A War Savings Stamp Pledge Card Will be Delivered to Your Home
YOUR PATRIOTIC DUTY

is to fill in that card at once and pledge yourself to the limit in the matter of War Savings Stamps purchases. Then mail it immediately to G. Raymond Ratcliffe, Director for Prince William County, Manassas, Va., and by this patriotic performance do YOUR PART toward lightening the work of the W. S. S. Committee, who are trying so hard to give to the County of Prince William a 100 per cent report.

THE GOOD WORK MUST GO ON

First Liberty Loan	—Well Done
Second Liberty Loan	—Well Done
Third Liberty Loan	—Well Done
Red Cross Drive	—Well Done
W. S. S. Drive	—MUST Be Done

¶ War Savings Stamps are guaranteed by the United States Government and pay compound interest at the high rate of 4 per cent. They are free from taxes, and here is the way in which they grow in value:

	Cost in And Are Worth June on Jan. 1, 1923
1 Stamp	$4.17	$5.00
25 Stamps	$3.49	100.00
50 Stamps	288.58	250.00
100 Stamps	417.00	500.00
200 Stamps	834.00	1000.00

¶ They are better than cash in hand, they pay you 4 per cent interest—and in any case of emergency you can have them cashed for what you paid, plus the interest earned by simply giving ten days' notice to any Money Order Postmaster in the United States.

HELP TIGHTEN THE GRIP—Each dollar you lend will help to choke the Kaiser into insensibility. The War Savings Stamp you buy today means a tightening of the grip at the throat of militarism.

¶ The beast that strangled the women and children of the Lusitania will in turn be strangled, if you do your part. The measure he gave to Belgium and France will be measured unto him; for we, by buying War Savings Stamps, will not fail to keep the hold that we have.

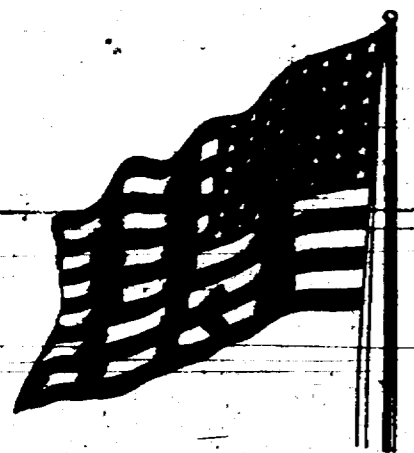

¶ Peace can be obtained only through men, munitions and money.

IF WE CAN'T GO "OVER THERE" AND FIGHT, THE MOST THAT WE CAN DO IS TO BUY WAR SAVINGS STAMPS OVER HERE.

OUR BRAVE LADS

Standing near the railroad crossing in Manassas, one can see daily, train after train of troops on their way to teach the lessons of humanity, truth and civilization to the most savage and unscrupulous enemy the world has ever had to deal with. Go nearer and take a look into the faces of these brave champions of democracy.

Do you mark a craven aspect among the thousands? No! Their countenances are lighted up with a fire of enthusiasm and determination, which bodes ill for the treacherous Hun who dares engage them in combat!

Remember, these lads are not ignorant of the dangers they are to confront. They have been trained in their camps, and the perils of modern warfare with such a foe have been thoroughly drilled into them—they have heard nothing else—and yet they go, with the full realization of what they are going into, confident and eager, as their countenances show, to grapple with the modern Beast—the arch-enemy of mankind.

Know, all you who have any anxiety for them, that they will crown themselves with glory; that such spirit as may be seen in the faces of those who are rushing on to their perilous task can never suffer defeat.

COL. WHITE AND MR. BYRD

The following article was taken from the Leesburg Mirror, (Col. White's newspaper) of June the 18th:

"Federal Fuel Administrator Garfield made a personal appeal to State Fuel Administrator Byrd to withdraw his resignation which he has offered so as to enlist in the military service. By reason of the critical conditions at present existing in the distribution of coal, and because of new regulations that have just been adopted, Mr. Byrd agreed not to insist upon the acceptance of his resignation for the present. In addition to personal appeal made by Dr. Garfield, Mr. Byrd received a large number of telegrams from chambers of commerce throughout Virginia, and other associations, including the Retail Coal Dealers of Virginia, Tobacco Associations, and prominent business men, requesting to withdraw his resignation. Mr. Byrd received the following telegram from Dr. Garfield:

Washington, D. C.,
June 8, 1918.

Byrd, Fuel Administrator,
Richmond, Va.

"I request most urgently that you withdraw your resignation as Federal Fuel Administrator for Virginia and shall not accept it until convinced there is no possible chance of your continuing. Already we have a thick stream of Virginia telegrams entreating that you be persuaded to stay. Several call your resignation a calamity to the state. I do not see how you can do the United States a service as great elsewhere. You can in your present post. Please wire me. H. A. Garfield.

"Mr. Byrd was advised that the post of one of the first assistants to Mr. Garfield would be offered him, but this he declined, stating that so long as he continued in this work he would remain in Virginia. Mr. Byrd serves without compensation."

Mr. Byrd offered his resignation in order to enlist in the military service of his country, but realizing the equally important service he can render in the position of fuel administrator, has decided to remain at his post—without compensation.

Col. White held the position of state food administrator and resigned to enlist in the service of Col. White.

GOODS AND SERVICES

The doctrine of "goods and services" about which we have read a great deal the last few months is one to which we can all heartily subscribe. It is also one which we can easily make clear to those of our friends to whom it is new.

A homely saying is, "You cannot eat your cake and have it, too." This saying explains in a few words the idea of the doctrine of "goods and services."

We cannot go into the markets and buy and use goods of any kind and at the same time leave those goods for war purposes. We cannot have labor work for us as individuals and at the same time have that labor available for the use of the government to help it to fight the war.

Every time we buy goods, every time we use labor, we compete with the government.

It makes no difference that the goods may be the kind not used by the government. If the goods bought by us are manufactured articles, certain raw materials are needed for their production. If the goods bought by us are raw materials, then we are taking from the markets things that the government can almost certainly use, for there are, indeed, few raw materials not used in some branch of war industry. Moreover, everything we buy must be transported in some way, and adequate transportation is vital to the speedy production of war goods and to the rapid movement of troops.

It makes no difference that the labor we employ for our personal use is labor not directly available for war needs. The men who work for us may not make soldiers or sailors; but whenever we use a man there is just that much less man power available for government use and for use in making those things necessary to the public. And then, too, no man can work for us without using materials of some kind.

This does not mean, naturally, that we must stop buying everything and refrain from employing all labor. Certainly not.

Everyone is expected and, in fact urged to keep himself in the most efficient condition possible, so that his body and mind can give the maximum service. That necessarily means the use of goods and services. But there is a vast difference between using only those goods and services necessary to keep us in prime physical and mental condition and in using goods and services that we do not need.

And the reason we should restrict our buying to the things needed is that we cannot use materials and labor the way we did before we entered the war, and at the same time have enough labor and materials with which to win the war.

Every day sees an increase in our fighting Army. And our fighting Army is made up of men from our industrial army. And every addition to our fighting Army means an increase in the amount of war goods that must be manufactured. There can be only one result to all this great change—the ranks of necessary labor will have to be increased by the addition to them of many men who have heretofore worked at tasks not necessary. Peace goods will have to give way to war goods. This will mean that all of us must buy wisely.

One of our countrymen successful in amassing a great fortune once said that the way to get rich was never to buy anything until you absolutely had to have it. We have now come to the point where all of us, in order to give our country every assistance possible, must not buy things unless they are needed to maintain our health and our efficiency.

VERY FUNNY TO EVERYBODY BUT THEM

The old phrase, "It is enough to make a horse laugh" puts that noble and useful animal, so far as a sense of humor is concerned, in the same class with the Bolsheviks and some of our militant suffragists. If a horse could laugh he certainly would do so now-a-days, when he hears the ladies, who a few months ago were engaged in holding up the President as a whole-bother to the Czar, because he would not yield to their demands, now denouncing as traitors all who do not think that giving these militants a right to vote has any practical bearing on the war. The White House pickets did not mind being called names; they rather gloried in it, because they pretended to be suffering for a cause. They will find now, we imagine, that the members of the Senate who oppose the suffrage amendment will not be converted by exhortations to loyalty from such a questionable source. They will stand firm in spite of the President's epistle to the Louisiana Legislature.

The President has a right to his ideas on theology, on moral philosophy, on the contributory negligence of Adam in connection with the episode of the apple, but neither in these questions nor on suffrage will everybody be disposed to regard his opinion as of binding authority. His expressions on suffrage are what the judges would call obiter dicta.

One question that has a bearing on the ultimate decision is this: Can a woman possibly be a democrat? Is she not, by nature, an unchangeable autocrat? Does she not always look down on somebody else, especially on other women? Would she not introduce into the electorate pernicious class distinctions and jealousies? Would she not let into our democratic Eden the serpent of social discriminations and sex prejudices? Democracy, indeed! Heaven save democracy from its natural and most subtle enemies!—Baltimore Sun.

Sam Russell's Good Slogan.

You can't beat the U. S. Marines. They can not only fight on sea or on land, and well on both, but they can do other things.

Sam Russell, corporal at Paris Island, S. C., has coined the best slogan of the War Savings Stamp campaign. Here it is:

"You lick them on the back—we'll lick 'em on the front."

You will be asked a dozen times perhaps to buy. Answer "Yes" every time you can. Keep in mind Corporal Russell's slogan: "You lick them on the back, we'll lick 'em on the front."—Washington Times.

War Savings Stamps help provide that "Force, force to the utmost, force without stint or limit, the righteous and triumphant force which shall make right the law of the world," which President Wilson says must be used against our enemies.

FEDERAL FOOD ADMINISTRATION FOR VIRGINIA
Food Administration Information and Rules
"It is worth remembering that the famine in Egypt 4,000 years ago was due to a little grain shortage." "So long as the war lasts . . . the world will steadily produce less food." "If we are wise, a great harvest will mean the willing building up of great national reserves."
HERBERT HOOVER.
Recent Appointments Of Local Food Administrators:

Available Wheat Supply as of June 1, 1918—the Food Administration's estimate:
Total available supply until the new harvest, about... 55,000,000
Export necessities before any new wheat is available... 38,000,000
Remaining for home consumption, about... 17,000,000
Normal home consumption for two months... 40,000,000
Amount of wheat American people must save by voluntary sacrifice in the next two months... 14,000,000
There are bad years ahead, for which grain should be placed in storage.
We must constantly safeguard the special requirements of children and invalids.
It is imperative that all those whose circumstances permit shall abstain from wheat and wheat products in any form until the next harvest is available.
Violations Of Rule As To License Number.
Much trouble is reported from licensees who have overlooked the Food Administration rule, which requires the licensees to place on every contract, order, acceptance of order, invoice, price list and quotation issued or signed by him relating to food commodities the words "United States Food Administration License Number," following by the number of his license. Licensees are forbidden to deal with persons subject to license who have failed to secure such license, or to comply with the above rule.
When a large Richmond firm's clerk by mistake mailed out many hundred invoices without the license number on them, as provided by this rule, the Washington authorities had to be appealed to and convinced of good faith and honest mistake before a way could be found out of the trouble.
Who Are Required To Be Licensed As Sellers?
Trouble is in store in many counties where the people are resting under the impression that they have no "bakeries," overlooking the fact that under the President's proclamations requiring bakers to be licensed, HOTELS, RESTAURANTS, DINING CARS, BOARDING HOUSES and CLUBS, who serve bread or other bakery products of their own baking are included, provided their consumption of any flour and meal in the manufacture of such products is in the aggregate, as much as three barrels a month. Those using less than this amount, are not required to be licensed but may be, and if they are licensed, they are entitled to purchase wheat flour to be used in baking bread and rolls on the bakery basis of one pound of substitutes for every three pounds of wheat flour; whereas, if they remain unlicensed, one pound of substitutes must be purchased for every one pound of flour.
