MANY SHOWS TO COME FOR FAIR

Management Announces Engagement with Carnival—List of Attractions Promised.

Manassas will be the headquarters for amusement seekers from all parts of the surrounding communities during the Prince William fair, according to the expectations of the fair management, which has a firm finger on the community pulse and has found unmistakable evidence of a keen and mounting interest in the varied features of the fair.

Previous announcements from the management have covered practically every department of the exhibition from the horse show and live stock exhibits to the women's department and agricultural displays.

While special emphasis has been directed to the exhibitions which form the sound practical basis of the fair, amusement features for young and old have not been neglected. Final arrangements with the Dufour and Tilford carnival shows have been made, according to the most recent official announcement from the fair association, and this carnival company is expected to give exhibitions every day and night. The combined shows will arrive at the fair grounds on Monday morning, August 16, and everything will be in readiness for the opening of the fair early Wednesday morning, August 18.

Among the attractions listed by the carnival company are a $10,000 merry-go-round, ferris wheel, dog-and-pony show and numerous shows of various types. The dog and pony show features Commodore Tom, the pony with a human brain. Other features are: Emo, said to be the smallest and fattest woman alive; wild animals from all parts of the world; Congo, the missing link, half man and half monkey; a living woman's head without a body (yes, that's what it is—we have it from Mr. Dufour); the Broadway musical company; the Dufour and Tilford mirth and melody, and J. Leonard Reh's society side show.

Mr. Reh is said to be the only man who ever gave a performance of Punch and Judy and Marianettes in the White Horse. He promises to present the following attractions: Volcano, the human furnace, the man who eats fire; Chief White Cloud, a full-blooded Iroquois Indian, in an interesting exhibition of the life of American Indians; Jess Snow, the Indian magician, mystifying, entertaining and amusing; Welsh, the handcuff expert, the man who defies handcuffs, locks or chains to hold him. The county officials have been invited to bring their own handcuffs and Welsh has agreed to slip out of them in front of their eyes. Ollie's group of trained pigeons, pigeons that do everything but talk, will have a program of their own. Prof. Battisto with his royal Italian band will furnish the music for all the shows.

Entries continue to arrive and indications point to a fair fine enough to gladden the heart of every one who attends and every one who contributes in any way to its success. Although the ticket-selling campaign began on Monday, no one is able yet to tell who will win the grand prize of $25 which the champion salesman is to receive. Among those who are boosting the fair by selling season tickets are: Mr. Hunter C. Allen, Nokesville; Miss Bertha Herring, Nokesville; Miss Pearl Dennis, Thoroughfare; Mr. E. N. Pattle, Catharpin; Mr. P. B. Mayhugh, Greenwiche; Mr. R. H. Davis, Bristow; Mr. E. P. Robertson, Bristow, and Miss Maxine Stoecker and Messrs. W. F. Dowell, J. H. Burke, C. R. C. Johnson, Elmer Metz and Brawen Haislip, all of Manassas. The Farmers' Store has the tickets on sale and the following Manassas young people are also engaged in the campaign: Miss Elsie Polen, Robert M. Weir, jr.; Wallace Lynn, Guy L. Messick, Frank L. Brown, James Jarmans, Sidney Lawler and Carroll Sanders. Have you bought yours?

GETTING READY FOR THE FAIR

County Agent Urges Young People to Look After Stock Now.

(W. L. Browning, County Agent)
I want to urge all of the calf club members to give their calves special attention from now until our fair—special attention in the form of rubbing and brushing them so that their hair will be smooth and slick. If the flies are bothering them and the pasture is a little short, put them in the barn, where they can be kept well bedded, with plenty of good hay and grain, and they will do much better than out in the field with the flies bothering them.

Also take a little better care of those pigs and see if they will not become more gentle, in order to handle them with more ease. If possible give them a good currying every few days. This will be more satisfactory than any other method of the fair.

AUXILIARY MEETS

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, advanced from August 13 on account of the approaching fair, was held at the high school building Monday afternoon, Mrs. George C. Round presiding.

Mrs. Charles Lewis reported the receipt of letters from women out of the county in regard to contributing to the luncheon to be served at the fair.

The members voted to suggest to the fair committee that some one be appointed to arrange for a parade on the last day of the fair. Hon. C. J. Meetez was mentioned as a man able to carry out the assignment.

RIGHT AT HOME AS A BREADMAKER

The making of good bread is an art acquired only by continual study and experience. That's why every woman and girl should be interested in bread-making. To assist in stimulating greater interest in bread-making locally and be of help to the government in its big educational campaign, liberal prizes for bread are offered by the Prince William Fair, Manassas, Va., Aug. 18 to 20.

WOMAN FIGHTS NEGRO IN HOME

Mrs. Mabel Greene, of Washington, Attacked While Preparing to Retire.

Mrs. Mabel Greene, who was attending to her household duties Saturday night at her home in Washington, came to Manassas Monday evening and is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Wilson Payne, while recovering from the shock. The Washington Times on Sunday contained the following graphic account of the occurrence:

A city-wide search was instituted by the police today for a negro, who, shortly after 10 o'clock last night entered the house at 18 Q street northeast and, in earshot of more than a dozen neighbors, attacked a woman, fighting with her until she lost consciousness.

Clad only in a nightgown and dazed by a blow on the forehead from a lead pipe, Mrs. Mabel Greene, divorced wife of Police Sergeant J. W. Greene, for nearly half an hour fought with the negro.

Mrs. Greene's condition today was much improved. She is under the care of her physicians and her life is not believed endangered.

Lacking Up for Night.

It was 10:30 o'clock when Mrs. Greene was attacked. She had come downstairs to lock the kitchen door. As she entered the dark kitchen she was struck on the forehead.

"I did not know what had struck me," Mrs. Greene said this morning, describing her experience. "I fell to the floor. The next thing I remember was that someone grabbed me. I opened my eyes and saw a negro leaning over me.

"I fought with him the best I could. I scratched at him and tried my best to get my arms free. It was useless. As I scratched him he grabbed me tight and dug his nails into my skin.

"I don't know how long I fought with him. It was not until I was too exhausted to move that I finally stopped fighting. I then fell into unconsciousness. I don't know what happened after that."

Fought By Sea.

And in this condition Mrs. Greene lay on her kitchen floor for more than an hour. She finally managed to drag herself into the dining room, when she again lost consciousness.

It was not until 1 o'clock that she was found. Her son, Willard Greene, twenty years old, returning home, unlocked the door and heard groans.

"Mother!" he called out. There was no answer. "Mother!" he called again, louder this time.

Receiving no answer, he entered the dining room. Lighting the gas he found his mother stretched out on the floor and just regaining consciousness.

Fearing the negro might still be in the house, the son, against the pleasure of his mother, began to search. He went from attic to cellar, but the man had disappeared. Carrying his mother to a couch nearby, the boy then called the police.

Found Piece of Pipe.

In less than half an hour more than a score of police and detectives had arrived. They searched the house, and on the kitchen floor found a piece of lead pipe a foot long.

FARMERS WILL HOLD PICNIC NEXT WEEK

Hon. Charles S. Barrett, National President, and Other Speakers Expected.

Hon. Charles S. Barrett, of Georgia, president of the Farmers' Union of America, is among the prominent speakers expected here on Saturday, August 14, to address the farmers of the county at an all-day basket picnic on the courthouse green.

Hon. A. B. Thornhill, state president, who is now the state dairy and food commissioner, also will be here to deliver an address. Other prominent speakers have been invited and are expected to attend.

All farmers of the county are urged to come with their families to spend the day. Each family is expected to bring a basket of lunch and join heartily in all the features of the day. The committee of arrangements, headed by Mr. J. J. Conner, of Manassas, is sparing no effort to make the occasion both profitable and enjoyable to every one who attends.

Although the picnic is under the auspices of the county farmers' union, the invitation list is not restricted to members of the union and their families. All farmers of the county, with their families and friends, are cordially invited to attend.

FIRE NEAR HAYMARKET

Old Homestead Burns—Woman Carried from Sick Bed to Safety.

(A. C. Doyle, Correspondent)

"Edgewood," the home of Mrs. E. L. Dulany a mile and a quarter from Haymarket was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. Much of the furniture was saved by the timely aid of neighbors who rushed to the scene as soon as the alarm was given. Every effort to save the house was of no avail as it had stood sixty years and the timbers burned rapidly.

The fire originated in a fire of the kitchen which was somewhat back from the main building although attached. Mrs. Dulany lost a valuable piano and many family relics which were highly valued and upon which there was no insurance. The house was insured.

Mrs. Dulany, who is very ill and was in bed at the time of the fire, was taken immediately to the home of Mr. Thomas J. Chew, at Thoroughfare.

COURT SUSTAINS PORTNER'S WILL

Jury Decides in Twenty Minutes—Verdict Wins Popular Approval Here.

After twenty minutes deliberation yesterday the jury in the Paul V. Portner will contest brought in a verdict sustaining the will which bequeaths Mr. Portner's estate of $250,000 to his sister, Mrs. William Payne Meredith, and her little daughter Sylvia. Judgment was pronounced immediately by the court and an appeal was noted by Attorney John L. Lee, of counsel for contestants.

The case, said to be the longest ever tried in the Prince William court, consumed the major part of fourteen days, attracting considerable attention throughout the countryside. Few verdicts rendered in the history of the court have met with more popular approval, the community not professing a lack of good feeling toward the contestants but rather accepting in good faith the will of the late Mr. Portner and declining to accept the theory that he was mentally unsound.

Mr. and Mrs. Meredith and little Miss Sylvia Meredith were present when the verdict was declared and little Miss Meredith joined in shaking hands with the jurors and accepting the felicitations of friends in the courtroom.

Judge Samuel G. Brent presented instructions to the jury Wednesday afternoon, when the evidence was completed, and the argument was opened by Attorney John S. Barbour, of counsel for proponents. Yesterday the argument was continued by Attorneys Eppa Hunton and H. Thornton Davies, counsel for proponents, and Attorneys John L. Lee, Richard Evelyn Byrd and Thos. H. Lion, counsel for contestants. The case went to the jury at 4 p. m.

The jury was composed of Messrs. R. B. Gesson, Waterfall, foreman; J. F. Dogan and Wilson Payne, Manassas; J. B. Harpina and Mahlor Sess, Nokesville; D. N. Davis, Woodbridge, and W. A. Speake, Dumfries.

Although the case had continued for two weeks without interruption a large number of witnesses were introduced after the report which appeared in the last issue of The Journal. These were chiefly witnesses for the proponents, attorneys for contestants having practically rested their case on July 28. Mrs. Meredith was examined practically all of one afternoon and the morning following and Mr. Meredith was on the stand the better part of two days. Other witnesses were Mrs. Mason Benoit and Mrs. L. E. Pope, of Manassas; Mr. Charles E. Hooff, of Maryland; Messrs. A. B. Willis, M. D. Church, R. C. Dove, Thomas P. Morgan, jr.; D. W. Marinelli and John A. Lutz, all of Washington; G. H. Beuchert, of Alexandria, secretary of the Portner Realty Company, and Mr. Lorimer C. Graham, of Washington, former husband of Mrs. Elm Portner Humes, one of the contestants.

Mr. Morgan and others were questioned about Mr. Portner's two insurance policies payable to Mrs. Meredith and her daughter. Mrs. Benoit testified concerning a visit to the Meredith home when Mr. Portner exhibited tender regard and affection for the little girl. Mrs. Pope, formerly a telephone operator here, testified to conversations over the long distance telephone between Mr. Portner and his sister, Mrs. Meredith, evidencing a particularly strong affection between them.

Portner witnesses included Representative H. D. Flood, husband of one of the contestants; Dr. Austin O. Conway, of Alma, W. Va.; a witness to the will; Mr. Percival H. Marshall, of Washington, and Mr. George C. Frazier, of Falls Church, former manager of Ben Lomond Farm.

Mr. Flood, who was asked to explain telegrams previously read concerning Mr. Portner's appointment to an important diplomatic position involving the charge of German prisoners in Russia, stated that Mr. Portner was greatly improved at the time, but after finding his brother-in-law in no condition to receive the appointment he immediately withdrew his recommendation.

The contestants numbered the two brothers and four sisters of the deceased—Mrs. Alma M. Portner and Mrs. Augustine L. Humes, of New York city; Mr. Oscar C. Portner, Mrs. Henry D. Flood and Mrs. Palmer Derby, of Washington, and Alvin O. Portner, of Annapolis, Md.—and Edward Portner, infant son of Edward G. Portner, deceased. Important properties involved in the estate are "Annapolis," the 2,000-acre Portner farm at Manassas; the Portner apartments in Washington and the Virginia Feed and Milling Corporation of Alexandria.

Other court business of the week follows:

Estate of Columbia Cornwell, on motion of James B. Cole, committed to C. A. Barbee, sheriff, for administration as of April 5, 1920.

Lillian M. Jones, reappointed and commissioned a notary public for a term of four years, enters into bond of $500.

Will of Sarah Ann Huggins, widow, who died July 20, proved according to law by testimony of M. D. Lynch and Jane Howard, subscribing witnesses, probated and admitted to record. James E. Hixson, executor named in will, qualifies, executing $600 bond.

Account of Robert Jarmans, jailor, for board of prisoners and committal fees, amounting in all to $38.50, allowed.

Mrs. George D. Boisseau having obtained a judgment against C. J. Selvage in justice's court May 17, and execution having been issued, directing sheriff of Stafford county to obtain amount of judgment of $240, Stafford sheriff ordered to sell five horses levied upon in execution.

PROUD OF HIM AS SHE CAN BE

There is no animal on the farm which is so interesting to the boys and girls as the sheep. The little girl is so proud of the big sheep which she is holding above that she has asked to exhibit it for a prize. Wool and mutton have soared so high in price lately that an effort is being made to put on a big sheep show at the Prince William Fair, Manassas, Va., Aug. 18 to 20.

FARM PRODUCTS SHOW HIS GOAL

The best of this man's crop is being prepared for entry at the coming show. From its looks it will score heavily. The farm products exhibit is sure to be a large one, according to officials, due to the extraordinary interest in better farming methods. Vegetables have been given a prominent place in the premium list of the great Prince William Fair, Manassas, Va., Aug. 18 to 20.

HAYMARKET

An institute for Sunday School teachers of the Baptist Association is being conducted here this week by Rev. C. V. Hickerson. Eight books are used in this preparatory course for teachers, one of them having been taken here last year. Mr. Hickerson is an able worker and is said to be doing much for the local church.

Mr. S. L. Walter at the council meeting Tuesday evening was elected mayor to succeed Mr. G. W. Smith, resigned. Mr. W. H. Garrett was appointed to fill Mr. Walter's unexpired term as a member of the council. Friends of Mr. Smith, feeling that he has made a splendid official, have expressed regret over his resignation.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Mathews, of Lorton, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Demory for a few days. Mr. William Beville, of Beverly Hills, was a Haymarket visitor on Monday.

Several young people from this vicinity attended a dance at Clifton Saturday evening. Mr. Luther Fletcher, of the firm of Jordan & Jordan, visited relatives at Buckland Sunday. It is said that the corn crop in this section is of a superior quality and larger than any yield for several years.

Mr. F. O. Kidd, of Lynchburg, United States lumber inspector, made a business trip to Haymarket the first of the week. Master James Potts, of Front Royal, was the guest of Garth Garnett during the week. Mr. Silas Payne was a Catharpin visitor Saturday.

Master Jack Jordan, who has been very ill at the home of his uncle, Mr. William M. Jordan, has so far recovered that he is able to be out again. Mr. W. H. Dagan motored to his former home at Groveton Wednesday and, accompanied by his mother and sisters, Mrs. M. E. Dagan, Miss Lucy Dagan and Mrs. Frank Terrill, motored to Washington.

Miss Nannie Osborn, a former teacher of the Haymarket High School who is now employed in Warrenton, is the guest of her sister, Miss Helen Osborn, and other friends, for a few days. Mr. Oscar Demory has been made keeper of the toll gate near Mr. William Griffith's on Sundays.

Miss Virginia Bennett, who has been visiting at the home of Mrs. J. E. Jordan, has returned to her home in Baltimore. Mr. G. E. Arnel, who is considered rather a courageous man, met his match Tuesday when he happened to come unexpectedly upon a mammoth yellow jacket's nest. There was a "race" right away, with Mr. Arnel in the lead and which he won. Though thousands of the little pests apparently were after him he escaped without getting badly stung.

Mr. Howard Bell and family, of Thoroughfare, were guests at the home of Mr. W. H. Garrett on Sunday. Miss Julia Garnett, who has been very ill in a Washington hospital, returned to her home on Tuesday and is much improved. Mrs. A. Koran and children left Wednesday morning to spend a few days with Mrs. Koran's sister, Mrs. Elmer I. Carruthers, at Charlottesville.

Several from this vicinity attended court at Manassas this week. Mr. Philip Senseney, who has been employed at Roland's Garage for several months, has returned to his home at Wellington.

GRANDPARENTS WIN CUSTODY OF CHILD

King George Court Awards Little Eulalia Gray Herrell to Mr. and Mrs. Mason.

The King George court has recently rendered a decision in the Herrell-Mason case, leaving little Eulalia Gray Herrell, three and a half years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Herrell, in the custody of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Mason, of King George, with whom she has made her home for a few years. The Frederickburg Free Lance of Tuesday contained the following account of the decision:

A decision was handed down Friday by Judge R. H. L. Chichester in the Herrell-Mason case, which has been in the circuit court of King George county since last January, leaving the custody of little Eulalia Gray Herrell, aged three and one half years, in the hands of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Mason, of King George county.

The court declined to annul the adoption order and held it valid, refusing the petition on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Herrell, parents of the girl, to change the present status of the child and return her in their custody. The court also directed that a decree be drawn, providing for the visits of the parents to their child and the child to her parents, until she becomes of proper age, as conditions justify.

The Herrell-Mason case has enlisted widespread interest and involved some of the most pathetic phases that have been presented before a court in this section of Virginia. It is stated that Mr. and Mrs. Herrell will have their attorneys take the case to the state supreme court of appeals.

Mr. Frank M. Chichester, of this city, and Col. T. J. Downing, of Lancaster, are counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Mason. Judge Alvin T. Embrey and Mr. William W. Butner represent Mr. and Mrs. Herrell.

Superintendent of Department Urges Exhibitors Not to Delay.

(W. B. Bullock, Supt. Horse Dept.) Before the next copy of the Journal comes from the press all entries in the horse department as well as the other departments of the fair will be in the hands of the secretary. Material for the publication of the official program of the horse department is the life of the printer by next Monday. It is hoped that it will not be necessary to omit any names in this program on account of the delay on the part of exhibitors in making their entries.

The especial attention of farmers and horse breeders is called to classes number 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, and 27. These classes are especially for draft colts, horses and mules. It is not necessary for the farmer to prepare his horses and colts especially for show but the animals may be brought from the pasture or from their work and put on exhibition. The production of good draft horses is an essential phase of farming in Prince William county and it is hoped that the exhibits in these classes will be sufficient to show the weak as well as the strong points of draft horse breeding as it is practiced in this county.

Competent judges have been secured for all classes of horses. If the farmer will bring their horses and colts to the fair, they will be assured of receiving such prizes as their animals merit.

A mighty proud looking bird, isn't he? Experts assert that roosters as good should head every flock. Special Notice To Farmers

One of the most important things ever done by the Agricultural Experiment Station of North Carolina was a test to determine if National Hog Remedy has any value to the Farmer. A bulletin issued about June first tells that in a series of tests some figures were brought out that are startling.

Fifty pigs of similar weight were bought for a test that was continued at the Raleigh test farm 88 days. One lot of these pigs were given National Hog Remedy and another lot was given the same feed but no remedy.

In the lot where the National Hog Remedy was given the hogs gained .70 of a pound each. In the lot where nothing was given but the feed the hogs gained only .47 of a pound.

Two hogs on National Hog Remedy increased in weight on the same ration as much as three hogs did without it. Furthermore this test showed and stated that by using National Hog Remedy a saving was realized of approximately $9.00 on each hundred pounds increase in live weight.

National Hog Remedy is sold by all dealers at One Dollar a package. In case your dealer cannot supply you kindly send us your name and we will see you get it. The silo has become an essential thing on practically every American farm. It is a conservator of food for livestock. His Internal Machinery —“Wonderful what a machine like that can do, isn't it, Jim? Takes a barrowful of stones, some cement and water and in a few minutes your stuff is ready to slap into the moulds.”

—“Sure—wonderful. But just let the mixture get dry and harden in the machine and there is trouble. It reminds me of my own internal machinery—gets in a jam every once in a while.”

—“What's your trouble?”

—“Constipation.”

—“What? Why, you poor incompetent! Do you mean to say that spending nine or ten hours a day out in the fresh air and sunshine and with all the healthful physical work you get, you allow constipation to trouble you? You shouldn't even know the meaning of the word. Look at me. I am an office man—sedentary job. About the only things I exercise are my brains and my fingers. And yet I'm never bothered by constipation.”

—“No? I thought most of you pencil-pushers were. What's the deep secret?”

—“Oh, just common sense and the occasional use of Nujol.”

—“Nujol? I've heard of it. But I take salts, pills, or castor oil to fix me up.”

—“Listen here. Those medicines that you take 'to fix you up' only give temporary help and tend to make constipation chronic.”

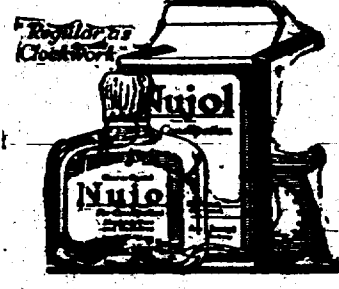

—“Doesn't Nujol?”

—“No; Nujol works on an entirely new principle.

—“Nujol keeps the food waste soft, so that the many little muscles in the walls of the intestines, contracting and expanding in their normal way, are able to squeeze the food waste along and out of the system.”

—“Say! You're quite a little spell-binder, aren't you? But you seem to be talking sense. I'm going to try a bottle of this Nujol.”

—“That's the idea! I'll tell you, Nujol has been the salvation of lots of people. When I come down here next time you'll have a different story to tell about your 'innards'. You'll be fit as a fiddle. It's pleasant stuff to take, too, and absolutely harmless.”

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only, bearing Nujol trade mark. Write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 60 Broadway, New York, for booklet, "Thirty Feet of Danger".

The Modern Method of Treating an Old Complaint

Time is vital in the fertilizer business this Fall.

The World is short of wheat. The Farms are short of labor. Fertilizer is needed more than ever, but the fertilizer manufacturers are short of cars and labor to load cars.

It is impossible to supply the fertilizer needed this fall unless the shipping season is lengthened, and this can only be done by starting earlier. Why not place your order now for

THE POETRY CORNER

The favorite poem which appears in the poetry corner today was written by a Prince William man who holds a warm place in the affections of her people. The poem is entitled "My Old Black Mammy, Martha Ann" and the author is the late Dr. Henry Mazyck Clarkson, Confederate soldier and physician who is known to many as the poet laureate of the Confederacy. It was submitted for publication in the poetry corner by Rev. O. Gray Hutchison, of Herford, Md., formerly of Manassas, who frequently visits his relatives here and with many other former residents invites the weekly visits of the Journal in order to keep up with home and friends. The poem follows:

My Old Black Mammy, Martha Ann. Although I am an aged man, I love my dear old Mammy yet, My old black Mammy, Martha Ann, I know I never can forget, Forget that friend, the first to fold Me in her ebony arms to rest! Forget that hand, the first to hold My infant form to mother's breast.

Disdain those lips, the first to touch My laughing little baby mouth! Disdain such greeting! No! for such Was honored custom in the South— I mean the old South, Northern man, Ere reconstruction had its day, Ere my old Mammy, Martha Ann, Had felt the carpet-bagger's sway.

And in those happy times of old, When all my mother's boys were young, What quaint old tales our Mammy told! What sweet old simple songs she sung!

I think, sometimes, I hear her yet, While busy as a buzzing bee, She feelingly declined to let My widowed mother wait on me.

What time in Eighteen-Sixty-One, The Northmen came to free her race, She burnished up "Old Marster's gun" And swore she would not leave the place.

And when she heard me volunteer, My old black Mammy, Martha Ann, Just hugged me close, and said, "My dear, Go kill de Yankees all you can."

And later on, in Sixty-four, The day my wounded brother fell On Spotsylvania's field of gore, Beneath a shower of shot and shell, Who laid beside him, just to shield Him longer, till the fight was won, Then bravely bore him from the field— 'Twas Marcus, old black Mammy's son.

And since the glad return of peace, Our soldier lad, at last, enjoys The calm of death, the grave's release, Borne to his rest by Mammy's boys. Now, Marcus owns our hero's home, Dear Mammy's on the old farm yet, No matter where on earth I roam Old Mammy's care I can't forget.

BUT A HOME

If I have one public hobby that is more outstanding than any other, it has been the preaching of "more homes." You can preach patriotism to a man and appeal to his sense of duty, but you can't make the sort of appeal to him that he gains from his own reflections after he owns a home. He buys a lot and quite often borrows money to build a home; his hopes are centered in the enterprise, and he works for it and it becomes his own particular interest in his general allotment on God's footstool. When he finally achieves his objective and owns his home, he realizes it is his and that he is protected in his ownership by his government; that under the laws he is given the right to transfer what he has earned to the next generation and realizes that this generation, too, will be protected. He gets a real object lesson of the relation that exists between the government and the individual.—Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch wonders why Senator Harding does not settle the dispute as to the meaning of his acceptance speech, so far as it deals with the League of Nations by a fifty-word statement couched in understandable English. Of course, this would be a very easy thing to do, but the Republican nominee knows that such a statement would deprive him either of support of Hiram Johnson and his "death to treaty" followers or that faction of the Republican party which honestly believes in the League of Nations with reservations. Lacking both political courage and independence of thought Senator Harding will continue to camouflage his position throughout the campaign. If elected he will pay the penalty of this evasion.

CLUB TO HAVE LAWN FETE

Members Plan to Hold Party at Bethel on Monday, September 6.

(Mabel L. Fairbanks, Reporter)

On Friday, July 30, Bethel Agricultural and Home Economics Club met. The club was called to order by the club leader in the absence of the president. The meeting opened with a club song, followed by the minutes of the last meeting. The business was then brought up by the club.

It was decided that the club would have a lawn party on September 6. A motion was made and carried and a committee composed of Miss Gilbert, Mabel Fairbanks, and Aline Davis was appointed to see about a speaker for the occasion.

Reports were given by the members. Miss Gilbert spoke on how to get our exhibits ready for the fair. Questions were asked.

The club meeting then closed, members joining hands and singing "Auld Lang Syne." The next meeting will be held on Saturday, August 14. The meeting being over, pictures were taken. Miss Gilbert then helped the sewing club girls along with their sewing.

SEWING CLUB GIRLS MEET AT WOODBINE

Miss Gilbert Gives Demonstration in Canning Blackberries by Process Method.

(Goldie M. Gollibow, Reporter) The Sewing Club of Woodbine School met at the school house Tuesday, July 27, at 9 a. m. The president presided. The roll was called and all members were present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved by members.

We held our meeting on the school grounds. The key must have thought we had been working and needed a vacation, for when we arrived the key was off on a pleasure trip. Hope it will be home ready for use when we meet Monday, August 16, at 9 a. m., on account of the fair the 18th, 19th and 20th and our teacher, Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, has to be there to get our things in order.

While we were sewing and receiving necessary instructions Miss Gilbert canned a pint of blackberries, pointing out important facts. This was done inside the car belonging to Miss Gilbert, as the little oil stove could not do its best where the wind would strike it.

First she washed and sorted the berries. While this was being done the jar which had been put on in some water had boiled. She then put the berries in the jar, packing them carefully. She then mashed the remaining berries, adding a little sugar to make a syrup. This she poured over the berries. The jar was placed in water and boiled, after which it was sealed. This is the process method.

After an enjoyable session we adjourned to meet again next Monday.

COAL, LUMBER AND BUILDING MATERIALS

A SENSIBLE INVESTMENT

The most sensible way to invest your money is to keep your property in good condition and to have a home which will make your family comfortable and other buildings which will properly house your belongings.

You get the direct benefit from money invested in this way from day to day, in addition to the actual increase in the value of your property.

There have been some reductions in the price of lumber by the mills and we are reducing our prices to meet these, regardless of the cost of the different items we have in stock.

MR. SKINNER'S PUPILS WILL HOLD REUNION

Old Students of Hickory Grove Plan All-Day Meeting on Saturday, August 14.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Patrons' League at the Hickory Grove school it was decided to hold a reunion on August 14 of all the old pupils of Mr. C. E. Skinner.

While Mr. Skinner taught in Loudoun also, most of his teaching was at the Hickory Grove school and it seems fitting that the reunion should be held there.

The program will consist of readings from the old readers by old pupils, a spelling match, a typical arithmetic drill lesson, roll call and brief addresses—two-minute talks by old pupils—and music.

Lunches—typical school lunches—will be served in the grove by the Patrons' League. These lunches will consist of sandwiches, cake, pie, coffee and tea. Ice cream will also be sold. The proceeds from the luncheon sale will be turned over to the building committee of the league to help defray the expenses of the cloak room and wood shed which they are planning to erect.

Mr. Skinner is held in such high esteem by his old pupils that members of the league feel sure they will turn out in large numbers to welcome him. The public is cordially invited.

It would be well for those who expect to be present to communicate with Mrs. W. P. Wilson, Haymarket, Va., who is president of the league, as the committee wishes to have the roll call and would like to know who will attend.

Exercises will begin at eleven o'clock and continue till about four or five.

MISS CARRIE FETZER WEDS MR. JOS. H. SWIFT

Young Couple Leave on Wedding Journey to California Via Atlantic to New Orleans.

The marriage of Miss Carrie Elizabeth Fetzer to Mr. Joseph Harvey Swift was solemnized at Gunton Temple Memorial Presbyterian Church, 16th and E streets northwest, Washington, D. C., on July 21 at 6:30 o'clock. The altar was decorated with palms and lilies. The ceremony, including the ring service, was performed by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Birney, while the organ softly played "O Promise Me." A beautiful program of pre-nuptial music was rendered by the organist, Mrs. Kline. Miss Margaret Swift, sister of the groom, sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride was becomingly attired in a modish tailored suit of blue tricotine with hat and accessories to match. She entered the church upon the arm of her uncle, Mr. A. McClellan Fetzer, who also gave her in marriage.

Her only attendant was her maid of honor, Miss Mary Jacobs, of Pennsylvania, a former classmate at Eastern College. She was daintily gowned in pink organdie and carried a bouquet of pink roses and ferns. Miss Margaret Swift wore pale green organdie with a corsage bouquet of tiny pink rosebuds and ferns.

The bridegroom was attended by his cousin, Mr. A. L. Hollige. The ushers were Mr. Kline, Mr. John W. Polen and Mr. Wade T. Akers.

The bride was the recipient of many useful and handsome presents, including a chest of Fairfax silver, linen and cut glass, and was also honored by a miscellaneous shower given by the mission class which she instructed last winter. The bride has many friends in this section, having made her home at Catharpin and attended Eastern College. Mr. Swift is a native of Pennsylvania and served during the world war as a sergeant in the aviation corps at Kelly Field, Texas. He has recently held a responsible position with the National Automobile Company in the District of Columbia.

The ceremony was witnessed by many relatives and friends from Pennsylvania, Washington and Virginia, among those from this community being Mrs. Etta Lynn, Mrs. Augusta Lynn Webb and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Pettie and son, of Catharpin.

After a brief informal reception at the church the bridal party left for Union Station where amid a shower of rice and good wishes they boarded the train for the groom's home at "Fulton House," Lancaster county, Pa., leaving the next day for New York city, to sail on Saturday for New Orleans. They will continue their journey via the Sunset Limited to California, where their honeymoon will be spent.

RUTH OF MINORS SOLD TO GRIFFS

Washington Baseball Club Pays $15,000 for Prince William "Home Run King."

Frank Willard Brower, of Catharpin, former Manassas high school athlete and more recently known as the Babe Ruth of the Minors, has been purchased from Reading, Pa., club by the Nationals. The announced price is $15,000 cash, said to be the highest price ever paid for a member of the Washington club.

Mr. Brower, while suffering with a lame knee, is spending some time with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Brower, of Catharpin, before reporting to Manager Griffith about September 1.

The following interesting article featuring the deal was written from Philadelphia by Mr. Robert W. Maxwell and appeared in the Washington Star on Sunday:

Reading, Pa., is a thriving, busy, bustling city up the state, and, according to our very best speedometers, is exactly 58.4 miles from Philadelphia. Up to this last year it has been noted for its crisp, palatable pretzels, which brought joy to the appetites of thousands, but now another attraction has horned in. The attraction which threatens to put the pretzels on the blink is a ball player. He is employed by the Reading club of the International League. He is a humdinger, which is slang for "the Babe Ruth of the Bushes." His name is Frank Brower, color, white; born in America; weighs 185 pounds; six feet two and one-quarter inches tall; plays first base, hits well and has perfect table manners. But he won't remain in Reading very long, as he has been bought by President-Manager-Scout Clark Griffith of the Washington Americans, and Reading may have to return to pretzels to stay in limelight.

Brower, let it be known, is the sensation of base ball this year. He has turned both leagues upside down, caused many sleepless nights for managers and more than that for the agents, because he is a .400 hitter, and lanky guys like that are in great demand.

Has Hit 23 Home Runs. Frank has busted twenty-three homers thus far and has a Trippacker-esque batting average. He has been hitting 'em high and far all season and fears no finger. Every paw—south, north, east and west—looks the same to him.

This twenty-six-year-old phenom is a left-handed hitter, but throws right-handed. He plays first base the way first base should be played—in Reading—but that makes no difference. He can hit because the batting average says so.

Brower has a sort of a crouch when he is at the plate. He bends his knees slightly and leans forward just a trifle. He holds his bat close to the body near the waistline and draws his arms back before hitting at the ball. He stands with his left foot about six inches back of the plate, with his right about a foot in front. He does not step into the ball, but seems to draw away a few inches. This, however, does not affect his hitting.

The day I was in Reading, Brower was up four times. Twice he was walked—not intentionally—and the other times he hit pop flies to right. He did not hit at any bad balls, but could not get hold of one. He is a natural right-field hitter, but occasionally raps one to center.

Brower originally was a pitcher. He graduated from Washington and Lee University in 1914 and afterward signed with the St. Louis Cards. He remained with that club until July, when he was sent to Utica. He pitched for Utica the next year and won seventeen and lost five games. In addition, he played sixty-five games in the outfield and had a batting average of .308.

In 1916 he was taken south by the Phillies and after pitching to the batters one morning in practice Pat Moran decided he was a first baseman. Frank was sent back to Utica and played the initial sack until the league went flooie in July. Then he became a free agent.

Ensign During War. Brower was an ensign during the war and was discharged in January of 1918. When the base ball season started he played with the Harlan shipbuilding club in Wilmington, Del., and in August went to Reading.

Every one who has seen Brower in action agrees he is a great hitter. He looks good at the plate, but when it comes to fielding his position at first base he has a lot to learn. He is not a finished player. It will take at least a year in the big leagues to get him acquainted with the finer points of the game.

He has a great throwing arm; good legs, a good pair of hands, but doesn't know what to do with them. He lets the ball play him instead of playing the ball, and is not very good on low-thrown balls.

But he can hit, and good hitting covers a multitude of errors. They say he drives the ball so far that boppers would be registered in the big parks. It doesn't take much to knock one over the fence in the Reading grounds.
