Walter Wells, eldest son of John Wells, had a painful and serious accident Monday. He was working with his father and brother on their farm, south of the railroad, when their dog ran a ground-hog into a den. Walter filling up the hole with water, stuck his gun into the water and fired. He was struck in the face with water and gravel with great force. His father brought him to the station, hoping to make No. 10 to take him to an eye specialist in Washington; missing the train, he took him to Dr. Ferguson for an examination. The doctor stated that he thought the sight of one eye was entirely gone and that probably the other was seriously affected. He was then hurried to the city by Winfield Clinton and the specialist, after removing gravel and dirt from the eyes, pronounced the sight of one eye all right and a chance of saving the other. Mr. Clinton brought him back to his home, but the specialist wants him brought in again Thursday for treatment.

Rev. T. H. MacLeod preached Sunday morning from the text "The Lamb Slain from the Foundation of the World." Rev. 13:8. The choir sang "Come Home" as an offertory with Irwin Quigg at the organ. TO PRODUCE day in and day out the clean-burning, full-powered "Standard" Motor Gasoline, so fewer than five important tests are employed. Nothing is taken for granted—nothing left to luck.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline has to pass five stiff examinations. These are:

Chemical laboratory tests on the gasoline itself, to determine volatility, purity, stability, explosion points, etc.

Physical laboratory tests in one-cylinder engines, to determine character of ignition, rate of combustion, rate of pressure development, limits of performance, etc.

Dynamometer tests in standard makes of engines, to determine power developed, mileage per gallon, etc. Runs equivalent to a year's service give accurate data on carbon formation, valve pitting, spark plug fouling, etc.

Road tests in representative cars and trucks, which check the accuracy of former findings, and determine with greater accuracy the factors of acceleration, flexibility, range of carburetor adjustment, etc.

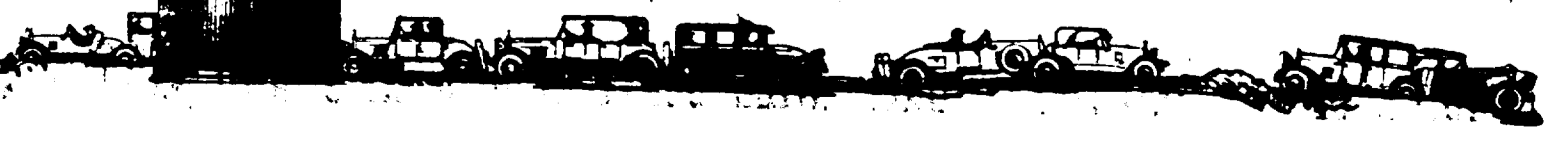

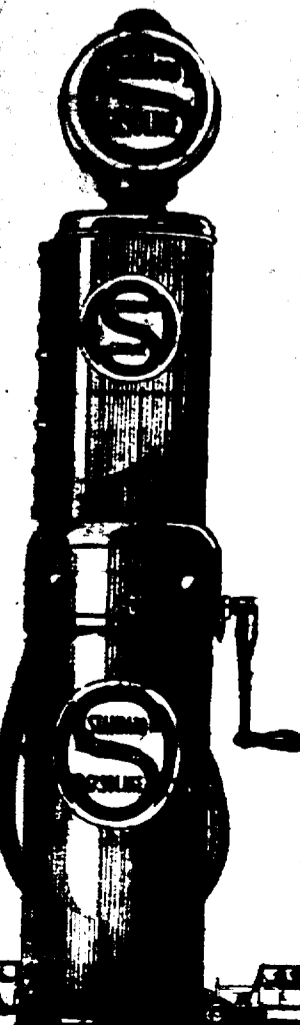

Service tests under average conditions. Company garages are maintained, each containing from 30 to 200 cars, trucks and tractors, comprising every known type of motor-driven equipment. The drivers are both amateurs and professionals—a fair general average for this work. These tests determine the all-around performance of the gasoline in the hands of the user.

"Anybody's Gas" may be good now and then. "Standard" Motor Gasoline has to be right all the time. That is what the public expects of it.

A QUESTION OF POLICY

The public announcement made by the railroad labor board of its intention to continue consideration of the dispute over rules and working conditions and not to take up demands for further wage reductions at this time is merely a statement of the board's policy. The board admits it can not "shut the door in the face of either carriers or employers," but it may "fix the order in which it will take up and consider the numerous matters submitted to it."

Consequently nothing can prevent the railroads from filing at any time a petition for further decreases in wages and the board must accept the petition and grant a hearing. But the cases so filed need not necessarily be heard in the order in which they are docketed. On the contrary, the board as a general proposition may hear and decide them as they see fit.

There is in the transportation act, however, a proviso which under certain conditions would make it imperative for the labor board to give precedence to wage questions. It is provided that the board, upon its own motion, "if it is of the opinion that the dispute is likely substantially to interrupt commerce, shall receive for hearing, and as soon as practicable and with due diligence decide, all disputes with respect to the wages or salaries of employes or subordinate officials of carriers not decided as provided in section 301." Thus it will be seen that it is mandatory upon the board to receive a petition regarding wages whenever it is presented by the railroads; also, that it is mandatory, whenever the dispute "is likely substantially to interrupt commerce," upon the board to decide the issue "as soon as practicable and with due diligence." Therefore if the dispute over rules and working conditions was not regarded as threatening a strike and the wage controversy did contain a strike threat, it clearly would be the duty of the board to give precedence to the wage question.

The intent of this whole title of the act is to "avoid any interruption to the operation of any carrier growing out of any dispute between the carrier and the employes or subordinate officials thereof," and that being the case the board must give consideration first to those matters which might cause such interruption. Thus while the board may in a general way frame its policy and state its intention of postponing action upon a prospective complaint or dispute, yet its course may be largely dictated by emergencies.—Washington Post.

COUNTRY LIFE AND THE UNEMPLOYED

A good many country people, reading in the big city papers of throngs of unemployed that sleep in parks and show up in the bread lines, wonder why these jobless folks do not go out into country towns. There are still farmers in many sections of the country who are unable to get reliable help. Frequently men will work for them for a day or two and then get tired with the muscular effort and quietly slip out of sight. Why do they not stay in the country instead of herding into the cities? This is a question frequently asked.

While the majority of these jobless people really want to work, there are many who would not take a job involving hard effort if it were offered them. Some have physical or mental defects and some have ruined their health by dissipation.

Many industrious workers who are earnestly seeking a real job, make a mistake when they resort to the big cities without any definite idea what they will do when they get there. They fall in with a great crowd of ne'er do wells, and find many ahead of them whenever they look for a vacancy. If they can't find jobs in their home towns, or in other places where the same trades are practiced, they would usually do well to strike back in the country in their own neighborhood. Sooner or later a willing and able bodied worker can make a living off the land.

If he can't find some farmer who can hire him, he can at least find some one who will rent him a little land and help him begin raising vegetables and poultry and a pig or two. A man can get an independent start in that way with less capital than in any other way on earth.

If he shows moderate intelligence and a willingness to work he will get chances to sell either his labor or his surplus products. There is little sense in people sleeping in parks, when the abundant resources of this country invite them to come out and live from the soil.—Culpeper Exponent.

You can fool all the people all the time, but some of the people fooled all of Congress one time when they said the country wanted their kind of prohibition.—Exchange.

THE PRESENT IS A MOST UNPROFITABLE TIME FOR A RAILROAD STRIKE

The whole country is shuddering at the thought of a possible railroad strike that will tie up practically all railroad lines and thus cripple the main transportation facilities of the country. Coming at this time when business is just at the recuperating stage, when there are yet millions of workmen out of employment, and when everything and everybody is striving to get back on a normal basis, probably no time could be chosen for a railroad tie-up that would seriously and adversely affect more citizens.

Of course there are two sides to the strike question as there are to all such issues. But it is extremely doubtful if the general public will weigh the matter very carefully, and will therefore likely place the blame for the general discomfort on those who precipitate the crisis.

At the present time the public is not in the frame of mind to sanction anything that smacks of a display of force. The whole world is hopeful that wars can be outlawed, by removing the means of force and by setting up courts that can settle even international questions peacefully. How much more then does the public expect that a question of this sort be settled without the resort to force!

The railroad brotherhoods may feel stronger today than ever before but they must not lose sight of the fact that they can never be stronger than the will of public opinion. It would undoubtedly be to their advantage to respect public opinion at this time, and not allow the public confidence to drift into the camp of the railroad operatives. In years past the brotherhoods have rendered a valued and just service to the workingmen of America; they have helped to elevate the American standard of living; and they have undoubtedly grown in public favor. It is our idea that they should now tread lightly upon public confidence, for the present is certainly a most unpropitious time to make a display of might, even though all things being considered they may be in the right.—Woodstock Times.

THE UNKNOWN WARRIOR

At Washington on Armistice day Great Britain will bestow upon our unknown soldier, emblem of all our soldier and sailor dead, the noblest prize that Great Britain can give for valor in her service—the Victoria cross.

Never given before to an American, the most coveted of British laurels, this is the strongest and most significant expression that Great Britain could make of her gratitude for American co-operation in the war and of her good will to America. Each country has done its utmost to honor the unknown soldier of the other. At the moment when the greatest and most lasting cause of misunderstanding and irritation between Great Britain and the United States seems about to be removed, this symbolism of the substantial sympathy and good feeling that exist between the two countries is specially grateful and gracious.—New York Times.

LAUGH AND LIVE

PICKED OUT WRONG COLLEGE

Mrs. McIntyre was calling upon Mrs. Cassidy, whose husband was in affluent circumstances and whose daughter had, therefore, been sent away to college. "By the way," said Mrs. McIntyre, when the two had been gossiping for awhile, "where is Clara? I haven't seen her for an age." "Clara is at college," proudly responded the fond mother, and then added: "And I am so worried about her. I haven't had a letter from her for nearly two weeks." "There is where you made a mistake," was the prompt rejoinder of Mrs. McIntyre. "Instead of letting her go to college, why didn't you send her to one of those correspondence schools?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

DIFFERENT AT HOME

"See that fellow over in the corner? He's a famous expert. He knows all about business. He invented the budget system, triplicate record system, fractional adding machine, two kinds of double-entry and a Memory Chart." "So?" "What's he worried about, biting his nails?" "Oh, he 'nd his wife just had a scrap because he got mixed up and paid 2 cents too much for a pound o' chops, when she told him to bring steak, and then forgot to bring the chops home."

TOO UNNATURAL

"I've just put a new stenographer to work, Boss. She doesn't chew gum or wear spit curls; she knows how to spell idiosyncrasy and her typewriter never gets dirty. She—" "Sh-h-h! Jinks, keep an eye on her while I get this bottle out to my car and beat it. I'll bet a can o' beans she's a hooch hound from Washington in a bum disguise!"

A HARD JOB

"Can't please that wife of mine in a car anyway. She's looked at a dozen and won't have any of them." "A mechanical critic, is she?" "Don't know the clutch lever from the universal joint. But she's never found one with the right smell in the gas-line. She wants halotrope or Hiac."

RIGHTO

"And never let me see you back here again!" said the Judge, sternly. The prisoner looked about, at the jury, at the judge, at the lawyers, at the court clerks, and replied: "I won't come back; Sir; I'll keep out o' bad company."

GRATITUDE

"Do I understand, Sir, that you positively refuse to let me marry your daughter?" "You do, Sir! I'd rather see my daughter dead than married to you!" "I owe you a debt of gratitude, Sir! . . . She darn near had me hooked!"

What Can We Do for You? Credit Investigations

- ¶ We are always ready to assist our friends in investigating the financial or credit standing of persons, firms or corporations with whom they contemplate dealing, no matter where located.
- ¶ Our facilities are such that we probably can be of great help in this respect, and whether you are a customer or not, please feel free to call on us for such service. We will be glad to serve you without charge.
- ¶ Our ambition is to make this a bank of real "personal service."

National Bank of Manassas

THE BANK OF PERSONAL SERVICE

On Cash Basis!

- ¶ On and after November 1, 1921, our terms will be STRICTLY CASH.
- ¶ To our customers who send in orders by mail, telephone or telegraph, and whose credit is satisfactory, we will ship or deliver the order with the understanding that it is to be paid for on receipt of invoice.
- ¶ We have found this change necessary under the present business conditions, and we believe that under these terms we will be in a position to give better prices and service to our customers. Business on a cash basis is nothing new and is practiced by a large number of up-to-date concerns with great success.
- ¶ We want your co-operation in our effort to serve you. Our business in the last few years has grown considerably, and with our large output of flour, meal and feed, we do not feel that we can operate on an economical basis and extend credit to our customers. We want our customers to have the benefit of our lowest CASH PRICE and this cannot be unless we operate on a STRICTLY CASH BASIS.
- ¶ Hoping that you will approve of our change, and soliciting the continuance of your valued business, we remain,

Manassas Feed & Milling Co.

$237,630.00 Received by State From Sale of Dog Licenses.

For the license year ended January 31, 1921, the sale of dog licenses in Virginia amounted to $237,630.00, according to Governor Westmoreland Davis by F. Nash Bilisoly, Commissioner of Game and Inland Fisheries, head of the department charged with the enforcement of this act. Of this amount $200,464.03 went into the treasuries of the counties and cities and towns, while $37,396.67 was received by the Department of Game and Inland Fisheries, and used by it in enforcing the law.

The report shows that from the fund of $200,464.03 received by the localities a total of $15,176.47 was paid out for damages done by dogs to sheep and other stock, which is less than the amount paid out for damages the previous year, when the total reached $22,105.19. Payment of fees allowed under the law for destroying the dogs, and serving warrants totaled $31,322.77. Other expenses, such as license tags, stationary, receipt cards and in some instances the same allotted roads and schools before the end of the year by Boards of Supervisors totaled $18,322.77, the total expense to the localities being $64,558.50, leaving a balance at the end of the year of $135,905.50 to be applied to roads and schools.

During the year a total of 6,793 dogs were destroyed by the regular wardens, making a total of 13,000 dogs destroyed since the enactment of the law in 1918. This does not include dogs destroyed in the small towns and by persons other than game wardens. Game wardens obtained a total of 4,938 convictions for violation of the law, while license was paid on 175,840 dogs, 149,371 males and 26,479 females, not including licenses issued in small towns, nor dogs kept under kennel licenses. Fauquier county with 3,429, reported the greatest number of dogs.

From the fund of $37,289.67 received by the department, there was paid out $24,494.03 for game warden service, while $8,628.59, was expended in salaries other than to game wardens, for license tags, stationary, advertising, postage and incidentals, leaving a balance as of January 31, 1921 of $4,175.15. This balance, it is pointed out in the report, will be absorbed early in the 1921-22 license year by the purchase of license tags.

The apparently high total of fees allowed under the law is explained by the fact that the law as amended in 1920 did not become operative until June 19th of that year, and up to that time Commissioners of the Revenue received fifteen cents for each dog listed by them. This requirement was cut out of the amended bill, the fifteen per centum now going to the Department of Game and Inland Fisheries.

ONE SYSTEM FOR TWO INSTITUTIONS

Bridgewater College and Hebron Seminary at Nokesville Federated Into One System.

Elder E. E. Blough has been elected a member of the board of trustees of Bridgewater College. At the regular quarterly meeting of the board this week he, Superintendent John C. Myers, Doctor C. P. Harshberger and Elder S. D. Miller appeared before Notary S. H. W. Byrd and took the affirmation of office. The board is composed of some of the leading educators, business men and church officials of the denomination in Virginia and West Virginia. It is made up of men who are conscious of the needs of the institution and no effort is being spared to keep it equipped for maximum efficiency. At the recent meeting, the reports of the various committees of the board and of college officials were indicative of extensive activities looking toward a still larger institution and one of far reaching service. It is understood that some very important steps, which the board does not wish to announce at this time, were considered.

One of the most significant items of business was the final consummation of the negotiations between Hebron Seminary of Nokesville, and the college, which federates these two institutions into one system. The main points in the plan of organization are: that the board of trustees of the two institutions be interlocked to the extent of three members; that the nine trustees elected by the Eastern district of Virginia be regarded as the local board for the government and control of Hebron Seminary; that there be at least one joint annual meeting to shape the general policies as they relate to the two institutions; that there be a general executive committee of seven members to act for the joint boards in case of necessity to be constituted as the two boards may mutually agree; that the funds held by each institution be held intact by each school for its own work; that future financial campaigns be conducted jointly for the benefit of both schools on a basis to be mutually agreed upon by the boards; that the principal of Hebron Seminary be responsible for the interests of the college in the Eastern district of Virginia, especially the student canvass, and that in consideration of these services the college pay one tenth of his salary; that Hebron Seminary share on some equitable basis in the distribution of Forward Movement funds; that the principal of Hebron Seminary be wholly responsible for the academic administration of the institute; that the Seminary be standardized at the earliest possible date according to the regulations of the State Board of Education and that the highest possible academic standards be maintained. It is understood that the institution shall operate as a school of academy or high school grade; that the Seminary bear the same general relation to the college as that borne by the Bridgewater Academy, a definite statement of which shall be worked out during the next school session.

The report of President Paul H. Bowman showed a very encouraging outlook. With reference to the present session the president said: "The session of 1921-22 has opened with rather greater promise than we had anticipated. The total enrollment to date is 210; the college enrollment is 137; the academy 73; the ministerial 27; the enrollment of men is 118 (college 80, academy 37). The college classes show an enrollment of Seniors 30, Juniors 27, Sophomores 36, and Freshmen 38. Special Students 6. This we regard as a good enrollment in the light of the industrial conditions of the country. There are still some students to enter and we believe that the total enrollment for the year will equal that of last year."

The grand jury in the circuit court of Westmoreland county at Montross Monday completed the examination of witnesses in the Eastlake murder case after being in session for five hours. Indictments charging both Roger D. Eastlake and Miss Sarah E. Knox, trained nurse, with first degree murder in the death of Mrs. Margaret Eastlake, Eastlake's wife, were returned. Separate indictments for each was brought in. Only about one-half of the witnesses summoned were examined. Judge Joseph W. Chinn, presiding judge, then heard argument as to the date for the trial, which was fixed for December 13. The judge will announce in a few days which one of the defendants will be tried first.

THE WOMEN WILL HAVE TO BE CONSULTED

"The national meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in San Francisco, a gathering representing 500,000 members, comes as a reminder that the women of the country still constitute a powerful force standing for prohibition and law enforcement," says the Houston (Texas) Post. "They have not lost interest in the cause since the Eighteenth Amendment became operative."

"There seems to be a tendency in some quarters to overlook this fact. Politicians and newspapers, with their minds inflamed by prejudice, seem to imagine if they could just get rid of the Anti-Saloon league, that 'organization of fanatics' that 'dictates' to Congress, they could soon get the saloon back. In the various plans for nullification or repeal of the movement recently, it appears that the women have not been taken into account."

"Considering the fact that the women of the country now have the ballot and that women will vote in larger numbers on the prohibition question than upon any other issue that can be brought to the polls, the liquor leaders could make no greater blunder than to fail to consider them in their plans."

"As a matter of fact, they are the ones who are largely responsible for prohibition, at least, for the early development of sentiment against the traffic. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union was fighting for prohibition years before anybody expected to see the country legally dry. Gradually increasing numbers of men became convinced of the necessity for abolishing the saloon, and today perhaps a majority of the male voters of the country as a whole favor prohibition. Among the women, a very large majority favor it and they will be an effectual stumbling block to every movement of reaction."

"Before any modification of the amendment, this vast body of women will have to be consulted. The majority in Congress understand this, as evidenced by their votes on the enforcement issue. But some of the provincial newspapers of New York and vitriolic liquor politicians need enlightenment on the great background of prohibition sentiment in the country, of which the women constitute so large a part."

DUMFRIES

We are certainly enjoying the beautiful fall. Mrs. Randolph Brawner has returned after a week's visit with relatives in Washington. Miss Constance Waters spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Waters. Mrs. D. C. Cline and children, Hilda E. and David C., jr., also Miss Norah Beasley, spent the evening with Mrs. W. W. Sisson last week.

A number of young folks from the village attended the birthday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. W. Keys at Joplin Saturday night in honor of their son, Mr. Francis Keys.

Mrs. C. H. Brawner and family have returned after a visit to Mrs. Brawner's former home in Clifton.

The Dumfries Civic League held its regular meeting in the Dumfries school Friday night, October 21. After the usual business meeting a delightful program was rendered by the school children, directed by their teacher, Miss Norah Beasley. The house was crowded and every one seemed to enjoy the hours spent there. The league deserves mention, for the last year's report showed there had been some faithful members.

We are glad to see little Hilda Cline out again, after a long illness. Mrs. C. W. Garrison has returned from a visit with relatives in Washington.

Mr. C. W. Garrison and Mr. George

Waters have returned from a lodge meeting in Roanoke. Both were delighted with their trip.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Brawner gave them a delightful birthday party Saturday last. Games were enjoyed until a late hour, when very tasty refreshments were served.

STATE NEWS NOTES

At a district mass-meeting in Newport News Saturday night, J. Thomas Newsome, candidate for Attorney-General upon the colored republican ticket, was enthusiastically applauded as he stated the negroes' attitude in the present political campaign in Virginia. The colored lawyer said we are not going to vote for Mr. Trinkle, because we are not democrats, but we respect the democratic party for its candor. It never fools us, we know where it stands, but we will not vote the Lily White ticket, because of its duplicity. They will not tolerate us in party council, but they beg us to vote the ticket on election day. We will vote for John Mitchell, who welcomes all republicans, white and black, male and female, without regard to creed, condition or color.

The Seaboard Air Line Railway shops at Portsmouth, Va., have resumed work, giving employment to 900 employes, and 150 men previously laid off by the Norfolk and Western Railway, at Roanoke, have been re-employed. These indications of business revival in Virginia are among several items of optimistic nature reported by the district managers of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, scattered throughout the Commonwealth. There has been a gradual improvement in all lines of business since the first of October, both the retail and wholesale trades reporting an upward trend, and stocks are being built up. Money continues tight, but there is some improvement in the general credit situation.

Mrs. George Custis, of Keller, Va., has announced her candidacy for Governor of Virginia on an independent Socialist ticket. She is, as far as can be ascertained here, the first woman ever to aspire to gubernatorial honors in the Old Dominion. Adopting the slogan "Help us purify politics," Mrs. Custis declares "many of us feel that the time is at hand when our conception of government functioning must be broadened to meet the crisis that changing economic conditions are precipitating."

We take the following from the Harrisonburg News-Record of October 29: "The season this fall is one of the driest in a period of twenty-eight years. Rev. L. J. Heatwole, voluntary observer of the United States Signal Service, at Dale Entapprise, stated in answer to query as to how this October compares with the corresponding month in other years. "A dry season such as this follows a cycle of twenty-eight years," Mr. Heatwole explained. "Observations of the Meteorological Bureau at Washington, shows that with the return of the cycle, we may expect an unusually dry season." Asked if there is any relief in sight Mr. Heatwole replied that the drought generally begins the last of September and often extends to the first of December. The section which has been most affected this year has been the St. Lawrence River Valley and the Great Lakes section. The rainfall so far this month, the observer stated, there has been only .015 inches, while in the average seasonable year, the rainfall for October is 3.54 inches. Smaller amounts in all parts of the country are reported to be dry, and many streams are hauling water many miles, due to their channels becoming empty.

The police captured a full-grown 20-gallon still in a stable directly opposite the city jail in Alexandria Saturday night. The makers of the "hooch" evidently had left only a short time before the arrival of the police, as the receptacle was still hot. Two gallons of mash, a quantity of prunes and corn liquor, two three-burner oil stoves, a number of bottles and other articles were taken. The police later took into custody Fred Gravenstein, who it is claimed, made the place. He denied ownership of the still.

The jury which heard the case of Dr. Wilmer Amos Hadley, former army surgeon, accused of wife murder, in the Henrico county circuit court, Richmond, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, which carries with it the sentence of death in the electric chair. Dr. Hadley, who stood up while the foreman of the jury rendered the verdict, received it without a tremor, displaying the same exhibition of nerve which has marked his conduct since the day he arrived in Richmond, following his arrest in New Mexico on a charge of having killed his wife in James River nearly three years ago.

Fire, believed by the officials of the Old Dominion Glass Company to have been of incendiary origin, early Monday morning destroyed the plant of the Belle Pre Glass Company in the northwestern part of Alexandria. The loss, which has not yet been accurately estimated, will probably reach $50,000, partly covered by insurance.

According to the 1930 census there are 255,123 white men and women in Virginia of voting age, and yet only 150,000 voted in the recent Democratic primary. The great silent vote is for Anderson for Governor.—Adv't.

WANT TO BE A GOVERNOR?

On November 3 the voters of Virginia will face the solemn duty of selecting the best candidates to administer the affairs of the State offices. As you are aware, a spirited campaign has been waged by Col. Henry W. Anderson, nominee for governor, to arouse the voters to a realization of the stagnation and extravagance which prevail as a result of "thirty years of Democratic misrule and mismanagement." For many weeks Col. Anderson has campaigned throughout the length and breadth of this Commonwealth drawing a powerful indictment against the Democratic "machine" for the non-progressiveness of the State, notwithstanding the expenditure of $177,000,000, for failure to provide good roads for the farmers, for allowing Virginia to sink to the shockingly low rank of FORTY-FIRST among the forty-eight States in providing educational facilities for her children, for running the State budget up from $3,000,000 to $22,000,000 a year, for constantly increasing the number of officeholders until the per capita tax in the State is now $32, where it used to be only $7.

It was Colonel Anderson's desire, and the hope of a majority of the people of Virginia, that his opponent for the governorship meet him in joint debate and refute, if he could, any or all the counts in this indictment, the like of which has never been drawn before in Virginia. But—the Democratic bosses, who have been running affairs in Virginia for the last thirty years refused to permit the Democratic candidate to participate in joint debates with Colonel Anderson, who charges that all Democratic aspirants for office have to take orders from the bosses and whose charge is borne out by the "no debate" order from Democratic dictators.

The result has been that Colonel Anderson has been compelled to address the voters alone—drawing unprecedented crowds, even in his opponent's home, Wytheville—and his able, brilliant, forceful and convincing speeches have not always been properly countered by "indignant" Democrats who joined the audience to find fault with his utterances and professed to beat it.

Instead of allowing Colonel Anderson's opponent to meet him face to face and debate, the issue fully and fairly, the Democratic "bosses" have contented themselves with "sniping," "mud-slinging" and "slandering" in vicious and personal attacks.

Colonel Anderson is one of Virginia's most illustrious sons. He has had the courage to visit Democratic "machine" strongholds throughout the State and deliver a message which he believes the voters of the State should hear—a message repelling the methods of the Democratic autocracy in this State as ruthless and despotic, a message that should arouse every liberty-loving man and woman and every taxpayer to righteous indignation which should express itself at the polls on November 3 in the reprobation of the party propagating "ring rule" and appalling extravagant waste of State funds.—Advertisement.

ALADDIN

 Kerosene

"Kerosene costs only about half what it did last year"

A practical way to save coal this fall and winter

The Perfection Oil Heater will prove more economical in over a million homes this year than ever before. Coal prices have changed but little in the last twenty months, while Aladdin Security Oil, the best kerosene you can buy, has gone down nearly 50%.

The Perfection is an efficient heater. There's no waste of fuel, no ashes that represent many of the pounds that go to make up your ton of coal. Rooms and hallways that are used only a few minutes each day are an added source of wasted heat, greater, probably, than you imagine.

Use your coal heater to keep the whole house warm. Then in cold weather, instead of "rushing" the fire all day, make the living room comfortable by using a Perfection, just where you want it—in the living room or the opposite side of the room from the radiator.

You can burn a Perfection for about 10 hours on a single gallon of kerosene. Your hardware or department store salesman will gladly point out its simple construction and emphasize rich adjustment to you.

And this is what he said:

"That SUNOCO OIL I got from you proved to be fine; especially for the Haynes. It has worked better than it ever has since I bought it. I have been trying to buy some more of the oil since my return, but no one seems to handle it out here. I am writing to the factory today to have them send me some. Tell Ludd (I think that is the name of the fellow that works there with you all the time) that all I have to do with the Haynes is give it lots of Sunoco oil and gasoline and drive it like Sam Hill."
