VOCATES OF WORLD-WIDE PROHIBITION HERE

Ex-Governor Patterson and Dr. David Hepburn Deliver Two Stirring Addresses.

Manassas was given unusual prominence and distinction, on last Friday night, by the presence in our midst of and a strong, eloquent prohibition address by Ex-Gov. M. R. Patterson, of Tennessee. Gov. Patterson is making fifty-six addresses at that many strategic points in the state and Manassas was selected as one of them.

Friday night was unfavorable for travellers from the country coming to town and the audience that gathered in Conner's Hall was almost entirely composed of Manassas citizens. The "flu" and the "cough" kept many of these also at home, but those present heard two strong addresses.

On the platform with Gov. Patterson, at the beginning of the meeting were Rev. David Hepburn, D. D., state superintendent of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League; Mayor W. C. Wagener, Reverends H. Q. Burr, J. Halpenny, L. C. Messick, DeForest Wade, E. Z. Pence and Alford Kelley, of Manassas, and Rev. E. H. Bunch, of Nokesville.

Alford Kelley called the meeting to order. The meeting opened by the audience joining in singing "America." Miss Isabella Kelley presiding at the piano and leading the anthem. Rev. DeForest Wade led in prayer. Rev. David Hepburn, D. D., was then introduced.

Dr. Hepburn said the Anti-Saloon League wished from every sympathy, co-operation and support in the work of destroying the beverage liquor traffic. The speaker declared that he would take it for granted the league had the sympathy of all present and for two reasons:

1. The league had made good. 2. The league's great program appealed to men of big heart and great vision.

1. The league had made good. (a) In Virginia. Many were the benefits that prohibition had brought to Virginia. When the State went dry there were 5,000 women and children in asylums; 5,500 feeble-minded; 10,000 inmates in the four state asylums, and 2,000 in the penitentiary. It was found that between 75 and 80 per cent of the paupers and criminals were drunk by drink, while from 25 per cent to 35 per cent of the feeble-minded and insane got their condition through liquor. Now these asylums are almost depopulated, many counties had no jails, inmates, and jail populations generally were greatly reduced.

(b) The league had made good in the nation. 1. The army and the navy were "dry." Neither soldiers nor sailors were given liquor rations now by the government, which had also made it unlawful for civilians to give or sell it to them.

2. There was a dry zone around camps. Uncle Sam often showed more care to have soldiers and sailors sober than parents of the boys.

3. War-time prohibition would become effective July 1, 1919, so instead of waiting for "a new nation in '20," we have such a desirable condition four months from now.

Dr. Hepburn emphasized the present plan of the Anti-Saloon League was to secure "World-Wide Prohibition." He said that of the

MR. J. W. KINCHELOE DEAD

Captured by Federals Before Entering as a Confederate.

Mr. J. W. Kincheloe, of Dumfries, died on Feb. 14 at his home, of pneumonia, aged 74 years.

Mr. Kincheloe was born near Independent Hill. During the early part of the civil war he was captured by the Northern army and taken to Washington, where he served as a prisoner of war for several months. He was then paroled and drove a bread wagon for the government until the war ended.

When Generals Lee and Stewart were going around Washington, the federal authorities were about to put him under arms, if necessary, to defend the city, but the confederates did not attack the capital, going on to Gettysburg. Mr. Kincheloe was always a southern sympathizer and was about to enlist in the confederate army when captured by the northern forces.

At the close of the war Mr. Kincheloe returned to Prince William county, at Dumfries, where he spent the rest of his life as a farmer.

He was buried on Sunday, the 16th, in the family cemetery on the home place near Dumfries. The officiating minister was Rev. W. T. Wine.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Ova M. Alexander, of Indian Head, Md., and six sons, Wilson, W. Vincent E., and Cornelius H., all of Dumfries; Ralph W. and Ernest, of Washington, and Thurston B., of Indian Head, Md.—Other relatives of the deceased are Mrs. Maria Fairfax, of Hoadley, a sister, and two brothers of Independent Hill, Eli and Andrew J. Kincheloe.

REPORT YOUR INCOME

Our readers should remember that they are required to make an income tax report whether they have received blanks for that purpose or not. Thereport must be sent to state headquarters by March 15th.

Cashier Harry P. Davis, of the National Bank of Manassas, states that the bank has a sufficient supply of the different income blanks and will be glad to render any one assistance in preparing them.

EDUCATIONAL HEALTH CAMPAIGN TO BE WAGED

Twenty Counties to be Added by the State—Will Ours Be Its Part and Be Chosen?

Miss E. H. Osbourn, Chairman of Committee.

The attention of the people of Prince William has already been called, through our county agent, to the educational health campaign to be waged during February and March in every county in the state by the state health commission together with the Red Cross. The co-operation of the county is now earnestly desired in connection with the special joint offer recently made by the State Board of Health and the United States Public Health Service. Twenty counties are to be chosen and an intensive health campaign inaugurated in them by the state and federal boards. This campaign will include a thorough going fight by a health commission in each of the selected counties against influenza, typhoid and all related diseases, as well as a complete medical inspection of the schools.

Each county availing itself of the offer must put up $1,000 as against the $1,000 offered by the state and federal boards; and, as the funds available only permit the work to be carried on in twenty counties, the first twenty that agree to raise $1,000 each will be chosen for the work.

Four counties, Fairfax, Warren, Augusta and Pittsylvania, have already provided funds for the campaign; and the work is now under way in each of the direction of Dr. Flanagan of the State Board of Health.

The matter was brought before the February meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Farmers' Institute in Manassas last Friday, by Mrs. Davis, assistant home demonstration agent for Virginia. Methods of raising the money were discussed and it was proposed to ask the schools and women's clubs to help in raising the amount necessary to enable Prince William to obtain the government aid and enter the campaign.

Supervisor J. J. Conner, who was present at the meeting, stated that, as the county boards of supervisors and school trustees were authorized by the state legislature at its last session to appropriate funds for health work in the counties and schools, he was confident that the board of supervisors would be willing to make an appropriation towards the required amount, if the people of the county would manifest interest in the work. The Auxiliary decided to take up the matter and a committee of members and of teachers in various parts of the county was appointed to take steps towards raising the necessary thousand dollars.

It will be remembered that before the war much work had been done by the county school patrons' leagues towards arousing public sentiment in favor of medical school inspection. A series of addresses before the different leagues was given by Dr. Allen Freeman and Dr. Flanagan of the State Board of Health; a special medical examination of over one hundred children from different parts of the county was made at Manassas by Dr. W. H. Heck, assisted by two specialists from the University of Virginia Hospital; and a number of prominent speakers made addresses at joint sessions of the leagues at Manassas. ## DOWELL-GREEN WEDDING SOLEMNIZED TUESDAY

Regular Druggist and Attractive Member of Old Family—Southern Honeymoon.

Mr. W. Fred Dowell, our well-known, successful druggist, and Miss Lelia Green, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rawison Green, living near Ager, were quietly married on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the bride's home, by Rev. A. Stuart Gibson.

The lower floor of the home had been thrown into one apartment, by all doors being opened, and throughout all the rooms there were beautiful decorations of coronations, sweet peas, similar and ferns. Trailing vines added to the general attractiveness of the scene, the color scheme being pink and green.

Blinds were drawn down and the rooms were darkened from natural light. The acetylene gas burners in the chandeliers were then lighted, while pink candles, with pink shades, set in candleholders and candlesticks, joined in producing a soft, churchly light.

An altar had been erected in the parlor, which had been elaborately festooned with the pink and green color effect. Here the officiating minister stood, waiting the coming of the contracting parties. The bride came in with her father, while Master William J. Green, Jr., a nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bride was attired in a travelling suit of dark blue. Miss Julia Lewis played the wedding march, and continued playing during the impressive ceremony.

The guests enjoyed an elaborate dinner before the wedding and after the marriage ceremony refreshments were served. The wedding presents included a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom, a silver service, and many other valuable, useful remembrances.

The invited guests were the immediate relatives and friends of the family. Those present, in addition to the family, were Mrs. Belle Montague, of Fredericksburg, grandmother of the bride; Miss Elizabeth Potts, of Alexandria, a cousin; Mr. Wm. Ranie, of Stafford; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Green and little son, William, of Washington; Miss Winnie Hinegardner, of Nokesville; Miss Julia Lewis, Mrs. E. H. Hibbs, Mr. and Mrs. H. Thornton Davis, of Manassas.

The happy couple left on their honeymoon on No. 44 for Washington, where they took the train for the south. They will go to Palm Beach, Florida.

MRS. CORNELIUS DEAD

Barred Where Her Husband Was Laid Forty Years Ago.

Mrs. Lucy Cornelius (nee Cundiff) died on Tuesday afternoon, aged 73, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. B. Williams, where she had made her home during the past year.

Her body was shipped to Siloam, N. C., Tuesday night at 8 o'clock on a train making a special stop for that purpose. The interment was on Wednesday in a Siloam cemetery, where her husband was buried forty years ago.

The children surviving her are Mrs. J. H. Dobson, Rockford, N. C., Mrs. D. M. Wright, Siloam, N. C., B. O. Cornelius, Winston-Salem, N. C., and Mrs. L. B. Williams, Manassas, Va.

MISS MAYME YOUNG DEAD

Died Suddenly at Her Home in Anacostia, D. C.

Miss Mayme Young, thirty-six years old, of Anacostia, D. C., died suddenly on Tuesday afternoon. She was lying down and expired at 4 o'clock. She had been complaining for several days. A number of years ago a sister, Miss Mabel, was talking and laughing at her home, near Buckhall, when she too died instantly.

Miss Young was the daughter of the late D. P. and Isabella Young. She had been employed in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, in Washington, a number of years.

The body was brought to Manassas and taken to the Lutheran Church, where services were conducted by Rev. E. Z. Pence. The interment was in the family burying ground at Buckhall.

She is survived by four sisters, Mrs. George French, of Twining City, D. C., Mrs. Eva Fowler, Anacostia, D. C., Mrs. O. S. Payne, Manassas, and Mrs. Bernard Newton, Washington, and four brothers, Messrs. William, Howard and Robert Young, of Manassas, and Rev. J. H. Young, of Nescopack, Pa.

FANCY STOCK PAYS

Here We Have Found, Also a Chance for More Contestants.

Mr. J. J. Conner, who has been raising pure bred Holstein cattle, recently sold two fancy male calves. One, four weeks old, was sold to Mr. S. J. Miller, of Briflow, for $75. The other, one week old, was sold to Messrs. R. J. Miller & Son, of Fairfax, for $60. The second calf really brought more money to Mr. Conner than the first, as a calf will drink about $1.00 worth of milk daily. Some one, speaking of the first calves having been sold for $75 to Mr. S. J. Miller, remarked that Mr. Miller had gotten only $10 for the calf that he sold. Mr. Conner replied that the difference was in a "scrap of paper"—the pedigree of the fancy calf—which he gave with it.

Mr. Conner has three pure bred and one high grade Holstein cows that yield 25 gallons of milk daily. A short time ago one of his cows gave birth to two heifer calves, worth $300. That cow brought him all this wealth in one night. Why do people keep scrub stock, when the fancy kind is so much more profitable, in the amount and value of the milk yielded, as well as when sold?

In the above narrative we have a chance for some more competition. Who gets 25 gallons of milk daily from four cows, sold a one week old calf for $60 and had two calves worth $300, born at one time?

Ear Trouble Follows "Flu"

Mrs. Hamilton Smith, of Washington, niece of Mrs. T. O. Taylor, who formerly visited here frequently, recently had severe headache. A physician, called in, recommended a specialist, who had her taken to the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. There she was operated on for mastoiditis, which is inflammation in the temporal mastoid process. At the hospital it was said that many persons who have seemingly recovered from the "flu," have suffered subsequently from ear trouble. Many of the persons in the hospital were victims of the

A COUNTY FAIR ASSURED FOR THIS COMING FALL

Representative Citizens Recommend the Project to Farmers' Institute Members.

H. W. Sanders, Secretary. The February meeting of the Farmers' Institute, held in the courthouse Friday, the 21st, was probably the most successful and largely attended meeting of the year. The meeting was called to order by the president at 11 o'clock.

Among the speakers of the occasion was Mrs. Mary Davis, assistant director of home demonstration work in Virginia, who spoke with a great deal of enthusiasm and in a most interesting and instructive way on the subject of "Woman's Work." Briefly summarized her address was as follows:

The part that woman has played in the recent war has won for her a place that is equal in importance to that held by man. As a result they are coming into their own and are assuming to a great extent their share of the nation's privilege and responsibilities. They have shown their worth, not only at home, but on the firing line as well, where girls have been decorated with the cross of honor on many occasions.

The war has shown the world that the woman does not and can not play her part when she sits down at home and does nothing. The time should come when it is just as much of a disgrace for a girl to do this as it is for a boy. Not that the only way to life is the making of money—far from it. Money is of value only in so far as it controls minds and hands and when the minds and hands are gone, money has no value.

Too often it happens that little or no attention is given by girls to the vital duties of life. Housekeepers who should know how to care for children often prepare food that is pleasant to the taste but largely indigestible and unfit for the members of the family. The science of balancing a meal is well worth the attention of every girl and woman. Now that the more strenuous and unusual duties in connection with the war are over in a large measure, every girl should turn her attention to the study and application of these and other similar principles. The most sacred duties of woman are found in the home and she should take advantage of the help that the federal and state government are offering in order that she may prepare herself for these duties.

A rising vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Davis, after which the secretary-treasurer of the Prince William County Farm Loan Association, Dr. C. R. C. Johnson, gave an interesting and instructive talk on the Farm Loan Act.

Dr. Johnson called attention to the fact that there is a common misconception on the part of many farmers as to the true purpose of the federal government in organizing the Farm Loan. They seem to have the idea that the government buys the farm and gives it to the farmer to run. People who study the subject carefully will find that this is not true. The system of lending money to farmers through the medium of farm loan associations is the best product of the federal government.

INTERESTING SOLDIER LETTERS FROM FRANCE

Christmas — Attack by Submarine — Rains Daily — Letter from Germany.

Private Joseph P. Smith, of Aden, writes an interesting letter about the Christmas festivities of Company D, 306th Motor Supply Train, in France.

"Eleven other fellows and myself, who room together, chipped in and bought two geese, which cost us 42 francs (about $12 in American money). With the geese we had fruit cake, candy, cigars and cigarettes; the regular army issue was a little extra, french fried potatoes, syrup, onions, beans, bacon, bread, coffee and pickle. We fellows had some butter, too.

"Some of the boys while at leisure made a banjo and we borrowed a violin from a French lady who lives next door, whose husband is a prisoner in Germany, and we wound up with a dance that evening in our quarters in an old French dance hall. Four French women, one widow, one grass widow, one old maid and a kid about sixteen; this was quite a combination. Well, they all wear wooden shoes, but they didn't dance with their wooden shoes on; they left them at the door. They have knit shoes with leather soles and they use the wooden shoes as overshoes, like the rubber overshoes that we have in the states. As the French dance is quite different from the American dance, not many of the boys could dance it, so we undertook the American dance with them. They soon caught on to our dance.

"Well, I am decorated up with a gold stripe on my left arm; this represents six months' service in France. I have had it a month; also have on the left shoulder the division insignia, a blue ridge with three peaks, signifying the Blue Ridge, or Eightieth Division.

"This country is sure blessed for rain. It only rains on an average 280 some days out of a year. Some years more than others. I think this must be one of the years that it overruns the average, as it has rained every day for the last two months. Have had very little snow, but some cold weather."

Private Mackall M. Ellis, Ordnance Department, in a letter to his mother, Mrs. James G. Ellis, of Greenwich, speaks of a brief encounter with a submarine on the trip across.

"The last night of the trip we were awakened from our sleep by a submarine attack," he writes, "but no damage was done, as we were well protected by submarine chasers. There were nine ships in the convoy, and all were carrying soldiers.

"I have seen all the air raids you have been reading about in the papers, but the city was well protected by anti-aircraft guns, which would shoot high-explosive shells high in the air. We soon did not mind them except that some nights we got very little sleep, as every time the alarm was sounded we would have to get up and dress to go downstairs, as no one was allowed to remain above the second floor."

"The weather still continues to be damp and rainy," is one of the final observations of Private Ellis, bearing out the statements of most of his comrades, none of whom have been charmed by the climate of France.

Private Joseph Posey. "This leaves me having a good time, eating and sleeping. I am still in the hospital," is the cheerful greeting of Private Joe. Posey, Company L, 168th Infantry, to his mother, Mrs. I. M. Posey, of Dumfries. "Don't think I am sick, for I am not. Mamma, don't worry about me when you don't hear from me for you know it takes a long time for mail to come from over here. It seems funny I haven't heard a word from any one since I left Camp Lee, but I guess this is the reason.

"My company is in Germany and I am with the U. S. behind the lines. Mamma, I have something to be proud of: I was in some awful fights with the boche and came out safe without a scratch.

"Well, it won't be long before I will be starting home, and won't that be the greatest day that could ever be?"

Wagoner John T. Clarke. Wagoner John T. Clarke, Supply Company, 126th Infantry, also with the American Expeditionary Forces, writes from Germany to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clarke, of Minnieville, Wagoner Clarke being one of the few Prince William boys known to be in the army of occupation. "I am in a small village in Germany just across the Rhine," he writes. "I have been in Germany since December 1 and came across the Rhine December 13. We came across France, over one corner of Belgium and then across Luxemburg.

"Well, here it is the middle of January; sure wish I could be home, but there is no chance until it is over. Over Here, for we will be here until peace is signed. We are in hopes we will soon be on our way home, for I think all of the boys have had enough for this past year."

Private D. Bryan Norman. Private D. Bryan Norman, Supply Company, 161st Infantry, in a letter to his mother, Mrs. Georgia A. Norman, of Kopp, voices the soldiers' appreciation of letters from home.

"I have certainly written a lot of letters since I have been here," he writes, "in fact, I write to someone nearly every night. Several of the boys received some mail today. I am looking for some before long, as I have not received a letter since leaving Camp Lee."

Both Wagoner Clarke and Private Norman express a lively interest in the spring work on the farm, and Private Norman also has a word for the Red Cross.

"Be sure to pay my Red Cross dues, if you have not already done so," he reminds the folks at home.

GOVERNOR'S BOARD OF LEGISLATIVE RESEARCH

Under New Budget Law, Executive Studies Departments to Guide Recommendations.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 24.—Governor Davis announced today that he was appointing an advisory body to be known as the Governor's Board of Legislative Research for the purpose of assisting him in his budget studies, with Dr. William Minor Lile, dean of the department of law at the University of Virginia, as chairman, and Mr. C. H. Morrisett, assistant secretary of the Commission to Revise the Code of Virginia, as secretary. The other members of the new board are Dr. Glover Dunn Hancock, professor of economics and commerce at Washington and Lee University; Mr. A. B. Thornhill, president of the Virginia division of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America; Mr. Richard H. Smith, president of The Planters' National Bank of Richmond; Colonel Morgan Shepherd, secretary of the Virginia State Farmers' Institute; and Mr. G. L. Wilcox, president of the Virginia Federation of Labor.

Under the new budget law, it will be recalled, the Governor is required to make a careful survey of all state departments and institutions for the purpose of securing a working knowledge of their needs to guide him in making his recommendations to the accompany his budget report with a statement of the "State's financial and natural resources, with a review of the general economic, industrial and commercial condition of the Commonwealth. For carrying out these provisions of the law, the Governor is empowered to employ budget assistants and such other special help as he may require.

In line with his general open-door administrative policy, evidenced, for instance, by the establishment of his "suggestions and complaints" service in the Executive Office, Governor Davis is carrying out these provisions of the budget law by utilizing as far as possible the services of the trained specialists in our state departments and institutions, and the services of those public spirited citizens in business and professional life who welcome an opportunity to render constructive public service in this way.

The Board of Mechanical Survey, for example, which was appointed by the Governor a few weeks ago already has underway a study of the plant equipment and management and needs of the several state institutions, which will mean the saving of many thousands of dollars to the state—a work which is being performed by the best engineering talent in the state without compensation, and at a total cost of two or three hundred dollars.

As the next step in carrying out this policy, the Governor states that he is appointing the new Board of Legislative Research for the purpose of making a survey of needed legislation in Virginia, with special regard to the organization and administration of the state government. "It is my desire," he says, "to have a board of this character to confer with us in policy regarding legislation to be proposed, as well as to have its assistance in the actual drafting of the bills to be presented to the General Assembly."

COUNTY AGENT KOINER ENDORSES COUNTY FAIR

Everybody Should Subscribe and Get Others to Take Stock for a Clean Fair.

While the secretary of the Farmers' Institute, in his report of its proceedings on last Friday, has doubtless told something of the move that was taken on that day toward organizing and conducting a county fair in Prince William this year, I would like to make a few remarks on the subject also, even at the risk of repeating something that he has said.

In the first place, I wish to express my delight at the splendid and whole-hearted manner in which the people are taking hold of the proposition. Let us all maintain this spirit of enthusiastic boosting all the way through, so that we will be assured of an overwhelming success. While I am asking the members of my agricultural advisory council to take the lead in getting the stock subscribed, organizing the fair association and standing back of the project all the way through, they will need the co-operation of every person in the county to make it the success it deserves to be. It cannot be the pet scheme of any set of men, but must be the pride of all our people. I will be glad to place subscription blanks in the hands of any one who will volunteer to solicit subscriptions.

It was in compliance with Mr. Ralston's special request on last Friday that he held his conference with the members of the advisory council and such others as would volunteer to help them, exclusively. The result of that conference is expressed in the heading of the subscription papers, and fully amplified in the plain statement made by Mr. T. H. Lion afterwards to the full meeting of the institute.

Briefly, there is a strong sentiment among all classes of our people for a good fair at Manassas this year. Don't you want to fall in line by hunting up some one who has a stock subscription paper and subscribing for one or more of its $20.00 shares? Or, better still, ask me for one of the papers and do some soliciting yourself. Have a voice in electing the officers and directors of your county fair by becoming one of its stockholders. Don't stay out now while you have an opportunity to get in. If you want a good, clean fair, jump in and help to make it such, and it will be as much your fair as it will any one's else. This is your opportunity to help boost your home county by advertising your products and those of your neighbors at your own county fair.

If you can't take one of the papers and can't find one of the solicitors, give a cheerful and cordial reception to the one who may succeed in finding you by subscribing to some of the stock. It is possible that it may pay little or no dividend, but what if it don't, we want a good fair and anything good costs something. Good, clean fairs are universally recognized as institutions of merit. The U. S. government during war time did all it could to encourage the holding of fairs by declining to tax their receipts and in other positive ways. Let's get together and "put this thing over," thus showing folks that we can raise some things else in our county besides a rumpus.

they save during the course of the year for a new piece of farm machinery, a car, or some other thing not essential to his welfare and progress. The amortization feature of the Farm Loan Act prevents him from spending this money, because he must keep up the payments of interest and amortization semi-annually.

Again, there is a misconception as to the justice of the appraisal rates, most farmers thinking that they are too low. In this connection, it should be borne in mind that the government can lend money only on the agricultural value of the land, or its ability to produce crops. This is the only basis. Consequently, no money will be loaned on timber lands because they do not have a permanent value. The same is true of orchards, and farm buildings, for they may be allowed to deteriorate far below the original appraised rates.

There are four principal features of the Farm Loan which justify its existence and make it a sound business proposition: 1. The reasonable interest rate; 2. The amortization feature, whereby the borrower is forced to save; 3. The semi-annual payments for thirty-four years, after which the farm is completely paid for; 4. Banks do not hesitate to loan money to a person because of the fact that he is a member of the Farm Loan Association and 5. The matter of death need not cause any concern if the family keeps up the payments.

The Prince William County Farm Loan Association is organized in the interest of the farmers of the county. Three appraisers are appointed by the directors, the cost of appraisal being $10.00 and the application $5.00. If the application is not accepted this sum is all that is lost by the farmer. The abstract must be made after appraisal, the cost being $10.00. Title insurance, association fees, recording fees, etc., are taken from the loan. Five per cent of the amount of the loan is retained by the bank as stock in the association.

Dr. Johnson's speech was followed by the election of officers for 1919. No changes were made with the exception of treasurer and vice-presidents. Mr. J. P. Leachman was elected treasurer and Messrs. W. L. Sanders, J. A. Seese, W. B. Doak, H. F. Myers, E. E. Blough, S. E. Merrill and W. E. Varner, vice-presidents.

While the regular meeting was in progress, Mr. Ralston, secretary of the Shenandoah Valley Fair Association, met in conference the advisory council of the county, commonwealth's attorney, representatives of the local banks and newspapers, and other citizens particularly interested in the county fair.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Thos. H. Lion reported on the action of this body of representative men. This report was as follows: With the assurance of all those present that they would support the organization, it was decided to form an association to be known as the "Prince William County Fair Association." Three hundred shares of stock would be sold at $20.00 per share, one-half of which would serve as a guarantee fund in case of necessity, this amount to be collected at some date previous to the holding of the fair. If the fair is to be a success it must be supported by all persons of the county, inasmuch as it is intended to be of interest to every citizen, and in taking this step it is earnestly requested that every man and woman in the county and adjoining communities cooperate to make it a success.

Before the close of the institute, approximately one-fifth of the stock was subscribed for, and an interest in the undertaking shown which augurs well for the success of the Prince William County Fair next fall. As soon as all the stock has been disposed of, there will be a meeting of the stockholders for the purpose of electing officers.

EDUCATIONAL HEALTH CAMPAIGN TO BE WAGED

(Continued from Page One) city of Virginia, and Miss Randolph, secretary of the State Anti-Tuberculosis Association being among the lecturers. In addition to this, much valuable aid in health inspection of the pupils of Manassas public schools has been contributed from time to time by the local physicians. Besides this work of arousing public sentiment in favor of medical school inspection, about two hundred dollars was raised by the leagues towards securing a nurse or health officer. This might now be used in this campaign, since one of its aims is to provide school medical inspection.

An urgent appeal is now made to the people of Prince William to take up this work and push it to a successful conclusion. It means a thorough going education of the public in preventive measures against the terrible scourge of influenza which has afflicted the country during the past year, and will continue to afflict it, unless such steps are taken. It means also prevention of typhoid and related diseases, including in all probability, Asiatic cholera, which is now raging in Russia and Serbia, and may as easily be brought to this country as influenza, the health authorities say. It means finally the getting under way of a system of health inspection in the schools. When it is realized that the schools are often breeding places of disease during epidemics, and that also in the selective draft during the war, more than 700,000, or more than 80 per cent of the young men examined, were rejected as physically defective, and that a large proportion of these physical defects could have been corrected by medical supervision in the public schools, the importance of securing such inspection becomes an imperative public duty.

An appeal will be sent to all the schools and women's clubs; and the teachers and patrons leagues and club members are urgently requested by the county superintendent of schools and the committee in charge to take up the matter at once, as prompt measures must be taken in order to secure one of the twenty state and federal appropriations for this work.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS

—Rev. J. H. Young, of Nacopeck, Pa., will preach in Bethel Lutheran Church, Manassas, on Sunday at 11 a. m.

—Mr. John Pence, of Quicksburg, has purchased the Jos. F. Lewis farm, located at Rixlew station, near the horse show grounds. It is said by experts to be a fine farm, consisting of 167 acres. The sale was conducted by Messrs. Earhart & Rhodes, of Nokesville. The price was $12,000.

—A new drug store will be opened in the store room, in the Conner Building, formerly occupied by the candy kitchen. Dr. G. B. Coker, who married Miss Mattie Nash, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Nash, is to be the proprietor. Dr. Coker is now in the drug business in Petersburg. He will come to Manassas between the first and fifteenth of April and will open an up-to-date pharmacy.

—The annual Virginia State Sunday School Association was in session this week in Lynchburg. The sessions lasted from Tuesday until Thursday, inclusive. Among the prominent speakers on the program is Rev. E. W. Halpenny, of Canada, a cousin of Rev. J. Halpenny, of Manassas. He is a representative of the International Sunday School Association.

—The Journal wishes to inform subscribers that we are willing to publish letters from boys "over there." But, there are several hundred boys from this county alone, and many letters contain matter of interest to the family only, so we will need to confine the publication of letters to those that are descriptive of battles or the country or comments on the war.

—The Prince William Chapter of the American Red Cross packed and shipped this week 1,000 pairs of soldiers' socks to Washington, for distribution to the various camps from which they came. These socks were mended by women, young and old, from every corner of the county, working through their respective branches. Mrs. Arthur W. Sinclair, chairman, assisted by Miss Alberta Hopkins, was in charge of the work.

—The board of supervisors' committee, appointed at the last meeting to view the two proposed routes, and report which is the most advantageous to construct from Samuel R. Low's to Amidon's corner, by way of Joplin, or Dumfries, laid before the board a very elaborate report, favoring the Joplin route. Further action on the report and road was laid over until the next meeting, for solicitation to see what amount of money can be raised and to invite the taxpayers on these routes to be present, so that they may be heard for and against the recommendation in the report.

—Washington gave a "Welcome Home" parade to the district soldiers, sailors and marines, who have been mustered out of the service. Why can not Prince William county have a similar public recognition of the men who fought and of those willing to fight, who were kept in camps in this country? The boys of our county did as much for us as those of the district did for that community. Shall we not give our representatives due consideration and show our appreciation? Our Red Cross leaders arranged for them receptions when they left. Why not on their return also? Indeed, especially after what they have done.

—Rev. H. L. Hout has concluded a revival at the Methodist church in Dumfries. The meeting was satisfactory in many ways and productive of much good. There were seventeen additions to the church.

—We are pleased to notice that Dr. B. F. Iden, after a severe illness, is again in active service. Dr. Iden is, well, he is a good many years "young." May he live many more years to serve his fellow men as a self-sacrificing physician.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson and Mrs. O. D. Waters were among those who went to Washington to hear Harry Lauder, as well as to see the parade yesterday. Others would have gone to hear the celebrated Scotch singer, but they could not get tickets.

—The annual conference of the E. Church, South, will convene at Staunton, Va., on Wednesday, March 5, and continue in session about one week, or until the appointments are announced by the presiding bishop, who will be Bishop E. R. Hendrix, of Kansas City, Missouri.

—The call of Governor Westmoreland Davis to all the local district school trustees in the state, to meet him in a conference at Richmond yesterday, was responded to by all three of the Manassas district trustees, Messrs. E. Nash, D. J. Arrington and C. Harley. Our trustees are showing considerable interest, as they are bearing their own expenses.

—Dr. S. S. Simpson has located in the old U. D. C. room in the M. I. C. building temporarily. At least he is occasionally there, as he spends most of his time like physicians generally these days, visiting patients. Requests for his services can be left at his office. Mrs. Simpson was here recently, but she left for Herndon until a residence can be secured. It is possible that Dr. Simpson's office and home will be in the desirable house of Dr. Marye Lewis, deceased, after the first of April.

GROFF—GARRISON

Have Their Marriage Delayed, But All is Now Well.

A marriage license was granted yesterday at the courthouse by county clerk Geo. G. Tyler to Paul Groff and Lillian V. Garrison, both of Prince William county. It does not seem to be known by minors, planning to marry, that it is necessary to bring to the clerk's office the written consent of the parents or guardians. Both of Miss Garrison's parents were dead and her grandfather, with whom she has been living, had not been appointed her guardian. The young couple came to town for a license on Wednesday, but it was necessary for the clerk to make application to Judge S. G. Brent, of the local circuit court, to give the necessary permit. The judge was prompt, and the wished for permit arrived early yesterday morning. Rev. H. C. Burr united the happy couple in wedlock at his home.

Mr. Groff is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Groff, of Independent Hill, though by birth a Pennsylvanian, having been born in Lancaster county, that state, twenty-four years ago. He came with his parents to Virginia when only six years old.

We trust that our young friends will have no greater disappointment in life than that experienced on Wednesday, when they were obliged to postpone their wedding until yesterday.

BEAVERS—JONES

Token Groom and Joplin Bride Married in Manassas.

Mr. Archie Simpson-Beavers, of Token, and Miss Rena Jones, of Joplin, came to town on Wednesday and were married at one o'clock by Rev. Alford Kelley, at his home. The young couple were accompanied by Miss Georgie Jones, sister of the bride, and Mr. Andrew J. Beavers, brother of the groom.

The groom has been working during the last two years at Indian Head, Md. He and his bride will spend the balance of this week with the groom's brother, Mr. Andrew J. Beavers, of Manassas, who resides on the R. L. Gaither farm. They will then go to the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Beavers, of Token.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Celebrates Washington's and His Own Birth Together.

A birthday party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Lee, of Bristow, on Saturday, Feb. 22, in honor of their son, Francis William, and friend, Miss Calla Goswell.

It being Washington's birthday, the national colors were used in decoration. The table was artistically arranged with drapery, minute flags and the memorable little hatchet. The cake in the centre, with red and blue candles, in number represented the age of each. The blended colors of the various fruits on the table, after the lighting of the many candles, harmonized with the decorations, which were indeed, pleasing to look upon. Ice cream was served.

The invited guests were Miss Grace Denington, Miss Calla Goswell, Miss Katherine Brawnner, Miss Carolyn H. Lee, all of Washington, Mr. Robert E. Lee, of Manassas, Mrs. Douglas and Messrs. Frank Cokerille and Hunton Washington, of Greenwich. The inclemency of the weather prevented others from attending.

Victrola music, games and dancing served to amuse the company. All seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves and closed with best wishes and many returns of the day to the honored party. X

LIEUTENANT PATTERSON AGAIN FLIES TO TOWN

A Second Time His Airplane Gets Out of Commission and He Stays Over Night.

Some humanitarians not only work through the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the Audubon Society in the interest of bird protection, but they state their belief that trees are feelings, because they have life, and they disapprove of cutting trees and thus causing suffering. It is only a step farther to believe that things with action and movement, like an airplane, will be able to have certain desires.

Husbands and wives, and people generally, are found to become like each other by association. According to the philosophy indicated above, an aviator and his machine might learn to have similar ideas about the attractiveness of a community. Whether this is the correct explanation the deponent saith not, as he knoweth not. However, we all do know that Lieut. Lyman Patterson enjoys being in Manassas. His airplane seems to have become like him in liking Manassas. On his first trip to our town on Tuesday, Jan. 7, he merely circled and did wonderful air tricks over the community, for an hour, before returning to Bolling Field, Anacostia, D. C., where he is located as a member of the air service.

The machine seemed to be attracted by the town, so on Monday, Jan. 13th, when the Lieutenant came again and alighted to keep a dental engagement, the airplane decided to stay longer than its driver had arranged. Accordingly, it put itself out of commission and refused to ascend on the homeward journey until much attention and manipulation had been shown it.

On Monday the Lieutenant planned to come to Manassas in his plane, accompanied by his brother, Col. Wm. L. Patterson, also of the Air Service, in order to show the latter a view of the town from the air. It was the intention of the Lieutenant merely to take a tour of the air over the town without landing, as it is not customary to alight when the ground is soft, lest the machine be soiled or possibly injured. The machine, however, divined the Lieutenant's intention and, when 4,500 feet above ground and five miles from town, suddenly developed motor trouble, just as schoolboys and school girls—sometimes manufacture acute illness just before school time.

The airplane refused to permit proper ignition and so there was nothing for the Lieutenant to do but descend from his dangerous position as safely as possible. This was done without mishap to either of the aviators or the machine, which had made the trip from Washington to Manassas in the half hour from 3:55 to 4:25 p. m. Earlier in the afternoon they had gone to Annapolis, Md., and to Camp Meade, between Baltimore and Washington, returning to Bolling Field before starting to Manassas.

Col. Patterson left for Washington on train No. 44 at 5:52. Lieutenant Patterson telephoned for a mechanic from Bolling Field and then employed a watchman with a gun to guard the airplane until morning. He spent the night at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ballantyne Patterson.

On Tuesday, Lieutenant Clarence Smith, of Bolling Field, came to town in an airplane, accompanied by a mechanic. He left the mechanic to make the necessary repairs on the disabled machine and returned to Washington. At 5:30 all was in readiness and Lieutenant Patterson, with the mechanic, started back to Bolling Field. A few miles from town a heavy fog was encountered, and it was necessary to return to Manassas. A second start was made on Wednesday morning at 11:20, but again there was machine trouble and Lieutenant Patterson descended on the farm of Mr. Jas. R. Dorrell. Yesterday he made the final and successful effort to return to Washington. Of course Lieutenant Patterson will fly to town again. We will then see whether the airplane will make him descend and even stay longer than he intends, in case he voluntarily lands.

RECEPTION TO TEACHERS OF GRAMMAR SCHOOL

High School Faculty Gave Their Annual Function Thursday—Intermission 3:30-5:30.

The annual reception given by the principal and faculty of the high school to the principal and faculty of the grammar school was enjoyed by the principals and their appreciative invited guests in the assembly room yesterday afternoon, between 3:30 and 5:30.

The recipients of the reception and invited guests, as they arrived, were greeted by the high school principal, and other members of the teaching force.

Those present were Miss Eugenia Osbourn, high school principal, and instructors Mrs. W. F. Sanders, Miss Myrtle Grenala, Miss Lulu D. Metz, Miss Mary Cox, Miss Williette Myers, Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge and Mr. H. W. Sanders, of the high school faculty; Mrs. C. M. Larkin, principal, and teachers Miss Lillie Evans, Miss Grace Metz, Miss Ruth Smith, Miss Grace Moran and Mrs. A. M. Crigler, of the grammar school faculty. Misses Daisy and Amelia Brown and Miss Elsie Lawson, of the grammar school faculty were unable to be present, as well as Mrs. T. E. Haines, one of the invited guests.

Invited guests present were County Supt. Chas. R. McDonald, Ex-County Supt. Geo. G. Tyler, County Agent R. G. Koerner and Rev. Alford Kelley.

Those present were grouped in a circle on chairs. After some time spent in conversation, Mrs. Hodge, presiding at the piano, led the company in "Auld Lang Syne," which friendly song made all feel better acquainted, at once. Mrs. Hodge announced a game of "Celebrities." Fifteen persons of national and international fame were described by characteristics, the first letter of each word corresponding to the first letters of the names of each well-known individual. Rev. Alford Kelley guessing fourteen out of fifteen names, won the first prize, an "a-b-c" book, which might help him eventually to learn to spell words and eventually, write sermons. Mr. Geo. G. Tyler, who guessed ten out of fifteen, was given the second prize, a led pencil, with which he might some day learn to write court records and otherwise "make his mark in the world."

Mrs. Hodge then read a letter, written 100 years ago, to Rev. Julian Crossen, pastor of the grandmother of a friend of Mrs. Hodge, by a man, who had received clothing from the minister and, while acknowledging many articles given, had suggested other articles that he wished and hoped the minister would give. It was very funny. Refreshments were then served. The flavor scheme was vanilla and chocolate, those being the kinds of ice-cream served by Misses Dorothy Sanders and Nell Cave. Two plates of rich, light cake, with vanilla and chocolate icing respectively, made by Misses Florence Smith and Beulah Whitmer, of Miss Lula Metz's domestic science class, were then passed.

County Supt. Chas. R. McDonald was expected to lead the teachers and their guests in a conference on the "Health Campaign," but this was postponed to next Thursday afternoon, when the company will reassemble for a purely intellectual program, yesterday's being exclusively social.

After singing one stanza of "America" and the doxology, the visitors said their farewells to Miss Osbourn and separated, all having had a most enjoyable afternoon.

PRIVATE F. L. ATHEY DEAD

Volunteer Cavalryman Dies at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Private Fewell Lee Athey died at Fort Bliss, Texas, on Thursday last, Feb. 20, of pneumonia, aged 20 years.

He was born near Minnieville, where his father, Mr. W. S. Athey, owned a farm, but in 1908, moved with his parents to Manassas, where he has lived ever since.

Private Athey volunteered in April, 1918, and was sent to Fort Slocum, New York. Early in May he was transferred to Fort Bliss, Texas, near El Paso, as a member of the Fifth Machine Gun Troop of Cavalry. There his troop preserved order on the border between the United States and Mexico. He had recently taken a long hike to New Mexico.

He had a clean record as a soldier, not a scratch being recorded against him. He had been excused from drill during the past two months, as he was being instructed preliminary to becoming a sergeant shortly.

On Tuesday, Feb. 18 he had written to his mother, a letter, the handwriting of which indicated great weakness on the part of the writer. His commanding officer had also written, stating that he thought Fewell would be about again in a short time. But, the disease made rapid progress. Alarming telegrams came early last week and on Thursday, a few minutes before midnight, he passed away. His father did not learn of his death until Friday afternoon.

The body, escorted by Sergt. Walter Poweraki, arrived from Fort Bliss in Manassas Tuesday night and the funeral services were conducted in the Primitive Baptist Church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The officiating ministers were Elder T. S. Dalton, of Baltimore, and Rev. T. D. D. Clark, of Manassas. Escorting the funeral cortege were members of the Order Fraternal Americans, who conducted the services of their ritual, including the committal, at the grave Elder T. S. Dalton pronounced the benediction.

The flowers, sent by friends, included a flower wreath from members of his troop, Order Fraternal Americans and others. Among those in attendance at the funeral were Mr. J. S. Athey, uncle of the deceased, and his wife, from Montgomery county, Md.; also, Corporal Harry Hamont, a relative of the family by marriage, of Warrenton.

Private Athey is survived by his parents, four brothers and two sisters.

Slogan of Express Campaigns Regarding Shipments

Plans of the most comprehensive nature to bring about conditions which will make possible a marked improvement in the express service throughout the country, was announced recently by Mr. W. H. Clark, local representative of the American Railway Express Co. "A Better Service Campaign" will be undertaken by the 135,000 men and women employed in the express service, for the purpose of raising the standard of packing, wrapping and marking of express shipments.

The drive started February 10th in every city and town in the country. It will comprise a campaign to educate and appeal, of education and appeal among employees simultaneously with a widespread effort to secure the co-operation of the shipping public along the same lines. No new packing or marking rules have been adopted for the campaign but the express agents and clerks will be instructed hereafter to insist, firmly but courteously, that the rules already in force are strictly adhered to.

The chief purpose of the "Better Service Campaign" is to check, once and for all, the waste of time, effort and money that results from the loss of damaged shipments. It is a source of dissatisfaction and annoyance to both the shippers and carrier and tends to impair the express service. It is expected that all who ship by express, and 300,000,000 shipments are annually travelling that way, will be keenly interested in the drive, because it so intimately concerns the transportation end of many different trades, some of which depend almost exclusively upon the express service.

Regarding the conditions which led to a decision for a national drive of this character, an express official made this statement: "It is an acknowledged fact that the average American business man regards a satisfied customer as a direct asset to his business. He would do nothing that would jeopardize his good relations with that customer. But if the goods sent him arrive in bad order, if the contents are damaged or pilfered, because they were exposed during the journey, or if, may be, the entire shipments are lost, because of inadequate marking or insecure packing, the customers may not wait long for explanations, but place his business elsewhere.

In such a case, the payment of claims by the express company does not remedy the evil or serve to encourage more business. It is a costly and unnecessary waste to both shipper and consignee. Both are disappointed and disgruntled, while the express company itself is faced with the necessity of practically buying in the goods. A general dissatisfaction with the service is inevitable—and no one is a gainer.

We believe that there is a remedy for this evil in the fact that the loss of or damage to a shipment can, in many cases, be attributed to the unsafe condition in which it is turned over to the express company to handle. Experience has shown that a shipment started right seldom goes wrong. "Start right" means simply that it has been securely wrapped and packed, that it can stand up for itself and is plainly and properly marked, not only with the name and address of the consignee but with those also of the shipper. The use of a poor quality of paper or twine or inattention to the conditions of shipments turned over to the express service is something that we are trying to discourage. But nothing is more essential than the co-operation of the shippers and as they are keenly concerned in this matter, we are hopeful of getting them to help.

A determined effort will be made during the campaign to eradicate what is known as the "No Mark" evil. From July to November 30th last year, there were 1,000,000 shipments sent to the "No Mark" Bureau because either the consignee or the shipper had been lost, and their delivery, except in a few cases, made impossible.

Personal baggage, hardware and automobile tires comprise the largest proportion of the "No Mark" shipments, which are attributed to the failure of the shippers to mark clearly and pack their goods substantially. With the help of the shippers and through the influence of the campaign the express company hopes to make the campaign a success.

Many "No Mark" shipments lose their individual character because of single tags being used which shippers depend upon to carry them to destination, but are torn off. The use of tags at all is discouraged by the express men, but where it is absolutely necessary, shippers are urged to use not less than two. With personal baggage sent by express it is wise to inclose the name and address of the shipper, in case further identification is necessary.

The "Better Service Campaign" will be conducted with the purpose of bringing about a betterment of the express service, in the interest of the people, who depend upon it or use it occasionally. But its success depends largely upon the response and co-operation of the shippers themselves, in the opinion of the officials of the express company directing this drive, and there are many indications that this help, on the part of the public, will be forthcoming.

"Start Express Shipments Right" is a slogan that will be carried throughout the country by posters on express wagons, placards in windows and by pamphlets and other forms of printed matter.

QUOTA NOT RAISED

Y. W. C. A. Should Get $100 in the County at Once.

By Miss Mary Larkin.
Prince William county has not yet raised its quota of $100 for the Blue Triangle Investment Campaign of the Young Woman's Christian Association. It is expected, however, that by March 1, the amount will be well over-subscribed, even if full reports from every section of the county are not available. Prince William has exceeded all expectations in the drives of the past, first in the Y. M. C. A., then the Red Cross and United War Work campaigns, and, lastly, the Armenian and Syrian Relief Fund; and the same gratifying result is expected for the Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. cannot go back to a pre-war basis, after going so swiftly forward to meet the needs that arose with the war. This emergency work must be considered but the beginning of a program to fit women for after-the-war construction. Although its needs lack the flashing appeal of war work, funds must be forthcoming to continue its religious, educational, industrial and recreational work.

Contributions may be given or sent to any member of the following committee, or their authorized representatives:
Chairman, Miss Mary Larkin, Manassas; Mrs. C. W. Mark, Nokesville; Mrs. M. M. Washington, Greenwich; Mrs. H. L. Hundley, Stone House; Mrs. J. W. Caton, Gainesville; Mrs. William Crow, Joplin; Mrs. Tyson Jazney, Occoquan; Mrs. D. C. Cline, Dumfries; Miss M. J. Keynolds, Agnewville; Mrs. C. E. Clarke, Minnieville, and Mrs. A. A. Hooff, Manassas.

It is hoped that the amount raised, though small, may be representative of all sections of the county.

"STAR" TO HELP FARMERS

Her Twelve County Agents at Dinner and Conference.

Our county agent, along with eleven others, in counties nearest Washington, was invited to conference at the Raleigh Hotel on last Monday, by the Washington Star, to see what it could do toward helping the farmers. Interests of those counties by having a page devoted to agriculture in its Sunday edition. It is likely the first issue, to have this page, will appear next Sunday. State director J. M. Jones, Blacksburg, Va., and the chief extension work in the south, M. Bradford Knapp, were also present.

We judge that the dinner set up by the Star people was the least interesting part of the affair, from remarks made by our county agent.

ADVOCATES OF WORLD-WIDE PROHIBITION HERE

(Continued from Page One) Ohio, last November, when leading people from various nations, stated that their countries were impoverished by the war and need money to carry on their work of getting their respective countries "dry." America had financed the allied nations in their fight against autocracy and militarism, and America must send money to all the nations of the earth in their struggle against the liquor traffic. Cards were distributed for the audience to indicate what they would give monthly, payable quarterly, for five years, for world-wide prohibition. About $400 in all was subscribed for this international movement. Ex-Gov. M. C. Patterson was then presented to the audience. The subject of his address was the question, "What Is Victory?" "Victory" was said to be on every tongue and in the mind of all. God had used America in a great way to win the war for democracy. Germany had said that we "could not fight." Allies had "looked on us with suspicion." Americans themselves "had doubts." But a sober army had won the war. German soldiers were trained on good food. American soldiers were trained on good food, plus sobriety. Brewers would not stop their efforts to defeat prohibition, so that there was necessity of a determined effort to secure law enforcement. Prohibition was declared to be the sanest and soundest government policy. Formerly the policy was to keep men away from liquor. Now the idea was to keep liquor away from men. Gov. Patterson said that he had never known any men to be helped by liquor, but he had known of thousands who had been destroyed by it. Under prohibition men were purer, children were better born, and people had more wealth. Lloyd George had said that Great Britain had three enemies: Austria, Germany and Alcohol, and the greatest enemy was Alcohol. During the last days of Pompeii the same arguments were used in defense of having slaves and wild beasts fight in the Roman arena, as are now used in advocating saloons. In more modern days the Spanish Inquisition, opium and slavery were defended by the same arguments. Fourteen of the powers around the World Peace Table had said that the liquor traffic is a curse, and there could be no peaceful world until we could get a sober world. No intelligent, Christian, sober citizen ever started a fight and no intelligent, Christian, sober nation ever started a war. Gov. Patterson then gave briefly the account of his transformation. Like many others he had thought that prohibitionists were people of "hypocrisy and hysteria." He had been raised in Memphis, Tennessee, where saloons were numerous. He had never read or heard a prohibition address. He had supposed that a man must be liberal to succeed. He drank and went with "the boys." As a lawyer he was elected prosecuting attorney and served six years. In one term of court at Memphis there were 150 murder cases, ninety-nine per cent of them being caused by alcohol. Elected to congress he found more saloons in Washington than in Memphis. There were even two saloons in the capitol building, where Senators and Congressmen drank. He was then elected Governor of Tennessee. He had believed in "local option," but still opposed prohibition. When the Tennessee legislature passed a prohibition bill he vetoed it, but it was passed over that "prohibition was profoundly and fundamentally wrong." He now believed it to be "profoundly and fundamentally right." He often drank too much, but he did not get drunk. He knew his boyhood friends who started drinking and never stopped. Many of those now sleep in their graves. Boys who do not take the first drink are never in danger. He found that he was not as strong as he thought. Liquor turned on him personally and also on his son. In humiliation, sorrow and suffering he got on his knees before Almighty God and asked for light and strength. Both were given. For six years now he has fought the liquor traffic. He has seen it driven out of his state. In a few months he will rejoice in its being driven out of the United States. By God's help he wants to live and labor to see it driven out of the world. At the close of the address the audience was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. E. Z. Pence. Nothing Succeeds Like Success. This old saying is given an added meaning by Mr. F. S. Royster, whose advertisement appears in another part of this paper, when he says "I like to think that the success of the Royster brands of fertilizer is due to the success of their users; that their growth is due to the growth of the crops they fed. I am proud of the success of my business but am prouder still of the success of the customers who made it. The Royster business has grown under my own eyes from 250 tons to 400,000 tons in the 33 years which I have devoted to it but the satisfaction in this growth is nothing compared to that which I have in the knowledge that it is an expression of the appreciation by my customers of values given them." Mr. Royster wants his customers to know that he still owns and controls the business and is personally interested in his customers, old and new. He will be glad to hear from them, with accounts of their use of the goods or have them submit for advice any of their plant-food problems.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband, Melvin C. Gray, who departed this life at 10 p. m. February 9, 1919. He died at his home near Catlett, Va., of influenza. He was thirty years old. He leaves to mourn, a devoted wife, five little children, mother, father, two sisters, four brothers and a number of relatives and friends. All that loving hands could do to prolong his stay on earth was done, but to no avail. God had prepared a brighter home for him.

The funeral services were held at his home, near Catlett, by Rev. Geo. W. Crabtree. He was laid to rest in Oakdale Churchyard.

Gone, but not forgotten, dear husband, Or will you ever be, As long as life and memory last, I will remember thee.

There is a grave that is dear to me, Over it no willow weeps. Dear is the grave in which he was laid, Sweet is the memory that will never fade.

A loving one from us is gone, A voice we loved is stilled, A place is vacant in our home, Which never can be filled.

Sleep on, beloved sleep, And take thy rest; Lay down thy head Upon the Saviour's breast.

We loved thee well, But Jesus loved thee best. Good night! Good night! Goodnight!

Written by his devoted wife, ADA V. GRAY.
