shown. (3)

A NEW chemical is available this year which shows promise of ending the home owner's long and discouraging battle against his worst lawn enemy—crabgrass. Its name is potassium cyanate and it works by simply mixing it with water and sprinkling or spraying it on your lawn.

After five years of testing and perfecting, potassium cyanate has been proven safe, economical, simple to use and—most important—95 to 100 per cent effective. It is non-toxic enough to be used without danger around children or pets. It causes no permanent injury or even lasting discoloration to most basic grasses. And it can be used effectively on either seedlings or mature crabgrass plants.

The cost of using potassium cyanate averages one dollar per 1200 square feet of lawn when applied to young seedling crabgrass in the spring (about twice as much is required in late summer, when the crabgrass plant is in its hardy prime). For those who have larger lawns the cost will be much less, as larger containers can be purchased at quite a substantial saving. Although potassium cyanate can be applied at any time during the growing season, it is most effective when applied late in the summer, just before the crabgrass plant goes to seed. This is also the ideal time of the year to re-seed your lawn in those patches where crabgrass has been destroyed.

Potassium cyanate is not a trade name. It is the basic chemical in eleven different brands, each sold under a different brand name.

From where I sit... by Joe Marshall

What's So Funny?

Just finished reading a magazine article that "proves" you and I don't know what's funny.

A bunch of psychologists came to this sad conclusion after telling jokes to college students. Very often they would give out with what they considered a side-splitter—and not get even a chuckle in response. Other times the students would laugh their heads off at stories that weren't considered really funny.

Maybe I'm wrong, but what makes a psychologist such a better judge of humor than the rest of us? If a man gets a kick out of a joke that proves it was funny. And—doesn't it?

From where I sit, when psychologists try to set up a standard for a sense of humor they're getting too serious for me. Stand to reason that different people laugh at different things, just as they have different tastes for just about anything. I'm partial to a glass of beer with meals myself—but promise not to make any "cracks" if you prefer tea.

There is little else as cooling and quenching on a hot summer day as ice cold beverages. Stir up citrus cooler, hunt a spot in the breeze, blow a spot of the breeze, and relax. Fruit beverages are particularly valuable in the diet. They should be served more frequently than any of the others.

Carrying Things Too Far

Contests for public office, such as we are now experiencing in Prince William County, can create much good. It is a healthy sign when so many are willing to spend time and money to become candidates for office.

Our government, whether it be town, county, state or national, needs good men as public servants. The disturbing and discouraging side of it is the "dirt" and untruths that can be maliciously spread in an effort to discredit or embarrass candidates.

There is no necessity for "mud-slinging." One of the "rottenest" pieces of political propaganda, we have ever read, was circulated in Manassas this week.

The author of the letter should be made to prove his accusations, by referring his grievance to the courts, which is the proper Democratic procedure.

The candidates, and their supporters, we hope, will refrain from making political capital of such accusations. And if they do, they are resorting to the vilest type of political methods, which should be recognized as such by the voters.

Neighbors Come to Aid of Farmer Whose Barn Is Destroyed By Fire

HELPING HANDS—The good neighbor policy was plainly demonstrated by Nokesville folks last week when they turned out to help a neighbor in distress. The neighbor was Paul Irvin. His barn had been destroyed by fire Wednesday. Irvin needed a barn to store late hay that still needed storing and Thursday his neighbors came by in cars and trucks to help him raise a new structure. T. Clay Wood, a neighbor and president of the Ruritan Club, realizing his neighbor's need of a barn immediately, lost no time in contacting club members and in short time they rallied a large working force. As shown in the pictures above, the timbers were cut and the new barn was a reality by nightfall. Women of the community lent a hand, too, by serving lunch to the volunteer workers. Farmer Irvin is shown in center of large photo. (Photo by Churchill)

FAVORS BURKE SITE

It has come to my attention that there exists a growing controversy over the Burke airport site. Some people would have the location of the proposed new supplementary airport to the Washington National Airport located in Maryland or not constructed at all. From discussing the subject with people it seems to me the consensus of opinion is the Burke site is all right and beneficial to our community.

This reminds me of an article in a Fairfax weekly quoting news of 50 years ago which said something like this: The residents of Clifton, Va., are seeing more and more of those noisy motor contraptions (horseless carriages) on the roads Sundays. We don't understand why they don't stay away from this neighborhood and stop scaring our horses and disturbing us. That was 50 years ago or I believe about the time the steamtrain was beginning to reach its own as transportation. It is well known that the average person of about 90 years ago seldom traveled more than 20 miles from home more than a few times in a lifetime. Today it is nothing to travel that distance, as many folks now do it every day. What is more, millions of our citizens very often travel hundreds of miles in just one hour. They use the airlines—and every minutes of delay is a terrible detriment to them.

That brings us to the Airport to be located between Clifton and Burke. This location is probably the most plausible on our side of the Potomac. It could possibly have been put on the other side but we Virginians are very lucky that it is not the case.

This location comprises about 45 hundred acres of some of the most unproductive land in Fairfax County. It is also, I believe, some of the lowest priced land. That makes it poor tax-yielding land. Its revenue to the County, therefore, can be only small. Locating the airport on this site should improve the situation there and for miles around.

Although the Government will not pay any tax on the property, it seems reasonable to me locating it at Burke will have this effect which should increase revenue to the County: It will take out of the local real estate market 45 hundred acres, thus reducing the supply of land at a time when the demand therefor is high. And with the demand therefor high constantly, or increasing, the value of neighboring property could only increase, and result eventually in an increase of tax revenue to the County treasury. And result, also, to the adjoining property owners in an increase in real wealth.

Along with the coming of the airport will be thousands of people to operate businesses on the airport and the airport's facilities. This will tend to broaden the field in Fairfax County and neighboring areas for new and more services and businesses—commercial, professional and industrial. More goods from clothes to automobiles will be demanded by these workers. People who are here on the ground floor will have a head start on the newcomers. All of them will sell more goods and merchandise. The dry-cleaners will be needed for more cleaning and pressing, the filling stations will sell more gas and tires, grocery stores more food, the farmer will have an eager market for his truck. And therefrom the County and State will get their share of more taxes.

For the same reasons that this Nation's great train stations are not normally constructed for the use of a single railroad, it is not feasible for commercial air terminals where many different air-transport companies and private aviators will operate to be privately constructed. If each air transportation company constructs its own private terminal, the inconvenience and expense to the traveling public would not only be terrific but interference with air traffic, especially in times of low visibility, would almost completely prevent air operations. Too, annoying experiences similar to those in the early days of railroading, before municipal construction of stations, would be forced upon the traveler. For instance, valuable time lost between terminals and consequently missing connections; and inconveniences in obtaining and comparing fares and time tables in emergencies.

Every American knows there are some fields of commerce and industry that need subsidizing by expenditure of public tax money in order to promote a healthy national economy and a strong Nation. Such fields are not adapted to being profitably exploited by private businessmen and entrepreneurs. Government assistance to such enterprise will be Maryland.

Prices have been evidenced in the histories of nations since the ancient Egyptians. Today in America municipalities own and operate water, sewer, and railroad facilities; State governments own and operate highway systems, public schools, and other projects not profitable for private enterprise. The Federal Government also does its share thus subsidizing projects; i.e., soil erosion, flood control, postal services, dredging of channels in rivers and harbors, etc. In view of this, it seems only natural that where a commercial air terminal is needed and the local, County or State governments cannot or will not help, then it is only logical to have it built by the Federal government.

If this happens here, we in the area will have an up-to-date air terminal where commerce will thrive in the modern manner. In spite of the noise it will be a great asset to any community and an enriching experience locally. It will bring us nearer to all parts of the world, and therefrom it will bring travelers and traders. We cannot help but profit from the airport. Marylanders want it badly. They aren't so dumb either because they're willing to fight for it and they are doing just that. And it goes without saying they are smart for it too. Aviation is here, not as tomorrow's transportation but as today's. Just as trade and commerce have thrived around seaports in the past and around places where freight stops to change from one method of transportation to another (such as trains or boats) trade and commerce will thrive and prosper around great airports. Virginia will profit and grow with it—or will it be Maryland?

On the Maryland side of the Potomac River there are about 20 airports serving the same city and surrounding area that this Burke airport site is intended to serve. Whereas on the Virginia side there are only 7—a measly sum. Yet Marylanders want to deny Virginia an additional airport. They attack with the help of a few Virginians the construction of this proposed municipal airport south of the Potomac on the grounds of unnecessary and excessive expenditure of tax money. The Civil Aeronautics Authority for 10 years has foreseen the need and planned for a supplementary to the Washington National Airport on the Virginia side of the Potomac. Now that the CAA has decided the need is critical, the time is here to act. It seems to me they have acted wisely by deciding on the Burke site.

Consequently and in view of the increasing controversy, I believe everyone in the County should voice an opinion to our County, State, and Federal representatives to have the airport constructed in Virginia.

H. Thornton Davies Address Garden Club At Brentsville

The Garden Club met Tuesday, July 24, at the old Court House in Brentsville, where the president, Mrs. John Cox, welcomed the guests and members of the club. The business of the club was somewhat curtailed in order to give more time to the speaker of the meeting, the Hon. H. Thornton Davies.

Mr. Davies related many and varied interesting facts of history relative to the old town of Brentsville, and the Court House. His retentive memory brought to mind the names of many of the important families of days long ago, when the town was the center of great political activity, and also at one time when the Court House was used for a school.

The Court House contains a rare old portrait of Gen. Epps Hunton, who was a native of Fauquier (but a son of Prince William by adoption) and who was in command of the famous Eighth Virginia Regiment. Mr. Davies' address was profound and informative and was greatly appreciated and enjoyed by the club.

A picnic luncheon was held, and it was noted there was a good attendance of members and visitors on hand.

Announcement was made that VPI Short Course for Gardeners to be held at Virginia Tech Institute, Blacksburg, Va., August 6th through August 10th. The theme of course will be "Plant Virginia" speakers will be from the Department of Horticulture, U. S. as well as from the University of West Virginia and North Carolina State.

The next meeting of the club will be in September when John Buffington will be the hostess.

ORCHARD GRASS SEED REPORT

The Virginia orchard grass seed crop report, received this week, estimates the State's 1951 threshing-run crop at 446,000 bushels as compared with the 1950 crop of 481,000 bushels, or a decrease of 7 percent. The 27,000 acres harvested in Virginia this year is slightly larger than the 26,000 acres harvested last year but the average yield is reported to be 16.5 bushels compared with 18.5 bushels in 1950.

The production in the three states—Virginia, Missouri and Kentucky—is estimated to be 904,000 bushels threshing-run, which is 6 percent less than the 1950 production of 964,000 bushels. Virginia leads in the 1951 estimated orchard grass seed production with 446,000 bushels with Kentucky and Missouri following with 345,000 and 113,000 bushels respectively.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT

Few of the present voters realize what conditions were when the present County Government was set up in 1901. The Board of Supervisors were largely District officials, administering District road funds for mostly pick and shovel work on the roads, with a small County levy for general expenses. The School Boards were three trustees in each District, using District levies to maintain the school houses and pay the teachers whom they appointed. The County Superintendent, appointed by the State Board of Education, merely supervised in a very slight degree, the teaching in the schools and made up the attendance records, etc. for the County.

The personnel set up has changed little although you now have a County School Board of six members and a County Welfare Board of three members.

But what of function. In the name of efficiency and under a plea to reduce taxes, the State Highway Department now handles all road funds and local control is limited to a shadowy claim to approve new construction.

The County School Board and the County Welfare Board, both appointed indirectly from Richmond, administer the larger part of County tax funds, (far in excess of all County revenue in 1901) under regulations of State Departments and with practically no local voice in the spending.

And a Board of Supervisors, meeting once or twice a month, must levy annual taxes of a half million dollars, with little control of the spending and no check until an audit report eighteen months after the money is gone.

For efficient democratic local government, you must have two things:

1. An elected Board of Supervisors who must be in fact as well as in name the governing body of the County.
2. An executive secretary (or whatever name you choose to call him) appointed by the Board of Supervisors, to act between meetings of the Board, to be central purchasing agent for the County and to check on and report monthly to the Board on County spending.

The Board of Supervisors should immediately appoint a large committee from all over the County to study the three optional forms of County government now available and to suggest modifications of them, if they saw fit, to be introduced in the 1952 session of the Legislature, so that in the fall of 1952, if the people so will it, they might vote on a form of County government, designed for Prince William County, by County people.

In the meantime, the Board of Supervisors should hold frequent joint meetings with the School Board and the Welfare Board so that any major undertaking of the two chief spending agencies was approved in advance by your elected representatives.

And next week, the budget.

the law, help you make out the application forms, and explain to you whether or not any other papers or proofs are needed to support your application.

It is important that you get in touch with us as soon as you are 65 and have stopped working (even if you hope to go back to work later or to look for another job). You may lose benefits if you do not file an application soon enough. Back payments may be made for only six months when an application is filed late.

If anyone in your family dies after having worked in a job covered by social security or after serving in the armed forces of the United States during World War II, someone in the family should get in touch with us. It is possible that a member of your family may be entitled to receive monthly benefits. If monthly benefits cannot be paid, some member of the family may qualify for a lump-sum death payment.

Application for the lump-sum death payment must be filed within two years after the death of the insured person. There is one exception to this rule: If the insured worker died outside the continental limits of the United States, any time during the period December 7, 1941 through August 9, 1946, the application must be filed before September 1, 1952.

Don't Be Misled by FALSE RUMORS

In campaigning throughout the county, I find that certain untruths are being spread about my candidacy, and I wish my friends and supporters to know that I am in the race solely on my own and to the very finish.

The rumor that I am aligned with Sheriff J. P. Kerlin and will drop out of the race just before Primary, thus swinging my support to Kerlin, is false.

As I stated when I announced my candidacy, I am running at the request of many farmer friends, and I am campaigning hard to become your next sheriff. THERE ARE NO STRINGS ON ME. I AM NOT TIED TO ANY CLIQUE OR FACTION.

Don't be swayed by false and misleading statements.

All I ask is a SQUARE DEAL, and the voters consideration of my firm intentions to conduct a CLEAN CAMPAIGN in the hope that you will see fit to elect me sheriff.

Miss Berryman Assigned to New Duties in Germany

Miss Merchant and Paul Rollins to Wed

ESSLINGEN, GERMANY — Dorothy Berryman, a native of Nokesville, Va., has been assigned to new duties in Heidelberg, Germany, by the American Red Cross in Europe, it was announced today by Robert C. Lewis, director of operations.

Miss Berryman's new duties will be in the Central Communications Office of the Red Cross, which serves as a relay center for radio messages concerning deaths, serious illnesses, and other emergencies involving servicemen and their families.

Miss Berryman, who lived in Nokesville for eighteen years and is a graduate of the Brentsville District High School, (Nokesville), will be a member of the staff which handles more than 1000 emergency cables each month.

Many of those cables bring information needed by servicemen for the solution of personal problems, or as the basis for emergency leaves. The Red Cross has no authority to grant or deny emergency leaves, but Red Cross workers help gather the information needed by military authorities in deciding whether the presence of a serviceman at home is essential.

In addition to the cables handled by this central office, each Red Cross field and hospital office in Europe and North Africa carries on an extensive direct correspondence with Red Cross chapter in the United States.

Before joining the Red Cross in February, 1951, Miss Berryman worked for two and a half years with ECA in Washington, as chief project clerk. She was a staff sergeant in the WAC during the war, and served at Mediterranean Theater Headquarters in Italy from March, to November, 1945.

U. D. C. MEETING

The next U. D. C. meeting will be at Mrs. Russ Powell's at 2:30, Wednesday, August 1st.

It's Time to Plant Your Fall Garden

Stretch your gardening season this year.

That's the advice from L. C. Beamer, associate horticulturist at V.P.I., who says that now is a good time to plant a fall garden.

Tomatoes, he says, should be put out immediately. He urges the planting of disease-resistant varieties such as Rutgers, Pritchard, Marglobe, and Valant.

In the leafy vegetable line, Beamer suggests: mustard, head and leaf lettuce, kale, and spinach. Beets, radishes, bush beans, and broccoli are other suggestions for your fall garden.

A leaflet, "Vegetable Garden Suggestions," gives a list of vegetables, planting times, and varieties recommended. Ask your County Agent for a free copy, or write the horticultural department at V.P.I., Blacksburg.

Hybrid Seeds Low
The hybrid acreage this year represents a slight decline from last year. Compared with last year, all sections of the State planted about the same or a slightly higher percentage of acreage in hybrid except the Southern and Southwestern section. The Northern and Eastern areas of the State used hybrid in 93 percent of the acres planted to corn, while the Southern and Southwestern areas of the State used 86 and 44 percent, respectively.

Estimated Acreage of Virginia Grains Up
Virginia farmers have about 2 percent more acres in grain this year than they did in 1950, according to recent estimates of the Virginia Cooperative Crop Reporting Service. It is estimated that there are 2,055,000 acres of grain this year. Corn acreage has increased over last year and now represents 1,128,000 acres of crop land. The indication on July 1 is for a yield of 47 bushels per acre. This compares with 47 bushels last year. The acreage for harvest of wheat and rye remains about the same as last year. Barley acreage has decreased about 5 percent, and oats has increased about 7 percent. Soybeans show the largest increase percentage wise with a rise of 15 percent over last year. Wheat yields turned out better than growers had expected a month earlier, the Reporting Service said. The indicated yield in 1951 is 20 bushels per acre, compared with 18.5 bushels in 1950.

High Quality Peach Crop Moves to Market
Harvesting of Virginia's quality peach crop is well underway, with early varieties from the Northern Neck and Southeastern areas moving to market in good volume. A. H. Tette, horticulturist, at V. P. I., reports that most of the Early-Red-Fre crop has been marketed, and that Red Haven, one of the best varieties for freezing, are now being picked. Golden Jubilee, a yellow-fleshed freestone variety, good for fresh eating, canning, and freezing, will be ready soon. After Golden Jubilee will come Hale Haven and other varieties of that season. Following Hale Haven by about a week or ten days, will come Elberta—around the first of August. Teske says the Virginia peaches are sizing up well, and show every indication of being high quality this year. With an extremely short crop in all of the large mid-Western peach producing states, strong consumer demand for Virginia peaches is expected.

County Boys Rate High In Dairy Judging
An excellent rating for the Prince William County 4-H Dairy Club members enrolled in the V. P. I. Dairy Cattle Judging Short Course during the last week of June has been reported by R. G. Connelly, extension dairyman. Charles Young of Manassas placed third among seventy-five boys in the course. Other local members who performed very creditably were Thomas Stephenson, Gainesville; Emory Mayhugh, Roy Beane, Delbert O'Meara, Manassas.

A LETTER to MR. KINCHELOE

J. Carl Kincheloe, Manassas, Virginia.

Dear Mr. Kincheloe:

I have read with a great deal of interest the letter to the editor which you published in each of the Manassas papers last week. Since you have invited public expressions regarding your article I wish to be among the first to voice my feeling.

I want to congratulate you on this splendid letter both to the superlative style in which it was written and the proposition it handles. You have made a truly constructive suggestion and it is my sincere hope that the Prince William County School Board and the County Board of Supervisors will follow your splendid suggestion with the greatest possible haste.

Your commission composed of thirty members would make an excellent body which would truly represent all sections of the county. And since this commission would respectively represent all sections of the county I would like to suggest that they begin their investigation of school affairs WITH A THOROUGH STUDY OF THE $1,875.00 which was wasted on architectural plans for school buildings that have never been built and will never be used. There certainly must be some particular person or persons who were responsible for this egregious error and waste of public money and the people who paid this money into the public coffers are entitled to know the who and why and wherefore of the matter. So, my first suggestion would be that this committee make a thorough investigation of this.

My second suggestion would be that this committee of thirty people order the completion of the school survey started by the University of Pennsylvania. I believe it was estimated that this survey would cost approximately $3,000.00. The survey was partly completed at a cost of about $1,500.00 and the matter was dropped like a hot potato.

Very little information about this survey has been given to the public. But we do know that Prince William County has been robbed of thousands of dollars and maybe hundreds of thousands of dollars of Federal funds which might be used for building purposes but which we cannot get now because of what the survey by the University of Pennsylvania might reveal. Arlington and Fairfax counties are in line to get their share of Federal funds, as are other congested areas of the state. Approximately four hundred million dollars of Federal money has been designated for this purpose. And Prince William County would receive her share but for the fact that some of the school figures have been juggled.

The Federal appropriations for building purposes are apportioned on the basis of the Average Daily Attendance increase for the school year of 1950-51 over that of 1938-39. It seems that according to the figures we have to work with that the average daily attendance during the school session of 1938-39 was practically the same as that of the school year of 1950-51. Yet the United States census figures show that in that same time Prince William County has had a population increase of 27.1%. Why was this not reflected in the increase in school population? Who was responsible for juggling those figures and why and what is being done about it?

Something is rotten in the State of Denmark. Probably a Grand Jury investigation would be more fitting but maybe your suggested committee could handle it. But a thorough study should be made of these two points of interest and let the chips fall where they may.

Yours for better County Government,

ROY HELMS.
