

TRIP FROM VIRGINIA TO PENNSYLVANIA

How the Two States Differ and in What Respects They Are Similar.

(By Rev. Alford Ketchy)

"Pa." and "Va." look somewhat alike in print, yet between the two capitals, "P" and "V," there are five letters, although the second letter of each symbol is the same.

In these days of three and one-third cents per mile for railroad travel, one saves wherever possible, so I took the trolley from Washington to Baltimore, as the single fare for the 40 miles is 92 cents, while the round trip is $1.62, a saving of 98 cents on the round trip. As it takes only one and one-half hours from New York Avenue and 15th Street to the business center of Baltimore and trolleys run on the hour and the half, except at night when they run only on the hour, it takes no more time usually to go between the two cities by trolley than by train.

As stated above, there are five letters difference between P and V. The first is Q—So I mention the first difference between "Pa." and "Va." under the word "queer." Queer reasoning of the Pennsylvania railroad officials was learned shortly after we left Baltimore for Harrisburg. I had often noticed differences between the members of the crews on the Southern and the Pennsylvania roads. The Pennsylvania men always wear clothes that are new and neatly pressed and linen is clean. Pennsylvania trainmen swear less than the passengers, while crews on the Southern swear more than the traveling public. Another difference is the searching of the Southern trains for bootleggers, while in Pennsylvania, which is still "wet," one can carry, inside and out, all the liquor he is able to transport. The particular difference which we have named "queer" was a defense of gambling.

Some discharged sailors began a game of poker. Hotel men in Virginia have been arrested and fined for allowing gambling, which is merely a form of stealing, as the law explains, on their premises. I did not suppose that the great Pennsylvania railroad would allow its trains to be used as a gambling establishment, as I had never seen games played for money on the Southern railroad. The sailors kept their money out of sight when the conductor approached. I asked him if gambling was allowed on the train. He replied, "If I do not see the money, I am not supposed to stop it." I informed him that money was being played for. He then told the sailors something. When he left, one of the players repeated his words, "Keep your money out of sight." Gambling on trains of the Pennsylvania railroad is legitimate, according to their conductor, if the money is not exposed. As gambling is stealing or taking money from another money, saying, "I spend my money, I do." "Sure, that's without giving an equivalent—I was led to wonder whether the Pennsylvania railroad officials would say that it would be all right for thieves to steal from the railroad, provided the articles stolen were concealed. I think not.

"R" is the second letter, so we have "rule." With only one stop scheduled in the 84 miles between Baltimore and Harrisburg, we were soon in Pennsylvania's capital city. Many miles this side of Harrisburg we could see the capitol, where there are supposed to be made the laws of the people, by the people's representatives, for the people. "Supposed" is a good qualifying term, although I really don't know of any one, at least in Pennsylvania, who does the supposed to be made the laws of the people, by the people's representatives, for the people. "Supposed" is a good qualifying term, although I really don't know of any one, at least in Pennsylvania, who does the sup-ter proved to be a degenerate female, who had on as few clothes as possible without exhibiting the nude. Boys and girls in large numbers saw this exhibition of a woman attempting to lure one of the prophets into sin. Why the board of censors in Pennsylvania should approve of this film is a matter hard to comprehend.

Don't fall down on the job because victory is accomplished. There's a bill to pay. Buy a Victory Liberty Bond if you have to borrow the money to pay for it.

VICTORY LOAN PROSPECTS

The combination of sense and sentiment in Secretary Glass's rebuke to pessimists about the victory of the Victory Loan is convincing and inspiring. If he can send his own spirit down through the ranks of his assistants, and the twenty or thirty millions who have learned the merits of national bonds, there will remain only formalities before calculating the customary oversubscription. The country is better able to take the last loan than it was to take the first one. The series of loans have rather enriched than straitened the national resources. By as much as the Treasury is debtor the bondholders are creditor on the bond account, with great trade credits to be added. The interest burden on the Treasury is distributed throughout the land as surely as the taxes are collected. The thirty billions the war has cost both stimulated war trade and left great increase of capacity of production in peace. It is true that the cost of Government in taxes has been trebled, but there is nothing in the figures to frighten citizens.

Two million men were sent to France and their mission was successful. More than one million men are still in France and must be brought home. The government needs your assistance. Buy Victory Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps. Your money and your boys saved civilization for the world. Your money, saved by investment in War Savings Stamps now, will bring your boys back from France. Realize how easy it is to save by buying Thrift Stamps.

considerations show more than our ability to float the Victory Loan. They show the approximate certainty of profit by taking it, and of a premium where now there is a discount for temporary reasons without relation to the worth of the Liberty issues. The country is strong enough for anything, even for a prosperity rivaling that from which once we almost prayed to be delivered. We must show a financial morale equaling our military morale. If our millions of bondholders follow Secretary Glass's inspiring appeal as our boys followed their leaders, the Victory Loan will go "over the top" as irresistibly as they. The Treasury is bound to make a fair offer, but the Secretary truly says that other conditions than the terms of the bonds account for the discount on the earlier issues. If he were to offer terms which should produce a premature overbid his market as Senator Calder says the present market is oversold. The Treasury's previous appeals have been to patriotism. There still remains an appeal to duty. The country is in no need of being saved, for it is not threatened as other countries are, but its bills must be paid. A stronger present appeal is to self-interest. The bonds are the best reserves for banks and traders alike. They are the surest help in time of need for the taxpayer, and an unfailing reliance for any emergency for anybody. Hardly any family can be happy without its share. —New York Times.

Great as our financial burdens are, they are the smallest but one among the Allies. In proportion to wealth the debt of Japan alone is less than ours, about in the proportion of 4 per cent. to 8, whereas the other Allies' debts run to half their national wealth, more or less, in the various cases. Comparing our condition with that when last we were engaged in a great war, there is everything in favor of the present. The civil war cost about four billions, less than one-seventh the amount we have spent in one-third the time of the civil war. But our growth in population and wealth is tenfold at least.

Instead of thinking of the greatness of our burdens it is better to think of their comparative lightness. For instance, if we had contributed men in the proportion of England our armies should have numbered ten millions, and the money burden would have risen correspondingly. England's soldiers and sailors totaled five millions, more than double ours for less than half our population. The money burden is no more favorable to England, and yet is faced stoutly. The reason for making this comparison is to bring out the fact that the war has strengthened us as much as it has weakened England. As Secretary Glass remarks, our bank reserves have risen with our war expenses and are now over 51 per cent. They are the greatest in the world and are backed by almost too much gold. At the time of the world's greatest need for credit, and the incapacity of the world's previously greatest bankers, we possess both the greatest stores of credit and the greatest productive capacity. We are not crippled by loss of foreign lenders, like France. We have not been turned from a creditor nation into a debtor nation, like England. The case is reversed. England for a time cannot lend abroad as she used to, and therefore cannot sell abroad in accustomed volume. The world will suffer unless we supply that trade, and we shall suffer unless we use our productive capacity to that work of

Mr. Rudy of the C. Day Rudy Company, of Harrisburg, Pa., is expected here this week to interview members of the Lutheran Church with reference to art windows for their church.

Lieut. Lyman Patterson piloted Captain Bragg to West Point, N. Y., Wednesday. "If the weather and fortune permit, they will return Friday or Saturday." It was a rapid flight, to this historic spot in beautiful New York.

Mr. George Purvis, of Quantico, who was appointed a notary public by Governor Westmoreland Davis on Feb. 1, for a term of four years from said date, qualified before the county clerk, Mr. Geo. G. Tyler, on April 22, giving bond in the sum of $500, with approved security.

Misses Catherine and Lillian Larkin accompanied their sister, Miss Mary Larkin, to Charlottesville and attended with her the Red Cross Conference on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. At the close of the second day's sessions all three of the young ladies returned as far as Culpeper, where they visited friends until Saturday, when they came home to Manassas.

In an interclass track contest at the High School yesterday afternoon the third, or junior, year representatives won. The score was 85 to 12, the twelve points being distributed among the first, second and fourth year classes. Owing to the limited time, some of the boys were obliged to leave and were unable to take part in the contest. Seven, instead of ten events, took place.

Mrs. D. R. Lewis, who has been spending the past month with her sister, Mrs. D. H. Prescott, of Medford, Mass., is expected home the early part of next week. Mrs. Wm. Fouts, who spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Prescott, and has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. G. Griffith, of Washington, for several weeks, will return home next week with Mrs. Lewis.

Miss Muriel Arey, who is teaching at Greenwich, spent Easter at her home, near Manassas.

Mr. and Mrs. Abby Glascock, Mrs. Howard O. Adams and Mrs. Beth Mabrey, all of Washington, spent Easter at the home of Mrs. M. E. Akers.

Sergeant Fred W. Carrington, of Richmond, who was in the France fighting, came to town on Wednesday and made an address at the night performance of "The Price of Peace," telling personal war experiences in the interest of the "Victory" loan.

At the assembly hall of the Manassas High School on next Tuesday evening, at eight o'clock, an oratorical contest will take place. Five students have entered into the contest. Other features of the evening will be "moving pictures." Ice cream will be on sale. The proceeds of the entertainment are to be devoted to school improvements. Entrance, 10 cents.

Mr. E. E. Hockman has severed his connection with the New Prince William Garage and will return to his former occupation as a plumber. Mr. W. I. Steere, who owns the building, will enlarge and remodel it for garage purposes, thus relieving the crowded condition now existing as a result of increasing business. Mr. J. I. Randall will continue the business alone. It seems natural to see Mr. Randall once more as sole proprietor of this establishment.

Mr. H. Kinzel Laws, of Brandy Station, Va., formerly of the National Bank of Manassas, is visiting the home of Rev. F. D. Clark this week. Mr. Laws attended the tenth annual Grand Council of the Order-Fraternal Americans, which convened in Charlottesville on Tuesday, April 22, where he was elected state vice-president of the organization. This is a great distinction for so young a man, but it indicates appreciation of ability and efficiency. Mr. Laws is now a member of Front Royal Council, but was formerly a member of Bull Run Council, No. 15, of Manassas.

Mr. James B. Cole attended the tenth annual Grand Council of the O. F. A. on Tuesday at Charlottesville, as a delegate from Independent Hill Council, No. 34. He left Manassas on Monday, taking with him two children of the late Mr. C. B. Lowe, Edith, aged six, and Harold, aged four, for whom he had been made guardian by Judge Samuel G. Brent at February court. They were placed in the O. F. A. orphanage at Lynchburg. He announces the Grand Council as an exceedingly fine one. He returned home Tuesday night, having greatly enjoyed the journey, the Grand Council and the privilege of escorting the little orphans to their future home.

Mr. Lewis T. Boynton, representing the Radcliffe Chautauqua System, of Washington, D. C., was in town yesterday, seeing what prospect there was for his people to give a festival here this year. As the Swarthmore Chautauqua agent was promised guarantors for 1919, on account of the epidemic stopping a course in 1918, no effort was made to secure a festival. Mr. Boynton invited the editor to dine with him at the New Prince William Hotel. As this seemed to be all that The Journal could do to encourage wholesome entertainment and uplifting lectures, the invitation was accepted.

Rev. A. Stuart Gibson spent the early part of the week in Richmond, returning last night.

Owing to our large number of page advertisements in this week's issue, we have been obliged to make it a sixteen-page edition.

Dr. W. F. Draper, of the Federal and State Council of Defense, spoke at the Farmers' Institute this morning on plans for the County Health Campaign.

After next Tuesday "no grains, food products, etc., shall be used in manufacturing beer, wine or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquors for beverage purposes." This is the language of the War Prohibition act passed by Congress.

The group centenary meeting for part of Alexandria district was held at Manassas today. Thirteen pastors and ten charge directors were in attendance. Mr. G. H. Fonken, who has charge of the Centenary in the Baltimore, Virginia and West Virginia Conferences, gave a splendid and helpful address and then took up and explained the Standard Centenary Plan for carrying forward the great drive from May 18th to May 25th.

Mr. M. Lynch and daughters, Mrs. D. A. Hewett and Mrs. Mary Pope, with the latter's daughter, Miss Elizabeth, spent Sunday in Alexandria, Mr. Hewett also being a member of the party. There they were met by Private Harvey A. Lynch, Mr. Lynch's son, of Hospital No. 5, Grand Central Palace, New York, who had been given a furlough to meet his relatives. Private Lynch told his family that corned beef—"corn willie" as the soldiers call it—and salmon won the war. The soldiers carried these and similar rations with them when fighting. When a man was killed his rations were at once appropriated by his fellow fighters, as he would have no further use for food.

RED CROSS MEETING Committees on "Welcome Home" Day and Historical Report.

The executive committee of the Red Cross met last night at the home of the secretary, Miss Mary Larkin. A committee to arrange for the reception to returned soldiers was appointed, consisting of Mr. C. J. Meester, chairman, and Mrs. A. A. Hooff, Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, Mr. Chas. R. McDonald, Mr. William Crow and Mr. R. G. Koigler. This committee will appoint the time and arrange plans for the "Welcome Home." Sub-committees will be appointed all over the county to co-operate in the work of making the affair a great success.

Plans were discussed in regard to the work of the Home Service nurse, Miss Eleanor Davis, but nothing definite was arranged.

The next public meeting will be held on Monday, May 5. The place has not as yet been selected.

Mr. Geo. G. Tyler, president, announced that the historical committee will consist of Miss Mary Larkin, Mrs. R. S. Hynson and Mr. Chas. R. McDonald. This committee has a stupendous task before them, as they are to give an account of the details of all activities of the Red Cross in the county from the organization of the chapter to the present.

ARTHUR ELLIS' LETTER Located at Nice on the Mediterranean Sea—An Attractive City

The following letter has been received by Mrs. Andrew J. Eggers from her brother:

"Dear Sister—Just a few lines in answer to yours which I received some time ago and was more than glad to hear from you and to hear that you all were well.

This leaves me feeling fine at the present time and I am having some time here. I am on a seven-day leave and it makes me almost forget he is in the army, for we get our meals at a rest table and sleep in a real bed. But the worst of it is having to go back to it again.

We had to leave here Sunday to go back and I only wish it was for the states. But, I don't think it will be long before we will be on our way.

I am on the Mediterranean Sea now in the city of Nice and it is some city. Tell Andrew I would like to have him over here.

Well, Grace, I guess I will close for this time. Hoping to hear from you real soon, I remain as ever, your loving brother. Private Arthur Ellis, Hdq. Co., 318 Inf., A. E. F."

GRAFTERS AT WORK IN REAL ARMY UNIFORMS

"Fake" Soldiers Busy all Over United States, National Vigilance Committee Warns.

Beware of men posing as recently discharged soldiers who are using the uniform of the United States for illegitimate purposes. This is the warning issued by the national vigilance committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, New York. Reports received by the committee from every part of the country from the New England states to the Pacific coast show that common grafters, wearing purchased uniforms and using stolen discharge papers, are working schemes of many kinds to separate the sympathetic public from a few of its dollars.

In an Indiana city, the warning says, the want columns of the dailies were used to advertise for discharged soldiers seeking employment. These boys were told to file their applications and required to leave their discharge papers until the next day for examination. The next day the employment agent had disappeared with the discharge papers, which will presumably be used in an endeavor to collect back pay coming to these boys, or for the purpose of evidence that the pretended soldier unlawfully using them is in fact a former army man.

In Louisville, Ky., the want columns of daily papers were also used to advertise for soldiers seeking employment. In this case, the soldiers were required to appear in uniform. W. H. Riehl, secretary of the vigilance committee of the Louisville Advertising Club, having just received his discharge, donated his uniform and applied. He was told by the employment agent that they had the "niftiest" little "graft" ever put over, that a soldier could sell anything if he did not ask more than a dollar, and that the employment agent would furnish Riehl with a supply of pictures and other cheap articles costing about 10 cents each which Riehl was to sell for as much as he could get, up to a dollar, and they would divide the profits.

After he had all the details, Riehl revealed his identity and advised the agent that he had better "beat it out of town" within an hour. The "agent" still has some time coming to him.

The vigilance committee in a California city estimates that it saved the citizens at least $1,500 by exposing a similar graft.

The national vigilance committee urges employers to give honorable employment to every discharged soldier possible and other things being equal, to give them the preference in employment, but in every case such as cited, to report the incident to the proper authorities, and should the man in uniform be able to prove his identity, do everything possible to obtain respectable employment for him—Washington Star.

Other capes, in the regulation straight-line styles, are also popular, as well as a number made with yoke back.

Braid and buttons are quite profusely used in trimming many of these new wraps. Priced from $19.75 to $39.75

William Garrett and Billy Garrett, Jr., have returned from a visit to Lynchburg, where they attended the wedding of their niece, Miss Dorothy Prince, to Mr. George Richardson, of Lynchburg. Mrs. Ryland Dodge and little Miss Irene Dodge, of Chester, Va., and Mr. Laurence Hulfish, of Haymarket, were guests at "Oakshade" on Tuesday last. The game of baseball which was played on Easter Monday at Waterfall between Haymarket and the school team here, resulted in a score of 21-19 in favor of the Waterfall team. The first game played between these two teams on April 4th was won by Haymarket. A third game will be played at Woolsey on Friday afternoon, May 2. Miss Virginia White, of Washington, is spending the Easter recess with her grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McDonald.

RICHARDSON-PRINCE

Bride, Formerly of Haymarket, Quietly Married in Lynchburg. A pretty home wedding took place on Saturday at 1:30 April 19 at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Katherine B. Prince, 710 Chestnut street, Lynchburg. The contracting parties were Mr. George Leonard Richardson and Miss Dorothy Bell Prince, the bride's pastor, Rev. Dr. G. E. Booker, officiating. The young bride was becomingly attired in a suit of brown tulle, with hat and gloves to match. Her bouquet was composed of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The ceremony was quiet, being attended only by the immediate family and a few friends. The out of town guests were Mrs. F. H. Pickett, Mrs. J. Wm. Garrett and Billy Garrett, Jr., all of Haymarket, the former home of Mrs. Prince and her daughter. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for a bridal trip south, after which they will be at home at 710 Chestnut street, to their many friends who wish them much joy and happiness in their married life. "Be Kind to Animals," is on a sign that will be seen in our community during the week from Sunday, April 27th to Saturday, May 3rd, inclusive, when it is proposed to develop interest in kindness to animals. All over the country similar efforts will be made under the auspices of the American Humane Education Society. If you really want the NEWS of the county The Journal will give it to you every week for a year for one dollar, in advance.

VIRGINIA SHOULD BE MORE PROGRESSIVE

The Second of Three Articles by a Former Manassas Boy, Showing State Needs.

In the introductory article of this series it was my endeavor, by rapidly sketching the social history of the state in that period between the settlement of Jamestown and the end of that period at the end of the civil war, to trace the development of the spirit which is the ruling spirit in the state of the present day. By repeating something of the greatness of her men of renown, it was my aim to point out the unescapable success; to show that, carried away by the success of our prodigies, we have sacrificed the success of the many to that of the few; and still further, that even this process is today an obsolete one. Within the small scope of that introductory article, I also tried to show the basal reasons, caused by the spirit thus evolved, for our rather apparent failure to keep up with the modern procession of progress in such fields as agriculture and business, etc. This, having in some small measure been accomplished, it follows that we should now speak of the purely material aspects of the state today, and that in some detail, laying particular emphasis upon the fact that what I shall say hereafter applies particularly to the Piedmont and Tidewater sections of the state. The stranger in our midst, or the native son away in the west for a visit will both sooner or later come to but one conclusion: that Virginia is one of the best states in which to have one's wife and rear children, in the country, but that it is one of the worst in which to make the money on which to rear the children; or to state the fact in a form which is the more to our purpose in this, that the spirit of Virginia today is the spirit of the Ultra-conservative. That I am not overdrawing this arraignment of my native state it would, perhaps, be well to proceed to prove. Take, if you will, the attitude of the average Virginian, male or female, toward progress of any kind. Use as an example, a fair average example, our own town of Manassas. The most really progressive man which our town has had to boast within the present generation, was the late Mr. Round. Yet, barring a very few persons of the town, there were none of us who did not regard the man as a meddling, interloping yankee. Not because he was from the north, for he had been in the town far longer than the majority of us, and such yankeism as he may originally have had was worn off. We distrusted him simply because he was ever on the alert for opportunity to make the town better, and incidentally make us jump the faster in the heat of the sun. That we have a school and a good one, here, is due chiefly to the efforts of this man and to that of the lady who is its principal today. Yet, the efforts of neither are properly appreciated in the town and county. There are numbers of others in the county who are doing much toward the uplift of conditions, but I believe I may say without fear of contradiction that these men and women are not only not properly appreciated, but they are in many instances treated with scorn and disrespect, both spoken and active. Is a road to be built? A school to be improved? Anything under the sun that spells change in the old ways of doing things? Then the chorus of "I object" rises to the broad heavens, nor is still until that project is straight-way abandoned. Much has been done. A thousand times more remains to be done until any one will be able to say that we, as a state are truly progressive. Today the spirit of the whole state is the decadent spirit of the ultra-conservative. Not only is this spirit of conservatism dominant in purely material affairs, but in matters of blood, of family, as well. Any old Virginia family is a welcome addition to any community, at all times, nor is any exception made by reason of their being of value to the community, or not. But let any one from other states or worse still, let any foreigners come in, and the clamor for their instant removal to other parts is very outspoken. We forget that in-breeding of family as well as of stock is a very present and possible evil. We do not seem to realize that the progress of any community, state or nation exists only in direct ratio to the amount of new blood which those people may have assimilated. The history of the houses of Hohenzollern and Hapsburg should be warning sufficient in a case of this kind. New blood is just as essential to the state of Virginia as it is to that herd of blooded stock which you may have, or have observed. This very thing is the trouble with the mountaineers of the state. It is the trouble with the entire south. It is the fundamental why the south is not up with sister sections of the country; not the climatic conditions, nor the effects of the Civil War as we are so willing to be told it is. It is the climax of conservatism, the height of foolhardiness, and wholly un-American. The third phase of our state-wide lack of progress is the attitude of the leaders of public opinion. This attitude may be summed up into a single sentence which would read as follows: Never mind; we are doing well today—at least a shade better than our fathers did—and therefore we are doing well. Perhaps this is a well meaning error of judgment on the part of these men; it is certainly no better. Personally, I should call it a damnable series of lies to please the constituency and get the votes, and let the state go to the devil. At least, that is what it is doing, whether it is meant that way or not. There is entirely too much of this kind of oratory and writing emanating from the state officials. It has grown entirely customary for the Hon. so and so to tell us that we, as a community, have the best schools, the best churches, the best what not of any section bar none; and the worst of it is they have the nerve to tell it to any one and every one, in the very same words. Every one is entirely familiar with this kind of rot which is handed us officially from the state centers of industry, politics and education. Yet half of us go on believing it; the other half being intelligent enough to take it all at face value finally grow callous to it, and then actually want to hear and read it. So the irreparable mischief is done year after year, and we go progressing backward, or at best stand still, until some one wakes up; takes a good look at the situation; bawls out the truth; and we set upon him for disturbing our peaceful slumbers. What are you going to do with this phase of the situation? Do you want these pleasant lies or the bitter truth? In other words do you want a real state or will you continue to sit among the ash heaps of a forgotten war and try to warm yourselves? Growing out of the treacherous practices described in the preceding paragraph has come upon us the final and terrible vice of self satisfaction; a state-wide complacency with our present condition. From the earliest childhood we are taught to believe Virginia to be the paragon of everything which is good and great and fine among her sister states. The best of everything is to be found here, is the attitude which we have adopted. That this is a fallacious belief is quickly proved to us once we compare ourselves with other parts of the country. Indeed, such is the extent of the disillusion that very soon we are brought to a conclusion that we excel but the other states in but two practical details: our beautiful women, and our possum dogs; and even there we are not so sure, for any citizen of another state will argue about the beauty of women, and Arkansas may excel us in possum dogs. A native of the state of Texas once asked me in all earnestness if Virginia were really the state of moonshiners and negroes, which popular opinion all over the west gives her credit for being. My answer was "no," but the conversation underwent a serious change immediately due to my frenzied efforts. For what was I to tell him? That we raise cattle of the finest? So do other states and in far larger numbers. That our apples are the best in the world? So they are, but how many such apples do we raise in proportion to the number which we should? Apples? Texas has us beaten, though she only began a few years ago. Horses? What of Kentucky and Henry Ford? History? Yes, but history isn't going to feed any great number of our people. What then? We are morally the equal and not the superior of any state. We offer in that way the finest soil for the planting of the homes of people. Let us add to this inestimable advantage the name of progress and a future of value, and we shall again become the state of which we are proud today, though that state really exists only in our ideals. Here is the state as she stands today. Not as we love to believe, but as she is. The past is the grandest of all the states. The present is simply a period of slow preparation. Speed that preparation up and our future is assured. It simply rests with you of this generation: it is your duty to comprehend this and to see that our children enter into a future which shall give them the advantage we have lacked, and this means simply the one word, where now is conservatism, then shall be progress. Encouraging Boys and Girls. In its farm pages The Washington Sunday Star is paying special attention to the work of boys' and girls' clubs, basing its policy on the conviction that the welfare of farming and of the nation is bound up in these future citizens. CLIFTON

Among the Easter visitors were Miss Mary Quigg, of Richmond; Misses Nancy Parker and Nora Taylor, of Washington, at the Quigg home—the Walnuts—and Sergt. Pyles at W. H. Mathers'.

At the Sunday morning service in the Presbyterian church, Rev. Alford Kelley gave a short report of the recent meeting of the Presbytery of Washington city and declared the pulpit of Clifton church vacant by the action of the Presbytery, but that nothing definite could be done about filling the pulpit until the May meeting of the Presbytery; that Rev. Alford Kelley would continue to supply the said church until a pastor was appointed. This move by the Presbytery was a great disappointment to the Clifton congregation, which was almost unanimously in favor of Mr. Kelley remaining as pastor. The Sunday morning congregation was a tribute to the success of the every Sunday service, there being a congregation of about 100 persons present, five new members being received into the church. Mr. Kelley visited the Ivokota Mission in the afternoon.

The Woman's Missionary Society met at Mrs. Chas. H. Adams' Sunday afternoon with an unusually large attendance and with two new members. The subject, "Japan," was very ably discussed by Mrs. W. B. Doak, Mrs. Adams, Miss Kelley and others. The next meeting will be held in the church.

Government Loans and Prosperity or Taxes and Tight Money

THE United States has ten billion dollars of unpaid war bills that must be paid if the nation is to maintain its credit standing before the world.

And it must get the money with which to pay them from us—in either loans or taxes.

There's only one choice—to oversubscribe the Victory Liberty Loan now, or to pay even higher taxes later on.

And anybody would rather subscribe to a Victory Loan than pay a tax.

But granting that you would rather pay taxes, the matter doesn't end there.

The consequences of such a choice would affect the prosperity of this country—your individual prosperity—for years to come.

The Government has already had to borrow from the banks a large part of the money with which it is meeting current bills.

If we don't raise the money now to pay off those borrowings by oversubscribing the Victory Liberty Loan, the banks in turn cannot lend to American merchants, manufacturers and exporters the money needed for the expansion of American business and the payment of good wages.

Each bank has only so much money to lend. It can't lend it to business men and to the Government at the same time.

The business men MUST have bank loans in order to start industry humming, pay good wages, and bring about the period of prosperity we are all looking forward to.

THE VICTORY LOAN MEANS BUSINESS, new enterprises started, factories enlarged, business expansion, export trade secured, plenty of employment and good wages.

TAXES MEAN TIGHT MONEY, business curtailed, credits cut down, building plans held up, export opportunities lost, factories shut down, and an ever-increasing army of unemployed.

There's no question of patriotism or sentiment involved in that—just hard-headed business sense.

It is true, we want to "finish up the job." We want to see that every last one of the boys who fought or prepared to fight for us is brought home, the wounded cared for, good jobs found for all. We want to go over the top in the Victory Liberty Loan, as we have each time the Government has called on us.

We want to do all these things BECAUSE WE ARE AMERICANS.

It just happens, in the matter of the Victory Loan vs. Taxes, that it is also to our best interest to do so.

WHISKY WORTH $20,000 SEIZED AT ALEXANDRIA

Alexandria, Va., April 21. — One of the biggest hauls made in the history of the Old Dominion since Virginia entered the prohibition list of states, was made this afternoon when a C. & O. freight car marked "lumber" and containing forty-seven barrels of whisky was recovered at the Potomac Railroad in Alexandria county.

The confiscated whisky is valued at $20,000.

It was taken away in motor trucks from the Potomac Railroad yards to the county courthouse on Fort Myer, Alexandria county. The work was done under the supervision of Commonwealth's Attorney Frank L. Ball, who was notified by the authorities.

The discovery was made by a clerk employed at the yards who was engaged in sealing cars when he detected the order of liquor. He looked at the car and found it marked "lumber." He thought it rather peculiar that a car marked "lumber" should leak, and upon examination he discovered a steady dripping from the side of the car.

His next move was the opening of the car. Lumber was piled on either side and also on top. To all appearances the car was filled with lumber. A deeper investigation, however, disclosed that the cargo of lumber simply was camouflaged and that there was only a thin veneer of lumber covering forty-seven barrels of perfectly good old Taylor and Hannisville whisky.

Each barrel contained approximately 45 gallons of liquor or something in excess of 2,000 gallons or 8,000 quarts or more, which, figured at $2.50 a quart wholesale, would bring $20,000.

The car of "lumber" was shipped from the Forty-sixth street station, New York, and consigned to a Richmond lumber company.

Employees of the railroad yards stood by and gazed in amazement as the big auto trucks carried away the valuable cargo of perfectly good liquor to the courthouse.

Is missed a dear face full of tender love;

Long years it has watched with a patience sweet

The coming and going of restless feet.

Shut in from a world of worry and care,

Her smile had its influence even there.

Sent loved ones to work with courage and zest,

Gave welcome sweet when returning to rest;

E'en strangers had learned to watch for and know

The motherly face as they'd come and go.

Though vanished the face from window above,

Yet I'm sure it watches somewhere in love—

Watches the footsteps to guard lest they stray.

Waiting to welcome at close of earth's day.

—LUCY HUGHES DOAK.

ELIZABETH FORD

We carried her over the sea, we did
And taught her to beg, beg,
A cute little fanny, all noisy and tinny,
But full of American pep.
Recruited into the Corps she was—
She came of her own accord—
We flew at her speaker the globe and
The anchor
And named her Elizabeth Ford.

Cute little 'Elizabeth, Dear little 'Liz-
abeth,

Bonnie Elizabeth Ford!
She was short and squat, but her nose
was sot

For the Hindenburg line—O Lord!
She hated a Hun like a son-of-a-gun,
The Kaiser she plumb abhorred,
Did chunky Elizabeth, Hunky Elizabeth,

Spunky Elizabeth Ford.

We took her along on our hike, we did
And a wonderful boat was she,
She'd carry physicians, food and munitions,
Generals, water or tea.

She could climb a bank like a first-rate tank

And deliver the goods aboard—

When we touch our steel Kellies to Semper Fidelis,"

Remember Elizabeth Ford.

Cute little 'Elizabeth, Dear little 'Liz-
abeth,

Bonnie Elizabeth Ford.

She took her rests in machine gun nests

And on bullet-swept roads she chared.

Where the Devil Hounds were first on the grounds

Of a section of France restored—

Why, there was Elizabeth, Chunky Elizabeth,

Spunky Elizabeth Ford.

But 'twas on the day at those murder-woods

Which the 'Yankees pronounce Belloo;

We were sent to knock silly the hopes of Prince Willie

And turn 'em around a g—

We prayed for munitions and cleared our throats

With a waterless click—Good Lord!

When out of a crater with bent radiator

Climbed faithful Elizabeth Ford!

Cute little 'Elizabeth, Dear little 'Liz-
abeth,

Bonnie Elizabeth Ford.

With a cylinder-skip she had made the trip,

Water and cartridge stored.

With her hood a wreck and broken neck

She cracked like a rotten board,

Hunky Elizabeth, Chunky Elizabeth,

Spunky Elizabeth Ford.

When they towed her out of the town next day.

Said Corporal Bill, "Look there!

I know of one hero who shouldn't draw zero

When they're passing the Croix de Guerre.

Who fed the guns that's startin' the Huns

Plumb back to Canal du Nord?"

So his Cross—and he'd won it—he tied to the bonnet

Of Faithful Elizabeth Ford.

Cute little 'Elizabeth, Dear little 'Liz-
abeth,

Bonnie Elizabeth Ford!

When a shrapnel has mauled her we've now overhauled her.

Her wheels and her gears restored.

Her record's clean, she's a true Marine

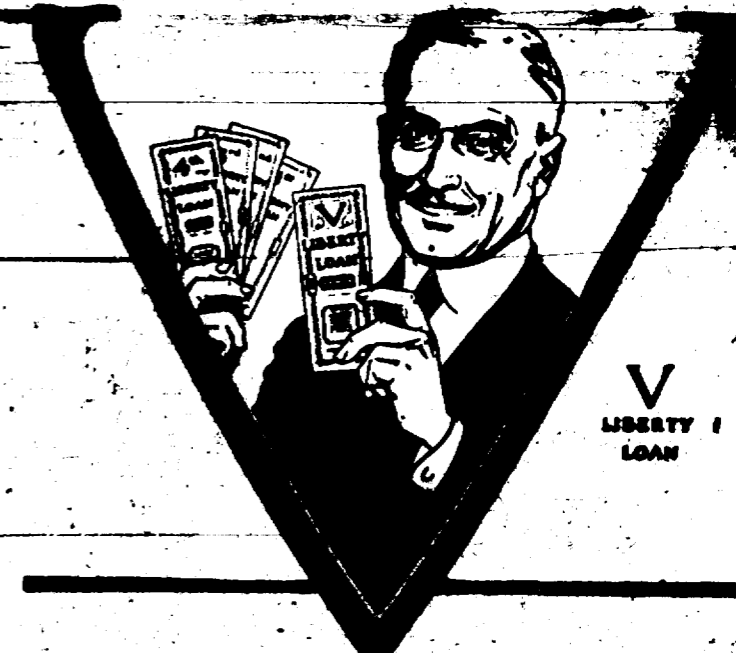

And we're sending the Dutch War Lord

A note by Elizabeth, Chunky Elizabeth,

Spunky Elizabeth Ford.

A debt for a Victory Liberty

Bond is a debt of honor.

Bring the Boys Back

They went over for you. They fought for you. Some of them died for you.

It's up to you to bring back the others. That's what a big part of the Victory Liberty Loan will be used for—to pay the expenses of the men who didn't count the cost.

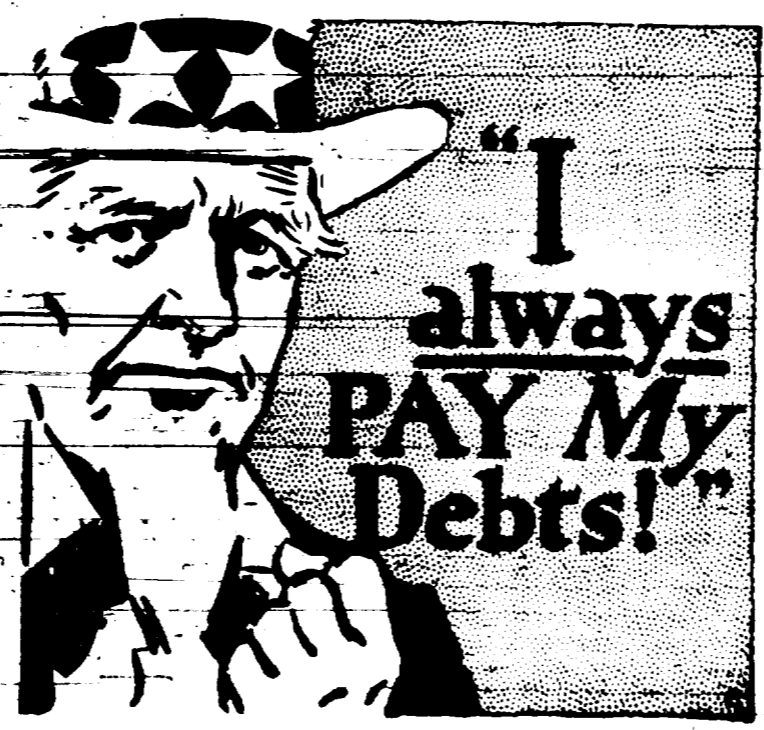

Bring 'em back—quick!

Buy to your limit of cash and resources.

"We were surrounded in a forest on a hillside of the Argonne. The demand to surrender came on the fifth day. Having held on so long, we thought we had better go through with it"

Charles W. Whittlesey

"Tell Them to Go to Hell!"

No food, no shelter. Swept by machine gun and shell fire. An inferno, day and night. And little hope of escaping.

Five days of this! But not a daunted soul among the four hundred and seventy Americans in the Lost Battalion.

Commanding the little group was Major Charles W. Whittlesey. To the offer of safety if they surrendered, Whittlesey replied without a moment's hesitation: "Tell them to go to Hell."

And they were saved because, as Whittlesey says: "Having held on so long, we thought we had better go through with it."

We, safe at home, have "held on" too—with our support through Four Loans. And we are "going through with it"—through with this Fifth call to duty—just as those boys in the Argonne. Make good,

CHAS. A. ROBINSON WRITES

Has Plenty of Light Bread but Wants Home Biscuits and "Real" Butter

Mrs. E. E. Molair has received the following letter from her brother, Private Charles A. Robinson, of Co. H, 814 Inf., A. E. F. in France. Private Robinson is the son of Mrs. J. H. Robinson, of Manassas:

"Dear Sister—Just received your welcome letter this morning. I am still enjoying the best of health. Am glad that you are getting some mail. Got a letter from Henry last week. We are having some very nice weather now. It is real warm in the sunshine today. Everything looks like spring now. The grass fields look nice and green. Grass is about three inches high now and would make a nice pasture. There is some nice looking farm land around here—most of it looks pretty good. The farmers have been sowing oats this week. Some sow by hand; a few have drills. They are different from ours; they sow the grain broadcast on top of the ground, then they harrow them in; they use a spike-tooth harrow—like we have in the U. S. Most of the oats I saw were black. I would like to have some for seed, as they are better than the white oats.

Most of the farms have a small threshing machine run by horsepower. They were threshing oats last week in the barn next to our Mill. Two men tie the straw up in bundles as it comes from the machine, so you can see how fast they thresh. I would like to see them use a real American thrasher one time. They would have a job to take care of the straw.

I am still with the Supply Co. and am working at night. The night guard went on a pass this morning, so I have his job now. I am on duty about five hours every night. One night we are on from seven to twelve, the next from twelve to six. There are two of us on guard at the tent. As to the crowd that will and keep their blankets on. In the morning, I help feed; we feed hay and oats mostly. Feed has been pretty scarce lately.

Well, we all get plenty of eats now—rice, beans, spuds and beef are the main things we have. I would like to get a big feed of good biscuits once in a while. We get light bread three times a day. When I get home there will be trouble if anybody offers me any more light bread. So, you want a good supply of biscuits and corn bread and "real" butter for me. Sometimes we get Oreo—very pretty good but is not like real butter.

A lot of the boys went on a pass this morning. I put my name in for one, but did not get it—I will try next month for one. I would like to see some of the real good parts of the country before I leave it. The last bunch of boys went to Balas Baines; it is down in the southern part of France.

We are about twenty-seven miles south of Verdun, at a town named Seigneulles. There are several aviation camps close around here. I see lots of flying machines and would like to go up in one sometime.

I think we will be in the states some time in June. Tell Dock I was glad to hear from him. I have no "cooties" to send him. Give my love to all—Bye, Charles."

"MANASSAS TEA ROOM"

This May Be a Town Sign in the Near Future on Main Street.

There is a possibility that Manassas will have one of those dainty Tea Rooms so popular with the gentle sex in the cities and large towns throughout the country.

A lady was here on Monday looking over the situation. She was unable to get suitable accommodations at Fairfax Court House, but she was pleased with local conditions.

It is her intention to have an attractive, quiet place, where dishes that appeal especially to the feminine palate, such as salads, ices, fancy cakes and similar delicatessen products can be secured, as well as the more substantial articles of food. Of course, the sterner sex will be able to secure meals adapted to their tastes.

Some of our domestic science girls, in white caps and aprons, will have an opportunity, as waitresses, to spend some of their leisure time and earn some extra change, at this desirable addition to our community, if it is eventually a reality.

Such an enterprise is carried on very successfully in Culpeper. The ladies there not only drop in for some light refreshments and an occasional meal, but they often take guests there for teas and meals.

Have you ever had our prices on JOB WORK? In these days it is well to know in advance both the quality and the cost. Ask THE JOURNAL.

REV. J. M. BELL HERE

Delegate to Charlottesville, so he Visits Manassas on Wednesday.

Rev. J. M. Bell, who has been State Finance Committeeman of the Order of Fraternal Americans during the past two years, was present, as a state officer, at the tenth annual Grand Council meeting of the Order at Charlottesville on Tuesday. The business of the Order was finished in one day, being a very harmonious session, so Mr. Bell came to Manassas at night. He returned on Wednesday to his new home at Asbury, W. Va.

Mr. Bell, with wife and daughter, left Manassas on Wednesday, April 9, and arrived at their destination on Friday morning, after spending Wednesday night in Staunton, Va., and Thursday night at Lewisburg, W. Va.

Fair weather favored them until Friday morning, when the last eight miles of the journey were travelled in rain and mud. At the parsonage they were visited by one of the parishioners, who brought in dinner for the boys, so that they could continue unpacking without cooking a meal.

Mr. Bell has been a local preacher for 27 years. He is now a local supply. At the end of the year he may be made local deacon. He can be ordained as a full minister after a period of study. His remaining in the pastorate, he says, depends on his success this year. We hope he succeeds.

There are six churches on his present charge and he preaches three times on each Sunday. As the churches are not so far apart, church members at times follow him around, so that he needs to keep the outfiles of new sermons on hand for immediate use in such an emergency.

HAYMARKET

Misses Fannie and Doyal Herrell, accompanied by their friends Miss Inogene Tally, spent the Easter Holiday at Snow Hill.

The children of Mill Park school have shown a great deal of interest in the health crusade campaign. Not only the primary, but the upper grades have worked faithfully and enthusiastically with the chores. Of nineteen children enrolled in school, fourteen have earned the title of "squire." The list of squires follows: Cecelia Mountjoy, Alice Herrell, Lillian Downs, Bessie Smith, Lawrence Boley, Francis Leonard, Marie Lann, Virginia Lann, Cora Shoemaker, Philip Pickett, Woodford Pickett, Gordon Pickett, Henry Herrell, Calvin Herrell.

There can't be any such word as "FAIL" —where America is concerned

There is no such word as "Fail" in the vocabulary of the real American.

Our boys have proved a thousand times that they never heard of it.

And, where the Victory Loan is concerned, it's not to be dreamed of. The Loan is going over and going over BIG. Make certain that you have a part in its success!

Buy to your limit.

"We'll be glad we did it in the days to come"

"Yes, it takes some sacrifice now, some scrimping and saving. But every penny of it will come back, with interest.

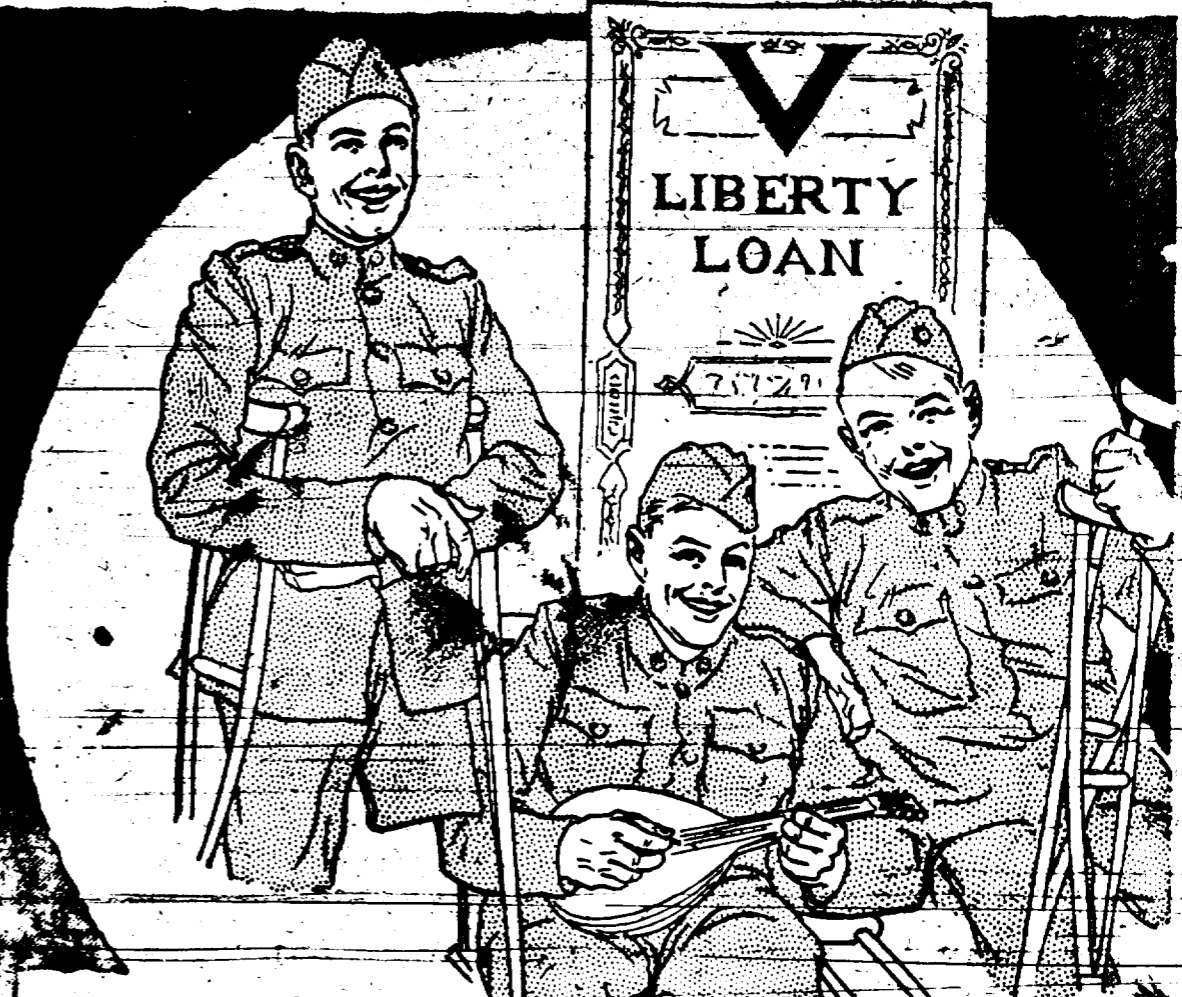

"In the days to come we'll be glad we did it—glad that we did our entire duty to our country and ourselves—glad that we got our money into the highest investment in the world—glad that we bought to our limit in the Victory Liberty Loan."

CAMPER & JENNINGS

With THEM—to the VERY LAST

We've been with our boys since the very first—since that day, two Aprils ago, when the Kaiser's throne commenced to totter.

Shall we forsake them now when, wounded and homesick, they need us most?

Shall we abandon them, or shall we stay with them by buying Victory Liberty Bonds?

Well, then, buy to your full limit.
