

MAYOR DAVIS AND COUNCIL QUALIFY

New City Fathers Assume Office September 1—Retiring Council Holds Final Session.

Mayor Harry P. Davis and the members of the new council formally qualified for office Wednesday evening. The new councilmen are: Messrs. D. J. Arrington, R. M. Jenkins and C. M. Larkin, also members of the retiring council, and Messrs. J. M. Bell, B. C. Cornwell, E. R. Conner, B. S. Hynson and Mr. Bruce Whitmore. A ninth councilman will be chosen shortly by the newly inducted members. A new treasurer will be appointed to succeed Mayor Davis, who has held the office for several years.

The retiring council closed its two years of service with the usual monthly meeting Monday evening. Former Mayor W. Hill Brown made a brief valedictory address.

Other business was attended to; the city stocks at the power plant were ordered brushed and painted under the direction of Supt. Gue and Mr. O. E. Newman; the cemetery committee reported the receipt of $52.50 for lots; Supt. Gue reported the receipt of $58.12 for merchandise sold; fines amounting to $20 were reported; Mrs. Roberts Lynn was granted permission to remove a tree in front of her residence on Main street, and a tree at the corner of Main and Church streets was ordered removed.

TO EX-SERVICE MEN:

By an act of Congress approved August 2, 1921, there has been established the Veterans' Bureau under the President of the United States to provide for the proper care and treatment of ex-service men. An effort is now being made by the Veterans' Bureau to get in personal contact with all ex-service men of Virginia, in order that they may be informed of the rights, privileges and benefits to which they are entitled under the various Acts of Congress.

In order to effect this, a committee has been formed in Virginia composed of representatives of the Veterans' Bureau, The American Red Cross and The American Legion. This committee will have its general headquarters at 804, Chamber of Commerce Building, at Richmond. It is the plan of the committee, during its campaign in Virginia, to visit the following cities: Richmond, Norfolk, Cape Charles, Danville, Lynchburg, Roanoke, Bristol, Staunton, Harrisonburg, Winchester and Charlottesville. You will be advised when the committee will be in your vicinity.

This committee is prepared to impart full information concerning all matters relating to the rights and care of ex-service men.

The committee will furnish transportation to ex-service men who apply for assistance, from their homes to the nearest city in which the committee will sit, provided the applicant will furnish the committee with a certified copy of his discharge. In case the discharge certificate is not available, the committee will accept a certificate from the Clerk of the Court.

LOUISIANA REPORTS ON OYSTER "CROP"

If you didn't eat a barrel of oysters last year you have something coming to you, according to solemn assurance issued by the Louisiana conservation commission. The commission in its forecast for the official oyster season opening September 1, says New Orleans alone ate 400,000 barrels last year, or a barrel for each person.

No attempt is made to estimate the available "crop" in Louisiana waters, but assurance is given that the output has increased 600 per cent in the past decade, and that with careful cultivation these waters alone can afford the nation an ample supply.

BIG MEN IN MARINES

Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby was at one time a member of the United States Marine Corps. Now he is one of the foremost members of President Harding's cabinet, as everyone knows.

But does everyone know this?—On the muster roll of the Marine Corps today there are thirty-six men bearing the name of "Davis," fourteen bearing the name "Wallace," eleven whose surname is "Hughes," six "Hovers," two by the name of "Weeks," one "Fall," one "Daugherty," one "Hays" and one "Mallon." Not to mention a "Harding," whose home is in Washington, D. C.

MEET AT ANCIENT CHURCH

Ketocin Primitive Baptists Hold 155th Session at Thumb Run.

The 155th session of the Ketocin Primitive Baptist Association, held at Thumb Run Church, near Marshall, August 19 to 21, was largely attended, those in attendance coming from Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Georgia, Nebraska and other States. Among the preachers present were: Elder Wilson, Danville; Elder Head, Atlanta, Ga.; Elder Funk, Pennsylvania; Elder Dalton, Baltimore, Md.; Elder Harrison, Frost Royal; Elder Garland, Washington; Elders Pittman and Jenkins, Luray; Elder Cordeur, West Virginia; Elder Frazier, Fauquier county, and Elder Priest, Prince William.

Thumb Run Church, where the association was held, was constituted in 1740 and boasts of a record older than the honorable record of the Ketocin Association, now in its 156th year. Elder T. B. Dalton, now pastor of the Primitive Baptist Church at Manassas, gave up the Thumb Run pastorate last year, after serving that congregation for twenty-two years.

HARRY—BARRETT

Miss Della Barrett Weds Mr. Harry of Bluefield, West Virginia.

A quiet wedding ceremony took place Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Steele, on Grant avenue, when Mrs. Steele's sister, Miss Mary Della Barrett, became the bride of Mr. Robert E. Harry, of Bluefield, W. Va. The ceremony, which was witnessed by a small company of relatives, was performed by Rev. T. D. D. Clark, pastor of the Manassas Baptist Church.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Sarah Barrett, of Sunnybrook Farm, and is talented in art and designing. The bridegroom, who served with the American army in France, is employed by the Norfolk and Western railroad at Bluefield, W. Va., where the couple will reside.

About all the melting-pot does now is to make it hot for the immigrant.—Albany Times-Union.

The Best Little Town

There are fancier towns than our little town, There are towns that are bigger than this, And the people who live in the smaller towns Don't know what excitement they miss.

There are things you see in the wealthier towns That you can't in a town that's small; And yet, up and down, there is no other town Like our little town after all.

It may be that the streets aren't long, Nor wide, nor maybe straight, But the neighbors you know in your own home town All-welcome a fellow—it's great!

In the glittering streets of the glittering town, With its palace and pavement and thrall, In the midst of the throng you will frequently long For your own little town after all.

If you live and work in your own little town, In spite of the fact that it's small, You'll find it a fact that your own little town Is the best little town after all.

MISS MALONEY WEDS MR. HARRY W. SANDERS

Pretty Home Wedding Takes Place Wednesday Evening. On Honeymoon Trip.

The marriage of Miss Julia Ayres Maloney and Mr. Harry Warriner Sanders was quietly solemnized Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride, on Grant avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Stevens, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in a setting of ferns and goldenrod and in the presence of a small company of relatives.

The bride wore a becoming suit of blue poret will and a toque of coque feathers, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. She was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Wilbur Ayres, of Washington.

Among the wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Ayres and Miss Ethel Ford, of Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sanders and Misses Mary and Rosa Sanders, brother and sisters of the bridegroom, all of Richmond.

The bride is the elder daughter of Mrs. Anna A. Maloney and the late John T. Maloney, of Fairfax county, the family having lived here for nine years. She has been employed at the Peoples National Bank for several years, and has a host of friends here. A "shower" was given in her honor two weeks ago.

Mr. Sanders has successfully headed the agricultural department of Manassas High School for four years. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Sanders, of Richmond, and was graduated from the Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1916.

After a wedding trip to Mountain Lake the young couple will return to Manassas and occupy an apartment at the residence of Mrs. Cole and Miss Rixey on Lee avenue.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

All but one of the presidents (Buchanan) were married. Five (Tyler, Fillmore, B. Harrison, Roosevelt, Wilson) were married twice?

Six (Washington, Madison, Jackson, Buchanan, Polk, Harding) had no children?

Of those that had children, three (Monroe, McKinley, Wilson) had no son?

Tyler had 14 children?

Hayes had eight children?

Three of the presidents (Jefferson, Taylor, Roosevelt) had six children?

Three (J. Adams, Johnson, Garfield) had five children?

Five (J. Q. Adams, Van Buren, Lincoln, Grant, Cleveland) had four children?

Four (Pierce, B. Harrison, Taft, Wilson) had three children?

Four (Monroe, Fillmore, Arthur, McKinley) had two children?

None of the presidents had only one child?

SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 15

The Manassas High and Graded Schools will re-open on Thursday, September 15.

Mrs. Robert E. Newman, wife of Postmaster Newman, and their two little daughters, Virginia and Janet, left yesterday to visit relatives at Bridgeport, Conn.

FINANCIAL STANDING OF FAIR IS IMPROVED

All 1921 Premiums to Be Paid Shortly in Spite of Small Deficit This Year.

"How did the Fair come out?" This is the question that has been asked by dozens of friends and patrons of the organization ever since the close of the third annual exhibition on August 19.

This question can best be answered by a comparison of this year's financial standing of the association with that of last year, according to Mr. H. W. Sanders, secretary of the Prince William Fair Association.

"At the close of last year's session, the Association was in debt to the amount of $6,700, with assets of barely $1,000," Mr. Sanders states. "At the close of this year's Fair, the Association is approximately $5,500 in debt, with assets amounting to something like $3,000."

"Thus it is easy to see that the financial standing of the organization has been materially improved, and it is expected by many of its patrons that next year's Fair will establish the Association on a comparatively fine financial basis."

A complete financial report was made before the directors at a meeting held last Friday. A shortage of funds is being experienced by the Association at the present time owing to the fact that notes carried over from last year have been met, the total amount being approximately $2,600, the secretary reports. To meet the present needs, chief of which is the need of funds to pay premiums, the directors authorized the borrowing of $3,000, security being offered for this sum by individual endorsement. Endorsement was secured for more than half of the money at Friday's meeting, and as soon as the remainder is secured, all premiums for 1921 will be paid.

$100 SCHOLARSHIP ASSURED

Competitors for the $100 Alumni scholarship to Manassas High School will be invited to take an examination at the high school building in Manassas during the opening days of the term. The time of the examination probably will be announced definitely next week.

Students living anywhere in Prince William county except in Manassas district and ready to enter any of the four high school grades will be eligible. Although it was previously announced that the scholarship would be "$50 or $100," the Alumni campaign at this time indicates that the winner will receive $100.

Students who desire to compete may obtain further information from any member of the Alumni committee—Miss Mary Larkin, chairman, Miss Louise Maloney and Mr. Marshall Hayden, all of Manassas.

THE CIRCUS

The circus that the kiddies have been waiting to see for a long time arrived last Saturday—Howe's Great London Circus and Van Amburg's trained wild animals—giving performances Saturday afternoon and night. The parade at noon, which included seven elephants, four camels, lions, tigers, horses, ponies, Little Victor, the baby hippopotamus, and other animals, was well worth seeing. The riding exhibitions were unusually varied and excellent.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING IN PENNSYLVANIA CITY

Miss Helen Gould Daugherty Weds Mr. Donald Graham—Bride Is Entertained.

A well appointed home wedding took place at Grove City, Pa., at high noon, a few days ago, when Miss Helen Gould Daugherty, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Harry K. Daugherty, became the bride of Mr. Donald Murray. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. Dr. F. S. Neigh, pastor of the M. E. Church, in the presence of sixty guests, relatives and friends of the nuptial pair. The Episcopal ring service was used.

The ceremony was performed before an embankment of palms, ferns and hydrangeas. The bride wore a dress of French flet lace over peach chiffon, with hat to match, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Mabel Peaty, of New York, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of cornflower blue taffeta and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Margaret Grace Ross, of Cincinnati, was flower girl. She wore corn colored taffeta and carried a basket of pink sweet peas. The ring bearer was Master Warren Ross, Jr., of Cincinnati. Mr. Graham was attended by Mr. Cramer Marsteller, of Youngstown, a fraternity brother. Both are students of Carnegie Tech.

The wedding march was played by Dr. Herman Poehlmann, head of the school of music of Grove City College, accompanied by Miss Esther Reynolds, violinist. The Traumeral was played during the ceremony.

The wedding breakfast followed the ceremony. Covers were laid for sixty guests. The bride's table was decorated in pink and white, the wedding cake which formed the centerpiece being surrounded by baskets of sweet peas and pink colonial candles. The place cards were miniature brides, designed for the occasion by Miss Mabel Peaty. The favors were white morie wedding cake boxes with monograms in silver. The bridal pair left after the breakfast for an auto tour of the places of interest on the Atlantic coast.

The groom's gift to the bride was a circlet of diamonds, set in platinum.

The young couple and their friends were entertained at a round of social events during the week. Mrs. Benjamin Haywood, of Sharon, served the rehearsal dinner on Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Murray entertained at the Country Club Monday. Miss Blanche McConnell gave a shower for the bride on Friday. Miss Margaret Forrester entertained on Thursday. Miss Thelma Thomas gave a luncheon on Saturday.

The bride is a graduate of National Park Seminary, Washington, D. C. Her mother, whose marriage to Judge Daugherty took place in 1899, will be remembered in Manassas as Miss Mabel Gould, whose country home, "Edgemont," was the scene of much social activity in her girlhood. Judge and Mrs. Daugherty now spend their summers in Grove City and the winters in Harrisburg, Pa., and Washington.

FIELD DAY A SUCCESS

Woodlawn League Nets $41 Toward Fund for School Addition.

A large crowd of patrons and friends enjoyed the field day at Woodlawn Saturday under the auspices of the Woodlawn Community League. Nokesville and Greenwich played ball, Nokesville being declared the victor.

The sale of suppers, ice cream and cake netted the sum of $41, which will be applied to the fund for the erection of a new school room. Mr. N. M. Schaeffer, the league president, has already hauled sand and rock to be used in its construction.

Among the visitors were Mr. Benjamin Baker, of Washington, a brother of Mrs. N. M. Schaeffer; Mr. Hooe, of New Baltimore, and Mrs. Sampson, of Madison county. League officials were disappointed that Mr. Charles E. McDonald and Mr. C. J. Meetske were absent. It was learned during the evening that Mr. McDonald had been on the sick list.

The league will hold its next meeting on Saturday, September 17, at 8 o'clock. A program will be rendered, and ice cream and cake will be served.

A test of the new municipal well at a depth of 327 feet having developed a supply of only 19 gallons a minute, drilling is again in progress and the well will be continued to a depth of 350 or 360 feet.

Mrs. D. R. Lewis during the week visited her mother, Mrs. William Foots, at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. C. Linn, of Alexandria.

MRS. JOHNSON IS HOSTESS TO CLUB

Bethlehem Housekeepers Bid Farewell to Two Members Leaving the Community.

(Chloe E. Lay Hodge, Secretary) The Bethlehem Good Housekeepers' Club was entertained at "Clover Hill Farm" by Mrs. J. B. Johnson, the mistress of that ancient property, on Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon was glorious and sixteen members were present. They replied to the roll call by beautiful and appropriate quotations bearing on the theme of the afternoon—Friendships and Partings. By request, Mrs. Hodge read the following original verses:

Why name our club The Bethlehem? Is known to but a few, Yet to this sacred name we love Let us be ever true. How sweet the name of Bethlehem—It breathes of memories dear, The history of long ago That brought to us good cheer. A picture rises in our mind Of one we all adore, Whom wise men sought to find And finding, loved Him more. How dear the name of Bethlehem, How silent now it lies, Amid the hills of Palestine It pleads its sacred ties. Let all be done in His dear name, Time flies on wings so fleet, While listening for His glad "Well done," Till at His throne we meet.

The committees on the Rest Room, Canning for School Luncheons, the Annual Gift Book to the High School Library, etc., reported most satisfactorily. Through the courtesy of Mrs. W. G. Covington, the members who could make it convenient were appointed to meet Monday afternoon at her home, "Willowmoor," as early as possible, to can corn and tomatoes.

Following this business, our president, in her usual graceful manner, rose, and after a few preliminary remarks addressed herself especially to our departing members—Mrs. F. E. Ransdell, a charter member, and Mrs. T. E. Haines, of more recent date—expressing our deep regret at their departure and extending our affectionate wishes for happiness and good fortune wherever their lot was cast. At the close of happy words, Mrs. Gibson presented each lady with a token of love and esteem, which gave great pleasure in giving and taking. Mrs. Gibson then called upon Mrs. Hodge to read a brief address. It was as follows:

We have come to the parting of the roads, the place for ending the happy days we have traveled together, united in purpose and bound together with the gentle cords of love.

While the word farewell is tinged with sadness, and it is in the minor key, let us not wait in the shadow but come out into the sweet sunshine of a broader, more joyous meaning, and wish that you two dear members—Mrs. Ransdell, a charter member, and Mrs. Haines, of more recent date—may FARE WELL, each in her own place, and as you go faring along your different pathways may you FARE WELL in body, mind and soul. May you carry with you pleasant memories of our happy and useful times together, and to those less fortunate, so may we, though parted by many a mile of distance, continue to be useful and to grow in all that is true and beautiful and good. Thus, going or staying, may be send forth from our lives the sweet fragrance of a noble influence.

We shall greatly miss you, and your cordial co-operation in all our activities, but we will hold you in loving remembrance, and follow you with our prayers. So may we both FARE WELL. We give you as a parting token of our love and esteem a sweet bunch of forget-me-nots. Let them speak to you of our hope that you will FORGET US NOT, and amid all your plans and doings you will sometimes send a backward thought to us who love you here. In closing this brief valedictory, we leave you this one sacred word, MIZPAH, "The Lord watch between you and us all while we are absent one from another."

The club song, "Auld Lang Syne," was then sung with special expression, hand clasping hand, after which we were dismissed by Mrs. Gibson, who pronounced the benedictions. The social hour was one of special interest, and much visiting was engaged in, while our hostess and her assistants served delicious ice cream and cake of their own making. After having our photos taken in various attitudes, we regretfully made our adieux. Our next meeting will be at Mrs. Charles Lewis's.

STATE NEWS NOTES

Mike Slaven, seaman, a roomer at the National Hotel in Norfolk, was carried to a hospital suffering with wood alcohol poisoning, and little hope is held for his recovery. The proprietor of the establishment discovered Slaven in his room and notified a physician, who examined the unconscious seaman and announced that his trouble was due to drinking whiskey containing wood alcohol.

Murder of an officer by a bootlegger and the attempted murder of another by a moonshiner in the last few days have caused a good deal of comment regarding the readiness of the persons engaged in illicit liquor traffic to take human life, says a dispatch from Richmond. It happens that the score in the latest engagement is a tie, so far as life is concerned, but the officers have the winning hand in that they have captured perhaps the largest individual still in the state and have been able to get lines on the operators of other large stills and learn the location of them. Boldness of the moonshiners and bootleggers has begun to turn sentiment against them, this report states, and the efforts of the officers of the law are having more effect than for a long time. Only ten days ago the officers killed a moonshiner who answered the order "hands up" by aiming a pump gun at the officers, one of whom fired and sent a ball through him.

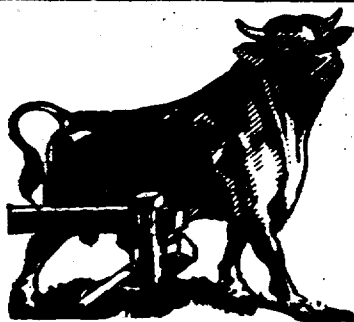

Roy Ware, a young resident of Amherst County, is in the Lynchburg hospital with a bullet wound through his liver, and Myers Carpenter is out under $3,000 bail bond, charged with the shooting, which resulted when a rivalry became intense between the two young men for the hand of the same young woman, who lives near Pedlar Mills, Amherst county.

Capt. Philip M. Walker, owner of the Pagebrook horse breeding farm, near Boyce, Clarke county, received $44,800 for six colts at a recent sale held there. The highest price paid was $21,000, by J. S. Cosden, of Baltimore, for a son of Sweep and Ballet Girl. This is said to have been the highest price paid for a yearling at any sale in the United States this year. The son of Sweep and Ballet Girl is an own brother of The Porter, owned by Edward Beale McLean, of Washington. Others making purchases at the sale included Walter J. Salmon, who paid $6,100 for a filly by Black Jester out of Dorothy Count; Admiral Cary T. Grayson, a prospective Virginia producer, $6,000 for a colt by Sunstar out of Togs; Bud Fisher, of "Mutt and Jeff" fame, $5,000 for a colt by Sunstar out of Melriquo, and Preston M. Burch, $3,700 for a filly by Black Jester, out of Electric Fuse.

A large rattlesnake, four feet in length and having seven rattles, was killed on the Chancellorsville battlefield by G. W. Briscoe, of Orange county. This is the sixth snake of this species to have been killed on the wilderness grounds in the last twelve months. The snake was found coiled, ready for defense, when he was killed.

The first reunion of the Twenty-Ninth Division of world war veterans, is in session at Baltimore and will close on Labor day. Boys from Virginia, Maryland and New Jersey are in attendance.

A flying machine passed over the farm of Ira G. Hinton, near Lara, one day recently, and dropped two lead weights weighing four pounds within five feet of Mrs. Hinton and child, says a news item from the Northern Neck. The metal weights buried themselves so completely in the ground that Mr. Hinton had to use a grubbing hoe to dig them out. Mrs. Hinton is rejoicing that they did not fall upon her or her child, which would have caused instant death.

Mrs. Thomas May, of Rochelle, has a turkey hen which is caring for 23 young turkeys. This large family originally composed two broods. The other mother hen discarded her youngsters and the orphans were given to the more motherly hen, who made no objection to the addition to her already large family. She had then altogether 93, but has lost ten. She and her big flock are quite an interesting sight as they range about—Greene County Record.

Mr. C. Vernon Ford, an attorney, of Fairfax Courthouse, submitted to an operation at a Washington hospital last week for the removal of a growth that had formed on his back. The operation was successfully performed and the growth found to be a small tumor that was easily removed. He is expected to return home in a few days practically well.

Mrs. Maurice Castleman, wife of the proprietor of the Leesburg Inn, while suffering from a sudden attack of insanity last week, shot and killed her seven-week-old baby boy and attempted to kill her mother and to commit suicide at her home at Castleman's Ferry on the Shenandoah river near Bluemont. The child was killed instantly, but Mrs. Castleman was only slightly hurt.

The original set of weights and measures used in Fairfax county during colonial days was recently resurrected from some hidden corner of the City Hall in Alexandria and is now on exhibition there. The set consists of a brass measure for the yard and foot, measures from a quart to a bushel and from the liquid pint to a gallon. The weights run from about a pound up to 100 pounds. These are all of brass and are inscribed "Fairfax County, 1744." An expert from the Agricultural Department recently inspected them and pronounced them the only set of the kind in the United States. Alexandria, up to the ceding of a portion of Virginia to the District of Columbia, was the county seat of Fairfax. When it became a part of the District all the old records were removed to the new county seat at Fairfax, but the set of weights and measures were evidently overlooked.

SIGNS TO BE REMOVED FROM RIGHTS OF WAY

State Highway Commission Will Clear All Improved Roads and Restrict Advertising.

All advertising signs must be removed from the rights of way of the improved roads in the state highways system in this section by September 30, according to announcement of Mr. J. C. Albright, resident engineer at Manassas, in accordance with the General Assembly in 1919. The erection of signs in future will be governed by the state highway department, which will issue permits to advertisers. Patrolmen and section foremen will be instructed to remove all signs remaining in position after September 30.

Mr. Albright has issued the following statement concerning the order:

This office has been directed to have all advertising signs removed from the rights of way of the improved roads in the State Highway System in this residency, and therefore I wish to notify all firms that have erected signs of an advertising nature along the roads in the State highway system that if these signs are not removed from the roads above referred to by September 30, 1921, patrolmen and section foremen will be instructed to remove these signs, and also to remove any signs that are erected in the future of an advertising nature, unless it can be conclusively shown that permission has been granted to the firm erecting such signs by the State Highway Commission.

In order that the law may be fully understood, I am quoting verbatim from the Rules and Regulations Controlling Traffic on the State Highway System, effective July 25, 1920, under the provisions of Section 4, Chapter 31, Acts of 1919, General Assembly, in regard to erecting signs:

"It is forbidden to place or allow to be placed within the right of way of any of the State highways any advertising, or advertising signs, without first obtaining permission of the State Highway Commission."

This applies to advertising signs placed within right of way, or projecting over the right of way.

Colonel William G. Ferrow, a veteran of the war between the States, is making a tour of the five great battlefields in Spotsylvania County, and those of other sections of Virginia, with a view of writing a "History of the Military Campaign in Virginia, From 1861 to 1865." Colonel Ferrow is 82 years old and commanded an Ohio regiment in the battles of Chancellorsville, Wilderness and Bloody Angle.

AUTOMOBILE RUNS WITHOUT DRIVER

Movements Controlled Entirely by Radio Impulses—Exhibition at McCook Field.

Recent visitors at McCook Field, the home of the engineering division of the air service at Dayton, Ohio, have been astonished at the gyrations of a brightly painted three-wheeled vehicle which has been dashing to and fro between the buildings and among the airplanes on the field and under no visible means of control. It is often seen to approach a group of persons, blowing its horn wildly, and then when apparently about to strike them, to stop short with screeching of brakes, back up with loudly clanging blow, make a sharp turn to the right or left, and to start off in the opposite direction. Great mystification has been shown as to the method of operation of this car, some visitors even wondering if perhaps a combination of the heat and newly-made home brew may not have had a deleterious effect upon their observation powers. They are oftentimes considerably relieved to learn that the car is actually performing as they have seen it, though the mystery is lessened but slightly when they learn that the movements of the car are controlled entirely by radio impulses, which are sent out from the radio station at the opposite end of the flying field. The fact that there is no aerial or antenna system visible merely adds to the mystification.

The car is of cigar-shaped construction, about eight feet long, and runs on three pneumatic-tired wheels. It travels at speed ranging from four miles per hour to ten miles per hour, and the controls are so finely adjusted that it may be easily steered along a narrow roadway.

An examination of the interior of the car shows an amazing and confusing collection of batteries, wires, switches, vacuum tubes, potentiometers, relays, magnetos, etc., all of which are, of course, necessary to the complete control of the apparatus. The most interesting part of the apparatus is the "selector," which is in reality the heart of the entire control system. Various combinations of dots and dashes are sent out by means of a specially constructed transmitter, each combination calling for the accomplishment of a certain operation of the control apparatus. It is the function of this selector to "decode" these various combinations of dots and dashes which are sent out, and to close the circuits to the desired controls. So delicately is this selector constructed and so rapidly will it operate, that it is possible to put into operation any one of the twelve distinct controls in a period of less than one second. That is to say, less than one second elapses from the time any push-button on the automatic transmitter at the distant radio station is pressed until the control on the car is in operation. Such speed of control has never before been accomplished. This car has been controlled equally well from an airplane and from a ground transmitting station.

The possibilities of radio control and its application to war-time problems are almost without number. Radio control can be applied to any mechanical apparatus that moves, whether it be in the air, on the ground, on the surface of the water, or beneath the water. Huge land tanks may be constructed and filled with "T. N. T." and driven to any desired point along the enemy's lines, where the explosive can be fired by means of radio, or it can be applied in a similar manner to a boat, submarine, torpedo or even an airplane, and the explosive can be fired when and where desired. There is also an application in the commercial field, particularly in plants where long hauls between various parts of the factory are necessary.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA BEGINS RECOVERY OF ART OBJECTS

Czecho-Slovakia is the latest of the States to begin the recovery of art and historical objects awarded under the treaty of St. Germain and now in the palaces and museums of Vienna. A commission has just been appointed for that purpose.

These comprise, among other things, the almost priceless documents, historical memoirs, maps and other material which Thaulow von Rosenenthal removed from Prague by order of the Empress Maria Theresa. Then there are the valuable documents originally contained in the Royal Aulic Chancellery of Bohemia and the Aulic Chamber of Accounts of Bohemia, as well as the works of art formerly in the royal chateau of Prague and other castles of the Hapsburgs located in what is now Czecho-Slovakia, and which were removed to Vienna during the reigns of the Emperors Mathias, Ferdinand II, Charles VI. (about 1718-37) and Francis Joseph I.

SPRIT OF OPTIMISM FOUND IN VIRGINIA

Richmond Traveler Reports Business Men in Cities Look for Early Recovery.

A general spirit of optimism is found throughout the State, according to R. Taylor Coleman, who recently made his initial trip as manager of information and public relations for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia. He covered on the trip about 1,200 miles, stopping at Newport News, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Suffolk, Danville, Lynchburg, Roanoke, Pulaski and Staunton, where he conferred with telephone officials, officers of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations and prominent business men.

Mr. Coleman stated that in nearly all cities business men were of the opinion that conditions were not as bad as they looked and that an early recovery of permanent prosperity could be expected. He says that the State is still "shell shocked" from the effect of the period of deflation, but that business is improving. Road work, being done in different sections, is helping to relieve unemployment situation and keep labor from becoming restless and dissatisfied.

Roanoke, according to Mr. Coleman, probably is better off than any city in the State. It has not been affected by the war period as other Virginia cities and deflation has not been as sharp. Business is said to be moving along as usual, with a great deal of residential construction in the suburbs.

Norfolk, Newport News and Portsmouth have been hurt by the lay-off of men from the navy yards and the shipyards. Portsmouth is said to have very live Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs.

Mr. Coleman says that Lynchburg, while suffering from dullness in jobbing trade, is one of the wealthiest and most conservative cities in Virginia.

The city of Suffolk is in good condition and rejoicing over the nomination of Senator West as Lieutenant-Governor. The Planters' Nut and Chocolate Company, which has the largest peanut factories in the South, at Suffolk, has just established a plant on the Pacific Coast to handle Far Western and foreign business.

AMERICAN NAVY HAS 11,000 SMITHS ON ROLL

There are about 11,000 Smiths, 7,760 Johnsons, 5,760 Browns and 5,240 Millers, with many similar initials, in the files of the Bureau of Navigation. This was disclosed in instructions which the Navy Department has sent to all the ships and stations of the navy requesting commanders to instruct each individual in their commands to notify his relatives of his service number and to use the number and full name in all communications to the Bureau of Navigation.

A TRIBUTE TO THE JOURNALISM OF VIRGINIA

(Newport News Times-Herald)
In his admirable address before the Virginia Press Association last Thursday, James Wright Brown, editor of the "Editor and Publisher," of New York, said:

"Virginia newspaper publishers have not passed on their increased war costs to their advertisers and their readers, but on the contrary, they have absorbed a very large percentage of these costs by paying them out of their own profits."

"Virginia newspaper subscription rates at retail by carrier, by agents and by mail, are too low."

"Virginia newspapers are selling space to national advertisers at a price that seems to me to be too low."

"Frankly, I'm convinced that the Virginia Press Association is composed of men who are more interested in ideals and community service than in money making."

That may not speak so well for the business office of the Virginia newspaper, but it is a very high tribute to its character and its devotion to the public interest.

A newspaper is far more than a commercial commodity. True, it is a business institution, and its business affairs must be conducted by the rules of business, or it will not last very long. It is the duty of a newspaper to be successful in business, for if not profitable, it will not be serviceable very long, for it will die, and a dead newspaper is as impotent as a dead man. A newspaper may be sustained for a time on "pap" supplied by a rich owner, but there must come an end to that, and unless it be self-sustaining, eventually it will go the way of all flesh. Moreover, there is vitality and a vital influence in a going, self-sustaining newspaper, that is more potent than that of a newspaper which is fed on "pap."

The newspaper, we repeat, in order to give permanent service, must be conducted in such a manner as to make it a profitable institution. But we have said to the Virginia Press Association, and we take this occasion to repeat it in print, that if any newspaper publisher in Virginia is running his paper merely as a commercial enterprise for the simple and sole purpose of making money, we devoutly hope to God he will fail.

A newspaper has a much higher mission than money-making. It is the servant of the people, the right arm of good government, of the church and all institutions and activities which make for the uplift of the people and the promotion of the public good. God save the Virginia press from the blight of sordid commercialism.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION

The first of September has ushered in a new administration for Manassas. The Journal bids a hearty welcome to Mayor Davis and our new City Fathers, and pledges its continued co-operation in every effort for the betterment of the town.

To the retiring officials we would express, on behalf of the citizenship, a full measure of appreciation.

THE STATE CHAIRMAN

Virginia democrats, it would seem, have made a wise choice in selecting Representative H. D. Flood to replace the late Representative James at the head of the state democratic committee. Mr. Flood's election, which was by unanimous vote, was hardly a surprise, although General Sale, who conducted Mr. Trinkle's successful campaign for the gubernatorial nomination, had been prominently mentioned for the post.

It has been suggested—very mildly, be it said—that Virginia democrats have had enough Washington rule, that the party might produce a good man on home ground for home rule, but this is a difficulty which is only real if the individual selected make it so. It has further been intimated that a coalition representative might better administer the quasi-judicial functions of the office than a man who has been so warmly identified with a particular wing of the party in the state. Again, any difficulty would depend upon the character of the man chosen to fill the office.

Mr. Flood has been trained in the ways of politics under one of the strongest leaders Virginia ever produced. He is an able politician and has already rendered valuable service to the party.

As director of the democratic party in Virginia he will have ample opportunity to display his fine political wisdom and his prowess as a party organizer. In the first business ahead—the election of Hon. E. Lee Trinkle over his republican opponent, Col. Henry W. Anderson—it is needless to say that he will have the ready and substantial support of Virginia democracy.

HEALTH VS. CURE

The substantial growth of medicine from cure to disease prevention is a happy omen for the health of the future. The training of doctors is shifting steadily in the direction of preventive medicine and in a few years statistics should show the value of the change.

Reviewing the activities of the Rockefeller Foundation, Mr. George L. Vincent, its president, recently discussed the situation in an interesting way.

"It is often said that if all available knowledge about causes of diseases were actually applied the world over millions of lives could be saved every year," he said. "This statement is true, but it may easily mislead. One is likely to infer that enough public health officers and sanitary engineers could usher in a hygienic millennium. But the thing is by no means so simple. It must be remembered that life is not dealt with by public authorities. The idea of prevention, then, will have limited influence until it is accomplished not merely as a government policy, but as a guiding principal in individual lives.

"Education of whole communities and nations, changes of habits of thought, a new attitude toward disease and toward medical service, are essential conditions of progress. So, far from discarding the doctor, this new regime will give him a changed but no less indispensable task. He will increasingly be called upon to keep his patients well."

It has been said that the custom of paying the doctor to keep the family well has prevailed in China for centuries. We shall do well to emulate her example in this respect, and assuredly we should be happy to accept our money's worth in health instead of cure.

WOMAN'S OPPORTUNITY

Virginia women who have not qualified to vote have the privilege, which is also a civic duty, of registering at any time up to and including October 8, in order to vote in the general election in November. Registrars are expected to observe October 8 as registration day, sitting at the several voting places to register all who apply to be registered.

While a large number of women are qualified to vote in Prince William, there are also a large number of Prince William women who have failed to avail themselves of their opportunity. The matter of becoming a qualified voter is a simple procedure, albeit one which invests the individual with tremendous power. The first step is through the Commissioner of the Revenue, who assesses the prospective voter for taxation. The County

Treasurer, upon presentation of the commissioner's certificate and the poll tax of $1.50, will in turn provide a tax receipt which entitles the holder to registration with the Registrar of the precinct in which she resides. A visit to the Registrar completes the program, and the voter is ready to consider plans for election day.

Women who voted last year paid the 1921 tax and will not be required to pay it again before the November election.

While the women of Virginia are specially urged to use their civic privilege at this time, Virginia men would do well to cultivate a little enthusiasm for it, too. Virginia is something of a slacker at the polls. In the general election last year, Virginia's population of 2,306,361 produced a voting strength of 229,952, this being ninety-nine votes for every 1,000 population, or 10 per cent., according to figures compiled by the Association for the Common Good. In the August primary Virginia democrats cast only 150,669 votes. The national average for last year was 24 per cent. of the citizens of voting age. While it is too late for Virginia men to remedy the situation before this election, Virginia women have been granted additional liberty during the first year of "equal" citizenship.

Fears of a Pacific war are entertained in several quarters, as usual, according to a news item. If we can just eliminate the capital perhaps we may place war where we want it to be—until there is somebody we really want to whip!

The idea of the disarmament conference has our hearty approval, but still we would move to dislodge it.

There are several reasons why there is little danger of war with Japan. One is Japan.

Home brewed will be all right if it does not harm the home brood.

"NO VALUE"

He yawned, and laid his cigarette aside, And on the baggage-check grimly stamped: "Body," wrote Two simple words. Scrawled words, with careless fingers. Just a note Of this poor shipment's worthlessness.

Two days before, was sunshine, joy, and life To all of us. For eighteen years her smile And the warm heart of her, the girlish wife Had been our earth and heaven.

"Some day, as sweet a wife," (We said) "as she has been a girl." And so we dreamed, Until the echo of her children's feet, it seemed, Their laughter, even their tears, grew woven fast To our life's dream-stuff—golden threads that gleamed Through years of difficult waiting.

Then Death came. They passed, Those dreams, and all our prayer and all our hoping. And so we laid her in her coffin gray, and cast In there, beside her, all our youth; and, dazed and groping, Carried her to a silent, sunlit place Where autumn oak-leaves would be falling. Left her there, Who never yet had read the Book of Life—her face Still pure, still fair.

"No Value." Yes, he wrote that down, and gave Formal receipt. "No Value," as we bore her toward the grave.

Only a girl, with dear, vague hopes, half-known, Who now must fare the untrodden paths, alone— Dark paths and cold, they seemed, for girlhood hardly grown.

Only a young, dead girl, unwooded, unwept. "No Value." And the world had ceased to turn; And all the gold from here to Babylon might burn To dress, unmingled, for we bore our dead. "No Value." Ah, the deep, long thoughts we knew, And our dim eyes that watched him there, and read! No Value, now, had starlight, dawn, or dew, Sunset or cloud, or the white haze of noon, Or springtime's mantle green, with flowers inwrought, Or the unfolding tenderness of June, Or earth or sky, or ocean's tides—how true!

How true he was!—nor guessed that truth, nor thought! —George Allan England, in Contemporary Verse.

CASE PROVED

Those who are feeling depressed at the labor troubles through which we are passing would receive a good tonic if they took a walk through Whitechapel, for on the notice-board of a certain church there the following piece of anatomical pleasantry has been painted: It is easier to smile than to frown! To frown you use 64 muscles, but only 13 to smile!—London Morning Post.

Checking Accounts

- Most people have learned through rich experience of the many conveniences which a checking account offers.
- Women, especially housewives, should investigate this good method of handling personal funds.
- When you spend by check you don't have to stand in line to pay bills, wait for change or argue about mistakes. Checks for any amount can be sent through the mails.
- A checking account encourages correct keeping of your account—leads to savings and investments—and it costs nothing. We invite your consideration.

DECLARE ONLY 279 BOSTON BAKED BEANS ON PLATE

Boston's civic pride is badly lacerated by a scandal compared to which the Ponzi bubble, the consequent bank failures and the policeman's strike are trifling memories.
For the ancient baked-bean motto of Boston—"A Thousand on a Plate"—has been shown up as a sham and a fraud of many years standing.
There aren't 1,000 beans in a plate of baked beans. The State commission on the necessities of life reported that after counting millions of beans that by actual tabulation phaseolus vulgaris runs only 279 to a plate.
The extent of the public swindle will never be known, but it may be appreciated from the fact the the people for generations have been paying 15 cents a plate for 1,000 beans and getting less than one-third that many.

—There has been such a large demand from local students for different work in Eastern College that the administration has found it advisable to make certain reductions. Prof. R. H. Holliday has announced. Where there are two or more from a family, discounts will be given. This reduction is made in view of the fact that many of the local prospective patrons do not feel able to pay the regular catalog charges, Prof. Holliday states. These reductions apply only to day students.

—An interesting document, owned by Mr. R. Lee Whoddy, of Willow Green Farm, near Manassas, was exhibited at the office of the Free Lance in Fredericksburg, Saturday, by Mr. E. J. Embrey, who recently returned from Manassas to Fredericksburg. It is a contract dated July 9, 1845, between Alexander J. Marshall and James Lewis for the opening of the Rappahannock river for navigation between the basin at Fredericksburg to the Fauquier Sulphur Springs. The contract stipulated that this work would allow a boat of eight tons' burden to pass loaded during these points. This is one of a series of bonds sold by A. J. Marshall for the building of a small boat passage way on the Rappahannock.

—Eventually everything will get back to the pre-war level except Europe's upper class.—Rechester Times-Union.

PARAMOUNT WEEK
MONDAY AND TUESDAY
"HELIOTROPE"

A Cosmopolitan production. Only a whiff of heliotrope—and a maddening unknown danger, closing over her like a pall of death. A message from the man whose daughter's life she plotted to ruin! He'd escaped from prison—Was out to "get" her! When? How? The rest is one long thrill and shows how great a father's love can be! Admission, 11c and 22c.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 8
Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle

"THE ROUND UP"
"Aw shocks! Who loves a fat man?" Every soul who ever saw Sheriff "Slim" Hoover in Edmund Day's great play, "The Round Up." Now it's on the screen! With a peerless cast, a mighty sweep of dramatic action, and the best known fat man on earth!

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 9
"THE PASSIONATE PILGRIM"

A Cosmopolitan production. From the popular story by Samuel Merwin. The girl was an heiress whose father "owned" the city. The man was a rebel press reporter, struggling against the wheels of grafting politics. When the two put their heads and their hearts together—Come and thrill while the storm they started clears the air. Also Aesop's Fables. Admission, 11c and 22c.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 10
"THE JUCKLINS"

Get Them Now

Children's eyes should be examined, preferably before starting to school, but if this has not been done, certainly it should be attended to at the earliest opportunity; otherwise, the child may be working under a severe handicap. Very often a child's apparent distaste for study is due to inability to see clearly and without eye-strain, but the child is usually unconscious of the reason for this dislike, never having known any different condition, so the defect is not discovered. The responsibility for an investigation is up to the parent. Competent authorities state that fully ninety per cent. of the so-called backward or stupid children in our public schools are in that class because of defective vision.

MY OLD FRIEND BILL

Of all my friends for good or ill,
There's no friend like my old friend Bill.

I'm never sad when Bill's along—
Why, life is just one glad, sweet song

With Bill. He satisfies one so.
And what He'll do you always know.
I tell you it's a lonesome day
For me with my friend Bill away.
He's popular, too, and hard to hold,
And good—he's just as good as gold.
And such a generous hearted cuss!
He takes you 'round and makes no fuss,
Buy what you like or want, just say,
And Bill, old sport, is there to pay.
Of all my friends for good or ill,
There's no friends like old Dollar Bill.

KENTUCKIAN SUFFERS

A man apparently suffering from loss of memory, who was turned over to the Jacksonville, Fla., police by the conductor of a train, was identified as T. M. Shelton, a business man of Danville, Ky.

Questioning by the police developed the man probably was from Danville, and that his name was Shelton, and upon communicating with the Danville authorities, it was learned Shelton had been missing several days. Shelton, who returned home, said he remembered nothing of his movements until he found himself aboard a train bound for Jacksonville.

YOUNG MESSENGER'S

THEFT GIVES HIM ONE SHORT, MERRY FLING

One short merry fling on Broadway and a few trades in Wall Street were all that La Fayette Griffin, 21, a San Francisco broker's messenger, got out of a $32,600 theft of securities which had been entrusted to him for mailing, according to the New York police. Griffin, after a hearing in the Tombs Court, was held for thirty days without bail pending the arrival of an application for his extradition to California.

The San Francisco youth was taken in a tiny office where he was embarking on a stock market career. The elevator man said the lad seemed to be a millionaire's son, because he went to and from work in a limousine, which proved, however to be just a hired car.

J. P. Morgan & Co. caused the arrest when some of their securities included in the missing batch appeared in the market here as a result of Griffin's transactions.

Griffin is said to have told the police he left San Francisco wearing his old navy uniform. He tarried awhile in Salt Lake City and then laid his course for Broadway. The police got back all but $3,000.

When It's "The Other Fellow"

Have you ever noticed? When the other fellow acts that way, he is "ill-tempered"; when you do it, it's "nerves." When the other fellow is set in his ways, he's "obstinate"; when you are, it is just "firmness."

When the other fellow doesn't like your friends, he's "prejudiced"; when you don't like his, you are simply showing that you are a good judge of human nature.

When the other fellow tries to treat some one especially well, he is "loody-ing"; when you try the same thing, you are using "tact."

When the other fellow takes time to do things, he is "dead slow"; when you do it, you are "deliberate."

When the other fellow spends a lot, he is a "spendthrift"; when you do you are "generous."

When the other fellow holds too tight to his money, he is "close"; when you do, you are "prudent."

When the other fellow dresses extra well, he's a "dandy"; when you do, it is simply "a duty one owes to society."

When the other fellow runs great risks in business, he is "foolhardy"; when you do, you are a "great financier."

When the other fellow says what he thinks, he is "spitafal"; when you do, you are "frank."—Empire State Sunday School Leader.

MOTOR CAR TRANSPORT CHEAPER THAN BY RAIL

Automobiles Traveled 63 Billions of Miles Last Year at a Cost of $8,000,000,000.

Last year the motor cars of America traveled 63,000,000,000 miles, at a cost of $8,000,000,000, or 3.24 cents a mile per passenger. The present cost of transportation by rail is 3.88 cents a mile, including tax. Motor car transportation is, therefore, cheaper than transportation by rail.

"Is it any wonder that the number of automobiles in America has so vastly increased," asks Walter C. Davis, secretary and sales manager of the Davis Motor Company, "when the motor car in a peculiarly direct and personal way supplies millions of persons with swift, cheap, convenient, reliable and comfortable transportation?"

"We have heard lots of talk recently about the 'saturation point' in motor cars; that peculiar place we are liable to reach when there will be no more motor cars needed. There isn't any saturation point, when the motor car is supplying the cheapest transportation we have. The more motor cars there are, the more cheap transportation. Motor cars are a national economy. Transportation is one thing the American people cannot do without. We have the largest and most complete system of railroads in the world, and we have more motor cars than all the rest of the world put together."

"To supply all the transportation in passenger miles that the American people need is a gigantic task, far beyond the possibilities of the railroad systems to supply. The motor car supplies the lack, and it does it cheaper. "Our national income increased seven times in the nineteen years from 1899 to 1919. The motor car helped increase it. The buying power of the American people and their insatiable demand for more and more transportation put the 'saturation point' in the almost impossible future."

BOOTBLACKS TO BUILD MILLION DOLLAR HOTEL

Penniless Greeks of 15 Years Ago Amass Fortune in Shoe-Shining Parlor.

Gregory Brothers, Uniontown, Pa., bootblacks, have obtained a site and announce they will consider bids for a $1,000,000 hotel by October 1, at which they will close negotiations for the ground located within two blocks of the city's business center.

Fifteen years ago the eldest of the five brothers arrived in Uniontown from Greece penniless and secured a job in a shoe-shining parlor. Two years later the remaining four had been provided with transportation to America, and all five went to work shining shoes in a cubbyhole space which opened in Main street.

Successful realty investments enabled them to purchase the Yough hotel, in Connellsville, a business block in Uniontown and a number of residential sites. The advancing market trebled the value of their holdings. Last week they disposed of a square for $150,000.

The hotel project has been seriously considered by several coal and coke producers, but the Gregory's are the first in the field with an announcement of their plans. The new building will rival Uniontown's skyscraper, the First National Bank building, built in 1901, at a cost of $900,000, and which sold on the auction block at a bank receivers' sale for $720,000 three years ago.

JUDGE FREED LOVING PAIR

Couple, Married 2 Years, Commended for "Rare" Affection.

It is no crime in New Jersey for husband and wife in bathing suits to bill and coo, kiss and hug to their hearts' content while hundreds of persons look on.

Thus ruled Recorder Miles in the North Bergen (N. J.) Police Court, when Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Marquard, Union Hill, were arraigned on a disorderly conduct charge.

"Your honor," spoke Special Officer Malts, who arrested them at Columbia Par. "I saw them do it."

"How long have you been married?" asked the Recorder of the couple.

"Two years."

"Ah, I see," smiled the Court, "continuing your honeymoon, eh? It's very commendable, but you should do that at home instead of in public. It's nothing unusual for a man to be hugging and kissing another man's wife and vice versa. I think it very commendable that both of you showed the genuine affection you did in the park. It is so rare. The case is dismissed."

Senator Trinkle spent $9,433.62 in his campaign and won the nomination for Governor. Mr. Tucker spent only $9,232.37, and lost. However, it is not probable that even the difference of $151.25 accounts for the 25,000 majority.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

FOR MIDSUMMER
Lyons Velvet Hats

—If history is to be believed, women at one time wore straw hats in summer and velvet hats in winter. Woman is a creature of moods and by no means dependent upon the weather man to tell her what to wear.

—In winter she wears hats of straw or lace—in summer, behold, she dons the chapeau of velvet.

—Because it is becoming almost always, and because it seems peculiarly adapted to seaside wear, we excuse the inconsistency of lovely woman's fads, and applaud her in her chic velvet hat though the weather be 100 degrees in the shade.

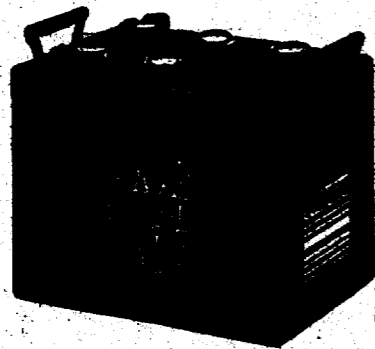

—These new models are in large, medium and small shapes. The color list includes blue, brown, pheasant, cherry, taupe and black.

—The trimmings are of pin ostrich, in fancy effects.

TRUTH AND LIFE

A Sermon by Rev. O. Grey Hutchison, of Dover, Del.

This is one of a series of four sermons on "A Modern Man's Religion," by Rev. O. Grey Hutchison, a former resident of Manassas, now pastor of the First Baptist Church, Dover, Del.

It is not the object of this paper to present a history of religion, or a philosophy of religion, or some particular system of religious dogma or ecclesiastical method; but it is too set forth in direct fashion religion as an experience, as a life—a life to be lived under modern thought and action.

So let us begin with truth and life. To some truth is always a statement to be written or printed so that they can say to people, "Here it is; take it, study it, memorize it; and in the great day of examination thou shalt be saved."

Some consider truth as a tool by which to dig or build, heal or plead, instruct or preach just so it makes financial return. These say, "Here is truth, master the use of it and it will put money into thy purse."

Others consider truth as a beautiful thing to be framed and hung up for admiration. They say, "Here is truth, learn to enjoy it as a man of culture and thou shalt be numbered among the elite."

Here are three ideas given, neither of which is primary; the abstract, the commercial, the decorative.

These three together form the primary office of knowledge, which is to make men alive—very much alive. It is true these three help make life worth living; but they cannot give life.

If your college course makes you as a person destined to live with other persons more thoroughly, abundantly, and usefully alive, it has done its work. This is primary, because the ultimate value of knowledge lies in its power to minister to life.

A wag once said, "When some men talk about what he does not understand to a lot of people who do not understand him, about something that would not make a particle of difference to any of them if they did understand it, that is metaphysics."

But this is a mistaken attitude toward certain brands of philosophy as is proven by the life of that philosopher among thousands, now deceased, H. William James, formerly Professor of Philosophy in Harvard University. He used to say with great emphasis, "There is no difference worth discussing which does not make a difference in conduct"—that is to say life. Toward the close of his life the most of his best strength was devoted to pragmatism which is only a technical term indicating that truth works and finds its main justification in the fact that it does work.

All this applies with especial force to religious truth. For religious truth has come that we may have life and have it more abundantly. Religious truth impels men to action which of necessity lifts them on to a higher plane than they were before.

The last word of religion in the best known and most popular of all the parables, the parable of the Good Samaritan, is, "This do and thou shalt live," or the ultimate value of religious truth lies in its power to minister to life.

The greatest teacher the world has ever known spread his work as a full-page, life-sized illustration of the direct bearing of truth upon life. He began in a humble way in that little insignificant town in the hills of Nazareth, in the synagogue. We next see him in the larger temple in Jerusalem. But this was not large enough to hold him. So next we find him out on the hillside under the open blue of the high vaulted heavens. And because his teaching was called out by the immediate appeal to life we read, "seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain and opened his mouth and taught them." Four-fifths of all his work was done in the open air. Why? Because there is more life out in the free, circulating atmosphere of God's sunlight than there can possibly be in the stale air of the confines of the four walls of a school room.

His teaching was not dogmatic, nor was it philosophical; neither was it historical. But it was pulsating, throbbing with life, life that touched all those multitudes of human beings at some point in their lives and made them feel as if life is really worth while.

The trouble with the Athanasian Creed is that it was framed by dry-as-dust theologians, though excessively learned, cooped up out of touch with life.

If the Westminster Confession had been framed in the presence of real life, throbbing, pulsating life, life represented by little children playing over at one side looking timidly into the faces of their mothers, somewhat frightened at so much theological learning, it is more than probable that that section about the damnation of the non-elect infants would never have crept into it.

Knowledge is power. And for that reason personal religious knowledge lifts a man out of the pettiness and isolation of his own little private efforts into the sense of participation in an august moral enterprise. It lifts him into the sense of fellowship with an Infinite Being in his restless advance toward a superb fulfillment. It enables a religious man to say at every step of the way, "I am not

ARMED MASKED MEN ROB STORE IN BRUNWELL OF GUNS

Judge Frank P. Christian, president of the Imperial Colliery Company, of Lynchburg, which operates mills in Kanawha County, W. Va., gave out the following telegram from M. D. Boulding, superintendent of the company:

"An armed band estimated between fifty and seventy masked men descended upon Brunwell at night, held up the store people, made them open the store, taking all ammunition they had. Also broke into the supply office, taking three high-powered .33 rifles belonging to the company; also held up the assistant electrician, taking from him one Craig, one Savage and 100 shells. They cut off all the lights and cut all telephone communication. The men were strangers, as far as we know. We could recognize nobody."

VIRGINIA APPLE CROP IS 300,000 BARRELS

Virginia's commercial apple crop this fall is not expected to exceed 300,000 barrels, if that, according to expert estimates. This means a reduction of approximately 2,000,000 barrels from last year. The falling off is due entirely to freezing weather late in March and early in April when the trees blossomed thirty days earlier than in normal years. State Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Winchester, whose crop of 40,000 barrels last year was the largest in the State, said his crop this year will be around 6,000 barrels, and even with this greatly reduced crop he probably will lead the State growers in production.

Senator Byrd used more than a carload of oil in smudge pots in his orchards during the freezing period last spring, and to this he attributes this season's prospects.

Lightning From Clear Sky Kills 2 Men, 4 Mules, 1 Dog

While riding one of the mules of the team with which he was hauling timber to the railroad, Luverne Haynie, 19-year-old white boy, was instantly killed by a bolt of lightning which came from an apparition clear sky, in Tallahassee, Ala. Two negroes and a dog, taking refuge from the intense heat of the afternoon under the sheltering branches of oak trees beside the road, were hit by the same bolt, and one negro and the dog were instantly killed, while the other was knocked unconscious. All four of the mules in the team were also killed.

At the time the bolt struck, sun was shining brightly and there was little evidence of a storm brewing. The heat of the lightning, according to those who visited the scene of the tragedy, was so terrific that it welded the links of the trace chains on the harness.

Young Haynie wore a watch and chain at the time he was hit, and the chain was found about thirty feet from where he was killed. The watch had not been found up to a late hour this afternoon.

Congressman H. D. Flood, of the Tenth district, spent several hours Saturday evening in Richmond on his way from Washington to his home in Appomattox county. While there, he called on Secretary J. N. Breneman, of the State Democratic Committee. He begged to be excused from discussing his reported candidacy for the state chairmanship. He predicted a sweeping victory for the state Democratic ticket in the November election and also ventured the prediction that the Republicans were likely to lose out on a national scale before very long if they persisted in pursuing their present policies.

Incidentally, he cited, an incident illustrating that Woodrow Wilson still has a grip on the people, the incident having been related by a Canadian newspaper correspondent, who was recently in Washington looking into certain phases of the tariff situation. Attending a motion picture show, the newspaper man was impressed with the fact that the flashing of President Harding's picture on the screen elicited but little if any interest or applause. A day or two later, he observed a large crowd assembled near a street corner. Wondering what was going on, he sauntered up to investigate and found that the crowd had been attracted by Wilson leaving his law office.—News Leader.

alone; the Father is with me." And each man's beliefs and purposes, his habits of action and his ultimate aspirations should be made adequate to grasp and to retain this splendid form of experience.

PETRIIFIED GIANT FOUND

What Is It, Man, Woman, Image, Idol? Visitors Enquire.

News has just reached Knoxville, Tenn., of a most remarkable find near the little town of Helenwood, in Scott county, Tennessee. A man, or a woman, or an image, an idol, or a petrified Indian chieftain, has been unearthed about three miles east of Helenwood by prospectors, looking for coal. The Keane, Strunk Coal Company had men working in an old cave looking for a vein of coal, and while so engaged they found buried in the earth and petrified, a giant some six feet four inches tall. It had imbedded in its one-time flesh about its neck a beaten chain, which appeared to have been tied in front. Its eyes were about half closed. Its fingers were perfect in every respect, with long, tapering nails. Its hands were folded across its breast. On either side of its head were two horns, each about four inches in length. Its weight was about 450 pounds.

The miners removed it from the earth and carried it to Helenwood, where it was cleaned up and placed on exhibition. It is being visited by thousands of people.

Ireland seems to have as many strings to her harp as England has to her bow.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

WHY IT HAPPENS

When one remembers that in an ordinary column there are 10,000 pieces of type, there are seven wrong positions that a letter may be put in, and there are 70,000 chances to make errors, millions of chances for transpositions, he will not be too critical.

In the short sentence, "To be or not to be," by transposition alone it is possible to make 2,769,022 errors. So you can see the perils that beset a printer.

DELAY OF 5 MINUTES SAVED LIFE OF BYRD

Delay of five minutes in the delivery of a cablegram from Admiral Moffatt, at Washington, to Lieutenant-Commander R. E. Byrd, Jr., in London, in all human probability saved the life of the young American aviator. Had he not missed a train by the same margin of time, Lieutenant-Commander Byrd, in all probability, would have been a passenger on the ill-fated dirigible ZR-2 when it exploded over Hull, England, and plunged 1,000 feet into the Humber river, carrying to their deaths forty-three of its forty-nine passengers.

The foregoing circumstances were communicated to Richard Evelyn Byrd, father of the naval officer. The cablegram from Admiral Moffatt instructed Lieutenant-Commander Byrd to place himself among the officers making the final test and trial flight.

BRENTSVILLE

A series of meetings will begin at Hatcher's Memorial Baptist Church on the evening of September 11.

Mrs. Price and children, of Washington, are visiting Mrs. Price's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Owens.

Miss Minnie Roseberry, of Washington, is visiting Mrs. Kincheloe at her summer home near here. Mrs. Kincheloe expects to return to her home in Washington this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Keys and family, of Independent Hill, visited relatives here Sunday.

The ladies of the Brentsville Kensington entertained their husbands and friends last Thursday afternoon at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Earhart. A large number of guests were present. A short program was rendered and necessary business attended to, after which a bounteous luncheon was served on the lawn. The luncheon consisted of chicken, ham, sandwiches, pickles, salads, pies, cake and ice cream in abundance.

MINNIEVILLE

There will be no services at the Primitive Baptist Church on Sunday, owing to the absence of the pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Baggett, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith, have returned to their home in Richmond.

Mr. A. S. Boatwright and Mr. W. S. Athey, of Manassas, motored to Minnieville and were guests at the home of Mrs. E. J. Alexander on Sunday.

Miss Clara Carter is spending her vacation at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Alexander were week-end guests of Mr. Alexander's mother, Mrs. E. J. Alexander.

Messrs. R. L. and J. N. Templeman, of Stafford, motored to this section last week.

WANTS FUNDS FOR LEE MAUSOLEUM KEEPER

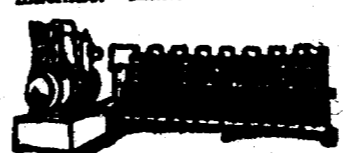

Mrs. C. B. Tate, custodian of the mausoleum of General Robert E. Lee at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., reported that an average of 100 persons a day had visited the last resting place of the South's great chieftain during this summer.

A call has been issued to the Daughters of the Confederacy asking contributions towards the fund for the support of the custodian. Two years ago a fund of $30,000 for the permanent keep of a custodian was started by Mrs. Charles E. Semf, of New York, a native Virginian and a member of the Stonewall Chapter, U. D. C., who gave $3,000.
