DAIRMEN AT PROSPECT

Barnyard and Feeding-room Talks by Agricultural Expert Meet Again Oct. 7.

(W. R. Hooker, Secretary)
Prospect Dairy Farm, owned by Messrs. Conner and Kline and operated by Mr. J. M. Kline, was the scene of the Prince William County Dairymen's Association meeting Saturday afternoon. Autos and buggies began to drive into the well-kept premises soon after dinner and by 2 o'clock a goodly crowd had gathered. Considerable time was spent by all inspecting the herd of about thirty cows and heifers. This herd is an honor to the owners and an excellent example of what can be accomplished in building up a high class dairy herd. The baby calves seemed to be the pride of the owners and they are surely looking forward to better cows than they now have.

Mr. J. B. McNulty, of the Dairy Division, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., selected three cows from the herd and used them as good individuals to show wherein to look for strong and weak points in a dairy cow. Mr. McNulty's talk to the dairymen right in the barnyard was a most helpful and interesting one. Every one seemed to feel that the logical place for such talks is close to the herd. This we believe is the first meeting held under such conditions in the vicinity and being only the first one the association plans to have we look forward to many good meetings and much good for all.

After finishing the barnyard talk the crowd gathered in the feeding room where benches and chairs were provided for all. In assembling here all persons had to pass by a most generous can of lemonade very kindly prepared by the Kline family for the occasion. Mr. McNulty then addressed the gathering on cow-testing association work, and as a result fifteen dairymen present, representing herds aggregating nearly three hundred cows, signed a paper to form a cow-testing association in Prince William county. It is the aim to have at least twenty-five herds and about four hundred cows in the testing association. An agricultural college graduate will be hired to visit once a month the herds and weigh the milk night and morning from each cow, record the weight, take a sample of each cow's milk, test it for butter fat and record same. He will also assist the dairyman in feeding by helping him balance his rations properly. The feed of each cow will also be weighed and careful record kept. Using the data obtained at these visits the tester will compute what each cow is doing and what it costs to feed her, and finally ascertain whether she is being kept at a profit or not. This work ought to mean thousands of dollars to the dairymen of the county each year, because it will put the matter of the production of the cows in plain figures to each man who joins the testing association. There are about 350 associations of this kind in the United States, and we feel that this is the biggest thing that has been done to make Prince William the leading dairy county in Virginia.

As indicative of what this work will be expected to do here we give what one association accomplished in five years. When the testing began in 1911, the cows averaged 6,483 pounds of milk and the average profit was $32.40; in 1915, the average production was 8,648 pounds and the profit was $66.02. This

COME TO THE TOWN HALL

Messrs. Meetze and Hottle Ask Co-operation in Cemetery Improvement.

A meeting is to be held in the town hall Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to discuss plans for improving the condition of the Manassas cemetery. Everybody is urged to be present.

All persons interested in the proper care of the cemetery are asked to leave a contribution with Mr. Pattie of the National Bank of Manassas or Mr. Ratcliffe of the People's National Bank.

Messrs. C. J. Meetze and M. J. Hottle, who have taken the lead in the clean-up plans, estimate that the sum of $10 will cover the expense of cutting over the entire cemetery and removing all trash.

All contributions over the immediate need will be left at the banks for future use.

These weeds should not be allowed to go to seed.

COUNCIL SELLS BONDS

Baltimore Firm Buys Bonds at Par Permit Returned to Mr. Robertson.

The town council, in session last night, accepted the bid of Gardner L. Boothe, of Alexandria, for the $20,000 bond issue, at 5 per cent. par. Mr. Boothe represents a Baltimore firm.

The permit issued to B. Lynn Robertson to build an addition to the warehouses of the Manassas Feed, Supply and Implement Company, which was withdrawn last week, was re-issued upon the authority of a letter from an insurance company which stated that the erection of the one-story building of wood and corrugated iron would not increase the insurance rate on the surrounding property.

A son was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Portner.

Simply means that the net profit of the dairymen in that community was doubled in five years.

Will it mean anything to have the dairymen of Prince William county double their net profits in five years?

This interests not only the man who is dairying but the whole community. Help the good work along.

Mr. Mason, of the Southern Railway Company, also made an excellent talk to the gathering. Mr. Mason emphasized the line of thought that Mr. McNulty advanced and urged hearty co-operation therefor. He said that the two things most hopeful and helpful that he saw about the dairy interests of the locality are first the organization and second the good bulls. These two factors will make for the rebuilding of the herds and general dairy interests here, and if Mr. Mason is correct Manassas can be made to mean the dairy center of the United States; may be made to mean what Waukesha, Wis., has meant for years. We have natural advantages over that section. If we only equal their energy and mental activity we can reach that most estimable goal. Fellow dairymen, let us to the work, each man improve his own herd, eradicate every trace of disease and keep his premises like Prospect Dairy Farm, so clean that any one can be invited to enter the barn and inspect, speak or listen to an address.

The October meeting of the association will be held at the farm of Dr. F. L. Smith, near Bristow, Saturday, Oct. 7, at 1:30 p. m. Make this coming meeting even more significant than the last by larger attendance and more thorough co-operation until then.

WED AFTER FIFTY YEARS

Civil War Romance Culminates at Altar—Virginia Woman Marries Union Soldier.

With the marriage recently at Le Mars, Iowa, of John C. Ruble, of Pennsylvania and Iowa, and Mrs. Virginia Melvin Hord, of Washington and Virginia, a romance which began more than fifty years ago was culminated. The couple were married after they had been separated during the civil war and had given each other up for lost.

The couple first met during the war. Mr. Ruble's regiment, one from Pennsylvania, encamped on the farm to which Dr. Melvin, for sixty years a Washington physician, and father of the bride, had gone as a place of refuge from the strife. There Mr. Ruble met the eldest daughter of Dr. Melvin. They loved, but Dr. Melvin objected to a marriage at that time because his daughter was but 14 years old and also on the grounds that Mr. Ruble was a Northern soldier, he being friendly to the Southern cause.

PLANNED AN ELOPEMENT.

The couple planned to elope. Virginia Melvin donned a soldier's uniform, but failed to get a pass through the lines. About the same time the Pennsylvania regiment was ordered away. The soldier-sweetheart had to go with his colors; the would-be bride was sent to a private school. Later Mr. Ruble was wounded.

Years passed and the couple lost track of each other. Virginia Melvin met James Hord and they were married. They had nine children. Mr. Hord died about eighteen years ago. Mr. Ruble married a cousin, settling in Iowa. His wife died more than a year ago.

After both had married they heard of each other again and corresponded at intervals. When the G. A. R. encampment was here about thirteen years ago, Mr. Ruble and his wife at that time paid a brief visit to Mrs. Hord, who was then visiting at Meetze, Va.

AGAIN AT LAST ENCAMPMENT.

Last fall when the "boys in blue" again held their encampment here the veteran returned with his little grandson, Billy. Mrs. Hord was then living with three of her daughters at 1404 Park road. When Mr. Ruble arrived he happened to ask a young man on a street car how to get to the above address. The young man, Thomas Weedon, knew the family and saw to it that Mr. Ruble met his former sweetheart.

They renewed their friendship and upon his return to Iowa the pair corresponded, with the result that Mrs. Hord was invited to visit Mr. Ruble and see if she liked the country. The romance prospered and the wedding date was fixed for Aug. 2. But the interested parties fooled their friends by moving the date forward a bit and were married quietly July 26 by a comrade of Mr. Ruble's, A. A. Aline, an 85-year-old veteran. Mr. Ruble is a member of the Masonic fraternity. —Washington Star.

DAVID BREEDEN DROWNED

David Breedon, 24 years old, is said to have been drowned last Friday while bathing in the Monongahela river, near Conway, Pa. His body has not been recovered.

Mr. Breedon is a brother of Messrs. Joseph and Albert Breedon, of Manassas, and was formerly employed in the candy factory here. He is survived by his wife and one child, living on his farm in Canada.

WOMAN MAKES LONG TOUR

Mrs. Dick O'Bannon Takes Neighbor and Her Children on Trip From Texas to Detroit.

Mrs. Dick O'Bannon, of Sherman, Texas, motored into Detroit last week in her pet automobile Bill.

Bill is a touring car with a fine appetite for the open road, but a very moderate thirst. "He is strictly temperance," said Mrs. O'Bannon. "I kept close track on his gasoline consumption and it averaged 24 miles to the gallon on the long trip from Dallas to Detroit."

Residents of her home town are all wrought up over Mrs. O'Bannon's long tour. She says the folks are betting against her making a finished job of it. The men folks are particularly skeptical, merely because she set out to show the tour could be made without a man along.

Besides Mrs. O'Bannon there are her neighbor, Mrs. R. E. Minshew, and her three children, Allan, aged 13; Frank, 9, and Mary Grace, 4. Then there is a lot of baggage, bedding cooking utensils, etc., for the O'Bannon party is doing a lot of camping out along the trail. Altogether Bill is loaded down with 1,000 pounds avoidupois.

Since he hit the trail at Dallas, Bill has passed through Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. Before he takes his precious party back home he's going back to Ohio, thence to New York and finally he will take in Washington, because the children want to see where the President of the United States lives.

It's all a matter of geography. Mrs. O'Bannon says her children have learned more about their country this summer than they could have absorbed in five years at school.

"The old-fashioned way of learning geography was through books," she says. "But there's no use doing that when we have Bill. Bill takes us wherever we want to go. We've had no trouble. We've taken some rough roads, but Bill thrives on punishment. I've driven a car less than a year, so I'm still an amateur. I don't know any tricks about saving gasoline, but I have kept close record and we've averaged 24 miles to the gallon all the way through." —Ex.

HOW TO GET RID OF ANTS

Elementary steps for avoiding and getting rid of ants in the household are discussed in a new publication of the Department of Agriculture, Farmers' Bulletin 740, by C. L. Marlatt. The necessity of cleaning up any of the substances which might tend to attract the pests is strongly emphasized. Cake, bread, sugar, meat and similar articles are especially likely to attract ants, it is explained.

Where it can be safely used a sirup poisoned with arsenate of soda has been found effective. The formula for this sirup is one pound of sugar dissolved in a quart of water, to which should be added 125 grains of arsenate of soda. This mixture is boiled and strained, and on cooling is used to moisten sponges, which are placed where they can be reached easily by the ants. The arsenate of soda is poisonous to human beings and to animals as well as ants, and its use must be safeguarded by the greatest precautions.

The Guild of Trinity Episcopal Church will meet members of the vestry at the church Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

MRS. SILLING DIES TODAY

Interment to Be Made Sunday at Bealeton. Two Children Survive.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Silling, wife of the late A. J. Silling, died early this morning at her home on West street, after a lingering illness. Interment will be Sunday morning in the family burying ground at Bealeton. Rev. J. F. Burks, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, will conduct the services.

Mrs. Silling was born seventy-five years ago in Augusta county. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. G. Raymond Ratcliffe; a son, Mr. Cameron A. Silling, of Washington, D. C., and a brother, Mr. Charles T. Donaghe, of Augusta county.

LETTER TO MR. ROUND

John L. Rice, Attorney at Law 300 Main St., Springfield, Mass. ASCUTNEYVILLE, VT., Aug. 5, 1916
GEORGE C. ROUND, Esq., Manassas, Va.

MY DEAR MR. ROUND:—Your very kind and pressing invitation to attend the Sudley jubilee on the 8th inst. came to me here where I am passing my summer vacation, and I need not assure you that it appeals to me very strongly. But at my age and in my uncertain condition of health my family think it would be very imprudent for me to undertake so much of a journey during the summer heat.

The celebration should be a notable one, for the occasion is auspicious and the time is ripe for it. I should greatly enjoy participating in it, for, as you know, I have been one of the pioneers in the blessed work of reconciliation now so happily completed between the north and south. Besides, Sudley Church is associated in my memory with an episode in my life which I love to recall. As an enemy I was ministered to in my dire extremity by two of its members, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Benson, and the beautiful Christian spirit which they showed forth on that occasion has left in my mind a lasting impression of the power of the simple faith taught by the Master and which the Bensons accepted in all its fullness.

I pray you extend my greetings to Sudley Church and my regret that I am unable to attend the jubilee.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) JOHN L. RICE.

Mutuals and Unpaid Losses.

Receivers' accounts have been filed with the Pennsylvania Insurance Department for eleven defunct mutual fire insurance companies in that state, which have in the aggregate $120,000 outstanding losses. These were the companies used by Frank W. Anthony & Son, New York brokers.

A son was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Davies.

the assemblage. Lieut. Round immediately demonstrated his training in the Federal army, selecting words from Bishop Hendrix's speech.

HYMNS OF JUBILEE.

Rev. Mr. Clark led in the singing of the Manassas anthem, "United," the chorus being swelled by the Sudley choir. The remainder of the musical program included the concert singing of hymns of jubilee.

Rev. Edward Amies Roads, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, South, pronounced the words of benediction.

An old-fashioned picnic dinner was enjoyed in Sudley grove.

SUDLEY WELCOMES HOST

Great Crowd Gathers at Methodist Reunion and Picnic on Bull Run Battlefield.

Bishop Eugene R. Hendrix, senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and Rev. Dr. John F. Goucher, of Baltimore, representing Bishop Earl Cranston, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, clasped hands Tuesday morning in the shadow of the peace memorial erected on the court-house green to commemorate the first reunion of the Blue and Gray.

The visitors were carried by automobile to the historic Henry farm and then to Sudley Methodist Episcopal Church, South, where a Methodist reunion was held.

HISTORIC SUDLEY.

Sudley Church is a quaint, old-fashioned frame building, the bricks of the original structure having been sold into the surrounding country after the war. The little edifice stands on the edge of the two battlefields where wounded soldiers were rescued by its war-time members and cared for in improvised hospital quarters in the church. Gen. Jackson is said to have left his men for prayer during the march past Sudley Church in 1862.

Lieut. George Carr Round, associate chairman of the committee in charge of the festivities, presided over the exercises held at Sudley. Lieut. Round read thirteen verses from the jubilee chapter of Leviticus, the jubilee welcome in verse which was written in 1911 by the late Col. Edmund Berkeley, C. S. A., and a letter from Mr. John L. Rice, a Springfield, Mass., attorney, whose life was saved by the timely appearance of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Benson, after the battle of Bull Run.

BISHOP HENDRIX SPEAKS

Bishop Hendrix, one of the leaders in his denomination to bring together the two branches of the Methodist Church, made an address which drew keen attention from all his listeners.

Bishop Hendrix, as had been expected, chose as his theme the unification of Methodism, building his plea around the word "Together."

"The testimony of our religion," said Bishop Hendrix, "is what we do for human man. The peace conference was a failure. How are we to restore human brotherhood? Nothing but the Christian church can do it. The union of the Methodist churches will bring it about." Dr. Goucher echoed the words of the prelate, adding his plea for the reorganization of the churches. "There is no fundamental difference between our church and the Southern church," said Dr. Goucher, "the difference exists only in government."

PASTOR OFFERS WELCOME.

Rev. C. K. Millican extended a cordial welcome to his distinguished guests and to the host of visitors who assembled at Sudley Church. Brief addresses were made by many of the guests, including Rev. T. D. Clark, of Manassas; Rev. John Smith, of Warrenton; Capt. O. H. Oldroyd, of the Lincoln Museum, Washington, D. C., and Dr. J. F. Heisse, of Baltimore, editor of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The prayer of jubilee was offered by Rev. George T. Tyler, of Fairfax court-house, a member of the committee in charge of the event.

Bishop Hendrix presented Lieut. Round a palm tree as a suggestion that it might be used in sending a special message.

OUR PRESIDENT.
Another president might have constructed and established an efficient and equitable financial system, but Wilson did it. Another president might have kept us out of war in the midst of the Lusitania hysteria, but Wilson did it. Another president might have kept us at peace with Mexico while still using our army to enforce American rights on Mexican soil, but Wilson did it. Another president might have maintained peace within our borders by keeping the Hyphenates on one side and the Jingoos on the other both loyal to Americanism, but Wilson did it. Another president might have kept the United States in a position to aid suffering non-combatants the world over, from Belgium to Armenia, from Poland to Siberia, so as to make the name "America" respected and loved as never before, but Wilson did it. Another president may do as much for our country as Wilson. Can we hope that any mortal man, subject to mortal errors and failings will do more?—Fuch.

When is a Sub-Marine?
Can a citizen volunteer for training in the duties of the United States Marine Corps, holding himself in readiness to take the place of a regular marine killed in war, be properly termed a sub-marine?
That is what the "rookies" now at the Marine Corps training camp in Lansdowne, Pa., would like to know.
Friends of the citizen "sea soldiers" are telling them that a marine, not regularly a marine, although coached in the signals and likely to be called upon to "pinch hit" for a regular marine, must necessarily be a sub-marine. The "rookies" themselves say that Noah Webster overlooked this knotty problem when he wrote his best seller, and they are calling on sports editors to decide the question.

TANLAC RESTORES LADY'S HEALTH
Had About Given Up Hopes When She Decided to Give the Remedy a Trial.
The following statement, which is one of the thousands, which proves beyond doubt the merit of the new medicine, Tanlac, was made by Mr. D. D. Childress, of 306 27th street, Norfolk, Va., whose wife suffered from nervous prostration and a general breakdown. He said:
"She suffered from nervous prostration and general breakdown. I read of the great benefit others had gotten from Tanlac. Her relief through the use of Tanlac was as follows: Her nerves are alright and says she feels fine in every way. I recommend Tanlac because my wife had been treated in several hospitals and we had about given up hope until we used Tanlac. She is now restored to good health entirely and glad to recommend this new medicine to anyone desiring to know about it."
If you are a sufferer from stomach, kidney or liver trouble you can very wisely give this remarkable medicine a trial, which is now on sale at Dowell's Pharmacy, Manassas, Va. Adv.

AIDS FLOOD VICTIMS
Notwithstanding its own losses from the recent floods in North Carolina and with the desire to see the entire fund contributed by citizens go to relieving actual necessities in the storm-stricken district of Western North Carolina, President Fairfax Harrison, of the Southern Railway, has authorized the free transportation of shipments from the state relief committee of clothing and other supplies consigned for gratuitous distribution among those who suffered.

WHY NOT?
South Boston opens up this month as an automobile manufacturing town. Richmond is already in the automobile swim, Farmville, Victoria, Petersburg, Suffolk, Danville and half a dozen other Virginia towns know how, or can learn to make automobiles. There is no law forbidding Virginia to be as great an automobile-making state as Michigan. Why shouldn't she?—Times-Dispatch.

Congress, in enacting the rural credits bill, and President Wilson in approving it, have abundantly carried out the pledge written into the party platform at Baltimore. But that is a Democratic characteristic. The party will meet its obligation by putting the law into effective operation with the same determined purpose with which it has caused to be passed this and other measures it has promised to the people of the United States.—Atlanta Constitution.

JULY INCORPORATIONS.

The July exhibit of new corporations is another body blow to the Hughes theory of "temporary prosperity." The grand total of all companies with an authorized capital of $100,000 or over, covering all states, including those of the East for July, reached $320,057,500, an increase of 141 per cent over July last year. The papers filed for charters for new companies in the Eastern states with a capital of $1,000,000 or over reveal a total of $217,662,500. This is about 206 per cent larger than in July a year ago, and 217 per cent greater than for July two years ago. In keeping with the monthly showing of some months back, all lines of industry are embraced in the enterprises; and many of these industries represent competition as to products we depended almost entirely upon Europe for before the war.—News-Leader.

JERSEY CITY'S SUSPICIONS.

Jersey City is so wrought up over the explosives question since the disaster of Sunday morning that it is looking with doubt upon all strange forms of freight. An embargo has been placed upon cars laden with detonating composition, and guards are stationed at the railroad yards to make sure that nothing explosive comes into town. The other day one of the vigilant inspectors found that on a certain train was a car which, according to the conductor's manifest, contained casein. That sounded suspicious. Modern powders and explosive ingredients bear strange names, and anything that is unfamiliar is likely to be of this sort. So the inspector, playing "safety first," held up the train pending an explanation. Later somebody who once worked in a cheese factory came along and expounded the fact that casein is an ingredient in cheese-making, whereupon the train was allowed to proceed. It would be well if the Jersey City authorities would supply their guards with a specific list of all the new and peculiar names given to explosive materials, otherwise some perfectly innocent breakfast food or line of wearing apparel may suffer from the embargo.—Star.

WOMEN IN OVERALLS.

The novel parade of thousands of British women industrial workers, many of them in male attire, through the streets of London as a demonstration of their work in the war, while a gratifying spectacle for John Bull's momentary edification, is not without its unpleasant reminders. For one thing, it draws attention to the fact that of these women who are doing men's work during the war, many will continue to hold men's jobs afterwards. This is as certain as that women work for smaller wages than do men. With the return to civil life of some millions of men now engaged in warfare, and the dumping of their services on a labor market largely supplied by low-priced female workers, the period of readjustment following the conflict is not calculated to arouse the most pleasurable anticipations. At the outbreak of the war England had 1,500,000 "superfluous women," which number has been greatly increased by the effects of the strife. Today there are 2,000,000 women earning industrial wages, which makes it evident that in a sense the "superfluity" has been passed over to the men, or will be with the return of peace. That Great Britain recognized the problem entailed by this condition is evidenced by the curious coincidence that while the trousered women were parading the streets of London, Sir Rider Haggard was embarking from New York after a tour of Canada with the purpose of making arrangements whereby large numbers of discharged British soldiers may take up homesteads after the war.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

SUMMER RELIGION

This is the "dead" month in the religious life of the ordinary American community; the month when the church is closed, the Sunday school dispersed and the minister away on his annual vacation. The only person who is not resting from his labors is he whom our forbears used to call the "Adversary."

There is no doubt that discontinuing the church work for a month is a serious detriment to the religious life of any parish. It really deducts more than a month from the church year, for time is required to get going again in the fall. Moreover, it breaks habit, which is as useful in churchgoing as in anything else.

The remedy is union services, which many of the smaller cities and large towns now hold throughout July as well as throughout August—a plan that makes no interruption in the church-going habits of those who wish to go, and that yet gives a month's vacation to each of the ministers of the two churches that join hands for the summer.

The plan has much to commend it. Hearing a new minister is broadening and intellectually refreshing. It shows the old truths from a new point of view and affords an opportunity to stock the mind with fresh images and illustrations. Sunday-school teachers get the benefit of seeing how the work goes on in other classes than their own, and the pupils have the pleasure of hearing new teachers. Best of all is the promotion of a community religious life instead of one that is merely sectarian.

For those persons who leave town for a vacation of one or two months, the question of church attendance must, of course, be decided somewhat according to local conditions, but it seems a pity to decide it in favor of staying away altogether. Almost always there is some church within walking distance, and there was never one yet that did not welcome strangers. Summer people think too much of their own convenience and too little of the church in their vacation resorts. They do not realize that even if they get little themselves from attending,—and often they can get much,—their presence helps to give encouragement to the minister and zest to the meetings. And the contribution box has no prejudices.

There is really no more reason for omitting during the summer those religious observances by which you sustain your moral health than there is for omitting during the same period the baths, exercise and fresh air on which you sustain your bodily health.—Youth's Companion.

TYPHOID WATER.

The danger of drinking bad water is rather startlingly illustrated by the case of the Mount Clare baseball team, nearly all of whose members contracted typhoid fever during one of their recent trips. It may be unfair to say they contracted it at any particular place until the suspected water has been analyzed, but there seems no doubt that water was the medium by which the disease was communicated. Baltimore water has been bad enough in the past, and may probably still be safer when boiled, but the water of small towns and even of the countryside is often even worse. Every summer the doctors warn us to investigate the water supply which we use on our vacations, and every summer many people ignore this warning and come home with typhoid in their systems.

Considering the danger from this source, and considering the efficacy of the inoculation against typhoid, it is strange that so many of us continue to avoid a comparatively simple precaution. If we neglect or refuse to adopt means which has saved armies from a scourge frequently more deadly than bullets, it would at least be wise to view all water with suspicion whose harmless character is not first established to our satisfaction.—Sun.

THE LABOR SHORTAGE

The Western states have been complaining against the shortage in farmhands, but as this situation is almost chronic, no great amount of attention has been attracted to the general condition which prevails. The state employment office in Boston, however, now reports that there is a general shortage even on the farms of the East, close to the large cities. The demand from employers for help in the past month is reported as 76 per cent more than in the corresponding month of last year.

The call for help has applied generally to farm laborers and it is admitted that there is a very pronounced shortage of able-bodied men.

Throughout the East the metal trades also have been facing the same difficulty, and it is noticeable that there is a growing demand for young men to fill the places made vacant by the legislation governing child labor.

Housework girls are at a premium, with the demand far exceeding the supply in all the Eastern cities. Strikes and new labor legislation, as well as the decimation of immigration and the general conditions of prosperity have brought about this general labor shortage.—Post.

Your Wife Should have a bank account and pay her bills by check. It's the modern, business-like, economical way. It tends toward careful management, gives a better idea of the relation of income to outgo, provides a receipt for each payment, as well as a record of date, amount, etc. And it often leads to the creation of a substantial reserve fund with which to realize a fond ambition or meet an emergency. The lady of the house is invited to call and learn how easily she may open an account in this strong bank, and the conveniences which we place at her command absolutely without charge.

YOUR GIRL?

Is she following the fashion set by the undressed chorus girls of the stage?

Is she bedecked in flimsy garments meant to display the contour of a shapely figure?

Is her walking dress cut so low that one would think she was on her way to the opera and so high that the color of her stockings is discernable?

Are her fingers, neck and arms covered with gaudy jewels cheaply imitated on the five and ten cent counters? Is her face rouged and powdered with the freedom of a brazen demimonde?

Is she dining, drinking and dancing with the giddy midnight throng in an atmosphere of excitement?

Is she joy riding on Sundays and neglecting the church and her father and mother?

Is the pursuit of pleasure, frivolity and fashion the consuming passion of her heart?

Is she going the pace in a restless desire to shine in the blinding light of the cabaret and to be known as one of the fast set?

Is she walking the primrose path of dalliance with no thought of the journey's dreadful end?

Are her companions lifting her up or dragging her down?

Is she seeking the love of one true man or basking in the sunshine of many without manhood?

Is her modesty a mockery, the prayer book and Bible relics of the past and mother's advice the played-out whim of the antiquated?

Is she no longer a comfort to those at home, the confiding delight of her mother and the pride of the family circle?

If this is your daughter, are you proud of her? Look at her latest photograph. Then take down the picture of her mother or grandmother.

Which do you like the better? And which do the men of real youth prefer?

JULY RAINS BRING PETS

Mosquitoes Breed Rapidly in Stagnant Water Left by the Heavy Rains.

Mosquitoes in unusual numbers may be expected this week on farms and in cities where drainage has not sufficed to carry off the heavy rains of late July.

This forecast by the State Board of Health was coupled with a warning to householders to protect themselves against all mosquitoes, as the species which spreads malaria breeds under exactly the same conditions as the harmless culex mosquito.

According to the board the unusual rains of July have thoroughly saturated the ground in many parts of the state and have left pools of stagnant water. In these the mosquitoes lay their eggs which, in approximately two weeks, become the familiar destroyers of repose and carriers of malaria. In addition, the board points out, mosquitoes will breed in slowly-running water and even in the weeds and grass on the banks of flowing streams.

"When mosquitoes come from a relatively small area, they can usually be destroyed by breaking up their breeding places," says a special bulletin of the board.

"This can be done by draining or by filling and by the removal of all useless vessels and holes about the premises. Sometimes mosquitoes will breed in neglected rain barrels, old cans or even in the footprints of animals in heavy soil, once any of these become filled with water. Two weeks or even less will suffice to breed in this water a crop of mosquitoes that will make life miserable even where it does not actually spread malaria.

"Where screens are relied on to protect a household from malaria, these must be carefully placed and of a mesh not larger than what is known commercially as 'Number 14.' Where a coarser mesh is used or where the premises are not completely screened, mosquitoes will find access and will be especially objectionable inasmuch as they will hide during the day and return to their work night after night. In the country, a favorite means of access to screened rooms is down the chimney—a feat of which the mosquito is thoroughly capable.

"In districts where malaria is prevalent and where mosquitoes breed in large numbers, safety is best had by taking immunizing doses of quinine during the malarial season and by continuing this treatment until fall. The effect of the quinine is such that even if a person be bitten by a malarial mosquito, the parasites will not develop in the blood. The preventive treatment is outlined in a special bulletin of the State Board of Health on Malaria, which will be sent free upon request, but this treatment can best be taken under the direction of a competent physician. It is highly important, also, for those who are recovering from malaria to continue the quinine treatment for some weeks after the chills are broken. Otherwise, if bitten by malaria mosquitoes, they may in this way give the disease to others whom the mosquitoes attack.

"Full literature explaining the prevention of malaria will be sent by the State Board of Health free upon request."

Mrs. Thomas Howard is spending two weeks at Bradley Beach, N. J.

Mr. E. Keyser, of Thoroughfare, was a town visitor during the week.

Slip a few Prince Albert smokes into your system!

You've heard many an earful about the Prince Albert patented process that cuts out bite and parch and lets you smoke your fill without a comeback! Stake your bank roll that it proves out every hour of the day. Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

There's sport smoking a pipe or rolling your own, but you know that you've got to have the right tobacco! We tell you Prince Albert will hang the doors wide open for you to come in on a good time firing up every little so often, without a regret! You'll feel like your smoke past has been wasted and will be sorry you cannot back up for a fresh start.

You swing on this say-so like it was a tip to a thousand-dollar bill! It's worth that in happiness and contentment to you, to every man who knows what can be gotten out of a chummy jimmy pipe or a makin's cigarette with Prince Albert for "packing"!

THE Prince Albert tin, and in fact, every Prince Albert package, has a real message to you on its reverse side. You'll read—"Process Patented July 30th, 1907." That means that the United States Government has granted a patent on the process by which Prince Albert is made. And by which toasting bits and straw parts are cut out! Every where tobacco is sold you'll find Prince Albert awaiting you in tippy red bags, 5c tins, red tins, tin handbags, round and half-round tin handbags and in that clever crystalline glass humidor, with sponge-moistener top, that keeps the tobacco in such fine condition—always!

APPLES AND HEALTH.

A doctor's bill doesn't always have to be paid at once; apples are generally bought for cash. But in the long run apples are much cheaper than medical service. The old maxim still holds, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." As a people we have never eaten enough apples. We have lived too much on meat and white flour.

APPLE NESTS. 3 apples, 2 tablespoonfuls of flour, 1 teaspoonful of salt, 2 cupfuls of milk, three egg yolks, 3 egg whites, one-half cupful of sugar.

STEAMED APPLE WITH INDIAN PUDDING. Scald two cupfuls of cornmeal with boiling water. Add one teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter cupful of molasses and two tart apples, cut into eighths and cored, but not pared.

APPLE PAN DOWDY NO. 2. Fill half a baking dish with sliced apples and sprinkle over them a little sugar and cinnamon and a few bits of butter.

APPLE AND WILD GRAPE JELLY. 1 peck of grapes, 1 quart of vinegar, 4 tart apples, 4 tablespoonfuls of whole cloves, 1/2 cupful of stick cinnamon, brown sugar.

APPLE "BIRD'S NESTS." Fill a pie tin, which has straight sides, with apples, cored and cut into eighths. Add very little water, cover with butter crust and bake twenty-five minutes or until apples are tender.

APPLE SAUCE DUMPLINGS. 2 cupfuls of flour, 2 teaspoonfuls of baking powder, 1 teaspoonful of salt, 2 egg whites, 1/2 cupful of milk, 1/2 cupful of molasses, 1/2 cupful of butter.

APPLE PAN DOWDY. To a good sized baking dish cut up apples add 1 large dessert-spoonful of butter cut in pieces, 1/2 cupful of molasses, 1/2 large cupful of sugar, 2 teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, 1/2 cupful of flour.

FRIED APPLES AND SAUSAGE. Fry thin slices of bacon crisp in its own fat. Remove from pan and keep hot while frying apples that have been sliced across and cored, but not peeled, in the fat.

APPLE PAN DOWDY NO. 2. To a good sized baking dish cut up apples add 1 large dessert-spoonful of butter cut in pieces, 1/2 cupful of molasses, 1/2 large cupful of sugar, 2 teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, 1/2 cupful of flour.

APPLE PAN DOWDY. To a good sized baking dish cut up apples add 1 large dessert-spoonful of butter cut in pieces, 1/2 cupful of molasses, 1/2 large cupful of sugar, 2 teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, 1/2 cupful of flour.

APPLE JELLY. Wipe apples, remove stem and blossom ends and cut in quarters. Put in a granite or porcelain lined preserving kettle and add cold water to come nearly to top of apples. Cover and cook slowly until apples are soft. Mash and drain through a coarse sieve. Avoid squeezing apples, which makes jelly cloudy. Then allow juice to drip through a double thickness of cheesecloth or a jelly bag. Boil twenty minutes and add an equal quantity of heated sugar. Boil five minutes, skum sunny window and let stand twenty-four hours. Cover and keep in a cool, dry place. If apples are pared a much lighter jelly will be made. A clean rose geranium leaf dotted with apple jelly gives it a delicious flavor.

APPLE NESTS. 3 apples, 2 tablespoonfuls of flour, 1 teaspoonful of salt, 2 cupfuls of milk, three egg yolks, 3 egg whites, one-half cupful of sugar. Arrange cored and pared apples in a buttered baking dish. Mix sugar, flour, milk, add yolks of eggs. When well blended add well beaten whites. Pour this mixture over apples and bake in a moderate oven until apples are tender.

STEAMED APPLE WITH INDIAN PUDDING. Scald two cupfuls of cornmeal with boiling water. Add one teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter cupful of molasses and two tart apples, cut into eighths and cored, but not pared.

What She Said. "I understand she's going to marry the minister of her church?" "Yes." "How did it come about?" "When he first came here about a year ago she told him enthusiastically that he was the very man she'd like to have marry her when the time came, and he took the hint."

Always Open. Sunday School Teacher—Children, do you know the house that is open to all, to the poor, the rich, the sad, the happy, to man and to woman, to young and to old—do you know the house I mean? Small Boy—Yes, miss—the station house.

Bridge. First Bridge Friend—I once knew a man who had thirteen trumps and never took a trick. Second Bridge Friend—How soft? First Bridge Friend—His partner led an ace, he trumped; and then his partner threw him out of the window.—BRUNDMAN.

He Won't Go Out Any More. Rough—I understand Blink flunked out. Fusser (in agony)—What shall I do! What shall I do! Rough—Here, don't take it so hard. Fusser—But he was the only fellow I knew with a dress suit.—Chaparral.

HE WAS WISE. "So you have quit laughing at your wife's hats?" "Yes, the funnier they seem to me the more convinced she is that they must be in style."

Yes, Verily! A girl may consider Friday an unlucky day on which to wed. And she may not; it depends upon her age, 'tis said.

One Way. "Now," said the "movie" producer, "I want you to register intense longing." "How can I do that?" asked the actor. "Hum. Imagine yourself in a 'dry' town watching about a dozen people pouring 1,000 gallons of condensed liquor into a sewer."

Like a Woman. First College Professor—I don't know how to get that boy to do right. Second College Professor—Give him good advice. First C. P.—But he always does just the contrary to what I suggest. Second C. P.—Then give him bad advice.

A Midnight Episode. Mrs. Crimmonback (at the head of the stairs)—How you frightened me, John! Mr. Crimmonback—Why? "Oh, you found the keyhole so quick I was afraid it was somebody else."

He Was Loaded. Mrs. Boossem—John, you were very careful last night. Mr. Boossem—How so? Mrs. Boossem—You put all of your clothes in bed and started to go to sleep in the wardrobe.

We've Seen That Kind. "At a certain part of my new dress all the lights go out," said the playwright. "What's the sense of that?" asked a man who had seen the piece; "nobody could see the plot, anyway."

Mean Thing. Sae—After all we've been reading in the papers, don't you believe now women could fight? He—Oh, I never doubted it, if it came to the scratch.

CORRECTED THE GENERAL

The Gunner Thought He Might as Well Set Him Right.

Those famous British officers, General Havelock and Colonel Maude, were both short of men after the capture of Cawnpur, and they coveted twenty gunners of the Spurgin-Dickson force. Finally they could stand the temptation no longer, and with a "press gang" spirit in their minds, they went on board the steamer Burrampootra and picked out the best of them.

The poor fellows protested as well as they knew how, manufacturing all the Indian diseases they could think of, but to no avail. Necessity overrode compassion.

As soon as the men had been selected General Havelock ordered them to parade.

SALUTED IN AN AWKWARD MANNER.

and then proceeded with his usual pomp to deliver to them a Napoleonic oration.

"My men," he began, "I have come to thank you for so nobly volunteering to assist your country in the hour of her great peril." The general halted for breath.

The men evidently did not understand the situation and were puzzled at the precise meaning of the high sounding language. But one word was evident to them. As the speaker halted one of the gunners stepped forward out of line, saluted in an awkward manner and said:

"By pardon, sir, we shall no volunteers at all; we only come because we was forced to."

Ready witted as the general was, this new view of the case took him so completely aback that he collapsed, and with a word brought the parade to a sudden end.

Lofty Thoughts.

It is an old and familiar saying, but worth repeating every once in awhile because it means so much and is so tremendously true, "We are not what we think we are, but what we think we are."

Didn't Ruffie Him.

M. Maeterlinck, unlike most men of letters, has one of the calmest natures imaginable. Nothing seems to ruffle his temper, and he takes all things as they come. While he was dining at a big restaurant some time ago a clumsy waiter spilled nearly a whole plate of clear soup down his back.

The author of "The Blue Bird" never turned a hair, but looking calmly at the flustered waiter, merely remarked:

"It was thick soup I asked for."

Different From a Brick.

Franklin Matthews represented a newspaper during the Russo-Japanese war, and one day succeeded in breaking through the news censorship and reaching Field Marshal Oyama. The interview was brief, but extremely courteous, and the jubilant correspondent hurried back to prepare the story for his paper. In the course of it he used this expression: "Marshal Oyama is a brick."

The letter was duly passed along to the official translator, and presently Captain Kanaka of the marshal's personal staff called upon Matthews.

"Marshal Oyama presents his compliments," said the captain suavely, "and regrets to inform the esteemed correspondent that his honorable letter cannot be forwarded as written."

"Why, what's wrong with it?" cried the amazed war scribe.

Captain Kanaka explained with polite gravity:

"Marshal Oyama," he said, "objects to having the great American public regard him as baked mud."

"For that is what the extremely literal translator had made of 'brick.'"

No Waste.

"You can't waste much on these stony hills, I reckon?" said an angler to a tired-looking farmer.

"Oh, yes, stranger; we generally get fine crops," the farmer replied.

"But you don't raise much grain?"

"Sure we do. We raise a sight of barley. I don't know what we farmers round here would do if it wasn't for our barley crops."

"What do you get for the stuff?"

"Oh, we don't sell a grain of it."

"Feed it to your stock?"

"You don't catch us wasting barley like that."

"Well, what do you do with it, then?"

"Why, we save every grain of it for seed."

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Life's hard tasks are never sent for us to give up with, they are intended to awaken strength, skill and courage in learning how to master them.

A FEW DESSERTS.

So many people these days find bran such an addition to the diet that the following recipe will be welcome:

Bran Pudding.—Add to one-half cupful of bran and the same of whole wheat flour, one-half cupful of chopped, seedless raisins, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one cupful of milk, one well beaten egg, one tablespoonful of butter, melted, one teaspoonful of lemon rind and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Steam two hours and serve hot with lemon sauce. This is a most healthful dessert.

Cocoanut Cream Pudding.—Mix well one teaspoonful of flour with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and a fourth of a cupful of shredded cocoanut. Cook five minutes after it begins to boil, then cool and add a beaten egg, and a few drops of vanilla. Pour into custard cups, surround with water and bake until firm. Serve with a fruit sauce.

Cafe Parfait.—Mix one-half cupful of strong coffee with a pint of cream, sweeten to taste, place in a bowl of ice water to chill, whip until thick and place on a mold packed in ice and salt. Be careful to have no liquid in the mold.

Cottage Cheese Pie.—Mix together two cupfuls of cottage cheese, two tablespoonfuls of milk, two well beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls of sour cream. Mix a half teaspoonful of flour, a third of a cupful of sugar, a fourth of a teaspoonful of lemon extract, a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, and half a cupful of currants, add to the first mixture and pour into a pastry lined pie plate. Bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center.

Banana Pie.—Press peeled bananas through a ricer to fill a cup. To this add a half cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of molasses, half a teaspoonful of salt, one beaten egg, one-half a teaspoonful of cinnamon, half a cupful of milk and a third of a cupful of cream. Mix thoroughly and bake until firm in a plate lined with pastry.

Nellie Maxwell THE KITCHEN CABINET

All things come to him who waits. But here's a rule that's stickier, The man who goes for what he wants Will get it all the quicker.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Brown a cupful of well washed rice in two tablespoonfuls of butter, then add a small onion cut in shreds; stir and cook until the onion is slightly browned; add two cupfuls of hot broth, half a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of paprika; cook until tender, adding more broth as it is needed.

When done add two tablespoonfuls of sausage fat and two canned pimentos cut in bits. Turn out on a platter and surround with cooked pork sausages.

Calf's Liver on Casserole.—Fry five slices of fat salt pork until brown. Add to the hot fat one dozen potato balls, one dozen carrot balls, one stalk of celery, six onions sliced. Cook very slowly for ten minutes, then place in the casserole. Cut in thin slices a liver and lay it on top of the vegetables. Season with salt and pepper, add a pint of boiling water and a tablespoonful of kitchen bouquet. Cool one hour.

Geetes.—Boil two pounds of flank beef until tender, then put it through the meat grinder. Put into the liquid left from boiling the meat one pound of coarse oatmeal; cook thirty minutes then mix it with the meat; season with pepper and salt and pour into a mold to cool. Cut in slices and fry brown. This is a dish similar to scrapple and is served with or without strap.

Potato Pancakes.—Peel and grate six potatoes after they have soaked in cold water two hours. Mix with a grated onion, two eggs, half a teaspoonful of baking powder and enough flour to make a thin batter. Fry the cakes until brown.

Philadelphia Scrapple.—Cook a pig's head in boiling water until the flesh slips from the bones; chop the meat fine. Remove the fat from the liquid when cold and reheat the liquid to the boiling point, adding a teaspoonful of salt for each quart of liquid with pepper to taste; stir in carefully, stirring constantly, cornmeal, to the consistency of mush. Let it boil vigorously for a few minutes then cook more slowly for half an hour. At the last stir in the meat and turn into pans to cool. Cut in slices a half inch thick and fry brown. Serve hot for breakfast.
