Every member is urged to be present, as plans must be made for the club booth at the fair. Misses Florence Owens and Minnie Smith are visiting Miss Carrie Shipp in Washington.

WOODBINE

A public dance and free-for-all melee was staged at Independent Hill Saturday night. One man forfeited several of his masticators as a contribution to the success of the row. Another served up as a dainty morsel of food the major part of his right ear. This might help to solve the H. C. L. problem, but let us hope that the practice will not become popular. Rev. J. A. Golihef visited the Orlando neighborhood last Sunday and preached two sermons, finding the prospects very encouraging there. The Sunday Schools of Coles district will meet in convention at Independent Hill on Sunday, when an all-day meeting will be held. Every Sunday School is urged to send representatives. Miss Elizabeth Cornwell was the guest of Miss Pauline Smith and other relatives last week and was accompanied home to Washington by Miss Smith. Gardens and crops generally are looking well about here. Word has just come to this community of the very serious illness of Miss Elizabeth Smith, who is now in California. Mrs. Julia Chappell was quite ill this week but is much better. Mrs. Anna C. Covington and Miss Ella E. Staples and Masters Charlie, Colby and Auburn Staples were week-end guests of Rev. J. A. Golihef and family. The young people's meeting at Woodbine Church every Sunday evening continues to grow in interest and popularity. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Purcell and Miss Pearl Russell spent several days in Washington recently. Miss Sadie Hixson, of Manassas, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Smith. Mrs. Mary B. Staples, Mrs. A. C. Covington, Miss Ella C. Staples, Mr. William J. Golihef and Mr. W. S. Smith visited the Bull Run battlefield Monday and brought back many souvenirs. Rev. J. A. Golihef will preach at Woodbine Sunday evening.

Allison and Miss Beulah Allison attended the funeral of Mrs. Allison's sister, Mrs. Benton, on Sunday at Marshall. Mrs. Benton's death occurred Friday at her home in Fauquier county. Messrs. C. F. THE WINNING TICKET

For President, James M. Cox, of Ohio; for Vice-President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York. There is the combination on which Democracy may reasonably hope to go before the electorate and achieve a triumphant return to power in November. It is the outcome of a convention as earnest, as unbossed, as deeply endowed with the spirit of Americanism and as consecrated to the tenets of the party of Jefferson as any within the history of the organization.

Governor Cox is the candidate of an undivided Democracy. For forty-three ballots the San Francisco convention divided its votes more or less evenly among the three leaders, scattering a few here and there for the favorite sons, but on the forty-fourth the magnificent stand which the Cox supporters had made from the opening ballot had its reward. The big break came to him, and he was made Democracy's unanimous choice.

With nothing but the highest admiration for the defeated leaders, McAdoo and Palmer, both stalwart Democrats, whose devoted followers battled for them valiantly until the last hope had vanished, and with equal admiration for those favorite sons, among them some of the party's strongest and ablest exponents, it may be said that the convention demonstrated its wisdom in its final selection. For forty-four ballots it struggled and searched for the best man to place upon its platform. Nothing but the best would do. There was no spirit of compromise, and there were no bosses to dictate. No boss could have dictated to that convention, even if he had possessed the temerity to attempt it. And upon the forty-fourth ballot the decision was made. The best man was named, and, standing on a platform that in courageous statement compares favorably with any in the party's history, with a party record of unsurpassed achievement, and that party itself united and determined behind him, James M. Cox should lead on to a decisive victory at the polls.

In Governor Cox are combined many elements of strength—elements of personality, locality and of other things that the party necessarily had to consider. He is the typical American, rugged, kindly, honest, fearless, self-made and successful, who has run the gamut from printer's devil, reporter, secretary, newspaper owner, to a three-time governorship of his native state. His life in itself presents a strongly sympathetic appeal to democratic America. In politics he is a real progressive, though never radical, and, if elected, he may be depended on to administer the law firmly and justly. His friendship for labor is seen in his model workmen's compensation law, while his child-labor laws and his school code demonstrate that he is progressively modern and sons of the day in their relation to the public welfare. From his liberality and progressiveness as Governor may be gleaned an idea of what may be expected of him as President.

As a vote-getter he leaves nothing to be desired. In his own pivotal state of Ohio he is perhaps the one man who can defeat Mr. Harding, the Republican candidate. He is as popular throughout the East as he is in the West, while there is no question of the Solid South's enthusiastic approval. With these elements of strength, and with a running mate who also typifies the forward-looking, patriotic American, he should lead a victorious battle. The convention that named him left no sore spots, no wounds to heal. It was a man's fight, fought out in manly, honest fashion, and there will be no sulking in the tents, no embitterments, now that the victor has been proclaimed.—Times-Dispatch.

THE POETRY CORNER

The poem which holds the place of honor this week has been treasured for a long time by Mrs. S. C. Richards, of Manassas, affectionately known to many of the younger generation in this vicinity as "Grandma" Richards or "Aunt Sallie." Walls Clay is the author.

"Says Old Man Jones"
 Says Old Man Jones, says he to me:
 "We had a little frost last night, I see.
 Don't seem like it's any time at all
 'Fore the summer's over an' it's comin' fall;
 Not but what I likes a change
 But th' older I gets it's rather strange
 That th' seasons jest go humpin' by,
 Like as if they's learned to fly;
 While, as fer me, it's th' other thing;
 I'm a little stiffer each comin' spring;
 My blood runs slower'n it used t' run
 An' th' things I used t' think was fun
 Looks lots different t' me, somehow,
 Than when I's half as old as I am now.
 I reckon as how when th's leaves turn
 brown,
 Gets dry an' brittle an' at last falls
 down
 At its meent fer a lesson t' us mortals
 here,
 T' git ready t' leave this worldly sphere,
 T' go t' that place what is free from sin—
 But I'm a-goin' ter stick here long's I kin."

We are waiting for you, reader friend, to send us your favorite. We want to publish for the enjoyment of the rest of our big family of readers the poem you consider most worth while.

As a Good Farmer Treats His Farm That's the Way Each of Us Ought to Treat This Community

In a sense, this community is like a farm—it pays according to the way in which it is treated.

The successful farmer co-operates with his farm.

Knowing that certain soil elements are necessary to healthy crop growth, he sees to it that these elements are maintained.

The same principle holds good in community development.

Our community is composed of two closely-related elements—town and country.

They are both essential to healthy community growth. Neglect or mistreatment of either of them by the other affects both—it injures the whole community. Both elements must be maintained.

Accomplishing this is simply a matter of sincere co-operation among all of us in this community.

Our idea of our own part to play for community good in a business way is—

1. To have a FAIR that will be a credit to Prince William county.

2. To bring the people to this county and adjoining counties together, so that they can see the products of their neighbors, and enjoy a few days of wonderful entertainment.

3. To advertise the products of Prince William county to her own people and to those outside of the county.

To do this, we ask the co-operation of every person in Prince William county.

He Lived and Learned
"Bob Currier! By all that's sacred! Where have you concealed yourself these many moons?"
"Hospital, Billy! And say it certainly is good to be out and around again."
"What was the trouble?"
"Oh, the doctors called it some name with nine syllables and a sneeze, but it was nothing more than a clogging of the intestines. The stuff wouldn't move and it was poisoning me—breeding disease."
"What did they do to you?"
"Why, they were all set to operate for appendicitis. The food waste had accumulated in the large intestine where the appendix is. I had bad pains. Tried to cure them with salts. That only shook my system—flushed it hard—and left that poisonous waste there, dryer and harder than ever. Taking a purgative when you're like that is about the same as driving a car up a hill to clean the carbon out of the cylinders; you only make a bad matter worse."
"You said something."
"Finally the doctor said, 'We'll see if we can't move that obstruction naturally before we operate. I don't want to operate unless it's absolutely necessary.'"
"He put me to bed and tried me out on Nujol. Believe me, there was certainly an anxious period of waiting for 'yours truly'. But Nujol proved the goods. It softened that dry mass, moved it on, and after a while I began to be regular."
"Great stuff! How does this Nujol work, anyway?"
"On an entirely new principle. Instead of forcing or irritating the system, it simply softens the food waste. This helps all those little muscles along the intestines, contracting and expanding in their normal way, to squeeze the food waste along so that it passes naturally out of the system. It prevents constipation because it helps Nature maintain thorough bowel movements at regular intervals, which is certainly the best habit I know of. And besides that, it's absolutely harmless and pleasant to take."
"Say—that's just what I've been needing. I've been taking pills and salts for months and getting worse all the time. Jump in and we'll buy a bottle of Nujol right now. Me for that, beginning tonight."
Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only, bearing the Nujol trade mark. Write the Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet "Thirty Feet of Danger."

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

The following resolutions of respect were adopted by Manassas Lodge, No. 182, A. F. and A. M.:

J. R. E. DAVIS
Whereas, All social ties have been severed with our lamented Brother J. R. E. Davis by reason of his untimely and sudden demise, and

Whereas, Brother Davis was a brother endowed with the gifts of brotherly traits, and a loyal friend, always ready and willing to go out of his way and give of his time and means to those in distress, whether of this fraternity or not, thereby endearing himself to those with whom he came in daily contact; therefore be it

Resolved, That this lodge by its resolution do hereby express their profound sympathy and respect to our departed Brother's family and relatives; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these preambles and resolutions be spread on the minutes of our lodge and a copy thereof, under seal of the lodge, be furnished to Brother Davis' bereaved widow.

M. M. ELLIS,

HARRISON D. WENRICH

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to take unto Himself the soul of our Brother Harrison Daniel Wenrich; and

Whereas, He was for a number of years a devoted member of Manassas Lodge, A. F. and A. M., now therefore, be it Resolved, That it is with great sorrow we have learned of his death and it is our desire to testify to his sterling qualities of thought and action. A man of strong convictions and earnest purposes. He was a man upon whom all could rely.

As a Master Mason he was a credit to the lodge; a man who valued and lived up to the tenets of Free Masonry. Our sympathies go out to the members of his family and we desire to express to them our profound commiseration.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, a copy sent to the wife and children of our departed Brother and copies furnished the Manassas papers for publication.

B. T. H. HODGE

Whereas, It has pleased our all-wise Creator to remove from the activities of this life Brother B. T. H. Hodge, who was a native of a sister state and served his country to the best of his ability, in times of war and in peace, and blessed with those attributes which enrich the mind and learn us humility and brotherly love, who was a devoted friend and a consistent follower of the meek and lowly One, ever considerate of his fellow creatures, and extending when possible a supporting hand to those in distress or need; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by Manassas Lodge, No. 182, A. F. and A. M., in meeting assembled, that it was with profound regret it was advised of the demise of our lamented brother, B. T. H. Hodge, after a long, continuous and patient illness; be it further

Resolved, That by this method we extend to the departed brother's bereaved widow our heartfelt sympathy and commend him to all others as an example to imitate for his humility and consideration of his fellow creatures; and, be it further

JOHN A. CANNON

Whereas, After a lingering and patient illness it pleased our all-knowing Creator to remove from our midst, on the 28th day of June, 1920, Brother John A. Cannon, who early in life was made a mason; and

Whereas, Brother Cannon, who was a native of this State and engaged in many useful and constructive occupations throughout this and other communities, after returning as a boy from the late Civil strife, thereby commanding the respect and honors of his fellow men; and

Whereas, Brother Cannon regularly attended the communications of our fraternity, never deeming it beneath his dignity to mingle with his brothers, and ever recollecting his obligations to aid and assist the needy and distressed, or to admonish and cheer an erring brother; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That Manassas Lodge, No. 182, A. F. and A. M., do hereby extend to the bereaved widow, sons and daughters of our departed brother our sincere sympathy and respect; and be it further

Fred McCulloch's one cornfield brought in $4,928

What a well-known corn grower says about overalls

LAST year a single field on Fred McCulloch's Iowa farm yielded an 89-bushel-per-acre crop, totaling $4,928. Fred McCulloch was on the job in that field himself—in overalls every working day. And the kind he wore—and always wore—is Blue Buckle Overalls.

No matter how hard the work is on Fred McCulloch's farm, he's found that Blue Buckles stand the test. And millions of other men, running farms, railroads or machines in factories, have found that Blue Buckles give them solid service on every job they do.

Find out for yourself about Blue Buckles. Test the long-wearing denim cloth, the wide double-stitched seams. Try on a pair. Feel the comfort of the big, roomy Blue Buckle pattern. Blue Buckle Overalls and Coats never bind or rip. Solid workmanship in every detail is bound to give you your money's worth.

All sizes—Men's, Youths', Children's. Ask your dealer today for Blue Buckles.

"Ploughing—reaping—no matter what the farm work—Blue Buckles are the overalls to wear."
