Republican Platform

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES FOR STATE OFFICES
TO BE VOTED FOR NOVEMBER 8, 1921.

For Governor:

HENRY W. ANDERSON of Richmond.

Lieutenant Governor:

JOHN H. HASSINGER of Washington County.

Attorney General:

HARRY K. WOLCOTT of Norfolk.

The Republican Party in Virginia, by its delegates in State Convention assembled at Norfolk on July 14, 1921, adopt and proclaim the following platform of principles and policies:

PUBLIC HEALTH AND SANITATION

The disclosure by the operation of the draft laws in the world war that a large percentage of the young men of Virginia were physically defective was a shocking demonstration of the extent to which those in control of this State have neglected the essential interests of the people. The existence and efficiency of popular government depends upon the sound thought and sound morals of its people. Sound thought and sound morals cannot spring from unsound bodies.

We favor adequate and liberal provision for the Public Health Service, to the end that proper attention may be given to mothers and children at child-birth; that there may be proper supervision of the health of children in the public schools; that modern and adequate system of sanitation and hygiene may be established and maintained for the prevention and elimination of disease throughout the State, and especially among the poor in congested districts; that proper regulations be made for improvement of housing conditions under the supervision of the Health Department; and that this State shall discharge fully the first duty of any enlightened government to look after the health and living condition of the people. While we welcome the legitimate aid of the Federal Government in these matters, we believe that this is a primary duty of the State which should be discharged by the State.

CHILD WELFARE AND MOTHERS' RELIEF

We believe that the home is the foundation of all civilization, and the care of a mother the greatest factor in the development of character, which is the basis of citizenship. We favor a constructive program of child welfare and a proper system of State pensions for mothers who are morally and otherwise qualified to rear young children, but are deprived by misfortune of support, and who would be compelled either to work for the support of children under sixteen years of age, or to send them to a public institution. Such a system should be properly safeguarded against abuse.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Under the present Constitution and laws of Virginia the people have no part in, or direct control over, the schools for the education of their own children, or the expenditure of school funds. The two thousand school officials, exclusive of teachers, may be an effective force for the maintenance of the Democratic office-holding control, but as a school organization it is necessarily inefficient, results in shameful waste of school funds, and is a public disgrace.

We believe that the school administration should be organized on a business, not political, basis; that the people have a right to select their school trustees, to control the expenditure of their own taxes and the education of their own children.

We favor the complete reorganization of our school system in accord with these principles. We specifically favor the abolition of the present cumbersome State Board and the substitution of a smaller board appointed by the Governor and ratified by the Senate; the appointment by this board of a State Superintendent selected solely for fitness, to be purely an administrative officer; the division superintendents to be appointed by the State Superintendent from lists of nominees furnished by the local boards of trustees; the cities and counties to be made the units of local administration, the number of school trustees to be reduced and these to be elected by the people.

We favor an adequate and equitable compulsory education law to wipe the stain of illiteracy from this State.

We believe that public schools should be devoted to, and perfected in the education and training of children for the essentials of practical and effective citizenship; that the teaching of "fads and fancies" is not the function of public schools, and should be given elsewhere at the cost of those who desire and are willing to pay for them.

We believe that, if reorganized along the lines indicated, proper school facilities can be provided for all the children of this State and proper compensation paid to teachers for an adequate and effective school system, without increase in the taxes of the overburdened people of Virginia. Until this is done, more taxes simply means more waste.

COMMUNITY ORGANIZATION

The abolition of the monthly courts has deprived the people of the country of their only meeting place for the development of community life, and has resulted in deterioration of the opportunities and qualities of citizenship.

We believe that the schools should be made the centers of community life, where frequent meetings should be had and organizations formed under the auspices of various departments of the State Government for discussion of every phase of country life and training in all elements of citizenship. We favor special provision in the State budget for this work.

PUBLIC ROADS

The Constitution of 1902 by prohibiting the use of the credit of the State for public improvements, and prohibiting the assessment of any part of the cost of permanent highways against abutting lands peculiarly benefited therefrom, completely tied the hands of the people of Virginia and made difficult any comprehensive plan for highway improvement in the cities or country during the period of low interest rates and low construction costs. We condemn the utter failure of the Democratic party in control of the government to remedy this condition during that period, leaving the cities and highways of this State in a condition which constitutes a serious obstacle to its development and is a source of public reproach.

We favor a vigorous and comprehensive policy of highway improvement; but we believe that a complete revision of our highway system is necessary to put it on a basis of business organization and administration which would be applied in a private enterprise of similar character and result in the economical and effective expenditure of public funds.

We oppose the proposed general issue of State bonds for highway improvement without definite plans or estimates for the application of the proceeds, at a time when there is such a shortage of capital that it cannot be secured for productive industry, when interest rates are abnormally high and construction costs excessive. We believe that under present conditions in this State such a general issue of bonds would only result in a fund for political "log-rolling," and produce a public scandal.

AGRICULTURE

Virginia is an Agricultural State, and its prosperity is dependent upon the success of that industry, yet no branch of our economic life has been so neglected by those in control of the State Government. Of a total expenditure of over $18,000,000 by the State Government last year, only $165,000 was expended in aid of agriculture and this was derived largely from special licenses and fees which were paid by the farmers in the end.

We favor the enlargement of the Department of Agriculture; the establishment by the State of an adequate and complete research department for testing soils, fertilizers, seeds and agricultural products and developing profitable use for the by-products of the farming industry; the application and distribution of this information through widely distributed experiment stations, the schools and other state agencies; the maintenance of suitable experiment stations attached to all rural high schools for practical instruction in modern agriculture; the amendment of our interest laws so that farmers may use their credit to obtain capital in competition with other industry and other sections; the development of a system of farm credits under the Agricultural Department through which farmers may obtain money at reasonable rates on their farms to increase production and improvement of the development of an adequate system of co-operative storage and marketing through which farm products may be concentrated at least on favorable markets; the application to the farming industry of those modern and scientific methods and principles which have been found successful in other countries and states and in other lines of industry. We believe that every dollar spent in the intelligent development of agriculture will produce many dollars in increased wealth of the whole people and improvement of living conditions. We favor full co-operation with the agencies of the Federal Government, but the development of agriculture is primarily a duty of the State which should be discharged by the State.

The More Annoying and Common Motor Troubles are Avoidable

If your motor overheats frequently, misses, gives off vile-smelling exhaust fumes, requires frequent carburetor adjustments, carbonizes quickly at valve seats and spark plugs, it is probable that impure gasoline is the cause.

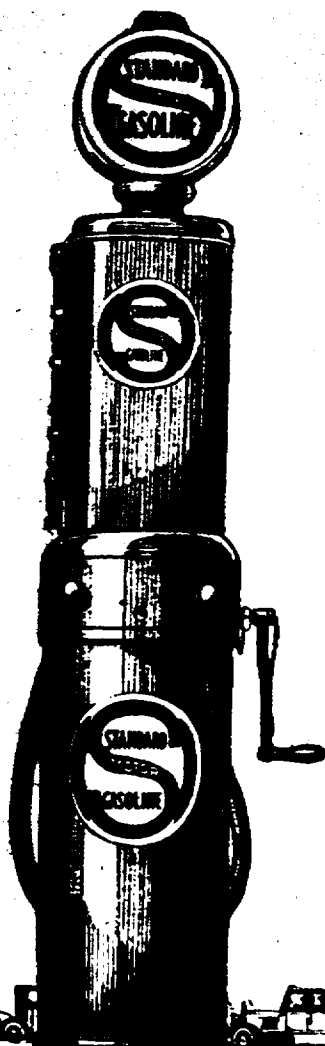

Have you ever really considered the reason for using a certain type of gasoline in your motor—or do you simply go to a dealer and ask for "Gas"?

The improved "Standard" Motor Gasoline has certain definite advantages that make it the superior of any other. These improvements were made possible principally by the long experience of our refining experts and our access to practically every needed source and grade of crude petroleum.

It is for these reasons that we are able to produce consistently a well-balanced gasoline—gasoline that is not lacking in any essential factor. It insures a maximum of motor efficiency, cleanliness of combustion, smooth, strong pulling power and long mileage, because it is the well-balanced, all-round fuel.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline is the best you can buy—and it costs no more. Now obtainable wherever you motor.

EXTRAVAGANCE AND STAGNATION

Thousands of men and women voters in Virginia realize that Virginia has stood stock still while other smaller and less wealthy States progressed and even took leadership. This is true notwithstanding the fact that the army of officeholders in Virginia has steadily increased and the tax revenues have increased from $8,000,000 in 1900 to more than $20,000,000 in 1921.

Since 1888 the Democratic party has controlled and administered Virginia's affairs. Since 1898 the Democratic party has spent more than $177,000,000 of taxpayers' money. Ask yourself, as a taxpayer, what you have to show for the expenditure of that one hundred and seventy-seven million dollars.

Virginia ranks forty-first in educational facilities for her children. In other words, the children of men and women in forty other States have a better chance to get a good education and equip themselves for the battle of life. Virginia's roads are classed among the worst in America—Senator Trinkle says "The road taxes the people of Virginia pay are really 'mud taxes,' meaning that you get deep mud instead of good roads for your money. Virginia produces just about one-half as much wheat or corn to the acre as Connecticut or Vermont raise on an acre, notwithstanding the fact that neither of these last named States has the salutiferous climate, the fertile soil or the equitableness of rainfall with which Virginia is blessed. The army of officeholders in Virginia is just about one-half the total vote usually cast in an election for governor in this State. Within an incredibly few years the per capita tax rate in Virginia has increased from $7 to $31.

These are some of the "benefits" you have derived from thirty years of Democratic, one-party domination in Virginia, and the expenditure of one hundred and seventy-seven million dollars. This year, as in previous campaigns for governor, you will be promised a change by the Democratic party. You will be promised a reduction in taxes, good roads, better schools, etc., but if you are to judge the future by the past—and the past performances of the Democratic party furnish you with the best guide in this matter—you cannot expect anything better than you have gotten during the past thirty years.

"The apologists for the Democratic party suggest that needed reforms may be accomplished within that party," says Col. Henry W. Anderson, Republican candidate for governor who is sweeping the State with his convincing arguments concerning thirty years of Democratic misrule. "Naturally they suggest anything that will continue the organization in power. Since that party presents no platform we are unable to say what, if anything it proposes. Those in control of the Democratic organization have complete control over the State and local governments, with an unrestricted use of the taxing power. They have complete control over the election machinery and can manipulate it to accomplish their will. They have a people trained through generations to meek submission to 'party loyalty' and slavery to a party name."

"It is obvious to any one that any substantial reform through this organization is impossible, however good its intentions. Reform requires independence of thought and action; courage to contend with entrenched power. None of these are possible with the Democratic party as now organized and controlled. The political machine which dominates that party, demanding obedience, permits no independence of deviation from its orders."—Advertisement.

STATE NEWS NOTES

Those Suffolk people who have been getting a little "corn" from the neighborhood of Kilby have been drinking a concoction of sugar, meal, water and dead pig, says a dispatch from Suffolk. Officers tracing a thin curl of smoke over the edge of a swamp found a thirty-gallon still made of a big galvanized garbage can. One gallon of "corn" was all ready. A barrel of "mash" was found buried in the ground, and the men could not get it to destroy it. So they dipped out the "mash" from which liquor had been distilled, and in the bottom of the barrel was a dead pig weighing about thirty pounds. The dead pig had been there some time.

General W. P. Nye, commanding the Second Brigade, Virginia division, has announced the following sponsors and maids for his staff for the reunion of the United Confederate Veterans at Chattanooga, Tenn., October 25-27: Chattanooga, Tenn., October 25-27: Mrs. S. S. Simmerman, Wytheville, sponsor; Mrs. W. S. Trimble and Mrs. Clifton Huff, Wytheville, matrons of honor; Mrs. Robert Sayers, Wytheville, chaperon; Miss Ruth Gleaves, Cripple Creek; Miss Sydney Simmerman, Max Meadows, and Miss Kate Miller, Wytheville, maids of honor. Brigadier-General W. A. Compton, Port Royal, commanding the Third Brigade, has made the following appointments: Miss Annie Lee Skinner, Warrenton, sponsor; Miss Victoria Gray and Miss Edith Gray, Warrenton, maids of honor.

A concrete illustration of "before and after" in the clothing line was given the other day by a Winchester merchant whose window contained on one side a suit of clothes marked "$60 in 1920" and on the other "what $60 now buys," the list embracing a suit, shoes, tie collar, underwear, pajamas, gloves, cuff buttons, cap, hat, handkerchief, garters, belt and belt buckle. "Beef that anyone can chew" is advertised by a cash butcher, who admits people are tired of paying war-time prices and that he has returned to a peace-time basis, knowing that "the people are hungry for some meat they can eat." The best beef steak is sold at 22 cents and boiling and roasting beef from 15 to 18 cents, while veal is only a few cents higher than beef. Pork is quoted at the same range.

Five members of the family of Robert E. Andrews, a Charlottesville merchant, narrowly escaped death from carbon monoxide poisoning a few days ago. Mrs. Andrews and her two children, her mother, Mrs. W. W. LeTeller, and sister, Miss Ida B. LeTeller, were overcome by the deadly fumes which leaked from an instantaneous gas heater in the kitchen. Their little son, Bobbie, was first noticed to be affected with a vomiting spell. Mrs. Andrews, almost asphyxiated herself, phoned for a doctor, who arrived in time to see one after another of the family fall unconscious on the floor. The husband soon arrived with a second physician and both doctors came near collapsing before the cause of the trouble could be ascertained. With the assistance of neighbors the stricken members of the family were born unconscious into the open air and placed on blankets in the yard, where they were gradually restored to consciousness. Mrs. LeTeller did not recover for four hours and is still suffering from her experience.

Friends at Leesburg have recently had news of Mrs. Latina Gaskins, of Grifton, N. C., who is 101 years of age. Although Mrs. Gaskins has been without teeth for the last twenty years, nature has come to her assistance in her second youth and she is cutting a new set, four already having come through, and many others have made a visible impression on her gums. Mrs. Gaskins is in perfect health and is able to perform her household duties unassisted. She has been married four times, her present husband being 90 years of age.

Charles R. Sibert and Charles H. Hamman, Shenandoah county residents, were shot and seriously wounded at a "belling" party given to a pair of newlyweds at Mt. Olive a few days ago. A host of friends, both young and old, were celebrating the homecoming of Boyd Hamman and his bride, bells, tin pans and other instruments of noise being actively engaged—and guns. It is evident that the same ball, a .38 calibre steel bullet, struck both men, who were standing several yards apart. It entered Mr. Hamman's right arm above the elbow, coming out below the elbow, and then entered Mr. Sibert's abdomen, coming out above the hip. Mr. Sibert, whose injuries were at first considered exceedingly serious and perhaps fatal, is fifty-nine years old. "There was no liquor or the effects of booze on display and there was none of the rough variety of antics, such as mule riding, etc.," according to the Woodstock Times. Who did the shooting is still a puzzle. Only one member of the party, said to be a good friend of the wounded men, has been brave enough to acknowledge that he fired a gun during the evening.

Joseph L. Crupper, chairman of the republican state committee, has decided to take the position of collector of customs for the Virginia district, with headquarters at Norfolk. This announcement is based on a very reliable report, says a Norfolk dispatch, that Mr. Crupper has notified administration heads at Washington that he will accept appointment to the office, which becomes vacant when Norman R. Hamilton's term expires next May. Mr. Hamilton will probably be permitted to serve out his term.

Thieves at Lynchburg broke into the grocery store of N. B. Garner and carried off a safe weighing 300 pounds, which was found broken open a half mile distant on the Southern railway. The safe was moved away in a wheelbarrow and was opened with tools stolen from a railroad section force house, broken open for the purpose.

J. E. Carroll and J. S. Fenton, of Hampton Roads, made three unsuccessful attempts this season to catch a bear, but would not give up. They made their fourth attempt Friday afternoon, and they got him. He was a 150-pounder, and he showed considerable fight before he was captured. He was given a triple dose of lead before he actually lay down. The most trying part of the adventure, once the bear was caught, was lugging him back to town. Later on he will be an automobile robe.

Two small children of Mrs. George Bray miraculously escaped death in a runaway automobile at Danville. The children were playing in Walter Brocmeff's car, parked on a steep hill, when one of them released the brakes and the automobile ran away. Increasing its speed down the hill the car tore through a fence and took a sheer drop of thirty feet to a railway track, straddling the rails. The children were thrown out but neither was hurt. The car was demolished.

George Rogers Clark, conqueror of the northwest of Revolutionary days, and brother of William Clark, the colleague of Meriwether Lewis in the Lewis and Clark expedition in exploring the far northwest, is to be honored in his native county of Albemarle by a memorial in bronze presenting him on horseback as the central figure of a group which will soon be placed in a park near the entrance to the campus of the University of Virginia.

Joseph Samuel Langford, one of the oldest living Confederate soldiers, celebrated his 102nd birthday anniversary the other day with a walk about a mile and a half to Petersburg to be entertained by members of the Daughters of the Confederacy. He took his next at a barber shop before the entertainment, "to get fixed up for the girls," as he said. Mr. Langford, who lives with his daughter in Chesterfield county, has fifteen grandchildren and forty-five great-grandchildren. At forty-one he joined the Confederate army, and he delights in telling his experiences as a Confederate spy. He is active and goes about unaided.

CLIFTON

Rev. T. H. MacLeod preached as usual in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning, his text being, "Ye are the light: let your light shine." The Missionary Society met in the afternoon, with Mrs. J. Brown as leader. Mrs. Brown gave some selected facts on the subject of Alaska and India. Mrs. Richards gave some light on the Alaskan subject.

The secretary of literature read a letter from Miss Gillespie, who is on the mission field in Tabriz, Urumia. Miss Elizabeth Detwiler led the young people's meeting at night. Rev. Dr. Fristoe preached to the Baptist congregation Sunday evening. A party of autoists spent the weekend at Front Royal.

Mrs. C. V. Mathers is spending her vacation with her parents in Fluvanna. Miss Margaret Detwiler is also taking her vacation and with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Detwiler, is spending a week in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Rittenhouse, of Norristown, Pa., are spending the week-end with relatives here. Two Clifton families—the Saubers and Malones—left for the city last week.

Miss Miriam Bockley and Mr. Irvin Quigg, of Washington, spent the week-end at their respective homes here. There has been some frost. A few things have been killed and others are growing.

Mr. Walter Allen Richards spent the week-end with his parents here. Mr. Richards is looking well and is better than he has been since receiving his wound in the Argonne.

LOOKING TOWARD NOVEMBER

With less than four weeks separating us from the quadrennial state election, Virginia democrats have the all-important duty of making up their minds to go to the polls and to use their widest influence toward polling a full democratic vote. Actual figures of past elections mark us for the slackers that we are, and there is no better time than the present to redeem ourselves.

Our republican friends, encouraged with recollections of a year ago, are making an active fight. They are not fighting for actual victory, in the opinion of thoughtful democrats, but for the moral advantage to be gained from showing a strong hand in the contest. While there have been found no democrats who will admit that republican victory in Virginia is even remotely possible, there are loyal party followers who acknowledge that in the face of the lethargy which figures of past elections show the republicans would be able to flaunt surprising strength.

It is unfortunate that Virginia democrats have allowed the ballot privilege to go unused so many times, regarding the primary as the real election. "I voted for the best man in the primary, and the republicans can't possibly defeat him," is certainly not a legitimate excuse for absence from the polls on election day. "Caught napping" is sometimes the costly sequel.

The present republican organization, which apparently harbors the ambitious hope of commanding Virginia as a gateway to the solid south, is entirely too well equipped and too active to be in keeping with our idea of republican strength in Virginia. This is our flattering opinion of them which they may delight to hear. And yet if their activity is to arouse Virginia democracy to her full strength, it will have served our ends more fully than their own.

SCHOOL INSPECTION

The need of medical inspection in the public schools is aptly demonstrated by the reports of the physical examinations conducted by Manassas teachers under the new state ruling, reports of which appeared in The Journal of last Friday and again today. Defective teeth and diseased tonsils, as usual, lead the list of imperfections, 164 cases of the former being recorded among the 333 children of the graded school and 42 out of the 120 high school students examined.

Several decided cases of under weight were found among high school pupils and 127 of the 133 younger children were listed in this division; 126 were found to have eye trouble and 14 with ear defects. Five cases of defective hearing were reported at the high school, a higher percentage than among the younger children, and there were 16 cases of eye defects, a percentage considerably lower than that of the children of the grades. Fifty cases of diseased tonsils were found at the high school. Throat examinations have not been made at the grades.

While few teachers up to this time have been specially trained to give such examinations, they are provided with clear instructions as to procedure and may be counted upon to discover at least the defects that most demand attention. The examination, of course, is neither a correction nor a cure, but surely all parents who through this means are advised of their children's needs will make every effort to provide the necessary corrective treatment. At all events the examination is a step forward for Virginia in public health education and gratifying results are to be expected.

FIRES DUE TO CARELESSNESS

"Fire Prevention Week" is more than half passed and it is certain that some good has been done in bringing the people to a serious study of the ways and means for saving property and lives from flames, but, so far as Richmond is concerned, it is to be doubted if the cause of three-fourths of the conflagrations in Richmond has received the thoughtful, even prayerful, consideration it should receive.

Mayor Ainslie and the Fire Department officials are of the opinion that 90 per cent of the losses by fire in this city within the last nine months were due solely to carelessness. There were within the city limits in that time 773 fires, great and small, which entailed the loss of five lives and a property loss of near $350,000 and the authorities tell us that carelessness was responsible for the greater part of all the property loss and damage the people suffered.

This cause cannot be removed in a day or a week. Removal can come about only by daily application of the remedy all the year around, and to that every day should be fire prevention day.

Richmond spends considerably more than a half million dollars annually on the maintenance of its

Fire Department, but if it should expend thrice that amount it could not prevent carelessness. That is a matter which is, or should be, the business of every individual, and is a subject to be considered and a duty to be performed every day in the year.—Times-Dispatch.

MISSIONARY WORK AT SCHOOL

"If children could be kept from putting to their lips or into their mouths anything except food or tooth brush, diphtheria would have very little effect, and the cases would be very few," in the opinion of Dr. Ennion G. Williams, state health commissioner, who has issued an appeal to Virginia teachers to insist upon observance of the state board's health rules in the schools.

Health education is real missionary work and the teacher is the only outside agency capable of performing it. Now is the important time for her to get busy, at the close of a hot, dry season which has permitted the development of a host of germs.

Another message from Dr. Williams not to be overlooked concerns the health board's offer to furnish antitoxin to county doctors remote from sources of supply, payment to be deferred until the antitoxin has been used. The wonderful power of antitoxin to prevent a fatal termination of the disease makes it imperative for the country doctor to be supplied.

GOOD ROADS

Always ready to rejoice over Prince William progress in any line, The Journal is particularly glad to give space in this issue to a letter from Mr. H. O. Russell, of Cherry Hill, which gives us some idea of what our friends in lower Prince William are doing for road improvement.

Manassas citizens will be glad to have the news of the purchase of machinery for use on the streets of the town, as mentioned in the council proceedings of Monday. The scraper and maintainer purchased have already done good work on the streets, having been used for demonstration purposes before the contract was made.

Representative Upshaw, defender of the Ku Klux now under Congressional investigation, has suggested that the investigation be general, taking in all secret orders. Have we really enough solons beyond the pale to hold an unbiased investigation? Please spare us, Mr. Upshaw, the embarrassment of hearing the pot-call the kettle black.

SUCCESS

'Tis the coward who quits to misfortune,
'Tis the weakling who changes each day;
'Tis the fool who wins half the battle
Then throws his chances away.

There is little in life but labor,
And tomorrow may find that a dream;
Success is the bride of endeavor,
And luck but a meteor's gleam.

The time to succeed is when others,
Discouraged, show signs of tire;
The battle is fought on the home stretch
And won twixt the flag and the wire.

I'd rather have my little country place with the Cow, the Calf, the Horse, the Pigs, the Chickens, the River with its wonderful changes and its fishing and boating and swimming; the skies with their marvelous movies of incomparable blend; the mid-moon nights with their clouds so full of pictures and the soft sighing of breezes that lull weary nerves to Rest; the cautious-making toil in the woods with ax and saw . . . yes, these and the mortgage on top of them, than all the money in all the banks in all the world, without them!

But giminy, wouldn't it be great if a fellow could have BOTH?—Times-Dispatch.

STUNNING RETORT

When the woman motorist was called upon to stop, she asked, indignantly, "What do you want with me?"
"You are traveling at forty miles an hour," answered the police officer.

"Forty miles an hour? Why, I haven't been out an hour," said the woman.
"Go ahead," said the officer. "That's a new one on me."—Exchange.

JUST MADE OVER

After Mr. Brown had raked his yard he took the accumulated rubbish into the street to burn. A number of neighbors' children came flocking about the bonfire, among them a little girl whom Mr. Brown did not remember having seen before. Wishing, with his usual kindness, to make the stranger feel at ease, he beamed upon her and said, heartily:

"Hello! Isn't this a new face?"
A deep red suffused her freckles. "No," she stammered, "it aint new. It's just been washed."—Harper's Magazine.

FOR MIDSUMMER
Lyons Velvet Hats

—If history is to be believed, women at one time wore straw hats in summer and velvet hats in winter. Woman is a creature of moods and by no means dependent upon the weather man to tell her what to wear.

—In winter she wears hats of straw or lace—in summer, behold, she dons the chapeau of velvet.

—Because it is becoming almost always, and because it seems peculiarly adapted to seaside wear, we excuse the inconsistency of lovely woman's fads, and applaud her in her chic velvet hat though the weather be 100 degrees in the shade.

—These new models are in large, medium and small shapes. The color list includes blue, brown, pheasant, cherry, taupe and black.
—The trimmings are of pin ostrich, in fancy effects.

He Tried SUNOCO Oil

And this is what he said:

"That SUNOCO OIL I got from you proved to be fine; especially for the Haynes. It has worked better than it ever has since I bought it. I have been trying to buy some more of the oil since my return, but no one seems to handle it out here. I am writing to the factory today to have them send me some. Tell Ludd (I think that is the name of the fellow that works there with you all the time) that all I have to do with the Haynes is give it lots of Sunoco oil and gasoline and drive it like Sam Hill."

The writer is Mr. J. B. Gibson, who recently left here in his Haynes for Webb City, Mo.

What Mr. Gibson thinks is the opinion of many other SUNOCO users. Have you tried it on your car?

How you, too, can cut down on your coal this year

Over a million families will by using the Perfection

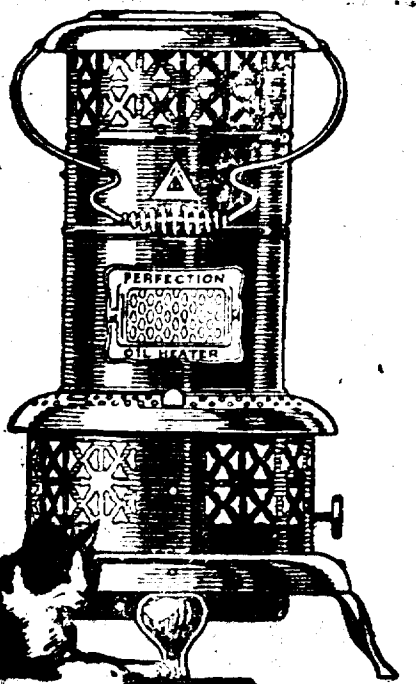

Perfection Oil Heaters will be more economical than ever this year—Aladdin Security Oil costs but a trifle more than half what it did a year ago.

It's wasteful to "rush" your heater to make two or three rooms comfortable. The economical way is to warm the house all over with your coal heater and then keep those rooms you use most comfortable and cozy with the additional heat of a Perfection.

The Perfection Oil Heater is simplicity itself—no trouble to take care of it—and it burns for about 10 hours on a single gallon of kerosene. Most hardware, housefurnishing and department stores sell Perfection Oil Heaters—blue or black, with nicked trimmings if you like.

MRS. HOUSEWIFE

Did you ever stop to think that when you buy your meat from SAUNDERS you are not just BUYING MEAT?

SAUNDERS' SPECIALIZED SANITARY SERVICE gives us another valuable product which we sell with every order ABSOLUTELY FREE. This valuable product offered FREE is PROTECTION.

That meat is highly sensitive to germ infection, and that sometimes the most dangerous contamination is not easily detected, every intelligent housewife knows.

No housewife is prepared to judge entirely for herself that the meat she buys for the nourishment of her family has been slaughtered in a 100 per cent sanitary slaughter house and has been cared for in a 100 per cent sanitary way from the time that it leaves the slaughter house to the time that it reaches her home.

THIS IS SOMETHING SHE EXPECTS OF HER MEAT MAN. She wants to be sure that he knows his business, that he attends to it in a 100 per cent sanitary way, providing for her table nothing less than 100 per cent sanitary meat.

For the health of her family this is to her a priceless guarantee.

And so, Mrs. Housewife, when you go to market, we shall ask you to remember that SAUNDERS' has studied the business twenty years. Meats have been our one commodity, and our time has not been sacrificed to a study of countless products which would divide or minimize efficiency and thoroughness in our chosen line. Our knowledge and experience are at your disposal—and you are not asked to Pay More.

There are no cheap prices to advertise—we do not sell cheap meats. We cannot reduce the price of old wares and advertise a bargain. Our stock is practically new every day. You do not want old meats. When you market for your family you want strictly fresh, pure, sanitary meat. We have it. Think it over and let us serve you.
