ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

INSPIRING SESSION OVER

Four-Day Lutheran Conference Closes Sunday Afternoon at Bethel Church.

[Contributed]

The Lutheran conference which closed its sessions here on Sunday proved to be a most inspiring meeting. It will mean much toward the proper understanding of the church in this locality where she apparently is almost a stranger. It has been asked why the Lutherans should establish a mission in a town no larger than this where there are already so many churches. This question can be easily answered by those who attended the sessions of this conference and heard the discussions. This meeting confirmed the idea that the Lutheran church (the mother of Protestantism) has a mission in the world. Rev. W. J. Fink, of New Market, in his most excellent paper on "The Reasons for the Separate Existence of the Lutheran Church" showed that this church, which as a distinctive denomination dates from 1530 A. D., has embodied in its confessions all the plain teachings of Scripture as taught by Christ and related by His apostles. Teachings held by the one Christian church on earth until one by one cast into the background to be replaced by the errors and corruptions of the dark ages, only to be revived by the one who is admitted by all who truly know him to be the greatest reformer the world has ever known, viz. Dr. Martin Luther. Mr. Fink showed how the truths brought to light by Dr. Luther have been accepted in the main by all Protestant denominations, but that here and there some have failed to stress certain points held sacred by the Lutherans, or have added certain points not clearly taught in God's Word, thus giving rise to various Protestant denominations for which we are not responsible and who have never shown from the plain word of Scripture just ground for their deviation, and therefore the Lutheran church stands separate and apart from them and will continue to stand as her founder stood at the Diet of Worms when he uttered those living words, "This is God's Word: here I stand; I cannot do otherwise, so help me God."

Rev. W. J. Barr, of Edinburg, in his discussion of the "Nature and Efficacy of the Lord's Supper," stressed the clearness of Scripture on this point and showed that if Sectarians and Catholics alike would accept the simple teaching of the Word here much would be accomplished toward a united Christianity. He quoted I Cor. 11:29 to show why Lutherans are sometimes accused of being narrow and selfish in the administration of the sacrament. The other two subjects, "Our Lutheran Literature" and "The Church Member's Duty to His Church," were discussed by members of conference bringing out the idea that a member's first duty is to know his church, its history, its teaching, its needs, and that this knowledge can only be had by a diligent and faithful use of its literature. A second duty is to remain loyal to that which he knows to be right and to show his loyalty by a true Christian walk and life. The sermons were both interesting and edifying. They contained admonitions to cling closely to the Word in these trying times of social unrest within and war without; to lean upon the strong arm of the Almighty, and to continue instant in prayer in full assurance that God will answer the prayers of His saints. The special sermon on Friday by Rev. W. J. Fink on the assigned subject, "The Vicarious Atonement for Sin," dealing with such a timely subject in these days when men deny the existence of sin and are depending upon work righteousness, and being presented in such a forceful way, was recommended for publication in the Lutheran Church Visitor. Among the important business transactions were the resolutions favoring the raising of the apportionment of the congregations $10 this year and an additional 10 per cent next year for missionary purposes, the appropriation of a handsome sum for the school at New Market, and the assurance of placing an assistant in this territory in the near future. The attendance at all sessions was good. The next meeting will be held with St. David's congregation, Powell's Fort, one year hence.

CHATAUQUA TIME NEARING

Big Event Scheduled to Be Held at Eastern Sept. 17, 18 and 19.

Town and county-wide interest centers on the coming chatauqua which is to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 17, 18 and 19, at Eastern College.

The business men, who offered the guaranty, are discussing ways and means of entertainment, and one local program is yet to be arranged. The attractions of this booster festival are to be offered under the direction of the Radcliffe Attractions, Incorporated, of Washington, D. C., and our people may have some idea of their position in the world of art and education by the recollection of the Sherier concert last winter at Eastern College. Arrangements were then made with this company and it is an assured fact that no member of that audience went home with any character of regret except a natural one that the performance was so rare and so brief. Admirers of Miss Sherier have announced the discovery of her attractive face on the printed folder as a member of the Ladell concert company, and it is generally believed that her appearance will prove no slight drawing card.

The pleasant face of Dr. H. W. Sears, eminent Presbyterian divine, also smiles from the sheet, and recollections of his electric utterance should tend to draw a capacity audience to the event. Some of America's most noted platform people are to appear, and the concerts, lectures and entertainments each afternoon and night will comprise one of the biggest events that ever came to town. Make up your mind not to miss a single program of the three days of recreation, inspiration and pleasure. Let our first chatauqua be an unprecedented success; reward the faith of our business men and bring upon the community the benefit of its broadening effect and its incentive to growth, progress and prosperity. NO TAX INCREASE COMING

Such is the Opinion of Prominent Virginians on State-wide Issue.

Hon. R. E. Byrd—"A study of the financial condition and resources of the State clearly demonstrates that by 1916 when prohibition will go into effect, the normal natural increase of the State revenue will more than take care of the $548,000, which was the State's income in 1912 from the liquor traffic. "Indeed, I venture the prediction that the State will go dry, and yet that the General Assembly of 1916 will lower the State tax rate."

Hon. S. R. Donohoe, former State Auditor, in letter commenting on Statement of Hon. R. Walton Moore—"He is entirely right in assuming that our normal increase in property holdings will insure against the possibility of the tax rate being raised" in consequence of the loss of the liquor license tax. I have yet to hear anyone who possesses any familiarity with our financial condition, express the belief that our tax rate would have to be increased. "No one need fear that the State will find it necessary, by reason of the loss of the liquor tax, to increase the present rate in the slightest degree to meet all reasonable demands upon the public treasury."

Hon. George B. Keezell—"If the legislature were elected that would have due respect for economy every interest of the State would be as well taken care of, as has been done the past year, without the aid of a dollar of liquor license money, or without increasing the taxes of the people one penny."

Hon. W. H. Mann—"I have had a conference with the auditor of public accounts and very carefully gone over the State's finances, and have no hesitation in saying that in my judgment will not make an increase of taxation necessary, but I think it much more probable that there will be a reduction in taxation."

Hon. B. F. Buchanan (State senator from Smyth county)—Basing his views upon the reasonable presumption of continued "accumulation of taxable wealth," he says: "I am of the opinion that it will not be necessary to increase the present tax rate or to increase the assessed value of any class of property in the event that State-wide prohibition shall obtain in Virginia."

Which will the voters of Virginia believe—these Virginians who know Virginia, or the outside agents of the liquor interests who have been fighting for the saloon under the cloak of Local Self-Government?—Virginia Issue.

Normal Training Course, Manassas High School.

The Manassas normal course is in charge of competent instructors and offers unusually good facilities for observation and practice teaching in both graded and rural schools. In connection with the normal training, excellent opportunities may also be had, in thorough courses given in the high school, for instruction in domestic science, agriculture and manual training, or in any of the usual high school subjects.

The normal course is open to teachers holding first or second grade certificates, and to students who have had two years of high school work. It may also be taken as a year of post-graduate work. The school term begins on Monday, September 14.

COL. BERKELEY SPEAKS

Confederate Entertained at Little River by Eighth Virginia Chapter.

Berkeley Camp, Confederate Veterans, and other soldiers of the Confederacy were entertained Tuesday at the grove of the Little River church by the ladies of the Eighth Virginia Regiment Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Col. Edmund Berkeley and Rev. T. D. Clark addressed the gathering. Colonel Berkeley's remarks follow: "Brother members of the Berkeley Camp, brother Confederates, daughters and sons of the Confederacy, ladies and gentlemen: A merciful Providence has in great kindness permitted this small remnant of as great a regiment as ever fought in any war to meet once more on this spot endeared to it by many loving memories, and partake of the charming hospitality of the daughters of the 8th Virginia Chapter. Since we last met six of our own loved comrades, Adj. A. B. Moore, G. W. F. Hammer, Cuthbert Rogers, John Lake, John Skilpan, Jas. Wykoff and John McCauley have been taken from us and have answered roll call on high and are now waiting to welcome us on the farther shore. You are all aware that it was at the express desire of our loved first commander that the remnant of the 8th regiment was formed into the Berkeley Camp. After Gettysburg when my brothers and myself were all promoted and the three field officers of the regiment were Berkeley brothers, it was known as the Berkeley regiment. I had a most striking evidence of this more than twenty years ago when I called on one of Virginia's grandest governors, P. W. McKinney, in the interest of our old commander, Gen. Hunton. Senator Barbour having died the day before the legislature adjourned, I was requested by some of Gen. Hunton's friends who knew the governor had a friendly feeling for me, to use my influence in having Gen. Hunton appointed in Senator Barbour's place. Consequently the next morning when I saw the governor enter his office I knocked at the door and when I entered the governor said, "Oh, Colonel, you are the very man I wanted to see. I want to know who your people would like to have in Barbour's place?" I said, "Governor, I think Gen. Hunton would be highly acceptable to them." He said, "Do you really think so?" I said I certainly did and commenced to give him the general's war record. He said, "That is perfectly unnecessary. I know his war record, your war record, your brothers' war record, and the record of the 8th Berkeley regiment as it was known after Gettysburg." When I rose to leave he said, "Now, you feel perfectly certain that Hunton will be acceptable to your people?" I said, "I certainly do," and I fully believe if I had said Fitz Lee or Walton Moore, either one would have gotten the appointment. At one of the last meetings with Gen. Hunton, he said, "Davy" (which was a nickname he used) "I want you to write the history of the 8th regiment." Now, I have determined at this late day to endeavor to fulfill his wish although I realize that it will be an exceedingly difficult job as I have no diary to assist me with dates, and I ask every member of the 8th to assist me in the work. If any member has a diary I would be much indebted for the loan of it and would be glad if you will all write a description of any event that particularly impressed itself upon you.

I was always with the regiment from its organization until Gen. Lee sent me back a few days before the evacuation to get lead except on three occasions. The first was when I was taken with typhoid fever in camp at Centerville in 1861, and when wounded at South Mountain and again at Gettysburg when I was absent some six or eight weeks before being fit for duty. Each time I was wounded I got back to the Bull Run mountains, above my home, and recovered in time for the next fight, and think it probable I was the only officer or private who was in every fight from first Manassas to the evacuation of Richmond.

ANOTHER VETERAN GONE

Mr. George W. Johnson Dies After Long Illness—Funeral Sunday Afternoon.

Mr. George William Johnson, a life-long resident of this county, died last Friday morning at his home near Manassas. He had been in ill health for some time, but his death came as a shock to his many friends in the community.

His funeral was held Sunday afternoon from his late residence, Elder Vaughn, of the Primitive Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was made in the town cemetery where the services were conducted by Rev. H. L. Quarles, pastor of Manassas Baptist Church and chaplain of Ewell Camp, Confederate Veterans. The pallbearers were his sons, Messrs. Lee and Ralph Johnson, his sons-in-law, Messrs. Egbert Harrell and G. L. Hutchison, his nephew, Mr. W. M. Johnson, and his grandson, Mr. Maurice Harrell.

Mr. Johnson was born in this county on October 22, 1845, his parents being Col. Joseph Johnson and Mrs. Emily Ediza Wheatley Johnson. In 1863 he was married to Mrs. Hannah Lamb Lindsley, who, with their five children—Mrs. Minnie J. Harrell, Mrs. Maud M. Hutchison, and Messrs. R. Lee Johnson, Willis L. Johnson and Ralph V. Johnson, all of this county—survives him. He leaves also two sisters, Misses Sarah and Annie Johnson; one brother, Mr. Joseph B. Johnson, and eight grandchildren, Misses Mildred and Georgie Harrell and Myrtle and Gladys Johnson, and Eugene Johnson and John Julian Hutchison.

He was a Confederate veteran, having joined the Black Horse cavalry in 1862 and served until discharged on account of failing health in 1864; a member of the Primitive Baptist Church; and a member of Ewell Camp, C. V. and of the Manassas chapter of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association, and was treasurer of both organizations.

Eastern College Prospects Excellent.

The sixteenth annual session will open Tuesday, Sept. 29, with an increased attendance in all departments. Already students have registered from states as far west as Idaho and Wyoming, east as far as Maine and Vermont and south as far as Florida and Texas. Prof. Glenn C. Gorrell, of the pianoforte department will have two assistants this year.

NOTICE TO S. S. WORKERS

County Secretary Addresses Superintendents in Interest of Next Convention.

To Sunday School Superintendents of Prince William county, Va. Gentlemen and Gossambers: The undersigned takes great pleasure in addressing you in the interest of our next annual county Sunday school convention to be held in Manassas on Wednesday, Oct. 7, beginning at 9 a. m. The convention this year will consist of three sessions, morning, afternoon and night. The work mostly will be done by home talent with the assistance of Mr. Diggs, the state secretary and another outside instructor yet to be secured. The officers have given the subject much thought and are very anxious that all the superintendents of the county will give the convention their earnest support. Since these meetings are all designed to help the superintendent and the Sunday school worker everywhere, it was thought best to have this year's sessions devoted almost entirely to home discussions so that we shall all become better acquainted with each other and learn more of each other's work, etc. So be sure to come and be ready to ask questions or tell us something about your own school's good work and prospects. Begin right now to think about the convention and how you can make it interesting and beneficial. Now to the real point of this letter: The secretary has found that to carry on his work successfully it is absolutely necessary that a complete registration of all the schools of the county, together with their superintendents, be made a matter of record on his books in order to facilitate correspondence. We have written the district presidents for this information, but none have reported. The convention is drawing near and in order to have this information and report ready we are asking you, Mr. Superintendent, personally, to send a report of your own school as per the following items:

Name of school; denomination; total enrollment; av. collection; No. of classes; No. of male teachers; No. of female teachers; av. attendance; No. of months school is open during the year; have you an adult Bible class; how many members; have you a cradle roll department; how many members; have you a home department; how many members; name and address of the superintendent.

Now, dear brother, this means you. Stop, look, listen. Get busy right now and send this report before you forget; certainly within the next ten days. It is important. We will also ask that you elect at least two delegates from your school to attend the convention, and last but not very necessary, bring a couple of dollars in your pocket to help defray expenses. Now, if you will kindly attend to these things, you will make sure a successful convention. You will please the county officers and we will not ask for anything more until we think of something else.

Fraternally yours, CHAS. R. McDONALD, Secretary, Catharpin, Va.

Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Quarles are in receipt of an interesting letter from their daughter, Mrs. C. V. Baskerville, who has been in London for several months. Prof. and Mrs. Baskerville have engaged passage to Boston and expect to sail Sept. 15.

Headquarters Virginia Anti-Saloon League

BULLETIN No. 2

It is not only four weeks until September 22d, the date of the election on the question of Statewide prohibition. Since the last bulletin was issued, a month ago, certain things have become evident.

1. THE SALOON is fighting as never before in Virginia. It is fighting vigorously, persistently, unscrupulously, vindictively, and with great shrewdness. It has adopted the only possible tactics to obtain any results. It has ignored the only real issue, namely, "THE PARTNERSHIP OF VIRGINIA WITH THE SALOON"—and it has raised false battle cries to deceive the people.

2. OUR ONLY REAL ENEMY IS THE SALOON. The rubber stamp of the Local Self-Government Association is still in evidence, but the real leaders of the fight are the National Liquor Dealers' Association, the National Brewers' Association, the Brewers' Wine and Spirit Merchants of Virginia and the Retail Liquor dealers of Virginia. Messrs. Pleasant Holt, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Eddie Hirsch, of Baltimore, Md., experienced liquor lobbyists, have been called to Virginia, and are virtually in charge of the campaign. Virginia prohibitionists are not fighting primarily against the Virginia Local Self-Government Association. That organization is not only a cloak, behind which the liquor forces of the nation are fighting to maintain their body and soul-destroying traffic in Virginia, and to check, if possible, the steady current against the ALCOHOL evil which is rising all over the world.

3. MISREPRESENTATION, VILLIFICATION, SLANDER, SLUSH FUNDS are the weapons of their warfare. They are experienced handlers of these weapons. Behind the cloak of the Local Self-Government Association they have poured out a ceaseless stream of false, deceptive and slanderous letters, circulars and pamphlets. They have purchased advertising space in the newspapers from one end of the State to the other, notably in the Evening Journal, of Richmond, and they have filled these papers with "fake" interviews, garbled statistics, flat falsehoods and vile slanders, hoping by these things to make the people of Virginia forget the only issue—THE SALOON.

4. THE SALOON is furnishing an unlimited supply of money with which to carry on this unscrupulous warfare. The Richmond correspondent of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot wired that paper "THAT THERE NEVER WAS SO MUCH MONEY AT THE DISPOSAL OF ANY PARTY IN ANY OTHER POLITICAL FIGHT IN VIRGINIA." A liquor business in Virginia of $30,000,000 is at stake, and also the effect of this election upon the rest of the nation. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have already been spent in literature and advertising, and for paid representatives in every section of the State. In a letter to the liquor dealers, their president urged liberal contributions, stating that at each of the 1,300 voting precincts "we must have one or two automobiles besides SEVERAL PAID WORKERS" which means that on election day there will be over 5,000 "PAID WORKERS" of the liquor traffic at the polls in Virginia. There will be an enormous slush fund at the disposal of these "paid workers." If money could perpetuate the life of the saloon in Virginia, it would continue with us to destroy our sons and daughters.

OUR NEEDS

5. We must have immediately a large sum of money to enable us to send to the voters of the State clear cut, convincing answers to the misrepresentations of the saloon agents. Some of these misrepresentations have deceived honest, but uninformed men, because it is difficult for honest men to believe that anyone can publish abroad such false statements. We must reach every voter of Virginia with our replies. Our county chairmen and precinct leaders write us that this is the VITAL POINT in the campaign.

The literature is prepared, the type is set, and we can flood the State with it if our people will send us the money with which to pay for paper, printing and postage. We need $1,000 a day from now until September 22d, to do the work efficiently. Many have already given, some have given twice, even thrice, but the question is, "What can I do now?" The crucial point of the campaign lies here. A tremendously concentrated literature campaign for the next four weeks will sweep the State for prohibition by a great majority, but the Anti-Saloon League has no fund on which to draw, and the literature cannot be sent, unless the money is furnished with which to send it. One dollar will send some; $5, $10, will send more; $500, $1,000, will flood a precinct, a district, a county. A prompt response will greatly magnify the value of the work.

6. Our people need not be surprised at anything which may happen from now until the election. Be not deceived. We are not fighting the Local Self-Government Association. Judge George L. Christian, Messrs. Owen and Cabell, and Dr. McGuire are now simply pawns in the game. The prohibition workers and the Church of God in Virginia are in hand to hand conflict with the NATIONAL ORGANIZED LIQUOR TRAFFIC, the most powerful, the most unscrupulous organization of capital in the world which has never hesitated to attack the reputation of either men or women, of no matter what character or standing, which has not hesitated to violate any of all laws; which has committed bribery, perjury, house-burning, and even murder to continue its body and soul-destroying business. It will MISREPRESENT AND VILIFY AND SLANDER until election day.

Do not allow these things to alarm or discourage you. It is not a sign of the desperation of the enemy. Let us all stand together, and work without distraction for the one object—THE DISSOLUTION OF THE PARTNERSHIP OF VIRGINIA WITH THE SALOON.

7. Be on the watch for ILLEGAL REGISTRATION and BRIBERY OF VOTERS. The agents of the saloon will pad the registration lists, if possible. They will bribe voters, if possible. They will have the money, and will use it, if voters can be changed. They have done these things in local option elections in Virginia and in other States. They will do them in this greatest of all battles.

It will be wise to be vigilant in looking after the "paid workers" of the saloon; to offer rewards for the conviction of all persons who attempt to bribe voters in this election.

8. Work until election day as never before. Take nothing for granted. Talk with your neighbors whenever you meet them. Visit their homes. Expose the tricks and misrepresentations of the saloon agents. If you are not posted yourself, send for some literature. Supply yourself with answers to the misrepresentations of the enemy as to TAXATION, LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT AND CONDITIONS IN OTHER PROHIBITION STATES. Preach the prohibition gospel. Reprove, exhort, rebuke with patience, long suffering, and with love in your heart for the children of our beloved State. Personal work from now until September 22d is the key to a great victory.

We have prepared a special program for the Sunday Schools for Sunday, September 13. Let all our people join together all over the State to make that Sunday a great day, starting in the Sunday School, and following up in the churches, laboring and praying to bring in the kingdom of righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost.

As the superintendent placed in charge of the campaign by the prohibition people of Virginia, I have tried in this bulletin to state the facts as they exist today. Our workers can make the majority on September 22d what they will.

HIGHER TAXES CERTAIN UNDER STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION

State of Virginia Will Lose Three-Quarters of a Million Dollars Every Year by the Experiment.

This Loss Can Be Covered Only by an Increase of Taxation, and Farming, Mining and Mineral Lands Will Feel It Heaviest—Not a Good Time to Increase Taxation.

State-wide prohibition, wherever tried, has produced two disastrous results. One of these is increased taxes; the other damage to the peace and morals of the State. If State-wide prohibition would add anything to the morals of the State, there would be some argument for people to tax themselves to sustain it; but, inasmuch as it does not improve moral conditions, does not reduce the consumption of stimulating beverages, does not add anything to the sum of human happiness, it is a difficult thing to convince the public that it is a wise measure.

The people of Virginia have object lessons all around them as to the effects of State-wide prohibition. North Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama have tried it, and taxes were increased in all of them. Alabama was wise enough, after giving State-wide prohibition a fair trial, to return to local option as the better temperance measure. North Carolinians are paying more taxes now than they paid under local option. Tennesseans are paying more. In fact, every State that has tried State-wide prohibition has been forced to increase taxation in one way and another to make up the loss of revenue that followed.

And while this increase in taxes has inevitably followed the adoption of State-wide prohibition, no improvement in moral conditions has resulted. As a matter of fact, public and private morals has been damaged by State-wide prohibition in Virginia's sister States, as shown by increased criminal charges, more pauperism, more general disorder, than under the local option principles.

LOSS OF REVENUE IN VIRGINIA.

If State-wide prohibition is adopted September 22 the State Treasury will lose approximately $750,000 a year, or $1,500,000 for the biennial period. The report of State Auditor Moore for the year ending September 30, 1913, shows the following receipts from the liquor traffic for the year:

Derived from licenses	$538,000 00
And there was also derived from manufacture and sale otherwise at least	200,000 00
Total	$738,000 00

This figure will be increased this year to fully $738,000, and probably more. Every dollar of this money will be lost to the State Treasury if State-wide prohibition is adopted, and your taxes will be raised to cover the loss. There will be no reduction in criminal charges, or in the cost of taking care of paupers and the insane. These charges have all increased under prohibition in North Carolina and Tennessee.

Both Tennessee and North Carolina are paying more money to prosecute criminals now than they paid under local option. This fact is shown by officials records. In 1908, the last year of local option in Tennessee, the State paid $157,943.73 on account of criminal prosecutions. In 1913, after State-wide prohibition had been in effect four years, Tennessee paid $173,096.39 to prosecute its criminals, an increase under State-wide prohibition of $15,152.66 a year.

North Carolina has established four new districts, with their attendant costs, and a recorder's court to prosecute criminals, or at least to try criminal court dockets, since State-wide prohibition was adopted. The annual report of the attorney-general of North Carolina shows that all of the more serious crimes have increased since State-wide prohibition was adopted. These statements are based on official records.

Statistics from other States are of value only as showing to the people of Virginia that the claims of the National Anti-Saloon League that State-wide prohibition reduces criminal charges cannot be sustained by official records from North Carolina and Tennessee, two sister States that have adopted State-wide prohibition. These figures show, on the other hand, that State-wide prohibition has had a bad effect on peace and order in these States. Neither public nor private morals has been improved by it. There is no compensating benefit to society for the increased taxes.

WHERE THE INCREASE WILL STRIKE.

Of course, all taxable property in Virginia will feel the increase of taxation that must follow the adoption of State-wide prohibition, but owners of farms, orchards and timber and mineral lands will feel it heaviest. Valuations for assessment purposes will be increased throughout the farming and mining sections of the State.

The National Anti-Saloon League of Westerville, Ohio, has been telling the people out in the country that the increase will be a pittance, but every farmer knows better. It is not a small matter to him to have his taxes increased, because he is paying now about all he can stand without protest. And, when it is a known fact that State-wide prohibition will be of no benefit to society, the taxpayer can, with all reason and justice, ask the National Anti-Saloon League of Westerville, Ohio, why he should vote to have his tax burden increased.

DANGER OF INCREASING TAXES.

Taxpayers know that even in the most prosperous periods it is not a wise thing to increase taxes, unless there is something to be made by it for the peace and morals of the State. Once taxes are increased, it is very difficult to get them reduced. And a small increase for this thing and that amounts to much in the aggregate.

Just now all of Europe is engaged in the greatest war of history. Our government may be reduced to the necessity of increasing certain taxes to cover the loss in customs receipts. If it becomes necessary to increase internal taxation, the people of Virginia will feel it as heavily as the people of any other State.

In view of all these facts, it would seem to the average man that now is not a good time to vote for an experiment like State-wide prohibition that is certain to add to the tax burden. By voting against State-wide prohibition, the people of Virginia will escape the increase in taxation that is certain to follow its adoption.

SOME RECENT SOUTHERN SELECTIONS.

South Carolina has wisely decided to keep Mr. Smith in the United States Senate. Gov. Bleasdale would not have suited her purposes there half so well, if at all. These are not the times for men of froth and sensation in office—especially legislative office. We are, or should be, entering on a period of construction, when sober judgment and experience in public affairs are invaluable. As Mr. Smith nears the end of his first term in the Senate, he can look with satisfaction on the position he has reached as a useful member, and his constituents may expect services equally valuable during his second term. The South is waking to the importance of keeping tried men in commission in Congress. Georgia the other day renominated her Mr. Smith for the Senate. He has had but part of a term there, but has done so well with that, he is now a leading figure in that body. His retirement would have been a loss to her, and indeed to the whole South.

Some weeks ago Arkansas voted at a primary and indorsed Mr. Clarke. That makes his election sure. He is nearing the end of his second term, and ranks with the leaders on his side of the chamber. His committee assignments are excellent.

A short time before that, Alabama decided upon Mr. Underwood for the Senate—the best choice she could have made. With the exception of Mr. Bankhead, already in the Senate, he is her most experienced son in public life, and one of the ablest she has ever sent to Congress. His familiarity with the questions now before the country insures him prompt recognition when he takes his new office.

And North Carolina will return Mr. Overman, who is prominent in the Senate, and closing his second term.

None of these men is an agitator or a sensationalist. All are students of affairs and hard workers, cutting out flubdub altogether, and keeping in mind the advancement of the country. All have done good work as legislators, and are the proper kind to assist in the work coming on to be done.

The man who knows how is more than ordinarily the man for this day in this country. We have not fallen, but been precipitated, upon an era when the biggest things ever await attention; and if we are to rise to the occasion it must be under leadership, North, South, East and West, clear of head and stout of heart, and capable of grasping national questions in a truly national spirit. The new order is a large order, and requires experience as well as ability in its execution.—Washington Star.

ONE SILVER LINING TO THE CLOUD.

There is one thing for which the country owes a vote of thanks to Europe in connection with this war, and that is that it has strengthened the hands of the present administration. The canal tolls controversy, the Mexican question, the working of the new tariff law and issues of less importance had produced some controversy in the public mind, and afforded an opportunity for the nagging criticism and exhibitions of discontent that always make themselves felt in the second year of an administration. We believe the country would have stood by the President and the Democratic majority in Congress under any circumstances, but the war has made assurance doubly sure. There will be a new vote of confidence in Mr. Wilson this fall; and we think the people of the United States will be glad to put themselves on record as rejoicing that they have at the head of their government not a war lord, but a peace president, whose sane and conscientious policy appeals both to their self-interest and to their sense of justice and right.—Baltimore Sun.

OPPORTUNITY.

The war conditions abroad should impress the American farmer with the great opportunity for disposition of large crops next year. There is certain to be an extraordinary demand for all grain, and necessarily the price will be very high. With practically the whole wheat-growing belt of Europe involved in war, the amount of seedling done this fall will be very small.

It is possible even now to realize in some degree the enormity of the coming demand and the impossibility of European supply. Russia is one of the great wheat-growing countries of the world, but the Russians, like all the rest, have been forced to abandon their crops at the call to arms. Germany, for example, is obliged even in times of peace to look beyond her borders for grain, which constitutes one-fifth of her food supply.

Such a condition presents to the farmers of this country an unprecedented opportunity to raise wheat. The only check in view is the possible prohibition of export which might follow in the event that the existing conditions were too severe on the masses of our own population. It is possible also that Uncle Sam might prescribe a code of limitations, but it is hardly probable. The market is practically assured.

With all the manhood of the greater part of Europe in the field, our American farmers may easily see that it will be to their advantage to place all possible acreage this fall in wheat, that large crops may be harvested in the coming year for home consumption and to supply the enormous demand of foreign trade.

ERADICATING WILD ONION

New Farmers' Bulletin to Tell How to Get Rid of Pest - Start in Fall.

The wild onion, or garlic, which causes an annual money loss to farmers of millions of dollars a year can be eradicated by careful methods of cultivation...

On Boards of Trade, wheat containing garlic bulblets in considerable quantity is graded "rejected" and is then sold only on sample.

In the case of harvested wheat, the bulblets become lighter and are more easily fanned out in from six months to a year after harvest.

HOW TO GET RID OF THE ONION PEST

The measures recommended for the eradication of the wild onion, or garlic pest are based on the growing habits of this plant.

To kill the wild onion, the work must be started in the fall to destroy the plants from the soft shelled bulbs before they produce new bulbs.

MEASURES THAT HELP. As the aerial bulblets are practically the only means by which the onion pest is distributed from field to field and farm to farm, it is highly important to prevent their formation.

Late plowing for small grains: It has been found that if plowing is delayed until a late date in the fall and the land is planted to small grain, only a few onion plants will ripen their aerial bulblets by harvest time the following summer.

Dairymen are advised that by keeping cows away from the onion for four hours before milking, they can produce milk with practically no garlic flavor.

be quickly attached in place of the snoves. Some soils, of course, are too stony or otherwise unsuitable for the use of sweeps.

From the time the farmer is able to get on the land in the spring until the corn is laid by, he should direct his efforts towards preventing the onion from making top growth, with the idea of killing the plants that come up from the hard shell bulbs.

PASTURES AND LAWNS

If grass lands are quite full of the onion, the easiest way of disposing of them is the cultivation method. In fields where there are only a few plants, the most feasible method is to dig the plants or clumps with a mattock.

DEATH OF MRS. HULFISH

On Tuesday, Aug. 18, when it became known that death, the insatiable gleaner, had taken from us in the still hours of the night Mrs. Mary Virginia Hulfish, widow of the late Jas. P. Hulfish, a feeling of profound sorrow swept over this entire community.

Mrs. Hulfish was born in this county Feb. 22, 1842 and had lived in Haymarket all of her married life, a period of nearly forty-eight years. Although she had passed the allotted time of man, "three score and ten," with her kindly acts, genial ways and cheery face, she seemed ever young to us who knew and loved her.

Mrs. Hulfish is survived by three sons and one daughter, Messrs. Jas. A. Hulfish, of Alexandria, Randolph and Lawrence Hulfish and Miss Ruth Hulfish, of Haymarket, also four grandchildren and two brothers, J. P. Smith, of Waterfall, and Jos. B. Smith, of Colorado, and one sister, Mrs. Jas. W. Bell, of this county.

The funeral service was at her home church, conducted by her former pastor Rev. T. D. D. Clark.

Interment was at Antioch, the church of her early years. There in the quiet cemetery, where sleep father and mother, husband and child, covered with a canopy of beautiful flowers which bore testimony to the love and sympathy of kindred and friends, she will await the summons.

BY W. M. BROWN (Field Agent Southern Railway)

A Farmers' Institute will be held at the public schoolhouse at Nokesville Monday afternoon at 2 p. m.

There will be talks made on "Making Next Year's Corn Crop," "Seed Selection," "Better Methods of Feeding," "What Shall We Do About the Fertilizer Situation?" and "Marketing Crops to Advantage."

There is not a farmer who can not well afford to take off one afternoon to come to this meeting, and I am going to expect Nokesville to furnish a large crowd for this first meeting in their midst.

I expect to be in the Nokesville vicinity on the morning of the 7th, and will visit several farms.

A List Of Names And A Message

It is significant that thousands of Virginians who stand high in the State's professional and intellectual life have voluntarily expressed their opposition to State-Wide Prohibition.

Wherever there exists a true respect for moderation, wherever sound ideals have produced men with broad minds and big hearts, wherever Virginia's ideal of free government is deeply rooted, there is found a hostility to the State-Wide heresy which amounts almost to an instinct.

These are names that stand to the outside world for Virginia:

- Harry St. George Tucker, Lexington
- Judge Geo. L. Christian, Richmond
- Maj. William A. Anderson, Lexington
- Col. Walter H. Taylor, Norfolk
- Fergus Reid, Norfolk
- T. S. Garnett, Jr., Norfolk
- Alexander Hamilton, Petersburg
- George A. Harrison, Waverly
- Judge W. Samuel Goodwyn, Emporia
- Dr. Southgate Leigh, Norfolk
- Marshall W. McCormick, Berryville
- A. P. Thom, Jr., Norfolk
- Benjamin F. Kirkpatrick, Lynchburg
- Judge D. Tucker Brooke, Norfolk
- Randolph Harrison, Lynchburg
- Col. Archer Anderson, Richmond
- H. E. Downing, Front Royal
- Eppa Hunton, Jr., Richmond
- William Robinson, Brown Town
- J. H. McCue, Bristol
- C. V. Meredith, Richmond
- J. W. Kinsey, Washington
- John M. Lake, Front Royal
- St. George Fitzhugh, Fredericksburg
- Maj. Holmes Conrad, Winchester

Read the list over again. The history of Virginia is crowded with names like these. They have been borne by the State's foremost lawgivers, by its patriots and its statesmen. Their descendants enjoy a heritage which they dare not barter for a sordid end.

Each one of the men named above and many others have willingly agreed to serve on various committees of the Virginia Association for Local Self Government, for the State at large. Each has expressed his desire to help in so far as it lies in his power, to defeat State-Wide Prohibition and preserve the fundamental principle of Local Self Government.

From time to time, between now and the end of the campaign, there will be published by the Association, statements from these and other equally prominent Virginians who have enlisted for active service under the local self government banner. They will set forth briefly their reasons for opposing State-Wide prohibition, and what they have to say will be worth reading.

It is not an accident that the thinking men of the State are opposed to State-Wide prohibition. It is as natural for these Virginians to fight the Commonwealth's foe when it appears in the form of a threatened legal enactment, as it was for their forefathers to give battle to the enemy when he appeared accoutred in steel.

Bear this in mind:

The Thinking Men of Virginia are Opposed to State-Wide Prohibition.

FARMERS ARE THINKING

The Columbia (S. C.) State discussing the defeat of Governor Cole Blease for the United States Senate, says that the farmers did it, and adds: 'Additionally, the farmers are aware of the serious conditions that confront them, as are all our people, on account of the war in Europe, and it is a time for all men to think dispassionately and act soberly.'

This paragraph should be of interest and warning to the farmers of Virginia. They are also confronted by serious conditions growing out of the European war. It is no time for them or other men who have interests at stake, to vote for an increase of taxation and unsettling of values, such as State-wide prohibition invariably produces. In other words, they should do some thinking here in Virginia before they support the wild leadership of the National Anti-Saloon League, of Westerville, Ohio. And the indications are that they
