Business is good in Manassas. August, according to local retailers, was one of the best thus far this year. By comparison, a survey of Washington retailers revealed loss in sales averaging 9 percent.

August issue of the Virginia Municipalities carries a picture of "official family of Manassas." Not a bad looking group. In the same issue is a photo showing town fathers of Marion. James W. Ritter, former Manassas town manager, is in the latter group.

The dial system means improved telephone service for Quantico. This is the first step in the Central Mutual Telephone Company's plans to convert the entire system to dial telephones. Understand the Manassas exchange will be the last to be converted by the company.

At last...the new directory for Manassas has been completed and is now being distributed by members of the Lions Club, which sponsored this worthy project. The directory is most complete in its contents, listing the names of residents and business places in Manassas and vicinity. It also carries a map of the town of Manassas. The directories sell for $1.00 per copy and the supply is limited. Better get yours, before they're all gone.

If the Journal isn't up to par this week, blame it on the Labor Day holiday. Most folks will agree that it takes a little time to get back in the "groove" again.

County Minus Road Deaths Labor Day

Despite 447 traffic fatalities across the country Labor Day weekend, Prince William county managed to squeak through without a death or serious injury. And this was in spite of a number of accidents.

Just prior to the holiday, a Quantico Marine lost his life on Route 29 at Bull Run just inside the Fairfax county line when his car plunged through a guard rail and smashed into the bank of the stream. For almost 24 hours, the Marine was unidentified.

The first Labor Day accident was reported by State Trooper P. P. Herndon at Haymarket. At the intersection of routes 15 and 55, an automobile smashed into the side of a truck driven by Jesse R. Breeden, Manassas. The automobile was driven and owned by Richard Irvin Ray, Rhode Island. Police charged the elderly Ray with reckless driving. According to Trooper Herndon, this intersection is one of the worst in the county, with more collisions reported there than anywhere else in the county. Nine times out of ten, Herndon went on, motorists fail to stop on route 15 before entering the intersection.

Sunday, there were two accidents, one at Lake Jackson bridge and the other on Route 28 two miles north of Nokesville just above the bridge. At Lake Jackson, John R. Reynolds, Manassas, plowed into the rear of a car driven by George W. Bias, Lorton, on route 234. On route 28, William W. Davis of Bristow was involved in a non-collision accident when his car failed to navigate the steep turn and ran off the road, striking a telephone pole. Davis received a cut lip while two soldiers hitchhikers he had picked up were not injured. According to Davis, he was pushed off the road by an approaching car. Damage to his car was estimated at $1500.

Over 3,700 County Children Trudge Back To School Today

Overcast skies and drizzly weather greeted some 3,700 Prince William county school children this morning. All county schools opened on a half-day basis which will continue through this week.

While no official estimates could be obtained as to this year's enrollment, all officials expect it to shatter last year's mark of 3713. Much to the dismay of the children, Garber reported that all teaching vacancies should be filled or rearranged so that the staff will be adequate to handle this year's crop of students.

School enrollment may reach as high as 4,000, but officials would not confirm this report. It will not probably reach this figure since a number of students in the Triangle-Quantico-Ocoquan area will be allowed to attend the post school. Previously, they had been turned away from the Quantico Marine School because of a new federal regulation.

Mayor Proposes 15-Point Program For New Council

Describing the town council's lack of long range planning, Mayor Harry P. Davis Saturday night laid down a broad and sweeping plan of action for the council to pursue in the coming year.

Davis laid down a 15-point program designed to improve and correct a number of conditions which have existed in the town for some time. He met with new councilmen Edgar Rohr and Harry Parrish as well as councilwoman Mrs. Sedrick Saunders. Councilman Roy W. Doggett was not present for the meeting which is provided for in the town charter.

Davis urged that the meetings be conducted with more decorum and dispatch with less argument. "People regard council meetings as a minstrel show," Davis told the council.

Davis' other 14 points were:

1. Have a caucus meeting each month to shorten the regular meetings.
2. Increase the stipend paid councilmen to cover every meeting and not just one a month. At present, councilmen receive $7.50 per monthly meeting.
3. Limit time to one hour for persons to appear before the council at each monthly meeting to bring up any business.
4. Have an open session meeting prior to the budget session of the council and at this time consider all outlays of money requested by the citizens except for any emergency that may arise after the budget has been completed.
5. Study methods to cut down the cost of the collection of trash and garbage. While Davis pointed out that this is a worthy service to the people, he stated that it is costing the town entirely too much money and that some other system must be devised.

6. Give Manassas policemen special training at some police school. He said that their lack of training has handicapped them tremendously for the job they have to do. He suggested sending one to the Arlington school and then having him train the other three. He commended the policemen for the good job they have done despite little or no experience in police work.

7. He suggested that the fire alarm be improved so that signals can be used to denote whether a fire is in the town or in the county. He added that the alarm sounds entirely too long, and that for psychological reasons, it should be as short as possible. Davis said that he would appear before the next meeting of the firemen to push this recommendation.

8. Eliminate all standing committees since they are not needed under the town management type of government. The duties of these committees belongs in the hands of the town manager.

9. Urge the General Assembly to amend the town charter to read that all councilmen must be elected to the posts by a majority vote, not necessarily the highest as it stands now. Davis reported that a man can be elected and still not represent the majority of the people.

10. Study obtaining more water. Davis suggested leasing the water line of the Southern Railway

Quantico Post School Opened Garber Says

Marine-associated dependents will be allowed to attend the Quantico Post School this year, J. M. Garber, county school superintendent said Thursday morning. However, this relaxation will include only school children between the 6th grade up through high school grades.

Garber received a letter from Dr. W. H. Coleman, federal office of education, Federal Security Agency, that the law will not be repealed. However, Dr. Coleman stated that if an agreement could be reached between the county and the post, the children could continue there this year.

Colonel H. R. Paige has agreed with Garber to allow the children to attend the post school this year since they are not filled to capacity at the post school.

The post school does not begin classes until next week.

School Board Meets Today With Governor

Members of the Prince William County School Board left Manassas early today for Richmond to discuss the school building needs with Governor Battle.

Chairman Fred Lynn, Mrs. Nellie Purvis and Mrs. Olive Hooker planned to ask the Governor for funds to correct glaring needs throughout the county. They will be accompanied on the trip by State Senator Andrew W. Clarke, Delegate Frank P. Moncure, and State Superintendent of Education Howard.

County Superintendent Garber was unable to attend because of the opening of schools, but he drew up a report for Chairman Lynn from the minutes of previous Board meetings an outline of the county's needs including new projects and renovations and repairs to existing facilities.

The Board hopes to obtain promises from the Governor of state literary loan funds or to find out from him how the county may obtain federal funds.

At yesterday's September meeting of the Board, it was decided to put the emphasis of new construction primarily behind the new Garfield High School at Quantico. As Garber pointed out, "It is needed most."

In other business, the Board approved paying the bills including a payment to John Walton, architect, for plans and specifications for the Garfield High School and Ocoquan Elementary. The check will total over $11,000 to Walton, but Walton reports he is already "in the red" on the job.

Lions To Honor Men Teachers From Manassas

At a director's meeting of the Lion's Club Wednesday night, Victor Pigna, county school teacher, was accepted into membership. The directors heard a report from Paul Arrington on various musical programs that can be given in preparation for next spring's extravaganza.

The directors also announced that the week of September 9-15 will be 100 percent attendance week for the Lion's International. The local attendance contest will run for three months beginning with the next meeting. The organization will be broken up into four teams each competing for top honors.

October 24 was set as Charter Night. It will be combined with the District Governor's visit. Layton Lawes is chairman of the committee for this meeting.

At its meeting next week, the Club will have as its guests all the new male teachers from the Manassas schools as well as School Superintendent J. M. Garber.

Iodine is obtained chiefly from kelp or ashes of burnt seaweed.

Form New Organization

A new organization has been formed within Prince William County schools. Following a principal's meeting last Friday, it was agreed that all county school principals meet once a month and conduct any business that may arise. Previously, the meetings had been called by the school superintendent and conducted by him.

Herb Saunders, principal of Ocoquan Elementary and High, was elected president of the group. D. C. Link, Brentsville, was named vice-president. Mrs. Elizabeth Kincheloe, secretary-treasurer.

The group will meet every month on Tuesday following the Wednesday school board meeting. Daniel Kelso was named at the meeting as program chairman for the coming year.

Housing Bill Will Relieve Crowding Here

The Senate Armed Services Committee passed a bill on the floor last week authorizing over four million dollars to the Quantico Marine base for emergency housing.

The bill authorizes construction of housing for 9,827 persons, totaling $4,117,000. The committee did not make any cuts from the amounts passed by the House.

The building program is expected to reduce by a large amount the critical housing shortage in Manassas and the lower end of the county.

Too Late To Classify

FOR SALE—About 200 seasoned round locust posts, near Centerville. Robert Lee, Phone 2241, The Plains, Va. 20-2-

Central-Mutual Telephone Company officials formally opened the company's brand-new $50,000 dial telephone system at Quantico yesterday. The system is for the town of Quantico only.

Although some lines were hooked up as early as twelve noon, the first official call was made between Quantico Mayor Wallace S. Bourne and Manassas Mayor Harry P. Davis at 4 p. m. Wednesday.

Looking on were telephone officials including President George B. Cocke, Vice-President C. Lacey Compton and J. A. Vetter, general superintendent. Also present were Harold M. Howe, Harlen Johnson and Bob Johnson, installing personnel from Chicago.

The dial system has a capacity of 200 lines, and each line is capable of transmitting for four telephone users. At the present time, there are 220 telephone subscribers in this dial system.

The equipment, valued at over $30,000 was installed by the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply Company of Chicago with Mr. Howe supervising the installation. It has taken a crew of three men over four weeks to set the equipment up. This is in addition to the work done at the factory where most of the wiring and installations are custom built into shiny grey metal cabinets eight-feet tall.

For the past three days, the Chicago outfit has been busy testing all the lines and getting the equipment into shape for Wednesday's opening.

Howe recalled from a book he read how the first dial system was invented. According to the tale, a flower salesman in Michigan placed an important phone call for a big order. However, he could not get an operator to handle the call and he lost the sale. So incensed, he got busy and invented an automatic system that became the granddaddy of today's dial system as we know it. The moral to this story, however, is in the ending. The salesman became so engrossed in his invention that he eventually lost his mind, wandering up in an insane asylum, where he died.

One visit to Central-Mutual's new dial headquarters convinces a person that it isn't hard to lose your mind following the maze of wires, estimated at more than 500,000. The new equipment is housed in the white building facing the railroad tracks at the entrance to the town of Quantico. It is located behind Pearson's Wholesale Candy house.

At the present time, it is possible to call the Quantico Post by merely dialing the proper number, but a person on the post cannot dial the town of Quantico. They have to go through the switchboard at Triangle. This is because the Marines have not completed their equipment to include this. However, J. A. Vetter said that the Marines expect to shortly complete their installation to make this possible.

County Population Up 62 Pct. Over 1930; Estimated At 25,000

Prince William County has shown a gain in population of over 62 percent since 1930, according to census figures. Latest 1950 census gives the county a population of 25,612 as compared with 15,951 in 1930.

In making a study of census figures, Commissioner of Revenue C. E. Gnad estimates the county's population at the present time at 25,000 or over. He bases his estimate on the big increase in tax returns and building permits since the 1950 census was taken.

Census figures for the county as furnished the Journal by Commissioner Gnad are:

Year	Population	Pct. Gain
1930	15,951
1940	17,738	27.14
1950	22,612	27.17

From the above it can be noted that the county showed about the same percentage gain in both ten-year periods. For the twenty-year period the percentage gain is 62 percent.

District	1940	1950	% Gain
Brentsville	1882	2031	7.91
Coles	856	929	8.52
Dumfries	7813	9388	20.15
Gainesville	2040	2331	14.26
Manassas	3827	5559	45.26
Ocoquan	1320	2374	79.84

Town	1940	1950	% Gain
Haymarket	156	213	36.56
Manassas	1302	1804	38.55
Ocoquan	213	317	48.82
Quantico	1139	1240	8.86

In comparison with the above, 1930 census figures for these towns are interesting: Haymarket, 167, Manassas, 1215, Ocoquan, 221, Quantico 538.

Quantico showed its biggest population gain from 1930 to 1940, which was over 100 percent. In the case of Manassas, Ocoquan and Haymarket their biggest increase came during the past 10-year period.

Occoquan Ready For Tough Schedule

"The boys will win their share of ball games barring any unforeseen injuries." So pro quiet-spoken Johnny Suren, Occoquan High football coach said.

While Suren is unusually optimistic, he has a number of problems to face before the 1951 football season gets under way.

Playing out of a straight "T" formation, Suren will be counting heavily on Billy Bauckman to spark the team at quarter. Bauckman, a 5 foot, 10 1/2 inch 155 pounder, is a triple-threat. A hard runner, Bauckman will also handle most of the passing and kicking.

Bauckman has been one of 22 men to report for early practice which began a week ago Monday. Suren is depending primarily on speed to make his T click, but the beef won't be absent.

In the line, he has Cliff Carney and Jim Justice at guards, Wayne Swank and Robert Paccio at the tackles, William Weston, Larry Twiford and Bobby Glass at the ends, and Leonard Slack at center. The amazing thing about Suren's squad is that he has twelve top-notch sophomore lettermen out for this year's team—something to make any coach optimistic.

Both Carney and Justice at the guards, weighing 145 and 175 respectively, are sophomores along with Glass, Warren Barnes, Melvin Rabo, Eddie Garber and Wesley Jennings.

At tackle, Suren plans to use soph Wayne Swank who weighs 170 and 195-lb. Paccio is a guard last year, but Suren is moving him to tackle to add more speed in the line.

In reserve, Suren has Melvin "Ferdinand" Rambo, a giant 225 pounder. Rambo will start right away if he shows a rougher attitude. Suren said of him, "When he comes into his own, he'll hold up his whole side of the line."

William Weston and Larry Twiford, a pair of experienced ends, will probably be the top pass receivers on the squad. They'll receive relief from Bobby Glass who has been shifted this year from the backfield to end. While just a sophomore, Suren remarked "He's plenty fast and a good pass catcher."

Problem At Center

Center is one of Suren's headaches, but he's hoping rugged Leonard Slack, a 170-lb. junior, will fill the bill. This is Slack's first year of football but he's learning fast, Suren reports. Warren Barnes, 150-lb. soph will spell him during the year. Barnes when he played ball last year as a freshman weighed only 116, and Suren is mighty pleased to see him report this year with the added weight.

In the backfield, three positions are pretty well sewed up, but one halfback post is still wide open. Besides Bauckman at quarter, James Smith will hold down left half despite his 138 pounds. Smith is small and fast and aggressive.

Neil Williams is another question mark for Suren. The 190-lb. fullback is a hard runner, but has been plagued with a bum knee. If Suren can keep him off the sick list, his backfield should click. Jackie Keys, Eddie Garber and Wesley Jennings will fight it out for the other halfback post. Both Keys and Jennings are light and speedy, a necessary element to make the T work.

Notre Dame Box

Besides the T, Suren plans to have his backfield shift out of the T into the old Notre Dame box formation on some plays. Suren has already joined Leo's coaching circle in saying that his schedule is also the roughest that the Indians have ever tackled.

Suren is disgusted with the interest shown by the incoming freshman class. So far, only two have reported for practice—nothing like the response he had from the previous class. He rates this year's sophomore class as "one in a million."

Others who have been working hard to stick with the team are Robert Lloyd and Marty Lockett. Lloyd will not see too much action, but he is being groomed as Bauckman's stand-in and successor. "Going to be a fine ball player," Suren remarks about Lloyd. "He'll develop, give him time."

Mike King, Jim Barbee, Gary Oertly and Billy Barnes are newcomers to the squad who should give the added depth when the chips are down.

Suren has two more sophomores from whom he expects a lot despite their weight shortcomings. Both are 130 pounders. Billy Humphries has been moved to guard while Roy Clark will probably work out in the backfield.

Sport Shorts

Despite the hopes of a number of people, Occoquan and Osbourne High will probably not meet on the gridiron this fall. Both teams have an open schedule following their last games November 17. Both could play either Thanksgiving Day or the following Saturday.

Both Jim Leo and Johnny Suren are in favor of renewing the rivalry, but feel that it will have to be next year—and not until. According to Osbourne principal Daniel Kelso, the Virginia High School League, to which both teams belong, frowns on post-season ball games.

And they consider any game scheduled after the season's schedule is submitted to them as a post-season game. Since Kelso is president of this district of the high school league, it would put him in an embarrassing position to request a schedule addition.

Have you noticed the vast contrast in predictions by the county's two football coaches? Someone recently called Leo the "Frank Leahy of Prince William County." Suren on the other hand is confident that he'll have a good year down at Occoquan.

V.F.W. Softballers Rump Occoquan 7-3 Baldwin Hits Homer

The V. F. W. softball team continued its winning ways Sunday, racking up Occoquan 7-3 for its 20th win of the season.

Virgil Baldwin paced the local club with a homer in the 5th with home on. Lloyd Swank was on the mound for the winners and went the distance, limiting Occoquan to nine hits while his teammates banged out 11 safeties.

Swank hurled shutout ball until the ninth when Occoquan rallied for all three runs. The win boosts the V. F. W.'s record to 20 wins as against only 2 defeats; both suffered at the hands of league runner-up Ice & Fuel.

Lions-Kiwanis Softball Game On Tap Friday

Manassas' two service clubs, the Lions and Kiwanis take to the softball diamond this Friday night in an annual dispute that promises plenty of action.

The two clubs have been a-fussin' and a-feudin' for the past several weeks on what they'll do to each other when they clash, but thus far have failed to announce their line-up so as to indicate which side will field the strongest team.

As it looks from this corner, what the respective teams lack in talent will be made up in numbers. Each club boasts the nucleus of few stars, but for the most part will depend on "has-beens" to round out their team. It won't be speed that will count in this contest, but likely weight and endurance, and the Lions claim that the Kiwanians outweigh them at least twenty pounds to the man.

Most members of both clubs will see some action in the game, according to the coaches, who had little to brag about in their practice session this week.

The game will be played under the lights at Swavely Field, getting under way at 8:30 p. m. DST, with Mayor Harry Davis announcing the players over the loudspeaker, assisted by Howard Churchill. Refreshments will be served on the grounds by the Junior Woman's Club.

There has been a big advance sale of adult tickets for the game. Children's admissions will be taken at the gate. Proceeds from the game will be donated to the Manassas Recreation Association.

White Oak, Nokesville Win; Vetter's Home Run Erased

Rain threw the Manassas Macs behind the other ball clubs in A Division Sunday. The Macs now have two games to make up, one with pennant-contending Nokesville and one with Bristerburg.

Nokesville and White Oak both won Sunday, moving the White Oaks closer to their second straight league title. White Oak has only to win this Sunday to clinch the flag.

However, Nokesville will have its say about whether White Oak clinches the title since the two teams play Sunday. A win for Nokesville will move them to within one game of the leaders and might necessitate a play-off game after the regular season ends.

The league play-offs have been tentatively set for September 16. Warrenton, probable winner in B Division, will meet the A Division winner in a best out of three series. One game apiece will be played on the winner's diamonds with the third, if needed, on a neutral field. Sunday, Nokesville, behind the three-hit hurling of ace Floyd Jones, bounded Triangle 3-1 in a five-inning tilt halted by rain. Top Amldon gave up eight hits to the hard-hitting Nokesville crew in five innings to suffer the setback.

Owens and Irvin paced Nokesville with two singles apiece while Reid banged out a double. White Oak meanwhile had an easy time with cellar-dwelling Occoquan, shutting them out 7-0. J. Gilliam took the mound for Occoquan in a surprise move and absorbed the loss.

The Macs who managed to play two innings before the rains halted them, surged out in front of Bristerburg 2-0 on the heavy hitting of Stewart Vetter and Monk Crabill. Vetter slammed his first homer of the season only to have it washed off the record books while Crabill blasted a triple. Both hits came in the first inning.

In the regular-season finale, the Macs will be host to Dallas Posey's "hot-and-cold" Triangle crew Sunday.

Services For Grace Weir Held Thursday

Mrs. Grace Green Weir, widow of Samuel Tasker Weir, who was one of our former residents, passed away quietly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Marshall Mercer, in Richmond Tuesday, August 28. After prayer services in her Richmond home the body was brought to Manassas for funeral services, which were held in Grace Methodist Church, 3:00 p. m. Thursday, with interment in the family lot in Manassas cemetery. Mrs. Weir recently suffered a fractured hip.

Mrs. Weir was born in Clarke County, Va., April 25, 1870, and was the daughter of William Franklin Green (a descendant of Moses Green) and Mary Catherine Strother Green. She was orphaned in the early part of her life, and lived with her grandparents, but she was mostly reared by her aunt, Miss Gertrude Strother, who in the latter years of her life resided with Mr. and Mrs. Weir on West street in Manassas.

She was quite a charming young girl, and back in those days when folks had time to visit, she would come across the Blue Ridge to spend a few weeks at her maternal grandmother's home, Julia Ann Brainerd Strother, who then lived at "Liberia," while across the road at "Liberia" lived her future husband, Samuel T. Weir.

Mrs. Weir and Miss Green were married in Paris, Va., October 18, 1899, and during all of their married life lived in Manassas. Both were most active in the work of the Methodist Church—Mrs. Weir serving her church in various capacities, while Mr. Weir was a steward for forty-seven years of his life.

What is now known as "West street," where the Weirs resided, was formerly donated to the town by them for a street.

Mrs. Weir was a life-long member of the Methodist church, a charter member of Elizabeth McIntosh Hammill Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, and a former member of the Woman's Club. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Mercer, and a granddaughter, her namesake, Grace Mercer, of Richmond.

Quantico Legion Making Plans For New Year

By Mrs. Inez Kinchele

Mr. Dick Griffith, new owner to the Clifton Meat Market, has recently moved to the Whitman home.

Mrs. Alice Woodyard has as her guests on Sunday her sister, Mrs. Ethel Daughton, and nephew, Mr. Harry Amen and family of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Annie Adair who has been quite ill in the Arlington-Hospital for a few days is now much improved and able to be at home again.

Mrs. Gwenn Elkin, accompanied by Miss Bertha Leech, motored to Crewe, Va. to visit the Wiley Kincheles a few weeks ago.

Last-minute change-over operations are shown being completed by telephone company repairmen. Left to right, they are Stewart Vetter, Floyd "Shorty" Vetter, Wade Vetter and Harlan Johnson (standing).

In making plans for the new year, the new officers of Buck Keyes Post will conduct their first meeting of the new term Tuesday night, September 11, at 8:15 p. m. EST at the Legion Home in Quantico.

Business to be transacted will include the election of one member to the executive committee, election of a 2nd vice commander in place of Charles Konneman, who is leaving for Korea later this month; the election of a finance officer due to the resignation of V. S. Abel, Sr., and the election of a legal officer which the Post failed to elect at their last meeting.

11. Provide playground facilities for white and colored children and include a swimming pool provided it is leased out to a private organization as municipal projects such as this in small communities are rarely successful financially.

12. Study utility rates revising them so that they are more equitable to all.

13. Codify the town ordinances intelligently so that the police and citizens will know what is the law. The town spent $300 three years ago to revise them, and all they have for the money is a drawer full of assorted papers.

14. Present a plan of extending the corporate limits but taking in only that amount of land which the town can service with utilities in a reasonable amount of time. Davis reported that the majority to those living outside the corporate limits will oppose annexation since they receive the utility benefits of the town without having to pay the increased taxes.

Letters To The Editor

KNOTT'S BERRY FARM

Editor Journal:
I was very much interested in the little piece you wrote in this issue about the Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town at Buena Park, California. Many things came to my mind about the day I spent there last year as guests of Russell and the F. H. Mays of Santa Ana, California.

I decided to get out my notes I wrote during my trip West and share a few of the many interesting things I jotted down while there at Ghost Town.

Walter Knott, his wife Cordelia, their son Russell and daughters, Virginia, Marian and Toni, and their husbands own and operate—with their many employees—this great place of amusement. To talk with even one of the members of this very unusual family is something I will always consider to have been a great privilege. I think it was about 1920 that it all started with a roadside stand by a "dusty lane." Or to go still further back, Walter Knott's mother, Margaret, with her parents went from their native Virginia to Texas by covered wagon in 1848. Then in this same wagon she went through scorching waste land to California. Here Walter was raised and after his marriage he homesteaded in the Desert.

They tried so hard to make the sandy soil produce a living but failed for lack of water and, as he said, "all we raised there was a fine bunch of children." "From the desert," says Walter, "we went to Central California and grew vegetables on the shares; saved a little money and moved south to Orange Co. (which is where our May family also lives), rented 10 acres of land and planted berries. People would say "Why plant berries here?" In addition to that he took over a few neglected berry bushes started by a Mr. Boysen. This proved such a success he named the new variety Boysenberries, now a familiar name to everyone. Some of our folks here at Nokesville have had great success with them.

After renting seven years, they bought the ten acres, built a little place to sell the berries and a little dining room with five tables, where Mrs. Knott and the girls could serve pie, coffee, hot biscuits and berry jam.

In 1934, they served their first now famous chicken dinner. Last summer they served as many as 6,000 on week-days and 9,000 on Sundays. No matter how long the waiting line was, all seemed will to wait because there was so many beautiful things to look at on every side. The ten acres have grown to sixty with its restaurants, parking lots, etc. A mile west they have two hundred acres in berries and other produce for the table. One of the things they grow in abundance is red stalked rhubarb which they use in their dinner menu.

Their daughter Virginia oversees the beautiful gift shop. Their son Russell is manager of the berry market. Their daughters, Marian and Toni, are running the dress shop in which there is such colorful selections of all kinds of Western attire (I had the pleasure of wearing a complete outfit later while going trout fishing).

Marian's husband, Dwight Anderson, has charge of the Steak House where they serve equally as many dinners as at the Chicken dining room and last year they were building a Buffalo Steak restaurant. Toni's husband, Ken Oliphant, is supervisor of the preserving kitchens. He has built up a large mail order business selling jellies and jams, etc. I want to impress the fact that almost anything you see at Ghost Town can be purchased. All this and I could go on for pages and pages, has been created by the ingenuity of one family.

I notice in my notes that in 1948 they served 1,084,461 dinners. On Mother's Day that year 8,572 dinners were served; 1,210 pies were baked and 39,288 biscuits were served. That June Sunday I spent there would far exceed that number for around 1,000 Shriners were there from the Convention being held in Los Angeles to which several of our Prince William families went.

When any of your readers "go west," please put Ghost Town (Orange County) California on your list as one place you must see.

Sincerely,
Mrs. L. J. Bowman,
Nokesville, Va.

Presbyterian Group Enjoys Washing-on Trip

Quite a few members of the Junior High class of the Presbyterian Church School had an enjoyable treat last week. In this particular class were some of the willing workers who helped in some necessary work in the manse preparatory to the arrival of Rev. and Mrs. Swinney, the pastor and his wife. As a nice surprise and reward, they were taken for a straw ride to Washington, where they viewed many interesting things—some of them being in connection with their studies of worship, and places of worship. Among some of the places visited were the Smithsonian Institute and the Monastery, where they learned about various modes of worship, as well as viewing the models of the catacombs of ancient Rome.

During their tour, this class was counseled and guided by the donor of the trip, Mrs. Paul Kopp.

Charles Sinclair Birthday Party

Charles Armistead Sinclair celebrated his third birthday this past week by entertaining many of his little friends. Games were played with the little tots, but the chief source of interest was the opening of the many presents and the big birthday cake. Charles Armistead received a great number of gifts from his friends, but the one which pleased him most was the package from his daddy overseas.

BEDROOM decor should be individual because the bedroom is a highly personalized room. If you are the only occupant of the room, then you can decorate and furnish it in the manner that is most appealing to you. However, if you have a husband to consider remember that the master bedroom can be feminine without being frilly, or agreeable to the masculine eye without being severely tailored. A cross between the two extremes strikes a happy balance.

Brighten Up Your Bedroom

If your bedroom seems dull and lifeless rejuvenate it by making a new bedspread. A basic bedspread is one of the easiest to make. To estimate the fabric requirements for this type spread, add to the length of the mattress thirty-four inches for the over-the-pillow tuck-in at the top of the spread, plus another twenty-four inches for the complete drop to the floor at the foot. Unless you want a shorter spread, eighteen inches is sufficient. To all these measurements always allow three inches additional for hems.

Bedspread Requirements

Single bed averages thirty-nine inches in width. A double bed averages fifty-four inches in width. Most fabrics are thirty-six or fifty inches wide. A few, however, are fifty-four inches. With the fifty-four inch material no seam is necessary on the top of the spread, but with the others it is. Never seam a spread directly down the center, but center a width of the fabric on the bed and split another length of fabric joining it to the center panel on either side. Make the seams count by trimming them with contrasting welting, double ruching, or whatever the design indicates.

Accessory Touches

After you've completed your spread you can match draperies and a vanity skirt to it. For another fresh approach to your bedroom decor, trim a set of vanity and dresser scarfs with dainty crocheted flowerets. A sparkling color combination is yellow organdy edged with white-petalled, yellow-centered narcissuses. The flower centers are little yellow cups that stand away from the background. If you would like to make this NARCISSUS VANITY SET, perhaps for the guest room, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper and ask for Leaflet No. EI-290.

Weevil In Wheat Cuts Market Price

Farmers who are planning to market grain should inspect it carefully for the presence of live insects, says B. W. Sadler of the Virginia Division of Markets.

He says it has recently been brought to his attention that some grain handlers are deducting as much as 8 per cent of the total weight for wheat grading weevils. At present prices, this amounts to about 17 cents per bushel.

This sounds excessive, but one lot of weevily wheat can require the fumigation of a large elevator, Sadler points out.

Rather than take an 8 per cent reduction, Sadler advises farmers to fumigate their grain before offering it for sale. This can be done at a cost of two to three cents per bushel.

Farmers who have not fumigated grain previously are advised to consult their county agent or other farm agency for recommended fumigants and methods of application.
