On the charge of holding a meeting in a public park without a permit, 48 women, members of the National Woman's Party, were arrested Tuesday afternoon by park police, assisted by the Metropolitan force and headquarters detectives. They were later released on $5 bail to appear for trial in police court Wednesday morning. Miss Cora Wold, of Portland, Oreg., and Mrs. Blanche Archibald McPherson, of New York, who carried the large banner, left $10 collateral.

In the primary held on the 6th of August for the nomination of a representative from the eighth congressional district, Hon. C. C. Carlin carried, with the exception of Loudoun, every county in the district. Mr. White's majority in Loudoun was 157.

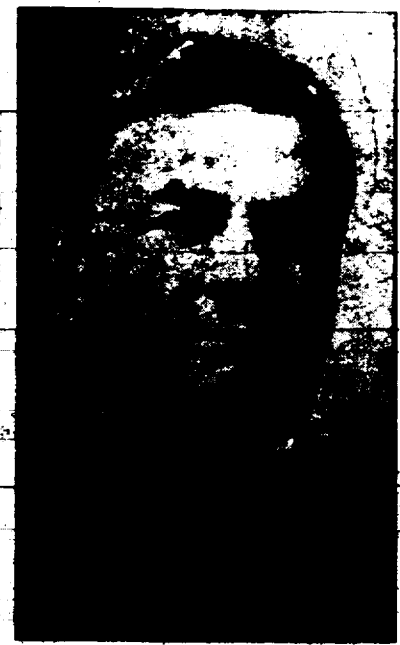

The regular meeting of the Manassas Red Cross Chapter was held Monday evening. On account of the excessive heat the meeting was held on the lawn at the home of Mrs. L. A. Larkin, instead of at the Town Hall. Rev. H. Q. Burr presided and the invocation was offered by Rev. A. S. Gibson. Reports were made by the committees on knitting, surgical dressings, Home Service and the melting pot.

Richmond, Va., August 7.—The State Board of Health is making a special effort just now to convince public officials of Virginia of their responsibility in connection with disease prevention. An official of the board said today:

Judge J. B. T. Thornton, judge of the 16th judicial circuit of Virginia, comprising the counties of Alexandria, Fairfax, Prince William and the City of Alexandria, has tendered his resignation to Gov. Westmoreland Davis to take effect on September 1st, next.

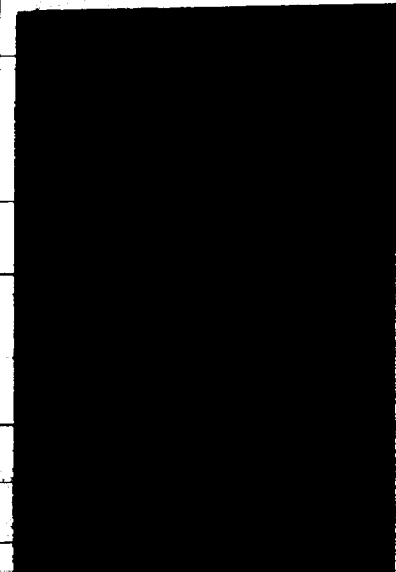

Mayor W. C. Wagener has received from Dr. Ennion G. Williams, commissioner of the State Board of Health, Richmond, the following letter which we publish in part:

Promptly at 4:30 o'clock and just as the government departments were letting out the procession of 100 women dressed in white, bearing the purple and gold banners of their party, marched from the National Woman's Party headquarters in Jackson place to the statue of Lafayette, diagonally opposite the White House. Those scheduled to make speeches gathered at the base of the statue while the banner-bearers grouped about them.

Miss Rixey announced the shipment of 45 pairs of socks and other knitted articles made by the ladies of Manassas and of the branches at Catharpin, Nokesville, Occoquan and Bethel. Mrs. Harrell, supervisor of surgical dressings, reported good progress in the surgical dressings workrooms, from which a large shipment of dressings for the army in Italy is to be made about August 25.

"We know and all admit that typhoid fever, for instance, is one of the most easily preventable of all the preventable diseases. Furthermore, it is a well known fact that those communities fortunate enough to have alert and intelligent officials who have adopted the methods urged upon all communities, have practically eliminated typhoid fever. It is also a fact that what has been done by one community can be done by another, for the cost of prevention is so small that every community in Virginia could take the precautions that will prevent typhoid fever and other diseases without in the least putting a strain on their economic resources."

"A representative of the State Board of Health has recently visited Manassas and has made a careful study of conditions there. A copy of his preliminary report is enclosed herewith for your information. We beg to call your particular attention to the unsanitary condition of the privies and to the method of disposing of night soil.

A large detachment of police had been thrown around the park and a squad of a dozen or more stood at attention near the monument. Maj. Raymond W. Allman, superintendent of police, made a personal tour around the park in an automobile before the demonstration for the demonstration, stopping to confer with the captains in charge.

Hon. C. C. Carlin. The following are the majorities for Mr. Carlin in the nine other counties, including the city of Alexandria:

The following committee was appointed to take charge of the melting pot and to ask the cooperation of the Red Cross branches throughout the county: Mrs. T. E. Hanes, chairman; Mrs. A. E. Spies, Mrs. Roberta Lynn, Mrs. T. S. Coles and Mrs. F. H. Cox.

"The misery, suffering, death and economic loss due to the neglect by these in authority to adopt measures of prevention are appalling. For instance, it is estimated that 30 per cent of the education in the southern states is wasted owing to backward mentality of children due to hookworm infection. In the same category with typhoid and hookworm are dysentery, diarrhea, infantile paralysis, etc., all diseases of filth and spread because the public authorities and the people are not taking proper measures to dispose of excrement."

Judge J. B. T. Thornton.

"Unsanitary, non-fly-tight privies and improper disposal of night soil constitute the chief source of the germs of dysentery, typhoid fever, infantile paralysis and other diseases. These diseases will disappear when people are no longer permitted to eat food and drink water that have been contaminated by flies or by drainage carrying germs that come from the bodies of persons who have or who have had those diseases. Unless the wastes from the human body are so disposed of that flies cannot reach them and so that they may not be washed into the wells, springs and streams that supply the people with drinking water, such germs as the wastes may contain are sure in time to reach the food and the drinking water."

"My friends," began Mrs. Lawrence Lewis, of Philadelphia, "I wish to tell you why this meeting was called and is being held. America stands for freedom and democracy."

The report on Home Service was made by Rev. Mr. Gibson and Mrs. R. B. Sprinkle, secretary of the committee. The committee is planning to hold a county conference some time later in the month.

"Our greatest trouble in Virginia, as it is in other states, is in the rural sections. In most cities the problem of prevention has been largely solved by the water carriage of sewage. But even in the cities there are many relics of the deadly disease-spreading type of outhouse or privy. The health of those who live in the country could be made much better than the health of those who live in cities by the observance of ordinary hygienic precautions. In some areas disease is four times more prevalent in rural than in urban sections."

Judge Thornton succeeded Judge C. E. Nicol on the bench when the latter resigned in 1907, to become a candidate for Congress. At the time of his appointment to the judgeship he was commonwealth's attorney for Prince William county, which office he had held since 1892. For many years prior to his election to the office of commonwealth's attorney he was superintendent of schools for Prince William county.

"It is hoped that before the Health Board's report is published Manassas will have given such attention to these matters and will have made such improvements that it will occupy a better place and receive a higher rating than would be the case if the report were to be published at once.

"As the word 'democracy' yet hang on her lips, two policemen gasped for by either side. 'Have you a permit to speak?' one of the officers asked Mrs. Lewis.

The following contributions were acknowledged by the secretary:

"A large percentage of the ill health in the country districts is due to inadequate privies. There are many areas where there are no privies at all. The remedy is very simple and easy of application. No great expense is involved and the methods can be explained to and comprehended by the most ignorant. There is no community in this state which has not sufficient resources to dispose safely of the human excreta, and when that is done typhoid, dysentery, hookworm and a host of other diseases will disappear."

Shortly after his admission to the bar, Judge Thornton went to Mississippi to practice law and while in that state was the law partner of the Hon. John Sharp Williams. Upon his return to Prince William county he formed a partnership with the late E. M. Meredith and thus continued in the practice of his profession to the time of Mr. Meredith's death. When Mr. H. Thornton Davies was admitted to the bar Judge Thornton formed a law partnership with him, under the style of Thornton and Davies, and this firm was enjoying a large and lucrative practice when Judge Thornton was elevated to the bench of his circuit.

"Very well," she answered. Miss Hazel Hunkins, who led the parade carrying an American flag, made three attempts to speak. Miss Lavina Deck began to recite "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," but was arrested before finishing. Finally a group of women began to parade around the statue. They, too, were arrested. Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the National Woman's party, said Miss Lucy Burge, of the executive committee, were also arrested.

Lynn Robertson has been reclassified and placed in class 1 by the district board and may be called into the service at the shortest notice, he will offer for sale on Tuesday, August 20, at his farm known as "Snow Hill Farm," four miles north of Haymarket, another farm known as "Bushy Park Farm," with farm machinery and live stock.

Judge Thornton's resignation, made necessary by reason of ill health, did not come as a surprise to many of his friends, as it had been rumored for several weeks that he would resign unless his health materially improved. Indeed, it is probable that he would have tendered his resignation before he did had it not been for the importuning of the attorneys practicing in his circuit, all of whom hold him in the highest degree of esteem and respect.

had a friend and counsellor. Judge Thornton's legal mind and his many years of active practice, together with his natural grace and charm of manner ideally fitted him for a judicial position. He held that an attorney should use every honorable means in behalf of his client. While he respected the technicalities of the law, it was ever his desire to get a case in such shape that it could be disposed of on its merits. His success as a judge can perhaps be best measured by the very limited number of cases, out of hundreds that went up from his circuit, in which his rulings were reversed by the supreme court of appeals. The Journal joins with his host of friends in the earnest hope that in laying aside his official duties he will in a much needed rest find complete health and strength.

"We deplore the weakness of the President in permitting the Senate to line itself with the Prussian reichstag by denying democracy to the people. We demand that the President and his party secure the passage of the suffrage amendment through the Senate in the present session."

Miss Marion Lewis, who attended the six weeks' course at the Harrisonburg State Normal, has returned to her home near town.

Announcement was made of the receipt of applications for recognition from the following branches and auxiliary:

The following young men left for Camp Lee on Thursday morning at 8:10: Vernon Ellis, Gainesville; Moss Jacobs, Thoroughfare; Chas. Russell Kelley, Johnstown, Pa.; Ollie Posey, Manassas; Raymond H. Cross, Jas. Calvin Cross, Manassas; Harry Clinton Purcell, Hoadley; George W. Cornwall, Manassas; Paul Reid, Harper Ramsey, Hoadley; Eppa L. Butler, Manassas; and Raymond L. Ellis, Nokesville.

Warrenton, Va., Aug. 8.—During a severe electrical storm here last night, Miss Sarah White and Robert White, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. The rest of the family, although sitting in the same room and the adjoining room, suffered no injury.

LUNCH AND REFRESHMENTS WILL BE SERVED

RESULT OF PRIMARY

The Hon. Charles C. Carlin will succeed himself in Congress, he having received the democratic nomination in Tuesday's primary by a plurality of approximately 3,000 votes. This means, of course, that Mr. Carlin will be elected in the November election, as the democratic nomination in the Eighth District is tantamount to election in the fall election. Mr. Carlin carried every county in the district, including Alexandria city, except Loudoun, Mr. White's home county. Loudoun gave Mr. White less than five hundred majority. A congressman could not wish for a stronger endorsement by his constituents than the one that Mr. Carlin has just received, for he relied almost entirely upon his past record in Congress for his renomination, preferring defeat in the primaries rather than to neglect his official duties, in this time of national crisis, to make a personal campaign over the district.

That Mr. Carlin has been true to party, state and country no one knowing his record since he has been in Congress will deny. His nomination is an honor richly deserved, and the Journal congratulates him upon his success; and also the Eighth District in that it is assured that Mr. Carlin will continue to be its representative in the lower branch of Congress.

THE ESPIONAGE ACT

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That section three of title one of the Act entitled "An Act to punish acts of interference with the foreign relations, the neutrality, and foreign commerce of the United States, to punish espionage, and better to enforce the criminal laws of the United States, and for other purposes," approved June fifteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 3. Whoever, when the United States is at war, shall willfully make or convey false reports or false statements with intent to interfere with the operation or success of the military or naval forces of the United States, or to promote the success of its enemies, or shall willfully make or convey false reports or false statements, or say or do anything except by way of bona fide and not disloyal advice to an investor or investors, with intent to obstruct the sale by the United States of bonds or other securities of the United States or the making of loans by or to the United States, and whoever, when the United States is at war, shall willfully cause, or attempt to cause, or incite or attempt to incite, insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny, or refusal of duty, in the military or naval forces of the United States, or shall willfully obstruct or attempt to obstruct the recruiting or enlistment service of the United States, and whoever, when the United States is at war, shall willfully utter, print, write, or publish any disloyal, profane, scurrilous, or abusive language about the form of government of the United States, or the Constitution of the United States, or the military or naval forces of the United States, or the flag of the United States, or the uniform of the Army or Navy of the United States, or any language intended to bring the form of government of the United States, or the Constitution of the United States, or the military or naval forces of the United States, or the flag of the United States, or the uniform of the Army or Navy of the United States into contempt, scorn, contumely, or disrepute, or shall willfully utter, print, write, or publish any language intended to incite, provoke, or encourage resistance to the United States, or to promote the cause of its enemies, or shall willfully display the flag of any foreign enemy, or shall willfully by utterance, writing, printing, publication, or language spoken, urge, incite, or advocate any curtailment of production in this country of any thing or things, product or products, necessary or essential to the prosecution of the war in which the United States may be engaged, with intent by such curtailment to cripple or hinder the United States, in the prosecution of the war, and whoever shall willfully advocate, teach, defend, or suggest the doing of any of the acts or things in this section enumerated, and whoever shall by word or act support or favor the cause of any country with which the United States is at war or by word or act oppose the cause of the United States therein, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than twenty years, or both. Provided, That any employee or official of the United States Government who commits any disloyal act or utters any unpatriotic or disloyal language, or who, in an abusive and violent manner criticizes the Army or Navy or the flag of the United States shall be at once dismissed from the service. Any such employee shall be dismissed in which the employee may be engaged, and any such official shall be dismissed by the authority having power to appoint a successor to the dismissed official."

Sec. 2. That section one of Title XII and all other provisions of the Act entitled "An Act to punish acts of interference with the foreign relations, the neutrality, and the foreign commerce of the United States; to punish espionage, and better to enforce the criminal laws of the United States, and for other purposes," approved June fifteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, which apply to section three of Title I thereof shall apply with equal force and effect to said section three as amended.

Title XII of the said Act of June fifteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, be, and the same is hereby, amended by adding thereto the following section: "Sec. 4. When the United States is at war, the Postmaster General may, upon evidence satisfactory to him that any person or concern is using the mails in violation of any of the provisions of this Act, instruct the postmaster at any post office at which mail is received addressed to such person or concern to return to the postmaster at the office at which they were originally mailed all letters or other matter so addressed, with the words 'Mail to this address undeliverable under Espionage Act' plainly written or stamped upon the outside thereof, and all such letters or other matter so returned to the senders thereof under such postmasters shall be by them returned to the senders thereof under such regulations as the Postmaster General may prescribe." Approved, May 16, 1918.

THE RESCUE OF RUSSIA

The downfall of the bolshevik regime in Russia is foreordained by the announcement that the United States and Japan will aid the Czecho-Slovak or Bohemian troops in Siberia. A movement that is nothing less than a counter revolution is now under full swing in Russia, led by the Bohemians who were recently oppressed subjects of Austria-Hungary and unwilling soldiers in the Hapsburg armies. These Bohemians, blood brothers of the Russians, deserted from the Austrian ranks at the first opportunity, and have become the backbone of the new movement which will restore Russia to the Russians, in spite of the Germans and the bolsheviks.

President Wilson's opinion of the situation, as outlined by the statement issued by the State Department, is an epitome of the opinion held by the best-informed persons in all allied and neutral nations. His intimation of the American-Japanese program, based upon the needs of the situation, is most welcome to all who cherish the hope of Russian freedom. It should come as a message of deliverance to the Russian people who have been betrayed, robbed and tortured by the bolsheviks. Particularly important is the assurance that the United States, in sending armed forces to the assistance of the Russians, will not infringe upon Russia's political sovereignty, interfere with Russia's domestic affairs, or violate the territorial integrity of the country.

The statement of the attitude of the Japanese government toward Russia is equally clear, unequivocal, and encouraging to the friends of freedom everywhere. Japan declares its purpose to respect the territorial integrity of Russia, to abstain from all interference in her internal politics, and to withdraw all Japanese troops upon the realization of the objects of the expedition.

The world now knows that Russia will be freed of the influences that have cursed her since the revolution. The bolsheviks have been one of the most monstrous growths of the war. Their gifts for mendacity and fabrication have been such as to mystify the most subtle intellects and lure from rectitude the most patriotic souls. Traitors, thieves and murderers have actually climbed into high places of power among the bolsheviks, and have shamelessly plundered their own motherland and murdered their own comrades. The hellbroth that has been brewed in Russia by these foul spirits has spread its fumes over the whole earth. Even in America there are men with reputations for intelligence who are deceived and poisoned by the bolshevik propaganda. Every possible artifice was adopted to mislead the United States government into recognition of the bolshevik "government" of Russia. Fortunately President Wilson saw much quicker and much further than the Germanized agents who sought to mislead the government.

The allied forces going into Vladivostok will remain behind the Czecho-Slovaks, who are working westward in defense of their countrymen who are under attack by German and Austro-Hungarian soldiers and bolsheviks. The Czecho-Slovaks, thus sustained, ought to be able to take possession of additional strategic railroad points in European Russia, thereby shutting off food supplies to the bolshevik strongholds and turning the food over to the Russian people. There are 40,000 or 50,000 Czecho-Slovaks, unorganized, trying to join their armed countrymen. These men will now be assigned and armed, thus increasing the force which will protect the Russians in each community against the bolsheviks and the Germans. The Russians have already begun to organize their own armed forces and are working in entire harmony with the Czecho-Slovaks. Not many months will elapse before the Russians will have an army of their own large enough to cope with the enemy.

The gratitude of civilized humanity is due to the brave and shrewd little Czecho-Slovak army that has stood in the breach in Russia. These Bohemians have abundantly proved the mettle and their right to exist with their countrymen in their own home land, under their own flag, governed by a government of their own choosing and responsible solely to the people. The Czecho-Slovaks, who are giving their blood that Russia may be saved, will never have a country of their own unless the Hapsburg empire is smashed. Bohemia cannot destroy Austria alone. The allied nations must do it. The allies should now announce to the world their solemn purpose to make Bohemia a free and independent nation. That much is due to the Czecho-Slovaks, the brave and freedom-loving people who have done so much to assist the allies in France, in Italy and in Russia. Washington Post.

In this connection it is earnestly urged by the county health officer that those who have been taking milk from this dairy for the past two weeks—although it is now closed—take the typhoid vaccine which is recognized as a precaution against the fever. It is also urged that the houses be screened and the closets be put in a sanitary condition. At this season of the year, when typhoid is so prevalent, it would be well that the public at large take the precautions recommended above against this disease.

Miss Mary Lancaster Smith, of Richmond, traveling secretary of the War Work Council of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association, was in Manassas on Tuesday to confer with persons interested in the joint drive for funds which will be conducted in October by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. The following temporary officers have been appointed in Prince William county: Chairman, Miss Mary Larkin, and publicity chairman, Mrs. T. E. Haines. A complete list of the women who are to co-operate as officers throughout the county will be given as soon as the appointments are made.

The fourth Liberty loan campaign will begin on September 28th and close October 19th, 1918. The amount of the loan and its terms will be announced later by the secretary of the treasury. The treasury department will apportion the loan to the federal reserve districts. The basis of apportionment will be bank resources as heretofore, which will likewise be the basis upon which the allotment to this district will be apportioned to each banking institution. The resources of the banks of the district will be taken from their reports as of December 31, 1917, that being the latest date on which reports of all banks are available. Upon announcement of the amount of the loan, or as soon thereafter as practicable, a tabulation will be made and forwarded to every banking institution of the district.

AUGUST IS MONTH FOR MATARIAL MOSQUITO

Health Board Calls Attention to Danger from Pest and Urges Precautions.

Richmond, Va., August 8.—This month marks the beginning of the worst mosquito season of Virginia and is, in consequence, made miserable for many people by the prevalence of malaria. In a short statement on this subject, issued today by the State Board of Health, the people are reminded of certain facts in connection with mosquitoes and malaria as follows:

"Malaria does not come from miasma, swamps or water; it is carried by a certain type of mosquito that breeds only in stagnant or slowly running water. In a bulletin that was issued some time ago, the State Board of Health tells how to get rid of the places that furnish breeding spots for mosquitoes, and gives rules, simple and easy to follow for draining dangerous ground. A copy of this bulletin will be sent free to any citizen of Virginia on request to the State Health Board.

"In case the breeding of the mosquito cannot be prevented, householders should screen their houses very carefully to keep the pests out. If this is impossible, people should take small doses of quinine during the malarial season.

U. S. WAR COST HIGH

New Running Fifty Per Cent Above Great Britain's.

America's war expenses now are running about fifty per cent higher than those of Great Britain, it was shown by comparison of treasury reports and a newly issued British financial statement, which showed that Great Britain is spending about $25,000 a minute. Owing to the shorter time the United States has been in the war, however, her national war debt is only one-third as large as that of Great Britain, and the individual burden of taxation in this country now is only about one-half as much as it is in England.

Although the United States has largely superseded Great Britain as the financial reservoir on which the other allied nations draw, the aggregate of such loans by this country still is one-fourth less than Great Britain's.

$1,500,000,000 a Month. The monthly cost of the war to the United States now is about $1,500,000,000, including loans to allies, while Great Britain's expenses are running in the neighborhood of $1,000,000,000 a month. The nation's war debt is now a little less than $12,500,000,000, as compared with Great Britain's $36,675,000,000.

Before the war both nations collected about the same amount of taxes every year, approximately $1,000,000,000. Now Great Britain collects $5,270,000,000 and the United States about $4,000,000,000, but the population in America is double that of Great Britain.

To Be Larger This Month. War expenses for July were somewhat less than for June and May, amounting to about $1,482,000,000, as compared with $1,512,000,000 the record for June, and $1,508,000,000 for May, the Treasury Department announced. The outlay for July, however, was approximately the amount estimated in advance by the Treasury and expenses for August probably will be higher, it was said.

During July the government's daily outlay was about $48,000,000, an average of $38,000,000 for ordinary expenses of the army, navy, shipping board and other agencies, and $10,000,000 daily in loans to allies. Total ordinary expenditures for the month were about $1,157,000,000 and loans to allies, $325,000,000.

Receipts from sale of war savings stamps Wednesday passed the half billion dollars, of which $200,000,000 came in this month as the result of the campaign on thrift day, June 28.

Anticipating Fourth Loan. The government now is financing itself mainly through the sale of certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the fourth Liberty Loan, which will open September 28. More than $1,600,000,000 came in from this source in July. In addition the government received $491,000,000 from belated income and excess profits taxes, and $97,000,000 from miscellaneous internal revenue customs duties yielded only $14,000,000.

Payments on the third Liberty loan now amount to $3,652,000,000, leaving $524,000,000 to come in from the next installment payment.

A TENDER TRIBUTE TO A DEAD FRIEND

In Commemoration of a Beautiful Life the Writer Dwells Feelingly on Her Subject.

I bring today a beautiful wreath, pure and white, composed of affection, admiration and love, and present it as the last tribute of respect to the memory of Mrs. Alphonzo Armstrong, who departed this life July 25, 1918, at her home in Nokesville, in the fifty-ninth year of her age.

Mrs. Armstrong, before her marriage, was Miss Susanna Manuel, eldest daughter of the late William F. and Annie Whitson Manuel, and was one of Prince William's most popular ladies. Having a kind and loving disposition, no one knew her but to love her.

Though in failing health for a number of years, yet she was a faithful and earnest worker both in the church and Sunday School at Nokesville, and was president of the Methodist Aid Society at the time of her death.

Early in life she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church and had been a consistent member ever since. She is mourned by the entire community, besides a large circle of relatives and friends. Though her sufferings were so intense, yet she maintained her usual cheerfulness, and pleasantness to everybody until the last. She was a kind and sympathetic neighbor, a most devoted wife, and as far as was in her power she stretched forth her hands to the needy.

Mrs. Armstrong was born on the "John Hope" farm, near near Backhall, Prince William county, Va., but moved with her parents when quite small to the Manuel homestead now owned for a number of years by Mr. I. B. Fitzwater, near Nokesville.

Of Mrs. Armstrong's immediate family, three sisters and four brothers survive: Mrs. W. T. Allen, of Nokesville; Mrs. James Davis, of Hoadley; Mrs. Robert Armstrong, of Catlett, and Mess. Anderson B., James R., Joseph B. Manuel, of Nokesville, and Richard H. Manuel, of Washington, and one uncle, Mr. J. P. Manuel, of Bristow.

The friends, neighbors and community at large extend their heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved husband and family, who so sadly mourn her loss.

Funeral services were conducted at the grave by her beloved pastor, Rev. C. W. Mark, and she was tenderly laid to rest in the Methodist cemetery at Catlett, Va., on Friday, July 26.

The writer having had a personal acquaintance with her for nearly thirty years standing feels justified in saying that hers was a lovely character and a beautiful life has ended. X

"But One Way to Peace, and That is the Way to Berlin."

"Ed. Manufacturers Record: My opinion is that we cannot consider any terms of peace whatsoever with the German Government as now constituted. Germany must be licked and the Hohenzollerns kicked off the throne before we can even talk of peace without outraging our self-respect.

The German military ring must be broken and so shattered that it can never be reunited. Those who have been responsible for the rape of Belgium and France; those who have been responsible for the heinous outrages upon the civilian populations overridden by Germany; those who have been responsible for breaking the rules of war and using poisonous gas in battle; those who have been responsible for torpedoing passenger vessels and hospital ships, and for dropping aerial bombs on shore hospitals; those who have been responsible for the killing and maiming of women and children in London and Paris with aerial bombs; those who have been responsible for breaking the most sacred treaties and obligations—have placed themselves beyond the pale and cannot and must not be bargained with in any peace arrangement.

Those militaristic bandits of the breed of Attila who cold-bloodedly prepared to plunder the world and enslave mankind, and to that nefarious end planned to violate every human obligation and attribute of duty, mercy and decency, and are not fit to place their names to a peace compact beside those of the heroes who shall, with sacrifice of blood and treasure, save the world from their clutches.

Anyone proposing peace with Germany before Kaiserism shall have been crushed out of existence should either be interned or be placed in an insane asylum for medical treatment. There is one way to peace, and that is the way to Berlin. It will be a long, hard, expensive and bloody road, but it is the only road, and when we shall have arrived at the end of that road we shall have only a subjugated, suppliant, Kamrad-calling populace to deal with, and the terms which we shall then make will not be the terms of any bargain, but merely terms imposed by us according to our ideas of justice.

Justice will make one inexorable demand on that occasion, and it will be that Germany shall bear the burden of rebuilding and reimbursing Belgium and the desolated portions of North-west France in full measure, and Alsace and Lorraine must be restored to France.

What other terms may be imposed will matter far less.—Hudson Maxim.

HOW GERMANY MAKES WAR

(By Walter S. Smoot.)

The present European war has not changed the German character; it has uncovered it. Since the first days when they roamed their native cold, dark plains of northern Germany, the Prussians have never departed from their original barbaric theory of war. Especially do the Prussians hold to the doctrines of their savage ancestors in their conception of how a war should be made.

The first notable exponent of the Prussian philosophy of war was Frederick the Great, from whom the Hohenzollern date the glories of their House. "If there is anything to be gained by being honest, honest we will be," he said; "and if it is necessary to deceive, let us be scoundrels." It was he who originated the "scrap of paper" theory; in 1740, without the slightest pretense at declaring war he marched into the province of Silesia and overran the country, although he had entered into a most solemn compact to respect its possession by Austria. Moral considerations did not trouble him. "The question of right is an affair of ministers. . . . It is time to consider it in secret, for the orders to my troops have been given." The considerations that did influence him were: (1) "My soldiers were ready, my purse was full"; (2) of all the dominions of Austria "Silesia was that part most useful to the House of Brandenburg."

The willingness of the Prussian rulers to precipitate war and to throw aside ordinary consideration for peace is best illustrated, of course, by the famous "Ems incident" of 1870. At that time Bismarck had decided that the quickest way to serve his political schemes was to precipitate a war with France. On July 13, 1870, he received a telegram from King William I, telling about an interview he had had with the French ambassador, about a matter concerning which there was much public excitement, and leaving it to Bismarck what facts it was wise to give to the press. Bismarck deliberately cut down and sharpened the wording of the telegram, very moderately phrased, so as to make it appear that deliberate insult had been offered the French ambassador, and gave out this text of the dispatch for publication. Bismarck always regarded the manner in which he precipitated this war as a masterpiece of statecraft, and it was taken to heart as a glorious example by the next generation of public men in Germany.

Now what are the indications that Prussia followed the ideas of her original savage ancestors who always tried to stab their opponents in the back, in the months preceding this war?

(1) The German military law of 1913 was passed, increasing the German army in time of peace from 515,000 to 866,000 men. The preparation of enormous stocks of munitions was provided for, and an exceptional war tax of $225,000,000 war ordered.

(2) The Kiel Canal, connecting the Baltic and the North seas, was reconstructed so as to be ready in the summer of 1914, and the fortifications of Heligoland were improved.

(3) Strategic railways were constructed leading to the French and Russian frontiers. They reached also to the Belgian border, indicating that the violation of Belgian neutrality was a long planned act of perfidy.

(4) Thousands of reservists were recalled from South America and other parts of the world, in May and June, 1914.

(5) And, finally, exceptional grand maneuvers were ordered in May, 1914, which massed 500,000 men in Cologne, in the Grand-Duchy of Baden, for the month of August.

"Not as weakwilled blunders have we undertaken the fearful risk of this war. We wanted it. Because he had to wish and could wish it. May the Teuton devil throttle those whiners whose pleas for excuses make us hideous in these hours of lofty experience! We do not stand, and shall not place ourselves, before the court of Europe. Our power shall create a new law in Europe." (Maxillian Harden, Die Zukunft..)

MANASSAS INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL NOTES

The rye crop threshed out 234 bushels.

Dean Emma Lee Williams was one of the principal speakers at the twenty-seventh annual session of the Northern Virginia Baptist Sunday School Convention held at Warrenton on August 1 and 2.—It was the consensus of opinion that Dean Williams' talk was one of the best ever delivered before a convention. Dean Williams also represented the school at the all-day meeting held at Catharpin, the birthplace of the late Jennie Dean, on the first Sunday in August.

Among the school's recent visitors were two of its staunchest friends, Mrs. Ella Bailey and Mrs. Ella M. Jackson, both of Occoquan.

In connection with the work of children's year the school is continuing to urge all mothers to have their children weighed and measured. Miss Adeline Pinn, chairman of the Red Cross Branch in Manassas, has general supervision of the work in town but any mother so desiring may bring her child to the school on any afternoon in the week and have the weighing and measuring done there. Dr. Williams and Miss Eva Lewis will advise and assist any parent in having this work done.

Mrs. Rachel Perry, county supervisor, is arranging, under the auspices of the Negro Organization Society, a big patriotic meeting to be held at the school at some time during the last week in August. The society plans to hold at least one such meeting in every county in Virginia. The aim of these meetings is to enlist a still larger interest of all colored Americans in the war and the problems growing out of the war.

The school hopes to be able to send two boys and one teacher to the camp at Howard University for the forty-seven training period.

NEW DRAFT LAW IS ON THE WAY

Includes Men Between Ages of 18 and 45 Years—Provision Regarding Farmers.

With an urgent recommendation from Provost Marshall General Crowder that it be enacted without delay and a suggestion that September 5 next might be fixed as registration day for approximately 13,000,000 men throughout the country, the administration's man power bill requiring the registration for military service of all men between the ages of 18 and 45 years was introduced Tuesday in the Senate and House.

Unless immediate steps are taken to provide additional men, Gen. Crowder said the weekly registration of men as they attained 21 years of age will be necessary to fill the draft quotas after Sept. 1, when only 100,000 of the 1918 registrants will be available.

Upon the introduction of the bill, Chairman Chamberlain announced that the Senate military committee would meet today to consider it. He said he did not think hearings would be necessary and only three or four days should be required to report the bill. Chairman Dent of the House committee said since only three members of his committee are in Washington, it was doubtful whether the bill could be acted upon before the House convenes on August 19.

Suggestions made on the Senate floor by Senator Curtis that the Senate abandon its program of recesses and perfunctory sessions until August 24 if the bill can be favorably reported by the committee within a few days were indorsed by Senator Chamberlain. However, Senate leaders in the city said any plans to this effect would be held in abeyance until the committee could determine just how much time would be necessary for a thorough discussion of the bill.

Number Eligible for Class 1.

The bill would amend the present selective service act so as to require the registration of all men between 18 and 20 years and 32 and 45 inclusive. While the total number of men in the latter classes would aggregate 10,028,973, Gen. Crowder estimates the total number who would be eligible for Class 1 would only be 601,236 owing to exemptions for dependents or industrial and physical reasons. Between 18 and 20 years his estimates show that 3,171,771 would register while 1,707,609 men would be eligible for Class 1.

In the course of his statement as submitted to the Senate by Senator Chamberlain, Provost Marshall General Crowder said:

Statement by Gen. Crowder.

"The more difficult question is how we can supply on time the 150,000 men required for each of the succeeding months of October, November and December. The British-Canadian treaty would help out to the extent—it is estimated—about 50,000 men, which is not even the conventional 'drop in the bucket.'

"If we could assume that the law would be enacted in the remaining days of August, we would have a basis of calculating the results to be obtained under it. As I stated to the Senate military committee, a minimum period of 90 days is necessary to enroll and classify all the men registered in the additional classes suggested. We cannot, therefore, wait for the completion of Class 1, but must take men irrespective of their order way into Class 1.

"Perhaps we could receive assurances that the legislation would be enacted in the House in the period following its reconvening so that it could be taken up promptly by the Senate on August 26 and passed there. This would enable us to contemplate September 5 as a national registration day."

The principal features of the administration bill as introduced which would extend the draft age to from 18 to 45 years, inclusive, are as follows:

Hits Some Neutral Citizens.

"The President may draft such persons liable to military service in such sequence of ages and at such time or times as he may prescribe; * * * a citizen or subject of a country neutral in the present war who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States shall be relieved from liability to military service upon his making a declaration in accordance with regulations as the President may prescribe, withdrawing his intention to become a citizen of the United States * * * and he shall forever be debarred from becoming a citizen of the United States."

The provision referring to persons engaged in industry and agriculture providing for their relief from military duty would be amended to read:

Up to 46th Birthday.

"Persons engaged in occupations of employment found to be necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment of the effective operation of the military force of the maintenance of national interest during the emergency."

The principal section would provide:

"All male persons between the ages of 18 and 45, both inclusive shall be subject to registration in accordance with regulations to be prescribed by the President, and, upon confirmation by the President or other public notice given by him or by his direction stating the time or times and place or places of any such registration, it shall be the duty of all persons of the designated ages except officers and enlisted men of the regular army, the navy, and the national guard and naval militia while in the service of the United States to present themselves for and submit to registration under the provisions of this act * * *"

Persons shall be subject to registration as herein provided who shall have attained their eighteenth birthday and who shall have attained their forty-sixth birthday on or before the day set for the registration in any such proclamation by the President or any such other public notice given by him or by his direction and all persons so registered shall be and remain subject to draft into the forces hereby authorized unless exempted or excused therefrom * * * the President may at such intervals as he may desire from time to time require all male persons who have attained the age of 18 years since the last preceding days of registration and on or before the next date set for registration by proclamation of the President, except such persons as are exempt from registration hereunder, to register in the same manner and subject to the same requirements and liabilities as those previously registered under the terms thereof. * * *—Washington Post.

Commend Sunday Farm Work.

Judges in Tennessee have refused to punish persons accused of work on farms on Sundays, but have commended them for so doing. This was reported to the Department of Agriculture's recent farm labor conference in Birmingham, Ala. Not long ago the rural churches of Indiana, in a conference at Purdue University, took the position that it is quite right and proper to do farm work on Sunday if that Sunday work is necessary to produce food crops to help whip Germany.

CLIFTON

On Tuesday, July 30, we had an exceedingly heavy rainfall; there were two clouds met and it seemed as though the heavens were opened and it certainly poured in torrents for a time. Considerable damage was done in some places by washing especially in low lands, where the crops were flooded and in some cases washed away entirely.

Miss Mary Quigg has had her cousin, Miss Margaret Quigg, of Richmond, visiting her. Quite a number of the young people of the village and neighborhood were invited to "The Walnuts," the Quigg home, Thursday evening to meet her. The first of this week has been a record breaker for the heat, being hotter than ever known, some say.

Miss Esther Buckley has gone to Harrisonburg to take charge of some classes in sewing and cooking for the last summer quarter.

Rev. Mr. Halpenny, of Manassas, preached in the Presbyterian Church July 28, at 11 a. m. Rev. Mr. Halpenny preached at a camp-meeting held near here about forty years ago and there were a few that had attended that camp meeting present and enjoyed hearing him again.
