

SURE CURES FOR ALL HUMAN ILLS

Why Consult a Doctor When Cure-Alls Spring Up On Every Hand?

[This amusing but very worth-while article was written for the Alexandria Gazette by Dr. Louis E. Foulkes, city health officer.]

I often wonder, after reading one of our big daily newspapers or magazines, why any people get sick, and why any of us remain sick if we foolishly get that way. Why be sick when you can get any absolutely sure cure for any old thing that ails you? If you don't believe this, just open your daily paper and the first thing you will see is a big advertisement stating that "Dr. Dupe's Delirious Dope" will positively cure any disease you may be afflicted with. And this statement will no doubt be backed up by a sworn testimonial from one Ezra J. Digbold, of Dubbs Corners, Mich., to the effect that after suffering 14 years with the pip, plumbago, toothache and ingrowing toe nails, he was cured after taking only seven bottles of that heaven bestowed remedy, "Dr. Dupe's Delirious Dope."

Then glance at another page of your paper and a glaring ad tells you that suffering humanity continues to suffer solely on account of a lack of iron in the blood. It says: "What you need is more iron in your blood. Take just one box of our Befuscated Iron and you will be able to walk 20 miles a day without fatigue!" And it too will be bathed by a sworn affidavit from J. Jim Jams, of Squeedunk Center, Conn., stating that—"For years I suffered from a weak mind, and I was so thin I could not cast a shadow. My blood was so thin and watery and would not run through my veins unless I kept in constant motion. The doctors said I had no iron, tin or zinc, in my blood. I suffered constantly from mumps, falling hair and gas on my stomach and had to carry bricks in my pockets on windy days. A friend advised me to take 'Befuscated Iron' and after using only four boxes, I gained over 200 pounds in weight and am now so full of iron, I don't dare to take a bath for fear of getting rusty. I am so confounded well I am actually ashamed to go out on the street."

Then in your search for news, you turn over another page and there in big black letters you see—"Take Kids Kidney Cure for all Ills." And then you are asked these questions—"Do you have pains in your feet, headache, cold in the head, tired feeling; do you dislike to work; do you get hungry; do you sleep; do you get thirsty; you corns; did you ever have mumps; are you blind; does your heart beat; are you sick; do you feel full after eating, if you have these symptoms, you have kidney disease or something, and 'Kids Kidney Cure' is all you need to put you on your feet." Then just to prove how good this great remedy really is, read the letter from Mrs. Mary G. Squash, Siwash, Wis., who says—"For ten long years I suffered from many and various diseases. I had seven or eleven doctors, but they did me no good. I had water on the brain and seemed to be filled with water. In fact I was water-logged. I could not walk on account of getting sea-sick. I called in two or three doctors, but they said they could do nothing. A plumber and advised me to consult a plumber. At last a good friend told me about "Kids Kidney Cure" and after taking 28 bottles, I am now able to eat four meals a day, and I never get seasick any more."

So as I have already observed, why be sick when all of these simple cures are right at your hand for only $1.00 a bottle or 50 cents a box?

However, some of us have a natural dislike to doping ourselves with sure cures, hence we call in a physician when we get sick. And there is the trouble. We never go to a doctor until we are actually sick, then expect him to make us over as good as new. But it is very often too late for him to do us any real good. He can't put in a new heart, lungs, stomach, liver or kidney like you would a new part in a machine. When you think yourself well, you may have some organic trouble just starting, which if treated promptly would save you much suffering as well as expense.

Why not go to your doctor once or twice a year and have him give you a careful examination? The Health Department has an up-to-date laboratory with a trained expert in charge. We are at all times ready to help your doctor help you. We promptly make examinations of the blood, sputum, urine or other specimens sent in by the doctor free of charge. This is a part of our public health work. It makes your doctor that much more efficient by removing the element of uncertainty. For instance, suppose he has a case of suspected diphtheria. No expert in the world can say it is or is not by simply looking at the throat. Your doctor takes a little cotton swab on the end of a probe and wipes it over the inflamed part of the throat and then sends it to our laboratory. The swab is placed in a culture from the swab. This is incubated for a few hours and the germs growing on it are placed on a glass slide, stained to make them visible and then put under the highpower, compound microscope. If they are diphtheria germs we inform the doctor at once over the telephone, and he then has the exact knowledge that will enable him to use his medical skill and give such treatment as may be indicated.

Much of the work of a modern health department is unseen and unknown except to a few who come into contact with it, hence it gets little or no credit for its many daily activities which are of the utmost value to the community.

While there is much work to be done, yet our official reports—published monthly in this paper since our organization on July 1st last—will show that we have accomplished many things that mark a distinct step forward in the general fight against disease and unsanitary conditions. Not a single case of smallpox has been reported in this city during the past four months. The typhoid fever rate has been reduced over 75 per cent over last year and only seven very mild cases of influenza have turned up during the two months just past. Taken in all, there is very little sickness in our city at the present time.

By the construction of new sewers we will soon be able to eliminate many unsanitary conditions. Our survey has brought to light many houses that are not yet connected with sewers in front of such properties for many years past. Notices are now being served upon the owners, giving them a certain number of days to start work, otherwise prompt action will be taken.

Your department of health is doing constructive work for the public good, and we ask the full co-operation of all good citizens to that end.

If you have any suggestions or complaints to make call and lay them before us, but don't stand off and throw stones, for we are only human and are trying to do our best for your benefit.

TIME TO HELP THE SCHOOLS
 The State Board of Education has adopted a resolution offered by State Superintendent Harris Hart, requesting the next General Assembly to raise the state tax for school purposes from fourteen to twenty per cent, thereby increasing the school fund from $700,000 to $900,000 a year. It is hoped and expected that the next legislature will make swift and ample provision for the school needs of the state. The situation in Prince William, and particularly in Manassas district, is most unpromising, and yet our position is not unique, as testified by the state-wide agitation for school relief when the special session of the legislature convened in August. School expenses have doubled according to the scale of rising expenses on every hand, and the revenue has not been equal to the change.

ENTER SENATOR GLASS
 The appointment by Governor Davis of Secretary of the Treasury Carter Glass to the seat of the late Senator Martin in the United States Senate doubtless will meet with public approval throughout Virginia and beyond the limits of the state. In Senator Glass Virginia will have an able representative and a potent influence in the senate chamber. His rise from purely sectional prominence to national influence, somewhat meteoric in character, dates back to the time when, as chairman of the House Banking Committee, he took a leading part in framing and passing the Federal Reserve law.

Mr. Glass has been at the head of the Treasury Department since the resignation of William G. Mackay. He is a newspaper publisher and his home is in Lynchburg.

WELCOMING THE PRINCE
 The Prince of Wales is nothing to the average American. He says, even better than he anticipated, that he knew he was going to like it "very much indeed." America responds by showing that she likes very much indeed this brown-haired, blue-eyed, weather-tanned young visitor, who possesses an engaging smile and a democratic air that grew up with him on the other side of the Atlantic.

The hardy honesty of the southern mountaineer was demonstrated some days ago in Anniston, Ala., when twelve of thirteen prisoners began serving terms for making "moonshine." The thirteenth man sent word that he would come as soon as he had finished killing hogs and his cell was made ready for him. All of them were convicted at the last term of court and sentenced to thirty and sixty days' terms in jail, and the presiding judge allowed them to return to their farms to gather in their crops, each man's word that he would return being his bond.

HUMAN NATURE
 Yes, Luella, things are looking pretty gloomy all around;
 Seemingly the way has gotten pretty soft to middle ground.
 Anyway, we aren't progressing to agreement very fast,
 And the present situation isn't very apt to last.

What the trouble is, my dearie, isn't very hard to find;
 On the one hand men are very loath to leave the past behind.
 On the other just as many where the gulf is wild and wide,
 Want to gain their whole objective in a single drastic stride.

After blustering a little pique to strut about the field,
 Both the disputants, Luella, will be more disposed to yield,
 After calling for militia and combating the police,
 All the combatants will gladly yield a little bit of peace.

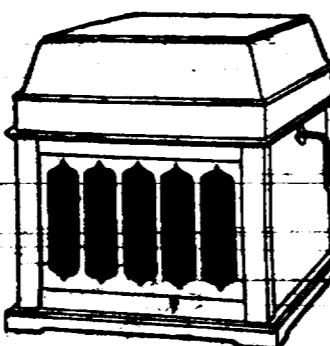

Men at best are stubborn creatures, each according to his rights;
 Time it is we have our shades and a lot of little fights;
 Once we learn respect for justice everywhere and all around,
 All of us shall stand together on the rock of middle ground.

That is all, my little girie. So we bot a bit dismayed;
 Progress upward to perfection, never yet was a parade.
 Step by step we struggle upward, each persistent in his part,
 And the way to things worth having is a way of keeping heart.

THE NEW DIAMOND AMBEROLA

No product can be bigger than the brain that evolves it. No other brain in the world today has the inventive ability of Edison's. That fact alone is sufficient proof of the absolute superiority of the Amberola.

FREE TRIAL OFFER

PRICES $41.00 and up

¶ We will place an Amberola in your home for 3 days' Trial, which will not put you under the slightest obligation or expense. Come here, select an Amberola and a number of records and we'll send them to your home. At the end of 3 days, if you do not want the Amberola, we'll call and take it away. If you do want it, we'll arrange terms of payment to suit you.

¶ But the Amberola can quickly and easily prove its own superiority. Its tone—oh, what a revelation, compared to metallic "talking machines" and shrill-sounding phonographs! None but Edison could work that miracle of tone.

¶ Then the Amberol Records, made for the Amberola alone! They are practically unbreakable and everlasting—what a contrast to the costly fragility of other phonograph records.

¶ And for range of music—the widest in the world—all the best, all the latest. An endless feast of fascinating melody.

¶ Yet the biggest surprise of all is the price! This wonder phonograph costs less than inferior competitors! There is not a single drawback to your owning an Amberola right now!

¶ Don't listen to the claims of other manufacturers—listen to their machines. Then come in and compare the matchless tone of the Amberola. Edison's wizardry will win you every time.

¶ We'll expect you in today—now don't forget.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Sedan with electric starting and lighting system and demountable rims with 3 1/4-inch tires all around, for every day in the year has no equal as a family car. Just as popular on the farm as it is in the city. In fact, it fits the family demands in every vocation of life. Large, roomy seats, finely upholstered, plate glass windows make it an open car in pleasant weather, while in rainy and inclement weather it becomes a closed car, dust-proof and rain-proof. It is ideal for social functions, the theatre, or parties; carrying the children to school, or for touring. It is not only comfortable, but really cozy, and above all, economical in operation and maintenance, and has all the Ford merits of strength and durability. We solicit your order for one. Come in and see it.

PATRONS OF THE DIXIE THEATRE:

Having tried to exhibit the best pictures at the low admission prices of the past, I find it necessary, in order to continue this class of service, to advance the prices a little.

I thank all the patrons of the Dixie for the attendance and support of the past and hope that the little advance in price will not be felt. I regret to raise the price of admission but am compelled to do it in order to continue the high class of service which has been the policy of this theatre.

You will note the price of admission named on each program issued. Saturday matinees will continue at 6c and 11c as before, but the night show will be 11c and 17c. Don't forget that the prices will always be advertised in advance in the paper and on the program.

INSTITUTE HEARS LECTURE ON BIRDS

this result, but found that anthrax spores do pass alive through the digestive system of dogs, hogs, cats, opossums, chickens and flies. Thus there are countless opportunities on every farm for the distribution of anthrax spores through faeces of carrion-feeding animals other than the buzzard, while the latter is shown to be innocent in this respect. Dr. Morris has also shown that anthrax is distributed by the bites of horseflies and mosquitoes. Surely with such agents as biting flies to directly inoculate stock with anthrax, and with all the domestic carrion-feeding animals to distribute the disease through their faeces as well as upon their feet, jaws, and other outer parts of their bodies, not to speak of similar carrying of the spores by myriads of flies, it is very far-fetched to lay most of the blame for the spread of this disease upon the buzzard.

"Now as to hog cholera: The results of scientific experiment have also resulted favorably to buzzards.

"The United States Bureau of Animal Industry made a test to discover whether birds could carry the virus of hog cholera on their feet or feathers. For weeks birds (pigeons in this case) were confined so that they went back and forth from a pen where hogs sick with cholera were kept and died, and this pen was never cleaned, to a pen where there were healthy non-immune hogs, and in no case was the disease transmitted.

"In fact, as I remarked at first, all facts obtained by real scientific investigation tend to show that buzzards do not spread stock diseases to any marked degree. The charges that they do are mere unfounded accusations. Moreover, when all is said, neither buzzards nor other carrion feeders would have even a chance to distribute stock diseases were dead animals properly disposed of.

"Crows have also been accused in this same connection, but the arguments that I have advanced in favor of the buzzards apply equally to the crows.

"Occasionally buzzards become troublesome in that they attack newly born calves and lambs. This is, however, an unusual occurrence and should not serve as the basis for indiscriminate destruction of these birds.

"It is doubtful whether any other bird is of as great economic importance to the farmer of the eastern United States as the crow. In feed habits it is practically omnivorous. It takes anything from the choicest poultry and the tenderest shoots of sprouting grain to carrion and weed seeds, many of which offer at best only a morsel of nourishment. The fact that no less than 656 different items have been identified in its food gives some idea of the bird's resourcefulness and its potentiality for good or harm. Some of the complaints against the crow are well nigh traditional, while a few of its beneficial habits are and have been matters of common knowledge for years. Irreconcilable differences of opinion regarding the crow's worth have often been the rule among residents of the same community, and it has been only recently that sufficient information has been assembled from most parts of the bird's range to allow a thorough study of its habits.

"Figures based on examination of 2,115 stomachs showed that:

"About 23 per cent of the yearly food of the crow consists of animal matter. Among this are found insects, spiders, millepeda, crustaceans, snails, reptiles, amphibians, wild birds and their eggs, poultry and their eggs, small mammals, and carrion. Over half of the vegetable food of the crow which amounts to 72 per cent, consists of corn.

"Most of the corn eaten is waste grain but during the sprouting season of April and May it comprises about one-third of the food, and during the harvest in October it furnishes about one-half.

"Perhaps a better idea of some phases of the crow's food habits may be gained by interpreting some of the abstract but percentages of food items into more familiar units of measure. In the month of May, for instance, for every 33 bushels of corn (some of which is waste) eaten by adult crows, nearly 21 bushels of May beetles and white grubs, over four bushels of grasshoppers, and nearly three bushels of caterpillars, besides smaller quantities of other insects, are destroyed. At the same time, however, they devour one and a half bushels of poultry and about three pecks of small wild birds. In August for every 18 bushels of corn taken crows will eat 19 bushels of grasshoppers and two of caterpillars. In December two bushels of grasshoppers and one and three-fourths bushels of crustaceans are destroyed to pay for every 65 bushels of corn, practically all of which is waste. To offset the destruction of every 12 bushels of corn and about one and a half bushels each of poultry and wild birds, the crow may destroy

Indiana Tractor and Plow

The INDIANA TRACTOR AND PLOW can be used in any field regardless of size or shape and will completely plow a small lot as well as a large field. The plow hooks very close to the tractor, making it light in draft, also pulling plow from center of tractor, eliminating all side draft and allowing plow to turn even furrows.

The operator is in position to see operation of plow as well as Tractor.

The Tractor runs level with one wheel in furrow, subsoiling each furrow with spade lugs and making it self-steering.

The plow has power lift so that it is not necessary for operator to stop to control plow in turning, there being but one small lever which causes plow to enter ground in a very short distance; the same lever raising plow. This outfit being sufficiently light to allow the farmer to have his plowing nearly done by the time he could go on the ground, should we build this outfit twice as heavy.

THE INDIANA ALL-ROUND TRACTOR

The INDIANA ALL-ROUND TRACTOR is the nearest perfect power unit for farm purposes. It delivers the maximum of tractor efficiency with the minimum of tractor weight. It couples to all horse-drawn top-working, planting, seeding, cultivating and harrowing implements already in use on the farm. It also does light belt work and will perfectly plow all the ground that it is possible to successfully plant and cultivate.

One man can operate the INDIANA ALL-ROUND TRACTOR in connection with farm implements. This saves the wages of one man for the reason that it is possible to operate both tractor and implement from the implement seat.
