

BOYS LIKE LIFE AT CAMP LEE

Letter From One of Prince William's Representatives in Service.

"We have experienced so many new things and so many things have happened here since our arrival that it would be impossible to recount them all," writes Earl D. Merrill, one of the Prince William boys at Camp Lee. "The fellows are rapidly adjusting themselves to their changed conditions of life and seriously settling down to the heavy work before them."

"The morning after our arrival we were checked up at regimental headquarters, and while there Lieut. Col. Love said, 'Prince William has done very well. There has been no kick whatever against them.' At that time the Prince William and Fairfax men were temporarily attached to Company G, with the expectation of being assigned to it. But after the physical examination on Saturday the whole company, with the exception of a few individuals, was transferred to Company H barracks under a new set of officers."

"The fellows were dissatisfied with the change, for they had cut up a big pile of wood and cleared up and leveled off the ground around Company G's quarters. Further, they had come to like the officers in that company."

"One of the Fairfax boys did not pass the physical examination, but so far none of the Prince William men has been rejected. Most of the former and all of the latter have been permanently assigned to Company K, 318th Infantry Regiment."

"Camp Lee is a huge wooden city covering approximately 15 square miles, with electric lights, water and sewage systems. The buildings, barracks, officers' quarters, store houses, stables and administration buildings are arranged in a huge horseshoe with drill fields and parade grounds between the sides of the shoe and the division headquarters and depot at the front of the shoe. When completed there will probably be about 300 barracks in camp, each one a unit in itself. In each of these buildings a company, excepting the commissioned officers, is quartered. All alike, they are two-story wooden structures with a large bunk room upstairs accommodating 100 men and a smaller one downstairs for 50 men. Then there is a company office, supply room, mess hall and kitchen on the first floor."

"There is a Y. M. C. A. building—many are yet in the process of construction—in nearly every regiment, where a program or some form of entertainment is provided every night. Religious services are held on Thursday nights and three times on Sundays. Movies, victrolas, stationery and reading matter are also free to all. Great numbers of the fellows have found their way to these recreation centers to find amusement, fellowship and good cheer. And the rookies enter into the activities of the 'Y' with the same earnestness and vim as the drill and police duties of the day."

"Private Ollie Lynch has been slightly indisposed for several days. The others are well. Private Ed Roads is to be assigned to the regimental band, as 'the guy who plays the cornet.'"

"The fellows spend a good part of their time writing to

TO MEET AT HAYMARKET

Washington Speaker Will Address Red Cross Branch.

A general meeting of the Haymarket Branch of the Red Cross will be held on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening Haymarket. A speaker from Washington is expected to address the meeting and the annual election of officers will be held.

It is earnestly hoped that every member will make a special effort to be present and all others are cordially invited.

The work of making surgical dressings is progressing rapidly. As the need for dressings is increasing all members are urged to come regularly to the workroom. Knitters are also wanted. The cold weather is approaching and warm clothing will be in demand.

ROOMS OPENED BY RED CROSS

Members and Public Invited to Make Use of Manassas Headquarters.

Red Cross headquarters in the People's Bank Building was open for the first time Tuesday afternoon. The rooms were placed in order by the headquarters committee, of which Mrs. Joseph Preston Lyon is chairman, and will be open to members of the chapter and to the public every afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Volunteer members of the chapter will be in charge each day. The first members to volunteer for this service were Mrs. C. B. C. Johnson, Mrs. W. Fewell Merchant, Mrs. Jacob L. Harrell, Mrs. J. F. Burks and Miss Mary Beverly Leachman.

Ladies who desire to assist in the work of military relief are requested to apply at headquarters for instructions concerning the knitting, sewing and other work to be done. The knitters for the present are busy with sleeveless sweaters for the immediate comfort of southern boys in northern camps. Among the finished articles already received is a knitted muffler made by Mrs. W. J. Dobbins, of Dumfries.

Special interest attaches to the comfort kits which are such welcome gifts to the soldier. Instructions for making the bags were given in last week's issue and further information may be had at the headquarters in Manassas. It is expected that many of the women and girls of the neighborhood will be glad to furnish the bags. They may be filled or unfilled, according to the desire of the donor, and members of the Red Cross committees will see that they are properly filled. Ladies are invited to bring their materials to the workrooms.

The rooms are furnished with tables, desk, cabinet, chairs and sewing machines. The walls are freshly papered, the woodwork is spotless with new paint, and the floor is covered with linoleum.

The folks back home or reading and rereading the news from them. There are looks of real joy on the faces of some and genuine disappointment on others as they call at the company or regimental postoffice in quest of expected mail.

"In popularity among his fellows, the man who receives a box of 'eats' from home ties for first place with the recipient of a copy of The Journal."

MISS LIPSCOMB MARRIED HERE

Becomes Bride of Capt. Jamison, U. S. A., at Trinity Episcopal Church.

A beautiful and impressive wedding ceremony was solemnized Saturday evening at Trinity Episcopal Church when Miss Mary Henrietta Lipscomb, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Lipscomb, became the bride of Capt. Howard W. Jamison, U. S. A. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. J. F. Burks, in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends from the immediate neighborhood and distant points. The church was effectively decorated with ferns and palms and other potted plants. Miss Julia Willcox Lewis rendered the wedding music.

There were no attendants. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church on the arm of Capt. Jamison, who was clad in his uniform as an officer of the United States Army. The bride wore a smart tailored suit of navy blue, with a becoming hat of dark blue velvet and other accessories to match and a cluster bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony Capt. and Mrs. Jamison left on an evening train for Camp McClellan, Annapolis, Md., where Capt. Jamison is stationed. Later the young couple will enjoy a southern tour.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Judge William E. Lipscomb and has lived in Manassas all her life. Her father is chairman of the Prince William county democratic committee and examiner of records for the sixteenth Virginia judicial circuit. Capt. Jamison is a native of Baltimore, Md.

WILL ORGANIZE A HOME GUARD

Men to Hold Meeting Next Friday Evening at Town Hall.

Plans for the organization of a Home Guard are being made by Manassas citizens who are interested in the well-being of the community while the boys are at the front. An organization meeting is to be held next Friday evening at the Town Hall. As soon as 50 men have enrolled they will proceed to elect a captain and two lieutenants and report to the Adjutant General for further instructions.

The Home Guard will be composed of patriotic citizens over military age. Their jurisdiction and authority will extend no further than the limits of the county in which they are appointed. Appointments will be made under the laws of the state from the civil officers, who are authorized to make the appointments and to allow compensation and expenses.

"The members of the Home Guard being men of mature years and discretion should bear in mind that outbreaks and disturbances may be frequently prevented by wise counsel and timely warning," reads the circular issued from the office of the Adjutant General, "but the Guard should also be prepared to act promptly and effectively with force, if necessary. Unlawful gatherings should be forthwith dispersed and there should be a general watchfulness by the members of the Guard at all times to prevent acts calculated to foment trouble."

The Manassas movement is headed by Deputy Clerk L. L. Loomis, Sergeant C. H. Wine and Messrs. Powell M. Metz and John E. Barrett.

BALL GAME AT CAMP

Company K Nine Composed of 7 Prince William Boys.

There was no drill Wednesday afternoon, in order to give the men a chance to rest and clean up, says a news letter to The Journal from Camp Lee, which failed to reach Manassas in time for last week's issue. Company K challenged Company L to a baseball game. Company K is composed of Fairfax, Prince William, Warren, Green and Spotsylvania county men, and Company L of the men from Richmond, and the counties of Orange, Frederick, Stafford and Madison.

From the 156 men in Company K seven Prince William men filled places on the nine. The final score was 26 to 6 in favor of Company K. Roads put across a home run and Keys had to hit credit two home runs and three three-baggers. The lineup for Company K was as follows:

Ed Roads, second base; C. D. Rue, first base; W. F. Ritenour, third base; Charles B. Keys, catcher; N. C. Pattie, short stop; M. Simon, pitcher, and A. Ellis, right field, all of Prince William, and F. C. Worthington and L. Holland, center field, both of Fairfax.

—Rev. Albany Rodney Smith, better known as Gypsy Smith, jr., the evangelist who conducted a series of meetings at the tabernacle here in June, has accepted an invitation to hold a two weeks' revival, beginning Sunday, at a Methodist Church in Danville.

Eighteen men have been ordered to report at the courthouse Monday evening at 4 o'clock, and later the people of Manassas will honor them with a reception at Conner's Hall, under the auspices of the Manassas Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Rev. Tertius Van Dyke, of New York city, has been invited to deliver an address at 7:30 o'clock on the subject of the world war. Rev. Mr. Van Dyke should be well qualified to speak on this subject, having returned recently from Holland, where he served as private secretary to his father, Dr. Henry Van Dyke, who has been our representative at the court of the Netherlands.

After a short musical program, the ladies of the Red Cross will entertain the young men in a social way, serving light refreshments.

The prospective soldiers will report at the courthouse again on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. The people of Prince William who desire to accord them special honor are invited to assemble at the Jubilee tablet on the courthouse lawn at 8:30 o'clock. Dr. Charles Wood, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, Washington, and member of the Federal Council of Churches for Christian Service.

The young men will be escorted to the railway station by the town and county officials and the O. F. A. brass band. They will leave for Petersburg on the Manassas branch train at 9:47 a. m.

The school children are asked to march to the courthouse grounds at 8:30 a. m. with flags and songs, returning to school at the close of the exercises at the Jubilee tablet.

Thieves at Work Again.

Thieves entered the home of Mr. George D. Baker last Friday night, carrying off Mr. Baker's watch, his hunting coat and about $14. The watch and money were taken out of the suit of clothes which he had worn the day before and the suit, after being relieved of its valuables was left in the rear of the house near his shop door. It is supposed that the thief entered the house by way of the kitchen.

The next morning the family of Mr. Henry Camper, in a neighboring house, found their hall light burning and discovered the loss of food from the pantry and a new hat belonging to Mr. Camper.

To the Voters of Prince William County: Having been regularly declared the Democratic nominee for the House of Delegates from Prince William County, I hereby announce that I will be a candidate for the House of Delegates from said county at the general election to be held in November.

A CARD

To the Voters and Citizens of Prince William County: I hereby give notice to the people of Prince William County that I shall be a candidate to succeed myself in the next House of Delegates of Virginia. I believe my conduct in the past four sessions warrants this. I ask you to examine the records, as kept in the Journal of the House, to see where I stood and how I voted on all matters.

WAR RISKS EXAGGERATED

War time risks are subject to great exaggeration, according to the Virginia Council of Defense, which declares that not more than one man in thirty has been killed during the past year on the battlefields of Europe. The death rate from disease is less than in times of peace, for the governments have become the jealous guardians of the welfare of their defenders, providing healthful conditions of life and scientific sanitation.

Fifteen men out of every sixteen soldiers of the allied armies have survived three years of fighting, and the growing superiority of their munitions and artillery makes the risk lighter every day.

"The impression is current in America," the statement says, "that the present war is so destructive of human life that the drafting of an American youth means his probable, if not almost certain death or permanent maiming. Statements have been published that half the men that go into the trenches never come out alive. This impression is false, and the statements are lies."

This vigorous denial from the Council of Defense, based on the reports of the French high commissioner and others, compiled by the committee on Public Information, should be regarded as accurate and positive evidence of conditions which should bring comfort and confidence to "the folks at home."

THE DOGS AND WAR

France is badly in need of dogs, we are reminded by the Alexandria Gazette, which intimates that Alexandria has enough and to spare and that if France can make use of them they should be netted and shipped across the Atlantic as soon as possible.

So many duties have developed for dogs since the beginning of the war that every stray canine can be used. Every dog found in the French republic contributes to the supply and breeding societies furnish regular quotas—and still they call for more.

At times the prospects would seem bright for the organization of a whole canine regiment of ownerless and unlicensed dogs which find their way to the streets of Manassas.

Doubtless they would be happier in France. The enemies of unlicensed dogs and the enemies of dogs in general would be glad to see them go and the man whose heart goes out to a homeless dog would share their pride in being of service.

And so we say with the Alexandria Gazette, if France can make use of them, they should be drafted and sent to the front as soon as possible.

ARE WE SATISFIED?

Pupils in certain schools in Iowa have found a unique way of co-operating with Food Administrator Hoover for the duration of the war. They have pledged themselves not to find fault with the food which is placed before them while we are feeding the boys in khaki and their comrades in arms across the sea. Every violation is punishable by a fine of one cent.

It is expected that contentment will grow faster than the fund of coppers, and after all, the object of these boys and girls was not to raise a war fund of penny fines.

THE VOLUNTEER

My country needs me. On her lips today

I heard the bugles calling to my heart,

And at the sound my sluggish pulses start,

And every blood-drop seems at once to say,

"I am a patriot! You but lead the way!"

So comes the summons, ringing over seas—

The clarion, warning, pealing on the wind—

And from the lethargy of peace and ease

I wake to action, willing, brave, resigned.

My country's fate is mine! Then let the fray

Wax hot and hotter, till the end appears;

Those born in freedom scorn all weakling fears!

My country needs me! Hark! Again the cry!

I go to serve, to conquer, or to die!

THE JUDGESHIP NOT AN ISSUE

To the Voters of Prince William County:

The object of this article is to deny over my signature the statement that has been and is now being circulated over the county that it is Judge Thornton's intention to resign his position as judge of the 16th Judicial Circuit and that I am pledged to secure the election of his successor, in the event I am a member of the Virginia legislature.

I have every reason to believe that the statement, which is without any foundation whatever, was made for the sole purpose of leading the voters of the county to think that I had become a party to a deal, and thus attempt to injure my standing as the Democratic nominee for the House of Delegates.

I deny most positively and emphatically that I am pledged to support any one for the judgeship, if I am elected to the Legislature, or that I have had any kind of an understanding or agreement with any one with reference to the judgeship. Judge Thornton has six years to serve from next February. He has not intimated to me that he will resign. On the contrary, I have every reason to believe that he has no intention of resigning.

I have not been asked to support any one for the judgeship and I had not heard it intimated that the next legislature would be called on to elect a judge for this circuit till I heard the rumor referred to.

I shall not now undertake to fix the authorship of this rumor; but should it now be repeated, those repeating it do so, knowing the same to be a deliberate falsehood.

Thus far, I have taken no part in any newspaper controversy, and have tried to avoid everything suggestive of abuse. But in justice to myself, I cannot allow my silence to be construed into an admission of such an unfounded charge.

-BUSINESS IS GOOD-

"Business seems to be good this morning, Mr. Saunders," I remarked, as I stood talking with him. "Business is always good now," he replied. "You see, it's this way: I find that sanitary methods are the least costly, for cleanliness is the cardinal virtue of efficiency. I am becoming efficient; my customers know they can rely on me for good meat and prompt service. When they are entertaining I never disappoint them. My patrons are therefore satisfied and I don't have to waste time listening to complaints about tough steaks, etc. I put that time in on service." As I left I could not help but remarking that sanitary methods plus service were the things that make business. Take a look at

EASTERN COLLEGE NOTES

(Written by the college reporter.) Despite the fact that, due to the draft and other reasons, the enrollment was small this year, Eastern College threw open its portals to knowledge in grand style. Without confusion, the entire school settled down to work and fun. The organization of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s, the literary societies and other interests came in their due order.

An informal reception was held Saturday evening at Voorhees Hall. The entire school was invited, and, thanks to the artistic musical numbers rendered by Prof. Mosher, violinist, accompanied by Prof. Muelberger on the piano, the evening was a huge success. Mrs. Porter, teacher of expression, also added to the program's charm by a selection, "When the Moon Rose," realistically given.

Everyone is contributing something towards the success of the school, and, after we find ourselves in football, just watch old Eastern roll up the victories, not only in athletics, but also in the conquests of knowledge and wisdom.

The Washington Irving Literary Society has elected the following officers: President, Miss Granston; vice president, Miss Titus; secretary and treasurer, Miss Moser; critic, Miss Jackson; hostess, Miss Gross; and censor, Miss Schuster.

The Jeffersonian Literary Society has elected officers as follows: President, Mr. Bachelor; vice president, Mr. Wilson; secretary and treasurer, Mr. Rottman, and critic, Prof. Mosher.

The officers of the Y. M. C. A. are: Mr. Bates, president; Mr. O'Poole, vice president, and Mr. Payne, secretary and treasurer.

At a meeting of the girls' literary society the members decided to study South America during the first semester and to do some Red Cross knitting.

The members of the Collegian staff for the college year are: Editor-in-chief, Miss Margaret Moser, of Pennsylvania; associate editors, Miss Esther Granston, of Virginia, and Mr. Hugh Ramsaur, of Washington; business managers, Mr. Russell Wilson, of West Virginia, and Mr. Lewis Payne, of New Jersey.

The football team will journey to Annapolis tomorrow morning to play the St. John's College team.

STORY OF CLUB WORK WRITTEN BY THIRTEEN-YEAR-OLD MEMBER.

The article given below is a story of the work of the girls of the canning clubs which was submitted with others early in the summer to Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, county home demonstration agent, by Miss Elizabeth Pope, a thirteen-year-old student of the Manassas school who has been prominently identified with the club work. The last paragraph of the story should be accorded special attention, showing as it does the spirit of helpfulness and cooperation exhibited by the girls of the canning clubs. The story follows:

"In the present time when we are engaged in war and the scarcity of food is felt everywhere, our country urges every plot of earth to be cultivated, if possible. Whether large or small, it will help to feed our soldiers. When Miss Gilbert announced to the boys and girls about the gardening, I thought this was the time and place to 'do my bit.'"

"The school board had the ground put in proper condition for us to cultivate it. Each child was allowed six rows, each being 210 feet long. When the morning came for us to start our work, we decided what we were going to plant. I decided to plant tomatoes, beans and corn. The reason I selected these vegetables was that most people like them and they can be canned for winter use."

"Before starting our tomato hill we put fertilizer in the places where the hills were to be made, each hill being about 3 feet apart. Later in the evening, about 5 o'clock, I went over to my garden, which is below the Agricultural School, to set out my plants. In doing so, I took my hand and dug back the earth. After setting the plant in the hole, I poured some water in over the roots, then covered it over with some loose soil. The reason I set my plants out about 5 o'clock is because they can be in the ground over night before the sun's rays fall upon them the next morning."

"After several weeks I worked my tomatoes for the first time. After that I worked them on an average of once a week. There being plenty of rain, my tomatoes had a sufficient quantity of water. I continued to work the plants until they started to bloom."

"As I was chosen from the League of Safety of Manassas to attend the course at Eastern College, which was offered to Canning, Poultry and Safety Club girls, I learned to can tomatoes along with other things."

"When my tomatoes are ready to be canned I will use the systematic way which I learned in taking the course."

"There are six steps in canning tomatoes. The first is to scald the tomatoes one minute, the next step is plunging them into cold water, and after that to remove skin, core and bad spots. The next step is to sterilize tops, and cans and, if canning in glass, also sterilize rubbers by putting them into lukewarm water and, after coming to a boil, let boil for fifteen minutes. The next step is the packing of the cans. Put enough salt or sugar, or both, according to taste, then cover tomatoes with juice."

"The next step is to seal and tip cans and the last step is the cooking in boiling water for 22 minutes. Do not fill cans too full; if so, they will not seal. If canning in glass, be sure always to wrap a cloth or something around it when taking the jars out of the water; if not, the jars will break when the air strikes them."

"With the little experience I have had in canning, I would be glad to help any of my friends with their canning."

CLOTHING MAN GAINS 35 LBS. BY TAKING IRON

Says Six Fifty-Cent Bottles Brought Relief After Ten Long Years of Suffering

TELLS WHAT KIND OF IRON HE RECOMMENDS

"I was troubled with my stomach for ten years, and in that time I bought almost every kind of medicine and couldn't begin to say how much I took or paid out for medical service, yet nothing did me any good. Then I began using Acid Iron Mineral and I don't think I had taken more than six of the fifty-cent bottles when I began feeling better than I ever did. I only weighed 145 pounds when I began to take Acid Iron Mineral and now I weigh 180 pounds. It is a pleasure for me to recommend it to anyone who has symptoms of indigestion or stomach trouble and if they will try it I am sure they will find it everything I have said it to be," writes Mr. W. T. Cash, proprietor of a well known clothing store in Bristol, Virginia.

A statement such as the above from a merchant of integrity, who knew all the agony of stomach trouble for ten years or more must convince the reader that after all is said and done, just plain, everyday natural medicinal iron, concentrated in it is in Acid Iron Mineral is the cheapest, best medicine to bring the system back to normal and purify and enrich the blood.

It is unusual, helps the appetite, and costs but little, a teaspoonful in a glass of water after meals being a most invigorating dose. Whole families take it Fall and Spring as a tonic. Absolutely non-injurious, contains no alcohol, narcotic, or habit-forming drugs. Does not upset the liver, stomach, or bowels, nor injure the teeth.

If your druggist hasn't it send a dollar to the Ferrudine Chemical Corp., Roanoke, Va., for a large size bottle prepaid.

GAME WARDEN NAMED

Wm. Crow, of Joplin Appointed by Game Commissioner.

Mr. William Crow, of Joplin, has qualified as game warden for Prince William county, his appointment having been made by Mr. John S. Parsons, state commissioner of game and inland fisheries.

Game Warden Crow has received a crate of English Ring Necked pheasants, half of which have been released at Joplin and half at Ben Lomond Farm, near Manassas. The state has declared a three years' closed season on pheasants and the birds will have additional protection from the landowners.

The hunting season opens November 1, and County Clerk Tyler already has issued 133 hunting licenses, 119 for the county and 14 for the state.

Some persons have been under the misapprehension that a license bought in 1916 would be good for one year from the date of issue. All hunting licenses obtained for last season expired July 1, 1917, and all persons hunting on expired license are liable to arrest.
