ALUMNI ENJOY FEATURES

Business Meeting, Track Meet And Annual Banquet Give Variety to Day.

Last Friday was Alumni Day with the Manassas High School. Early in the afternoon, the alumni gathered at the Ruffner building and held a business meeting. At this meeting and at previous meetings during the past year the following former pupils of the high school were voted in as associate members: Misses Kate and Hattie Wilcox, Lillian Leachman, Mary Larkin, Lucy Buck and Mrs. C. W. Dalton.

The class of 1915, consisting of Miss Marie Leachman and Messrs. Roswell Round and Maurice Harrell, were welcomed as active members of the association at the meeting of Friday. The principal business feature of the afternoon was the election of officers for the coming year. The officers elected were as follows:

Mr. Wheatley M. Johnson, president; Miss Ruth P. Smith, vice-president; Miss Mary J. Cox, secretary, and Mr. Hunton Cox, treasurer.

The executive committee—The foregoing officers, Miss Marie Leachman and Mr. Parlee Weir.

The athletic committee—Misses Ruth P. Smith and Dorothy Haydon and Mr. Clarence W. Wagner.

THE HIGH SCHOOL-ALUMNI TRACK MEET

The track meet between the high school and the alumni proved quite an interesting affair to the few spectators who were present. The day was a very warm one, however, and the pupils and teachers were so tired out from the strenuous work of the week that the track meet did not receive the attention and encouragement which it otherwise would have received.

Some of the events proved quite interesting because of the close competition and because of the good time made. The mile run, which was won by Mr. R. Johnson with ease, proved especially interesting. The score of the meet was 60 to 20 in favor of the high school.

The summary of the meet:
100-yard dash—Round, High School, 1st; Lynch, High School, 2nd, and Williams, High School, 3rd. Time—11 2-5 seconds.

220-yard dash—Round, High School, 1st; Moon, Alumni, 2nd, and Bean, High School, 3rd. Time—23 3-5 seconds.

440-yard dash—Lynch, High School, 1st; Simmons, High School, 2nd, and B. Johnson, Alumni, 3rd. Time—61 seconds.

890-yard run—Lynch, High School, 1st; B. Johnson, Alumni, 2nd, and W. Johnson, Alumni, 3rd. Time—2 minutes and 27 seconds.

One mile run—B. Johnson, Alumni, 1st; Green, High School, 2nd, and H. Johnson, Alumni, 3rd. Time—5 minutes and 20 seconds.

High jump—Lynch, Green, Round and Meets, all of High School, tied for first place at 5 feet.

Broad jump—Round, High School, 1st; Williams, High School, 2nd, and Simmons, High School, 3rd. Distance—18 feet.

Pole vault—Round and Green, both of High School, qualified at 8 feet. The other five entrants failed to qualify.

Shot put—Moon, Alumni, 1st; Round, High School, 2nd, and Williams, Alumni, 3rd. Distance—35 feet.

Miss Elizabeth Hutchinson Hostess.

"Farmers' Repose," the home of Miss Elizabeth Hutchinson, looked indeed restful and inviting on the afternoon of June 17, when the Hickory Grove Good Housekeepers' Club, of which she is a member, met with her. Mrs. John Adams and Miss Fannie Galleher were the club's guests. The president presiding, the roll was called and the minutes approved, after which several matters of business were transacted.

The topic, "Woman's Suffrage," was very exciting for such a warm day, the guests as well as the members becoming much enthused on the subject. Cooling refreshments, daintily served, ended the discussion, and, although some of us were very much "on the fence" as to the advisability of the woman's vote, yet there was no hesitancy in deciding that Miss Hutchinson made a very thoughtful and charming hostess.

NOKESVILLE GETS FIRST

Selected for First Sanitary Survey—Bethel and Haymarket Send Good Lists.

To the community of Nokesville has been given the first sanitary survey of the three to be made in Prince William this summer under the direction of the State Board of Health. Nokesville sent in a fine list of signers and the work is to begin in that community next week.

Other communities have shown great interest in this health work and are sending in good lists. Bethel has forwarded a very complete list and will very likely be chosen as one of the remaining two, but nothing definite can be promised in this regard. Haymarket has turned in a good list also, and will be considered in the decision to be made later. A few communities have not turned in their lists yet; it is hoped that they will send them in as soon as conveniently possible.

Groveton is to be visited this evening and if no further requests are made for the health talk this will conclude the preliminary campaign. This is absolutely the last chance for having the matter presented your community.

The active work of the campaign will begin in Nokesville next week. The area included in the survey will first be mapped very carefully by the men in charge. The microscopist will open up his office in the public school building and there he will make the examinations. Further details of the work will be given from time to time during the survey.

At a meeting of the School Electoral Board held this morning to take action upon the appeal from the decision of the Manassas District School Board to build a new school house at Groveton should certain conditions be met, it was

Resolved, that in the sense of the School Board of Prince William county that said appeal was premature by reason of the resolution of the said trustees not being a final order and is simply an expression of opinion should certain conditions exist."

DIME SOCIAL TO-NIGHT

A dime social is to be held at the home of Mrs. Geo. C. Round this evening. This social, given under the auspices of the Manassas W. C. T. U., will begin at 8 o'clock and an interesting program of songs, recitations, etc., is promised. Refreshments. Everyone is invited to attend.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Closing Exercises of Manassas Agricultural High School Held Monday Evening—Diplomas Given to Three Graduates—Scholarship Awarded.

The auditorium of Eastern College was filled with a large crowd on Monday evening when the final exercises of the Manassas Agricultural High School and the Normal Training Department were held. The doors opened at 7:30 and soon people began to come in order to get a good seat. By 8 o'clock the hall was rapidly filling and shortly after this nearly every available seat was occupied.

The girls and boys of the high school assembled at the Ruffner building and marched in double file to the auditorium where they were ushered by Messrs. Clarke Johnson and Alfred Prescott to their places on the stage and in the front rows of the audience, respectively. After this the graduating class was ushered to their place on the stage and the faculty to seats in front of the hall.

The stage was beautifully decorated for the occasion. As a background three flags were draped, a Virginia seal being in the center and to either side Old Glory. A great quantity of beautiful flowers and ferns were placed to the front of the stage and their artistic grouping lent much attractiveness to the rendition of the various numbers of the program.

The stage seated the graduating class, the high school girls, Miss Margaret Osbourn, principal of the high school, Mr. C. E. Yarborough, jr., director of the agricultural work, the Hon. R. C. Stearnes, superintendent of public instruction, Hon. Geo. C. Round, Dr. H. U. Roop, Rev. E. A. Roads and Mr. Geo. G. Tyler, superintendent of schools for Prince William county.

The program opened with Dr. H. U. Roop giving the invocation. Following this the chorus sang, under the direction of Mrs. R. T. H. Hodge, gave a very skillful rendition of "Above the Clear Blue Sky." Mr. Roswell Round then gave the salutatory, "Transportation Facilities as a Developing Factor."

Mr. Round's paper showed much careful thought and preparation, and the manner in which he developed his theme was especially commendable. Beginning with the first crude methods of travel and hauling, Mr. Round carried his hearers through the successive great revolutions in transportation facilities down to the present day when our civilization is largely attributed to the rapid and efficient means of transportation. A good local touch was made when he very aptly referred to the great need of Prince William to-day, i. e., the need for good roads. His able delivery made the address all the more effective and enjoyable.

The chorus class gave another selection and Miss Mary Akers read for Miss Mildred Harrell an essay on "Work of the Rural Teacher." Miss Harrell writes well and this paper was up to her usual good standard. Following this reading the chorus class gave "Morn Arise" by Czubalka.

Miss Marie Leachman as valedictorian took as her theme "An Appreciation of Virgil and of the Latin Language." In a very cleverly written paper she outlined how Latin can be of great advantage in practically every walk in life, how it is most helpful in many fields of endeavor, and why students should not fail to pursue work in Latin whatever their plans for the future may be. Miss Leachman won much praise for the very able handling of her subject.

Prof. C. H. Yarborough, jr., gave a short resume of the agricultural work for the year in which he told of various practical activities of the high school boys during the past nine months. Of special importance, he said, was the partial agricultural survey of the county which has been made by the fourth year boys. He laid special emphasis upon the necessity of the teaching of practical features and the purpose of the agricultural course should be, he said, not so much to fit boys for college but to fit them for actual farm life upon the completion of the high school course.

Following Prof. Yarborough, Supt. G. G. Tyler, who presided, introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Hon. R. C. Stearnes, superintendent of public instruction. Mr. Stearnes opened his talk very humorously and throughout he occasionally injected humorous remarks in his address. He chose no one subject for his address but in a general and varied manner touched upon many problems and things of interest to the school.

Among the interesting things he touched upon was the power of the individual word. This was elaborated upon extensively and everyone was made to feel the value that a single word can sometimes lay claim to. He said also that the great achievements are due to preparedness plus enthusiasm, and still another point, perhaps the most important one which he brought out, was that the school should be considered as an investment, not as a tax burden, as it is so often considered to-day.

After Mr. Stearnes' address the audience was treated to a sweet solo by Miss Marie Leachman. This was followed by a short talk by Lieut. Geo. C. Round. Mr. Round gave an appreciation of the late Dr. Clarkson. Then the chorus sang "Blossom Time" by Lerman. The distribution of diplomas and normal training certificates was made by Lieut. Round. A diploma for the completion of the general high school course was given Miss Marie Leachman. Diplomas for the agricultural course were given Roswell Round and Maurice Harrell and high school training certificates were given Misses Mildred Harrell, Mary Akers and Myrtle Johnson.

Alfred Prescott in the name of the high school very graciously donated Eastern College for the use of the auditorium for the evening, after which Rev. E. A. Roads made a short preliminary talk before the bestowal of the Fannie Osbourn Meta English prize for the year. Rev. Mr. Roads acted in the capacity of spokesman for the three judges, Miss Mary Cox, Mr. Joseph Galick and himself.

The prize for the best original work in English, open to the students of the third and fourth years, was finally decided as having been won by Alfred Prescott who wrote upon "Dreams." For a long time the judges were undecided what to do, as the contest was a very close one. Miss Virginia Walker's paper on "The

Marriage of Miss Evelyn Chapman.

On Thursday at noon Mr. N. Loughborough Turner, jr., of The Plains, and Miss Martha Evelyn Chapman, of Manassas, were quietly married at Trinity Episcopal church, Washington. Present at the wedding were only members of the immediate families and a few close friends. Following the wedding, the bridal couple left for a short trip, after which they will return to The Plains, where they will reside.

Among those present at the wedding were Messrs. N. L. and Charles Turner and the Misses Turner, father, brother and sisters of the groom. From Manassas were Misses Faith and Mary Lee Chapman, sisters of the bride, and Misses Julia Lewis, Mattie Weir and Mary Garrison.

THE JOURNAL joins the many friends of the bride in wishing the couple a long and happy married life.

TO BE ORDAINED SUNDAY

Rev. P. A. Arthur, Former Rector of Trinity Church, Will Be Made Priest.

(The Times-Dispatch.)

Rev. Philip Augustus Arthur, assistant minister at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, will be ordained to the priesthood Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in St. Andrew's Church, Richmond, by Rt. Rev. Robert Atkinson Gibson, D. D., bishop of Virginia. The sermon will be preached by Rev. John J. Gravatt and Rev. J. Francis Ribble will be the presenter.

The attending presbytery who will assist in the ordination are Rev. Nelson P. Dame, of Alexandria, and Rev. Charles S. Harrison, of Richmond. Mr. Arthur has spent most of his life in Richmond, and was formerly engaged in business, which he left to enter the ministry. He received his education in private schools and was a student at Richmond College. Ordained by Bishop Gibson a deacon in St. Mark's Church, December 6, 1905, he was appointed to do missionary work at the Neighborhood House on Brook Avenue and St. Margaret's Church in Caroline county. In 1911 he was appointed to Dettingen parish to take charge of the work at Trinity Church, Manassas, and St. Ann's Church at Nokesville, in Prince William County, and while there he attended lectures at the Virginia Theological Seminary. He returned to Richmond in 1913, and was appointed assistant at St. Andrew's Church, and since his return he has greatly endeared himself to the rector and the people among whom he has efficiently labored. After his ordination, Mr. Arthur will continue as assistant at St. Andrew's Church, corner of Laurel and Beverly Streets, Richmond.

A Tribute From the Colored Teachers of the County.

EDITOR MANASSAS JOURNAL:

The colored teachers of Prince William were sorry to learn of the death of our beloved Dr. H. M. Clarkson. He was loved by every teacher who taught under him. Dr. Clarkson was a great and good man. He was a friend of education, especially was he a friend of Jennie Dean and her work at Manassas. Dr. Clarkson was a great writer. We believe he is worthy and should have a place among the greatest poets of the world. We sympathize with the family and pray that the Great Head of the church will supply all of their needs. L. H. BAILEY. Ocequan, Va.

THE CLOSING EXERCISES

Grammar Grades of Manassas Public School Gave Enjoyable Program Last Friday.

The closing exercises of the grammar grades of the Manassas public school were held in Eastern College auditorium last Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The program of this year was the most pretentious and one of the most successful ever attempted by the grammar school pupils. A very large crowd enjoyed the many pleasing features of the evening, and showered congratulations upon teachers and pupils at the entertainment's close.

The invocation by Rev. J. F. Burks opened the program, and following this was "The Vesper Hour," which was well rendered by the girl's chorus. Numerous recitations, drills, readings and chorus songs were well distributed throughout the program and those taking part were highly complimented. A chorus of grade boys sang the "Boy Scout March," and heard Hon. R. C. Stearnes have heard this his remarks of Monday evening in regard to the boys' singing in Manassas may have been altered somewhat.

The address to the graduates was made by Dr. H. U. Roop, president of Eastern College, and the presenting of certificates to the graduates of the grammar school was done by Superintendent Geo. G. Tyler. We regret very much not being able to report the pleasing talks of Dr. Roop and Mr. Tyler. With the chorus class singing "Home-Going Song," the program was completed.

HOW TO IMPROVE ROADS.

Drainage the Most Important Factor to be Considered in Road Building.

By J. J. Connor

When it comes to building roads, there are a good many problems to solve, and not easy ones at that.

Drainage is the most important factor to be considered in the construction of a road.

Under drainage is not simply to remove the surface water. Its greatest help is to lower the water table in the soil.

Second: Side ditches are the prime factor in good road building. No road can be maintained with the ditches holding the water until it has evaporated.

Third: Surface drainage is where the road is so graded that the water will find an lodging place until it reaches the ditch.

A very special feature will be the Air-ship Exhibition, which will be held during the intermission each day (weather and climatic conditions permitting) by George A. Gray, the well-known birdman of New York City.

leaving that the citizens in the other districts are equally interested in their immediate section and, therefore, will use their best efforts to make the conditions better where they live.

We sincerely believe that with the proper expenditure of the road money, which we now receive for building and maintaining roads, we can, with the proper supervision and interest, maintain our highways in good serviceable condition.

What A Woman Wants.

A woman whose husband earns twelve dollars a week would be perfectly happy if only she could have a twenty-five-dollar hat and a two-carat diamond solitaire.

A woman whose husband's salary is three thousand a year believes her cup of happiness would be filled if she could have an electric coupe and two maids.

A woman whose husband has an income of fifty thousand dollars per annum declares that she would be as happy as a queen could she spend six months of the year in Europe and also own a villa at Newport.

A woman whose husband's fortune is too great for him to estimate accurately confides that she would be the happiest woman in the world if she lived in a little cottage with a rambler rose vine over the door, half a dozen ragged, dirty children and a husband coming home at night with his face grimy with sweat and his red flannel shirt sleeves rolled back upon his snowy

But what's the use of talking about the unattainable? Think of all the women who would be happy if their husbands could get jobs! Yes, and think of all the other women who would be filled with unutterable joy if they could get even husbands without jobs!

WELL DESERVED

The Prize That Comes From Thankful Mississippi People.

One kidney remedy has known more Mississippian people rely upon it. That remedy is Deen's Kidney Pills.

Miss. W. McCann, Query St., Manassas, Va., says: "Deen's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy. One of my family had kidney complaint of long standing. Deen's Kidney Pills were the one remedy that did the work. They brought relief after other medicines had failed. I feel that I can do great service to kidney sufferers by recommending Deen's Kidney Pills."

The above statement must be read in connection with the name of Deen's Kidney Pills. Deen's remedy is not a kidney remedy but a remedy for Deen's Kidney Pills. Deen's Kidney Pills are a remedy for Deen's Kidney Pills. Deen's Kidney Pills are a remedy for Deen's Kidney Pills.

One Hundred Thousand Boy Scouts.

A recent census of the Boy Scouts shows a membership of more than 100,000. There are 15,000 in New York, 12,000 in Pennsylvania, Ohio New Jersey and Illinois have more than 6,000 each. There is no state without a representation. Even Alaska can boast thirty scouts. Hawaii has 140 and Porto Rico 125.

It was only this last winter that the Boy Scout movement could celebrate its fifth birthday anniversary. To acquire a strength in excess of 100,000 in five years speaks for the popularity of scouting. It speaks also for its intrinsic worth. If it were merely a sport the movement might prove but a flash in the pan.

We are often greedy sharers of a beauty and a love that comes down to us in sunshine from the bubbling fountains above; For we so forget the giver in forgetting how to give just a little of our gladness that some other heart may live.

—The Toledo Blade.

SHARING.

Are you sharing joy and gladness. Are you giving back to those who have cherished and have loved you? Are you making others happy with the happiness you feel? Are you sharing life to earnest with a trust as true as steel? Are you getting all and keeping, or still passing it around? Are you laughing with the weeping? Are you comforting the laming? Are you making life for others like you wanted it to be for yourself when you were watching? Are you starting song and sunshine with the sorrowing and sad? Are you making others brighter with your own sweet share of glad? Are you being something better by being something more? Then you loved that love you dearly.

Are you making others brighter with your own sweet share of glad? Are you being something better by being something more? Then you loved that love you dearly.

We are often greedy sharers of a beauty and a love that comes down to us in sunshine from the bubbling fountains above; For we so forget the giver in forgetting how to give just a little of our gladness that some other heart may live.

—The Bentztown Bard.

MANASSAS, VA., FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1915.

NOKESVILLE, WE CONGRATULATE YOU

The first of the three communities in Prince William to be given the thorough and probing sanitary survey under the direction of the State Board of Health is Nokesville. This is an honor for Nokesville as was the award of the "unit" to Prince William a short while ago. Nokesville, we extend to you our heartiest congratulations on being the first community in the county in which the health work will be prosecuted.

We have looked upon your community for some years past as being wide-awake and eager for that which is good and beneficial. Your recent well-filled petitions for the survey, which show an average of over ninety-five per cent. cooperation promised by the heads of the families in the territory to be covered, bespeak an interest in the work which should prove an example to all other communities. This interest should also insure a very successful survey, successful from the standpoint of what is to be accomplished.

Now that your community has received the first survey do not think that your part of the work is over. No, it is only starting. Nothing worth while comes without effort, so you may as well understand that you will be troubled slightly, that you will be called upon to attend a few meetings and to cooperate in every way possible with the authorities and assistants connected with the survey. Without your cooperation, which you have already pledged and which we do not doubt but what you will freely give, the work will in no sense attain its greatest perfection.

Nokesville, the opportunity now lies before you. Upon your citizens very largely depends the success of the survey. Try to work up enthusiasm among the people of your community, for enthusiasm will do much towards making the survey popular. If every citizen of Nokesville will talk about the survey, will tell his friends about it far and near and will lend his aid in furthering the work, you, as a community, will have something worth many times its cost to the county and the International Health Commission, both as an advertisement and (in a far more important way) as a factor in health betterment and model sanitation. The first honors in the campaign have been given you, may you, by your future actions, show yourself to be more than deserving of such a distinction.

TOO FEW HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

The close of schools brings up for discussion each year many and varied aspects of the problems of educating the youth of our land. Theory upon theory is advanced and a great many are eventually tried out in order to see if better ways cannot be found for preparing the youth of our land for a life of useful service and good citizenship. Some educators insist that the bulk of the work should be directed along practical lines, others, equally as ardent and as firmly convinced in their convictions, claim that the school is not and never should be the place for a child to learn how to make a living. These and many other problems are absorbing the attention of distinguished educators to-day, and with these men and women the solutions, in part at least, largely rest. From these general problems we go to one which is at present giving the local school board and the thoughtful people of our community grave concern.

If you have never wondered at the small per cent. of Manassas high school students who complete the course, start next year with the first year class of the high school and follow this class through four years of work. To the high school from the eighth grade were promoted at the close of the past session twelve boys and twelve girls; one other boy and two more girls will be promoted provided they work off their conditions by the opening of school next fall. From past records how many of these boys and girls can be expected to complete the four year high school course? To say five or six would be putting it high. Hence, we will do well if one-fourth of these students complete the course, according to present calculations.

This is the problem which is now worrying the people of our community. The amount of money which is being spent to educate and carry to the end of the high school course a few persevering students would, without any augmentation, give a thorough high school training to many times the number of students who now take it. Amid pleasant surroundings, in well-equipped buildings and with an excellent teaching staff, why is it that so few of the children get very far in the high school course? The money that is being spent upon education here is wisely spent (we would do well to spend considerable more) but what a pity it is that so few avail themselves of the golden opportunity.

With the parents and the taxpayers of the community the bettering of this condition very largely rests. Very few of the boys and girls who enter high school have to stop before completing the course in order to help support themselves and their families. In fact, so rarely is this the case that we can put it down as negligible. In practically every case the parent can afford to support the child through his or her high school course. But restless and inconsiderate parents often express themselves as wishing that the boy or girl start out early in life to earn what is a mere pittance. Too many parents have not the fortitude, the broad vision and the patience to sacrifice themselves a little longer so that the boy or girl will be equipped for life, not just pushed out with a serious handicap in the way of a lack of preparation.

Not only should parents not show a desire for the boy or girl to stop school to go to work but it is the parents' privilege to be able to encourage the child in every phase of his school work. Where is there a parent who does not desire that his boy succeed? One of the best ways of insuring his success is to give him a good, sound education, by all means insisting upon his completing the high school course. Then, if there is any way open, send him to a good college or university. The essential thing, however, is to see that he finishes his high school course. By that time it is more than likely that he will need no urging to attend college; perhaps he will find a way of paying his own way through.

To have larger graduating classes at our high school is what we most work for. There is no good reason for not having at least fifteen graduates every year. Just think what this would mean to Manassas and the surrounding country. With the very high standard which our high school, by years of unceasing work on the part of a few untiring and faithful teachers and supporters, has attained, now ranking with the best high schools of the land, we feel that a good number of graduates each year would be the best product that Manassas could turn out. Can we not urge the boys and girls of Manassas and vicinity to take advantage of opportunities such as were not afforded the older people of the community? The parents can do and must do the great work along this line and to them in this matter, as well as in many others which affect the welfare of society, we trust we do not look in vain.

LOOKING AHEAD TO THE FOURTH

The Fourth of July will soon be with us again and it is perhaps not too early to begin planning for a safe and sane celebration of the day. Manassas in the past has been very fortunate in not having suffered fatalities, and for this we are very thankful. That the day will be celebrated by the small boy (and some big ones, too) goes without saying. It's the boy's way of showing that such a thing as patriotism has a good foundation in American youth, and this tendency has only to be directed aright in order to insure good results.

But society does well to look after the bodily safety of its members and to this end there is such a nation-wide agitation for a safe and sane Fourth. Now Manassas has some good laws in regard to the regulations of the shooting of fire-crackers, etc., and we hope the town council, which will be in session Monday evening, will find it worth while to emphasize a strict enforcement of these laws and at the same time go on record for a safe and sane Fourth. Such action on the part of the city fathers will have a far-reaching effect upon the boys of Manassas.

Resolutions of Sympathy.

The following resolutions were passed by the Vestry of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Haymarket, on the death of Dr. H. M. Clarkson, who for many years had been a member of that body, and the senior warden of the church:

Seeing that Almighty God, in the course of nature, through which He deals with His dear children here on earth, has taken from us the visible bodily presence of His faithful servant, and our beloved friend and fellow member of this vestry, Doctor H. M. Clarkson, and being deeply grateful to the same Loving Father for having granted to us for so long a time the privilege of association with his gentle Christian spirit, which has demonstrated to us, and to all who have had the like privilege, the beauty and genuine success of a life whose issues of loving service have been expressed in terms of gentleness and unselfishness, and being gratefully conscious also of his continued spiritual presence in our midst, which is evidenced by the reflection of the same in the lives of those who knew and love him, particularly in the lives of all the members of his family, who have received from him a heritage of character and disposition which is infinitely more valuable than all material wealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That we hereby put on record the above estimate of the life and services of Doctor Clarkson, and express to his large circle of friends, and especially to his bereaved widow and family, our sincere sympathy with them in this trial, and at the same time our sure confidence in the love and mercy of God in all the dispensations of His providence, looking forward to the promised reunion in the Church Triumphant.

Resolved, Further that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, and printed in the Southern Churchman, the Living Church, the County papers and the Charleston, S. C., News and Courier.

Class Has Enjoyable Time.

The second year expression class of Manassas High School, with their teacher, Mrs. Hodge, spent a very pleasant afternoon last Saturday in Round's woods. The class met at the home of Miss Charlotte Smith at 3 o'clock and went to the woods together.

Mrs. Hodge entertained the class delightfully by reading from "Martha Reformed," after which the game of "Authors" was played and much enjoyed. Miss Lola Conner winning first prize, which was the game of "Authors." Misses Eleanor Jones, Edith Smith, Meta Maddiman and Annie Lauris Swart winning "booby" prizes.

A delightful stroll through the woods was taken by some of the members while others arranged supper, which was a most delicious picnic supper, which every one thoroughly enjoyed. All then joined in singing "Abide With Me." Then the party dispersed, each promising to be present at the picnic, which was planned for the coming year.

Those present were Mrs. Hodge, Misses Eleanor Jones, Eleanor Lewis, Edith Smith, Elizabeth Dickens, Lola Conner, Mary Clarke, Meta Maddiman and Annie Lauris Swart.

Every one regretted that some members were absent, but hope that next year all may be present, and we wish to thank Mrs. Hodge for her kindness in giving us such a very pleasant afternoon.

Young people and they get it want style irrespective of price

Younger people are better dressers than older people because they have a better sense of style. If they have to pay more for style they will strain a point and do it. If they can pay less and get style they welcome the chance.

Styleplus $17 Clothes

have all the clever style points of high-priced clothes because they are designed by one of the ablest fashion artists in the country.

Full selection of the up-to-date models and fabrics. Cloth of each suit guaranteed to wear.

Style is often costly. The makers specialize on STYLEPLUS and in this way produce style plus values for $17. Big selection for older men, too.

A COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ALUMNI ENJOY FEATURES

University of Virginia to Partly Business Meeting, Track Meet Inaugurate Such A Course Next Session.

President Edwin A. Alderman has had in mind for a long time plans looking to the establishment of a school or "college" of business.

The general courses in economics, modern language, history and government will continue as at present. The courses in money and banking, and in the growth of industry and commerce will likewise be given as preparatory to more specialized work in these fields.

In this connection it is interesting to note that within the last six months at least two Southern cities have effected the change desired by the voters with the aid and expert advice of students and members of the faculty of the University.

The scope of the work in public finance will also be extended, so as to give greater emphasis to state and local indebtedness, municipal accounting, the purpose of expenditures and the methods of taxation.

Further courses will be added in the following year, until the University shall be equipped to train men with reference to their needs in such pursuits as accountancy, banking, insurance, trade, railroading, etc.

Professor Thomas W. Page, head of the School of Economics, will direct the new school as well, and will personally give some of the most important courses to be offered.

Business Meeting, Track Meet And Annual Banquet Give Variety to Day.

Prince William Hotel a band of alumni of the old Manassas Institute and the present Manassas Agricultural High School together with a few special guests all in readiness for the banquet to which the alumni had looked forward for several weeks.

As soon as the doors were thrown open, little time was lost in each and every guest finding his or her place at one of the beautifully decorated tables.

At each plate was a neatly hand-executed place card and a pretty souvenir program of the occasion. Each of these carried out the color scheme also.

The initial event of the banquet was, of course, the partaking of the delicious food, and in this event everyone was only too glad to be an enthusiast.

Between the courses of the banquet, and afterwards, several of the school songs were sung heartily by all present.

After the banquet proper, a series of five toasts on "Woe We Sanction," were called for by Miss Ruth A. Round, past president of the association, who made a most gracious toastmaster.

Honorary members—Miss Eugenia Osborn and Superintendent Geo. G. Tyler.

By special request, Miss Mary Lee Chapman sang the solo, "The Perfect Day." So well did she sing this and so well received was it that after a prolonged encore, she responded with another selection.

Those present at the banquet were: Class of 1896—Mrs. R. L. Gu-

Supplying the Farmers With Bacteria to Grow Legumes.

Commissioner Koiner has made arrangements to furnish the farmers of Virginia bacteria to sow on land that will greatly increase the crop where the soil is lacking in this kind of bacteria.

Very often the use of bacteria will double the yield of the crop. This bacteria is not a fertilizer and does not act well on sour land.

Good for Prince William!

Here is how the Richmond Virginia editorially speaks of Prince William's success in "landing" the new health unit: "We would that there were enough 'new units' and enough progressive counties in Virginia to insure one hundred model sanitary counties. That would mean one model state. While Virginia is a model for other states in many lines in that she is so far ahead of them, there are also many things in which Virginia has a long way to go to reach Tipperary.

The care of the public health is one of the chief works of the state. The state can only work effectively through local agencies, and therefore its first task in caring for the health of the whole state is to make each individual locality a center of interest in its own affairs.

"Prince William county won the honor of being made a 'new unit' of complete sanitary and health conditions because the people of the county realized the value of such work and were the first to grasp an unexampled opportunity for better health conditions. Good for Prince William!"

GENERAL NEWS NOTES

State Department officials do not expect a reply from Germany to the President's recent note on Germany's submarine warfare until about July 10.

The State of Ohio has abolished 1,493 saloons since its new liquor license law became operative a year ago. This is exclusive of those forced to close because of the proportion to population restriction of one bar to each 500 residents.

The Society of St. Louis, the oldest patriotic and fraternal organization in Missouri, will entertain Governor Stuart and his staff and the Richmond Light Infantry Blues in St. Louis, while they are on their transcontinental trip in July.

Uncle Sam's great naval creation—the superdreadnought Arizona, one of the two mightiest war craft ever wrought by the hand of man—was successfully launched at 1:11 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the navy yard, while 50,000 persons roared a mighty cheer.

Unless immediate aid is extended by the United States or some other neutral power, the entire civil population of Montenegro, comprising 350,000 people, will face extinction by starvation. For four months the little kingdom has been without flour and food essentials.

Baltimore continues to easily lead its sister cities as the place where the best things to eat can be bought for the lowest prices, according to a mass of food-price figures gathered in the leading populous centres of the United States by the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics.

It is said that an order from the United States government for 355,000 pairs of standard army boots, with additional orders from the countries at war, have swelled "war orders" in this country for shoes and boots to 8,000,000 pairs or about $25,000,000 in gross business.

Whatever controversy in which the old bondholders and the State of West Virginia may engage in an effort to compel a settlement of the debt of $12,000,000, the Commonwealth of Virginia cannot be involved in the litigation. So far as this State is concerned, the debt question has been forever settled.

Arrangements have been completed by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway for the special train which will carry Governor Henry C. Stuart, his staff and the Richmond Light Infantry Blues from Richmond to San Francisco, leaving the city July 2. It is anticipated that from 160 to 175 officers and enlisted men of the Blues will make the trip.

In commemoration of the first Anglican Communion administered in America, a small company of Virginians journeyed Sunday from the ancient capital of the colony and State, Williamsburg, to the still more ancient capital of the settlement, domain and colony and the cradle of their race and creed—Jamestown; and there, on the three hundred and eighth anniversary of its first celebration on this side the Atlantic, partook of Holy Communion.

If United States should go to war, there are in Virginia 300,000 able-bodied men whose services could be utilized in fighting for their country. This was the estimate last reported to the War Department by Adjutant General W. W. Sale. All of these are not actually enrolled, but the State military authorities are required each year to report to the War Department the number of citizens available for active service. The actual strength of the Virginia Volunteers at the present time is 218 officers and 2,800 enlisted men.

To Choose Gainesville District Teachers.

The Gainesville District School Board will meet at Haymarket school June 26th for the purpose of appointing teachers for the coming year—1915-16. The patrons are invited to be present. 6-4-t W. L. SANDERS, Clerk.

Circuit Court for Prince William county to-wit: June term, 1915. John Phillips and Shelton Phillips vs. W. M. Jordan, as executor of Richard Phillips, and as trustee under the will; Mrs. J. A. Reid, John A. Reid and the heirs and distributees of James Phillips, deceased.

DECREE The object of this suit is to have construed the will of Richard L. Phillips, and the legacies to Mrs. J. A. Reid and to John A. Reid as well as the residuary legacy described in the last disposing clause of the said will, declared void. And that the said legacies may be declared to be the property of the distributees of the said Richard L. Phillips, jr.; and that the said W. M. Jordan, as such executor, may be required to administer upon the estate of the said Richard L. Phillips, jr. under the direction of this court, that the legacy of two hundred ($200) dollars, described in the first disposing clause of the said will, may be decreed to the complainant, John Phillips; and that the legacy of one hundred ($100) dollars, described in the following clause "to the widow and children of my deceased brother John, one hundred ($100) dollars, if they be living," may be decreed to the complainant, John Phillips; and that proper counsel fees may be allowed the complainants out of the funds belonging to the distributees of the said Richard L. Phillips, jr.; and that for each other further and general relief, as the equities of their cause may require. It appearing by affidavits that the names of the heirs and distributees of James Phillips are unknown and that they are not residents of the state of Virginia, it is therefore ordered that the said heirs and distributees of James Phillips appear within fifteen days after due publication of this notice in the clerk's office of said court and do what is necessary to protect their interests.

Call of the Mountains' was a most excellent one and it was only after a lengthy deliberation that Alfred Prescott was declared the winner.

Another prize, for the best reproductive work, such as a character sketch, of a third or fourth year student in English, was won by Miss Louise Walker who wrote upon "Silas Marner." The prize in each case consisted in handsome books.

Mr. Geo. G. Tyler presented the agricultural prizes, the first one of which was won by Winfield Athey and the second by Clarence Meetze. These prizes were given for the best individual gardens. After this Mr. Wheatley M. Johnson gave out the monograms for effective work in athletics. Monograms were awarded to the following girls for basketball:

Misses Marie Leachman, Hilda Hottel, Mildred Lawler, Eleanor Jones and Lucy Haydon.

Boys for basketball: Cundiff Williams, John Willecox, Ollie Lynch, Carter Green and Roy Rexrode.

Boys for track: Cundiff Williams, Clyde Simmons, Maurice Harrell, Carter Green, Ollie Lynch and Roswell Round.

After presenting these monograms Mr. Johnson made a very pleasing and appropriate talk in which he showed why athletics should play such an important part in the high school life. His talk was to the point and well delivered.

Supt. Tyler announced that the scholarship offered by the University of Virginia had been won by Mr. Roswell Round. This scholarship is awarded only in the case of marked scholastic attainments coupled with good character qualifications. Mr. Round is well deserving of this scholarship and the school took great pleasure in recommending him for it.

The chorus class rendered two more selections: "The Lost Chord" and "On Mountain Heights," thus bringing to a close a most successful season's work.
