

GALLAUDET IS TROUNCED

Eastern's Regained Form Takes Visitors Off Their Feet in All Departments.

Eastern's pigskin men have regained the pace which they hit in the first two battles of the season. Last Saturday on Eastern field they romped away with Gallaudet's husky combination. The final register was 36-6.

It was evident from the first that Eastern meant business. Gus Pohl dodged the oval across the line during the initial minutes of play. His brother successfully booted the goal.

In fact the scoring was kept in the Pohl family. Each of the red and white's four touchdowns, as well as the two goals from touchdown, was made by the twin or the other.

Gallaudet's only tally resulted from a fumbled forward pass in the first quarter. The toss was misjudged and shot above Gus Pohl's head. He was unable to bring it down securely from its elevation. Burns, of the opponents, who had broken through Eastern's line, grabbed the ball in the bound and raced to the unguarded tape for six points. Gallaudet's toe expert failed to make his unit on the following kick.

The first half closed with the Washington eleven on the lighter end of the 7-6 scales. Some anxiety was felt by the home formation for the unplayed half, as the visitors displayed nothing but bright football in the two past periods.

However, all fear was dispelled shortly after the whistle to resume play, when it was seen that Eastern had "come back" to play. Hasson at left end dropped men who ventured within his range; his tackles were sure. The maker piloted his men in his usual heady manner, while Ferguson at left end opened the blue-grey line like a shell from a machine gun.

The deaf mutes were allowed to get one first down. The home fighters on the other hand gained yardage and checked all tricks. It is not to be thought that the Capital squad is soft, but that the Manassas warriors have "got the goods."

Tomorrow the Easterners journey once more to Washington where they will meet the strong Washington representa-

EASTERN FACULTY AT TEA

Prof. and Mrs. Mosher Entertain at Their Residence—Other Eastern College News.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Watson Mosher, jr., entertained the faculty of Eastern College at tea Friday afternoon at their home on Lee avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Mosher were assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Coles and Miss Rixey.

The following musical program was rendered:

Violin numbers—Mr. Mosher—Rode's Aire in G, first performed at Oxford University, 1852; Gypsy Airs, Opus 20, Pablo de Sarasate, 1844; Caprice Venois, Fritz Kreisler, Opus 2, 1912.

Vocal number, violin obligato—Miss Swartley—Gounod, 1842. Reading—Miss Martin. Vocal solo—Miss Margaret Roop.

After the program tea was served in the prettily decorated dining room, where Eastern college colors, red and white, predominated.

The following guests were present: President and Mrs. Roop, Miss Margaret Roop, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge, Rev. Alfred Kelley, Miss Kelley, Mrs. Kengla, Mr. Lucas, Miss Allen, Miss Cotton, Miss Slicer, Miss Swartley, Miss Mozer, Miss Martin and Master Austin Kengla.

The Hallowe'en festivities of Eastern College are now an event of the past, but all who participated will not soon forget their good time.

The gymnasium was artistically decorated with autumn leaves, corn shocks and pumpkins. The refreshment booth, from which later in the evening was served cider, sandwiches and gingerbread was attractive in garlands of orange and black, characteristic Hallowe'en colors. A gypsy booth in which one might learn his or her fortune occupied one corner of the stage, while other entertainments for those whom the strains of music did not lure out on the floor were arranged on other parts of the stage. However, there were very few who could resist tripping to the strains of the music, and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

The Washington Irving Literary Society of Eastern College will hold its regular meeting this evening. A short business session will precede a well-planned program. This phase of college life this year is proving more interesting than last year.

CORNER STONE IS LAID

Monument to Be Erected to Confederates Dead on Shiloh Battlefield.

The cornerstone of the $50,000 Confederate monument to be erected on the Shiloh battlefield was laid with Masonic ceremonies Saturday. The monument will stand near the old Shiloh meeting house at Pittsburg Landing, Tenn. The monument when completed will represent years of patient work on the part of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

There are but three monuments to Confederate dead in the national military park at Shiloh. The new monument will be the most imposing in the park. In the center rises a bronze group, the subject of which is "Victory Defeated by Death." Under the figures set in the granite is a bas-relief of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, who was killed at Shiloh. At either end of the granite monument is a group of soldiers. All the bronze figures are heroic in size. The front of the monument measures thirty-five feet across.

The monument was designed by Frederick C. Hibbard, of Chicago.

VICTORY ASSURED

The most remarkable election in history has come upon an unsuspecting nation. Newspaper men, who have the business of election returns down to a science, were unable to give even remotely the result of the election on the following day.

The crowds kept their eyes on the returns for hours on election night; drifted to sleep with dreams of "President Hughes," and were roused from their morning slumber by the roaring tide to Wilson. Another day and still the count was close, with Wilson in the lead and many doubtful states.

Today democratic victory seems assured.

THE COAL SHORTAGE

Not one but many natural and artificial causes are responsible for the increased price of coal for domestic use, which, at least in New York, has reached the high point of $12 a ton. In the first place, there is a tremendous consumption of coal in factories throughout the country, which are running day and night to fill domestic as well as foreign orders. Many of these factories with orders to fill within a specific time, are buying coal for use months ahead to make sure that they will not fall short.

Moreover, because of their shortage of equipment, due to restrictions placed upon their revenues in the past, the railroads are unable to haul all the coal which is ordered, while because of the war there have been large increases in shipments of coal to foreign countries, especially Canada.

There is no real shortage in the coal supply. The bureaus of the government which collect such data are authority for the statement that the annual consumption of coal in the United States is 500,000,000 tons, while the capacity of the American mines is 750,000,000 tons.

At the present time the railroads are carrying more coal than they ever did before, and they are using every available car, but still have not enough. The car shortage on October 1, as shown by figures compiled by the American Railway Association, was 19,872.

Looking into the future, the time must come when the government will take a more liberal attitude in enabling the railroads to finance the larger needs of equipments and new trackage, and incidentally, as a means of relieving the growing demand for coal, which increases the price there, must eventually be sane water power legislation, so that this great resource may be used for the creation of power for many of the local railways and factories which are now relying upon power from steam.—Washington Post.

MR. DODGE IS APPOINTED

Federal Forest Patrolman to Investigate Forest Fires in Manassas Section.

(R. C. Jones, State Forester)
Mr. J. H. Dodge, of Manassas, was recently appointed a Federal Forest Patrolman, for the territory covering approximately a 20-mile radius of Manassas. It is the duty of Mr. Dodge to investigate the causes of forest fires, assist in fighting them, post notices containing the State Forest Fire Laws, and most important of all to have the people realize that forest fires are a menace to the whole community. Where sufficient evidence is secured the violation of the law will be prosecuted.

Fires not only destroy timber, young growth, and game, but they also affect the stream flow by the destruction of the soil cover. It is for this reason that the Federal Government, and the State Forester, have offered to cooperate with every county to secure fire protection.

Patrol is needed only two months during the spring and two months during the fall, and if the counties make a small appropriation to secure a Federal patrolman, the State Forester will spend at least an equivalent amount of Federal funds. Thus if a county appropriates $100 for forest fire work the county will secure the service of a patrolman and at least $200 will be spent on the work that year.

Eight counties now have from one to four patrolmen, and all are well pleased with the results secured.

Mr. Dodge's territory will cover the central part of Prince William, the western part of Fairfax, and the west central part of Fauquier counties, and it is hoped that this will serve as an example, so that the counties will each want a Federal Patrolman for their county.

ALEXANDER-LYNN

Miss Anna May Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Lynn, of Alexandria, and Mr. James Clinton Alexander, of Minnieville, were married in Alexandria last Thursday by the Rev. Eugene B. Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Their marriage was a surprise to their many friends in Prince William and Alexandria.

The happy couple arrived at the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. D. C. Alexander, about 8 o'clock on the evening of the marriage. Their arrival in Minnieville was announced by the ringing of large dinner bells throughout the village, after which a sumptuous and delightful dinner was served in their honor.

After dinner, while all were conversing happily, a band of serenaders headed by Mr. W. H. Arrington, an old Confederate veteran, sallied forth from unknown quarters with tin pans, buckets, horns and cow bells. As they approached the gate the brave young couple marched boldly out to meet them. After congratulations were extended and received the party came back to enjoy a pleasant evening at Mrs. E. J. Alexander's hospitable home.

The bride and groom returned to Alexandria Sunday afternoon to make that city their home for the present.

Your Wife Should have a bank account and pay her bills by check. It's the modern, business-like, economical way. It tends toward careful management, gives a better idea of the relation of income to outgo, provides a receipt for each payment, as well as a record of date, amount, etc. And it often leads to the creation of a substantial reserve fund with which to realize a fond ambition or meet an emergency. The lady of the house is invited to call and learn how easily she may open an account in this strong bank, and the conveniences which we place at her command absolutely without charge.

Our slogan is, "It is a pleasure to serve."

SHOWING THE BEST THERE IS IN MOTION PICTURES

TONIGHT

"THE LOVE MASK," with Cleo Ridgely and Wallace Reid, Paramount Picture. This is a gripping Western drama. It has to do with the adventures of a young woman who goes to California in 1849 when the mad rush for gold is on. This is told in one of the most novel stories ever offered the public.

SATURDAY

"THE BAIT," with William Clifford and Bettie Hart, a Mutual Masterpicture. In presenting this picture we shall show one of the best dramas of today. Matinee at 3:15.

TUESDAY

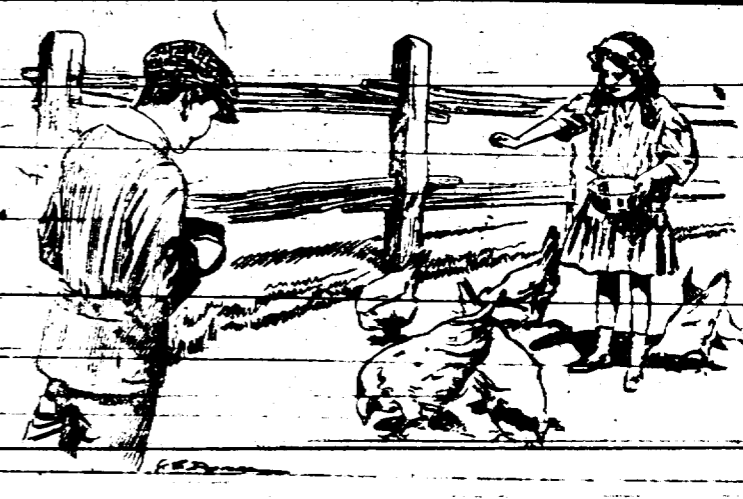

"CONSPIRACY," with John Barrymore, Paramount Picture. Again you will see the screen's foremost comedian. Most everyone enjoys a polite comedy, and in John Barrymore you see one of the greatest comedians.

THURSDAY

"MOLLY MAKE BELIEVE," with Marguerite Clark, Paramount. The many thousands who have read Eleanor Hollowell Abbott's celebrated story, "Molly Make Believe," will recognize at once that Marguerite Clark is ideally suited to play the role of the delightful Molly, one of the most lovable little characters in all fiction. To present Miss Clark, we are compelled to make a slight advance in admission of five cents.

FRIDAY

"THE RED WIDOW," with John Barrymore, Paramount Picture. In this celebrated comedy John Barrymore has the opportunity to demonstrate beyond all doubt his right to be called the foremost comedian of the screen today.

PORTABLE HOUSE FOR NESTS

Fowls Not Permitted to Lay in Poultry House Proper—Cleaning is Very Small Task.

"I have always had my hens' nests in the poultry house and when the mites began to trouble them it was a hard task to have to scald, disinfect or whitewash the entire building, so I planned to have portable nesthouses, not allowing hens to lay in the poultry house at all. Cleaning these houses is such a small task it need not be dreaded," writes Mrs. L. E. Armour of Pleasant Hill, La., in Progressive Farmer. "Every portion of them can be easily reached. Then they can be placed under a sheltering shed during winter and under cool, shady trees in summer.

"They are built on posts 4 feet high and are 12 feet in length and 3 feet wide. There are two rows of 12 nests, one on each side of the door. A single 12-inch plank forms the floor of the hall between the nests. Eight-inch planks form the wall behind the nests. The roof is made of four 12-inch planks, two on each side. The ones just above the rows of nests are hinged and are opened upward.

"Besides lightening the work of mite fighting, these houses have dark nests, which all hens like, and are good protection against nest-robbing dogs. A short ladder at each door is necessary for the hens to get to the nests."

TO DISCOURAGE SITTING HEN

Roosting Coop Will Force Fowl to Roost on Center Shaft—Quick Results Are Assured.

"The device consists of a coop made of lath about two feet square and swung on a shaft set a little above the center so that most of the weight will be below the shaft on the lower part of the coop. The ends of the shaft are set on posts about three feet above the ground. It is impossible for a hen to sit on the slatted bottom and if an attempt is made, the rocking and tipping of the coop will soon make her seek a more stable support, and the only one within the coop is the shaft passing through it, and the most persistent broody hen is usually glad to roost on it the first night," writes Benjamin R. Bush of Bay Shore, N. J., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Coop for Broody Hens.

"When hen has perched two nights she may be considered cured. This coop will accommodate three or four hens without crowding and insure quick results."

FOR SUCCESS WITH CHICKENS

Not So Much Depends on How Many Are Hatched as Upon What Percentage Are Raised.

Success with chickens depends not so much on how many are hatched as upon what percentage is raised. The cold rains we have had recently found many early hatched chicks ready prey. An accident rather than acute reasoning once placed us in possession of what we consider the very best way to save the life of a chilled, wet chick. There were so many soaked at one time that we simply could not wrap them separately or place them in the oven. A pan of very warm water on the range prompted the man of the house to suggest dipping the chicks as he had dipped small pigs. For lack of anything better, we tried it, dipping the chicks and wrapping up several together in flannel cloths. It worked like magic. The warm water seemed to affect them much quicker than dry clothes or moderate heat would have done. Since then, we've restored young chicks so far gone we doubted they had any life left in them.

ANIMAL PROTEIN FOR FOWLS

Buttermilk is Considered One of Best Forms—It Should Be Fed in Stenware Vessels.

Buttermilk is one of the best forms of animal protein to be had and on account of its cheapness in the next few years it will become a very common feed in the poultry yard. You can get it at most local groceries at one cent per gallon. It should be fed in stenware vessels.

CLIFTON

Rev. J. F. Burks, of Manassas, will conduct services at the Clifton mission chapel Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Services in the Presbyterian Church, Rev. Alford Kelley, pastor, for the coming Sunday will be as follows: Teachers' training class at 9:30 a. m.; subject, Lesson 4; Sunday School at 10 a. m.; subject, World's Temperance Sunday; preaching at 11 a. m.; subject, Deny Thyself; Christian Endeavor meeting at 7:30 p. m.; subject, How to Be Strong.

Visitors are cordially invited to all services. The community fair which was held at the schoolhouse Saturday was decidedly a success, the exhibits being many, good and varied in class. There were so many classes that Mr. Fowler had not ordered a supply of ribbons large enough to cover the list of awards. The numbers of the winners were announced and the ribbons will be distributed later at the school building. A speaker will be present on the occasion of the awards.

The corn and vegetables were judged early and after lunch Mrs. C. Ferguson and Mrs. W. H. Richards judged the fancy work, drawing, etc. Later the crowd assembled in the hall upstairs. Mr. Fowler made a few remarks, after which Mr. Hutchins, of the United States Department of Agriculture, was introduced. Mr. Hutchins gave a talk on horticulture, giving valuable information on planting, pruning, cultivating and spraying. Mrs. Hodge presided at the piano during the afternoon.

Rev. W. L. Naff preached at the Baptist Church Sunday morning and evening to large and interested audiences. Rev. Alford Kelley, assisted by Mr. William Foote, of Manassas, gave a stereopticon lecture on South America Tuesday evening in the Presbyterian Church. The lecture was illustrated by 70 views, which were very beautiful and interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ford and their daughter Virginia returned to their home in Richmond Wednesday.

Mr. R. B. Dorsey and his daughter, Mrs. Haycock, recently left Clifton to spend the winter in Washington. They were accompanied to Washington by Mrs. Tortelot and Miss Tortelot, who have returned to their home in Chicago.

Miss Sallie Ford is visiting her niece, Mrs. Mantiply.

Miss G. F. Marshall is at home, having recovered from her recent operation.

Mrs. Fristoe and Mrs. Charles Crossen are still among the sick ones.

Mr. G. A. Hall has been sick for several days.

A DREAM SERMON

BY MARGARET H. BOWEN.

[Author's note.—This dream sermon is offered, not for any literary or theological merit, but simply as evidence that the mind acts connectedly in sleep, a disputed question among metaphysicians.]

I have been requested by the bereaved husband of my departed friend to offer my personal tribute to her memory and character. I know, full well, the attitude of this audience in regard to a woman's speaking from the pulpit. But, how trite, how meaningless seem all such conventionalities and prejudices in the presence of death! Realizing, most painfully, that I shall see her no more clothed in mortality, I come to place the chaplet of my love and tears above her silent heart. Upon no special text shall I base my remarks, but from God's entire Word, so full of hope and comfort, to all in such hours as this, will I draw consolation.

When life's skies are bright, when all is well, we pause not to question the future. But when death comes, when the shadows lengthen, and we stand in the presence of one we love—so cold! so silent! so strange! we ask, with Job, of old, "If a man die, shall he live again?" I would not be able to answer this question were I to draw from all the wisdom and philosophies of the ages. But the gentle Master, weeping with the stricken sisters of Bethany, has answered it. "I am the Resurrection and the Life; he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, shall he live." And, as He unlocked the prison door of death and Lazarus came forth, so will He unlock the sealed lips of my dead friend, and she will live again clothed in immortality and endless life. There can be no death where God has breathed His spirit, and into her heart and life He entered, and as He lives so will she. The casket in which her lovely spirit once dwelt is ours, but the jewel is with God. And now, my duty is done—"Take her and lay her gently in the earth. And from her fair and unpolished dust may violets spring."

MODEL EXHIBITED

The Dairy and Food Department has had constructed, and has on exhibition in the office of the Commissioner, in the State Library Building, Richmond, Va., a simple and inexpensive sterilizer for use in connection with the state requirement for the sterilization of vessels, utensils, etc., used at soda fountains, hotels, restaurants and other places in dispensing beverages and foods. Cuts, specifications and working directions may be had free of cost on application to the Dairy and Food Commissioner, Richmond, Va. Other methods than the use of a steam sterilizer may be employed and the state requirements be complied with, but the State Food Department recommends steam as the most efficient and practicable means of sterilization, and they have provided a working model for an apparatus that can be duplicated by any tinner at a moderate cost.

LIFE ETERNAL
REV. ROBT. M. RUSSELL, D. D., Teacher of Bible Doctrine and Homiletics, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago
Life eternal is a condition of existence involving both quality and quantity. The quality is really the supreme feature, for endlessness to be a blessing must mean the perpetuation of that which is desirable.

Life is Knowledge.
Life has been defined as the functioning of an organism with its environment. All life therefore is a form of knowledge, and is high or low, broad or narrow, in accordance with the environment that is apprehended.
The worm has a low order of life because its environment is simply the soil. The worm knows nothing but mud, and that by the one sense of touch. Bird life is higher than worm life. The bird knows the earth and the air, the sky and the clouds, and has delight in the fellowship and song of its mates.

Knowledge That is Life.
The knowledge of God, which constitutes eternal life is a personal knowledge. God may be known mechanically through his works just as men may be known through the buildings they have erected. Men may be known biographically in the story of their accomplishments; but this is not the same as a personal acquaintance. To know Abraham Lincoln as the author of the Emancipation Proclamation is a way of knowing him, but he was known in a better and personal way by soldiers who received his pardon when through excessive reactions they fell asleep on sentry duty.

Cannot Live for Self Alone.
So mysteriously are we linked with others in this world of mystery that we cannot fall in our duty without harming others nor tear ourselves bravely that others are not benefited.

"get on the water wagon" everywhere. At the conclusion of Mrs. Bell's recitation the choir sang, "A Saloonless Nation in 1920."

Rev. Mr. Clark made a short address in which the Anti-Saloon League and the W. C. T. U. were compared with a statement in Jeremiah, that those who "stood by the stuff," meaning the ladies who did the work of protecting the home, were given equal honor with the Anti-Saloon League which, like the soldiers of old, did the fighting for the legislative enactments.

Dr. and Mrs. Herwin U. Roop sang while the offering was being taken by Messrs. George D. Baker, C. J. Meetze, W. M. Rice and G. D. Hiner. The collection amounted to $48.60. Later contributions have swelled the sum past $60. Five dollars will be turned over to the W. C. T. U. and the remainder will be applied to the remaining Anti-Saloon League fund of $8,000.

The following resolution, introduced by Rev. Mr. Roads, was adopted by the meeting:

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Manassas in mass meeting assembled, express our sincere and unqualified appreciation of our honorable mayor, W. C. Wagener, and Sergeant C. H. Wine to suppress the illicit sale of spirituous liquors within the town of Manassas; and further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mayor Wagener, Sergt. Wine and to each of the local papers.

The meeting closed with the benediction by Lieut. George C. Round.

ADVISES FRIENDS TO TAKE TANLAC

Richmond Lady Urges All Who Suffer as She Did to Take New Remedy.

Mrs. J. W. Barley, of 110 East 12th Street, Richmond, Va., said, "I suffered from indigestion. I would wake up in the morning with sick headache and badly constipated and had a tired worn-out feeling all the time. My appetite was very poor and I would not eat anything for several days. I was extremely nervous and would have very bad dizzy spells. When I did eat anything it would cause me to have an uncomfortable full feeling in the stomach. A friend recommended Tanlac to me and since taking it I feel altogether different. My bowels move freely and those sick headaches have disappeared."

"My appetite is splendid and I eat everything with a relish and digest it perfectly. I am not troubled with that full feeling any more in my stomach and am gaining strength. I sleep good and am not nervous. Tanlac has benefited me so much that I advise all those troubled with stomach trouble to take Tanlac in preference to any thing else."

What Mrs. Barley says has been said by thousands of others who found relief through Tanlac. Now on sale at Dowell's Pharmacy, Manassas, Va. Ady.

ASKS FOR A SQUARE DEAL

Reader Urges School Attendance for the Proper Development of the Child.

(H. O. Russell)

A great many of us seldom realize how unjust we are toward our children when we detain them at home to assist in some work, that their little bodies are unable to stand, when they should be at school, acquiring the knowledge that is to shape their future.

Have you ever given this matter full consideration? Would it not be proper for you to sit down and consult your innermost feeling on this matter? Do you consider your standing perfectly agreeable to you?

Are you fully equipped to accept the office or position that you feel that you would like to have? You cannot expect to get a responsible position that you know nothing about. The way to attain what we most desire is to study; earnest endeavors to obtain the facts, which we lack is a sure way to success.

It is very essential that we take great care to see that our children derive the benefit of every school term. And it is just as essential that we try to keep them in the best of health that they may reap the full benefit of their studies. We cannot hope to do this by attaching household duties to their shoulders.

Education is the foundation of good homes; it makes you more independent, it gives you greater courage. You will not hesitate to place yourself in a position because you know that you are qualified to succeed, regardless of any obstacle that seems for the moment to be barring your way.

No person can hope to advance further than his qualifications will permit. Therefore, he must step aside to make room for someone who was more fortunate in obtaining the very qualities which he himself has lacked.

And so it is, the world over, that no person ever obtained something for nothing.

Now is the opportunity to see that your children are not neglected, so in future years when they reach out to accomplish what hundreds have failed to, they will be fully equipped to pass on up the ladder of success.

The world is a busy spot these days, and in order that we may hope to see our children fill one of the many high positions that are always open to new ideas, it is our most solemn duty to see and feel that we have not neglected for one moment anything that will be a benefit to them in the future.

If all our present young generation should be neglected—that is, if we did not send them to school—there would be absolutely no chance for our great America to keep pace with the balance of the powers of the world, or such of them that has offered every inducement for greater learning and training.

A great many may say that someone must do the simpler work. Do you want your child to be one of these? I would emphatically denounce anyone who would suggest such a thing to me. While we may not all reach the highest pinnacle of our chosen line, it is nevertheless a pleasant thought to feel that we are trying with all the vitality in our human frame to get as far as possible.

When you have assisted your children with all the resources at your command and they should make a failure in life, you may feel content in your mind; it was not due to your neglect.

"During this investigation, many manufacturers when asked the percentage of wool in their leading numbers pleaded ignorance. They knew nothing of the kind of wool or the dyes used in the fabrics"—from a report of the United States Department of Commerce after an investigation of the clothes-making industry, page 149.

In the light of this startling statement by the United States Government, it is interesting to know that in Kirschbaum Clothes nothing but pure all-wool fabrics are used.
