ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

STEVENS MAKES REPORT

Local Papers Requested Not to Give Out Any Figures Relating Thereto.

At an adjourned meeting of the Town Council held in the Council Chamber Monday night there were present: Mayor Chapman and Councilmen Spetden, Nash, Wheeler, Conner, Prescott and Hynson.

Certain portions of the minutes of the last regular monthly meeting were read and approved.

Building permits were granted as follows: To D. J. Arrington to build a porch on the Main street side of the Hixon building, corner Main and Quarry streets, and to E. B. Giddings to build a small garage on his property on South Main street.

Mr. F. A. Brand made application for railings or guards to be placed on the foot bridge over the stream on Grant avenue near the property of George H. Smith, which was referred to the Street Committee with power to act.

In the matter of a petition of W. A. Newman and others for a concrete sidewalk on the west side of Main street, between Quarry street and to a point beyond the Newman property, the name was referred to the Street Committee for report.

Mr. Harry C. Stevens, who was employed to make a survey and furnish an estimate of the probable cost of water, sewerage and electric lighting systems for the Town of Manassas, submitted a detailed and comprehensive report accompanied by blue prints, evidencing the fact that he had taken great pains to ascertain the town's need and how they may be obtained in the best possible manner and at maximum cost. On motion of Mr. Spetden the report was accepted and it was ordered that Mr. Stevens be paid for his services in accordance with his contract with the council for said services.

On motion it was requested that the local papers do not publish any figures given out in Mr. Stevens' report, at present.

Remember Mrs. Heath's Lecture.

Attention is again called to the approaching visit of Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the National Housewives' League, who will speak before the Farmers' Wives Auxiliary at the court-house on Friday, Apr. 25, at 11 a. m.

The auxiliary is most fortunate to secure Mrs. Heath at all, and is able to do so because of a vacant day in her schedule, as she speaks in Washington the day before and in Charlottesville the day after her talk here. It is urged that all who are interested in direct marketing and who believe that the producer and the consumer can get on terms of more intimate business acquaintance, will take this opportunity to hear Mrs. Heath.

As was suggested last week it is highly desirable that we be able to give Mrs. Heath a list of the products which we have to sell, and obtain from her a list of the organizations and individuals who are desirous of purchasing direct from the consumer.

MISS WILSON HONOR GUEST

Several Manassas People Guests at Dinner Given in Honor of President's Daughter.

One of the most elegant and enjoyable entertainments that has been given in some time was the dinner given by Congressman Har. D. Flood, of Virginia, at the Chevy Chase club in Washington last Friday night in honor of Miss Wilson, the President's eldest daughter.

Just before 8 o'clock the diners went in automobiles to the club. Among those present were Senator and Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, Senator Vardaman, Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page, Representative and Mrs. B. P. Harrison, Representatives Brown and McKellar, Miss Anna Portner, Mr. and Mrs. William Payne Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hagner, Mrs. Richard Evelyn Byrd, Mr. and Mrs. Colby Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clapham, Dr. and Mrs. Clayton, Dr. and Mrs. Bowen, Miss Bones, Miss Lucy Hoke Smith, Mrs. John Davis, Miss Hagner, Miss Hewery, Mr. John Barrett, Ensign R. E. Byrd, jr., Thos. B. Byrd, of Richmond, and Mr. Randall Hagner. In the receiving line were Mrs. Byrd, Mrs. William Jennings Bryan and Miss Portner.

A GOLD MEDAL OFFERED

To School Boy or Girl, Between 10 and 15, for Best Composition on Good Roads.

A gold medal to the school boy or girl, between the ages of 10 and 15, who writes the best composition, not to exceed 800 words, on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, is to be awarded by Logan Walter Page, Director, Office of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. All compositions must be submitted to Mr. Page before May 15, 1913, and the medal will be awarded as soon thereafter as the compositions can be graded. The composition may be based on knowledge gained from books or other sources, but no quotations should be made.

After many years' experience in dealing with the public road situation of the country, it is Mr. Page's belief that ignorance on the subject of repair and maintenance of roads is as much the cause of their bad condition as any other one factor. It is expected that the composition will bring about a better understanding of the subject of repair and maintenance in the rural districts.

Many children living in the rural districts have experienced the disadvantages of roads made impassable through a lack of proper maintenance, and it is expected that their interest in the competition will stimulate greater interest among the parents. Bad roads have prevented many children from obtaining a proper education and have even prevented doctors from reaching the side of rural patients in time to save their lives.

Any child between the ages mentioned, attending a country school, may compete. Only one side of the paper must be written on each page should be numbered, and the name and address of the writer, and the name and location of the school which he or she is attending must be plainly written at the top of the first page. The announcement of the competition has been sent to the superintendents of schools in the rural districts. No further information can be obtained from the Office of Public Roads. This announcement should be plain to everyone, and all children will thus start on a basis of equality.

Mayor Chapman's Proclamation

May 1st "Clean-up Day"

Now that our streets have been put in a more presentable and sanitary condition I hereby proclaim Thursday, May 1, as a general "Clean-up Day" and respectfully request that the citizens of Manassas will lend their hearty co-operation towards putting our town in a more sanitary condition before the approach of warm weather. After the date hereby set the Town Sergeant will make a general and thorough inspection of all premises and trust that there may be no cause for complaint when the Sergeant makes his inspection call.

P. F. CHAPMAN, Mayor.

THE WOMEN SHOULD VOTE CHANNEL TO OCCOQUAN

Was the Verdict of the Judges at a Debate of the Third-Year Class of M. H. S.

The program carried out by the third-year students of the Manassas High School in the Ruffner building, last Friday afternoon, was one of special interest, the subject for debate being quite up-to-date. "Resolved that women should vote." The program was introduced by the march of the suffragettes and their opponents to a march played by Miss Mary Larkin.

This was followed by a lively song, the words of which were composed by Miss Mary Larkin, and sung to a familiar tune.

This was rendered with much enthusiasm while the opponents stood in wrathful attitude at dos-a-dos. Every item of the program was most entertaining. The recitations of Misses Katharine Donohoe, Mary Akers and Paul Rexrode were rendered with much success and the songs were sung with much spirit and led up to the climax of the entertainment—the debate. The affirmative of the debate was ably supported by Misses Dorothy Button and Sara Donohoe, and the interests of the negative was well taken care of by Miss Mildred Harrell and Mr. Herman Steele. The arguments on both sides were unusually fine and the debaters received many compliments. Mrs. F. E. Garrison and Revs. Arthur and Quarles, the judges, after much deliberation rendered their decision in favor of the affirmative. The large audience united in the opinion that the entire program was most enjoyable and instructive.

Mr. Paul Rexrode, the president of the class, presided, and was supported by the secretary, Miss Mary Akers.

ELECTRIC BLOCK SIGNALS

Southern Railway Company to Install Them Between Alexandria and Orange.

The Southern Railway Company will begin at once the installation of an electric block system between Alexandria and Orange, the same as is now being used by the Richmond Fredericksburg and Potomac Railway Company between Alexandria and Washington.

In order to carry this system into effect the company will install power stations along the line with Manassas as headquarters for the electrical force and for the material. All waiting rooms and depot platforms, street crossings and all offices, passenger cars and freight cars will be furnished with electric lights from these power stations. It is estimated that the system will be completed and ready for use on or before October 1 of this year.

John S. C. Eastman for twenty-five years in the employ of and one of the most trusted engineers of the R. F. & P. Railway Company, died at age of 67 years, in his home in Richmond, Sunday.

THE KEY'S MANSION RAZED COMPLETE ROAD ASSURED

Home of Author "Star Spangled Banner," in Georgetown, Falls Before Scythe of Time.

The ancient home of Francis Scott Key, author of our national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," was torn down in Georgetown last week to make room for an extensive business establishment.

The Key home which originally stood in a lovely garden near the banks of the Potomac river on the main street of Georgetown, with a beautiful green sward stretching to the water's edge, was built shortly after the Paris treaty had become effective.

The Key mansion, it is claimed, has not had the attention that its history richly deserved. Upon the death of its owner, the noted author, it passed to a relative and remained in his possession for a number of years and subsequently passed out of the family ownership. Then came a period of commercial development and the old Chesapeake & Ohio canal was dug through the garden of the premises when it was found that waterway was constructed by Col. Langitt, engineer officer in charge of the channels of the Potomac river and its tributaries, a meeting of those interested in the improvement of Occoquan creek will be held in the town of Occoquan on next Friday, Apr. 25.

The engineer's department wishes to gather data regarding the amount of commerce now coming out of the creek, and the amount that would be developed should the creek be deepened.

It is also desired to obtain the ideas of those acquainted with local conditions as to the depth of water wanted in the channel for its development. The District of Columbia is interested in this matter, as the district workhouse is located on the creek it is proposed to improve and shipments to and from the institution can be made much cheaper by water than by rail.

There is supposed to be a channel seven feet deep from the river to the town of Occoquan, but it has filled since it was dredged, and tugboatmen say there are spots in it where less than six feet of water exists on low tides. It is also claimed that were the Occoquan channel deepened and widened it would be but a question of a short time before freight and passenger steamers would be in service between Washington, Alexandria and Occoquan.

JOHN T. MUDDIMAN DEAD

Dissolution Came at 1:40 O'clock Yesterday Afternoon at His Home in Roanoke.

A telegram reached here late yesterday afternoon announcing the death from pneumonia, in his home in Roanoke, of Mr. John T. Muddiman, brother of Mrs. E. V. Florence and of Messrs. Gen. and David Muddiman, of Manassas, and who was for a number of years a resident of this place. The funeral will take place from the home Saturday afternoon and interment will be made in the cemetery at Roanoke.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Florence was summoned by wire to the bedside of her brother and left here for Roanoke on train 41 Monday night. Although the deceased was considered very ill, there was no thought of such early dissolution. Mr. Muddiman was a man of quiet demeanor, generous to a fault, an affectionate and devoted husband, a kind neighbor and a good and useful citizen, who will be missed in the community in which he has so long resided.

His many friends in Manassas will sympathize with the widow in her sad and sudden bereavement. Messrs. George and David Muddiman will leave here tonight to attend the obsequies.

Statement of Conditions at This Time of the Richmond-Washington Great Highway.

At the first annual meeting of the Richmond-Washington Highway Association held in Richmond last week, President Henry W. Anderson made a statement of the conditions at that time.

President Anderson's report was, in part, as follows: "As soon as the work of obtaining subscriptions was completed the executive officers arranged in June, 1912, to go over the various routes with a view to locating the proposed road. After careful examination the committee selected a route through Henrico, Hanover, Caroline, Spotsylvania, Stafford, Prince William, Fairfax and Alexandria counties to Washington paralleling the R. F. & P. and Washington-Southern railways. The length of this route is, approximately, 125 miles as against 145 miles via the next shortest route proposed.

The location of this route was conditioned upon the county of Caroline voting a bond issue to aid in the improvement of the road through that county. At an election held for this purpose a bond issue was defeated and it became necessary to select another route through that territory.

After careful investigation the committee selected a route through the northern part of Hanover county via Hanover bridge and a corner of Caroline county to Partlow in Spotsylvania county via Spotsylvania court-house and Fredericksburg, which is only about five miles longer than the route originally proposed. This was conditioned upon the county of Spotsylvania voting a bond issue to improve the road from Partlow to Spotsylvania court-house. This bond issue has become effective.

Taking up the several counties in detail the status of the work at present is reported as follows:

HENRICO COUNTY.
The road from Richmond to Solomon's store is already improved. From Solomon's store to the Chickahominy river the road is unimproved and a committee has been appointed to take up this matter with the county authorities.

HANOVER COUNTY.
The road from Chickahominy river to the South Anna is an improved gravel road in good condition except that one short bridge will have to be constructed and repairs made at some points where the surface is worn. Work is in progress.

CAROLINE COUNTY.
A short section of about two and one-half miles from Anderson's bridge to the Spotsylvania line to Partlow has not yet been improved. A survey has been made and a new location of this road will probably be adopted and the matter of the provision for the improvement of the road on the new location is now being considered.

SPOTSYLVANIA COUNTY.
Plans were made to improve the road from Spotsylvania court-house to Fredericksburg via Davenport's bridge, which would give an improved road from Partlow to Spotsylvania court-house on the proposed highway. From Spotsylvania court-house to Fredericksburg there is already an improved gravel road in good condition.

AN INVOLUNTARY HEROISM

Thrilling Incident of Second Manassas as Told by Member of Second Virginia Cavalry.

The following story told by McPherson Kennedy, of the second Virginia cavalry, of the second battle of Manassas will be of interest to those who took part in that bloody fight:

"Nearly all the afternoon of the 30th of August, 1862, we, the Second Virginia Cavalry, Col. T. T. Munford commanding, had lain with our noses in the ground supporting the batteries of Gen. Rosser. The day was hot, the shelling of the Federal guns considerably hotter. Nerves began to twitch, your mother's face began to be photographed on your saddle pockets. So when around 6 p. m. we heard the order, 'prepare to mount.' It was a distinct relief. At once Gen. J. E. B. Stuart rode up to our colonel, speaking so distinctly that we in the ranks could hear him, 'Col. Munford, take a squadron and you can pick up a good many Federal officers at our old winter quarters of the First Manassas who are separated from their commands.'"

"Pope had transferred his headquarters in the saddle to any old place in the rear and not flying everywhere. Col. Munford detached my squadron, some eighty men, and Lieut. Col. Watts and Cary Breckenridge, the adjutant, went along to see the fun. They saw it. We did find some officers, sent them in the rear, then ran into about 100 Federal troopers, rather disorganized, which we charged in column of fours. Pursuing them over a ridge we found ourselves in the presence of Gen. John Buford's cavalry brigade, about 2,500 men, advancing in column of regiments, sabres drawn and not a biscuit toss away."

"Col. Munford tried to retreat, did wheel us around, but seeing he could not escape, gave the order, 'Right about wheel, charge,' and into the first regiment we went. We pried it like a bullet through a board. Then, still keeping our formation, charged the second Federal regiment, advancing in echelon with much the same result. After that I could see no gray anywhere. They absorbed us. I had used my sabre on a flaxen-headed foe-man, just where his hair was parted. I trust his head was all right next day. It now seemed as if 100 blue men put out their hands to seize me, but I remembered old Stonewall's flank movements and tried to get out between them. An officer rode almost touching stirrups, shooting at me and I at him, but aim is uncertain on a flying horse. I was nearly out when I saw dead ahead of me a knot of blue cavalry. It was Hobson's choice. I was admirably mounted, going like the finish of a race, but my horse went on his head in a gully and I on my head into their arms."

"Their first action was to examine my pockets. Heaven only knows what they expected to find. Then they took my arms. One of them held a revolver to my temple and was about to shoot me. I did then and there, but an Irish sergeant rode up. 'Don't shoot a prisoner; take hold of my stirrup, run alongside, and off we were for Washington.'"

"Perhaps we had covered a mile; my old boots, my uncle's spurs, worn in Mexico, all of my breath and most of my strength were gone. 'That dust is all of Stuart's cavalry, save yourself, don't kill me.' He was a good fellow, and, although old, I am still alive. 'In a moment I was the center of Gen. Robertson's (Confederate) cavalry brigade. Shielding myself behind a post that Providence had put there for me, when they charged past I ran to the rear. I think I swallowed a ton or so of dirt. The battle thir-

was on. You will know it when you get it. Soon I met some Texas infantry with muddy canteens, who gave me a drink. I was sorry for the state of Texas. Finally, I made my regiment. Every man of my squadron was either killed, wounded or captured, but all were recaptured by our coupter charge.

"Col. Munford was sabred over the head, Lieut. Col. Watts and Breckenridge were wounded, all had something to show. 'While we did not go out to whip Buford's brigade with eighty men, we charged them, broke them and went down to history. 'I lost my good horse, my arms, was barefooted, but I am glad to know was in a charge about as great, as ever cavalry made.'"

POST-MORTEM PRAISES.

[Composed by L. E. Merchant, of Dumfries, and Chas. H. Coe, of Langdon, D. C., while on board a Sloop on the Potomac river, between Quantico and Alexandria.]

I've noticed when a fellow dies, no matter what he's been, A saintly chap or one who's life was deeply steeped in sin, His friends forget the bitter words they spoke but yesterday, And now they find a multitude of pretty things to say.

I fancy when I go to rest some one will bring to light Some kindly word or goodly act long buried out of sight; But if it's all the same to you just give to me instead

The bouquets while I'm living and the knocking when I'm dead.

Don't save your kisses to imprint upon my marble brow,

While countless maledictions are hurled upon me now;

Say just one kindly word to me while I mourn here alone,

And don't save all your eulogy to carve upon a stone.

What do I care, if when I'm dead, the Alexandria Gazette

Gives me a write-up with a cut in mourning border set;

It will not flatter me a bit, no matter what is said,

So kindly throw your bouquets now and knock me when I'm dead.

It may be fine, when one is dead, to have the folks talk so,

To have the flowers come in loads from relatives you know;

It may be nice to have these things for those you leave behind,

But, just as far as I'm concerned, I really do not mind.

I'm quite alive and well to-day, and while I linger here,

Lend me a helping hand, at times give me a word of cheer.

Just change the game a little bit; just kindly swap the decks;

For I will be no judge of flowers when I've "cashed in my checks."

Death of Mrs. James Hedges.

Mrs. James Hedges died at her home near Hoadley, on Monday of last week, of hemorrhage of the brain, at the age of 46 years. She was in her usual health until a few hours prior to her death. She is survived by her husband, seven sons, one daughter, her aged father, Mr. Peyton Colbert, and one sister, Mrs. John Fair. Her only brother, Mr. Milton Colbert, preceded her to the grave eighteen days before.

The funeral took place from the home Wednesday afternoon, Rev. L. B. Atkins, of Occoquan, officiating, and interment was made on the premises near Fairview schoolhouse. She was a kind and charitable neighbor, a dutiful wife and a devoted mother. She will be missed in the community in which she lived as well as in the home where her place can never be filled.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

[COMMUNICATED]

It is a consummation devoutly to be wished that the law of the land might ever be found in agreement with law of the Lord. No attempt to improve on His law can be made in sanity or safety, because it has been perfect from the beginning. It appeals with convincing power to the conscience and intelligence of every normal human being.

The specific provision of God's law, to which attention is here invited, has to do with capital punishment. What is termed "humane impulse" cannot be trusted in the consideration of a subject of such awful import. He who made man, who knows what is in man and how penalty operates in the nature of man is alone competent to pass judgment on this question. The heart sickens in contemplating the pallid occupant of the condemned cell who awaits the summons to execution, but the heart should also feel for the desolate and afflicted victims of his crime, the outraged community, the violated law.

So far as the Scriptural record shows, capital punishment was unknown before the days of Noah, and it is significant that during the centuries of its absence the earth was corrupt and "filled with violence." This state of things continued until the long-suffering patience of God being exhausted, capital punishment on the most stupendous scale overwhelmed the world and blotted out of existence the entire human race with the exception of Noah and his family. The generation thus exterminated was what we recognize as civilized, having its manufacturers, builders, musicians, artists and artisans. Indeed, wickedness has never reached its climax apart from civilization, for in its last analysis civilization is nothing better than organized selfishness which ends in the rejection of all divine restraints. (Christian civilization is another question.)

If capital punishment be regarded as a relic of barbarism, are we prepared to admit that God is a barbarian because he drowned the ancient world? If not, why not? God does not change, from age to age, He is the same. If His judgment upon sin was barbarous then, it is barbarous now. When Noah and all that were with him had gone forth from the ark to take their places in the restored earth, God ordained a preventive measure against the indulgence of the unbridled passions that filled the former earth "with violence." On the threshold of the new social order a positive law was announced for the punishment of the crime of murder. "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed." Murder has a malignant quality belonging to no other form of crime, because it strikes at the image of God in man, and death is the only adequate penalty for its enormity.

Now, it must be borne in mind, that this law antedates by several centuries the law given through Moses at Sinai and is in nowise affected by the death penalties of that administration. Government under Moses was typical and ceremonial. Glorious indeed, but special and peculiar; national and of limited duration. The death penalty here considered is universal in its application to all nations, under every form of government and for all time. As well contend that the covenant made with Noah is no longer in force as to claim that capital punishment for murder has ceased to express the divine will.

It is quite generally objected that the spirit of Christianity is favorable to the abolition of capital punishment. Let us see about that. The letter to the church at Rome is a Christian epistle; what has it to say on the subject? In chapter 13, 3-4, we read: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God; the powers that be are ordained of God. Whoever therefore resisteth the power resisteth the ordinance of God, and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation. For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. Wilt thou then not be afraid of the power? Do that which is good and thou shalt have praise of the same for he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil be afraid, for he beareth not the sword in vain."

The civil magistrate, according to these words, is, in his sphere, as much the minister of God as is the minister of the Gospel; the sphere of the former being earthly and that of the latter heavenly. The sword of the civil magistrate is the symbol of the power of life and death in civil administration. Why the power of death if this power is not to be used? Civil government is ordained of God to the end that human life may be transcendent in dignity and value. "Whoso sheddeth man's blood by man shall his blood be shed." This decree is fundamental and unalterable till time shall be no more. Let truth prevail.

HAT is the wonderful speed at which an IHC cream separator bowl turns. The rim of a six-inch bowl, running at separating speed, is traveling at the rate of nearly two and a half miles a minute, faster than the swiftest express train that ever ran. Such speed as this means strain on shafts, bearings, gears, frame, in every part of a separator, such strain as can only be rendered harmless by the nicest adjustment of strength, flexibility, and quality of material and workmanship. The business of a cream separator is to skim the butterfat from whole milk, but to do this it must be made mechanically right, or it soon ceases to be useful as a separator. The machine that meets these conditions and sells at the right price, is an

DR. FRIEDMANN AND SKEPTIC SM

From the moment that it was announced that Dr. Friedmann was on his way to America, bringing with him a cure for tuberculosis, the same skepticism was abroad in the land that obtained when Morse announced the method of instantaneous communication for limitless distance by means of the telegraph; when Edison declared it possible to transmit the human voice through miles of space by means of the telephone, and when Marconi claimed that he had discovered a method of sending messages through almost boundless extension, without the aid of metal conductors, by means of wireless telegraphy.

Whether there be any efficacy in Dr. Friedmann's treatment can only be determined by a suspension of public judgment for a time sufficient to allow him to remove skepticism by practical results.

The treatment he received from the medical fraternity in New York, upon his advent to this country was little short of a blot upon the history of such a fraternity.

On one point, at least, with reference to the claim of the German savant, there must be agreement of all friends of humanity in the hope that his claim of having found a cure for the great "white plague" will be supported by the most thorough tests.

This view of the question was plainly evident Monday, when Dr. Friedmann held a monster clinic at a Washington hospital, in the presence of a most distinguished and learned audience, and treated a number of patients with his turtle serum. Secretary Bryan, eminent members of the diplomatic corps, senators, government officials and scientists congregated there in recognition and honor of the German scientist. There appeared to be a sincerity about the reception, in Washington, of Dr. Friedmann, from the moment of his call upon President Wilson, at the White House, to his cordial greeting by the large and distinguished audience which witnessed his first treatment of patients in the national capital.

Give Dr. Friedmann a show; if he fails to make good his claim there can be little lost; if he does he will prove a great boon to humanity.

HONOR MEMORY OF JEFFERSON

Monday the University of Virginia celebrated the 117th anniversary of the birth of its founder, Thomas Jefferson.

The chief orator of the occasion was Thomas Jefferson Talcott Williams, of Columbia University School of Journalism. Dr. Williams declared that President Wilson had profited by the newspapers, for which Jefferson laid the foundation for national liberty, beyond any other man in recent history. By the advance in journalism, said Dr. Williams, President Wilson through his campaign had the whole country as an audience. To Jefferson, he said, no such fair fortune came.

"Our liberty," the speaker said, "depends on the freedom of the press. Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without a government I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter. Where the press is free and every man is able to read, all is safe."

President Wilson sent a handsome floral wreath to be placed in his name upon the grave of the dead statesman.

LAWMAKERS ON ALLEN APPEALS

According to the Richmond Times-Dispatch of Monday, George of Greene, of Clifton Forge, as a member of the House of Delegates, is the moving spirit in the unusual proposal to have the Virginia lawmakers express themselves to Gov. Mann in behalf of the Allens. The fact that members of the legislature were approached as such, says the Times-Dispatch, writes a new page in Virginia public affairs.

According to a careful analysis of our worthy and highly-regarded contemporary's statement, there were 83 of the 138 senators and delegates who responded with varying results. The analysis shows as follows; Against executive clemency, 9; non-committal, 9; for executive clemency, 33.

PROPER KNOWLEDGE IS POWER

We must use our heads for something more than hat racks if we would get the best out of this life and lighten its burdens. In order that this may be done we need proper educational institutions to gain proper knowledge. Our country schools must be made as good as our city schools and as well adapted to the life of the people they serve. "Knowledge is power," and the town boy and the country boy who, perhaps, is to become our future merchant, professional man, statesman or farmer must obtain that knowledge, as our city classes have done, through proper educational channels which cost money to maintain. There can be no better asset bestowed upon a child than a good education, and this fact should be uppermost in the minds of parents and a stimulus towards the future welfare of that child.

"My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge," was the lament of Hosea in bewailing the plight of Israel long centuries ago, and such must be the cry day after day, month after month and year after year of every man or woman whose heart yearns for the uplift of our Southern children. This cry can avail but little if it falls upon the deaf ears of those who are the trusted servants of tax-payers, to foster, at the expense of such tax-payers, proper educational institutions.

NET EARNINGS VERSUS CAPITAL

Co-operation in Europe means that only legal interest is paid on whatever capital stock is required, and that the profits go back to the people who contributed the profits. In a store they go to the patrons in proportion to the amount of their purchases. In a creamery they go to patrons in proportion to the quantity of cream furnished. In a bacon factory profits are divided among farmers in proportion to weight of pork furnished. In a poultry society the farm woman who sends fifty dozen eggs gets at the end of the year just twice the profits of she who furnishes twenty-five dozen.

Co-operation is as old as civilization, but it could not succeed as a practice in common business until a plan was worked out that prevented the strong from oppressing the weak; that held back the greedy from taking more than he was entitled to, and also placed money where it belonged; as a commodity to be used, but not allowed to drive the will of honest effort to injustice, so the members of a co-operative society could not destroy or prey upon one another. The problem was solved when the principle of distribution of profits on the basis of contributed earnings and net on capital was set up, recognizing the man and his service and not mere inert money.

THE Wilson plum tree is, according to many, very slow in ripening and they think it ought to be given a slight shake at all events in order that some of the ripest plums may drop into their outstretched hands.

You will probably find that the man on the corner who is sneering at woman, because of their desire to take part in making the laws that govern them, has not qualified to vote himself and is cheating his state by not paying his poll tax. Richmond Journal.

FORTY-EIGHT years ago, Monday night, President Lincoln was assassinated by J. Wilkes Booth in Ford's Theater in Washington and died on the following day. Mr. Lincoln had gone to the, then, popular playhouse to witness the fascinating play, "Our American Cousin."

If you have not paid your capitation tax for 1912, it is time you were doing so if you would take part in the next general election as the law requires that the capitation tax must be paid, six months prior to such election. The latest that such tax may be paid is Saturday May 3.

CONSTERNATION was created in Justice John's court in Richmond last week, when Adolph Volkman, a germ-despising German, refused to kiss the long-used Bible of that temple of justice. When Judge Crutchfield ordered Volkman to kiss the book he refused to do so, but compromised by kissing the Bible with his lips.

LAST Tuesday was the anniversary of the great Titanic disaster which sent over one thousand souls to the bottom of the ocean, off the banks of Newfoundland, and draped this nation in mourning. It was reported last week that a large number of widows and other relatives of the victims of the disaster would, on the anniversary of the event, go to the scene where the great liner went down and scatter flowers on the surface of the ocean as a tribute of love for their lost ones, but the report was subsequently denied.

BRIEF LOCAL ITEMS

Mr. H. R. Bragg, of Haymarket, who has been quite ill for the past two weeks is now convalescing. The O. F. A. banquet which was to have taken place in Masonic Temple to-night, has been postponed sine die. The Rev. Philip A. Arthur will preach at St. Ann's Chapel, Nokesville, next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Pay your capitation tax not later than Saturday, May 3rd, and qualify yourself to vote at the next November election. The Civic League of Haymarket has postponed its Good Health meeting from April 16th to Wednesday, April 23rd. Rev. Edward S. Hinks, of Warrenton, will preach at St. Paul's Church, Haymarket, next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. E. K. Mitchell has rented the George Muddiman property on East Centre street and took possession of same this week. Mrs. Thomas H. Lion, who, it is thought, suffered a slight stroke of paralysis Monday, is rapidly recovering from the effects thereof. Mr. William I. Harrison has purchased the Stephenson property consisting of twenty acres, situated near Leesburg, for the sum of $5,000. The Athletic Club of the Manassas High School is putting itself in daily practice for the approaching initial track meet on Round Athletic Field. The condition of Mr. Robert Leachman this morning was much more favorable, but he is still unable to return to his position in the Journal office. Mr. John W. Waller, of the Plains, has sold to Mr. Harry Groom, of Philadelphia, Warrenton, a handsome pair of white leg chestnut horses for $800. Messrs. J. J. Conner and G. P. Blucher purchased at Orange last week, six head of thoroughbred Holstein Friesian cattle—two males and four females. While engaged in getting trees on the "Boscobal" farm in Stafford county last week, Mr. Eugene Fines was seriously injured about the head from a falling tree. The Loudoun Chapter, U. D. C., gave a reception at the Leesburg Inn to the old veterans and the sons of veterans, on the anniversary of the battle of Shiloh, last week. The Democratic County Committee of Orange has set Tuesday, June 3rd, as the date for holding the primary for the selection of a candidate for the House of Delegates. There will be preaching at the Lutheran church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock by Rev. J. H. Spenshott. He also will preach at Nokesville at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Hon. C. J. Meetz has rented an office in the M. I. C. building for the purpose of conducting a real estate and insurance business. See our next week's issue for further particulars. On account of the inclemency of the weather, the box party announced to take place at Cannon's Branch Saturday night, was postponed until to-night (Friday) at 7:30 o'clock. Mayor Chapman thinks that while the handsome green grass is growing in the front yards in the town of Manassas there should be some pretty flowers growing in the back yards. It became rumored on the streets of Manassas this week that Maddox & Byrd were going out of business. The rumor, no doubt, was based upon the fact that the firm had leased the room next to their main store to the Aetna Butter Company. We are authorized by Maddox & Byrd to say that the rumor was entirely groundless. While riding on a handtruck between the coal bins and the Industrial School, Wednesday, Wesley Nickens, colored, a section hand, accidentally fell in front of the rapidly moving car and was run over by the same, inflicting a painful laceration of the scalp and other injuries. A white man of the section gang who was riding on the truck with Nickens was hurled a distance of several feet when the truck left the track, and slightly injured.

On Saturday evening, April 26, beginning at 7 o'clock, the Stafford Lodge of Odd Fellows will celebrate the ninety-fourth anniversary of their organization at Stafford Courthouse by a sumptuous festival. Mrs. S. P. Fogle, of Bristow, has received information that her father, Mr. Samuel Good, of New Market, Va., was paralyzed on Tuesday, and is considered by his physician to be in a dangerous condition. Mr. Frederick Stoffregen, of Fredericksburg, and for many years a telegraph operator at that place, was one of the patients recently treated by Dr. Friedman in the George Washington hospital in Washington. Mr. Chas. Barbour Maddox, of near Remington, died in a Washington hospital, last week, of a disease which baffled his attending physicians. Mr. Maddox was a relative of the late Senator John S. Barbour. Mr. Eppa Robertson, son of Mr. John F. Robertson, of near Manassas, who has been critically ill for the past three weeks in his home in Leesburg, was somewhat better when his father heard from him yesterday. Rev. S. P. Fogle left to-day for Rappahannock county to attend the opening ceremonies of the new Brethren church in the Blue Ridge Mountains. This is the first and only church ever erected in that community. Mrs. Elizabeth Byram, 70 years old, died in her home, near Stafford Store, Stafford county, Friday night of last week. The funeral took place from the home Sunday afternoon and interment was in the family burying ground. Why not start a cucumber-raising club in the Manassas Agricultural High School? The pickle factory at Fredericksburg, it is ascertained, will contract to take all the small cucumbers that can be raised in Northern Virginia. Mr. Ernest Unterback, who has been confined in a hospital on account of a serious illness, is now at his home, near Manassas, and was on the streets of our town yesterday morning, but showing plainly the effects of his ailment. There will be a called meeting of Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, on Saturday, April 19th, at 3 o'clock, in the Chapter room, to perfect plans for the benefit concert to be given about the middle of May. Marriage licenses were issued in Washington Tuesday, to Mr. Nelson J. Smith and Miss Nancy L. Dishman, of Brooke, Stafford county, and to Mr. James W. Jeffries and Miss Mary J. Kinoshloe, of Warrenton, Fauquier county. Rev. E. A. Rhoads, pastor of Grace M. E. church, received notice by wire the first of the week of the death of his wife's father at his home in Amisville, Rappahannock county, and left here on the first train to attend the funeral. Mr. Joseph McCormick, of near Warrenton, and a near relative of the inventor of the famous McCormick reaper, was found dead in his stable, on Thursday of last week. It is supposed that his death was the result of a kick by a colt. A silver pin over two inches in length and about one inch in width, was found in Miss Susie Hall's garden, in Fauquier county, recently. It bears the inscription: "U. S. Mail Agent, 2nd Brigade, 1st Div. 5th Army Corps; J. R. Craft." The recent rainfall has pretty well convinced the residents of Manassas, who have cellars, that cellars are not a very desirable adjunct to their premises, as the most of cellars have been filled to their utmost capacity during the past week or more. The Grade School Meet, which takes place next Friday, promises to be the best that has ever been held. Over forty of our citizens, including Prince William with contest for supremacy and from the time that some of them have made during practice many records should go to the wall. Haymarket, Manassas, Gainesville and Bradley have all entered teams and the struggle for first honors should be hard fought and exciting. This year an admission fee of 10 cents will be charged to the Grade Meet from which the expenses of the meet will be paid, the residue going to the schools which are represented by teams.

Bull and Broad Runs have been on the rampage during the past week, the water being much higher than for many years. The pump-house at Bristow was put out of commission for a time, and the water encroached upon the first floor of Milford Mills. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the box party given by the students of the Manassas High School at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Button, on Grant avenue, was pretty well attended and an enjoyable evening was spent. Two pretty water-color portraits, the artistic handiwork of Miss Middleton, of Eastern College, was shown the editor of THE JOURNAL yesterday. One of the portraits was posed for by one of the young lady students of Eastern in athletic costume. "Bagthorpe Sultan," said to be the greatest Hackney stallion in the world, was recently sold by his owner, Hon. Henry Fairfax, president of the Virginia Fair Association, to Fred Labat, the beer man of Milwaukee, for $10,000. Some price for a horse. An Italian marble altar, said to cost $3,000, was donated by Mrs. John F. Bransford, of Augusta, Ga., to St. Andrew's Chapel, at Woodberry Forest, near Orange, last week. The donor was present at the presentation of the handsome piece of church equipment. Lewis Hooff, formerly general manager of the defunct Mercantile Railway Building and Loan Association, in which many residents of this and adjoining counties were interested, will be tried at the April term of Judge Barley's court in Alexandria, by a jury from Richmond. Brigadier General Thomas Jones, who served in the Confederate services, and who was once a resident of Warrenton and principal of the Warrenton High School, recently died in the home of his son in Prescott, Arizona. It is thought that his body will be brought to Virginia for burial. Those who fail to see "Patty's Lover," at Conner's Opera House to-night, will miss an evening of real enjoyment with not a dull moment. The fact that the play is under the direction of Miss Elise Stevens, of Eastern College, is of itself a sufficient guarantee to warrant our assertion. Among the officers installed at the organization of the Clarendon Chapter of the United Daughters of Eastern Star Wednesday night of last week, was Miss Mae Simpson, formerly of Manassas, as secretary. The new chapter, which has a membership of fifty-five, was instituted by Grand Worthy Patron Taylor, of Roanoke. Mr. D. H. Lewis, Nelson County, and formerly employed in the Superintendent's office of The Nelson & Albermarle Railway Company, has moved with his family to Manassas and occupies the Hutchison and Merchant property on Fairview avenue. Mr. Lewis is now engaged as traveling salesman for a Baltimore firm. Little seven-year-old Lucy Nelson, who left Warrenton last week for the home of her parents in New Jersey, and whose grandfather took her to a lunch room in Washington and leaving her there, failed to return, has reached her home safely. The child had a tag attached to her dress, showing her destination, which guided the police to communicate with her parents and in forwarding their child to them. Mr. Province McCormick, 33 years old, son of Attorney Marshall McCormick, who figured conspicuously in the Harris trial in the circuit court of this county two years or more ago, died in the office of his father in Roanoke on Tuesday of last week, under circumstances that point to suicide by means of cyanide of potassium. The young man left three letters—one to his father, one to his mother and one to Miss Mary B. Martin, a stenographer in his father's office. Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Maccott arrived in Alexandria Saturday and spent Saturday night as guests of Sergeant Scott of the Alexandria police department, while on an endurance bicycle ride from Texas to Grand Rapids, Mich. They left the next morning for Washington riding on an old-fashioned tandem bicycle and expect to cover about 10,000 miles on the trip. They approached Alexandria by way of the Warrenton and Alexandria turnpike, passing the Manassas battlefields Saturday about noon.

Mrs. Raymond Hulfish and little daughter, Miss Laura, left Alexandria Tuesday for Havre, Montana, to join her husband, who is engaged in business there with his father, Mr. G. Andrew Hulfish, who was, for a number of years, the leading merchant at Haymarket. The Aetna Butter Company, of Philadelphia, has opened a branch house in the rooms in the Newman building on South Main street, next door to Maddox & Byrd. Mr. W. H. Dennis, a member of the firm, is in charge of the Manassas branch of the business and has employed Mr. W. H. Cather to assist him. Woodbine school will close its term on next Thursday, April 24, at which time, in the evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, there will be a silver medal contest and box social. The contestants are Kathleen and Irene Purcell, Annie, Blanche and Carrie Leary, Morris Groff, Eddie Kincheloe, Luther Bell, Leslie Merrill and Carleton Hill. The musical program for the occasion will be a specially enjoyable feature. On next Saturday, April 19th, at 11 o'clock, a quiet wedding will take place at the home of Miss Ella Sutton, 726 North Fulton avenue, in Baltimore, the contracting parties being Mr. L. Bradford Waters, of Charlottesville, and Miss Lenore Kimble, of Baltimore. The bride and bridegroom-elect are well known in Manassas, as is also Miss Sutton, who spent several months in Manassas as a summer boarder, and who is a cousin of Mrs. R. W. Merchant and of Miss Ida Lickle, of this place. A small dog belonging to Mr. Henry Treakle, of Maple Grove, Westmoreland County, bit two of Mr. Treakle's sons and a friend, Roger McKenty, besides two or three animals on the Treakle premises, the latter part of last week. The dog's head was sent to Washington for examination and was found to contain rabies. The victims of the rabid animal are now taking the Pasteur treatment at the Hygienic Laboratory in Washington. The Treakles are nearly related to Dr. H. R. Lickle, of the Virginia State Board of Health, and who is a nephew of Mrs. R. W. Merchant and of Miss Ida M. Lickle of Manassas. At the regular spring meeting of the Washington Presbytery, held in the Washington Heights church in Washington, Tuesday, Rev. William Hearst Dexter was appointed to continue to supply the pulpit of the Manassas Presbyterian church. Mr. W. I. Steere represented the Manassas Presbyterian church in the Presbytery. The law office of Mr. Bryan Gordon, on Railroad avenue and South Main street, was entered Monday night and his Remington typewriter and a few other minor articles carried off. The thief or thieves entered the building by breaking through a window. Up to going to press no tidings have been received concerning the stolen articles.

Look Before You Leap
Is an old saying that holds good in starting a Bank Account
We Ask You to Consider
1st. Strength—financial strength.
2nd. The care with which the bank is managed.
3rd. The courtesy and spirit of accommodation by the officers and employees.
4th. The ability of the bank to properly and promptly handle all your business.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS

The Fredericksburg High School baseball team will play the Alexandria High School team on the latter's diamond today, and the Manassas High School team tomorrow (Saturday).

The following was clipped from the Remington correspondence of last week: "Rev. E. A. Rhoads and family will leave Thursday for Manassas. They will be sadly missed by all who knew them. Brother Rhoads is a consecrated Christian gentleman, and will make staunch friends wherever he goes. While here he brought about unity in the churches and was a favorite with other denominations."

From hardening of the arteries, Mr. Joshua Fletcher, died in his home near Upperville, Fauquier County, last week at the age of sixty-four years. He was one of the wealthiest men of his county and second largest landowner in Virginia, his real estate holdings being something over four thousand acres. He was a vestryman of the Upperville Episcopal Church and a director of the Fauquier National Bank, of Warrenton.

The many friends of Mr. Joseph L. Lewis, who suffered complete paralysis of the left side several weeks ago and was speechless, and who has been under the care of his nephew, Dr. J. Mayre Lewis, at his home on West street, ever since, was today removed to his home at Richlow, two miles west of Manassas. He is progressing encouragingly towards recovery from his affliction and has partly recovered his speech.

Mr. C. M. Rorabaugh, who left here with his family the latter part of January to enter the employ of the Alberton Cotton Mills, at Alberton, Md., left here Wednesday to resume his duties in the mills, after having spent two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Rorabaugh, in this place. Mr. Rorabaugh's main business here was to secure additional help for the mills by which he is employed. He secured the promise of four families in Manassas district to enter the employ of the mills as soon as they could make necessary arrangements. Mr. Rorabaugh stated that any party having two or three children who were able to work in the mills, could earn good wages therein for them and himself.

SPRING SUITS

There's an army of men thinking of Spring Suits now—it's time for them—so we hope you will pardon us if we nudge you gently and say—"HOW ABOUT YOURS."

Then we'll just add that we have, this Spring, the very best showing of New-Styled Clothes it has ever been our good fortune to get together. We're ready to serve you with Hand-Tailored Clothes made to our special order by the best people in the business—Schloss Bros. of Baltimore and Kirschbaum of Philadelphia.

NORFOLKS, you'll find, are very much the thing this year; worn by the most stylish young men everywhere.

A great variety of new models are being shown; you'll see them all here. One of the best is the style illustrated—a strap and yoke effect, and very smart.

Others show new ideas in line, shape and cutting all together, quite different from anything seen before, and ranging from extreme types to the more conservative models for older men.

THEY HIRED A CARRIAGE.

The Ride Was a Dismal Failure, but It Didn't Cost Very Much. This is the whimsical tale they tell in Washington concerning a midnight adventure of two congressmen who had to journey across the city one night last winter when the streets and sidewalks were so icy that every wayfarer wished he had come of a long line of tight rope walkers.

The congressmen had spent the evening with a friend who was celebrating the birthday of the speaker of the house, or something like that, and who had endeavored to make his guests forget all about the worries of statecraft.

Neither felt like attempting to navigate the icy streets alone when they found how slippery they were, and they hailed a carriage standing nearby. One of them opened the door and started to climb into the vehicle. He slipped and fell clear across the carriage and out the other door. His companion tried to rescue him, and he also fell out. So much confusion frightened the horse, and one of the representatives started to its head and caught hold of the bridle. But in doing so he lost his balance and slipped. His feet hit against one leg of the horse, which was not much steadier, and the horse reared down, too on top of the other representative.

It was apparent that the horse couldn't proceed without somebody to steady him, and the two representatives started to lead him, one at each side. They held the driver hold a tight rein, and with cautious step they set out for their hotel. It was slow going. Sometimes they would slip, and the horse would hold them up, and then again they would reciprocate by holding the horse up. At the end of an hour and fifteen minutes they had reached their hotel in a rather dazed condition.

"How much do we owe you, driver?" one of them faltered. "Three dollars," said the man on the box. They thanked him for making it so reasonable, paid it and went on into their hotel.—New York World.

A Neat Fun.

Jean de Reszke was once a guest at a large party given to a number of distinguished musicians. In the course of the evening one of the company put the somewhat tactless question: "Who is the most popular artist on the musical stage?"

"Pas de Reszke!" dashed back the famous singer, thus punningly denying his own claim and in its stead asserting that of the great Paderewski.—Boston Post.

Not the Same One.

And men tell a tale of an Irishman who went to the postoffice and asked for his mail at the general delivery window. In the line in front of him was another Irishman on a similar errand.

"What name?" asked the clerk of the first man. "Dennis Malone," answered the inquirer. "Nothing here for you. Next what name?"

"Dennis Malone," said the second Irishman. "Didn't you just hear me say that there was no mail for Dennis Malone?" "But, sure, I ain't the same Dennis Malone. I'm another wan entirely. Look an' see if there ain't none 's me."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Futile Flattery.

"Even with flattery," said Mark Twain at a dinner, "you can't please some men. I remember when I was a reporter in Virginia City there was a doctor I liked—I had camped once on Lake Tahoe with him—and in an obituary I decided to give him a card I wrote. 'Dr. Sawyer was called in, and under his prompt and skillful treatment the patient died Monday.' But Dr. Sawyer somehow wasn't pleased."

Attending a Chautauqua.

Ralph Bingham is telling this good one. The citizens of a thriving town of about 10,000 people arranged for a chautauqua assembly last summer. They held the meetings in a big tent about a mile from town, and the attendance was large from the first day. An enterprising circus man heard of the large crowds and landed in the town between the town and the chautauqua grounds.

Along in the afternoon a young man from the country, coming from the direction of the Chautauqua, was accosted by a citizen of the town who knew him.

"Well, Ezra, I suppose you are in to the chautauqua?" "I shore are. Just come from there now."

"How'd job like it?" asked the townsman. "Flue ez a dudle! I rode on the darn thing nine times."

BLUM MEANT WELL.

He Was Only Living Up to the Rules of His Club.

Under the second empire borges were so rampant that a sort of society or club was formed to fight them under the name of the "Rescue the Captives." It was a mutual aid society, every member of which was bound to come to the rescue of any other in the clutch of a buttonholing bore. The signal of distress was given by unobtrusively scratching the side of one's nose, and a colleague on seeing this was expected to intervene and deliver his friend from captivity.

The society was so useful and so popular—even humanitarian, it may be said—that it numbered exceedingly for many years and grew rich in members and subscriptions. Among its members was the veteran journalist Ernest Blum, who, however, was rather clumsy at his work. He used to relate the following story:

"One day in passing the Gymnasium I saw two men talking. I knew one of them and took off my hat to him, whereupon he at once scratched his nose.

"I, of course, thought, he was a member of the club in distress whom I ought to deliver, so approached and, not knowing what to say, cried out: 'My dear N., I am delighted to meet you. I have an important piece of news to tell you. Allow me?' turning to the other man. 'Certainly,' replied this gentleman. I took my comrade aside, saying: 'You know I have nothing at all to tell you. I only wanted to rescue you. That is all. 'Rescue me from what?' 'Why, from the bore.' 'What bore?' 'The man you were talking to, naturally.' 'But he is my father.'"

Poor Blum had chanced upon somebody who was not a member of the society, and who had merely scratched his nose absent or because he wanted to, which may happen to any man. Paris Amusees.

Fitted For the Part.

When a new member of the Irish house of commons made his first speech, Sir William Osborne asked who he was and being told he replied: "Well, I think he will do. If the opposition have selected him they are perfectly in the right for he seems to have the finest face for a grievance of any man I ever beheld."—National Monthly.

A Remington Story.

On Thanksgiving day a number of years ago the late Frederic Remington was in London; his first visit to England, where he announced to his friends he intended to "have a rest vacation, away from mustangs and Indians." As a tribute to the noted artist, American residents in London joined in arranging a splendid Thanksgiving feast. Remington, of course, to be the guest of honor. The chef of the Hotel Carlton was told to spare no expense in obtaining fat gobblers, bluepoints, sweet potatoes and other trimmings for the genuine old time dinner.

Not a word occurred to mar the occasion excepting that Remington failed to turn up. While London was raked for and aft for the celebrated artist, the guests politely waited, waited until their stomachs quaked and their mouths watered for the luscious turkey. Late that night, when the feast was long since despoiled, one of the guests wandered into Buffalo Bill's wild west show at Earl's court. Remington sat there drawing.

"Do not disturb him," ordered Colonel Cody. "He's getting some good color from these Creek Indians. He's been here since 10 o'clock this morning."—Philadelphia North American.

Missed a Fine Chance.

A well known doctor and a certain minister are great friends but they dearly love a joke at each other's expense. One time the minister delivered a series of lectures, and one of them on Paley type was not interesting enough to please the audience, which gradually withdrew before its conclusion. Not long afterward the minister's house was entered by a burglar. He gave a graphic account of the affair to his friend, the doctor, and ended by saying:

"I had him on the hat of his neck. I held him so that he could not move an inch."

A New One on Him.

It was in one of those thriving south western cities where railroads abound that a tired and weary traveler arrived at a policeman and asked the way to the Y. M. C. A. The copper was puzzled. He took off his hat and scratched his head. "Finally he burst out: 'Stranger, you've got me. I know where the Prisco is and the Ma K. and T., but that Y. M. C. A. is a new one on me.' Everybody's.

WARM SLOP BEST FOR HOGS

Helps to Break Down Food Better and it Induces Better Circulation of Animal's Blood.

Whether intended for breeding hogs or for fattening hogs, it is better at this time of the year to mix the slop up with hot instead of cold water. Fattening hogs handle large quantities of feed and considerable energy is given off in the process of digestion which can be used for warming feed which is eaten without much waste, and yet even fattening hogs do better if their slop is warmed.

A great many of our best feeders, says the Farm, Stock and Home, now make it a practice to feed slop or at least considerable water up until the very last of the feeding process, and the majority of them warm the water they use. Warm water helps to break down the feed better, and it induces a better circulation of blood, to the digestive tract than does cold water. Breeding stock that gets less feed has less surplus energy to spend in warming water, and if it is given cold slop, it must use energy that might be put to far better use to warm it. In other words, it is cheaper to use natural fuel than to use the fuel inside of the pig's body by the breaking down of food nutrients.

One of the great difficulties always encountered with breeding sows during the winter is to get them to drink sufficient water. They should drink a great deal of it, not alone because they need it for body functions, but also that they will be kept satisfied without eating so much dry feed as to make them overeat. Water fills without furnishing many nutrients.

Under ordinary conditions, as soon as water begins to get real cold, hogs refuse to drink much of it, and so they require a larger ration of other feed before they are satisfied. It on the other hand the water is warmed and is mixed in sufficient quantity with their feed they will take it into their systems without the slightest objections and will be much better off for it.

The feed bill will also be smaller at the same time. Whether the slop is warmed for fattening stock or not, we would earnestly advise that it be for the breeding stock. Where the herd is small it is often feasible to warm the water for slop in the house, but in case of a large herd one of the various feed cookers on the market would no doubt best be procured.

COTSWOLD SHEEP IN FAVOR

Experience Proves Them to Be Better Shearers and Make Improvement—Use of Rape Urged.

Men that think at all usually have a reason for doing things. Hence, when I began breeding Cotswold sheep I chose them not because my father bred them 40 years, but because from experience with other breeds they proved to be better shearers, produced more wool and made a lasting improvement upon flocks where good rams were used. The time has come when every man should make the most of everything; therefore every breeder should or must have to obtain desired results.

Rape is of inestimable value and every man professing to be a shepherd should provide at least ten square rods of this forage for each sheep kept upon the farm, says a writer in an exchange. This crop furnishes splendid feed when all things are favorable, and indispensable feed in time of drouth. At the last cultivation of our new rape, which provides a splendid place to wean lambs. This, together with oats and beans, helped a pair of lambs in the scales at 261 pounds at the age of five months.

HANDY PIG FEEDING TROUGH

Economical Plan Offered by Plating State Account—Also Keeps Animals Orderly.

Feeding pigs from a trough having slats put across it at intervals is said to be a very economical plan. The liquid is poured into a funnel-shaped tray, leaving the height to suit the feeder. The slats keep the pigs orderly and prevent crowding. The pipe is intended to carry off any unnecessary liquid or water and is useful in cleaning the trough.

Keep Horses Well Shod. Horses are very much straddled of ice, writes O. J. McFarland in Practical Farmer, and it is cruel, as well as dangerous not to have them well shod in the winter.

COMPLETE ROAD ASSURED

Statement of Conditions at This Time of the Richmond-Washington Great Highway.

"A bond issue of $100,000 has been voted by Stafford county to improve certain roads. Included in these roads is the Richmond-Washington highway entirely through the county, except about five miles on the northern end. The improvement of this five miles is in the hands of a special committee of this corporation.

PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY. "The Dumfries district, in Prince William, has not begun work on the road as located, but the supervisor has in hand about $6,000 of state aid funds and $1,000 of private contributions. With such aid as this corporation can give it is believed that the road through this district can be improved. The Occoquan district of this county has already begun work and has constructed the road from Occoquan about two one-half miles south.

FAIRFAX COUNTY.

"The road from Occoquan and beyond Lorton has been improved by the United States Reformatory, located near that point, and is in first class condition. The supervisor of the district between Lorton and Alexandria has in hand from state aid and county funds and private contributions a sum in excess of $13,000 and it is believed that there will be no trouble in arranging for the completion of the work to Alexandria.

ALEXANDRIA COUNTY.

"Between Alexandria and Washington there are several roads at present in very good condition, and there will be no difficulty about an improved highway between those cities by the time the work south of Alexandria is completed.

"The charter requires that 20 per cent of all funds of the corporation shall be reserved as a maintenance fund, and it is the policy of the corporation, looking to the interests both of the subscribers and the county authorities, to reserve as large a sum as possible in the treasury for the maintenance of the road when improved.

The directors have been greatly encouraged by the recent action of the governor in assigning an appropriation of $10,000 by the federal government to aid in the improvement of rural free delivery routes in this state to the section of this highway between the South Anna river and Occoquan.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Return.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Mitchell, who have been spending the winter in the western part of Florida, returned to their home here Friday. Mr. Mitchell is charmed by the delightful climate and scenic beauty of the "land of sunshine, fruits and flowers," but Mrs. Mitchell is not quite so enthusiastic. In a basket which Mr. Mitchell had upon his arm when he left the depot here was a twig containing six large and well-developed oranges, a twig containing three grape fruit and a twig fully two pounds each, a bottle of sugar cane syrup, a glass of guava jelly, a sample of the fruit from which this jelly is made, and a sample of the Kumonok fruit.

We get the stamps of our ready approval upon all these delicacies save the guava, and with reference to that we are of opinion that a sample of this fruit kept in each magisterial district of Prince William county would furnish all the disagreeable order needed throughout the district should the wind change occasionally.

CLEAR FIELD FOR STUART

The announcement of the Hon. Harry St. George Tucker that he will not be a candidate for governor in the state primary next August is not unexpected, and Mr. Tucker's decision not to enter the race leaves a clear field for Hon. Henry C. Stuart as the matter now stands, since no other than these two gentlemen have been seriously considered in connection with the governorship.

When Mr. Stuart, against his personal inclination, accepted the nomination for Congress, an office to which he did not aspire, tendered him unanimously by the Democrats of the Ninth district, and made such a gallant fight two years ago, lacking only some 200 votes of redeeming this strong Republican district and placing it in the Democratic column—when Democrats of all factions stood shoulder to shoulder, fighting under his banner, burying and forgetting all factional differences, when Montague and Martin, Swanson and Glass, Flood and Jones united their efforts in his behalf, speaking throughout his district for him—though defeated for Congress his nomination for governor, an office to which he did aspire, was assured.

It did not take a political prophet to foresee this.

Mr. Tucker in stepping aside has given his assent to the almost unanimous voice and wish of the Democrats of Virginia to have Mr. Stuart for their next governor. He has shown his wisdom in accepting gracefully a condition which it would have been futile to go up against.

In Mr. Stuart, Virginia will have as governor a man pre-eminently qualified in every respect to fill this high office with credit to himself and honor to his state. He is a business man of large experience and his interests are thoroughly identified with Virginia's greatest interest, agriculture. Educated as a lawyer and with broad experience in public affairs, he is peculiarly well qualified to deal with the issues which must be dealt with and settled by experienced and practical men.

At Mr. Stuart's hands Virginia will have just such a business administration as the times demand. It is but a graceful and proper tribute to his pre-eminant qualifications and his splendid party record and service that this honor should come without an inter-party contest. Rockingham Daily Record.

NEW INDUSTRY AT CLIFTON

Valley Farm Canning Company to be Ready for Business When Canning Season Opens.

Mr. J. L. Fristoe has just completed the installation of a canning factory on his farm, one-half mile from Clifton, with a capacity of between 1,500 and 2,000 cans per day of ten hours. Mr. Fristoe does not expect to reach out beyond his own premises this season for vegetables or fruits for his factory, but may arrange for a larger output of produce next season. He has arranged for a ready market for the entire output this season at paying prices, provided he can obtain the required help. Mr. Fristoe says the work of preparing vegetables and fruits for canning is mainly done by girls of the age of 14 to 16 years, and they can, by using a little energy, earn from $1.25 to $1.50 per day. We have repeatedly tried to get the Manassas people interested in the establishment of a canning factory for Manassas, but the project has been regarded with more or less skepticism, and our efforts, so far, have proven futile. That such an industry would prosper under proper management there can be no doubt whatever, if the experience of those who have made the venture in other sections under more favorable conditions than are to be found here, count for anything.

"PINK TEA" AT CLIFTON TRIBBLE UNDER ARREST

Proceeds for Benefit of the Civic Improvement League of Our Sister Town.

Hold as Bigamist in Alexandria to Await Prince William County Authorities.

Those who would spend an evening of real enjoyment should not fail to witness "Mrs. Busby's Pink Tea" by local talent under direction of Mrs. B. T. Hodge, in the Clifton high school building to-night.

John Edward Tribble, thirty years old, arrested in Alexandria county yesterday by Chief Goods and Sergeant Wilkerson for the authorities of Prince William county, where he is accused of bigamy, declared at police headquarters last night that when Police Justice Cutchfield, of Richmond, told him in February, 1912, that he would send him to jail for six months if he didn't stay away from the first Mrs. Tribble he thought that ended his marriage vows and he had a right to wed a second wife. This he did at Manassas, Va., and when W. T. Griffith, an uncle of wife No. 2, learned of the first marriage he hurried to this city and caused the arrest. Chief Goods called up the Richmond police by telephone and learned that there is a warrant in that city for Tribble for non-support of his first wife, to whom he was married about seven years ago.

- THE PROGRAM PART FIRST. "Oh, Italia" Donizetti Chorus Class. "My Old Rag Doll" Harriet F. Crocker Jennie Pitts. "Blow, Soft Winds" Vincent Chorus Class. Reading "Irish Coquette" Gertrude Cox. Reading "Ringen on the Rhine" Martha Saunders. College Song (a) "The Boodle Song," (b) "Sweet Evelina" Chorus Class. Reading "The Night Wind" Ervin Quigg. Reading "Widder O'Shame's Rent" Jane Burritt. "The Morning Song" Hatton Chorus Class. Reading "How Tom Sawyer White washed the Fence" Mary Frances Burrett. "Night" Arthur Richards Chorus Class. Reading "The Drug Store Scene" Ida Ayers.

Tribble was a boarder at S. T. Hall's home in Manassas at the time he was married to Miss Deale, by Rev. Chas. DeLong at Grace M. E. Church parsonage, and, together with his wife, continued to board there from the time of his marriage until he left, unexpectedly, with his wife without paying his last month's board.—Ed.

LETTER FROM OCCOQUAN

The Ladies' Aid Society was royally entertained at the home of Capt. Woodyard on Tuesday, April 8.

The Masons of this place held a banquet on April 7. It was an evening long to be remembered, especially by the wives and sweethearts of the members. Interesting speeches followed a bountiful supper.

Mrs. Emma Spencer has returned from a trip to Washington and is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Leary.

Mr. Wilton Dav is has recovered from his recent illness. Mr. John Seelman and family leave to-day for a fortnight's visit to friends at Havre de Grace, Md.

Mrs. Shepherd who recently underwent an operation at George Washington hospital, is improving.

Hilda, the youngest daughter of Mr. W. S. Lynn, is recovering from measles.

Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Stark weather entertained the Fairfax League on Tuesday last most delightfully.

Mr. Reade Hynson, who has been visiting his mother, has returned to his home.

The Senior School League held its last meeting for this term, and was entertained by Miss Gertrude Seelman in recitation, by solos by Miss Hattie Seelman, and by an essay read by Brother L. Ledman.

Improvements to the school have been made through the untiring efforts of Mr. Haydon with the co-operation of patrons, the Junior School League and assistant teacher. The Junior League contributed $25.00, and $85.50 was given by a committee of three. Concrete walks, steps and sidewalk have been completed. S. W. B.

Justices Must Not be Interested

A case was tried in the circuit court this week which called attention to a recent statute prohibiting magistrates from trying cases in which they are interested or rendering judgment on claims placed in their hands for collection. The law provides that such judgment shall be annulled regardless of the amount involved. A justice of the peace in another county was recently removed from office for taking claims for collection and collecting the same upon his own warrants.

Why Not Give Prince William One Convict Camp?

EDITOR MANASSAS JOURNAL: There appeared an article in the Times-Dispatch of Apr. 14 entitled, "Prepare to place convicts on public roads." In this article, we are told, that after May 1, 1913, the Thatcher contract expires. This will give the state 500 convicts to go upon public roads. Highway Commissioner Wilson will establish nine camps at different points in the state. Eight of these camps have already been established and I see that Prince William county, as usual is left out. Why can't this county get the ninth camp? Or will some one say we do not need our roads improved? How long shall we remain in the same old rut? C. J. MEETZE.

CROSSES OF HONOR

The time limit for bestowal of the Southern Cross of Honor upon veterans, widows of veterans and oldest living blood descendants of veterans, has been extended by the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Mrs. Arthur W. Sinclair, president of Manassas Chapter, will be glad to send to applicants blank certificates to be filled out. Please apply at once in order to receive crosses on the next date of bestowal, as applications must be in the hands of our state recorder four weeks prior to June 3.

The Spelling Match Again.

Since it has been decided to have the county spelling match and the graded school track meet on the same day (April 25) it is necessary to make some changes in the first announcement for the spelling match. Both matches will now be held in the morning. The primary will come first, beginning at 9.30 or as near that time as possible. The advanced match will begin at 10.30. The teachers are given until April 18 to get their entries in to Mrs. Dogan.

The committee has decided to exclude from the list of words all French words and phrases, foreign proper names not in common use and words of double meaning. Proper names common use will be included.

As Mr. Tyler will be unable to serve as pronouncer, Miss Heatwole has been appointed with Miss Linstrong as assistant. The teachers are reminded to send to Mr. Tyler the 25 cent assessment for the prizes.
