PAY TRIBUTE TO R. WALTON MOORE

Orange Paper Warmly Commends Public Service of Present Congressman.

The representative in Congress from the Eighth Virginia District is one of those quiet, modest and unassuming men whom it is delightful to meet in these, (too) progressive days when the public man is little hesitant to make himself the hero of his own story.

Mr. Moore is a public servant whose performance exceeds his promises, although his congressional career has not yet extended through a year he has given evidence of his worth to his district and to the nation.

His initial appearance as a speaker on the floor of the House, was upon one of those occasions when serious men halt for a moment the routine grind and lend themselves to the commemoration of past events and the character of great nation builders who have gone before them.

Mr. Moore's speech on Virginia and her public men of a century ago was accounted an asset to history, and its manner of expression combining accuracy, eloquence and force, won for him, the generous acclaim of the entire membership of the great body of which he is a member.

The agricultural appropriation bill is a measure which more vitally affects the farming interests than any other legislation to be considered. When it came before the House for discussion Mr. Moore appeared as the real advocate of the farmers interests. In convincing terms he declared that the agricultural classes should be the object of governmental concern. Pointing out that upon them and their labors rested, as a foundation, true national progress and prosperity.

A few weeks ago Mr. Moore introduced a resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the departments of government for the purpose of formulating a more economical and businesslike system. The conduct of the business of the government has been a source of much discussion. Mr. Moore's resolution was favorably commented upon by some of the great journals of the country. The New York World gave to it considerable space. The general thought was that it was an important step in the right direction.

The author was the recipient of commendatory letters from such men as Secretary Franklin K. Lane and Herbert Hoover. These are just a few of the incidents of service that show the wisdom of the people in selecting the character of man that Mr. Moore is, to guard their interests in Congress. He will grow in usefulness until his congressional person will be commensurate with his purity of character, his mental ability and his integrity of purpose, which is that of the good man of full stature.—Orange County News.

Mrs. T. T. Phaup, who has been visiting relatives in southern Virginia, spent several days this week with her brother, Mr. E. M. Whitmore, en route to her home in New York.

Mr. W. L. Browning spent several days this week at his former home in Campbell county.

Messrs. Leonard Utterback and Herman Bryant left this week to obtain employment in Roanoke.

Mrs. J. S. McDonald and Miss Gertrude McDonald left Tuesday to visit Mrs. McDonald's son, Mr. W. A. McDonald, near Orlean.

HICKORY GROVE

The pupils of Hickory Grove school organized an Improvement League Friday afternoon. The following officers were chosen: President, James Watson; vice-president, Bernice Thomas; secretary and treasurer, Granville Thomas.

The purpose of the league is school improvement. The motto is: "If you wish a thing well done, you should do it yourself. You should not leave it to others." One of the definite aims is: "Promotion of every pupil in every grade by the end of the session."

It is proposed to give an entertainment at the close of school. Refreshments will be sold for the benefit of the league.

The Patrons' League of Hickory Grove School has not met recently, owing to the prevalence of the flu and impassable roads. It is hoped that a meeting may be arranged at an early date.

Mr. Walter George has been making considerable improvements at "Content," his residence near Hickory Grove.

The members of Mr. Silas Hunt's family, who were recently ill of influenza, have recovered, with the exception of Mrs. Hunt, who is still confined to the house though much improved.

AUDITOR "FINDS" MONEY IN VIRGINIA TREASURY

Revised Estimate of Revenues Reveals Welcome Difference of About $600,000.

State Auditor C. Lee Moore has informed the governor that a revised estimate of the state's revenues covering the succeeding two year discloses that the total of such revenues will exceed by approximately $600,000 the estimates furnished the governor at the time the governor's budget was in the making.

This gratifying intelligence relieves the governor of the necessity of considerable exercise of the veto power as he goes over the appropriations bill now before him for approval.

It is believed today that the governor will approve the bill very nearly as it came to him from the assembly. The sum of $600,000 of additional revenue will also take care of the greater part of the special appropriations now in the process of enactment, or awaiting consideration by the governor.

About two-thirds of the $600,000 of additional revenue, it is understood, will come from common carriers and other public service corporations. A member of the corporation commission said that the estimate of the auditor appeared to him to be conservative.

BUDGET SYSTEM OPERATIVE

Legislative Appropriations for Next Two Years Total $22,496,000.

With appropriations by the General Assembly for the next two years amounting to a total of $22,496,000, Virginia's first budget became a reality.

Providing a clear increase of $1,000,000 for the public schools of the state, payable direct out of the state treasury, instead of having to increase taxes to provide for school needs and carrying liberal increases in appropriations for pensions, roads, agriculture, all the educational institutions, for the state hospitals, and for almost every department of the state government, including increased salaries for nearly every state officer and employe, the budget makes ample provision for the efficient conduct of the state government for the next two years at a saving of more than $3,000,000, as compared with the estimates of the departments and institutions filed with the Governor last November.

TO REDISTRICT VIRGINIA

Appointment of a committee on redistricting the state and reapportionment of senators and delegates was one of the last official acts of the presiding officers of the two branches of the general assembly.

House members on the committee are Stephenson, Galin, Dodson, Noland and Anderson. Senators selected for the committee are Cannon, Garrett, Holt and Trinkle. The committee, it was stated, does not plan to get down to actual work until after the federal census returns are in.

As long as anybody's care

'Twill touch us all unless we

The burden and the tear.
—Folger McKinsey.

TAKE A SHOT AT IGNORANCE
Although tradition has it that ignorance is bliss, ignorance in many matters is not bliss but crime. The future hope of world-wide good health, or at least a tremendously heightened standard of health, lies in banishing old fashioned ignorance of the primary laws of health and the conditions governing preventable disease.

This desperate need was never more forcefully illustrated than by a recent news letter from the Virginia health department, "The Story of Polly," by a public health nurse.

Polly, a seventy-year-old colored woman, came to a clinic "just to see what's-a-go-in on."
"Never had no c'sumption, no sub;
never been 'xposed to it, no sub; seed somebody with it, yes sub. Come to think about it, 'member just as well.
Old Marster 'way back yonder 'foh de war cough all de time; usester send me up to fan him, yes sub; dis of c'sumption he did, yes sub."

Polly had lost six children and two grandchildren with tuberculosis, and a living grandchild is now a suspect.
Polly herself, finally persuaded to take the test, proved to be an old chronic case.

In the light of present knowledge a clear case is presented. Present day intelligence can picture the little negro girl sent up to fan the sick old man who knew nothing about the simple precautions against disease; a cough, a sneeze, infection; the child grows up, marries, coughs still but with sturdy resistance never breaks down, while children and even grandchildren come, take the disease and die.

Neither a decade nor a generation can be expected to liberate the slaves of ignorance, but consistent educational propaganda can materially improve the situation as weeks or days go by.

If you haven't even a mild frenzy
for any form of reform, let your energy drift to public health preachment.
It won't do you any harm and you will have the satisfaction of measuring the good accomplished in lives as well as dollars and cents.

LET US HAVE IT

What is your favorite poem?
Although we live in a tremendously practical age, we cannot get away from the charm of poetry. We don't want to.

The Journal has published in the past many of its own favorites. Now we want to publish your favorite. Let us have it.

Perhaps it is some thought that always spurs you on to greater endeavor.

Perhaps it is some comfort-laden thought that never fails to reach a troubled heart.

Perhaps it is some bright flash of humor to ease a burden—even, for the nonce, to roll it out of sight.

Perhaps it is a thing of beauty that adds another gleam to an already golden sunlight, or lends new zest to a life already rich in recognition of the privilege.

At any rate send us that poem, and from time to time these favorites will appear in The Journal. Unless you request that your name be withheld, we shall mention in each instance whose favorite is published. In most cases we think you will be willing to let us publish the poem as your message to your friends.

OUT AMONG THE BIG THINGS

Out among the big things—
The mountains and the plains—
An hour ain't important
Nor are the hour's gains;
The feller in the city
Is hurried night and day,
But out among the big things
He learns the calmer way.

Out among the big things—
The skies that never end—
To lose a day ain't nothin'—
The days are here to spend;
So why not give 'em freely,
'wayin' as we go?
Somehow can't help thinkin'
The good Lord means life so.

Out among the big things—
The nights that dream afar—
The stars that shine so bright—
The good Lord means life so.

1/3 Less Coal-
1/2 More Heat

You can save from a third to a half of your fuel and have a much warmer home than ever before if you will install a CALORIC.

The CALORIC is the remarkable furnace that heats without pipes, through only one register. It circulates heat by Nature's own method, forcing warm air up into the entire house and drawing cool air down into the furnace to be reheated and purified.

The CALORIC heats practically all types of homes, bungalow or three-story house, up to eighteen rooms. It heats kitchens and back bedrooms just as comfortable and warm as the rest of the house. Also heats churches, factories, stores and other business buildings. More than 50,000 already installed.

The CALORIC can be installed in new or old houses—no cutting of walls for pipes and no interference with present system of heating. It burns coal, oil, gas, wood or lignite, and moves from one place to another at will.

MAY RUN FOR CONGRESS ON BEER-WINE PLATFORM

State Senator Leody Considers Making Race Against Representative Harrison.

Amendment of the Volstead act so as to permit the sale of light wine and beer may be the clear-cut issue in a congressional fight between Senator Robert F. Leody, of Luray, and Representative Thomas W. Harrison, of Winchester.

Senator Leody said last week he has under consideration the matter of making the race for Congress from the seventh district. If he does, he will run on the platform of light wine and beer, he declared.

This gives the probability of at least three congressional fights this summer. In the fifth district Senator E. B. Boucher and Colonel Rorer A. James already are in the political arena for the seat made vacant by the resignation of Judge E. W. Saunders, to take his place on the Supreme Court of Appeals. Senator Deal, of Norfolk, has been mentioned as a possible aspirant for the House of Representatives from the second district, in opposition to Representative Holland, of Suffolk.

"And It's Appetizing"

"That's the reason I like to eat at the SANITARY LUNCH. Not only that you know it's CLEAN—and that's a whole mouthful—but it's COOKED right, and not just thrown together. The good, wholesome food you get there has the right TASTE and you really relish it. It tastes like the only Mother used to give you, and the service is so courteous and efficient that you forget that you are in a restaurant and wonder if you are not back home with your two legs stuck under the old kitchen table. It's just that difference between what a lunch room should be and a lunch home."

If the above compliment was paid us recently by a homelick traveler, if you feel we do not merit the compliment, will you let us prove it?

A MAN'S PRAYER

Read the subjected prayer taken from an exchange, and if you can feelingly and sincerely offer it before retiring tonight, you may have the comforting assurance that your heart is not far from being in the right place: "Teach me that 60 minutes make an hour, 16 ounces make one pound, and 100 cents one dollar. "Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow, and unharmed by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain. "Grant, I beseech thee, that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and in doing so may not stick a gaff where it does not belong. "Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money and the rustle of unholly skirts. "Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me my own. "Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal. "Keep me young enough to laugh with my children and to lose myself in their play. "And then when comes the smell of flowers and the tread of soft steps and the crunching of the horse's wheels in the gravel-out in front of my place, make the ceremony short and the epigraph simple: Here lies a man." "I KNOW THE NEWSPAPER IS A KIND OF A FAMOUS AFFAIR. IN THE ROOM TAKES AN INTEREST IN THE LINES 'I SEE THE CA' SWEET CHICK FULL OF NEWS, SO THEN GENERALLY I MANAGE 'I HAVE A NEWS ITEM 'A TWO-PED 'M' REPORTER WHEN I'M SHOWN UP."

CHILDREN MUST GO TO SCHOOL

(Continued from page one.) of the enforcement machinery, and Senator Deal declared that fewer regulatory laws make for a contented citizenry, and that compulsory education will mean an unequalled for additional financial burden to the state. The Constitution permits the Legislature to enact compulsory attendance laws for children between eight and twelve years of age.

Fairfax Agent Makes Address

(Continued from page one.) benefit of the community. Particular attention was given to the public school system and the postal service system. The school house has been the community center since the most primitive days. We must have a place where we can talk over things in common. The idea of the extent to which the schools can be used has never been grasped. If, for example, you can establish the polls in the school and furnish the clerk, it has been demonstrated that the questions upon which the citizens are going to vote may be previously discussed to good advantage. Speaking of our parcel post system, Mr. Ward pointed out the necessity of cutting in two the present rate on fresh farm produce. This would enable the regular parcel post to compete with the motor parcel post at an equal rate and thereby materially increase the volume of parcel post shipments. At the suggestion of the speaker, the institute passed a resolution petitioning Congressman Moore to support the ruling favoring a decrease in parcel post rates, making them the same as the motor truck rates for fresh country produce. At the conclusion of this address, lunch was served in the high school by the ladies of the community, the receipts of this lunch to be used for the support of the rest room.

A Feast of the Subscribers. Admiral Sims says the Otranto strait barrage was one of the most successful pieces of work accomplished by the subscribers in the great war. He tells of this remarkable feat in next Sunday's Washington Star, also relating the fact story of the sinking of an Austrian submarine. Watch for this article in The Washington Star, Sunday, March 21.

HEALTH PRECAUTIONS

- 1. Keep your class room warm but at the same time have good ventilation. At recess and noon open all the windows and air the room well before the children return to their work. If you omit the recess period because of the weather, open the windows and play games or have a physical drill for a few minutes in the noon. 2. Keep a pan of water on the stove all the time. Moisture in the air is essential to health. 3. Do not allow a child who has a cold to remain in school. A cold is the symptom of many diseases prevalent at this season of the year. 4. See that every child removes his outside wrap. If he sits in these all day his resistance to cold is so lowered that colds, grippe, etc., result from so-called exposure. 5. Require every child to take rapid steps in the open air for several minutes at recess and noon. Forbid children to sit on the ground or on the floor during the recess period.

OBITUARY NOTICES, ETC. Memorial resolutions, cards of thanks, obituary notices of every kind (except a news account of a death when it occurs) are inserted at the rate of 25 cents an inch, payable in advance. If you do not know how much money to send, remit at the rate of 25 cents for every 35 words.
