

DON'T AGREE WITH ROUND

Two Other Members of Committee Appointed by Farmers' Institute Make a Report.

At a recent meeting of the Northern Virginia Farmers' Institute, George C. Round made a report for a committee appointed early in 1915 to give the organization and purposes for which the body was formed. On the committee were the following: Geo. C. Round, C. H. Yarborough, J. J. Conner, W. I. Steere and Ormond Stone. The report made by Mr. Round was not a report of the whole committee, but only of a part of the committee. Mr. Round's report, as well as the report given below, will be taken up for action at the next meeting of the institute. The report of two other members of the committee follow:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:
With all due respect to Mr. Round, other members of your committee beg leave to report a little at variance with the report just submitted. At most points we agree with Mr. Round and thank him for recounting so fully the origin of the farmers' institute and thank him for the active part he took in it; but we are obliged to differ with him in one vital point at least.

The reports cite that "the main purpose and perhaps the only purpose of the Farmers' Institute was educational." In this we agree, but seem to disagree as to the definition as to what is educational.

The report proceeds "there has been, however, a growth in another direction not at first contemplated," and the subject of schools, roads and matters of legislation are cited as objectionable as regular objects of the institute, but the main objection seems to be as to time spent on matters of legislation. Here we quote again from Mr. Round's report:

"The institute has for some time past maintained a standing committee on legislation, to which such matters have been discussed from time to time, and been submitted to vote."

"Your committee is of the opinion that business of this kind should not be allowed to interfere with the original plan and purposes of the institute, which should be carefully guarded by the executive committee."

This, by the way, has occurred to any extent in only one year and that was two years ago during the session of the state legislature. As to the time so spent, we have no apology to make, deeming matters of state, especially legislation pertaining to the immediate wants of our own state, as truly educational as the questions of how to raise more corn, oats and hay and how better to feed and care for our dairy and beef herds, and at times much more urgent, as these latter subjects are before us at all times (and rightly so) in our institute and in our agricultural press.

There are some who seem to believe that matters of legislation should be left entirely to the lawyers, bankers and business men of the country and that the farmer should be content to plod patiently along in the furrow behind his ox, compelling the brighter classes named to make all his laws and administer the same. We do not believe any member of our committee entertains such narrow views—these views are a generation out of date.

As to the subjects of legislation proposed for discussion by the committee of legislation two years ago, most of them seem to have been pertinent to the time. We asked for a more stringent dog law. The legislature passed one. We asked for the Torrens registration of land titles. The bill passed the lower house, but was hung up in the senate. We asked for a local board of tax review.

Special session gave us one. We do not claim originality, but the voice of this institute was added to the general demand for these reforms. We do not think a farmers' institute ignoring these responsibilities and privileges is up-to-date.

The State Farmers' Institute and the Farmers' Union deem matters of legislation an important part of their business, as shown by their programs and reports. We are in favor of maintaining

FIREMEN ELECT OFFICERS

Charter to Remain Open Until March 1—Copies of By-Laws Distributed.

The regular monthly meeting of the Manassas Fire Department was held at the Town Hall last Friday evening. Owing to several other attractions on the same evening, the meeting was not well attended, only thirteen members responding to the roll call.

The principal business of the evening was the election of officers. The following were elected to office for the term of one year: J. I. Randall, chief; H. P. Davis, assistant chief; H. P. Davis, secretary and treasurer; W. E. McCoy, J. R. B. Davis and M. M. Ellis, trustees; Albert Speiden, captain of hose company; M. M. Ellis, lieutenant of hose company; W. E. McCoy, captain of hook and ladder company; Thos. W. Howard, lieutenant of hook and ladder company.

Copies of the recently-printed constitution and by-laws were distributed. It was voted to hold the charter open until March 1, 1916, for receiving members without any initiation fee.

DR. BUCK SUDDENLY DIES

Retired Physician Passes Away Tuesday Morning—Widow and 8 Children

Manassas and near-by points were greatly shocked Tuesday morning when Dr. R. C. Buck, a retired physician, passed away suddenly at his home on the edge of town. For several years Dr. Buck had been in failing health but his passing away on Tuesday morning was very unexpected.

Feeling ill at the stomach, Dr. Buck took some medicine for relief. The medicine, however, made him much worse and an attempt was made to get a doctor. When medical assistance was finally obtained it was seen that nothing could be done, death came at 9 o'clock.

Dr. Buck was born at "Bell Air," Front Royal, on May 21, 1851. The son of Wm. M. and Elizabeth Buck he was educated at Front Royal, graduated from Louisville (Ky.) Medical College in '72 and then took a post-graduate course at the University of Maryland. On November 15, 1881, he was married to Mary Lewis Leachman, daughter of the late Colonel Thomas Leachman.

The deceased began the practice of medicine at Little Washington, Va., in 1875. He continued his practice at Orleans, Fauquier county, until 1909, when he moved to Milford Mills, near Bristow. In the fall of 1914, Dr. Buck moved to Manassas, where he resided until the time of his death.

Surviving Dr. Buck, besides his widow, are two brothers, two sisters, six sons and two daughters. The brothers: William, of Front Royal, and Alvin, of Springdale, Pa. The sisters: Misses Lucy and Laura Buck, of Front Royal. The sons: William, L. of Atlanta, Ga.; Robert Carey and Frank N., of Portsmouth, Va.; Gray C., of Birmingham, Ala.; Welford A. and Carlyle D., of Welch, W. Va. The daughters: Miss Lucy, a school teacher in Fauquier, and Miss Elizabeth, of Manassas.

The remains were taken to Front Royal yesterday morning and short burial services were held at the family lot in the Front Royal cemetery yesterday afternoon, the Rev. T. D. D. Clark officiating. The pallbearers were five sons (Gray C., of Birmingham, Ala., not being able to make train connections) and Mr. W. B. Lovett, of Welch, W. Va.

—Service Sunday morning at Trinity Episcopal Church, Manassas, at 11 o'clock. Sunday School meets promptly at 9:45 a. m.

A legislative committee of this institute, and of allowing the Executive Committee its judgment as to incorporating as a part of the program of any regular session of the institute the consideration of state or national legislation.

—We also suggest that no member be allowed to vote who is not registered and in good standing. Respectfully submitted,

A GIANT INDUSTRY AT QUANTICO

Contract Has Been Signed for Steel Plant at Quantico—Electric Light Machinery Purchased—Bank With Several Manassas Stockholders Formed—Hotel and Store to be Built at Once—Great Excitement.

Quantico, a little village in lower Prince William, concerning which there have been many rumors of late, is to be a real boom town. There have been guesses and hearsays without number as to what was going to take place at this long-asleep haven of solitude but now the hammers of industry will ring forth, the buzz of machinery will be heard and the villagers will run hither and thither and taste of life as they have never tasted of it before.

On Tuesday of this week Thos. H. Lion, C. E. Nash, J. P. Leachman, F. E. Ransdell and G. Raymond Ratcliffe, of Manassas; R. H. Davis, of Bristow, and Judge C. E. Nicol, of Alexandria, made a trip to Quantico. When those from Manassas returned home, THE JOURNAL'S representative was granted several interviews. The following facts were gained from these interviews and the statements given below are thoroughly reliable, according to assurances made THE JOURNAL.

The big industry that will start at Quantico in the next few weeks is a steel plant. A contract has already been signed for the erection of this plant. The man who purchased 2,000 acres of Dr. H. B. Hutchison a short while ago is a former banker of Washington, whose name is withheld by request. It is understood that he has given the land upon which the plant will be erected to the promoters of this industry. A payment of $1,000 on the purchase of land from Dr. Hutchison has been followed by a second payment of $5,000.

A hotel, a large general store and a bank building are to be built. Carpenters are expected to be put to work next week on the hotel and store. Application for the bank at Quantico has been made. Among those promoting this bank are those named above as taking the trip to Quantico on Tuesday and E. L. Perry and Frank McInteer, both of this county. Others are also debating as to whether to become stockholders. The capital stock of the bank is to be $25,000.

The little village is also to do away with kerosene lamps. A contract has been signed for $10,000 worth of electric light machinery. Plans for the lighting system will soon be outlined. A great many other improvements are also being discussed, many of which will, in all probability, materialize within a very short while.

Quantico is tremendously excited over the state of affairs in which it now finds itself. Anywhere from 25 to 100 men visit the little village every day. Accommodations for board and lodging are very poor and there is little promise of much improvement in these matters until the hotel is erected. Among the people of the hamlet all sorts of vague notions have gained credence. They have not known what was coming but they have decided to swing on to their little pieces of land with a tenacity characteristic of lower-Prince-William citizens. Now that the town is to be transformed by the wand of a great industry the joy of its citizens is seemingly unlimited.

PROGRAM ON GOOD ROADS DAIRYMEN HEAR ADDRESS

Last Friday's Assembly Given Over to "Good Roads" at Manassas High School

In response to Governor Stuart's proclamation that Friday, Jan. 28th, should be observed as "Good Roads Day" throughout the state, the Manassas Agricultural High School gave a very interesting program last Friday morning in the Assembly Room. The Rev. Alfred Kelley opened the exercises with a prayer, which was followed by the singing of our national anthem. Then, Alfred Prescott read the Governor's proclamation.

One of the most interesting features of the program was a debate:—Resolved, That the question of the greatest importance now before the town of Manassas is the obtaining of good county roads. Alfred Prescott and Miss Eleanor Jones, in debating the affirmative, brought out the fact that the growth of Manassas in the future depended upon the development of the agricultural interests of the community, since it has no natural facilities for making the town a great manufacturing center. They also proved that the health of the town and its growth as a place of historical interest depended upon its good roads.

Clyde Simmons and Miss Annie Laurie Swart, on the negative, argued that civic improvement and proper sanitation were greater factors in the growth of the town than the development of the county roads. They thought the Manassas of the future would not be an agricultural center but a great residential suburb of Washington. The judges unanimously decided in favor of the affirmative.

Mr. J. J. Conner, our newly elected supervisor, gave a very excellent and practical talk on the value of good roads to the community and urged the young citizens to take an interest in so vital a subject. He promised his hearty cooperation in any plans for the improvement of the roads.

After Miss Dorothy Johnson recited "Farmer Brown," various facts in the developing and maintaining of good roads were discussed by Miss Louise Maloney, Miss Sallie Larkin and Clarke Johnson.

The program closed with the singing of the school song.

A. F. Howard, of Richmond, Addresses Association—Next Meeting in April

[W. R. Hooker, Secretary P. W. C. D. A.]
The Prince William County Dairymen's Association met at the courthouse on January 29th in their regular January meeting. Mr. J. J. Conner, president of the association, directed the business during which the committee appointed at a former meeting to consult legal authority reported that life association could buy feeds and other supplies for members only.

A committee on advertising reported that it would consider further the advisability of placing advertisements in certain farm papers circulating in the South when members have more surplus pure bred stock to offer for sale.

After the above and other business was disposed of Mr. Conner introduced Mr. A. F. Howard, of Richmond. Mr. Howard, who is connected with the Dairy and Food Commissioner's office, stated, by way of introduction, that he had made several addresses in Manassas and felt he was known by a good many persons present, yet was always anxious to help farmers and dairymen in their various problems.

"Cooperation Among Dairymen" was the subject Mr. Howard discussed and in the course of his remarks he told of the very first cooperative organization in England. He showed how farmers can act together for themselves and still not jeopardize established dealers in the community. Especially helpful will such cooperation be when the county is well stocked with pure bred animals by the reputation that can be built up and by the ability of the group to advertise and sell together in a way that would be impossible for the individual man.

The next meeting of the association will be held in April and all dairymen not now members are urged to join the association and help while being helped. The initiation fee is $1.00 and any man will save all his fees in a short time. Any one interested can see or write Mr. Conner, at Manassas, or the secretary, at Nokeville, for information.

MOSS SPEAKS TOMORROW

Indiana Congressman Will Discuss "Rural Credits" at Farmers' Institute.

An unusual opportunity is afforded the farmers of northern Virginia tomorrow (Saturday) to hear Congressman R. W. Moss, of Indiana, author of the Fletcher-Moss Farm Land Bank Bill discuss the subject of "Rural Credits." No better speaker on this subject could be obtained, no matter how much time or money were spent in the effort.

Hon. Moss has the subject of farm loans right at his fingers' ends. He has not only studied the subject from practically every angle, but he has also had the practical experience of farming which has made him fully appreciate the needs of the farmers of this country. His word on "Rural Credits" is accepted as authoritative and he is said to be a fine talker. Don't fail to hear him at the court house tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

FOR BETTER SANITATION

All Privies in Business District Must Connect With Sewer Before April 15th.

The regular monthly meeting of the town council was held Monday evening in the town hall. Present were Mayor W. C. Wagener and councilmen E. R. Conner, C. R. C. Johnson, C. M. Larkin, C. E. Nash, A. Speiden, Wm. M. Wheeler and H. D. Wenrich. Councilmen T. F. Coleman and O. E. Newman were absent.

A number of bills having been approved by the proper committees were ordered paid. Davis Bros. Ice and Fuel Co.'s communication relative to purchasing of electric current was on motion referred to the Public Utilities Committee for report.

The Street Committee's verbal report on the extension of South street stated that the extension would cost about $200.00. It was requested that action in this regard be deferred until a later date, which request was granted. The monthly report of Superintendent G. L. Rosenberger was read and ordered filed.

On a motion, duly seconded, the Mayor was ordered to appoint a committee of three to investigate the advisability of renting the lot owned by the Methodist Church, South, on the corner of Church and Main streets, for a public place for tying horses and to report back to the council. The following were appointed on the committee: Messrs. Johnson, Conner and Larkin.

The resignation of R. M. Weir, former sergeant, was accepted. The council, upon the recommendation of the Health Officer, passed an ordinance which will compel all privies in the district bounded on the south by Southern Railway tracks, on the west by the east side of West street, on the north by the south side of Church street and on the east by the west side of East street to be connected with the town's sewer system before April 15, 1916.

The penalty for each day's violation of this ordinance is not less than $1.00 or more than $5.00. Councilman Johnson was appointed a committee to continue negotiations with Messrs. Stewart and Fleming, or their attorney, with the view of reaching a settlement between this firm and the town of Manassas.

Bill of Southern Railway for $1,187.49, on which $416.67 advance payment was made Aug. 18, 1915, for proposition of cost of spur track and coal trestle constructed at the power plant, was presented and two notes for balance due, $770.82, were ordered to be drawn up and signed by the Mayor and Clerk.

ORDER LIME NOW

It is suggested by the State Lime Grinding Board that farmers wishing to use ground limestone from the state plant place their orders promptly. This notice is given for the reason that orders are very slack at this season, and from fear that a congestion of orders may develop later on. The rule limiting orders from one firm or individual to one carload is modified so that as many as three cars may be shipped until further notice. Orders should be sent to W. C. Williams, Box 1475, Richmond, Virginia.

JAMES R. PURCELL DEAD

Well-Known Confederate Veteran of this County Passed Away Last Saturday.

Another old Confederate veteran has answered the bugle call of death. Major James R. Purcell, one of the best known residents of Prince William, passed away last Saturday at Staunton, Va., after a brief illness. For the last few years Major Purcell was in failing health but his death came as a shock to members of his family and his many friends.

Major Purcell, who was seventy-eight years of age at the time of his death, was born at Brentsville. There he attended school and later studied at Rock Hill, Alexandria and Upperville Military Academies. He also spent one session at the University of Virginia. For two years, 1858 to 1860, he served as deputy sheriff of Prince William county.

With the breaking out of the civil war, James R. Purcell enlisted in the cause of the Confederate States of America and served faithfully until the surrender of Lee at Appomattox. He saw gallant service at several of the great battles of the war, including Manassas, Seven Pines and Gettysburg. He was commanding officer of Company A, 5th Virginia Regiment; later he was promoted to major and then made a colonel, but failed to receive his commission to the latter office. For two sessions he served as a delegate from Prince William to the Virginia Legislature.

While Major Purcell lived for a number of years in lower Prince William, he moved to the Hickory Grove neighborhood later in life and from there to Gainesville, at which place he resided for more than twenty years past. He was known all over this section of Virginia for his love of dogs and hunting. At one time he kept a large kennel of fine dogs and delighted to tell of their qualifications. In other fields he was also well-informed and delighted in exchanging opinions with all who were far-advanced and straight-forward.

Surviving the deceased are his widow, who resides at Wilmington, Del.; three sons, George, of Baltimore; Taylor, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and William, of Texas; and one daughter, Mrs. Mamie Stradley of Wilmington, Del.

Funeral services were held in Manassas Monday afternoon at the Manassas Baptist Church, Dr. H. L. Quarles officiating. Interment was made in Manassas cemetery. The pallbearers were Thos. H. Lion, Jas. E. Nelson, I. E. Cannon, C. E. Nash, R. S. Hynson, all of Manassas, and M. Cave, of Gainesville. Members of Ewell Camp, U. C. V., took part in good numbers as did the Daughters.

MANASSAS, VA., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1916.

A GOOD ORDINANCE PASSED

The town council is to be congratulated upon passing an ordinance requiring all privies within a given territory, which includes nearly the whole of the business district, to be connected to the sewer system before April 15th. This step, which was taken upon the recommendation of Health Officer Merchant, promises to bring about the elimination of certain well-defined nuisances which, for some time, have existed in the business district of the town. The value of this ordinance, as of all others, depends upon the manner in which it is enforced; if properly enforced, the town can look forward to much better sanitary conditions in the business district from April 15th on.

WORK FOR THE TORRENS BILL

The Torrens bill for the registering of land titles, which is to be acted upon by the General Assembly of Virginia during the present session, is a bill which should be supported by every owner of real estate. The trouble now experienced by land owners whenever they put up real estate for sale or security is entirely unnecessary. There is no reason why a man's title to a given piece of land can not be made clear once and for all. The Torrens bill not only promises relief from the bother now so frequently experienced, but it also means money saved to property owners in the way of examination fees. Every owner of real estate should write his representative and senator and urge the passage of this measure.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP WEST

President Wilson's week of speech making came to an end yesterday and this afternoon he reaches Washington. With New York as a starting point, the President struck out West as far as Kansas, making addresses at ten or more of the large cities, some of them professed strongholds of anti-preparedness. Putting forth strenuous effort, President Wilson has warmed to an eloquence in his pleas for adequate preparedness such as he has seldom shown. Just what this tour has accomplished in the way of gaining converts to the preparedness program soon to be threshed out in Congress is not known, but it has served to show the deep earnestness behind the pleas which have been coming almost continuously from the White House for sometime. From present indications the trip just ended will prove beneficial to the preparedness program as well as to that other important issue of the near future, the nomination of the Democratic candidate for president.

QUANTICO, PRESENT AND FUTURE

That something unusual was going to happen at Quantico has been felt for sometime. Just what this something was has been the subject of wild speculation on the part of cracker-box philosophers in that quaint old village of lower Prince William. All sorts of rumors have been floating around and only this week have many of them been given knock-out blows. Now for the first time has the veil been partially lifted and we are given a glimpse of Quantico as it will be in the year future.

To the citizens of Prince William, especially to those living in the lower part of the county, the establishment of a big steel plant at Quantico has the greatest significance. While it seems too good to be true, still, the news article given on the first page of this paper has been given reliable confirmation and it is firmly asserted that in a very short while Quantico as it stands today will be no more. In its place will spring up Prince William's "magic" city. Just what this boom will mean to our country is hard to predict; that it will be of very great direct value to the whole lower half we do not hesitate to proclaim.

It looks as though it will be a difficult task to get a fair-sized contribution from Prince William for the sufferers in war-stricken Europe. Why is that several hundred dollars were raised for the Belgians a little over a year ago and now twenty-five dollars can not be raised for world-war sufferers?

ADVERTISING AND HARD TIMES

Whenever times get dull the thoughtful business man reaches out for that bracer, newspaper advertising. At the same time he gives more thought to every other phase of his business—salesmanship, purchases, display of goods, extension of credit, elimination of useless expenditures, etc. Never will you see a thoroughly wide-awake firm stop advertising during a dull season; the all-important need of advertising, especially at such a time, can not be gainsayed. In fact, the time when good newspaper advertising pays most is during the dull seasons. At such times, however, advertising must be of value; poor advertising is given the crucial test during hard times. When a merchant wants business to pick up he must put life and significance into his advertising.

As a dispeller of hard times, nothing is so effective as good, regular advertising in a home newspaper of merit. This statement is backed by the fact that year after year big business houses pay out enormous sums for advertising during the dull seasons. If advertising did not prove profitable during business slumps it would be only a short while and advertisers would cease to contract for the great amount of space they now use during seasons of depression. But no argument is necessary to conclusively establish this point. Every reader of daily newspapers and the better magazines already knows this statement to be true. It's the small business man, who is destined to stay small if he does not awake to the fundamental need of keeping his name and offerings before the public, that needs to take to heart the seriousness of failing to advertise, especially during dull seasons.

OILY RAGS ARE DANGEROUS

Those who search for lessons in the happenings of everyday life will not have to look long for the lesson to be drawn from a narrowly-averted fire at the Manassas Baptist Church last Sunday evening. Some members of the choir, upon smelling smoke, started an investigation and found that rags saturated with oil had caught fire in a closet and that the fire had spread to some near-by excelsior. The timely discovery of this case of spontaneous combustion certainly saved great damage to the church, if not its destruction.

Spontaneous combustion is something which is of a mystic nature, to the notion of many, and it is looked upon as being unusual and rare in occurrence. Such ideas need dissipation. There are several different types of spontaneous combustion but one type in particular is that associated with oily rags. To prove to yourself how easy this type of spontaneous combustion can be brought about saturate some rags in machine or floor oil, or even furniture polish, pack them rather closely in a tin can and put a lid on it. When you look in the can the next day the rags are apt to be very hot, if they are not in ashes. Many a fire is started by carelessness in the handling of oily rags. All rags and cloths which have oil on them should be placed in fire-proof containers, if "safety first" is to be the slogan.

WOMAN'S GREAT BATTLE FOR SUFFRAGE

Even those who failed to hear Miss Elsie Hill's brief address at the station platform in Manassas last Sunday morning will agree that there are numbers of women in this country who are apparently willing to make any sacrifice for the cause they put foremost. Say what he will against equal suffrage as a principle, one can not but admire the valor and self-sacrifice shown by many of its most ardent supporters.

The suffragettes of the United States are tackling the proposition in the only way that will gain the admiration of men voters. Militancy and other radical methods as were practiced in England a few years ago inevitably work harm to the cause. But sacrifices of self and facts set forth in the charm of womanly appeal have a way of getting next to men. If any women can land suffrage it ought to be women of the type represented by Miss Hill.

THE PRODIGAL HAS RETURNED

Just as we were about ready to give up hopes of seeing him again for another year, old King Winter returned this week. Perhaps his lengthy absence from these regions was due to the black eye given him when he played rather promiscuously around zero just before his departure two weeks ago. Where he has been it matters not, but if you doubt the hearty welcome accorded the prodigal upon his return just take a look at the upward curves now prominently featured upon the physiognomies of the coal and wood men, farmers and orchardists. Even if Mr. Ground Hog did not see his shadow Wednesday we are more than glad to have you, King Winter, tarry a while yet, but please don't lay yourself liable to another black eye by flirting too strongly with Miss Zero.

Week before last Richmond raised over fifty thousand dollars to aid the suffering and sick in war-stricken Europe. MISS HILL IN A DEBATE

Woman Suffrage Upheld At Bristersburg—Speech From Station Platform Sunday.

Many people of Bristersburg, Fauquier county, had their first opportunity to hear a woman speak from a public platform on Saturday night last when Miss Elsie Hill, a worker in the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, debated on the topic of votes for women in the high school at Bristersburg.

THE DEBATE NOT DECIDED The debate, which was listened to with interest by a large crowd, was on the subject: "Resolved, That Congress Submit the Susan B. Anthony Amendment to the State Legislature."

SHORT SPEECH AT MANASSAS It was not generally known that Miss Hill was going to make an address from No. 16 last Sunday morning, hence a small crowd was present at the station when she alighted for a few moments and spoke in part as follows:

I have no pedestal or box to stand upon. People think that women should be on a pedestal where they are not able to touch anything. Some people say that a woman's place is in the home. But woman's place is not only in the home but in all places where it is necessary for her to be and where she is needed.

The women are anxious to discuss important affairs together with the men and to go to the polls with them and express their sentiments. Women are anxious to express their views now and don't want to have to fight any longer for the ballot.

BENNETT SCHOOL VISITED

"Good Roads Day" Program at Manassas Graded School Enjoyed by Patron.

EDITOR MANASSAS JOURNAL:—In conversation with a friend of mine, who is a farmer, I was indulging in some remarks concerning the successful cultivation of crops that must have impressed him with their lack of a working acquaintance with the subject. At least I inferred this much, from what he said in reply. With fine courtesy he refrained from any argumentative refutation of the views I had expressed, but my academic theorizing went glimmering when his say was said. With quiet emphasis he pointed out the fundamental requirement which governs profitable harvests—intelligent and thorough preparation of the soil.

I went to school last Friday afternoon for the first time in many a year and was taught a lesson which I and my fellow patrons of the Manassas graded school need to bear in mind. The lesson is—that the fundamental basis of moral and intellectual culture is not to be sought or found in the high school or college (indispensable as these institutions undoubtedly are to cultural completeness). It is to the graded school that we must look for the preparation of the soil in which the tree of knowledge begins to grow.

Truth is always true because it is the one thing most easily and habitually forgotten. We keep on doing, doing, and the rising bell must be rung again and again. I have written nothing that is not as familiar as the face of a friend, but in educational matters familiarity seems to breed contempt, if we are to judge by the ceaseless trumpeting of college and university claims to the comparative exclusion of the graded school.

It was a genuine treat to visit the Manassas graded school, and to mark the discipline and deportment, to say nothing of the inspiring program rendered by the pupils of the 7th and 8th grades on January 28th—"Good Roads Day." The pupils themselves arranged the program under the diplomatic oversight of the principal, Mrs. C. M. Larkin, and with the assistance of Mrs. Hodge, the musical instructor, a number of beautiful selections were rendered. As a demonstration of the paramount importance of the graded school in an educational system the occasion left nothing to be desired. T. D. D. CLARK.

BASKETBALL GAMES

EASTERN WINS THE GAME

Strong Rockville Academy Goes Down in Defeat Before Eastern's Crack Squad.

One of the best games of basketball ever played on a local floor was the game of last Friday evening between Eastern College and Rockville (Md.) Academy. Anticipating a lively and hard-fought contest, Eastern put forth her best line-up and the student body and lovers of the sport from Manassas were on hand early to witness the contest. And just as had been anticipated, the game was a close one from start to finish, each side putting forth its best effort, but Manassas taking the offensive most of the time.

When the opening whistle sounded each team was on its mettle. Soon the ball was put in lively motion and kept that way. The close of the first half found Eastern well in the lead, having 13 points to its opponent's 7. But with the second half Rockville put forth a tremendous effort to catch up with and pass Eastern. Eastern, however, was wide awake and played as well in the second half as it had played during the first twenty minutes. Rockville managed to get one more point than Eastern did in the second half, thus cutting down Eastern's lead to 5 points. The whistle blew and Eastern was victor by the score of 25 to 20.

On Eastern's team two players stood head and shoulders above their fellow players. Those were H. E. Atkinson, of Elon College, N. C., a new student at Eastern, and Frank Keefe, the star who recently entered college again. Atkinson, well over six feet in height, played with accuracy and great speed. He is as good in field work, guarding and passing, as he is in shooting goals. Keefe, who is always depended upon, did not seem himself in the first half, although he played well. In the second half he did better, but even then his work was not equal to his best.

For Rockville, Wetherow and Higgins were the principal players. Indeed, had Rockville a whole team of Wetherows, it would be invincible. The big center gathered in twelve of Rockville's points, the other eight going to the credit of the little, but plucky Higgins. Wetherow seems to be a specialist in throwing field goals from a long distance and his partner, Higgins, does not lag far behind him.

HIGH SCHOOL LOST TWO Games With Remington And Woodberry Prove Disastrous To Local Squad.

(By W. M. Johnson)

Manassas High School lost both games on its trip the first part of this week. The game Monday night with Remington High School was close, and in a larger hall would have gone to the credit of the locals. As it was, Manassas outpassed Remington throughout the game but the low ceiling prevented good shooting and the game was lost 25 to 18. The line-up and summary follow:

THE GAME WITH WOODBERRY
Tuesday afternoon Manassas faced Woodberry Forest on the latter's floor. The game started with a rush and Woodberry took the lead by a goal from the floor and a free toss. Manassas then passed them with two field goals in rapid succession and for about ten minutes the game was fought on even terms. Then the Manassas defense crumbled and the whole team went to pieces and the half ended 30 to 7 in favor of Woodberry.

The second half was like the first, being close-fought in its early stages and opened to wide the class, and the final score was 53 to 1, with Manassas on the short end.

The line-up and summary follow:
WOODBERRY POSITION MANASSAS
Cole, Right Forward Green
Lockett, Left Forward Meetze
Barbee, Center Prescott
Pruden, Right Guard Harrell
McCall, Left Guard Green
Substitutions—Lile for Barbee, Baker for Pruden, Johnson for Prescott.
Field goals—Lockett (11), Cole (9), Barbee (2), McCall (2), Pruden, Lile, Meetze (2), Green, Prescott, Watson. Foul goals—McCall (2), Barbee, Harrell (3). Referee—Mr. Taylor. Time of halves—20 minutes. Score—53 to 13.

VICTORY OVER GREENWICH

Upper Prince William High School Defeated by Local High School Team.

The Manassas High School basketball team has finally gotten a taste of victory in the season of 1915-16. The game played between this team and the Greenwich High School team at Eastern College gymnasium on last Friday afternoon resulted in a score of 23 to 12 in favor of the local boys. On account of the warm weather, and because Manassas did not feel the need of exerting itself to any extent, the game did not prove as interesting as have former contests.

The first half saw Manassas pile up seventeen points to Greenwich's 6. This was done in a ragged way, and had Manassas been facing a team such as it faced the week previous there would have been a different tale. The second half closed with six points to the credit of each team for efforts expended during that half. Towards the close of the second half Manassas substituted freely to give several of its players a little practice.

The best playing for Manassas (and very little was done by any) was that of Meetze, Watson and Johnson. Meetze was in good shape and despite his lightheadedness held his own against his heavier opponents, caging four baskets in the first half. Watson did good work, but not up to his usual standard. Johnson also did some good aggressive playing, getting two baskets. Greenwich seemed to lack the nerve to "wade in." The lack of practice and the small number of games played probably accounts for it. C. Hansborough played best for his team, caging during the game 3 baskets.

To the spectators the latter part of the game proved particularly amusing. When E. Rice was put in as left guard the fun began. The manner in which he guarded his man, the way they seemed to be sewed together, caused much laughter.

The line-up and summary follow:
Manassas Position Greenwich
Johnson, Right Forward House
Prescott, Center Bailey
Harrell, Right Guard Taylor
Substitutions—Watson for Prescott, E. Rice for Watson, Whitmer for Watson, Simmons for Johnson, Griggs for Meetze, Field Goals—Johnson (2), Meetze (4), Prescott, Harrell (2), Watson, House, Reid, Bailey, Hansborough (3). Foul Goals—Harrell (3). Officials—Referee—Mr. Roads. Timekeeper—Green. Scorer—Preston Morris. Time of halves—20 minutes. Score—23 to 12.

A. E. Leasne of Springfield Gives a Recipe for Getting Over the Blues

A. E. LEASNE
"If you ever get the blues," he said, "it is well to know the simplest and best way to get rid of them. Crankiness, nervousness and general unpleasant condition preceding the blues usually are due to the relaxation grip of constipation on the nervous system. The simplest way to meet this condition is to have a box of Rexall Ointment in your pocket and the best way is to take one when you feel the attack coming on. It is the finest laxative for men, women and children I know of and is a regular antidote for the blues—the best ever."

We have the exclusive selling rights for this great laxative. Trial size, 10 cents.
