

FARM SERVICE LABOR BUREAU

Mr. Elliot Spicer, Junior Examiner, Department of Labor to Aid Local Farmers.

The Farm Service Division of the United States Employment Service, created two months ago as a special arm of the Service devoted to handling the farm-labor problem, makes the following summary of the Service's plans for ascertaining the labor requirements of the farmers of the country and recruiting and distributing all available labor:

1. A special farm-service division is being established in most of the 100 offices of the Employment Service, with men in charge who have had experience with farm-labor problems. These divisions are devoting their entire time and attention to looking after the labor needs of the farmers in their respective districts and developing ways and means to render assistance.

Special Field Agents to Study Situation.

2. Special field agents are being sent into districts in which acute farm-labor shortage exists, or where unusually large numbers of men will be needed, to study the local situation at close range and devise ways of relieving the immediately pressing needs.

3. Posters announcing the location of all federal and state employment offices are being hung in post offices, railway stations, general stores, and other public places, telling farmers and farm workers how and where to apply for labor or jobs.

4. A weekly bulletin will be issued in which all opportunities for farm employment received and the needs of particular districts for reasonable labor will be listed. This will be posted in the post offices in all towns and cities in the country of 2,000 population and more and given to the press.

55,000 Post Offices as Labor Agencies.

5. By an agreement between the Post Office Department and the Department of Labor, all third and fourth class post offices, numbering 55,000, are authorized farm-labor employment offices. Their postmasters and rural carriers have been authorized to act as "farm-labor agents" for the United States Employment Service. The postmasters and their carriers cover all rural sections which are not convenient to a regular branch office of the Employment Service and bring every farm gate in touch with the machinery of the Service and the local and distant sources of farm-labor supply. Each postmaster and rural carrier furnishes application blanks to farmers wanting help. Upon receipt of a filled application the postmaster displays a bulletin announcing the details of the call, so as to attract any local available farm labor. If the application is not promptly filled locally, the postmaster forwards it to the nearest regular office of the Employment Service, which has a large field from which to draw labor.

All Branch Offices Make Weekly Reports.

6. A weekly report of farm-labor conditions is being sent to the main office at Washington by all the branch offices and by many state employment offices. This shows the number of applications for farm labor received, the number of applicants for farm work, the number referred to employment and accepted, etc. Each report also comments on local conditions from information gained through all possible sources. These weekly reports enable the Employment Service to give special and immediate attention to districts having a shortage by sending special field officers to those districts, and by diverting labor from other sections where there is a surplus.

Cooperating With Department of Agriculture.

7. The Employment Service is working in close cooperation with the wide-flung arms of the Department of Agriculture, with its 2,300 county agents in the state extension service, its community agents, state farm help specialists, and supervising specialists. These agencies do local work, and report to the Employment Service regarding labor shortage, together with much other important information bearing on the farm situation. The State Councils of Defense, county councils, and cooperating bodies also are being coordinated with the Employment Service, that no competition in this effort to aid food production be permitted to waste energies or time.

Sufficient Labor Available for Agriculture.

The Department of Labor's study has convinced it that while there is today a severe shortage of farm labor, there is sufficient available labor to meet the demands of agriculture if the farmers cooperate by outlining their demands with definiteness and in time. It is suggested that this can most readily be done by asking the rural carrier or postmaster for a blank and filling it at once.

SOUTHERN SOLDIER ANSWERS LAST CALL

Mr. Jackson Payne, a long-time resident of the neighborhood of Independent Hill, suffered a stroke of paralysis on Friday last from which he died Wednesday morning without having regained consciousness. Born in the year 1830, the deceased was a native of Fairfax county, but came to Prince William in his youth.

In the early part of the Civil War he served in a company commanded by Capt. Brawner, which was later ordered to join the command of Col. Mosby. Since the war he has been engaged in farming and was a member of Brawl Camp, Confederate Veterans.

Married twice, he was a widower at the time of his death. His first wife was a Miss Arnold, the second, a Miss Keys. He leaves a son, Mr. Rosier Payne, and two daughters.

Mr. Payne was kind and genial in manner, and numbered among his friends many of our citizens, who will regret to learn of his death.

What greater tribute can be paid to a man than that he served faithfully under the immortal Lee and Stonewall Jackson.

CALL FROM NAVY LEAGUE

Donate Canned Fruits, Jellies and Jams to Our Boys.

(Miss Lillian Y. Gilbert, County Home Demonstration Agent)

An opportunity is offered to render a service which will be appreciated and which will add to the comfort, health and pleasure of many of those brave young men who have gone forth to fight the battles for Democracy.

About a month ago the women of Maryland made a liberal donation of canned fruits, preserves, jams and jellies to the Navy League of the United States. These articles were given for use on our transports and destroyers, which were going abroad. Mr. W. S. Townsend, Secretary of the League, writes us that the expressions of gratitude from both officers and men have been almost overwhelming, and that now requests come from every side for more.

We know that the good women and girls of Prince William county would be glad to help give back to "our boys" some of the things which they have sacrificed in leaving their homes to fight for us in France. It is earnestly requested that all who will donate one or two cans of fruit, jars of preserves, jellies or jams for this purpose, paste labels on the cans giving their names and addresses. It will add a personal touch to the gift, which the boys will appreciate—they like to know who it is that is thinking of them. These donations may be left in the office of The Journal and Democrat. As soon as enough has been secured for a small shipment, the County Agents will be glad to take charge of them and see that they are delivered to the Secretary of the Navy League, who will see that they are delivered promptly to the men leaving for France.

WALKS MILES FOR BOND

Mrs. Noakes, Aged Eighty-one, Shows Her Patriotism.

Winchester, Va., April 22.—Mrs. Margaret Ann Noakes, 81 years old, widow of a Confederate veteran, walked several miles from her home in Frederick county Friday morning and paid for a Liberty Bond at the Farmers' and Mechanics National Bank. She was able to make the purchase only by dint of real sacrifice and savings, but she declared she wanted to do something to help her country, and that it was a pleasure for her to make the little sacrifice. She said she had never to give to the country; she was too advanced in years to do much Red Cross work, but she decided she could be of some help, and hence gave her savings for a Liberty Bond.—Loudoun Times.

British Premier Speaks

The events of the last few weeks have made it plain to every thinking man that there is no longer room for compromise between the ideals for which we and our enemies stand. Democracy and autocracy have come to the death grip; one or the other will fasten its hold on mankind. It is a clear realization on this issue which will be our strength in the trials to come. I have no doubt that freedom will triumph.—David Lloyd-George.

CLUB MEMBERS FURNISHED PIGS

The National Bank of Manassas Will Furnish Pure Bred Pigs to Boys and Girls.

(C. A. Montgomery, County Agent.) Owing to the scarcity of hogs, especially of pure bred brood stock, the National Bank of Manassas has agreed to furnish pigs for boys and girls who wish to enter the club as provided in an agreement below.

At least forty pigs have been engaged and will be ready for distribution about the first of June. Prices from $12.50 to $15.00 each, which is much less than a single pure bred pig can be purchased at present from breeders.

Any boy or girl who wishes to get one or more of these pigs may apply to me or to the bank.

Contract.

We, the undersigned, hereby associate ourselves together in an organization to be known and called the Prince William County Pure Bred Club of Prince William County, Virginia.

We, the members of this club, agree to buy from the National Bank of Manassas, Virginia, one or more registered pigs and to pay therefor the actual cost of said pigs, to secure the payment for which we agree to execute notes payable with interest to the National Bank of Manassas, on demand, and each of us agree to secure our notes with the endorsement of our respective father, mother, or guardian, the title to each of the pigs furnished to members of this club to be and remain the property of the National Bank of Manassas until paid for in full.

We agree to feed and care for the pigs furnished to us according to the direction and under the general supervision of the County Agricultural Agent of this county.

We agree under the directions of the County Agent to sell cooperatively at public auction at Manassas, Virginia, the pigs furnished us upon a day to be set by said agent, which date shall not be less than six months from date of this agreement nor more than eight months and that out of the price received for the pigs sold at auction, each member is to pay his note with interest to date of sale and to receive all profit received over and above the cost of the pigs, sale advertisement and serum inoculation to prevent hog cholera if pigs should be inoculated.

We agree, in case the pigs furnished us should be females, not to breed and to prevent their being bred by any other person or by accident.

In consideration of the organization of said club, the National Bank of Manassas agrees to award prizes of $25.00 for each ten members of said pig club, not to exceed cash prize, $100.00 for forty members, said prizes to be awarded to the members of said pig club under the supervision of the County Agent, and not until satisfactory record books are turned in, and upon the following plan:

A cash prize of $25.00 for each ten members of said club, to be so divided that the one receiving the highest prize in any group shall receive not more than $5.00 and the one with the lowest score shall receive not less than $1.50; the score in each class to be apportioned as follows:

The greatest gain per day 15 per cent.

The greatest gain at least cost 25 per cent.

The management of pig, including balanced rations, pasturing, best kept record and written history of test, 40 per cent.

Best pig, 20 per cent.

The National Bank of Manassas further agrees to cancel the obligation of any member whose pig dies before the terms of this contract have been fulfilled, provided the death occurs because of conditions for which the member is not responsible. The County Agent to be the judge; and in the event of such an occurrence in a unit of ten pigs (as designated at the time of delivery to members) the bank will cancel first premium in said unit, and in the event of two deaths in same unit, the second premium will be canceled and so on. The first prize then, in such a unit will be the next in order.

Pigs to be judged on day of sale and prizes to be paid to boys in cash.

GOOD ROADS DAY

Friday, May 10, Designated by Governor Davis.

Whereas, Good roads are a military necessity in time of war, and are important factors in winning this war for democracy and the freedom of the world; and in times of peace regulate and determine the economic and social development of every community; and

Whereas, The General Assembly of Virginia has established a system of state highways, and liberally provided for road construction and maintenance; now

Therefore, I, Westmoreland Davis, Governor of Virginia, do designate and proclaim Friday, May 10, 1918, as "Good Roads Day" in the Commonwealth of Virginia, and earnestly request the people of Virginia to assemble in their respective neighborhoods on that day with their teams, tools and proper materials and work their roads. I ask all citizens—young and old, white and colored—on this day to devote their personal labor, facilities and means in the patriotic work of making better highways for the economic and social advancement of our Commonwealth so it can more efficiently aid in winning the war.

Given under my hand, and under the Lesser Seal of the Commonwealth, at Richmond, this first day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, and in the one hundred and forty-second year of the Commonwealth.

WESTMORELAND DAVIS, Governor.

EASTERN COLLEGE NOTES.

A farewell reception will be given Friday evening in honor of Mr. Bates, who is leaving for military service. A large service flag is in process of manufacture. Recent graduates of Eastern College and former students, to the number of about thirty, are in the service and probably a larger number of those of an earlier date. The authorities are anxious to learn the names of all former members who have enlisted, so as to put their appropriate stars on the flag.

The Student House of Representatives is greatly interested in the constitutional question as to the validity of certain measures recently passed. Prof. Hodge will preside next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

The Red Cross benefit will occur sometime the last of next week.

ENTHUSIASM AT PATRIOTIC RALLY

Parade, Addresses, Music and Successful Liberty Bond Sale Pulled Off.

The rally which took place here last Friday was, in every way, a complete success. Enthusiasm reigned and the crowd was imbued with the spirit of patriotism.

The preliminary parade in the afternoon was led by the Mayor followed by the town and county officials, the Red Cross organizations, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and the teachers and pupils of the public schools. About five hundred are said to have been in line.

In the evening a large and appreciative audience was addressed by Prof. Henry Haymes of Louisiana. Mrs. Kelk of Clifton gave a thrilling account of the disaster to the steamer Arabic.

Among the musical numbers, a song by Mrs. L. Frank Pattie, and renditions on the violin by Prof. Mosher, accompanied by Miss Moser on the piano, were much enjoyed.

Announcement was then made of the sale of Liberty Bonds—the amount sold at the meeting reaching $3,650.

The quota of bonds assigned to this town is $7,500 (counting the population at 1500 at $5.00 per capita.) The workers in the campaign, headed by Mr. Raymond Ratcliffe, report the sale already of $16,000—entitling Manassas to a blue star and another star within easy reach.

The sales for Prince William of the third Liberty Loan, subscribed through the banks of the county to date, as compiled by Mr. Westwood Hutchison in charge of county drive, are as follows:

Through banks in—
Manassas	$30,300
Nokeville	2,500
Occoquan	4,550
Quantico	1,000

Totals $48,350
Of the above amount, residents in the location of Cathedral, subscribed $4,450; Haymarket $1,850 and in addition $1,000 bought through a Loudoun bank credited to Haymarket, making the total for the county $46,350.

Entry blanks are being sent to the high schools all over the eighth district and the winning of the cup should be hotly contested. The cup, which last year was won by Warrenton, is permanently awarded when carried off by the same school for three years.

The league urges all those to be present who approve and enjoy sound athletics.

A list of events follows: 100-yard Dash (trial heats); high jump, 100-yard dash (final), one-mile run, 120-yard (low) hurdles, 12-pound shot put, 220-yard dash (trial heats), pole vault, 220-yard dash (final), broad jump, one-half mile run.

TIMELY TOPICS OF UNIVERSITY

Large Percentage of Letter Men of Famous Virginia Institutions in Service

President Edwin A. Alderman of the University of Virginia has been reappointed Chairman of the Board of Visitors of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, for the year 1918. He will leave the University to attend a meeting of the Board of Visitors at Annapolis May 6. President Alderman has also been appointed by Governor Westmoreland Davis to represent the state of Virginia at a national "Win the War for Permanent Peace Convention" to be held at Philadelphia, Penn., May 16-18.

The Virginia branch of the National Board for Historical Service, in charge of Professor Charles G. Maphis, of the Extension Department of the University of Virginia, which has conducted a state contest for the best essays submitted by public school teachers on the subject, "Why the United States is at War," announces the following results:

For teachers in public high schools: First prize ($75), G. A. Varden, White Stone; second prize ($30), Miss E. C. Wiggins, Lynchburg; third prize ($20), Clyde Webster, Richmond (John Marshall High School); fourth prize ($15), W. H. Jones, South Mill; fifth prize ($10), Miss Zaidie Smith, Portsmouth.

For teachers in public elementary schools: First prize ($75) Edward G. Wood, Richmond; second prize ($25), Miss Sally B. Dickinson, Greenlee; five third prizes ($10 each), Mary Barnett, Roanoke, Mary Ponton, Ontario, Clara Farmer, Prospect, May Fitzpatrick, Bayley, Richie McGraw, Richmond (Bimford School).

Sixty-four essays were submitted from the entire state. The judges in the first group were Professor Lindsay Rogers of the University of Virginia, Prof. W. M. Hundley, Virginia Military Institute, and Dr. J. W. Wayland, Harrisonburg. In the second group the following were judges: Prof. J. M. Lear, Farmville, Prof. W. E. Gilbert, East Radford, and Miss Virginia Goodrich, Fredericksburg.

The letter men of the University of Virginia's varsity teams for the last two years have 39 per cent of their number in some branch of the United States service. Over 80 per cent of these men hold commissions. Forty-five have enlisted in the army, five in aviation corps, five in ambulance service, and three in the navy. Twenty-seven of the men awarded football "V's" during 1916-17 are in service and 19 of the two baseball nines. Every man on the 1916 track squad has enlisted in the army.

One thousand and twelve names of prospective students for the University of Virginia for the next year have been obtained in a campaign for that purpose carried on at the University April 18-20, by the Virginia club. Literature relative to the University and personal letters from President E. A. Alderman will be sent to each of these men in an attempt to secure new students for Virginia. Students are visiting high schools and preparatory schools throughout the state and addressing the graduating classes in the interest of this campaign. In an address before the student body of the University recently, President Alderman urged every man to strive to keep Virginia ready to serve the needs of the nation. "Even in the war between the states, when cannons could be heard upon the lawn, this university managed to exist and so, though we have given a larger percentage of our student body to the country than any other American university, we must maintain our academic life next year. The young men of this country below draft age must be trained.

The debt of two cents charged against Edgar Allan Poe by the University of Virginia, for keeping certain volumes of history overtime, has been paid by the American literature class of Virginia Interment College at Bristol. Poe contracted a debt of sixty cents in fines while at the university in 1826 but the dusty volumes in the Rotunda basement show that only fifty-eight cents was paid. A two-cent stamp was sent by the literature class but no mention of interest was made.

THE NEW FLOUR RATION

The principle of the U. S. Food Administration's new wheat conservation plan as it affects home use is as follows:

Households shall adopt maximum ration of wheat flour (or its wheat equivalent, consisting of wheat products as Victory Bread, macaroni, wheat breakfast cereals, etc.) of one and one-half (1 1/2) pounds of wheat flour per person per week. Observance of these rules will aid households in meeting this new requirement but is no longer obligatory.

SALE OF WHEAT FLOUR BY MILLERS TO FARMERS.

The retailer is authorized to sell or deliver at one time to an individual consumer who is actively engaged in the occupation of farming a quantity of wheat flour, which, taken together with that already on hand, will reasonably meet the requirements of his household or establishment (including his farm laborers and tenants, and their families residing with them), during the next ninety days, provided the farmer signs a certificate worded as follows:

CERTIFICATE.

I, _____, 1918
I, _____, hereby certify that I am actually engaged in the occupation of farming; that the _____ pounds of flour this day sold to me by _____ together with that already on hand, will not give me a supply more than sufficient to meet the requirements of my household or establishment (including my farm laborers and tenants and their families residing with them) during the next ninety days; that I will not sell, lend or deliver such flour to anyone, nor permit such flour to be used for any purpose, except human consumption in my household or establishment; that I will not make any other purchase, nor accept any other delivery of flour for ninety days from this date; and that, in consideration of being permitted to purchase flour in larger amounts than is otherwise allowed, and also from a source to co-operate with my Government in winning the war, I hereby pledge myself to use with the flour obtained under this certificate at least one pound of wheat flour substitute for every pound of wheat flour used, and I further agree to make a periodic report to the Commissioner of the U. S. Food Administration during the next ninety days to one and one-half pounds per capita per week.

MARKETING AND STORAGE OF WHEAT.

For the purpose of facilitating the marketing of the surplus of 1917 crop of wheat and the supply of flour resulting in the farmer's hands, or to his credit in custom mills, the Federal Food Administrator for Virginia, under special authority given to him by the United States Food Administration-Cereal Corporation, hereby gives to the millers of Virginia permission to hold in addition to their thirty days' supply of wheat and flour, any custom wheat accepted before the 20th of January, 1918, still remaining in hand; and further permission to purchase from farmers fifty bushels or less of wheat when said quantity represents a farmer's entire holding, or to purchase from farmers their total supply of flour.

CORNER PACKAGES

The special rule which provides that cornmeal, corn grits or hominy shall not be sold except in packages of certain weights, is intended to apply only to commercial packages put up by manufacturers or wholesalers, and is not intended to apply to sales by retailers.

Where a mill has a supply of bags of stock not specified in this rule and used on April 1st, a permit can be secured through the Federal Food Administration for Virginia to continue with these old stock until the stock is used up.

NOW WHEAT FLOUR MAY BE SOLD.

Retailers to sell not more than one eighth of a barrel of flour to any town customer at any one time, and not more than one-quarter of a barrel to any country customer at any one time, and in no case sell wheat feed lots without the sale of an equal weight of one or more of the following cereals:

Hominy, corn grits, cornmeal, corn flour, edible corn starch, barley flour, rolled oats, oatmeal, rice, rice flour, buckwheat flour, state flour, sweet potato flour, soy bean flour, split pea flour, etc., and meal.

YOUR DUTY TO THE BOYS OVER THERE

Buy more Liberty Bonds, ladies and gentlemen! Do your duty.

Do you realize that money is power, and that power properly applied can and will win the great war? Money will purchase food, clothing, guns, equipment, ammunition and these things added to human energy, brains and courage constitute the power necessary to beat the Boche.

Some one has said, that the last ton of bombs, the last load of shrapnel, will thunder out victory, and, as it takes money to buy these things, it would seem to be a war with success or failure depending upon the longest pocketbook.

If our boys in France should die for lack of anything that money will buy, our crime against them would be greater than the Hun's, for they trusted us. Therefore, if we would not betray this trust, we must find money, and still more money, for the vigorous prosecution of this death-grapple of democracy against the Prussian monster, that the faith of our brave lads may not have been misplaced and that the freedom which is ours may be made eternal.

Some will say they have bought all they can afford, and they do not think it fair or just to expect them to do more. Before coming to this conclusion, examine yourself closely: be sure you have done all you can, and then stretch a point, and buy another bond.

Consider the men whose sons are stopping Boche bullets on the fields of France. Can they afford to give flesh of their flesh and bone of their bone to make your home safe? It will be said that this is war and men are expected to be killed in war. That is true, but is it not asking much less of you that you make your dollars fight when you yourselves cannot take your places beside our boys in the trenches over there? Have you a son or kinsman in France? Has your friend a loved one over there? Protect them and give them comfort. Do you honor and respect the chastity of women? Put a stop to the savage and fiendish assaults upon the womanhood of France and Belgium. Your money will help do these things.

Possibly it may require every dollar in America to bring this war to a successful termination. We trust this will not be the case but the belief is well grounded that money placed in the hands of the government now, will count for many times the same amount used at a later date. Our President has pledged the resources of the country, are you going to back him?

Remember also that you are not asked to give. You are merely asked to make a safe and profitable investment. Every dollar that you put in Liberty Bonds is secured by a first mortgage on every piece of property in the United States. The wealth of New York city alone amounts to more than the entire issue of Liberty Bonds. Are you not convinced of the safety of the investment?

One of our prominent citizens, himself an extensive buyer of Liberty Bonds, brings this story from North Carolina:

An aged colored man, having brought his crop of tobacco into a town, and receiving from the sale of it something more than a thousand dollars, carried the money to a bank, and placing it before one of the officials, said: "Dar's a thousand dollars, sah, take it and gib it to de gub'ment to hep to beat dem Germans." "Do you wish a Liberty Bond?" the official asked. "I dunno sah, I jes' knowa I wants de gub'ment to hab dis money to beat dem Germans wid."

That old man, in his simple faith, has shown a spirit of patriotism that might well make us pause and ponder.

There never was a time in the history of the world, when so much sacrifice was called for; never a time when so many were called upon to give up their lives; nor a time when the earth has been so drenched with the blood of brave men and the tears of brave women, as now. Will you do your full duty? We believe you will.

DEATH OF THE GERMAN LANGUAGE IN AMERICA

The American (!) friends of the Kaiser are not yet aware of it, but the crimes of Germany have given a death blow to the tongue of the Hun in the United States.

Many a weak-kneed board of education will for a time linger shivering on the brink, but the doom of the language of brutal conquest and frightfulness is now as firmly fixed as the Rock of Gibraltar. From all American schools the tongue of the Hun must go.

Does anyone, for one moment, seriously believe that American boys and girls are going to elect to study a language that is black-listed?

Will even the boys and girls of German-born parents deliberately choose to learn a language that will cause them to be ostracized whenever and wherever they speak in public? Not on your life! Sensitive boys and girls are not fond of jibes from their best chums and of eternally explaining and apologizing for something.

The true character of the German Government's subtle propaganda for power in the United States appeals to the imagination. It makes every American who hears of it very hot under the collar; for of all the things that every square-dealing, open-hearted American really hates, treachery to his home and his children comes first. The subtle poison of the German text books that so deftly have been so slipped into thousands of American schools and paid for by loyal Americans is now getting thoroughly nibbed into the public eye, and the reaction is not going to be pleasant to the manipulators of those Kaiser-riden books. The American resents being fooled by people whom he has trusted.

The whole United States rapidly is swinging into line for a trade boycott of Germany after the war. Each day this determination breaks into view in a new place. The growth of this sentiment during the past six months has been very marked. Four months ago about 10 per cent of our pledge cards against future business with the Huns, pledging a boycott of all German goods, returned to us with some of the more drastic clauses crossed out. Today all that is changed. Nothing is crossed out, and the only changes made are those that pledge sterner measures than we proposed.

Already Mr. Davis S. ... have many hundreds of these signed cards, chiefly from total strangers, and the American Guardian Society is now an accomplished fact.

Of course, a certain number of sordid near-Americans always will buy German goods in preference to those of our Allies when thereby they can save a few cents; but the millions will boycott Germany after the war for many years to come. How can it be otherwise with the most dastradly and contemptible people on earth? After the war the Hun and the Turk will get no commercial treaties from us or our Allies with "most favored nation" clauses, and all America, as well as our Allies, will condemn those dirty fighters and murderers to live and trade in a hell of their own.

Any board of education that thinks to perpetuate the Hun language in its public schools merely advertises its own incompetence to judge events and people. Let them learn a lesson from the schoolboys of Elk River, Minn., who last week struck, en masse, against the teaching of German in their school. The educator who thinks that a repulsive and hated dead language can be shoved, willy nilly, down the throats of young America—no matter what his parentage may be—has a lesson in store for himself.

The foreign languages now most needed in American schools are Spanish, Portuguese and French; and the quicker our schools get at them the better!

Within two years, or less, a million American commercial houses will need these languages in their business. Americans must learn Spanish and Portuguese, or see the trade of South America captured a second time by the well-organized, hard-working and well-subsidized Germans. Already Germany is organizing her great push for South American trade after the war. Will American educators play into her hands by longer teaching the dead and useless German language in American schools?

There are circumstances aplenty under which the teaching of German becomes rank disloyalty; and all our boards of education can take that fact or leave it.

Hasty and short-sighted people will tell you: "You cannot make war upon a language!" But wait a moment. Ask the people of Alsace and Lorraine about that, and see what they will tell you. You cannot always stamp out national spirit, but an enemy language in hostile territory can be strangled and nailed up in its coffin forever and a day. It is a difficult thing to suppress a language in its own land, but it is certainly easy enough to kill a foreign language in a foreign land, even with a German-American Alliance to fight for it.

No country that ever existed ever was scorned and loathed as Germany will be loathed in America after this war. Every new act of the Huns only adds fresh fuel to the fires of national hate. No one in America is making any special hate propaganda. Hatred just comes as the logical sequence of the German people's detestable action. And the people of Germany know this, and feel it. They are asking each other, "Why does all the world hate us?"

The American people now know full well that there is no line of demarcation between the Hun military wolves and liars and the so-called "German people." They all desired the war, they all have gloried and revelled in its atrocities, and they are already planning and breeding for the "next war." At last the American people are getting their eyes open to the things that are, and now no power on earth can stop the German language in the schools of square-dealing America.—William T. Hornaday.

THE BRIDGE TO THE RHINE

(By Herbert Kaufman in Cosmopolitan for May.)

Germany holds us incompetent, believing we will finally seduce our strength, that the cost of halting her infernal career must daunt the United States and dull its steel.

She thinks we love dollars too much to turn them into guns and fleets and planes—that you have set a shoddy price beyond which you'll not pay for manhood and woman's sanctity and the rights of children.

Because we so long generously forebore against the measurement of any white race by the hideous truths shrieked from Belgium and Serbia and Armenia and northern France; because such stark atrocity challenged credence; because we did not strike at the first insult to our sovereignty; because we had the patience of the brave and just; giving the nation time to choose whether its sons should bleed and its great wealths be free to all Democracy, Berlin read cowardice and venality in America's heart and still feeds fanaticism with this tawdry lie.

Answer the Hun! Build a golden bridge to the Rhine, and crowd it with liberating armies until France is clean again and Albert may go home to heal his mangled realm.

Show the Kaiser that we mean to keep on launching ships, raising regiments and financing the government.

Tell the vandal kings that they "shall not pass."

Let the fortunes and the savings of native-born and immigrant cry across seas that we are money mad—fighting money mad—that we'll empty our pockets and our veins to avenge justice and pledge the world to peace.

The billions of the millions whose sires endured humiliation and hungered of body and soul, yonder in Europe, must now end the brutal autocracies from which they fled.

The one record of real American citizens today is the subscription list of the Liberty Loans.

Buy another Bond!

THE THIRD LOAN

By WALT MASON.

Now once again you'll have a chance to buy yourself a bond, and help the allies out in France, in Belgium and beyond. In April now our Uncle Sam starts up another loan, and are you ready, as I am, to put up plunk and bone? It's little we old gents can do to help our armies win, but we can certainly come through with packages of tin. When everything is said and done, 'tis wealth will win the scrap, and there should be a flow of mon from every loyal chap.

You are not asked to give away or sacrifice your dust; you lend to Uncle Sam—and, say, he's surely safe to trust! You are not asked to lend for fun; good interest you receive; if you've no bonds, when war is done, you'll read your robe and grieve. Ah, then you'll hang your head in shame and sound a doleful note; you did not help to win the game and get the Prussian goat. But there is none with soul so dead he will not buy a bond, even though he has to cut out bread, and see his cook stove pawned. Let's march up cheerful, blithe and quick, and buy, and buy, and buy; for thus we'll make the Teuton sick, and soak him in the eye.

DESTROY FRENCH FOOD SOURCES

FRUIT TREES AT MANASSAS DESTROYED BY REVERENDS

WHEN the Germans retreated from long held positions in Northern France they girdled every fruit tree that came within their range. Here is such a tree, hacked beyond chance of the tree's surviving unless first aid measures were quickly adopted. In many cases the advancing French troops brought the first aid material and sometimes succeeded in saving the trees. Where the tree was absolutely cut down—as hundreds were—there was, of course, no other measure to employ. Members of the U. S. Food Administration brought this picture to America. Early in the war the German government introduced a policy of strict food conservation at home and endeavored to curtail in every possible manner the French and English supply. U boat warfare and destruction of farming property are parts of the same campaign.

GNARLED FRUIT TREE. America is today the great larder of the allied nations. Out of our food stocks we must save enough to feed our European associates in this war.

EVERYONE MUST HELP.

War cannot be fought without money, and upon the Treasury centers every financial demand upon the Nation. The rich of this country cannot alone meet the needs of the Nation; the poor of the country cannot do it alone; but all of us, the people of the United States, sharing particularly, forgetting selfish interests, thinking only of the supremacy of right and determining to vindicate the majesty of American ideals and secure the safety of American civilization, can do the great and splendid work which God has called upon us to do.

W. S. McADOO, Secretary of the Treasury.

TO CUT WHEAT USE ONE-HALF

Military Necessity Demands That Each American Eat Only 1 1/2 Pounds of Wheat Weekly.

CORN AND OATS SUBSTITUTES.

Allies Must Have Wheat Enough to Maintain Their War Bread Till Next Harvest.

If we are to furnish the allies with the necessary proportion of wheat to maintain their war bread from now until the next harvest, and this is a military necessity, we must reduce our monthly consumption to 21,000,000 bushels a month as against our normal consumption of about 42,000,000 bushels, or 50 per cent. of our normal consumption. This is the situation as set forth by the U. S. Food Administration at Washington. Reserving a margin for distribution to the army and for special cases, leaves for general consumption approximately 1 1/2 pounds of wheat products weekly per person, the Food Administration's statement continues: Many of our consumers are dependent upon bakery bread. Such bread must be durable and therefore requires a larger proportion of wheat products than cereal breads baked in the household. Our army and navy require a full allowance. The well-to-do in our population can make greater sacrifices in the consumption of wheat products than can the poor. In addition, our population in the agricultural districts, where the other cereals are abundant, are more skilled in the preparation of breads from these other cereals than the crowded city and industrial populations.

With improved transportation conditions we now have available a surplus of potatoes. We also have in the spring months a surplus of milk, and we have ample corn and oats for human consumption. The drain on rye and barley as substitutes has already greatly exhausted the supply of these grains.

To effect the needed saving of wheat we are wholly dependent upon the voluntary assistance of the American people and we ask that the following rules shall be observed:

1. Householders to use not to exceed a total of 1 1/2 pounds per week of wheat products per person. This means not more than 1 1/2 pounds of Victory bread containing the required percentage of substitutes and one-half pound of cooking flour, macaroni, crackers, pastry, pies, cakes, wheat breakfast cereals, all combined.
2. Public eating places and clubs to observe two wheatless days per week, Monday and Wednesday, as at present. In addition thereto, not to serve to any one guest at any one meal an aggregate of breadstuffs, macaroni, crackers, pastry, pies, cakes, wheat breakfast cereals, containing a total of more than two ounces of wheat flour. No wheat products to be served unless specially ordered. Public eating establishments not to buy more than six pounds of wheat products for each ninety meals served, thus conforming with the limitations requested of the householders.
3. Retailers to sell not more than one-eighth of a barrel of flour to any town customer at any one time and not more than one-quarter of a barrel to any country customer at any one time, and in no case to sell wheat products without the sale of an equal weight of other cereals.
4. We ask the bakers and grocers to reduce the volume of Victory bread sold by delivery of the three-quarter pound loaf where one pound was sold before, and corresponding proportions in other weights. We also ask bakers not to increase the amount of their wheat flour purchases beyond 70 per cent. of the average monthly amount purchased in the four months prior to March 1.
5. Manufacturers using wheat products for non-food purposes should use such use entirely.
6. There is no limit upon the use of other cereals, flours, and meals, corn, barley, buckwheat, potato flour, etc.

Many thousand families throughout the land are now using no wheat products whatever, except a very small amount for cooking purposes, and are doing so in perfect health and satisfaction. There is no reason why all of the American people who are able to cook in their own households cannot subsist perfectly well with the use of less wheat products than one and one-half pounds a week, and we specially ask the well-to-do households in the country to follow this additional programme in order that we may provide the necessary marginal supplies for those parts of the community less able to adapt themselves to so large a proportion of substitutes.

In order that we shall be able to make the wheat exports that are absolutely demanded of us to maintain the civil population and soldiers of the allies and our own army, we propose to supplement the voluntary co-operation of the public by a further limitation of distribution, and we shall place at once restrictions on distribution which will be adjusted from time to time to secure an nearly equitable distribution as possible. With the arrival of harvest we should be able to relax such restrictions. Until then we ask for the necessary patience, sacrifice and co-operation of the distributing trade.

Idea Supplements U. S. Food Administration's New Home Card Now in 10,000,000 Homes.

The women of America, who are anxious to do their great part in the winning of the war, are now, as a whole, familiar with the most important aspects of food conservation. The Home Card, both in its original form and in the revised edition for 1918, which provides for two wheatless days, one meatless day a week, in addition to a wheatless meal every day, has been placed by the Food Administration after a vigorous campaign in 10,000,000 American homes. An intelligent and conscientious observance of the Home Card's requirements is all the Food Administration asks of the housewives of the country.

The Food Administration has had a great many requests, however, particularly from the homes of the well-to-do that it should issue a worked out plan for a voluntary system of rationing. This desire for a voluntary ration springs from two causes—first, because it is far simpler for the housewife to save food when she has a concrete working plan by which to proceed, and, second, because the loyal women of America desire, unselfishly to put themselves on the same basis as the women of the Allied countries. The ration proposed by the Food Administration is almost the same as that adopted in England for voluntary observance. All over the United Kingdom, in hundreds of homes, there hangs in the front window a card with the stirring slogan: "HONOR SOUND WE ADOPT THE NATIONAL SCALE OF VOLUNTARY RATIONING."

The ration recommended by the Food Administration, and adopted first in New York city, whence the idea has spread through the entire country, is the following:

	Weekly Allowance Per Person
Meat—Beef (fresh, salted, dried and hashed); mutton, lamb and veal (mutton by preference)	2 1/2 lbs.
Butter	1/2 lb.
Cooking Fats (margarine, lard, lard substitutes, vegetable oils)	1/2 lb.
Wheat Flour (for use in cooking gravies, etc., where corn starch, cracker dust or bread crumbs cannot be substituted)	1/2 lb.
Victory Bread (containing at least 20 per cent. of a substitute for wheat flour)	1 1/2 lbs.
Sugar (including all sugar used on the table and in cooking and all sweetmeats and candies for use for use for canning and preserving)	1 lb.

The items listed above are the only ones which are definitely limited. In the case of milk and cream, as much may be used as necessary, and only fresh of course, must have their full allowance of whole milk. Fish and poultry, any cereal other than wheat, vegetables and fruits and cheese may be used as freely as is desired.

The above ration is in no wise intended to supplant the Home Card, but rather to supplement it. It has been published with the idea that it will be a very real aid to the American woman in her splendid effort to carry out the great food conservation program.

USE MORE POTATOES.

U.S.P. conserve the 1917 record breaking potato crop. Government experts have estimated that over 700,000 extra acres of potatoes were planted last year. The United States Food Administration is endeavoring to push the nation's big potato stocks into channels of trade and has placed potatoes on the list of substitutes that may be bought along with wheat flour.

Potato soup has become a war dish. Here is a recipe that has been tested by United States Food Administration experts. Ingredients needed are three potatoes, one quart of milk, two slices onion, three tablespoons butter substituted, two tablespoons flour, one and one-half tablespoons salt, one-quarter teaspoon celery salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, few grains cayenne and one teaspoon chopped parsley.

Cook potatoes in boiled salted water. When soft run through a strainer. Soak milk with onion, remove onion and add milk slowly to potatoes. Melt the fat, add dry ingredients, stir until well mixed, then stir into boiling soup. Cook one minute, strain and sprinkle with barley.

A pie sale was held for the improvement of the school equipment. Quite a neat sum was raised.

A Veteran of the Fourth Virginia Cavalry Dies.

Captain Charles B. Trevilian, brave Confederate soldier and prominent citizen of Williamsburg, died suddenly in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Blanche E. Moncre, Wednesday afternoon. He was born in Goochland county, September 15, 1838, and was in his eightieth year. He was educated at Hampden-Sydney College and the University of Virginia, graduating just before the outbreak of the Civil War. He joined the Confederate States army in 1861, being a member of Company F, Fourth Virginia Cavalry. Later he was promoted to the captaincy of his company. He was wounded at the battle of Gettysburg, where he was made a prisoner and was confined at Johnson's Island, Lake Erie, for twenty-two months. In March, 1865, he married Miss Mary S. Houston, daughter of David Houston of Rockbridge county, and who preceded him to the grave several years. He was a charter member of Mather's-Ewell Camp of Confederate Veterans and a Mason of long standing. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Blanche Moncre of Williamsburg, and Mrs. Walter A. Van Ness of New York City, besides five grandchildren.

There are a few comrades of Captain Trevilian of the Fourth Virginia Cavalry residing in this county who will learn of his death with regret.

HOW SUGAR CAN BE SOLD

Retailers dealing in sugar are instructed to maintain the present quantity sales limits, that is, to consumers residing in towns or cities not over five pounds, and to consumers residing in rural communities not over ten pounds.

The necessary supply of sugar may be obtained to care for home canning; retailers are authorized to sell sugar to individual consumers to be used for preserving fruits and vegetables upon receiving from the buyer a certificate in writing in the following form:

I hereby declare to the United States Food Administration that I desire to purchase from _____ an amount of _____ pounds of sugar for my use for preserving and canning purposes only, and that I shall return any surplus not used for this purpose.

Signed _____
Address _____

This Certificate should be returned to _____ Federal Food Administrator for the State of _____ within one week.

Limitations On Flour Sales.

The retailer shall not sell or deliver wheat flour to any individual consumer residing in towns or cities in quantities in excess of 24 1/2 pounds, not to any individual consumer in rural or farm communities in excess of 48 pounds, except to a farmer under the conditions hereinafter stated.

In no case shall the retailer knowingly sell or deliver to any individual consumer an amount of flour which will make the purchaser's total supply greater than is reasonably required for his household or establishment during the next thirty days, except to a farmer as hereinafter stated. This rule is not intended to authorize at any time sales in an amount in excess of those permitted above, except to a farmer, and to schools and other institutions, and eating places whose daily consumption of flour is sufficiently large to justify an exception as hereinafter stated.

The retailer is authorized to sell or deliver at any time to an individual consumer who is actually engaged in the vocation of farming, a quantity of wheat flour which, taken together with that already on hand, will reasonably meet the requirements of his household or establishment (including his farm laborers or tenants and their families residing with them) during the next ninety days, provided the farmer signs a certificate in the following form:

I, _____ hereby certify that I am actually engaged in the vocation of farming; that the _____ pounds of flour this day sold to me by _____ (Name of Retailer) together with that already on hand, will not give me a supply more than sufficient to meet the requirements of my household or establishment (including my farm laborers and tenants and their families residing with them) during the next ninety days; that I will not sell, lend or deliver such flour to any one, nor permit such flour to be used for any purpose, except human consumption in my household or establishment; that I will not make any other purchase, nor accept any other delivery of flour for ninety days from this date; and that, in consideration of being permitted to purchase flour in larger amounts than is otherwise allowed, and also from a desire to cooperate with my Government in winning the war, I hereby pledge myself to use with the flour obtained under this certificate at least one pound of wheat flour substitutes for every pound of wheat flour used, and I further agree to make a patriotic effort to limit the consumption of wheat flour in my establishment during the next ninety days to one and one-half pounds per capita per week.

Signed _____
Address _____

NOTE: For rules and regulations governing sales of wheat flour by millers to consumers, see Bulletin No. 2. Copies may be had upon application to local food administrators or to the office of the Federal Food Administration, Richmond, Va.

An Order To Stop.
Manufacturers using wheat products for non-food purposes, shall cease such use entirely.

OUR BOYS "OVER THERE" ENJOY TOASTED CIGARETTES.

Through the patriotism of the citizens of this country thousands of smoke kits are being distributed to American soldiers in France. Authorities agree that men in the trenches need cigarettes almost as much as food and munitions.

Doctors, nurses, and commanding officers all join in the demand which has awakened in this country a great movement to keep our boys supplied with smoke.

Millions of the famous LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes are "going over" all the time. There's something about the idea of the double cigarette that appeals to the men who spend their time in cold, wet trenches and billets.

Then, too, the real Kentucky Burley tobacco of the LUCKY STRIKE cigarette gives them the solid satisfaction of a pipe, with a lot less trouble.
