

SAYS VIRGINIA FARMERS ARE BAD ROAD-VICTIMS

Poor Marketing Conditions—Result of Muddy Highways, Mr. Taylor Declares.

Virginia farmers are the victims of bad roads. This was the statement made today by Henry M. Taylor, field agent for Virginia of the Bureau of Crop Estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture, in speaking of the low-price levels of tobacco, cotton and other farm products.

"Poor marketing conditions exist in Virginia, largely because of the curse of our mud roads," declared Mr. Taylor. "This unfavorable situation makes it impossible for the farmer to dispose of their surplus farm produce. Marketing problems must be solved so the farmer will not find himself in the position of a man who has produced a commodity but cannot dispose of it."

"There was a decrease of 4 per cent in the crop acreage of Virginia this year because of failure to create markets in keeping with production," Mr. Taylor stated. "A large part of the blame for this may be traced to bad roads. With a system of good highways radiating from market centers, the total area of farm land is bound to increase. Farmers, of all people, should have good roads because the business of farming is dependent upon favorable weather conditions and the uncertainty of disconnected, muddy roads ought not to be added to their burdens."

Acting as the agent of the people in road matters, the Virginia Good Roads' Association is working to cut down the menace of poor roads to the agricultural life of the State. As an independent organization of citizens interested in highway development it is advocating the construction of surfaced roads as rapidly as possible and planning educational work on road problems in the Old Dominion.

CARE OF TUBERCULOUS

Notwithstanding the opening of Blue Ridge, the State's newest sanatorium, at Charlottesville, the call on Catawba has been the greatest in its history. More patients were admitted to Catawba this year than ever before; and there was an unusually large waiting list when the report was compiled. The Piedmont Sanatorium for colored people has also worked to capacity.

Instead of there being an unusually heavy death rate from tuberculosis, there were decidedly less fatalities this year than during any preceding twelve months. It would seem that the sanatoria are justifying their existence and performing their principal function. These establishments were begun primarily for the purpose of teaching consumptives how to care for themselves, as educational rather than curative establishments. That has been the reason why the sanatoria so often have to refuse advanced cases. It is never possible to say that any case is absolutely hopeless, but anybody having this disease in an advanced stage can hardly hope to be permanently benefited from the comparatively brief stay permitted at the sanatoria; so with consideration of the greatest good for the greatest number, the sanatoria take those cases which are curable or arrestible and make the discharged patients propagandists for the right methods of treatment.

Something to Be Proud Of

The owner of a Serenado is never ashamed of her phonograph. She does not hesitate to play it, for she knows that even the most experienced musicians ever find delight in the sweet, clear tones of this perfected instrument.

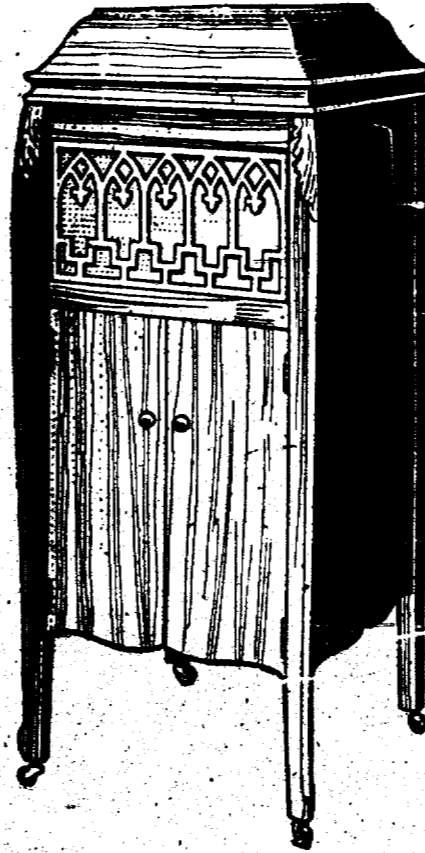

Today, there are between three and four hundred makes of phonographs on the market. Fifteen or twenty of these are really manufactured, the others being merely assembled—a piece bought here, another there, these brought together and given a fine-sounding name, but the whole possessing little in balance and unified construction, qualities so essential in musical instruments.

The Serenado is one of the few phonographs manufactured as a unit. Every part is built to work in greatest harmony with all other parts. The cabinet is designed to reproduce in the most faithful manner the world's music as afforded by every make of disc record.

You buy an individual machine when you buy a Serenado; that's why it will grow in the family's favor from month to month and from year to year.

If you value music when it is music; if you want a phonograph that will become a part of your daily life, bringing comfort and pleasure to you and yours after the day's work is over, be sure to hear the Serenado before you buy.

Ask us to play the Serenado for you and to explain the low-cost selling plan of the Serenado people, whereby you get a comparative $175 or $250 value in the Serenado at $125 or $165, according to size selected.

THE STRAIT WAY

It is about time that the country recognizes the fact that we have been soaring through an atmosphere of false economy in a big war balloon so long that we are going to find difficulty in getting back to our true and peaceful course.

Wildcat schemers with their impossible plans should be set aside, and heed should be given to the wisdom and sober thought of men of affairs whose chief interest would lie in the rehabilitation of conditions for the well-being of all.

During the war and for a time since, we practically fed and clothed a great part of the world, besides furnishing millions of tons of ammunition to be blown up on the battle fields of Europe and Europe at that time had the wealth with which to pay. Today Europe is at the end of her rope; she is already overwhelmingly involved in debt; so the proposition is plain that markets for our products are, in a vast degree curtailed. Suppose you were to obligate yourself financially in order to produce a commodity with the expectation of selling it to a middleman who in turn was to sell it to a consumer who was to pay the middleman who would pay you, so that you would be able to satisfy your obligation, and suppose the consumer has not the wherewithal to pay, we know that there would begin an epidemic of disappointment and jolted confidence which would penetrate to the very foundation of our economic structure. That such a condition is confronting America today is made manifest in the fact that litigation is rife in matters of canceled contracts.

The much discussed emergency tariff bill, and the reestablishment of the war finance board which the President rightly vetoed and which, was passed over his veto, are measures which, as we see them, will not only fail to bring about the end so much to be desired, but are fraught with danger to the very objects for which they were advocated. One of the most serious problems confronting the farmer is the extremely high cost of labor. How will he then reap any great benefit from a measure that will tend to keep up if not increase the cost of commodities necessary to the existence of the farm laborer as well as to his own comfort?

Suppose a financial measure would be so brought about that the farmer would be able to keep over his produce until another harvest, would he have any assurance that he would be better able to withstand conditions at that time?

A financial board in time of war is one thing and in time of peace, another—Let us pause!

Some one has aptly said that "economic facts are inflexible, and that the saving grace in a pinch lies in the conduct of human beings."

Therein must lie the remedy—less the flexible human element be so guided that a retrograde movement by all would be only apparent, giving strength to our position, so that we may go forward safely along lines of true economic progress.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION

Attention is called to an article in another column of The Journal by the Rev. T. D. D. Clark in regard to the establishment of a hospital in Manassas.

Mr. Clark's article is timely and his suggestions as to ways and means should meet the approval of all citizens not only in the town but in the surrounding country as well.

Many towns not larger than Manassas have succeeded in undertakings of this kind. Is there hope for Manassas?

FEDERAL AID ENDANGERED

States of the south and west are deeply concerned over the possibility, if not the probability, that the republican congress will permit the economic wave to carry it to the point of eliminating federal aid to roads, or to a reduction of the appropriation so sharp as to interfere seriously with the road-building programs already mapped out by the various states. Republican leaders are showing either lukewarm approval or outright opposition to a continuation of federal road aid, and in spite of the earnest efforts of the democratic members to force early action, the Roads Committee of the House has postponed a report on the pending bill until January 25.

Some of the republicans profess a friendly interest in the bill and protest that the appropriation which would give to the states $100,000,000 a year for five years will be made, while others are frankly opposed to it ostensibly on the ground of governmental economy. To those states which have mapped out their road-building programs on the presumption that federal aid, dollar for dollar, would be continued, the situation is disquieting, to say the least, and a withdrawal of the aid now, or a slash of 50 per cent in the figures, would be nothing short of disastrous. Representatives from the south and west are prepared to make a determined fight to prevent the government from taking this backward step, and it is possible they may be able to bring sufficient pressure to bear to force a continuation of the present program which means so much in the way of progress to those states which, like Virginia, are trying to lift themselves out of the mud.

To Virginia the loss of federal aid would be a severe blow, but whatever action the government may take, the state will go right along with its road construction program. Ample funds are in hand for this year's program of building by the State Highway Department, which it is expected will be prosecuted vigorously with the coming of open weather. In the meantime, the Virginia Good Roads Association is not resting on its laurels of things already accomplished, but is proceeding to an intensive campaign of education that good roads sentiment may be the determining factor when the General Assembly convenes next year. At that time the question of bonding the state in a sum sufficient to put Virginia on a level with the most progressive good roads states, a step made possible by the recent amending of the Constitution, will be before the legislators, and the association recognizes the importance of having every man, woman and child fully informed as to what good roads mean to the social and business interests of the state. To that end it is about to inaugurate a drive for membership, which should appeal to every progressive citizen, and it is sending into every section of the state its motor trucks with moving pictures to spread the good roads gospel. It is a vital work of construction that has undertaken, and fully deserving the co-operation of all who have seen Virginia's growth retarded by the mud which clogs its wheels of progress.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Hoboes' Union Rules.

A plan to organize the hoboes has been submitted, it is said. When their organization has been consummated, some of the rules may be as follows:

Twenty-four hours shall constitute a loafing day.

There shall be extra pay, at the rate of time and a half, for all loafing overtime.

No member of the Hoboes' union will be permitted to loaf alongside a non-union hobo.

Any person employing non-union hoboes to loaf on a job, and refusing to discharge them when requested, shall be boycotted.

Any hobo is eligible for membership in the Hoboes' union on payment of the initiation fee of three apple pies, one cold chicken and a length of clothesline.—Cartoons Magazine.

At the close of my first year in the Garage Business I want to thank my friends, to whom my success in this line is due. It is very gratifying to know that the business has grown, and if honesty and work counts, it will continue to grow.

I carry a complete stock of Ford Parts. I also sell New and Used Cars, and the famous Lee Puncture Proof Casings. These casings are backed by a guarantee that is a guarantee. All you have to do if they are not as represented is to return them to me and get your money back. The Lee Fabric Casings are as good as any on the market and prices are right.

Backed by twenty years of actual machine shop experience, you will profit by coming any reasonable distance to have your repairs made under my personal supervision.

I also rebuild and paint cars. All work guaranteed.

A FEW TESTIMONIALS:

Haymarket, Va., December 8, 1920.
It gives me pleasure to state that my Ford did not half pull until overhauled by the HAYMARKET GARAGE, since which time it pulls to "beat the band."
Very truly yours,

Anyone having any work in Mr. Roland's line will make no mistake, I am sure, in going to him.
Very respectfully,

TUCKER TO BE ELECTED (Ledger-Dispatch, Norfolk, Va., December, 17, 1920) Representative Flood's formal announcement that he will not be a candidate for Governor but confirms the opinion first expressed in these columns many weeks ago. The reasons given by Mr. Flood are in addition to those already set out; taken together, they fully explain why Mr. Flood considers that his proper place is in congress rather than on the stump as a gubernatorial candidate. Another good and sufficient reason, which needs no more than passing mention at this time, is this: He couldn't be elected. No man who might offer himself, or "be persuaded by numerous friends" to stand for the office could defeat Mr. Tucker. Only one possible candidate is left—G. W. Mapp. And the possibility of his candidacy is so remote as to be virtually inconceivable. If the state senator, from the Eastern Shore is well advised, he will soon put an end to the rumors of his candidacy. It does a man no political good to let it be known that he is even a tentative candidate for an office to which he cannot be elected. It is commonly reported that Mr. Mapp, or his friends, conducted a sort of canvass by correspondence throughout the state in an effort to learn how his candidacy would be considered and that the result was unsatisfactory to the last degree. This is not to say that Mr. Mapp's friends did not wait him to be Governor, but that they were confident he could not be elected. There is some little talk now of the entry into the lists of State Senator E. Lee Trinkle. It is almost impossible to believe there is any real foundation for this. Mr. Trinkle is a valuable man in the senate, but he would stand literally no chance in a race against Mr. Tucker. In short, those who want to be governor and those few who do not want Mr. Tucker to be governor might as well make up their minds that there is no use fighting the inevitable, for Mr. Tucker is going to be governor.

Men's Clothing

While we believe you have seen the "low" in Men's Clothing as "sold by us" this fall, in order to clean our racks so as to place us right for spring, we shall name still lower prices—prices that no one will equal for equal value of merchandise.

Any Hart, Schaffner & Marx Suit in House $34.75

These suits would have sold this fall for $75.00 to $90.00; we sold them as we carried them over, for $60.00 to $70.00, and take it from US you will be many seasons before you buy any kind of suit made by these makers for less than $35.00 to $45.00.

$60.00 and $65.00 Suits. Sale Price $28.00

These are all hard finished all-wool worsted and silk mixtures and were made by the manufacturer to retail for $60.00 to $65.00; we bought them at big reductions and sold them for $35.00; when you get them for $28.00 you are buying a bargain that we do not believe will be equalled soon.

$50.00 and $60.00 Suits. Sale Price $21.75

This lot is not large; possibly 25 suits that are small lots and carry-overs that we sold at reduced prices of $25.00. It is an opportunity to be able to select one at $21.75.

$40.00 and $45.00 Suits. Sale Price $16.75

These suits were made to retail at above prices; we bought them very low and sold at $20.75 with NO COMPETITION AT ALL; only a few left and we name price of $16.75 to clean them up.

A few Cheap Suits. Sale Price $10.00

Men's Overcoats

We hope to turn a deal on Men's Overcoats that will make a HOWL, but it is not consummated and we do not desire to advertise. We have a few regular winter stock that we will sell right, even if we do not get the lot we are negotiating for.

SHOES! SHOES!

The factories are not at all cutting prices on shoes; they should do so—but they are not doing it—that is, they are making SLIGHT reductions, but nothing like what we feel should be made, but we do not control and the spring prices are not at all in accord with what we think should be. Still, we want to move out some of our shoe stock; clean up small lots, so here goes. But just remember, please, we did not buy a pair of shoes this season and shoes THIS SEASON were worth fully half more than last season, so our reductions are really GREATER than they seem, as our reductions are from last season prices; not this season's.

JANUARY SALE PRICE

Silks, $1.29

These Silks are the same grades and values as we sold at $3.50 a yard; you will find Taffetas, Messalines, Crepe-de-Chines and Georgettes. The Taffetas and Messalines are full one-yard wide and the Crepes and Georgettes are full 40-inches wide. Our advise is DON'T PUT OFF. These are new silks just bought, taking advantage of the "need" of a Silk Importer for cash; you will find a big range of colors. We say do not PUT OFF, as we fear our buy will not last long at these prices. REMEMBER, PRICE ONLY $1.29.

Carrying out our statement to handle only reputable goods and to sell those reputable items at under-selling prices we have inaugurated our JANUARY UNDER-SELLING SALE at prices that will make competition shudder with horror when they are confronted with our prices—prices based on what OUR CASH BUYING AND "LITTLE PROFIT AND QUICK TURN-OVER" MEANS TO THE CONSUMER.

These sales will mean "MONEY SAVING" to every one of our patrons. These prices are based on TODAY'S POSSIBILITIES; should the market go lower, or we find an opportunity where we can replace at LESS, we shall at once lower OUR SALE PRICES; you will get every advantage we can hand to you.

"A PREDICTION"—We know "predictions" are dangerous and liable to "fail" even with the weather man, and it is doubly so to predict on market conditions. But, we honestly believe you have seen the LOWEST on many items; in fact, on most items. This is our belief; we may be wrong, as only time can tell, but we fear March will bring us stiffer prices; we believe our JANUARY AND FEBRUARY SALES will MEAN "MONEY SAVED" TO YOU
