

RED CROSS HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Members Discuss Roll Call Plans—Officers Elected and Many Reports Received.

County-wide interest centered in the health campaign recently launched, and plans were made for the Third Roll Call which is expected to lend financial support to the campaign when the Red Cross organizations of Prince William county held their annual meeting at Conner's Hall in Manassas Wednesday afternoon.

The musical program, which was a delightful feature of the session, included songs by a chorus of school girls under the direction of Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge, and solos by Mrs. Bolling Lynn Robertson and Lieut. Lyman Patterson, all of which were warmly applauded.

Mr. George G. Tyler, chairman of the Prince William county chapter, presided. The meeting opened according to custom with "America," which was followed by the invocation offered by Rev. William Stevens, pastor of Grace M. E. Church, South.

Mr. Tyler made a brief address, welcoming members and visiting delegates and eulogizing the work of the Red Cross. He spoke of Cardinal Mercier's tribute to the Red Cross and his hope that such a splendid organization would continue to grow and be of service. "The Red Cross has done so much in the past," Mr. Tyler concluded, "that its record of service is only a promise for the future."

Rev. DeForest Wade, Roll Call chairman, spoke in the interest of the approaching campaign which begins November 2 and closes November 11, when every person in the county who possesses "a heart and a dollar" is expected to re-enroll in the Red Cross as a pledge of co-operation in the work of the future.

Rev. Mr. Wade spoke of his visits to every section of the county and the interest manifested in the campaign, and closed with a stirring appeal for support in the mighty program under way.

November 2 will be Red Cross Sunday, according to a resolution unanimously adopted by the chapter and branch representatives present. Every minister in the county will be asked to devote a part of his church service to the Red Cross, making known to his congregation the nation-wide plan for re-enrollment and their opportunity to share personally in the great work which is being undertaken.

The chairman appointed a committee composed of Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, Mrs. R. S. Hynson, Miss Audrey Drake and Rev. DeForest Wade to make arrangements for a mass meeting in Manassas at the opening of the campaign.

Rev. Mr. Gibson spoke briefly of the service medals awarded by the national Red Cross for war service of 800 hours or more rendered by the workers of the Red Cross, naming the following members of the Prince William chapter who have already received these medals: Mrs. R. S. Hynson, Miss Mary Larkin, Miss M. E. Rixey, Mrs. R. E. Sprinkel and Mrs. A. H. Harrell, of Manassas; Mrs. J. W. Caton and Mrs. F. H. Sanders, of Catharpin, and Miss Loretto McGill, of Haymarket.

Miss Audrey Drake, the public health nurse supported by the county Red Cross, made a short address on the problems of the county nurse, working among pupils, parents and teachers, many of whom do not have the proper appreciation of the laws of hygiene or sanitation.

"During the last ten years more money has been spent and more people have been giving their whole time to public health work than during the preceding forty years," declared Miss Drake. "This is having a tremendous effect on the education of the people, and evidences of its benefits may be seen on every hand. The new rural one-room school house is a good example of this. Instead of the old, dark, dingy, poorly-ventilated building, with the uncomfortable, body-deforming seats, we have a cheerful building with ceilings high enough to insure the proper air space for every child, abundant windows, a jacketed stove and a water cooler to which every child carries his own cup to quench his thirst, without running the chance of putting the saliva and germs of everyone else in his mouth."

Miss Drake stated at this point that she was glad to report that individual drinking cups were employed at every school visited in Prince William county. Her report was not so encouraging, however, with reference to the number of tightly-closed windows found.

"We have a great deal yet to do," she continued, "as evidenced by the result of a conference with the father of a school boy who was very much in need of dental attention. The father advanced the old argument that he had never been to a dentist or used a tooth brush in his life and that he had never had a decayed tooth in his head."

"On inspection of his mouth three teeth were found and they were all decayed. This is a typical example and shows that a great many people have gross and glaring defects and never think a great deal about them."

Of 209 children inspected in five schools, 70 per cent have decayed teeth, many with five or six cavities. Miss Drake reported, 18 per cent are suffering with diseased tonsils and adenoids and 5 per cent with defective eye sight. A few children were found to have defective hearing, but it was practically always due to throat trouble and was found only in those children suffering from enlarged tonsils and adenoids.

"Our greatest problem," Miss Drake concluded, "is getting these children treated. This will be done by making visits to parents, explaining the importance of having the corrections made, and then taking the children to the hospital or arranging for a free clinic."

Reports were made by Bethel, Catharpin, Greenwich, Haymarket, Nokesville and Stone House branches, each showing renewed interest in the work which is merging from war relief to community welfare work.

Among the branch representatives present were: Mrs. G. M. Davis, of Hoadley, chairman of Bethel Branch since its organization; Mr. Charles E. McDonald, chairman of Catharpin Branch, who has taken an active part in both chapter and branch activities; Mrs. Charles E. Brower, vice-chairman, Mrs. J. W. Caton, treasurer, and Mrs. Charles R. McDonald, also representing the Catharpin Red Cross; Mrs. M. M. Washington, supervisor of woman's work for Greenwiche Branch; Mr. R. A. Rust, chairman, Miss Loretto McGill, treasurer, and Mrs. J. E. Beale, representing Haymarket Branch, until recently a part of the Piedmont Chapter; and Mrs. H. L. Hundley and Mrs. Arthur Lee Henry, chairman and secretary of Stone House Branch.

At the close of the group reports by branch representatives, the chairman called for reports from chapter officers, beginning with the report of the county secretary, Miss Mary Larkin, who has served in that capacity since the organization of the chapter and who tendered her resignation on account of her early departure for Washington.

Miss Larkin expressed her warm appreciation of the cordial support and co-operation accorded by fellow officers, committee members, branch officials and other members of the chapter during her period of service.

Committee reports were made by Mrs. R. S. Hynson, supervisor of woman's work, and Miss M. E. Rixey, knitting supervisor, who gave summaries of the work accomplished since the chapter's organization, as well as their annual reports; by Mrs. R. E. Sprinkel, home service secretary, who gave the number of families dealt with during the year, the expenditures of the committee and the work of Miss Eleanor Davis; temporary home service secretary, who spent several months in the county; and by Mrs. A. H. Hooff, representing the committee on nursing activities, who gave a report of the four home nursing classes under Mrs. Janet Sampson Snape, R. N., and the present work of Miss Audrey Drake, Red Cross county nurse.

The nominating committee, appointed by the chairman, which was composed of Mr. Charles E. McDonald, Mrs. A. A. Hooff, Miss M. E. Rixey and Miss Mary Larkin, made its recommendations, which were adopted by unanimous vote, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Chairman, Mr. George G. Tyler; vice-chairman, Rev. Alexander Stuart Gibson; treasurer, Mr. G. Raymond Ratcliffe; secretary, Miss Willette R. Myers; assistant secretary, Mrs. A. A. Hooff; executive committee, Mrs. R. S. Hynson, Mrs. C. M. Larkin, Mr. W. C. Wagner and branch chairmen throughout the county.

Mr. McDonald, after making the report of the nominating committee, presided while the vote was taken. On motion of Mr. Tyler a rising vote of thanks was offered to the retiring secretary.

After some discussion of the method of raising funds for the support of the county nurse, with particular reference to apportionment among the Red Cross organizations of the county, the meeting adjourned.

YOUTH SHOT LEAVING ALEXANDRIA HENHOUSE

Eighteen-Year-Old William Keys Slightly Wounded—Says He Was Not Stealing Fowls.

William Keys, eighteen years old, who says his home is in Manassas, was shot late Thursday night in Alexandria by Oliver A. Catta, when Mr. Catta surprised him in his henyard, according to a news dispatch from Alexandria. Mr. Catta says that an examination revealed that five chickens were in the basket.

Mr. Catta conveyed Keys to the Alexandria hospital, where a number of shot were removed from his back and arm.

At police headquarters Keys stated that his father was the proprietor of a junk shop in Manassas, and the police who searched him expressed the opinion that he had brought away with him a good share of his father's stock in trade. In the lining of the boy's coat the police found a number of cheap medals, two fake wrist watches, a section of heavy steel chain about two feet in length, a pair of pliers, three pocket knives and sundry other articles. In addition he had a pocket-book containing $9.50.

Keys declared that he was merely making a short cut through Mr. Catta's premises and had no idea of stealing chickens.

Residents of Alexandria and Fairfax counties, near the city of Alexandria, have had trouble with chicken thieves, twenty-five chickens being stolen from one place.

The Presbyterian congregation gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Steere Tuesday to spend a social evening and to register their regret at the early departure of Mr. and Mrs. Steere for their new home at Mt. Rainier, Md. The meeting, which was a surprise to the honor guests, closed at a late hour after refreshments were served.

BETTER BABIES RECEIVE AWARDS

Many Parents Bring Little Folk to Special Meeting—Mrs. Davis Speaks.

The Women's Auxiliary held its regular meeting at Ruffner Building Friday afternoon, Mrs. J. F. Dogan presiding. The president departed from the usual order of business and the time was devoted wholly to a public meeting in the interest of the Better Babies contest of the county fair. Although the day was blustery and not suited to outdoor travel for little folks, a number of parents were present with their children who captured awards in the baby show. One mother was accompanied by five little ones, four of whom took part in the contest, and another was accompanied by three, all of whom participated, although only one in each family won special recognition.

The meeting opened with "America," sung by all present. The Scripture lesson, read by Rev. William Stevens, included the eighteenth chapter of Matthew and the tenth chapter of Mark, beginning with the thirtieth verse, both passages being especially appropriate to the occasion. Rev. Mr. Stevens also led in prayer.

Mrs. Dogan made a brief address, expressing the pleasure of the members of the auxiliary in being able to give up their meeting to the Better Babies program and announcing that all business would be postponed, even the reading of the minutes.

The program then opened with special numbers by the little folks of the primary grade of the Manassas school, under the direction of Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge. The little folks' program included stammer songs by groups of little girls, a recitation by little Miss Walser Conner and a recitation and piano solo by Master Charles Webster Hopkins.

Mrs. M. M. Davis, of Blacksburg, assistant emergency, addressed the audience on the subject of food and its value to the growing child. Mrs. Davis spoke of what had been accomplished here since her visit in February, when the women from the various clubs went back home to try to raise funds for health work, up to the present when the necessary money for present needs has been raised and the health officer and nurse are actually at work.

Mrs. Davis spoke of the value of the Better Babies contest and proceeded to the discussion of foods. She called special attention to the balanced ration and commended to mothers the government bulletin on foods, discussing pre-school-age feeding of the child and listing foods for the growing child. Menus for children were placed on the blackboard.

A child under twelve years old should have at least a quart of milk a day, said Mrs. Davis, not as a beverage alone, but in foods. She urged the housewife not to discard skim milk, which has certain principles, including lime which the body needs. Whole milk with other substances contains iron, she said, and spinach, celery, etc., also give us this protective substance.

The winter diet is chiefly composed of potatoes, beans, bread and meat, said Mrs. Davis, which wholly lacks the important food embedded in the green vegetables.

"Doctor and tonic are no good," she said, "unless you give the body the proper food."

Mrs. Davis places the green foods next to milk. In the juice of an orange is a wonderful amount of lime, she said. Spinach, kale and prunes also give us just what we need. "Syrup and cakes are not good for the springtime breakfast," she said, in an effort to break up a time-honored custom, which has at its foundation the idea that syrup and cakes are good the year round.

"Use common sense," she urged, "and feed our children with the same care that we feed our baby beavers." Eating too-much meat causes apoplexy, she said, hardening of the arteries, etc. "With our teeth we dig our graves." Little children should have more fish and fowl, and less of beef, mutton and kindred meat.

Children should have plenty of sugar, but not between meals. Too much sweet causes fermentation of the stomach.

Mrs. Davis named the evening club as one of the finest agencies in spreading the gospel of proper food, and "Next to the salvation of our immortal souls," she said, is the study of foods.

Plenty of food, plenty of fresh air, plenty of sunshine, plenty of water, she said, will make healthy bodies. "The way the twig is bent the tree will grow," she concluded, "have Better Babies by beginning right."

Mrs. Davis' address was followed by a short address from Dr. E. C. Harper, superintendent of the baby show, who gave a report of the contest from the standpoint of the physician, and also gave the report of the scoring committee. Dr. Harper commended the Women's Auxiliary for the splendid support given in carrying the contest over the top. He spoke of the interest shown throughout the county, an interest which is still exhibited by mothers who asked to bring their babies for examination after the close of the contest. He reported that 114 entries were made and 91 babies examined.

Mrs. Ransome, of the state board of health, representing Dr. Roy K. Flanagan, made an address on the proper care of mother and child. The time has come, she said, to band together to save the neglected mother. Mrs. Ransome gave statistics to prove the wisdom of her recommendations concerning the care of mother and child. The young folks present at this point in their several ways expressed their gratification in being able to hear the addresses of the afternoon and their impatience at the delay in receiving the promised awards, in deference to which the president hastened the delivery of the medals and diplomas.

The two medals offered to the finest boy and girl babies in the show, it will be remembered, were won by Baby Madeline Dawson, daughter of Supervisor and Mrs. J. L. Dawson, of Woodbridge, and Baby Charles E. Hall, son of Mrs. Charles E. Hall, of Catharpin, both of whom are six months old.

Although Baby Madeline was unable to make the trip from Woodbridge to receive the coveted award, Baby Charles was present and received his medal from Mrs. Dogan, who held him in her arms while she spoke. She had set her heart upon taking the medal into her family, Mrs. Dogan said, when first the baby show was planned. She had hoped first that one of her little grandchildren would be victorious, and when they failed of the highest score she looked to her little niece, who, although a class winner, was not a leader outside of her class. It, therefore, gave her real pride and pleasure to discover that one of the highest awards had been captured by the baby son of her old Sunday School pupil, Mrs. Charles E. Hall, formerly Miss Ruth Hoffman.

The other winners in each of five divisions, classified according to age, were: Elizabeth Leachman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Leachman, Manassas; Warren L. Hynson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Hynson, Occoquan; Herman L. Bonney, Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Bonney, now of Clarendon; Lena Ruth Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hooker, Nokesville; Charles Bauserman, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bauserman, Manassas; Hilda Cline, Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Cline, Dumfries; James Carroll Tullos, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tullos, Manassas; Nellie Gray Cuddihim, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Cuddihim, Manassas; Bankhead Davies, Mr. and Mrs. W. Willie Davies, Manassas; Margaret Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hooker, Nokesville; William Willis Davies, Mr. and Mrs. W. Willie Davies, Manassas.

The meeting adjourned with benediction by Rev. William Stevens, the next meeting to be held the third Friday in November.

TEACHERS MEET IN BUSY SESSION

Supt. McDonald Welcomes Large Attendance at Opening Session of Institute.

(Miss Lulu D. Metz, County Secretary) Despite the pouring rain, Prince William was well represented on Thursday morning when the tenth annual session of the county teachers' institute convened here at Bennett Building, sixty out of seventy-two teachers being present.

The morning session was opened with the singing of "America," followed by prayer by Rev. DeForest Wade. Mr. Charles R. McDonald, superintendent of schools, then welcomed the new teachers in the county, with greetings to all former teachers. His general remarks at once brought about a feeling of well-being and pleasure.

Rev. Mr. Wade followed with an address. He spoke of his pleasure in having an opportunity to meet the teachers, since those in the ministerial work and those in the school system are on common ground—the common ground of teaching. He spoke of the opportunity of both the teacher and the minister, in that they both have the privilege of following to some extent the great work which Christ did. He separated the life of Christ into three great divisions: (a) a preacher of the gospel (Teachers are unworthy of their trust unless they impart to their pupils the best things of life, he declared); (b) a teacher, imparting knowledge to all with whom he came in contact; (c) a doctor, the teacher in a sense likewise having opportunity to lift burdens.

Rev. Mr. Wade closed his remarks with this motto: I live for the cause which needs assistance. For the wrong that needs resistance. For the future in the distance. And the good that I can do.

He pointed to this as a guide for all teachers. It was because Germany forgot the teaching of Christ and became thoroughly selfish, he declared, that she became what we saw her in the recent war. "The more the teacher forgets self and follows the teaching of Christ, the fuller and the richer his life becomes. The world needs leaders now as never before, to cope with the great problems of the world, and the teacher, if she lives up to her great trust, can become such a leader as the world needs."

Prof. W. R. Chapman, principal of Bethel High School, next spoke on the teacher as a leader and the importance of teachers' being moral leaders. The teacher's influence is in all she does, and hence she should live that her influence may be a good one. She must take her stand for right always, and must always remember that she is training the future leaders of the world.

Supt. McDonald next explained the junior high school. He said that Haymarket is the only junior high school in Prince William county thus far, and expressed the hope that before many years there will be more. He said further that bad roads is at present the chief difficulty in the way of centralization of schools, and hence the importance of all teachers' keeping up the agitation of the all-important question of good roads.

The county fair committee, which is to consider plans for the 1920 fair and further its interests in every way, was appointed as follows: Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, county home demonstration agent; chairman, Mr. H. W. Sanders, agricultural director of Manassas High School; Miss Mary E. Scott, Haymarket School; Miss Mildred L. Harrell, Bethel High School.

The morning session closed with announcements for the following sessions of the institute and the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The afternoon session opened with "The Marseillaise." The first number on the program was an address by Miss Wolstad, of Washington, who represented the Junior Red Cross. Miss Wolstad, in behalf of the Red Cross, thanked the teachers for their splendid help and co-operation during the world war. She spoke of the comfort and cheer that the magazines, picture books, sweaters, comfort kits, etc., had brought to the boys over there. Miss Wolstad served in France in hospital work during the war and stated that without this great help rendered by the Junior Red Cross she and other girls who would not have been able to help the boys as they did.

She next made an appeal to teachers to help their pupils to send baskets of goodies to the nearby hospitals for Thanksgiving day, and spoke of what the cultivation of this spirit of helpfulness would mean to the children themselves.

Miss Wolstad said that many of us are beginning to feel that the war is over and that our work for suffering on the other side is at an end. She recently made a tour of the devastated area, before returning to America, she said, and pictured graphically to her audience the pitiable condition of the children who face the approaching winter without clothing or food, and their hopeless elders whose screams have made it impossible for them to look forward to a brighter day.

Miss Wolstad also spoke of the importance of the health work which is now going on, and the classes in home nursing, with particular reference to the part that the children are to play in such work.

Mrs. Hodge's selection, "In Flinders Field," was especially suitable at the close of Miss Wolstad's talk. Mrs. Hodge also gave a little Scotch dialect reading, which was appreciated.

Miss Willette Myers, head of the high school commercial department, gave a talk on the teaching of arithmetic. Miss Myers gave a definite and most helpful talk on the teaching of this very essential subject.

This was followed by a talk on the teaching of history by Prof. Chapman. The paper was an all comprehensive one, dealing with the best ways and methods of teaching this great subject, and the importance of correlating other subjects with the study of history.

The Catawba fund for tubercular teachers was next brought before the teachers by Miss Lulu D. Metz, and an appeal was made to the teachers to help in this great work.

Miss Gilbert then spoke of the club work and its very important place, not only in the county but in the whole country. She spoke of its great value in the life of every child and asked the help and co-operation of the teachers in arousing and maintaining interest in the work.

Miss Gilbert's talk was followed by a talk on "Play and Education" by Miss Minnie Swart, of Mill Park School. Miss Swart spoke very enthusiastically on the value of play in education and presented excellent suggestions as to the play program in the schools and its wonderful results when tried.

"The Social Side of School Life" by Miss Eleanor Smith, of Brantville School, followed this paper most appropriately. Miss Smith said that the social side of school life presented her most wonderful opportunity to inculcate right ideals.

These papers were followed by a report of the school fair committee by Mr. Sanders. The points considered were (a) a prize of $10 to be offered to the school having the largest representation, (b) competition in exhibits between schools in the county, and (c) setting a date for the fair.

The fair was then discussed by Mr. J. H. Hodge, Miss Smith, Mrs. W. F. Wilson, Miss Gilbert, Mr. McDonald and others.

Miss E. H. Osborn, principal of Manassas High School, spoke next to the new teachers in the county on entrance requirements to the high school, and urged that teachers take advantage of the outlines and specimen sets which are sent out from the high school upon request.

Announcements for Friday's session were made and the session adjourned after singing "Old Black Joe."

Last night's reception, the annual social event of the institute, drew a large attendance in spite of gloomy weather. The evening's entertainment included a musical program, which was most enjoyed, and delightful refreshments. The committee on arrangements was composed of the following Manassas teachers: Miss Lulu D. Metz, chairman; Miss Willette R. Myers, Mrs. W. L. Sanders, Miss Grace E. Moran, Miss Ruth P. Smith and Miss Marion Lewis.

DO YOU?

The country newspaper is occupying a new position in the calculations of the advertiser, and therefore in the eyes of every reader. Not only the country advertiser who publishes the news of his home in his home paper because it is his home paper, but the national advertiser as well is learning its value—and profiting by it.

Co-operative and community development movements always have asked and received the free use of the columns of the country paper, and have appreciated the service, although not always enough to report the results after the newspaper has given its space to every announcement needed to spread the news.

Did it ever occur to you that you depend upon the country newspaper to circulate for you the news of any church or public work in which you are interested, and that at the same time the country newspaper depends upon you to communicate the results which you have obtained through its help?

Any way you view it, the country newspaper is a co-operative enterprise. It gives you the news of your neighbors and helps to build up the community. It is in itself a concrete example of public spirit.

The country newspaper—in this case, the Manassas Journal—is your home paper, your friend. Do you make the most of it?

POSSIBILITY OF MARTIN'S RETIREMENT

From private sources, information reaches the Evening Journal that Senator Martin's physical and mental condition is such that it is extremely doubtful if he can ever again take an active part in public life and that he will probably never attempt to re-occupy his seat in the upper house at Washington. This is sad news to learn of the senior Virginia senator, who has done such able work for his state and for the nation. His first term as United States senator began March 4, 1895, since which time he has served continuously. His present term does not expire until March 3, 1925. It is certain that any step looking to his retirement will be of his own volition, for so long as he desires to remain in office he will not be disturbed. Should his condition not improve, necessitating his complete isolation from public life, the question of his successor is agitating many minds. The appointive power lies with the governor who is reputed to entertain senatorial ambitions, but, of course, he could hardly name himself to fill a vacancy. Rumor has it that, in case of his non-confirmation as comptroller of the currency, Mr. John Shelton Williams would like to represent his state in the United States senate, in which event, certainly, Virginia would have an able advocate. That Hon. Carter Glass, secretary of the treasury, would be a popular appointment is not to be doubted, and, in that case, if Governor Davis decided to aspire to Senator Swanson's seat in 1922 the Glass support would be decidedly helpful to his candidacy. However, let us hope Senator Martin's condition is not so acute as reported and that he may rally from his present trouble to his former mental vigor, serving without interruption to the end of his term.—Richmond Evening Journal.

THE CLOCKS GO BACK

Let the sun catch up with itself by turning your clock back one hour before you go to sleep tomorrow night. Remember that the churches on Sunday morning will hold their services on sun schedule and trains will run on sun schedule after one o'clock on Sunday morning, when the hands of the clocks are to be turned back to mid-night.

OUR RESOURCES

"Education, not mere knowledge, is what the world is crying for. Education is to be the great bulwark of the coming world democracy. Can we afford not to harbor all of our resources, educational as well as material?"

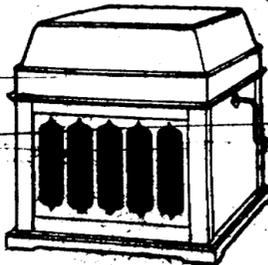

IT'S LITTLE ENOUGH

Oh, it's little enough to smile enough,
 And love as you go along;
 Oh, it's little enough to laugh enough,
 and quaff enough
 Of the deeps of joy and song.
 Oh, it's little enough to live enough,
 For life is but a span;
 Oh, it's little enough to know enough,
 and grow enough,
 And lift your load like a man.
 For life is a smile, or life is a tear—
 It's all in the road you choose;
 The day is yours, and the journey, too,
 is up to you—
 You can't afford to lose.

THE NEW DIAMOND AMBEROLA

No product can be bigger than the brain that evolves it. No other brain in the world today has the inventive ability of Edison's. That fact alone is sufficient proof of the absolute superiority of the Amberola.

FREE TRIAL OFFER

PRICES $41.00 and up

¶ We will place an Amberola in your home for 3 days' Trial, which will not put you under the slightest obligation or expense. Come here, select an Amberola and a number of records and we'll send them to your home. At the end of 3 days, if you do not want the Amberola, we'll call and take it away. If you do want it, we'll arrange terms of payment to suit you.

¶ But the Amberola can quickly and easily prove its own superiority. Its tone—oh, what a revelation, compared to metallic "talking machines" and shrill-sounding phonographs! None but Edison would work the miracle of tone.

¶ Then the Amberol Records, made for the Amberola alone! They are practically unbreakable and everlasting—what a contrast to the costly fragility of other phonograph records.

¶ And a range of music—the widest in the world—all the best, all the latest. An endless feast of fascinating melody.

¶ Yet the biggest surprise of all is the price! This wonder phonograph costs less than inferior competitors! There is not a single drawback to your owning an Amberola right now!

¶ Don't listen to the claims of other manufacturers—listen to their machines. Then come in and compare the matchless tone of the Amberola. Edison's wizardry will win you every time.

¶ We'll expect you in today—now don't forget.

THE CITY OF THE OPEN GATES

(Dedicated to my son, who died August 6, 1918)

I dream of a city, a city so fair, With streets that are golden and broad, Whose walls are of Jasper, whose gates are of pearl, Whose builder and maker is God.

Clear as crystal and pure, the river of life Flows over the streets of pure gold, And the light of the Lamb, which shines from the throne, Its myriad beauties unfold.

In the midst of the street, with wide-spreading boughs, There standeth the best tree of life, And nations are healed by its wonderful leaves,

Of sickness, of sorrow, and strife. The pure pearly gates of this city so fair, No creeds nor philosophies mar, They open to the north, to the south, east and west, And Calvary keeps them ajar.

The dear, loving Savior so tenderly yearns For those who in darkness will roam, The gates are kept open by night and by day To welcome the wanderer home.

In this city so fair, I see in my dreams, Are mansions for you and for me, Which the Savior in love has gone to prepare, That with Him we ever may be.

In mansions of light, in this city of gold, My loved ones are waiting for me, And oft in my dreams, through the wide-open gates, They lovingly beckon to me.

And when through the valley of shadows I pass To him who now watches and waits, I'll shout the glad song of redemption, and love, And sweep through the wide-open gates.

A man's life -- among men!

Reel them off—"Rio", Gibraltar, Ceylon, Yokohama—all the great ports of the world—are they only places on the map to you—or are they ports where you've gone sailing in from the high seas with every eye along the shore turned admiringly on your big ship—your ship! Every ocean has a United States ship sailing for some port worth seeing. If you've any call in you for a full life—join, and color all your years ahead with memories of things worth seeing—with knowledge worth having—with an inexhaustible fund of sea tales and adventures picked up ashore and afloat that will make you a welcome man in any company. Work?—sure, and a man's work it is, among men. Play?—well, rather, with a bunch of men who know how to play. These comrades of yours carry in their ears the sounds of great world cities, of booming guns, of swashing seas—sounds you will share with them and that will never die away. And when you come home, you'll face life ashore with level eyes—for Uncle Sam trains in self-reliance as well as self-respect. The Navy builds straight men—no mollycoddlers.

Enlist for two years. Excellent opportunities for advancement. Four weeks holidays with pay each year. Shore leave to see land sights at ports visited. Men always learning. Good food and first uniform outfit free. Pay begins the day you enlist. Get full information from your nearest recruiting station. If you do not know where the nearest recruiting station is, ask your Postmaster. He knows.

A DECLARATION

By HON. J. H. DODGE
CANDIDATE FOR SENATE

To the Voters of the 16th District:

As stump speaking has gone out of fashion, I find it impossible to place myself and the principles for which I stand before the people by a series of addresses given throughout the district, and, as it is a physical impossibility for me to canvass each individual voter of the district to tell him my views and my claims for his support, and, as I am constantly receiving inquiries in such numbers that I find it impossible to answer by private letter for lack of stenographic help, I have decided to issue this circular declaration in the local press to the end that those interested may know how I stand on some of the vital issues of this campaign, though I find it quite impossible in this necessarily brief statement even to begin to mention my views on many public questions and even the few here mentioned are not as clear as if I could give the detailed explanations.

OUR SOLDIER BOYS

It is nothing less than an outrage on our boasted patriotism that Virginia, the mother of states and statesmen, should be the only state in the nation that has failed to reimburse the soldiers of the late world war, and if I am elected to the General Assembly, I shall father an act whereby the soldier in times of war be exempted from the payment of any capitation tax as a prerequisite to voting, thus making it possible for every man who honorably served with the colors during the late world war to have full and immediate franchise.

PROHIBITION

In view of the fact that national prohibition goes into effect on the 15th of January and much of the burden of the enforcement of the dry laws falls to the national state prohibition commissioners, I shall favor the abolition of the office of our state prohibition commissioner and throw the responsibility of enforcing our state laws and of collaborating with the national officers on the local constituted authorities, feeling under the circumstances that this arrangement will be for the welfare of all concerned, and that the $200,000 appropriation asked to sustain a state department can better be expended on our public schools and on our roads.

ABOLISH USELESS OFFICES

It was one of the avowed purposes of the last constitutional convention to eliminate many offices of the state to the end that taxes be reduced. Much was accomplished and we made a new start only to get into the same old rut again. The state has been multiplying its offices until now it has become top heavy with officers and the consequent tax burden is becoming unbearable. It is impossible in this short declaration to specify how and what to curtail, but I know it can be done without violence to the efficiency of our laws and, if I am elected, I shall endeavor to get busy and after careful study, I shall favor the abolition of many unnecessary offices, and the consolidation of others to the end that efficiency be increased and the tax burdens of sustaining so many offices and officers be reduced.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

I stand for the widest possible extension and increased efficiency of our public school system.

GOOD ROADS

I favor co-operating with the national government in road construction, and the widest possible extension of our good roads system of both state and county roads to the end that the farmer may more cheaply get his produce to market, thus bringing down the high cost of living.

THE LABORER AND THE FARMER

Upon these two classes of our citizens falls the greater part of the burden of production. I favor laws that shall encourage the production of the necessities of life at the lowest possible cost, and for the governmental regulation of the profits of the middlemen to the end that food, fuel and clothing shall reach the consumer at the lowest possible cost. Being a laboring farmer myself, I propose to do all in my power to see that these interests receive a square deal, and just laws.

MY POLITICS

In this connection I am running as an independent candidate, and as the nominee of the Republicans. After a careful analysis of the August primary vote, I concluded that the nominee of that primary was not the free choice of the people of the district, and with assurances of support from various parts of the district, I concluded to make the race as an independent candidate, should there be no other nominations, and I announced my independent candidacy at the Prince William County Farmers' picnic at Manassas on August 15th. The following week in Alexandria, the Republicans offered me their nomination on a satisfactory platform, which I accepted. Thus I am an independent candidate and the Republican nominee. I am in no way officially connected with any political party. My alignment in the past, nationally, has been Republican; what it will be in the future depends upon the "men and issue" which are yet to be determined. (I am no beast with a ring in my nose to be led around by any political clique or party—are you?) But what has national politics—the league of nations for example—to do with this election? I fully appreciate the fact that this is normally a strong Democratic district, and I shall duly regard all sources from which I receive support, but I want to go to Richmond "unbound" so I may labor unhampered for the best interests of the district and of the state. I ask your votes on my public record and on my published platform. I appeal to my friends in all parts of the district to get busy and elect me, and I promise ever to be true to the trust imposed.

Respectfully submitted,

J. H. DODGE

Concrete Improvements on the Farm
 Have a Real Dollars-and-Cents Value

Every dollar you put into modern Concrete Improvements comes back to you several times over in increased valuation of your property. Concrete Improvements indicate progress, success and prosperity; the man who owns a Concrete-Improved farm has a solid, substantial asset of great value; now, next year, and for years to come. Concrete Improvements have paid for themselves the first year in labor and food saved, and in increased yield from land and stock. Concrete is the farmer's easiest, most profitable and least expensive method of building any kind of an improvement; under, on, or above the ground. Never rusts, warps, rots or decays. Proof against water, rats, fire and vermin. Cannot be burned down or blown down. Build with Concrete and you build but once. For best results see

ANNOUNCEMENTS

To the Voters of Dumfries District:
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of supervisor of Dumfries district. As to my qualification to fill said office if elected I refer you to my past record.
Respectfully,
C. F. BAILEY.

A CARD

Nokesville, Va., Oct. 21, 1919.
Editor Journal and Voters:—As we all know, the farmer is the backbone and sinew of the world. He takes more risks than almost any other class of men; he pays for his labor, his machinery, seed, fertilizer, &c., not knowing what his reward will be. He trusts in God for results. I am somewhat partial to the farmer, because he feeds the world, friend or enemy, and the Bible says we must not muzzle the ox that threshes the grain. Let us not muzzle the farmer who raises the grain, best pork, potatoes, &c. I say encourage the farmer. Vote for C. Fitzwater on the 4th of November and you will vote right.
C. FITZWATER.

A CARD

In view of various rumors to the effect that, if elected as supervisor from Dumfries district, I will have the route of the prospective state road changed from the Dumfries road to run by Joplin; and that I will spend more than a fair proportion of the District Road Fund on the road at Joplin, I desire to make the following statement:
First. The route of the state road has already been fixed by the State Highway authorities, to go by Dumfries, and neither the member of the Board from Dumfries district, nor the whole Board, will have any authority to change the route.
Second. If elected, it will be my earnest aim to see that the District Road Fund is fairly and equitably distributed over all the roads in the district.

Indiana Tractor and Plow

¶ The INDIANA TRACTOR AND PLOW can be used in any field regardless of size or shape and will completely plow a small lot as well as a large field. The plow hooks very close to the tractor, making it light in draft, also pulling plow from center of tractor, eliminating all side draft and allowing plow to turn even furrows.

¶ The operator is in position to see operation of plow as well as tractor.

¶ The tractor runs level with one wheel in furrow, subsoiling each furrow with spade lugs and making it self-steering.

¶ The plow has power lift so that it is not necessary for operator to stop control plow in turning, there being but one small lever which causes plow to enter ground in a very short distance; the same lever raising plow. This outfit being sufficiently light to allow the farmer to have his plowing nearly done by the time he could go on the ground, should we build this outfit twice as heavy.

THE INDIANA ALL-ROUND TRACTOR

¶ The INDIANA ALL-ROUND TRACTOR is the nearest perfect power unit for farm purposes. It delivers the maximum of tractor efficiency with the minimum of tractor weight. It couples to all horse-drawn top-working, planting, seeding, cultivating and harvesting implements already in use on the farm. It also does light belt work and will perfectly plow all the ground that it is possible to successfully plant and cultivate.

¶ One man can operate the INDIANA ALL-ROUND TRACTOR in connection with farm implements. This saves the wages of one man for the reason that it is possible to operate both tractor and implement from the implement seat.
