Land Sale Extraordinary!

WAVERLY

Famous Estate of the late Newland T. DePauw, Forty Miles from Washington, D. C., Containing Nine Hundred and Sixteen Acres

At Auction Monday, March 7th

Beginning at 10 A. M.

We have been commissioned by the heirs of the late Gen. Newland T. DePauw to sell WAVERLY, an estate of 916 acres, at public auction on the premises, two miles north of HAYMARKET, ON THE CAROLINA ROAD, ON MONDAY, MARCH 7, 1921.

This Will Be An Absolute Sale

It will be an epoch—there will be no upset price; there will be no reserves; there will be no by-bid—the bidders alone will fix the price.

LOCATION

WAVERLY is located in the heart of historic Virginia, close to the estates of some of the most prominent citizens of America, and forty miles from the National Capital and within easy reach of three nationally famous hunting clubs. The entire 916 acres, one might say, is level, yet sufficiently rolling to be well drained.

Location Means Much

The better the location the better the future. Waverly is near the social centre of the Old Dominion. Here future values are guaranteed.

WAVERLY has been sub-divided into four different tracts. Tract No. 1, containing 178 acres; Tract No. 2, the main dwelling and improvements, contains 528 acres, and Tract No. 3, with good house, contains 116 acres, and Tract No. 4 contains 100 acres.

Improvements on Tract No. 2

Tract No. 2, besides the mammoth mansion, contains all buildings and equipment incidental and essential to extensive dairying and farming.

How Reached

Leave train at HAYMARKET, VA., auctioneers will convey you to WAVERLY. Those desiring to inspect the estate prior to sale date will please address our representative, LYNN ADAMS, at HAYMARKET, who will meet your every wish.

Auctioneers

If for no other reason, attend for the reason that auctioneers of national fame have been assigned to this sale. It will be interesting to hear Col. R. C. Drake, of Ohio, and his associates, who are equal to Billy Sunday, when in action.

We Will Also Sell

250 bushels of wheat; 250 bushels of rye; 4 draft horses, 4 and 5 years old; 1 mule; 1 3-year-old blooded colt; 2 4-horse wagons; 2 sets of heavy work harness; 1 set light work harness; manure spreader; variety of tile, different sizes; 1 2-horse enclosed sedan, rubber-tired carriage; numerous plows; 10 boxes of window glass, various sizes; lot of gas pipe, and many other articles.

TERMS ON FARM:—One-third cash, balance in five equal annual payments, due and payable in one, two, three, four and five years from date, with 6 per cent interest on deferred payments. Deeds will be made and possession given on payment of one-third of purchase price.

TERMS ON CHATTELS:—All purchases under $20, cash. A credit of six months will be given on sums amounting to $20 or more, with bankable note, bearing 6 per cent interest.

LAUGH AND LIVE

Jokes and Witty Sayings From The Liveliest Publications of the Country

The other day a dairy company's complaint clerk was called to the telephone.

"This is Mrs. Mixin," said a woman's voice. "I want to know if your cows are contented?"

"Wha-a-at?" asked the amazed clerk.

The woman repeated her question. "I see that your rivals advertise that their cows are all contented," said she. "I will begin to take their milk unless I am assured that your cows are all happy."

The clerk begged her to hold the phone a moment. Then he went away and gnawed a corner of his desk. When he returned to the phone he said:

"I've just been looking up the books, Madam, and I'm happy to say that we have not received a complaint from a single one of our cows."

Down in Birmingham, Ala., a negro team driver came home one night and found his wife highly agitated.

"Jeff," she said, "you knows dat Asa Rogers' wife Sallie is dead. Ain't you goin' to be a pallbearer at de fun'r'l?"

"No, I ain't," he answered with unusual positiveness.

"You ain't? Well, wuzn't you a pallbearer at de fun'r'l of his second wife, Melissa?"

"Sho I was. But dat ain't—"

"En wuzn't you a pallbearer at de fun'r'l of his first wife, Mandie? What you mean, you ain't goin' act dis time?"

"Lisa," he said, "suttinly I was a pallbearer at dem fun'r'ls, en I dese de best I could, but I'm tellin' you now I ain't acceptin' no mo' favors from nobody what I can't return."

William Fleischmann, just returned from France, tells of an Irish soldier of the A. E. F. who was badly wounded, almost losing his sight. The wounded Irishman was cared for in a hospital near Verdun overlooking a wrecked village in that devastated area. He responded to treatment and finally the bandage was removed from his eyes.

"Where am I?" he asked as he gazed out the open window at the shell-wrecked village and the torn-up wheat field.

"Why," said the nurse to soothe his feelings, "you are back in Ireland."

"Well, the saints be praised," he cried, again taking in the view, "we've got home rule at last!"

An express on a dilapidated railroad was tearing away at a wild and awe-inspiring rate of six miles an hour, when all of a sudden it stopped. Most of the passengers did not notice the difference, but one of them happened to be somewhat anxious to reach his destination before old age claimed him for its own. He put his head through the window to find that the cause of the stop was a cow on the track. After a while they continued the journey for half an hour or so, and then—another stop.

"What's wrong now?" asked the impatient passenger of the conductor. "A cow on the track."

"But I thought you drove her off."

"So we did, said the conductor, "but we caught up with it again."

Two very pretty girls met on the street and kissed each other rapturously. Two young men watched the meeting. "There's another of those things that are so unfair," said one. "What is that?" said his friend. He pointed to the scene: "Women doing men's work."

MANASSAS NEEDS A TOWN MANAGER

Local Writer Summarizes His Series of Articles Formerly Run by The Journal.

(By Clarence W. Wagener)

As you will note elsewhere in this issue, a straw vote is being solicited from the Manassas readers of this paper. There are some, no doubt, who before stating their preference in the matter, wish to be more fully informed as to what all this is about. For these I am writing this summary of the reasons I have previously advanced as to why Manassas should adopt the town manager form of government.

In the limited space and time at my disposal, I can but hit the high spots. I will make no attempt at covering the matter thoroughly. All I can hope to do is to bring to your mind in a general way, the true condition of affairs in Manassas, and why I feel the adoption of the town manager form of administration offers the one way of solving the knotty problems we now face.

In the matter of finances, Manassas is truly up against it. We are going heavier into debt each year. When a few more years have rolled by we will have even heavier obligations coming due each year. And we are not taking care of those of the present. What are we going to do about it? All must admit that it is unreasonable to expect ten men—a mayor and nine councilmen—without compensation, to sacrifice their individual businesses to anything approximating the extent that would be required to run Manassas as it should be run. That matter of finances alone would command a considerable portion of the time of a capable town manager, and it certainly needs the close attention of some one competent man.

As a business center, Manassas is not making the progress it should. There is needed the cementing force which a good town manager would supply. A real leader in charge of the affairs of our town would put forth a strenuous effort to get our business establishments together in a chamber of commerce or similar organization for the spreading broadcast of the Manassas gospel, and for the healthy toning-up and building-up of our town.

When we consider the social facilities that we lack, who is there among us who denies that here is a great work awaiting a conscientious town manager? No longer any local plays, no band or orchestra, no baseball games, no Y. M. C. A., no troops of Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, no summer playgrounds for the little tots. Such crying needs as these always get greater response from an efficient individual than from a group, for where the responsibility is so divided none feels it greatly.

How long do you suppose a capable town manager would be content to see the buildings of the former Eastern College stand idle? How long would he wait before making every possible effort to bring about a reviving and renovating of this boarding school which was once active in our midst, and which could mean so much for our town in every way if resurrected and run on a high plane? How long would he stand back from advocating the establishment of a centralized, even though small library, where those who thirst for good reading could satisfy this commendable longing?

Under a centralized form of government, it is my prediction that our health officer would be given more authority and would be held responsible for frequent and complete reports on the sanitary conditions of the town. The milk ordinances would be strictly enforced, and those who, in this day of enlightenment, persist in expectorating on sidewalks and in public places would be summarily dealt with.

Our present most noticeable lack of civic pride would not go uncombated by a live-wire town manager. He would encourage each individual to value the town for what it could be. He would insist upon an annual clean-up and paint-up week, when the town itself would be so exceedingly generous as to haul off, free of all cost, the year's accumulation of unburnable trash. He would formulate plans, anyway, for the future improvement of our streets and sidewalks and crossings. He would urge a re-organization of the civic league.

That overdue post office building would be a sore thumb for a local town manager. Neither would he relish the fact that we are making no effort to advertise Manassas, by means of painted signboards, to the thousands of railway travellers passing through, or to look after the comfort of those who stop off in Manassas by compelling the Southern Railway Company to keep cool, fresh drinking water in both of the waiting rooms at the local depot.

Finally, a town manager at all worthy of the name would avail himself of the liberal co-operation of the local papers to keep the citizens of the town fully informed at all times as to the town's financial condition, its needs along every line and how best these needs could be met. He would do for Manassas what must be done for the town some time later if not now, and what, under certain conditions, would be most humiliating to those who call this town "home." He would administer our municipal affairs as a capable executive would manage a big business—ever with an eye to the future, but giving particular attention to the most satisfactory solution of every present problem.

WOODBIDGE CLUB

Miss Gilbert Instructs Boys and Girls in Basket-Weaving.

(Club Reporter, Miss Delia Eike)
The Woodbridge boys and girls club held their regular monthly meeting Monday February 28. The meeting was called to order by the president and opened with singing, "Old Virginia." The Lord's Prayer was repeated and the club was entertained with several readings by the members.

Miss Gilbert being present, gave a helpful and instructive talk. The boys were interested in the subject of basket-weaving. They also expect to take up raffia work later on. The girls had their regular lesson in sewing. These are the only phases of club work taken up so far.

Captain Owen O. Ward, noted detective, twenty years in Secret Service, is lecturing at the Hebron Seminary chapel every evening this week on "Sins Seen in Secret Service."

Miss Olive F. Story has resigned her position as principal of the Nokesville public school and has gone to Winchester to accept a position there. Misses Christine Free, Fleeta Wilkins and Winifred Baggott spent the week-end with Miss Isabelle Thornton near Warrenton.

Mr. Dan Shea, of Washington, was the guest of Miss Sally Hedrick Sunday.

Miss Ethel Lion, of Manassas, is visiting Miss Christine Free.

Miss Mabel Hinegardner, of Washington, spent Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Hinegardner. Mr. Elmer Hedrick, who is working for Swaa & Company of Culpeper, spent Sunday with his family here.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. W. T. Allen is very ill at his home here.

Mrs. C. H. Walter and daughter, May, were Manassas visitors, Monday.

We are glad to hear that Miss Laura Weis has sufficiently recovered to be teaching her school again.

MINNIEVILLE

The sick on the Minnieville list are improving.

The many friends of Mrs. Lula Cornwall, wife of Mr. S. T. Cornwall, were grieved to hear of her death, which occurred Monday night and wish to extend their sympathy through The Journal to her family in this their bereavement. The funeral services were conducted by Elder Smoot on Wednesday and the interment was in Bacon Race cemetery.

Mrs. Fannie Shackelford was a visitor at the homes of Mrs. E. J. Alexander and Mrs. W. A. Davis on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Clarke and Mrs. J. T. Clarke motored to Washington Tuesday and visited the Misses Clarke sisters.

There will be services at the church here Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Seen in the First Glimpse of Spring Apparel--

Interesting Modes---Equally Interesting Prices

REGARDLESS of chic modes there is a magic something which tinges all the new things to wear, giving them a rosy, interesting hue. That something is price. One may go about the ever delightful, engrossing task of selecting the details of a Spring outfit unhampered by the thought of high prices and their accompanying train of inhibited desires for what is pretty and what is needed.

What You Will See When You Come Down to the Store

FASHION has outdone herself for the return of Spring. Frocks, Suits and Millinery echo the paeon of joy that marks the coming of the gayest season of the year. Clever French heads and clever hands wherever smart apparel is created have evolved fascinating and charming modes, some not without a very practical turn, of course, for the delectation of fair women. Inspection discloses a very choice collection of the earliest models for women who desire the new while the bloom is yet upon it.

If One Thinks of Frocks

—Then there are smart cloth models, ornate with the new cut work, embroidered, and in contrasting materials. Moroccan and Canton crepes form many a luscious Frock for diversified uses. Afternoon gowns are quaint or dashing in their use of vivid color and eccentric style.

A Glorious Tradition Is the Spring Hat

—Every year comes the fresh new pleasures of selecting Spring Millinery, every year the delightful query of whether it shall be feathers or flowers, a large one or a small one. This season's modes are charming. It is not a moment too early to select the Hat for your suit, the Hat for sports wear and the Hat to accompany lovely frocks. Sailor, off-the-face and close fitting turban styles that are in demand.

To Be Sure, There Must Be a Suit

—No woman will overlook one. They are as inevitable as Spring itself. This year, because these are very youthful box coat models, or flared back models or coolie jackets or semi-fashioned styles, you will see the necessity of having a smart Suit early in the season. Piquette is one of the much used new fabrics. Ask to see it.

CLIFTON

The school entertainment and address in the auditorium Friday night was quite a success. The audience sang the Star-Spangled Banner first and then there were two motion songs by the primary grades, after which the play, entitled "The Littlest Pageant," was given by pupils of the first year high school and seventh grade.

The play was well rendered and enjoyed by all.

When Aunt Jemima (Mrs. Poindexter) took possession of the stage and introduced Mr. C. J. Meetze, of Manassas, who was the speaker of the evening, his talk was of the community league work and co-operation for the good of school and community and was given in Mr. Meetze's usual witty manner. After Mr. Meetze's talk, "Aunt Jemima sold home-made candy. Ice cream was also on sale.

Buckley Bros. store was entered by way of a window last Friday night and robbed of some change in the money drawer and a large lot of cigarettes. Monday night attempts were made both at V. V. Weaver's residence and Thomas Mock's home. At the Mock home the dog scared them away. It is not known what caused them to leave the Weaver home before entering.

Mrs. G. W. Mathers is still very critically ill.

The community sale booked for this week has been postponed on account of sickness, bad roads and failure to receive posters in time.

The school and civic league will hold its monthly meeting Friday, March 11, at 8 p. m., in the school building.

Mr. Derr, county agent, will make an address at this meeting, illustrated by stereopticon views, on some farm subject. Come out, farmers and gardeners, and hear something of value to you.

The year old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Burke is quite sick with a heavy cold; the rest of the Burke children are in rather bad shape with colds also.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Payne, who was so badly burned last week, died at 3 a. m. Wednesday and was buried from the home Thursday afternoon of last week, Rev. J. C. Frye having charge of the services. The pallbearers were Lewis Ensor, Wycliffe Buckley, Ford Merchant and Paul Quigg.

Miss Hitt of the Clifton school faculty, spent the week-end at her home near Charlottesville.

Services will be resumed in the Presbyterian Church Sunday next at 11 a. m.

There are several new Ford cars in the vicinity; the owners are anxious to see the roads improve so they may try them out.

CHERRY HILL

A good old fashion entertainment was held at the M. E. Church, South, Saturday night last for the benefit of improving the road.

One of the very interesting and pleasing features of the program was the votes cast for the four prettiest girls. The time allowed for this contest was three-quarters of an hour. Very great enthusiasm was manifested for two of the candidates—Miss Dora Oertly and Miss Vivian Tacey. The contest became so close between these two girls that the other two candidates withdrew in their favor, thus leaving Miss Oertly and Miss Tacey a clear field. When the contest closed and the vote was counted, Miss Oertly had received 3,360, Miss Tacey 2,840 votes. The prize was a box of candy which netted between $63 and $64. The total net receipts for the evening were $126.59.

Mrs. Mary Ann Bushey celebrated her seventy-fourth birthday at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bushey, January 23 last.

Mrs. Bushey is the widow of the late John R. Bushey, who served with distinction during the civil war. Born at Reading, Pa., January 23, 1847, Mr. and Mrs. Bushey came to Prince William thirty-nine years ago and had noted a great many changes in their adopted county during this long period as residents.

Among those present at the party were Mrs. Carrie Hopkins, a daughter; Eva, Maria and Hattie Hopkins; Master Edward Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. George, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hopkins, Mr. Oscar Bushey, Master Carlton Bushey, Misses Margaret Bushey, Master William Bushey and Master George Tacey Lee, grandchildren. Master William and Ralph George, Miss Edna May Morgan, great-grandchildren. Others from out of town were Miss Vivian and George Tacey, of Newaco, and Miss Elizabeth Cornwell, of Frederickburg.
