BIG ENTRY LIST GIVEN

Track Meet Between High School And Alumni on Friday Next Will Draw Good Crowd.

Next Friday afternoon on Round athletic field a very interesting track meet will take place between the Manassas high school team and a picked team from the alumni. Eleven events are scheduled to take place and in practically every one the contest for first honors promises to be close. The alumni will undoubtedly put in a very healthy claim for the championship of the meet, and at the same time the high school team will strive to add new laurels to their already renowned prowess by carrying off first honors.

Members of the respective teams are now getting in shape for the contest so you can reasonably count on good exhibitions in all events. The athletic association is putting forward this meet because of the interest which it will undoubtedly attract, and because of a shortage of funds in their treasury. This association should receive the patronage of all the people of Manassas and surrounding country for it is doing a great work in giving the boys clean, wholesome recreation as a formative period in their lives.

Below we give the entry list for the dual track meet between the high school and the alumni. This list, in all probability, will be further augmented by the time the events are ready to be run off.

220-yard dash—High School—Lynch, Simmons and P. Williams; Alumni—Weir, Moon, Cox and Lightner.

The latest forecast of crop conditions for 1915, made by the Weather Bureau of the United States, brings new encouragement to Virginia farmers and foretells increased prosperity for them during the present year. According to this estimate, the wheat crop of Virginia will amount to 14,200,000 bushels for 1915, an increase of 2,904,000 bushels over 1914, while other crops except early pastures, show almost equal increases.

RURAL TEACHER ON MOVE

Majority Have no Intention to Stay Long in Profession—Few Community Leaders.

(From a United States Bureau of Education Bulletin.)

Figures collected by the United States Bureau of Education show that the rural public schools of the country are taught "largely by young unmarried people who have no idea of following teaching as a profession." According to these figures, the average age when teaching is begun is 19 years and the average time devoted to the profession is six and a half years.

The average time for a teacher to remain in any one school, according to Harold W. Foght, who compiled the figures, is less than two years of 140 days each. This average is really less for the majority of teachers and is raised to the year figure by the "few permanent professional teachers alone." The conclusions of Mr. Foght are:

"So long as teachers continue to be peripatetics, the best results in community leadership cannot be expected. A change from amateur to professional teaching in the rural schools would be hastened by giving the teacher a salary that would enable him to provide comfortably for his family, and would be compelling the community, through legal enactments, to erect a teachers' cottage in close proximity to every school plant."

The compiler of the bulletin made special inquiries regarding the housing of teachers in rural communities. Of 2,000 teachers who replied to the inquiry, only 78 lived in homes provided by the community. In these cases, however, the bulletin says, it is demonstrated that the providing of such homes makes the teacher a community leader.

"In the few communities reporting permanent homes," says the bulletin, "the teachers are usually able to project the school into the home and draw the home close to the school. Where teachers' cottages are provided, these aside from the making of the teachers' own lives more attractive, naturally become rallying centres of all community activities."

NEW RURAL MAIL ROUTES

Service Which Soon Goes Into Operation Will Benefit 82,390 Families in U. S.

(The Times-Dispatch)

Establishment of 710 new rural mail delivery routes to serve 82,390 families, and the extension of existing service to reach 5,460 additional families, was announced Sunday night by Postmaster-General Burleson. Nearly all of the new routes will go into operation on June 15.

Enlargement and extension of the rural service was made possible, according to the department's statement, by a readjustment in April and May, resulting in a reduction of operating expenses amounting to $511,262. Many routes have been consolidated with others, but it is said few carriers will be dropped.

Orders are now awaiting the Postmaster-General's signature providing for new rural automobile service in many localities. People on these routes, when living within a radius of twenty-five miles, will enjoy local rates. The first of the routes will go into operation August 1.

Two out of every thousand public high school boys receive military instruction in school, as compared with five in every thousand 15 years ago.

Apply For Your Community

The International Health Commission and the State Board of Health have agreed to give the proposed health campaign to Prince William if it shows sufficient interest in the matter. To that point Dr. P. W. Covington came to Manassas last Saturday. He has established his headquarters here and for the next ten days or more will visit different communities throughout the county in order to acquaint them with his proposition.

He has already visited Haymarket and Nokesville. This evening he speaks at Bethel and Monday evening he will be at Dumfries. Other points included in his itinerary will be Catharpin, Greenwich, Cannon Branch and Independent Hill. Any other community which may desire to have the matter laid before its citizens can arrange for a talk with Dr. Covington, Manassas, Va., if he is notified at once. Only three rural communities will be given the work so it's "up to you" to show just how progressive you are. Be one of the three fortunate ones.

OPERETTA WELL RENDERED "KEEP OFF THE TRACKS"

Younger Pupils of Temple School of Music Pleased Audience Wednesday Evening.

The younger students of the Temple School of Music, under the direction of Miss Margaret Temple Hopkins, Wednesday evening in Conner's Opera House, presented a four-act operetta, "Cinderella in Flowerland." The cast included twenty-five little girls and two little boys whose ages range from four to twelve years.

Each little member rendered his or her part with an ease and charm that quickly won the audience. The costumes were in delicate and gorgeous flower shades, which were particularly effective in the dances at the May-day ball.

Alumni Day—Friday, 18th.

Next Friday, June 18, will be observed as High School Alumni Day in Manassas. In the morning the tennis courts at Ruffner building will be reserved for any alumni who may desire to play. At 1 o'clock there will be a meeting of the alumni at the Ruffner building. This will be a business meeting and it is very important that all alumni be present, for officers will be elected for the ensuing year at this time.

The big track meet between high school and alumni teams will begin about two o'clock and it promises to be exceedingly interesting. The events of the day will come to a close with the annual alumni banquet at the New Prince William Hotel at 9 o'clock. Extensive preparations have been made for this banquet and it promises to be one of the best attended and most successful ever given.

Editorial in Railway Magazine Warns Against Deadly Track Walking.

(Southern News Bulletin.)

The appalling number of fatalities to persons using the tracks of American railways as a common footway could be greatly reduced if the railway employes who have such frequent evidence of the peril of this practice would use their influence against it and both by precept and example seek to discourage it.

Newspapers throughout the land contain accounts of the toll exacted by this dangerous and thoughtless practice. It is a common occurrence to note the headline: "Killed While Walking on Railway Tracks." In a year's time in this country more persons are killed in this way than died at the Battle of Bull Run during the Civil War. In ten years, from 1901 to 1910, 50,025 persons were killed, and 53,427 were injured as a result of trespassing upon railroad tracks.

On the tracks of the Southern Railway Company during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, 155 trespassers were killed, 143 seriously injured, and 37 slightly injured. In the year ending June 30, 1914, 126 were killed, 181 seriously injured, and 28 slightly injured, a total for the two years of 281 killed, 324 seriously injured, and 65 slightly injured.

Contrary to the current belief that most of the trespassers killed are tramps, the facts show that a majority of them are useful citizens, wage earners, and school children, some of them children of employes.

The railways are powerless unless public sentiment turns against this practice. From the time a child learns to walk and is able to understand the lesson of this danger should be as forcibly impressed as the warning that fire burns or that a jump from an upstairs window is hazardous. And from the cradle on up, the lesson should have the careful attention of every person:

It is dangerous to walk on the railway track.

Railway employes who know the truth of this statement better than others are in a position to give valuable assistance towards the correction of the practice by not walking on tracks themselves, by teaching their children not to, and by using every opportunity to impress the danger on the public.

Suffragists from all parts of the country reached Chicago Saturday for a conference of the National American Women's Suffrage Association which opened Sunday. Chief of the subjects discussed was the policy of the national association in the next congressional campaign.

THE HEALTH PROPOSITION

Dr. Covington, of International Health Commission, Working Up Campaign.

Dr. P. W. Covington, representing the International Health Commission and the State Board of Health, arrived in Manassas last Saturday morning. He comes as an "advance agent" for the establishment of the proposed health campaign in three rural communities of Prince William, and it is his purpose to present the matter to every community in the county which desires to hear it. He assures us that the campaign will be given to Prince William if the people of the county want it.

To ascertain which three communities are most desirous of the campaign, he has planned to speak at eight different points throughout the county. At two of the places, Haymarket and Nokesville, he has already spoken and to-night he speaks at another, Bethel. Monday evening he will speak at Dumfries. Other points where he will give his talk within the next few days are Catharpin, Greenwich, Cannon Branch and Independent Hill. Any other community can have the proposition explained by requesting Dr. Covington, Manassas, Va., to that effect.

At Haymarket, he was very cordially received and he spoke very encouragingly of the way the people of that neighborhood turned out. At Nokesville yesterday evening, he also laid the matter before the people and left it to them to work up a good report from that community. He will remain in this territory long enough to find out how the people stand in the matter; when it is decided which neighborhoods are to receive the work, he will leave and other experts will come for the active part of the campaign.

The other communities in which Dr. Covington will speak will be notified a few days previous to the evening chosen. He desires that as many people of the respective communities come out to his talk as possible. It is the desire of the State Board that no community be slighted in any way, hence any community can have the proposition laid before it if it so desires.

VIRGINIA BACKS WILSON

People of Old Dominion Want "Peace With Honor," Says Senator Martin.

(The Washington Star.)

"Peace with honor" is the desire of the people of the Old Dominion, according to Senator Martin, of Virginia, chairman of the appropriations committee of the Senate, who, last Friday night, had a conference with former Secretary of State Bryan. Senator Martin said that the people of his state would stand by President Wilson in whatever course he determined upon in connection with Germany and Mexico.

"I have just returned from Virginia," said Senator Martin, "and I found there practically no sentiment in favor of war with either Germany or Mexico. The people stand for peace, but peace with honor, and they are hoping the President and other officials of the administration will be able to follow that path."

Senator Martin said this expressed his own views. He said that former Secretary Bryan did not express an opinion on the matter during his conference with him, but added: "I take it for granted that he is also of the same mind."

WAGENER ELECTED MAYOR

Six of Present Council Will Retain Their Seats Under the New Administration.

The election of town officials, which occurs once every two years on the second Tuesday in June, came upon Manassas and its townpeople almost unawares this week. It was not recognized that an election was due for Tuesday until Saturday of last week.

At a mass meeting on Sunday night, Mr. O. D. Waters was brought out as a candidate for mayor and some change was made in the personnel of the council ticket. At another mass meeting on Monday night, the name of Mr. W. C. Wagener was put forward for mayor and again there was some change in the names of the councilmen proposed. Upon Mr. Wagener's nomination, Mr. Waters withdrew in his favor.

When the voters went to the town hall on Tuesday, they noticed two things in especial. 1. The great number of tickets in the field. 2. The limited number of qualified voters.

The candidates for mayor were Mr. W. Hill Brown, the present mayor, and Mr. W. C. Wagener, who was mayor of Manassas several years back. For councilmen a great number of names were proposed, including all of the present members, whose names were on one or another of the lists.

In all there were between 120 and 125 who were qualified to vote in the election of Tuesday. About 100 men were disqualified because of not having paid their poll tax or not having prior to the election. Quite a number of men who are rarely missing when it comes to casting a vote, fell victims of the law this time.

The election passed off quietly and little or no excitement was manifested at any time during the day. A total of only 31 votes were cast. The officials of the election had a hard job awaiting them when the ballot box was opened for no less than 36 citizens of Manassas had received a single vote or more for councilman. When the task was finally completed after nine o'clock, it was announced that Mr. W. C. Wagener had been elected mayor and Messrs. E. R. Conner, A. Speiden, C. M. Larkin, O. E. Newman, C. E. Naah, C. R. C. Johnson, W. M. Wheeler, T. F. Coleman and H. D. Wenrich councilmen. The newly elected officials will take charge of the town's affairs on September 1.

The voting at Tuesday's election in detail:

FOR MAYOR—Messrs. W. C. Wagener, 54; W. Hill Brown, 34; O. D. Waters, 2, and James E. Nelson, 1.

FOR COUNCILMEN—Messrs. E. R. Conner, 78; A. Speiden, 78; C. M. Larkin, 72; O. E. Newman, 69; C. E. Naah, 68; C. R. C. Johnson, 65; W. M. Wheeler, 65; T. F. Coleman, 60; H. D. Wenrich, 42; H. P. Davis, 34; D. H. Prescott, 31; E. A. Brand, 31; R. S. Hynson, 30; D. J. Arrington, 21; H. T. Davies, 7; C. A. Sinclair, 7; J. R. Evans, 5; Bryan Gordan, 5; E. H. Hibbs, 4; C. C. Leachman, 3; W. N. Lipscomb, 3; L. B. Williams, 3; I. E. Cannon, 2; Dr. J. M. Lewis, 2; Geo. C. Round, 2; O. D. Waters, 2, and the following one vote each: Messrs. T. J. Ashford, W. H. Brown, Henry Camper, R. L. Gaither, B. Giddings, W. F. Hibbs, M. L. Johnson, G. R. Ratchiff, F. C. Rorabach and W. C. Wagener.

The American Bible Society, ninety-nine years old, last year it distributed 5,370,000 Bibles and religious documents. During its life, the society has passed out more than 100,000,000 volumes.

HEREFORDS FOR PIEDMONT

Cattlemen in Piedmont Virginia Find Hereford a Very Valuable Breed.

BY W. M. BROWN, Assistant Agricultural Agent, Southern Railway Company. During the past few years there has been an increasing interest throughout Piedmont Virginia in growing and feeding beef cattle.

The white faces seem to have been more popular in this section than the other herds which is shown by the greater number of herds of pure bred Herefords, and by the predominance of white faces in grade cattle shipped.

Lusio Hill, of Madison county, Va., and owner of the "Indian Face Herd" of Herefords, has been a leading factor in pushing his favorite cattle into a great number of counties.

In 1903, a lot of cattle were bought from a Mr. Thrift, of Madison county. These cattle were sired by a pure bred Hereford bull which had been bought in Maryland.

Soon after this Mr. Thrift gave a fairly well bred bull calf to Mr. Hill, knowing that it would get the very best attention, and later create a demand for some fine bred cows.

The first bull bought was Marcus Salisbury 31st, raised by Murray Brocock; next was Moxley, son of Maberland, bred by S. W. Anderson, of Bicker Mills, W. Va.

In order to bring into Virginia and Piedmont Virginia more and better Herefords, Mr. Hill secured a Hereford sale at Orange, Va., for 1913. This sale was held under the auspices of the Atlantic Hereford Breeders Association.

140 head of cattle. They have made at least one dozen new breeders of pure bred Herefords, and more than fifty farmers now have a pure bred Hereford bull at the head of their herds as a result of the sale.

Mr. Hill still has many grade cows upon which he crosses the Hereford and secures an excellent feeder. The high price of feeder cattle, with a degree of uncertainty as to the price of fat cattle, has scared many men out of the business.

Dr. Joseph Dixon, of Orange county, is a cattle raiser and feeder, and he claims to have solved the problem of high priced feeders.

"My feeders do not cost me more than five cents per pound," said Dr. Dixon, "for I raise them on rough feeds and grass and clovers." On the Dixon farm there are twenty cows, all grades, and a pure bred Hereford bull, bought at the Orange sale.

When the cattle are two years old, they are put into the feed lot and fattened on C. S. M., corn and cob meal, and hay and corn fodder. No feed is purchased until the cattle go into the feed lot.

Mr. Hill's method of both raising and feeding breeding stock will be of interest for he keeps records to show just where his profit comes from.

The two-year-old steers are wintered on wheat and oat straw and fodder with a very small quantity of "short corn." It is remarkable how well these steers come through the winter.

The calves that come during the winter are fed as soon as they will eat a ration, consisting of six parts crushed corn, three parts crushed oats and one part C. S. M.

Mr. Hill has never kept a nurse cow for any of his pure bred cows, but expects to this summer, since he has some very fine calves which he wishes to push in growth.

A set of books was shown to give me an idea of the cost of keeping these cattle. The average cost of keeping a cow six months during the summer was $6.00 and $18.00 for the six months of winter, making a total cost of $24.00 to keep a cow and calf.

the year. This included pasture, straw and fodder. "This ration does not put on very much flesh, but keeps them in good growing condition," continued Mr. Hill.

"Let me tell you what I am going to do this summer," said Mr. Hill. "I have plans made for building a new barn 100 feet long and for putting up a large silo with capacity for feeding all of my cattle at least four and one-half months during the winter."

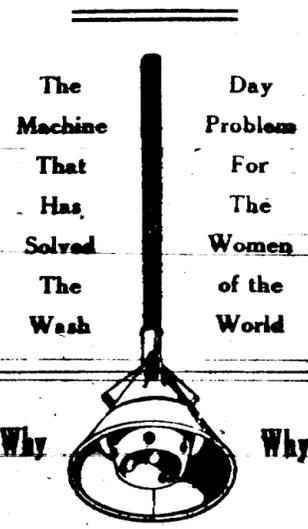

The stover has been fed out over the pastures where the unclean portion of stalks and manure is left on the ground, which is a very good plan, but when ensilage is fed, the manure, and a better quality of manure, will be left in the barn to be hauled out to any field needing manurial assistance most.

It is needless to say that Mr. Hill practices a crop rotation of corn, wheat, clover and grass for two years. Like other stock farms, the fertility of his soil has been kept up and he gets an average of thirty bushels of wheat, sixty to seventy-five bushels of corn and one and one-half tons of hay.

SHOW YOUR COMMUNITY SPIRIT

An opportunity is now afforded each rural community in Prince William of showing just how much public spiritedness it possesses. We believe that Prince William is a great county, and we know that you believe it too. A test is now at hand whereby your community can lay claim to being one of the most enterprising and wide-awake communities of this well-known county, and at the same time bring renown to old Prince William. What awaits you is the opportunity of getting a complete sanitary survey of your section.

The International Health Commission working in conjunction with the State Board of Health has decided to give the proposed health campaign to Prince William, if Prince William shows that it wants the campaign. The work will be restricted to those three rural communities which show the greatest interest and which promise the greatest cooperation. In order to prevent any partiality being shown every community will be given an equal chance, and whether your community gets it or not will depend on how badly you want it.

A talk is now being made at several places in the county by an official of the International Health Commission. Those who hear this talk will become fully acquainted with the proposition. Now any community in the county can have the matter laid before its citizens if they only make known their desire. Certainly no community should stand back on this. Hear the talk, then if you are not interested you will at least know what it's all about. We venture to say, however, that once the matter is laid before you, once that you see what is offered each home and each individual in your community without a penny's cost to you, you will be only too eager to work for your community in trying to get the campaign.

Prince William is indeed fortunate in being offered the campaign by the State Board of Health. The prompt action of the Board of Supervisors coupled with the active interest shown by numerous individuals and societies impressed the State Board of the wide-awakeness of our county. Now it is necessary to find out which rural sections can lay claim to being the most wide-awake. We hope the competition between the different communities will be keen. Here's a chance to make a good name for your community and it behooves you, Mr. Rural Reader, to get out and work for your community.

It cannot be impressed to vividly upon the different communities that this work of stirring up interest must be done with dispatch, else the neighboring communities may prove themselves the more progressive. Wake up and prove that you and your community are wide-awake; your chances for success will then be very good and you will at least go down in history as having striven for the welfare of your fellow men. Work now so that you will not have to express your regrets later.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION

Not until last Saturday did Manassas awake to the fact that a municipal election was to be held on Tuesday. It is, at whatever angle viewed, quite a reflection upon the citizens of our active and growing town that such a matter as an election of town officials should have altogether escaped notice until the election was virtually upon them. Never before has an election in Manassas crept so closely upon the citizens without their realizing its nearness.

One lesson was taught by this election which will not be forgotten by many for some time to come. This lesson was most vividly impressed upon several of the citizens of the town when they realized that by not having paid their poll tax six months prior to the election day, they were disqualified and hence could not have a say in the choosing of the town officials for the coming two years. 'Twas strange how so many men who are not usually caught "napping" fell victims to the law this time.

This is explained by the fact that the poll tax, in many instances, was allowed to become overdue and subject to five per cent penalty along with the taxes on personal property and real estate. No election of importance having been anticipated until the primary and the fall elections no haste was made to pay the taxes until a bare six months before these elections, and of course this was too late for voting in the election just held. Altogether in the neighborhood of one hundred men were excluded from participating in Tuesday's election because of not having paid their poll tax six months prior to that date.

A voter should always pay his poll tax when it becomes due. He may not see where he will make use of his franchise at an early date, but he can never tell when the occasion may arise. Not having paid your poll tax can work great hardship upon you and your community. You, therefore, owe it to yourself and your fellow citizens to keep your poll tax paid up so that you can vote whenever an election is called. Certain "would-be" voters at Tuesday's election are now sufficiently impressed with the importance of this, but for others who may at some future time wax careless, we draw attention to this particular phase of a voter's responsibility.

FLAG DAY NEXT MONDAY

Monday will be celebrated in many places throughout the Union as Flag Day. June 14 is the anniversary of the adoption of the flag and we do well to set apart this day each year on which appropriate exercises are held in schools, and on which patriotic societies and others lay special emphasis upon the Stars and Stripes, the significance of the grand old flag, its glories of the past, and its inspirational warnings for the future. Of late years the movement has gained great impetus so that now in every great city, Flag Day makes itself manifest to the stranger as well as to the school child.

What is Manassas planning for Flag Day? The flag should most certainly fly from the staff of the new town hall on that day. Citizens who possess flags should also make a conspicuous use of them on Monday. We have made no inquiries, but we trust that no school in the county which will still be in session on Monday will neglect to set aside a part of the day for appropriate exercises wherein a love of country and for Old Glory will be emphasized. Let no teacher miss this opportunity of teaching a love for country to her pupils.

The sight of the Stars and Stripes and the word patriotism are so closely associated together in our country that Flag Day is largely celebrated as a day of patriotism. In this regard it may be said that never in our history has there been a greater need for the teaching of patriotism in the schools. We do not advocate a teaching of that so-called "patriotism" which consists in the mere fighting for one's country at the "drop of a hat," but we do advocate the installing in the minds of the young a love for our country and its honor, and if necessary the sacrificing of all self-interest for the country's sake.

Let us revere the Stars and Stripes and let us keep the beauty and meaning of the flag ever in mind so that in peace or war each individual citizen will daily wage war against the many evils which would cause our country trouble in times of peace as well as in times of war. There are plenty of battles for right and honor, which need waging every day in our land, and if Old Glory can serve as an inspiration in fighting these battles, we feel that Flag Day can well afford to be celebrated in a fitting manner every June 14.

WONDER if Wilson will again wish for someone to knock Bryan effectively into a cocked hat?

To "Ford" through life is what more and more people are doing to-day, but your Uncle Jeremiah had no preference in the matter, with him it was a case of rolling up and wading through.

An interesting decision was handed down by the state supreme court regarding the estate of the late Mrs. Louise Schultz, which was first tried in the circuit court of Loudoun county in April, 1914. Representing the plaintiff were Messrs. C. A. Sinclair and E. A. Hutchison, and John W. Rost was on the defense. The case involved the non-payment of a note given by Costello to Bullock, which note Bullock sold to Ratcliffe. ### TAKE NOTICE

The way to make two blades of grass grow where one does now: Buy the celebrated Magnesium Lime from Leesburg Lime Co., the lime that has been sold in Loudoun and Fairfax for the past twenty-five years, and out produced them all, and the reason for it is because it contains Magnesium and Oxide of Iron in right proportion to Calcium Carbonate, and the United States Agricultural Department in Year Book 1901, page 161, states that Magnesium is absolutely necessary to plant growth and nothing else will take its place. Send orders to W. T. Thompson, Leesburg, Va., or direct to us and same will have prompt attention.

High Tribute to Colonel Andrews Paid by Directors of Southern Railway

THE LATE COLONEL A. B. ANDREWS

New York.—The board of directors of Southern Railway Company paid a high tribute to the memory of the late Col. A. B. Andrews, first vice-president and for many years a member of the board, who died at his home in Raleigh, N. C., on April 17, 1915, in the following resolutions: "In Memoriam, Alexander Boyd Andrews.

"Alexander Boyd Andrews was born in Franklin county, North Carolina, on the 23d day of July, 1841. He tendered his services to the Confederacy in April, 1861, and in June of that year, before he was 20 years of age, was made a second lieutenant in Company B of the First Regiment of North Carolina cavalry, Confederate States Army. He served with distinguished gallantry until, in September, 1863, he was shot through the chest and lung by the fragment of a shell at Jack's Shop, near Gordonsville, Va. After recovering from this serious wound he found, when peace came, that the whole industrial life of the South prostrate as a result of war and the people among whom he lived confronted with the task of rebuilding their social and economic life, and of creating a new industrial system on new lines. He became a factor of prime importance in this creative and reconstructive work. Reducing the necessity for transportation in any plan of reorganization and reconstruction, he entered railroad life. His first service was with the Raleigh and Gaston and with the Raleigh and Augusta railroads, and as their superintendent for eight years he was the principal factor in their rehabilitation after the ravages of war.

With the R. and D. "His efficiency in this work brought him an offer of promotion from the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company, and in 1875 he became superintendent of its North Carolina division. He remained with this and other predecessors of Southern Railway Company and with the Southern itself uninterruptedly until his death, a period of forty years. Beginning with the office of superintendent, he worked his way up through various intermediate grades until he became first vice-president and a director of this company, which position he held at the time of his death and had held for many years.

"His active railroad work had thus extended over a period little short of half a century. "During that time the principal construction and organization work of the railroads of the South has been done, and the industrial life of the South itself has been reorganized and rebuilt. In this accomplishment Colonel Andrews was a vital force. Possessing a strong and dominating personality, virile and commanding in character and intellect, he threw himself into his great work with indomitable will and purpose. His achievements, which were many, richly entitle him to a place among the great constructive forces of his State and section.

"Among these achievements was the completion of the Western North Carolina railroad, from Old Fort, over the mountains, through Asheville, to Point Park, and its branches. This although his efforts was opened up the great industrial section of western North Carolina. Population and development and industries followed its pioneer act, and every person in that rich and inviting territory is now, and their descendants through all the coming years will be, enjoying the conveniences, the opportunities and the blessings made possible by this great piece of constructive work. The Western North Carolina Railroad will remain a monument to the useful and honorable achievements of Colonel Andrews, who was its builder.

"His life was not an easy one, for it was his lot to encounter and overcome great difficulties. His activity, his positive and purposeful character and his touch with great things brought him into sharp conflicts with important forces. In the midst of them all he bore himself with a courage and virility which commanded universal respect and enabled him to crown his efforts with notable success. In every trust and in every relation of life he was loyal and faithful and true.

On the Personal Side. "On his personal side he was a man of compelling and attractive personality. He was generous and beloved. He married in 1869 Miss Jessie M. Johnston, daughter of Col. William Johnston, of Charlotte, N. C., who was president of the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta Railroad Company. With her as his helpmate he built up an exceptionally happy and beautiful home life, which he distinguished by the most cordial and liberal hospitality.

"He was a devoted husband and father and followed his children, even after they were grown, with undiminished parental interest and solicitude.

"He took a deep interest in the welfare of Confederate veterans and in the establishment and maintenance for them of the Confederate Soldiers' Home in Raleigh.

"Although himself deprived of the benefits of a college education, he was an earnest friend and supporter of the University of North Carolina, being for many years a member of its Board of trustees and of its executive committee.

"The cause to realize the value of a religious life and conducted himself as a communicant with the Protestant Episcopal church, being an active and zealous member of the Church of the Good Shepherd of Manassas, in which in the latter years of his life his munificence helped to provide a new and stately place of worship.

Devoted to Native State. "He was devoted in his attachment to the state of North Carolina. No exigency of business or of personal interest was strong enough to persuade him to make his home elsewhere. He believed in the sturdiness, the sense of justice and the patriotism of its people, and if at any time they, in his judgment, erred, his faith in the ultimate triumph of their sense of right was unwavering and supreme. He was always willing to leave his name and fame in their keeping, in the confidence that their ultimate judgment would necessarily approve and appreciate his purposes and his work.

"His death has brought universal sorrow and regret wherever he was known, but especially in the South, where his life was spent and his work most largely done.

"The secretary is directed to express to the surviving members of Colonel Andrews' family the respect and sympathy of this board and to transmit to them a suitably composed and attested transcript of this obituary."

Utilize the Waste Places.

On many farms there are waste corners here and there that could well be set to trees that would in the course of a few years, be a source from which to get an occasional beam pole, fence post or other stick, and finally, if not bearing trees are planted, a fine lot of nuts would be produced, the basswood by the industry of the bees would furnish the table with the very sweet honey, or, in the case of the sugar maple, sugar, of which there is none equal, could be made, and during this time the trees would be growing into valuable wood or timber.—Exchange.

THE CLIFTON DOG AFFAIR

W. B. Doak Gives Version of Canine Chase and Attempted Killing of A Sheep Dog.

[The Herndon Observer] The Observer has received a communication from W. B. Doak, of Clifton station, giving his version of the attempted dog-killing in that neighborhood recently.

Mr. Doak and Mr. Bauserman had been exchanging work, and it so happened they were planting corn in a field which lay between Clifton and Mr. Bauserman's sheep pasture.

Although led a chase of a mile and a half, Mr. Doak was given wind and strength to keep the dogs in sight, following them right to houses where they entered.

Returning to Bauserman's home, both of these gentlemen then came to Clifton, asking the mayor of the village, Mr. Duke Buckley, for a hearing of proof— which he refused to give.

Not believing it right that these dogs be allowed liberty, Mr. Bauserman and Mr. Doak went to place where first dog turned in and asked permission to kill it.

It did not appear in the trial that Mr. Doak went into Ford's premises, or touched the dog. At the instigation of men of the town, some boys caused Mr. Doak's pony to break loose, so getting out of buggy to catch him, he was not positive which dog was the culprit, but when another closely resembling him, was shown, he readily identified the dog he had followed.

"Expecting the mayor to at least restrain the dogs, Mr. Bauserman was unfortunate in not being able to kill the dog outright, as he supposed he had done. In the first place he attempted to put the dog in buggy, until he tried to bite him. Mr. Bauserman, nor any other right-feeling man, would prolong the suffering of even a sheep-worrying-killing dog. But, to those whose tender hearts have so ached for this animal, may I ask how much sympathy they have ever bestowed upon the defenseless sheep so often mangled and torn by such wandering curs, or how much thought has been given motherless little lambs, left frightened and hungry after these blood-thirsty raids?"

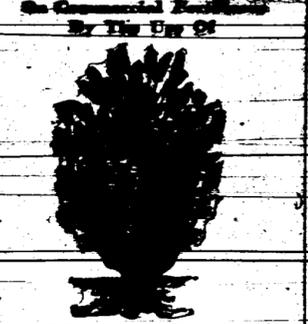

NOTE—After taking the above article, word for word, from The Herndon Observer, we were requested to add the following communication from Mr. Doak:

EDITOR JOURNAL:—The typesetter has erred in setting up paragraphs of this report in that it appears that there was identification of dogs going on then. On the contrary, the only dog present was the one delivered over to us peaceably and already tied behind the buggy and out of town. Two days after an effort was made to mislead Mr. Doak as to the identity of the dogs but without success.

THE FLY NUISANCE AGAIN

Increase in Number of Flies for Next Few Weeks Necessitates Precaution.

The next few weeks, according to officers of the State Board of Health, will be marked by a great increase in the number of flies and by a consequent increase in typhoid fever, against which special precautions must now be taken.

Health officers say that the recent cool spell has undoubtedly retarded the development of the fly-nuisance, since it is a well known fact that in cool weather the period necessary for the growth of a full grown fly from the egg is very much prolonged.

"The fly nuisance," states the Board in its weekly bulletin, issued Wednesday, "is a matter of the gravest consequence in this climate by reason of the general carelessness in the disposal of sewage. A fly is a pest at any time, but he is a danger only when he has had access to filth through the failure of men in taking proper precautions. If filth were not scattered about, the fly could not play so large a part in the spread of typhoid fever. This means that in communities where it is impossible to prevent the breeding of flies, the all important thing is to keep filth from filth by proper sewage disposal and to bar from the home those flies that may have come in contact with filth."

When residents of Manassas are willing to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills in this paper, is there any good reason to try a kidney, backache or bladder remedy that is not as well recommended?

This trap consists of a wire-meshing drum, about two feet high, raised about an inch from the ground and supplied at the bottom with a wire cone, the top of which leads into the drum. The bait is put under this cone, the flies crawl toward the bait and then go up into the trap. As many as 5,000 flies have been caught in a single day in one of these traps. This device, which is merely a larger model of the old-fashioned "bee-gum trap," is illustrated in a special bulletin issued by the Board and sent free upon request.

Publicly Testify, It's Evidence Not to be Ignored.

WEDDING OF MISS HALL. Miss Agnes Wirt Hall, daughter of Mrs. Corvel Hall, and Edna Alfred Helen Lawrence, U. S. N., were married Saturday afternoon, June 5, in St. Anne's church, Annapolis, Md.

The church was decorated with palms and vases of white roses were on the altar. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. McComas, rector of St. Anne's church, assisted by Chaplain Cassard, of the U. S. Naval Academy.

The bride, who was given away by her grandfather, Admiral Thom Williamson, U. S. N., wore a gown of white satin, draped with chantilly lace, the bodice of satin being trimmed with pearl embroidery and old family lace. Her court-train was embroidered in pearls and she wore a tulle veil trimmed with Duchesse lace and orange blossoms. She carried a large bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor was Miss Julia Williamson Hall, a sister of the bride. Her dress was of blue taffeta veiled with flowered chiffon with a balero jacket of taffeta over a tulle bodice. Her flowers were yellow roses, tied with blue ribbons, and her hat was a large leghorn, trimmed with blue velvet and pink roses.

The bridesmaids were Misses Marie Hall Wilson, Mary Graham Burage, Alice Brice and Virginia Mallins. They wore yellow taffeta veiled with the flowered chiffon with large leghorn hats, and carried yellow roses.

The ushers, who wore the full dress uniform of the navy, were Ensigns Philip W. Yostman, Basil Perry, John Meyer, George Manning, Alexander Early, Ernest K. Libenow, Russell H. Blair, Ralph Kiely.

A reception followed at the home of Admiral and Mrs. Thom Williamson, 185 Prince George street, Annapolis. The house was elaborately decorated with floral and roses. The guests were received by Mrs. Corvel Hall, who wore a dress of embroidered chiffon and lace and a black lace hat trimmed with pink roses.

The bride's going away gown was of puffy-colored silk poplin, with small toque trimmed with light daisies. After the honeymoon they will go North where Ensign Lawrence will join his ship, the U. S. battleship Michigan.

The young bride, whose summer home "Sharley," is a short distance from Haymarket, has the congratulations and good wishes of many warm friends here, and it was a disappointment that the wedding did not take place from St. Paul's church as was at first arranged.

An interesting feature of the wedding reception was the announcement of the engagement of the maid of honor, Miss Julia Williams Hall, to Ensign Roswell Hadfield Blair, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Blair, of Milwaukee, M.
