"INTIMIDATION" OF AMERICA

American troops are now engaged in force against the enemy along the Marne. Battles have been fought, the meager details of which indicate that the Americans have revealed their characteristic dash and staying power. All along the front, wherever Americans are moving forward, there is intense eagerness to get into the fight. The situation at points where the Yankees have appeared in force has been stabilized, according to French reports.

Of course, the entire American force in France is unequal to the task of holding back the Germans on any single front. The enemy outnumbers the allies everywhere. It seemed that Mr. Lloyd George had exaggerated when he said that all of the American force was only one-fifth of what Germany had shifted from the Russian front, but perhaps he was right. The number of German troops is not exactly known, but it is quite evident from the number of divisions employed in the last three drives that Germany has at least 1,200,000 men on the firing line or ready to step forward besides a reserve almost as large. The 500,000 German young men coming into the service this year are supposed to be ready for action. It is also reported that the situation in Roumania and Ukraina is such as to permit Germany to transfer another large body of troops to the west.

Against this present superiority is the unlimited supply of man power from America, flowing in a rapidly increasing stream to France. If the enemy could cut off that stream he would probably be able to defeat the French and British armies. Unless he can cut it off he is doomed to defeat in the field and collapse at home.

Finding that France and England can wage defensive war indefinitely while America's forces are assembling, and that the old submarine tactics did not interfere with the transport of American troops, Germany has undertaken the preposterously hopeless task of sending submarines 3,000 miles from base to prey upon and "intimidate" Americans and American shipping. "Intimidate!" What a word to describe the feeling which stirs America when she sees German submarines alaying vessels at the mouth of New York!

It is a common saying in England that Kitchener and Count Zeppelin created the British army. Whenever recruiting lagged, Zeppelin made an air raid over London, and the recruiting offices were overflowing with men who were anxious to risk their lives for one shot at a German. Every attempt by the boche to intimidate England and France has increased the determination of those nations to fight to victory.

There is a yellow streak in the German by which he knows that if certain acts are committed against him he will turn coward. He assumes that the same acts committed against others will make cowards of them. This is his theory of frightfulness, which includes the notion that perpetual harrying of the nerves of the females will cause a breakdown and a demand for peace by surrender to Germany. The German also counts upon the pessimism and feebleness of a considerable portion of the male population, and he hopes by committing atrocious acts to inspire in this class a defeatism that will work toward a coward peace.

This policy, carried out against America and Americans, will hasten victory for the allies as nothing else could. If the United States is still only half awake to the actuality of this war, the direct application of Hun frightfulness to Americans on sea and land will rouse it from its torpor.

It is not because America is endangered by the mosquito stings of the prowling submarines that this nation should redouble its energies and rush its forces to France. It is because France and Britain are holding on with tired men who are continually confronted with superior numbers of fresh enemies. These allies are fighting for the defense of America as truly as if the fighting were at New York or Washington. Not an effort that can possibly be made should be neglected or delayed in hurrying aid to the allied heroes. No American in authority has a right to sleep until his day has been packed full of effort. Every man, in uniform and out, who is charged with responsibility for any part of the government's work, should regard that part as specially assigned to him by the American people as a sacred trust, carrying with it responsibility for the lives of men and the safety of the republic.—Washington Post.

JUNE THRIFT DRIVE

Virginians are expected to respond to the great June thrift drive in such a way that on June 28 there will be none unenlisted in the vast volunteer army of production and saving. To this end President Wilson has issued an appeal to the nation to invest at once in Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps.

The President's appeal follows:

"This war is one of nations—not of armies—and all of our one hundred million people must be economically and industrially adjusted to war conditions if this nation is to play its full part in the conflict. The problem before us is not primarily a financial problem but rather a problem of increased production of war essentials and the saving of the material and the labor necessary for the support and equipment of our Army and Navy. Thoughtless expenditure of money for non-essentials uses up the labor of men, the products of the farm, mines, and factories, and overburdens transportation, all of which must be used to the utmost and at their best for war purposes.

"The great results which we seek can be obtained only by the participation of every member of the nation, young and old, in a national concerted thrift movement. I therefore urge that our people everywhere pledge themselves, as suggested by the Secretary of the Treasury, to the practice of thrift; to serve the government to their utmost in increasing production in all fields necessary to the winning of the war; to conserve food and fuel and useful materials of every kind; to devote their labor only to the most necessary tasks; and to buy only those things which are essential to individual health and efficiency; and that the people, as evidence of their loyalty, invest all that they can save in Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps. The securities issued by the Treasury Department are so many of them within the reach of every one that the door of opportunity is wide open to all of us. To practice thrift in peace times is a virtue and brings a great benefit to the individual at all times; with the desperate need of the civilized world today for materials and labor with which to end the war, the practice of individual thrift is a patriotic duty and a necessity.

"I appeal to all who now own either Liberty Bonds or War Savings Stamps to continue to practice economy and thrift and to appeal to all who do not own government securities to do likewise and purchase them to the extent of their means. The man who buys government securities transfers the purchasing power of his money to the United States Government until after this war, and to that same degree does not buy in competition with the government.

"I earnestly appeal to every man, woman, and child to pledge themselves on or before the 28th of June to save constantly and to buy as regularly as possible the securities of the government; and to do this as far as possible through membership in War Savings Societies. The 28th of June ends this special period of enlistment in the great volunteer army of production and saving here at home. May there be none unenlisted on that day!

"(Signed)
WOODROW WILSON."
June 1, 1918.

To the Teachers of Prince William County.

In order that the $10,000 appropriated by the General Assembly of Virginia, for a wage for tubercular teachers at Catawba, be available, it is necessary that the teachers of the state contribute $15,000 before the close of this session.

Members of the committee in charge of this fund must have reports from the various counties by June 15th.

It is therefore earnestly requested that the teachers of Prince William county, who have pledged to this cause, and who have not already done so, send in the amount of their pledges at an early date.

If you haven't built your giant fly-trap after the plans recommended by the State Department of Health, this is the time to begin. If you have lost your Virginia Health Bulletin of May, 1917, in which the plans are given write today to the Department for another copy. The fly is the aviation department of the disease-germ army. If you don't kill him or screen him out, or both, he will "get" you or some one dear to you sooner or later. Swat him now, both by wholesale, with the giant trap, and by retail with the ordinary swatters.

—A colored man, whose name is unknown to the town authorities, was arrested in Washington on Thursday morning just as he was about to board the Southern train. When taken into custody he had three suit cases filled with liquor.

SECOND RED CROSS WAR FUND DRIVE

Mrs. Corbin Thompson, Chairman of Occoquan Branch Sends Check for $400.

A check for $400 has been sent to the Second Red Cross War Fund by Mrs. Corbin Thompson, chairman of the Occoquan Branch of the Manassas Chapter, as that community's contribution to the $100,000,000 drive for funds to continue the big Red Cross program of war relief.

The principal meeting of the drive at Occoquan was held on the evening of May 24 on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson at Woodbridge. Representative Charles C. Carlin made an address, Col. Pettis made a short talk on the work of the Red Cross, and Major Starr made the appeal for funds.

About three hundred soldiers from Camp Bally-McElroy, a short distance away, were present, and these soldiers were among the most generous contributors. A band from Quantico made music and also contributed to the fund.

The ladies of the Red Cross branch sold strawberries, ice cream and homemade cake, netting the sum of $90. The soldiers helped with the serving and the officers' wives also lent their assistance.

Among the contributions received were the following: Officers of D. C. Reformatory, $40.23; Tyson Janney, Corbin Thompson and Mrs. F. R. Chambers, $25 each; Mrs. Corbin Thompson and E. V. Bush, $10 each; other citizens of community, $43.20; hat collection, $37.77; Company D, $27; Company E, $25; Company F, $21.25; Staff Officers, $25; other soldiers, $79.55.

RED CROSS MELTING POT

Contributions May Be Placed in Pot or Sent to Mrs. Cox.

In a few days the Red Cross melting pot will be placed in a down-town window, where its open top will give continual invitation to passers-by to do their share in filling it up. The Red Cross will accept any saleable articles—jewelry, odds and ends of gold, silver, brass, copper, aluminum, china, bric-a-brac, coins, autograph letters, old automobile tires, laces, embroideries, and even old sets of false teeth.

The melting pot is in charge of Mrs. Frederick H. Cox. Contributions may be placed in the pot or sent to Mrs. Cox. Later they will be turned into money to be used for war relief.

The first contributions to reach the melting pot were two athletic trophies—a silver cup and a silver medal—offered by Joseph Hendley Johnson, who is now in khaki at one of the training camps.

BOY SCOUTS TO TAKE WALNUT TREE CENSUS

Scoutmaster R. O. Bibb of Troop 1, Boy Scouts of America, has received literature from the U. S. Government requesting that the Boy Scouts locate black walnut trees in Prince William county. The Government needs black walnut wood and, in fact, it is a prime necessity for the prosecution of our war program of guns and air craft. At this time the entire black walnut production of our forests is subject to census classification for war purposes. In behalf of the War Department, Boy Scouts are asked to undertake this black walnut census.

It is desired to locate immediately all available standing black walnut timber wherever it occurs, isolated or in small groups or in large lots. It is important that every tree of this species be located and placed on record with details as to its size and availability, together with its owner's name and address. This data as collected by the Scouts will be tabulated by the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture and placed at the disposal of the Government.

In President's Wilson's letter to the Boy Scouts, he says that in securing data the owners of the trees should be advised of our pressing needs, and they should be requested to show their patriotism by doing all in their power to assist the Government in this great war.

The tremendous forest resources of the United States will undoubtedly be a very important factor in the winning of the war for the allies. It is the duty of every walnut tree owner to report to the Boy Scouts the number and size of trees. It is also requested that small walnut trees be planted.

CONFEDERATE DAY OBSERVED

Memorial Day Services at Cemetery on Monday—Splendid Program Rendered.
A beautiful day ushered in the Confederate Memorial exercises at Manassas and a large number of people were in attendance to witness them.
The citizens and others met at the courthouse and after the presentation of the flags of the Third Liberty Loan campaign to Manassas, Haymarket and Catharpin, together with the addresses that were made to each fortunate competitor, the procession moved at about two o'clock, the veterans being conveyed to the cemetery by automobiles, the school children next and many others walking to the appointed meeting place. When all were assembled, the program was carried out in its entirety, as published in last week's issue.
After the invocation by the Rev. A. S. Gibson, the school children decorated the graves of the Confederate dead and deceased members of the Memorial Association, and then returned to the pavilion where the other exercises followed.
There were brief talks by Capt. Rust, Mr. Geo. G. Tyler, and others, a solo, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," sweetly sung by Miss Margaret Clarke, remarks by County School Superintendent Chas. R. McDonald in introducing Miss Mattie Athey, the prize essayist, and recipient of the gold medal given by the U. D. C.; singing by the school, and then the chief address by Judge Samuel Williams of Roanoke. Judge Williams, who is an attorney-general of the state, made an exceedingly able and interesting address, interspersed with numerous anecdotes and laughable incidents that he had heard or seen. He entered the Confederate army a mere boy and served throughout the war, and with eloquent words brought vividly before his audience the trials and triumphs of that heroic struggle, and he was frequently interrupted by the applause of the assemblage.
At the conclusion of his able oration, Mayor J. Ogden Murray, one of the immortal "six hundred," spoke briefly on the same topic, and after the benediction had been pronounced by the Rev. H. Q. Burr, the audience dispersed exceedingly well pleased with the program of the day.

Better than metal
Certain-teed is fast taking the place of metal roofs, not only because of the scarcity and high cost of metal, but because

Certain-teed Roofing

is superior in every important roofing quality. Metal easily rusts and disintegrates from atmospheric gases. Certain-teed cannot rust and its asphalt base makes it practically immune to any form of corrosion.
Metal absorbs heat and transmits it to the interior of a building. Certain-teed insulates against heat and cold, and makes the building cooler in summer and warmer in winter.
Metal must be painted frequently. Certain-teed gives years of weather-proof service practically without any upkeep expense.
Metal is noisy in wind or storms. Certain-teed fully deadens sound from such sources.
Metal is not safely guaranteed. Certain-teed is absolutely guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness, and actually gives longer service than its guarantee.
Metal is a direct drain on military materials. Certain-teed is made principally of waste rags and rags—materials which have no military use whatever.
Certain-teed has proved its efficiency and economy for every kind of roofing service—factories, warehouses, hotels, stores, farm buildings, outbuildings, etc.
Certain-teed is more economical and more efficient in service than metal or any other type of roof. Certain-teed is the best quality of roll roofing—it costs no more to lay than ordinary roll roofing and lasts much longer. Sold by dealers everywhere.

THE NEW DE LAVAL

If you have ever owned a separator of any other make, there is one outstanding feature of the NEW De Laval that will appeal to you as much as even its mechanical superiority, and that is its simplicity.
You won't find any complicated, troublesome parts in the NEW De Laval. It does not get out of order easily, even when it is misused; and if for any reason you ever should want to take it apart, the only tool you need is the combination wrench and screw-driver furnished with each machine.
The NEW De Laval is the simplest cream separator made.

A person who has never before touched a separator can, if necessary, unassemble the modern De Laval machine down to the last part within five minutes, and then put it together again within ten minutes. This is something that cannot be done outside a machine shop with any other separator made, and any separator man who has ever had to wrestle with the complicated mechanism found in other separators will appreciate what it means to him.
Don't fail to stop in and see the NEW De Laval the next time you are in town. Even if you are not in the market for a separator right now, come in and examine a separator that is said by experts to embody the greatest improvements in cream separator construction in the last thirty years.

An attractive number of the program was the Liberty March by some of the children of the Junior School auxiliary, which was staged and costumed by Mrs. Keith.

Virginia (Miss Florence Gosson) marches with her children and lays her offering of grain at the feet of Liberty (Miss Josephine Peters) and then presents her children, who sing The Star-Spangled Banner.

DEATH OF MRS BRYANT

Remains Brought to Manassas on Wednesday and Interred.

The remains of Mrs. Elizabeth Bryant, thirty-two years old, who died at Sibler Hospital, Washington, on Monday last, after a short illness, were brought to Manassas on Wednesday and interred in the town cemetery. Funeral services had been held in Washington.

Mrs. Bryant was well known in Manassas, having spent the larger part of her childhood days in our midst. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bridwell, whose family came here from Marshall Fauquier county.

Besides her husband and eight-year-old daughter, she leaves a mother, three sisters, and one brother, and a number of relatives.

Brief funeral rites were held at the grave, the Rev. H. Q. Burr officiating. The pallbearers were Messrs. Jas R. Dorrell, R. B. Larkin, P. A. Lipscomb, C. E. Fisher, E. B. Giddings and Aubrey Mills.

Those attending the funeral from a distance were Dr. and Mrs. Cole, Miss Josephine Bean, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bridwell, all of Washington, and Mrs. W. K. Barker, of Lynchburg; Miss Fannie Wright, of Clarendon; and Miss Nannie Collins, of Marshall.

Good Housekeepers' Meeting.

The pleasant afternoon of last Friday, May 31, brought together a majority of the members of the Bethlehem Good Housekeepers' Club, at "The Cedars," the home of Mrs. Thos. J. Broadus.

The important business of the afternoon was soon dispatched and the hour following was happily spent in social converse, and the enjoyment of delicious ice cream and cake.

The oldest daughter of the house gave two selections on the organ, which were much enjoyed.

Before taking leave of our hostess, a hearty vote of thanks was given her and after a verse of "Auld Lang Syne" was sung, the goodbyes were said. Sec'y.
