HOME OF THE MANASSAS FEED AND MILLING COMPANY

Citizens of Manassas, Prince William and Northern Virginia may well be proud of the big, modern mill of the Manassas Feed and Milling Company. Five years ago this company started business in Manassas, purchasing for its home the building pictured above, formerly used as a candy factory. After much remodeling, this building was put in tip-top shape for the grinding of flour and meal, but the daily capacity was limited to thirty-five barrels of flour, which served well enough for a while. However, as the demand for the flour ground by this company grew, it became apparent that the capacity of the mill would have to be increased. Then it was that B. Lynn Robertson, proprietor, decided to enlarge the plant. Accordingly, for the past four months a force of carpenters and mechanics have been busy making additions to the third story of the building and installing a large quantity of the latest improved milling machinery, made by the Nordyke & Marmon Co., foremost manufacturers of milling machinery in the world. Now the capacity of the mill is ninety barrels of high grade flour a day—over 2,800 barrels a month. Situated as the plant is, adjacent to the Southern railway freight depot and right alongside the railway siding, it enjoys the finest possible facilities for the receipt and dispatch of grains, meal and feeds. Customers of the company are to be found throughout Northern Virginia, where a creditable business has been built up during the past five years.

BETHLEHEM CLUB MEETS

Two New Members Welcomed—Next Meeting to Be at Mrs. Round's.

(Chloe E. Lay Hodge, Secretary) Following the dinner given the board of supervisors and other guests at the High School Tuesday, March 22, the Bethlehem Good Housekeepers' went in session instead of their usual time the third Saturday of the month. The opening exercises proceeded as usual led by the president, Mrs. A. Stuart Gibson. The responses to the roll call were of special interest with- out preconceived plans and were suggestions of good cheer and smiles instead of tears. The new members, Mrs. M. Bruce Whitmore and Mrs. Frank Gue, were welcomed as new members of the club. Mrs. Gibson explained the special activities of the club. Mrs. Seely was the guest of the afternoon. The regular business was taken up; added to this were other subjects of interest to the club. The introduction of water to the second floor of the grammar school for the convenience of those who serve luncheons there was discussed and laid on the table for investigation. The social hour was enjoyed as usual. The next meeting place will be at Mrs. Round's on Grant avenue. The club was urged to be very prompt at the meeting.

FIRE AT COUNTY JAIL

Several Outbuildings Destroyed Before Flames Were Extinguished.

A fire of unknown origin occurred at the county jail grounds here yesterday morning at about 1:30 o'clock and destroyed the small horse barn used by the sheriff and his deputy to stable their horses during court sessions, also a hen house used by the jailor and some board fence surrounding the grounds.

Three young men confined in the jail pending their trial at the April term of court, were exceedingly anxious to be released in order to assist the crowd in extinguishing the flames, but the jailor decided that he would not assign such unpleasant duty to them unless things became more serious. They were, however, removed from the jail and placed in charge of Constable E. M. Cornwell, who guarded them in the courthouse yard until the fire was gotten under control. As we go to press we learn that a warrant has been issued for the arrest of Edward Skillman, charging him with arson in connection with the fire at the county jail Thursday.

SERVICES AT COUNTY JAIL

A party of W. C. T. U. ladies called at the jail last Sunday afternoon to hold a service with the prisoners. Mrs. Round led the devotional exercises and a special prayer was made by Mrs. Kate Randall. Mrs. G. D. Baker and Mrs. D. E. Lewis rendered a duet, "Sweet Galilee."

The prisoners took part in the singing of the hymns, even selecting some themselves. They asked the ladies to hold another service next Sunday, which they expect to do.

FERTILIZER PRICES RECENTLY DECLINED

Farmers Advised to Withhold Orders to Bring About Lower Prices at Local Points.

Danville, Va., March 23—Commenting on the decline in fertilizer prices which has recently taken place, W. E. Ogg, secretary-treasurer of the Virginia Tobacco Growers' Association, stated Monday that the decline was evidently the fruit of the resolution which he sponsored and which was adopted at a meeting of representatives of various farm organizations in Virginia held in Lynchburg a few weeks ago.

Mr. Ogg stated that many of the others present at the meeting favored buying fertilizer co-operatively through a Richmond farmers' co-operative exchange, but that he took the ground that his organization was organized on the platform of attending to its own business of raising and selling tobacco at profitable prices and did not want to go into the fertilizer business or any other business unless forced to do so by conditions.

The resolution, as drawn by Mr. Ogg, called upon the fertilizer companies to make a flat reduction in prices of fertilizer through their own commercial agents in order to enable the farmers of Virginia to buy the amount of fertilizer they would need. It was pointed out that this action would benefit every farmer in Virginia, whereas, to buy through the Richmond concern, would only benefit those who were in a position to take advantage of that opportunity.

Mr. Ogg stated that he had information from reliable sources that acid phosphate, which is the basis for most commercial fertilizers, could be bought for $15 per ton, car lots, cash, F. O. B. Baltimore, Md. The freight rate from Baltimore to Danville is said to be $7.70 per ton. He also stated that he believed that if the farmers would withhold their orders for fertilizer for a while longer the fertilizer companies might meet these prices, through their agents, or possibly go under these prices.

TOWN MANAGER TO BE HEARD

Mr. R. D. Holsinger, City Manager of Staunton, to Make Address.

(By Clarence W. Wagener) It seems quite likely that Manassas will soon be afforded an opportunity to hear a practical talk on the town manager form of municipal government.

Mr. R. D. Holsinger, city manager of Staunton, has kindly consented to address Manassas citizens on the practical application of the city manager form of government. The date for his talk, while not definitely settled upon, has been tentatively set for Monday evening, April 4th. Definite announcement as to time and place will be made in next week's issue.

In the meanwhile, it has been suggested that the citizens of our town be thinking over the questions they wish to ask Mr. Holsinger, and to reserve as engaged the evening of April 4th, since it seems quite likely this will be the date selected for Mr. Holsinger's talk.

The following have subscribed towards Mr. Holsinger's expenses, any amount being left over to be turned into the street fund. Others who desire to contribute may leave their contributions with either of the local papers, to be duly acknowledged next week:

One dollar each from Clarence W. Wagener, Harry P. Davis, Geo. B. Cocks, W. C. Wagener, Albert Speiden, I. E. Cannon, W. A. Clem, A. A. Hood, T. E. Haines, Camper & Jenkins, Hibbs & Giddings, G. Raymond Ratcliffe, Hynson & Co., Mrs. E. V. Vaughn and the Manassas Journal.

P. M. S. HOLDS MEETING

Interesting Subjects Discussed and Social Hour Enjoyed.

(Chloe E. Lay Hodge, Secretary) The regular meeting of the Presbyterian Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. S. E. Simpson on Center street on the afternoon of Tuesday last.

The subject of the afternoon was "Japan", with Mrs. D. E. Lewis as leader. Mrs. Lewis introduced the theme by reading an interesting original paper—its population, its industries and the qualities for leadership of the people. Several ladies read or related instructive and interesting facts and items in connection with the history of the great country.

The social hour was much enjoyed, while partaking of the dainty refreshments provided by the hostess.

MEMORIAL TO ROBERT E. LEE

Proposed Highway in Commemoration of Great Southern Chieftain Discussed.

A meeting was held at Haymarket on Saturday last in the interest of the Lee Highway, at which quite a large crowd assembled to hear the interesting and able address by Dr. S. M. Johnson, general director of the Lee Highway Association, on the subject of good roads and the Lee Highway in particular.

Dr. Johnson emphasized very forcibly the fact that every other route in Virginia proposed to the association had been practically abandoned and that if the present route as proposed via Fairfax C. H., Centreville, Bull Run Battlefield and Gainesville was not adopted the road in all probability would pass around the state, so it can be readily seen that it is important for the citizens of the county to get busy at once and put their shoulders to the wheel and exert every effort to get this road to pass through the county.

Another important feature of this project is the fact that it is to be a memorial to the greatest, most gallant and humane general that ever led an army over any field of battle, that great Virginian, whose very name stirs to the inmost the finer sensibilities of every true southern heart, General Robert E. Lee. And to think that the present route traverses almost sacred ground, where many of Lee's brave boys made the supreme sacrifice and where "Stonewall" Jackson won his famous name is sufficient to arouse in every true Virginian a burning desire to have this highway, which is named after one of Virginia's greatest sons pass through his native state, connecting up with the Lincoln Highway at New York and New Orleans, thus practically encircling the whole United States and passing through its most important cities, cementing together in concrete form that great union of American states, which were on the verge of permanent disintegration in those trying days of the great contest of 1861-65, and named after the two most prominent characters who played so well their important roles in that great drama.

Could either of these heroes of American history ask more, or rather would they ask more of posterity, judging from the record of their actual performances? And could a grateful succeeding generation respond more favorably to a request from those who by their material acts in life, warranted the conclusion that their greatest desire would be to have their names used only in connection with such enterprises as would render to all the present and future sons and daughters of their beloved nation a service of equal and perpetual benefit?

At last Saturday's meeting an organization was perfected to be known as the Lee Highway Association of Prince William county with the following members elected as its officers: President, B. Lynn Robertson; vice-presidents, J. L. Dawson, J. J. Conner, McDuff Green, T. M. Russell, Wm. Crow and O. C. Hutchison; secretary-treasurer, T. O. Latham; membership committee, Misses Audrey Furr, Josephine Peters and Messrs. W. L. Lloyd, Geo. Ayres, G. Raymond Ratcliffe, Chas. R. McDonald and Dr. Wade C. Payne.

Tomorrow (Saturday) in Conner's Hall at Manassas, at 8 o'clock p. m., a similar meeting will be held in the interest of the same highway. Also those who were unable to attend the Haymarket meeting will again have a chance to hear Dr. Johnson, who is an able speaker and who is considered to be one of the best informed men of the day on the subject of good roads, their construction and maintenance.

The information gained at a meeting of this kind is of incalculable value to everyone interested in good roads whether or not they realize the fundamental importance of this particular highway to this county as well as to the whole state and south generally.

MASS MEETING

TOMORROW NIGHT

Dr. S. M. Johnson, General Director of the Lee Highway Association, will speak on the proposed route of the Lee Highway through Prince William County at a mass meeting to be held at Conner's Hall, Manassas, at 8 o'clock p. m. A large attendance is anticipated.

THE PROFIT OF A COW TESTING ASSOCIATION

Tester of a Cow Testing Association Meets With Many Interesting Experiences.

(Communicated)

The tester of a Cow Testing Association meets with many interesting experiences, many hard problems to solve, and quite a few people to keep in a good humor before he can call his work a success. But when we can get him to tell us of some of his own accomplishments you can generally expect something good.

When Mr. Scott accepted the position of tester of the Prince William Cow Testing Association he had not "a bed of roses" but one of thorns, and after repeated requests Mr. Scott tells of one of his experiences.

"When I came to the farm of Mr. A. who owned a herd of twenty-five cows and has another man running it for him, I found that which is generally expected, a low producing herd of cows. Mr. A. and I had quite a little talk together and he told me he was expecting me to make suggestions that would bring the herd up to the point where seventy gallons of milk a day could be shipped. At that time from the entire herd of twenty-five cows they were only shipping forty gallons of milk per day. Mr. A.'s request was reasonable but as you know I can only advise a man and then it's up to him. However, Mr. A. assured me of his co-operation in carrying out my suggestions.

After weighing the milk each cow gave and the food she was given, I tested the sample of milk from each cow that I had saved and worked up the records so I could easily see in black and white just what each cow was doing. I saw several changes that would bring results, but as you know, no matter how good a cow is that she can't produce milk without feed, and it is lots better if it is the right kind offered. So I recommended a change in the kind of feed, that is I gave him a balanced ration. Some cows are just like some people, they require more feed than others, but it is a safe way to feed one pound of grain to each 3 1/4 pounds of milk, provided the cow gets all the roughage, such as silage and hay, she wants. So I made a list of each cow and the amount of feed she should have, thereby cutting down the feed where it was not needed, and giving more to ones that did need it. That is, I suggested that each cow be fed according to what she produces.

I then explained my suggestions fully, how they could best be carried out and started out for the next place.

When I came around the next month I found that Mr. A. was shipping fifty and fifty-five gallons of milk, a gain of between ten and fifteen gallons, which was worth about forty-five cents a gallon, or between $4.50 and $6.75 per day. You see that figures into money mighty fast, so Mr. A. seemed very much pleased indeed with the association.

Since then the cows have been steadily increasing until now, Mr. A. is shipping seventy-five gallons of milk a day. You see the Virginia-Maryland Milk Producers Association paid thirty-six a gallon for milk in January, so if we figure the actual returns in dollars and cents for the month of January it means $12.50 per day, or $390 for the entire month.

Mr. A. is very enthusiastic about the association, for you see it charges him less than $50 dues for the entire year and he thinks that before spring he will be getting over 100 gallons of milk per day.

This increase was made from the same cows. It is true that three of these cows have freshened since I began testing, but when three others have gone dry, and five others will soon be dry.

So you see the increase is mainly due to feeding a balanced ration in the proper way, and the real results are really greater than they seem for it is especially hard to bring a cow back in her flow of milk after she is allowed to fall off."

Mr. Scott has secured some wonderful results in his association work, and we sincerely hope he will give us some other interesting experiences in the near future. This is a true story of a member's experience with the Prince William Cow Testing Association.

Mr. A. lives in Manassas and he will gladly give you these results and show you his record book. Mr. A.'s name will be furnished on request to this office and further information regarding testing associations may be secured from the Extension Division, Blacksburg, Virginia, or from T. O. Scott, Manassas, Va.

Doesn't Your House Need Painting?

In Manassas and throughout Prince William, many a dwelling, barn and outbuilding is fast decaying through lack of a good protective coat. Failure to paint now means the hastening of the day when rebuilding will be necessary, and is adding to the up-keep cost a few years hence.

Spring is a fine time to paint. If you can not get a painter to do the work, we may be able to find one for you. But do not let it go undone. If necessary, find some way of doing it yourself, as too much is at stake. Remember, one paints not for beautifying primarily, but for surface protection.

$23.30 Will Buy the Paint If House is of Average Size

Using Longman & Martinez Semi-Paste Paint, which is guaranteed pure and the equal of any made, a house of average size, say 25 feet wide, 30 feet long and 20 feet high, for two coats will require but 5 gallons of L. & M. Semi-Paste Paint @ $4.00 and 3 gallons of Pure Linseed Oil @ $1.10, making the total cost of material only $23.30.

When you save the surface you save all. Is not now the time to protect your buildings with L. & M. Paint?

HOARDED MONEY VERSUS PROSPERITY

Since the burglary epidemic clutched Richmond a few weeks ago, local banks have noted a material increase in their savings deposits. That is the one good that has come out of the crime evil. Possibly if a burglar scare could be staged in every American community it would result in driving out of its hiding places and back into circulation sufficient hoarded money to relieve the present extended credit situation and boost business along on the upward grade. Failing that undesirable condition, it begins to seem that nothing short of "hard times" will drag out the money that short-sighted citizens have stowed away in all sorts of secret places. The government, with bonds paying the highest rates known in this country in fifty years; the banks and exchanges offering solid securities at attractive interest returns, plus safety, and the pleas of economists generally that all the country's money be put to work, having failed to accomplish the end it may be that only regarding business, unemployment and consequent poverty will bring it about. If that prove true, it will be a condition to which people generally will have contributed by their stubborn refusal to let their money go to work. For it there can be no legitimate excuse.

Figures that show how a timid public is hoarding its money at a time when there is no plausible reason for it, are startling. They prove that there is today almost as much money in hiding as the total amount in circulation in 1914. In that year the money in circulation was $3,419,168,000. By January 1, 1921, it had leaped to $6,840,436,000, a per capita increase from $34 to $59. Now the people ask, What has become of all this money?

Here is the answer. Exclusive of gold to secure Federal Reserve Bank note issues, there was on July 1, 1920, $5,380,000,000 in circulation. Of this, $1,078,000,000 was cash in the vaults of the banks and the Federal Reserve held $360,000,000, a total of $2,036,000,000. The remainder, $3,344,000,000, was held in safe deposit boxes, pockets, stockings and various other hiding places, where it now lies idle as the country suffers from its inaction.

That is one of the basic causes of the business depression. Let the people put that $3,344,000,000 back to work and see how quickly every line of business endeavor will be stimulated. The public may as well look the fact in the face that business is not recovering as rapidly as it should. The financial situation still is "tight," credit for new enterprises is not obtainable, and if money were available the public could not afford to pay the high rates demanded for it. So long as local and national taxes continue burdensome and interest rates remain at 8 to 10 per cent, and in many instances even higher, complete industrial and commercial restoration is impossible.

If evidence were needed that capital is scarce, it would be only necessary to glance at the quotation sheets of the various brokerage houses and note the high rates in industry, commerce, and governments are compelled to pay for their money, these ranging as high as 12 1/2 per cent yield on high-grade, short-term securities.

The question arises, Why, when money is commanding such a price, should any one hoard it? One reason is that the hoarders do not trust the banks, and still are timid, after the case of war nerves, of legitimate investment, a fallacious and costly attitude. Another is that they wish to have their money quickly available when they need it. That, too, falls to the ground, in face of the fact that under present conditions government bonds can be almost instantly converted into cash. The public has been a bit too eager to "pass the buck" to the government and the banking system. Until it has done its share in restoring normal financial conditions it must accept its share of the responsibility.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

HAYMARKET GARAGE
 C. B. ROLAND, Proprietor, HAYMARKET, VA.

At the close of my first year in the Garage-Business I want to thank my friends, to whom my success in this line is due. It is very gratifying to know that the business has grown, and if honesty and work counts, it will continue to grow.

I carry a complete stock of Ford Parts. I also sell New and Used Cars, and the famous Lee Puncture Proof Casings. These casings are backed by a guarantee that is a guarantee. All you have to do if they are not as represented is to return them to me and get your money back. The Lee Fabric Casings are as good as any on the market and prices are right.

Backed by twenty years of actual machine shop experience, you will profit by coming any reasonable distance to have your repairs made under my personal supervision.

I also rebuild and paint cars. All work guaranteed.

A FEW TESTIMONIALS:

Haymarket, Va., December 8, 1920.
 It gives me pleasure to state that my Ford did not half pull until overhauled by the HAYMARKET GARAGE, since which time it pulls to "beat the band."
 Very truly yours,
 CHAS. J. GILLISS.

Manassas, Va., December 3, 1920.
 To Whom It May Concern:
 I met Mr. C. B. Roland soon after coming to the county and he has done quite a bit of work for me, which has always been perfectly satisfactory, and his charges have been less than any I have found in the county. Anyone having any work in Mr. Roland's line will make no mistake, I am sure, in going to him.
 Very respectfully,
 M. BRUCE WHITMORE.

I HAD A FRIEND

By EDMUND VANCE COOKE
 Author of Impertinent Poems

I had a friend. And he had a mine.
 It was full of ore and its grade was fine.
 He could show, by the map, a deposit of ore,
 Which made it as safe as running a store,
 Or a factory plant.

All there was to do
 Was to put up a mill and run it through.
 The assay plainly proved that the ore would run
 Some several dollars to every ton.
 If I wanted to win, here was one best bet,
 So I put in my pile—and it's in there yet,
 Oh, well, every golden dream must end,
 And some dreams are short.

But I had a friend.

DIXIE THEATRE

Monday and Tuesday, March 28-29 "BEHOLD MY WIFE"

A Special Paramount Picture adapted from Sir Gilbert Parker's novel, "The Translation of a Savage."

Frank Armour, returning to a Canadian trading post from a dangerous trapping expedition and starving for news from his fiancée in England, is greeted with a newspaper clipping stating that she has married another man.

Armour is mad with rage against his aristocratic English family, who, he thinks, have turned his fiancée against him. Eager to revenge himself upon them, he seizes the Indian girl, Lali, who has been openly admiring him, and marries her, determining to send her as his bride to his folks in England and disgrace them.

Lali, dressed in her Indian costume, is greeted at the pier in Liverpool by Armour's parents. They can hardly restrain their contempt for her. Armour's former fiancée comes to Lali and maliciously tells her of his real purpose in marrying her.

Lali, developed from a savage into a beautiful and cultured young woman, is the belle of the large ball at the Armour home. Frank Armour, her husband, suddenly appears. With difficulty he recognizes the girl he married.

The result of this combination, together with an absorbing story, as appealing as the majestic background of the Canadian Northwest, is a photoplay that you will recognize instantly as far out of the ordinary.

Wanda Hawley in Her Beloved Villian

He malinged an innocent girl's character to keep another chap from proposing to her. Then he married her himself. When the friend finds out the deception, and tells the wife how she has been misrepresented, of course, the wife, being young and French and vivacious, starts out to punish her husband for his fibs about her. She pretends she is as bad as he had painted her. All in all no more sparkling comedy has been seen on the screen in many a day than this adaption of a famous European success. Wanda Hawley is at her irresistible best in this dashing comedy role.

TO BRAND DRAFT DESERTERS

War Department Expects to Make List Public Through Newspapers.

A last opportunity for selective service law evaders to escape broadcast publication of their names as deserters during the world war has been given by Adj. Gen. Harris, of the army.

Persons who have reason to believe that they will be charged with evading the draft, but who did not actually do so, the adjutant general announced, may escape the odium of being publicly branded as a deserter unjustly by communicating all the facts of the case to him without delay.

The final check of the draft evader lists is now being completed by former members of the local draft boards. By the end of the month the War Department expects to begin making the lists public through the newspapers and by furnishing copies to city, state and federal police, detective agencies, the American Legion and other patriotic societies.

In addition Secretary Weeks will ask Congress when it reconvenes to provide funds to enable the War Department to pay a reward of $50 to any person who delivers to the military authorities a deserter from the draft. Funds on hand now do not permit paying the full reward.

The department's list of draft evaders, which is originally reported to the provost marshal general numbered nearly 490,000 names, has been reduced by careful checking and by the apprehension of evaders to approximately 150,000 names. The final lists by draft districts are now being tabulated by the adjutant general's office.

Of the list of nearly half a million names originally compiled it was later found that more than 151,000 had actually served honorably in the armed forces of this country or the allies.

As a last check to prevent as far as possible branding innocent men as deserters, the department had the lists carefully checked by the local board members, the adjutant general's of the states and officials of the navy and marine corps. The reports, as finally checked at these sources, are now being prepared for publication in the final lists.

A QUERY AND ITS ANSWER

¶ Hardly a day passes without some of our good friends asking us this question: "How is it that you are only paying 10 cents for meat and charging us 35 cents for steak?" We are always very glad to explain this for it's YOUR FAULT, Mrs. House-keeper, if you insist on steak. As there is only so much bread on a chicken someone must eat the dark meat or it's a waste. That's the whole argument, dear patrons, and not only ourselves but every butcher in the country today is crying the same thing. We can't give the cheap cuts away!

¶ Yes, we pay 10 cents for a beef and it dresses 50 per cent, so the carcass will cost us 20 cents. Now, we have plenty good meat in briquets, plates and rough cuts that we will be only too glad to sell you from 10 cents to 20 cents per pound, or at and below the actual cost of the beef. So why not help us lower the cost of living?

¶ Get back to soup for one day in the week and thus by helping us move the cheaper cuts, steaks will become more plentiful and therefore cheaper. This is merely a suggestion on our part.

¶ To those who want any kind of meat, we have it for we specialize in meats and meats only. Prices, as heretofore, are fixed on value and satisfaction is assured.

PRICES ARE RIGHT FOR SPRING BUILDING

The prices on Building Materials have been steadily going down for many months and have now reached the point where the conservative investor can figure on building and improving.

We have the most complete stocks of LUMBER, MILL WORK AND BUILDING MATERIALS we have had for several years and are giving our trade the advantage of reductions in prices by the producers from month to month.

Where quality, price and service count, we will get the business this Spring.
