

DOGS FARMERS' ENEMY

Sheep Killing Animals Keep Down Big Farm Industry Says Mr. W. M. Brown.

That worthless army of dogs which rove over Virginia hills and valleys from January 1 to December 31 of every year, costs our farmers many thousands of dollars in sheep killed, but the greatest loss comes from the check that has been given to the sheep industry.

Just a short while ago there was a dog show in New York. The premium list amounted to eighteen thousand dollars to be given for a lot of pet dogs.

Virginia is an ideal sheep state for the greater portion of it. We have mountains, hills and rolling uplands which furnish abundant grass, but we do not have the sheep, and the dog is the reason for it.

Since I have been in this state I know of several honest, hard working farmers who have shot dogs chasing their sheep only to be brought into court to pay a grand price for killing a worthless cur.

There are a few well bred and well trained dogs which are valuable in handling stock, and some are excellent companions. I am not making any complaint against this class of dogs for they are usually kept under control.

Now, while the year of 1915 is still young, is a good time to bring all the influence possible to bear on our legislators who will be in session to pass some stringent dog law that will protect the sheep business of our country.

gious diseases. This is shown by the fact that during the recent outbreak of the foot and mouth disease there was a quarantine against the dog.

Let us have a law that will force dogs to stay on the farms where they belong. Let us have a law that will make the owner of a dog responsible for the loss that his dog may inflict upon an innocent neighbor.

SELL CIGARETTES TO BOYS

Writer Says Law Observed Of Law Permitting School Boys To Buy Cigarettes.

Empire Manassas Journalist.

I have worked for the Manassas schools for nearly four years and, being a friend of the boys, I would like to say something against their worst enemy, the cigarette.

After a boy gets the dope in his system he will do anything to get a cigarette. Take a man who uses strong drinks but who has obtained his growth and has a good stomach; it takes the liquor a long time to get the best of him.

A short time ago two or three small boys were feeling with a pistol and it was accidentally discharged, wounding one of them.

There are a few well bred and well trained dogs which are valuable in handling stock, and some are excellent companions.

PLANS BIG KNITTING MILL

Old Candy Factory May be Location of $20,000 Hosiery Factory in Near Future.

If two conditions can be complied with Manassas will be the location of a knitting mill engaged in the manufacture of socks and stockings and employing about 100 hands, according to Mr. R. B. Sprinkel.

NEED $7,000.

Mr. Sprinkel states that the second consideration is that one or two of the citizens of Manassas take a financial interest in the enterprise to the extent of $7,000 and with the $13,000 to be furnished by the manager and superintendent a total of $20,000, the necessary amount, will be raised.

The following is an extract from a letter written by Mr. Sprinkel to the Manassas Journal asking for a legal response to the project.

Now then the very first thing on the program is, how many names can we get that would be willing to obtain employment in this plant? I want one hundred names as applicants.

How about this enterprise Mr. Business Men's League? Will you help me get it? I know you will. Call your meeting and I will be glad to come before you and explain details.

Don't you all know that this would mean the beginning for a greater Manassas, and by having such an enterprise as proposed, locate with us, would not only be a great financial benefit within itself, but would be the direct cause for others coming.

Let me add in conclusion for the benefit of applicants, that the work that will be required of you, is of the most refined nature.

R. B. SPRINKEL, Manassas, Va.

TEACHERS HOLD MEETING

Many Interesting Addresses Made at Convention of Teachers of English District.

With delegates from schools in Fairfax, Loudoun, Alexandria, Culpeper, Orange, Fauquier, Stafford, Louisa, and Prince William counties in attendance, the convention of the teachers of the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia is in session here this week.

At the morning session yesterday the subject of the discussion was the important bearing of the Business, Civic and Social Improvement League in Manassas.

IMPORTANCE OF PAYROLL LEAGUES

At the morning session yesterday the subject of the discussion was the important bearing of the Business, Civic and Social Improvement League in Manassas.

A miniature Confederate flag was sent to Governor Stuart about a year ago by J. L. Johnson, a retired lawyer, of New Jersey.

REMEMBER CAPTURED FLAG

The attorney forwarding the letter expressed the hope that it would go to some member of the Lee family, calling attention to the fact that it was being returned just half a century after its capture.

Gov. Stuart at once responded with Miss Mary Curtis Lee, the last surviving daughter of General Robert E. Lee, and asked that she make known her wishes in the matter.

At the afternoon session yesterday Miss Emily Johnson told of the growth and the interest in the canning clubs of Prince William county.

Mr. Maphis dwelt on the importance of teaching reading in the schools and expressed himself as being of the opinion that this part of the curriculum when presented to the child in the proper manner could not be overestimated in its value.

DR. MCCORMICK SPEAKS

At the Baptist church last night, Dr. J. P. McCormick, president of the State Normal School, at East Radford, gave to his audience an address on "Compulsory Education."

THE PROGRAM WILL CLOSE TOMORROW WITH AN ADDRESS ON "TRAINING A PERSONAL ASSET," BY DR. ALFRED L. HALL-QUEST, OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA.

MISS MARY CURTIS LEE ASKS GOVERNOR TO HAVE CONFEDERATE FLAG IN MUSEUM

A miniature Confederate flag was sent to Governor Stuart about a year ago by J. L. Johnson, a retired lawyer, of New Jersey, with a letter stating that the emblem had been taken from Arlington just fifty years prior.

The attorney forwarding the letter expressed the hope that it would go to some member of the Lee family, calling attention to the fact that it was being returned just half a century after its capture.

A BROADSIDE OF BARGAINS

War on high prices has been declared and on Thursday Morning, February 18, 1915, the first gun was fired that promises to inaugurate the greatest selling campaign ever put before the people. Practically everything in the store has been re-marked, making such reductions that it will enable every one to buy. Don't think this is merely a winter reduction sale, for if prices and values mean anything to you, then this will be the greatest white goods sale in years. This is no idle boast, for owing to the number of failures in the business world this year, we have been able to "pick up" unheard of values. Here are the prices, the values are self-evident, so don't let the opportunity go begging. This is the first time in ten years that such standard values have been priced so low.

MANASSAS, VA., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1915.

WEALTH OF THE WEALTHY

A laborer leaving the shops of a large industrial plant glanced curiously at the president of the company who was entering his limousine. The laborer compared in his mind the salary he drew of $2.50 a day with the reported income of the corporation head that amounted to $250 a day. It probably seemed beyond comprehension to the laborer that one could receive such an income and not be lost as to the disposal of the same. Little did he realize the sum received by the man "higher up" was spent quicker, and to a greater extent in proportion, than his daily stipend. The millionaire worried more over his millions than the poor man does over his pennies. Recently a millionaire in Washington became "hard up," so to speak, and he borrowed $80,000, for which it was necessary to pay $10,000. He gave as his reason that he needed money immediately, and was unable to realize on his stock and bonds. A poor man would have no need for such an amount; the wealthy man needed it to keep up appearances. From this it would seem that what appears to be an enjoyment derived by the rich from their money is really the life of being something that they are not. They are only human after all and, in having the use of their wealth, it is but natural that they desire the luxuries procurable at the enormous amounts. They are wealthy only in what they spend. The case of the man who borrowed $80,000 illustrated the fact that he possessed nothing other than excellent credit backed by his property. He could not, however, continue to live on his decreased income, like a poorer man would have been able to do; his family and his friends expected him to continue the life and appearances he maintained when his stocks paid dividends and his property was rented. As a matter of fact, the man in question is now spending the winter with his family at Palm Beach, Fla. He, like all wealthy men, are wealthy only in their worldly possessions. When they die, their hoards of gold is transmitted to their posterity—they take nothing with them. The hereafter knows no difference between a poor man and a wealthy one.

PROTECTING THE READERS

The publications of this country are realizing more and more the necessity of refusing advertising space to those whose primary idea is to prey on the people. These firms gladly pay a high advertising rate to get in touch with the pockets of the people through the columns of a newspaper. Recently, The Journal had presented to it a proposition to have articles furnished on Bible study issued by the so called International Bible Students Association in return for a small amount of advertising space. The offer was refused under any terms and the representative was told that the space for the articles would not be sold at advertising rates. This same association recently sued the Brooklyn, (N. Y.) "Eagle" for damages sustained, because of an article published by that paper and they lost in the courts. It is not only the imposition placed on the readers in purchasing such articles, but it is also a fact that the space could be filled in a better manner. This newspaper, or any other newspaper that has the interests of its subscribers at heart, does not permit schemes, frauds, and deceptions to be worked on its readers. The Post Office Department recently presented figures showing that millions have been lost through people being defrauded by metropolitan advertisers. The publishers alone can stop this by requiring every advertisement to come up to certain requirements.

A VITAL LOCAL QUESTION

In THE JOURNAL this week an article is published written by a local man on the sale of cigarettes to boys under 16 years of age. He states some facts that are serious in their nature and of vital interest not only to the parents of school children but also to the town officials. A law of the state makes it illegal to sell cigarettes to anyone under 16 years of age. This law should be enforced from a legal standpoint if not from a moral one. It was not made to fill up the code of Virginia; it was intended to protect the young minds and bodies from a habit that is acknowledged to be evil in its influence. To know that the law is being violated and not to enforce it is as bad as breaking the law.

THE NEED OF A RESERVE

When Secretary of War Garrison described the mobile army of the United States as about twice the size of the police force of New York city, he epitomized strikingly the weakness of the national defense. Even though the police force of New York were doubled or quadrupled, no one would contend that it would be sufficient to ward off a foreign foe who might attempt a landing on the American shore.

Probably the worst enemies to preparedness are those who cling to the old idea that if any foreign nation attempted a landing, a million Americans would immediately spring to arms. The civil war is cited in proof of this, but no worse argument could be made, because constant appeals were needed, and many months passed before anything like a million men were in the field on both sides.

But if a million men would spring to the colors in a day, what good would it do? Even though they could be furnished with guns and ammunition, they would only be in the way of the trained troops. It is merely a delusion that the great population of New York could ward off foreign troops which might be landed at New York harbor. As a matter of fact, civilians who did not take to their heels immediately would be ordered off the streets by those in charge of the United States army.

The only real force on which the government could draw to repel an invasion would be the organized militia of the various states, which totals 8,323 officers and 119,067 men. All of these officers and men, however, could not be expected to respond. They are under no compulsion to do so, and there is doubt as to the percentage that would answer the call.

Few persons in the United States believe that the United States should have a standing army of the size that is characteristic of European countries. But it is doubtful whether there is a single American who does not deplore the fact that the United States army is not adequate even to the ordinary purposes of defense.

No one would have thought that submarines would be able to break through the big British fleet and bombard Scarborough and other English towns. The United States have larger coast to defend, and it is impossible for the American fleet to patrol every mile of it. It would not be at all impossible—nor would it, in case of war, be any more appreciable than the German adventure—for an enemy to push his transports through and effect a landing on the American shore. Common sense dictates precautionary measures. The very least that the country can do is to provide a plan that will bring the national militia closer to the regular army, and provide for a real reserve force that could be counted upon in time of war.—Washington Post.

WASHINGTON, THE SAGACIOUS MAN

On Monday, of next week, the country will observe the birthday of one who has come to be thought of as our greatest man. George Washington has become immortalized in our hearts as General in Italy. His deeds, thoughts, and his life, have been dwelt on from time to time and in them lie a legacy that has seldom been struck—the foresight of Washington. His mind, like that of a great man, saw beyond the mere formation of a baby republic. He realized before his death that across the waters were greedy and covetous nations ready to lend a helping hand to the young government, but at some later time would be ready to use the United States for their own ends. Especially do we find his sentiments expressed in the warning delivered in the Farewell Address on his approaching retirement from the Presidency. Washington's words are a guide to us at this time when Europe has become embroiled in its affairs. "Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence (I conjure you to believe me, fellow citizens) the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake; since history and experience prove that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government." Such are a few of the words of warning contained in this memorable speech. He continued in part as follows: "Excessive partiality for one foreign nation, and excessive dislike for another, cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil, and even obscure, the arts of influence on the other. . . . Our detached and distant situation invites and enables us to pursue a different course. If we remain one people under an efficient government, the period is not far off when we may defy material injury from external annoyance; when we may take such an attitude as will cause the neutrality we may at any time resolve upon, to be scrupulously respected; when belligerent nations, under the impossibility of making acquisitions upon us will not lightly hazard the giving us provocation; when we may choose peace or war, as our interest, guided by justice, shall counsel." A man of great affairs then, Washington would be a greater one now in applying his policies to our present peril.

-An interesting address by Dr. Alfred Hall-Quest, of the University of Virginia, is promised for the teachers' convention in the Baptist church tonight at 8 o'clock.

-Prof. William Cobham, a member of the Eastern College faculty, addressed the students Wednesday morning on "The Significance of the Treaty of Ghent."

-Dr. E. U. Roop was elected to a membership on the executive committee of the State Sunday School Association at the convention of that body held in Charlottesville last week.

-THE JOURNAL has been requested to state that the name of Percival Lewis, eighth grade, was inadvertently omitted from the February honor roll of the Manassas graded school.

-The amateur actors of Bull Run will give a play entitled "The Cottage Hill School" in the Bull Hill schoolhouse on Friday February 25, beginning at 7:30 P.M. Admission 10 and 15 cents.

-Sheriff C. A. Barber confined in the local jail yesterday Genevieve Wood, of Dumfries, found to be insane by a commission appointed for examining her, and held for the arrival of an official of the state hospital.

-The banner conducted under the direction of the ladies of the M. E. Church, South, last Friday, was a success throughout, the clear profit of the affair amounting to over $125. The decorations of the candy and fancy work booths were the objects of admiration on the part of the

-Mr. C. W. Polen, a representative of the J. H. Crilly Company, of Alexandria, has been transferred from the Tidewater region to the Northern Virginia section and expects to make business trips to Manassas twice a week.

-On Wednesday the banks were closed in Manassas observing the 100 years of peace between the United States and Great Britain. In Richmond at noon the street car traffic was stopped entirely for five minutes.

-A convention of Rural Free Delivery Carriers from Prince William and Fauquier counties will be held in Manassas on Monday. The purpose of the meeting is to form an organization of the 39 carriers of the two counties.

-The next regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Prince William county will be held at the court house on Thursday, March 11. An account of the meeting of yesterday will appear in next week's issue of THE JOURNAL.

-A deal was consummated on Wednesday in which the insurance business of C. J. Meene & Company was purchased by the Karl J. Austin Corporation. The business will be continued under the name of the Karl J. Austin Corporation.

-The Young Women's Auxiliary, of the Manassas Baptist Church, will give a "Book Party" at the Refiner Building next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Everyone is asked to represent some well known book. Admission 10 cents.

-The meeting of the rural carriers announced elsewhere in THE JOURNAL, will be called to order at noon on Monday in the office of Hon. C. J. Meene. President Kaufman, of the Virginia Rural Route Carriers' Association, will address the meeting.

-According to Richmond newspapers Hon. C. J. Meene, of Prince William is a candidate for the speakership of the next House of Delegates, to succeed Speaker Edwin P. Cox, who has announced his intention to retire to private life. There are three other candidates.

-The telephone exchange will not be closed on Monday because of Washington's birthday. The post office will, however, observe the day by maintaining a holiday schedule, the mail delivery window being open from 9 to 12 in the morning and 5 to 6 in the evening.

-The motors of C. M. Larkin and Co., and THE JOURNAL have been installed by Rosenberger and Winkler. They are giving excellent service with a noticeable lack of noise and dirt. Other motors for local business firms are being installed and will soon be in operation.

-A wedding at high noon was celebrated in Manassas on Saturday when Miss Maud V. Dennis and Mr. Walter Graham, both of Prince William county, were united in marriage by Rev. Dr. H. L. Quarles. The age of the bride was given as 28 and that of the groom as being 28.

-Held under charge of shooting William Jackson in the log, on Monday of this week, James Blackwell was released under $3000 bond for his appearance at a trial in the April term of the Circuit Court. The shooting is said to have been the result of a quarrel over a fence line.

-All members of the Manassas chapter, U. D. C., who have not paid their dues of 65 cents for 1915 are earnestly requested by the president to send them without delay to the treasurer, Miss Isabelle Hutchinson. State taxes from all chapters must be paid in January and, as the representation of voting strength of each chapter at the convention is based on the up-membership, this is

-Mr. E. R. Conner purchased today a rarity, or a freak, in a "bald" calf. The animal is almost entirely free from hair with the exception of a bunch on its stomach. It was dropped in such a condition and, although about a month old, shows no signs of adding any covering to its skin.

-An unfavorable report on the appointment of a county demonstrator for the farmers of Prince William was rendered by the committee designated for that purpose by the Board of Supervisors and no action on the matter of a selection was taken by that body yesterday at its meeting.

-Governor Stuart has received a letter from Mr. Arthur Bellwood, who is arranging the Virginia agricultural exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, which announces the state exhibit will be ready for the opening of the exposition tomorrow. The Virginia building is a reproduction of Mount Vernon.

-The basketball game scheduled for tonight between the teams representing Warrenton and Manassas high schools has been postponed on account of the convention of the teachers. It is probable that a game between those teams will be staged on Monday night (Washington's birthday.)

-The local candy kitchen, managed by Messrs. Cather & Fishery, will start the manufacture of candy for the retail trade on March 1. They propose to introduce a line to the public that will be noted for its freshness and purity. Heretofore they have confined themselves strictly to a wholesale business.

-A stranger claiming he was sent to Calpeper county to organize a "Farmer's Union" under the title of the "Calpeper Farmers' Union," recently succeeded in obtaining five dollars from farmers in that section. The get-rich-quick scheme disappeared and neither he nor the five dollars have been seen since.

-Eastern College and Manassas high school will meet in a basketball game Wednesday night in the gymnasium at the college on Wednesday night of next week. A second game will be played between the two quintets February 27 in Conner's Hall, and if a third game is necessary to decide the local championship, it will be played at the college.

The moon will not get full on its last quarter this month and its actions are causing concern. Home-made soap, according to tradition, will not harden without the influence of a full moon. The prohibitionists can claim the effects of the temperance wave that has swept this country as being the reason for the moon not getting "full." Even if it is lacking here there will undoubtedly be a sufficiency of moonshine in Kentucky and Tennessee.

-The parts for the production of "Big Van Winkle," to be played by Mr. Frank S. Davidson and local talent on March 12, have been allotted and study of the piece has been started. Reports from elsewhere indicate that the scenery and staging of the Washington Irving drama will be the best Mr. Davidson has ever put on the local stage. The original part of old "Big" was created by the famous actor, Joseph Jefferson, and this character Mr. Davidson will endeavor to interpret.

-At the Manassas Baptist church on Sunday night, the hymns of Fanny Crosby, who died at her home in Bridgeport, Conn., in her ninety-fifth year, were sung. Eight thousand hymns of Christian worship, sung in Protestant churches through the world, are the work of Miss Crosby. "Saved by Grace," "Blessed Assurance," and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" are typical of her religious verses. Few people knew that it was a blind woman's inspiration. They are prepared to express their Christian devotion. She was blind

Build Up Your Strength

Reckall Wine of Cod Liver Extract contains all the valued drug principles of purest Cod Liver Oil without the nauseating taste of the oil itself, and has proven ideal in treating run-down, weakened conditions, especially in children. Most persons in whom are found tubercular tendencies are to a greater or less extent anemic—the blood pale and impoverished. Reckall Wine of Cod Liver Oil, contains the medicinal virtues of Cod Liver Oil, in addition to the medicinal virtues of Cod Liver Oil, to help supply this deficiency.

In the treatment of children who are pale and listless and who catch cold easily, you may confidently expect an increase in the appetite and weight, and the general appearance of good health very quickly after beginning the use of

For That New Silo—Lehigh's the Thing!

That silo of yours has got to be rain proof and damp proof. It must stand the frosts of Autumn, the snow and cold in Winter. It must be a material that the sharp teeth of ice and snow cannot gnaw through.

There's only one cement—Lehigh. There's only one concrete—the kind made with Lehigh Portland Cement.

Lehigh gives concrete all the qualities named above and more. Its strength increases each year. This guards you against depreciation. Makes the silo almost indestructible. Costs but a little more.

Talk it over with us today. Let us show you Lehigh Economy in silo building. We have some good silo ideas and they are free to you. Call on us now.

We have a full line of Terra Cotta Pipe, Patent Plaster, Lime, Brick, Sand, Stone, Lumber, Mill Work, Galvanized Roofing

The Manassas Schools

HIGH SCHOOL. The days of each week slip away so rapidly that one report of our news is hardly sent to press before another must be ready. While the routine of the daily round has been going on with its usual earnestness, with a few examinations thrown in, the most important event that occurred during the past week was at the assembly on Wednesday morning when Miss Tingling gave an interesting address to the school. She spoke of the disastrous effects due to the use of tobacco, intoxicants and chewing gum. Her treatment of the subject was entirely original and delivered in a very attractive manner. Miss Tingling is an English lady and has been in this country about thirteen years. Her work of arousing a deeper interest in the subject of total abstinence is chiefly among schools and is most telling and fruit-bearing. Let us not forget that temperance means self-control and is the climax of the beautiful list of virtues given us by the Apostle Paul in his Epistle to the Galatians 5, 22 and 23. Let us also remember that self-control does not apply only to the use of intoxicants, tobacco and gum, but also to the temper, words, and even the hidden thoughts of our hearts. C. E. L. H.

FIDDLERS FIDDLE TONIGHT

The "Arkansas Traveler" will take the place of the swinging air, "It's A Long Way To Tipperary," at the Dixie motion picture theatre tonight and the audience will hear Prince William's finest banjo pickers, see the artists of jigging and buck dancing compete for the prizes offered for the best performance shown in these lines. A large number of contestants have entered the contest and sharp competition is promised. The judges, to be selected by the audience, will confine their selections to first, second and third prizes for the fiddling and banjo picking, and one first place for the best dancing. After the performance, a treat is promised in a complete show of the motion picture reels accompanied by music of an augmented orchestra. A big time is anticipated and a large crowd is expected at this revival of an old-time custom. Admission for the entire exhibition will be 25 cents and 35 cents for reserved seats.

LOCAL HIGH MAKES GOOD

Entered among teams representing the best preparatory and secondary schools in and near Washington, the Manassas high school track team succeeded in garnering four points of the total score made at the George Washington University meet held in Washington last Saturday night. Only two Washington high schools and one preparatory school of that city surpassed Manassas in the number of points scored. Messrs. Lynch and Round carried off the honors for Manassas with the former getting second in the 440-yard run against a large field of opponents, and Round finishing third in the 50-yard scholastic race. In the relay race Manassas failed to get a place through a misunderstanding that entered them in competition with teams above scholastic rating.

Junior League of Mill Park to Have Patriotic Program

The Junior League of Mill Park school will have a patriotic program next Friday at 3 P. M. After the program light refreshments will be served. Ten cents will cover expenses. The bell, which Mr. Heinek has so kindly presented to the school, will be rung for the first time that day. There will be a social cup of

Farmers' Institute To Meet

The February meeting of the Farmers' Institute will convene in the Courthouse at 11 a. m. on February 26. Open discussions on "Good Roads" and "Maintaining Soil Fertility," will be considered at the morning session. These discussions are for everybody. At the afternoon session Mr. W. H. Sherman, Superintendent of Weights and Measures for the District of Columbia will speak on Marketing. The rest of the afternoon session will be taken up by the Patrons' League of the county with the discussions on "Medical Inspection in our Rural Schools." Mr. Chas. R. McDonald, of Catharpin, and other prominent speakers of the county will make addresses. Everybody cordially invited. Come. C. H. Y.

Junior League Minstrel Show a Success

The Junior League of Catharpin school gave a very entertaining minstrel show last Saturday. After the show oysters, ice cream and candy were sold. The receipts showed that there were over a hundred people present. The program, which consisted mainly of instrumental music, dances, songs, recitations and jokes, was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. From a financial end the evening was a greater success, since $21.50 was cleared by the league. Part of this money will be given towards the gasoline lights for the school building, which are being purchased by the civi league. The remainder is being kept for the track meet to be held in the spring. This league has been in existence for more than five years and during that time it has raised money for a number of improvements, among which are shades for one of the rooms, a piano, and money toward new single desks and a library. The patrons take a great interest in the league and do all they can to forward it.

Lesson Services at Trinity Church

The Rev. K. J. Hammond, of St. Stephen's church, Culpeper, will hold service at Trinity church, Manassas, on Wednesday, February 24, at 8 p. m. (St. Matthias Day). The rector of Trinity church exchanges pulpits with the Rev. Mr. Hammond. Services every Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., and every Friday at 4 p. m., except Holy Week, when there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion on Holy Thursday at 7:30 p. m., and service on Good Friday at 11 a. m. Friday evening services will be held especially for the children when instruction will be given by the rector on the first principles of religion. Although these services will be held for children yet the older members of the church are cordially invited to attend.

Farmers' and Teachers' Conference at Industrial School

The Farmers' and Teachers' Alliance will hold its regular mid-winter session at the Industrial School on Monday February 22 at 10 A. M. The chief topic for discussion of the farmers will be "The Betterment of the Soil." The principal address will be delivered by Mr. W. M. Brown, Agricultural Field Agent for the Southern Railway, subject: "Making More Money on the Farm." The address on education entitled, "The Negro and the State" will be delivered by Prof. Chas. N. Thomas, instructor in psychology and education in Washington normal schools. A model lesson in reading will be given by Mrs. Eva Fletcher, model teacher in the Washington public schools. THE REMITTANCE MAN

A Story of a Partnership

By IZOLA FORRESTER

Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

Crittenden stepped out of the post-office at Goldsper, with his usual monthly letter from London town in his pocket. In front of the store was Mollie Owen, mounted on her brown pony. The sight was enough to make any man pause, but there was more than her beauty and grace to check the knightman, for a moment later she began to cry.

here the outlook is wide. I will make a good partner, Miss Owen. "Would you promise to be as faithful as you have been the past three weeks?"
