EXHIBITS OF CLASS AT COUNTY FAIR

Second Annual Exhibition at End—Rain Only Factor to Marry Success.

Saturday night amid the crash and glare of a wonderful pyrotechnic display, the second annual exhibition of the Prince William Fair Association came to an end.

For those interested in exhibits of live stock, farm products, and home economics, as well as in the high stepping and jumping horses of the show ring circuit, probably no more elaborate program has ever been attempted in a rural community, and in fact, it was said by some prominent visitors that it compared favorably with similar exhibitions usually given in the larger cities of the state.

The vein of merriment was stimulated in a marked degree by the many attractions of the carnival, and, on the whole, good nature and good order prevailed.

Compensation for the absence of good cheer in the form of liquid refreshments, that used to be in evidence in the old days before the "great drought," was found in the enjoyment of the saner attractions and in the absence of the "morning after" effect which may still linger in the memory of some of the older ones who dwelt upon earth in the ante-parched period. Yet even the wettest advocates of the "wets" had no reason to complain of the lack of moisture, for, from the opening day to the closing day, there was almost a continuous performance of showers, chasing everyone to cover, and marring, in probably the only way that it could have been marred, what would have been a most successful and a most delightful entertainment.

The management deserves the congratulations and the support of the community. It was a big job and it was handled in a big way. Let them not be discouraged because unforeseen weather conditions were a serious drawback to the financial success of the undertaking—it was not a failure in any sense—but with renewed energy, let the "Fair" spirit grow, and in the year 1921 show the world what Prince William can do.

The electric power from the town plant, by which our machines are operated, having been of the intermittent variety this week, we are unable to give details of awards.

BEGINNING OF SCHOOL TERM
Public Schools in Manassas Will Commence Session Sept. 15th.

(By Miss E. H. Osborn)
Manassas High and Graded Schools will open Wednesday, September 15th.

Miss Grace Morsh will act as assistant principal of the graded schools.

Owing to the additional equipment received from the state by the agricultural and home economics departments of the high school, these courses will be given with greater completeness than ever before; increased facilities for laboratory work in dairying and a course in forge work being new features of the agricultural course and a year's work in biology of the home economics course. Much emphasis will also be laid this session on the special business courses offered by the commercial departments. For terms and particulars relative to these special commercial courses see advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

Mr. Newman Replies to Rumors.
In consideration of rumors being circulated throughout Manassas to the effect that the town council has sold coal to dealers and private parties, and in consideration of the gross injustice rendered thereby to the town council and especially to the members of the public utilities committee, I deem it expedient to state that no coal has been sold by the town authorities to any one.

A car of coal was bought by the firm of Newman & Trussler, arriving here a little over a month ago; it was offered to the town, but as what was deemed a sufficient quantity was already on hand, it was not accepted, and it was accordingly sold to the consumers by the above named firm.

(Signed) O. E. NEWMAN,
Member P. U. Committee.

ESCAPED CONVICT RETAKEN

The Town Sergeant of Manassas Lands Fugitive in Jail.

News was received here last week of the escape of several convicts from a camp located near Warrenton.

On Saturday, Sergeant Weir, seeing a suspicious looking individual of the colored variety loitering about the streets, decided to pass the compliments of the season and inquire after his health and happiness.

The aforesaid individual not being able to make satisfactory replies to questions, and upon inspection it was found that the gentleman's ankle was encircled by a bracelet—a souvenir of the prison camp. He was wearing a suit of clothes which he had stolen Tuesday from a Warrenton store, when he laid aside his prison garb.

The proper authorities being notified, the convict was returned to the camp and the Manassas sergeant will receive a reward of $50.00 for his pains.

The Journal Office was the recipient of a fine basket of Elberta peaches grown by Mr. E. O. Bibb on his farm near town. The peaches were taken from a sixteen year old tree that has never been sprayed and showed no signs of being injured by insect pests.

AUTO THIEVES IN TOILS OF THE LAW

Were Captured in Manassas—Machine Returned to Owner—Prisoners Taken Away.

John Johnson, seventeen years of age, and Harry Randall, eighteen, claiming to hail from New York, whose actions aroused the suspicion of Sergeant Weir, were arrested here last Saturday and held as automobile thieves.

It developed that a new $1,900 Bao motor car, purchased by F. G. Wilson, of Oxford, Pa., was stolen from the garage of S. W. Lee, also at Oxford, on Tuesday, August 17th. The car was to have been delivered the next morning but owing to business pressure on account of a farmers' carnival being held there at the time, it was not missed from the garage until about 9:30 Wednesday morning.

Inquiries were sent out immediately and the missing car was traced as far as Belle Air, Md., where the tools had been pawned for gasoline.

The fugitives then probably came direct to Manassas to attend the fair with the result, as noted above, of having their merry tour terminated.

Sergeant Weir, upon making the arrests, notified police headquarters in Harrisonburg, Baltimore and Washington, the reply from Washington giving him the particulars of an automobile theft from Oxford, Pa., and stating that a reward of one hundred dollars was offered for the capture of the thieves and the recovery of the missing car.

Communication was at once opened with the authorities at Oxford with the result that the owner arrived here Monday and identified the car, and expressed a desire to take it away without making any arrests. This the town authorities refused to allow, and Tuesday morning an officer from the Pennsylvania town arrived, armed with proper warrants. Another hitch in the proceeding now appeared on the horizon. The owner and the officer claimed that a reward of only $50.00 had been offered and that they did not intend to pay more. Then apparent cock-sureness savored of bluff, and in reply to a telegram sent by Mr. Weir to police headquarters in Washington, a message was received by Mr. Wilson, the owner of the machine, that he owed the sergeant at Manassas one hundred dollars and it would not look well for him to attempt to sidestep.

The money was thereupon handed over and the apparently happy crowd, including the prisoners, left in the automobile for Oxford, the original seat of the trouble.

Baden, of Brandywine, looked very lovely in a gown of lustrous white satin and tulle with exquisite lace on the bodice. "Overalls where I work get about as big a test as you can give an overall."

(Signed) Adam Diehl

"As big a test as you can give an overall"

UP where a man must balance on iron girders, climb swaying beams, where a single false move means a helpless body dropping to the pavement 800 feet below—that's where Adam Diehl works.

"Believe me," says Adam Diehl, "it means a lot when I tell you I put on Blue Buckle Overalls every time I work on a high building. The overalls I wear have got to fit easy. I can't afford to have them pull or bind—and they've got to stand up strong under the toughest kind of wear.

"Overalls where I work get about as big a test as you can give an overall."

Like millions of workers on big jobs—on farms, in factories, on railroads—everywhere, Adam Diehl has found that of all the overalls he's worn Blue Buckles give the fullest value—last the longest.

Long wear is woven into the tough, thick denim cloth. Every pair is always big and roomy—always comfortable. The wide, double-stitched seams will not rip. The heavy brass buttons and buckles don't rust or break. Every detail has the same sturdy, first-class workmanship, the same careful attention. Big, convenient pockets—extra wide suspenders, and free swing raglan sleeves on all the coats.

Wear, comfort, looks, you'll find Blue Buckles have them all. Ask your dealer for a pair today—Men's, Youths' and 'dren's sizes.

POLAND

As the Polish question is occupying the center of the stage in Europe, and is attracting the attention of the world at large at the present time, it might be interesting to the readers of The Journal to review Polish history briefly in order to understand more fully some of the intricate and peculiar situations confronting the Allies in their attempt to aid Poland in the re-establishment of the kingdom. To decide what is and what is not true Polish territory, is the problem which will have to be solved in order that this once glorious country may have a permanent place among the nations of the world.

All of us in this country recall the names of Pulaski and Kosciuszko, the noble Poles, who aided us in our own struggle for independence.

The Slavonic tribes occupying the districts around the lower Oder and Vistula rivers, called themselves Lecha, and their country, Poland, that is, the Plain.

In the tenth century, a considerable power arose for the first time in these regions, having its center at Gnesen, the abiding metropolitan city of Poland. Under Boleslaf, 1000 A. D., a great empire was formed, stretching from the Elbe to the Dnieper, and from the shores of the Baltic to the Carpathians.

Constant divisions among the ruling family, the Piasta, did not destroy its national unity and independence. A Polish state always lived on, and from the end of the 13th century, it took its place as an important European kingdom, holding a distinctive position as the one Slavonic power at once attached to the Western Church and independent of the Western Church.

Casimir, the Great, 1333-1370, who had added Red Russia, Poldavia, and Volhynia to his realm, resolved to leave his crown to his nephew, Louis, son of the king of Hungary. With this view, he summoned a national assembly at Cracow, which approved the choice he had made.

This proceeding, however, enabled the Polish nobles to interfere with the succession of the crown, and to render it elective, so that the Polish state became a sort of aristocratic republic. This king's daughter was married to Wladislaw, Grand Duke of Lithuania, thus bringing about the union of Poland and Lithuania.

In 1764, the Diet elected Stanislaus Poniatowsky to the throne after he had promised to restore non-catholics to all civil rights. This resulted in the formation of a confederation by Polish Catholics for the purpose of dethroning the king and restoring Polish freedom.

The crafty Catherine II of Russia drew from these internal dissensions a pretext for hostility against Poland, and, knowing that Russia would not be allowed to aggrandize herself alone, she made a secret treaty with Prussia and Austria.

Frederick the Great marched into Polish Prussia, Joseph II, into southern Poland, while Russia occupied the central portion. Pulaski, the leader of the confederation, when he heard of the union of the three great powers, retired from the useless struggle, and advised his countrymen to await better times.

The plunderers proceeded to divide the spoil, Russia obtained 2,500 square miles with 1,500,000 inhabitants; Austria, 1,300 square miles with 2,500,000 inhabitants, and Prussia, 700 square miles with about 800,000 souls. This was the first partition of Poland.

A new constitution under Russian auspices was promulgated in 1775. When an attempt was made to set this aside, one Polish party called upon Russia for help. A Russian army invaded Poland, and, although a brave defense was led by Kosciuszko, a second partition was made by which Prussia got more than a thousand square miles of territory, peopled by 3,500,000 souls and Russia obtained 4,553 square miles with more than 3,000,000 people.

The Polish patriots in the curtailed realm met at Cracow and proclaimed Kosciuszko generalissimo with dictatorial powers. He held his swarming foe at bay, for a time, before Warsaw, but was finally captured and a month later Sevastoff, the Russian, entered Warsaw.

Russia, Austria and Prussia now quietly divided the black-haired prey and the Kingdom of Poland was blotted from the map of Europe.

By the three partitions, Russia acquired 180,000 square miles with 800,000 people; Austria, 45,000 square miles with 3,700,000 and Prussia, 57,000 square miles with 2,500,000 inhabitants.

It will be seen, and it is worth remembering, that the three partitions realm to Russia. They simply annexed Lithuania, more than half the territory of which had been originally Russian. The real Polish realm fell to Prussia.

In the present struggle, it seems that Russia claims a part of the territory now occupied by the Poles in their new kingdom, as being a part of her ancient domain, and so fierce has been the fighting of the invading Red army, that at one time recently it appeared as if the Russians would conquer, but the tide of battle has changed, the Reds are in full retreat. It is now the task of the allied governments of the great world war to put a restraining hand on the victorious Poles in their lust for territory, and to cause the Russians to modify their claims.

SUPFRAGISTS WIN FIGHT FOR VOTES

Fifty Year Battle Ends in Victory for Suffrage Army— May Vote in Fall.

Tennessee having ratified the nineteenth amendment, that state being the thirty sixth and final state necessary to its becoming a law, it was made effective yesterday by the proclamation of the Secretary of State.

Mr. Colby signed the paper at his home at eight o'clock yesterday morning; to the great disappointment of many of the leading suffragists who had planned to hold elaborate ceremonies at the Department of State, when the signature of the Secretary should be affixed to the document declaring to the world that the fifty years' fight for votes for women in the United States had been won.

Despite the news that Secretary Colby had proclaimed the nineteenth amendment a part of the Constitution of the United States, the opponents of ratification in Tennessee are pushing forward plans to hold mass meetings throughout the state to allow the people to express themselves on the subject of ratification.

Speaker Walker, of the Tennessee house of representatives, sent the following message to Secretary of State Colby:

"Tennessee has not ratified nineteenth amendment. Motion to reconsider house vote was duly entered on journal and no quorum was present under constitution of Tennessee on August 21, 1920, when motion to reconsider was attempted to be acted upon."

"Under decision Judge Lurton in 87 Tennessee Reports, 87, effect of motion to reconsider was to nullify prior vote until said motion was acted on by constitutional quorum of sixty-seven members. This has not been done."

"Legislature acting as parliamentary body, under provision of Tennessee constitution; see Haire against Rice, 204 United States, 291"

"This legislature has no power to act and furthermore has not acted. The governor's certificate in effect leaves these two questions up to you, to decide which you cannot lawfully do."

Under the Proclamation, women will have a right to vote in the coming election, but if after the election, the Supreme Court should decide that the ratification by Tennessee was illegal, such decision would probably nullify the election in every state that did not give the right of suffrage.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Suit for damages in the amount of $15,000, according to the records in the clerk's office, has been filed by John E. Barrett against W. T. Thomasson.

The action is the outcome of an altercation that took place between Mr. Thomasson and Mr. Barrett at the railroad station some time last spring, when Mr. Barrett is alleged to have been seriously injured.

The law firm of Keith, Barbour, McCandlish and Garrett, and Diddake and Meetze, have been retained by the plaintiff.

Miss L. McGill spent Monday in Washington.

Mrs. K. E. Printz, of Lynchburg, is visiting her sister, Mrs. William Garrett.

A number of soldiers from one of the camps near Washington, camped Saturday night and Sunday on the grounds of the Haymarket high school. They were a gentlemanly lot of fellows and seemed well pleased with our village. Many of them attended the moving pictures in the Parish Hall.

Rev. Mr. Browne gave a very interesting and instructive sermon to a good congregation Sunday morning, which was highly appreciated by all present. Every one is cordially invited to the service the coming Sunday morning.

Mr. C. C. Rowland is now located in his new garage on the corner, where he has much more room than in the one he formerly occupied.

Mr. Samuel R. Bleight had 11 fine young turkeys killed, two young ones badly crippled, and two grown ones killed by dogs early Monday morning.

Mr. Bernard Tisen and family, who were formerly residents of this village, were guests the past week at the home of his sister, Mrs. W. H. Wine.

Mr. W. M. Jordan and family after a ten days absence, visiting relatives at Charlottesville and places in Maryland and West Virginia, have returned home. While away Mr. Will succeeded in capturing something over 100 fish.

Mr. John T. Carter, who has been assisting in Jordan & Jordan's store has returned to his home in the Buckland neighborhood.

Everything the family possessed was consumed, even to clothing, excepting a few articles which were on a clothes-line. As far as we can learn the origin of the fire is unknown. Mrs. Carter, who was ill, was the first to discover it and gave the alarm, but it was burning at too rapid a rate for anything to be done by the time help arrived and the building, being of ancient date, was quickly consumed.

DEATH OF ROBERT W. LAY

Only Brother of Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge Passes Away in San Antonio.

(Contributed)

Robert Wolcott Lay, long a resident of San Antonio, Texas, passed away on July 20, 1920.

Robert Wolcott Lay, the only brother of Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge and Mrs. W. J. B. Patterson, was the tenth eldest son of the oldest son, bearing the same name. He was born in Montreal, Canada, but in early manhood joined his brother-in-law, Mr. J. B. Patterson, in business in San Antonio, Texas.

With his death the direct line is at an end. Mr. Lay was unmarried. He was a charter member of the San Antonio Club, the Y. M. C. A., the Anchor Lodge and an active member of St. Mark's Church, in which he had held important offices until his falling health compelled him to retire into more private service. His last activity was as chairman of one of the committees in the New Era drive, entered into by St. Mark's Church in co-operation with the Episcopal Church of America. This committee raised the largest amount in St. Mark's Church.

Mr. Lay's influence, especially with young men, was strong for all that is pure and beautiful and good. In conversation with a young man who came to his bedside near the close of his life, he said "It is a false idea that young men hold that it is necessary to 'sow their wild oats.'" Mr. Lay urged him to "shun evil companions and, trusting in the Saviour, to live a noble life, sending forth a joyous, happy influence by his good example."

Mr. Lay possessed a very happy disposition, a strong sense of humor, as well as a high standard of living, which made him a welcome guest in the choicest homes of San Antonio.

The funeral services were held on the morning of July 22, and St. Mark's Church, Rev. Kemp officiating, and at the beautiful Cemetery Mission Burial Park, under the auspices of the Masonic lodge, of which he was a member for so many years. The floral tributes were many and very beautiful, testifying to the high esteem in which he was held.

"He being dead yet speaketh."

VISIT OF HIGHWAY OFFICIALS

Members of Road Commission on Tour of Inspection.

Four members of the State Highway Commission, accompanied by the Hon. R. Walton Moore, representative from the eighth congressional district, visited Manassas Wednesday. The members in the party were George P. Coleman, state road commissioner, Eugene C. Massey, of Rappahannock, H. Hardaway, representing the southwestern portion of the state, and H. P. Beck, of Richmond.

The tourists starting in Richmond, made their way over the roads to a southern point in the valley, thence through the valley to Washington. They are returning by way of the Piedmont counties.

The main objects of the trip are to familiarize the members of the commission with the roads and road conditions in the sections through which they pass, to create interest in road building and to secure a more hearty co-operation of the county officials with a view to the establishment of state highways and to recommend state aid where it is most needed.

This would not be so if the Ford car had not for sixteen years proven its superiority in service, in durability, and in the low cost for operation and maintenance; this would not be so if the Ford car was not so easy to understand, so simple in construction that anybody and everybody can safely drive it. It is everybody's necessity because it doubles the value of time, and is the quick, convenient, comfortable, and economical method of transportation. We solicit your order. # Special Notice To Farmers

One of the most important things ever done by the Agricultural Experiment Station of North Carolina was a test to determine if National Hog Remedy has any value to the Farmer. A bulletin issued about June first tells that in a series of tests some figures were brought out that are startling.

Fifteen pigs of similar weight were bought for a test that was continued at the Raleigh test farm 88 days. One lot of these pigs were given National Hog Remedy and another lot was given the same feed but no remedy.

In the lot where the National Hog Remedy was given the hogs gained .70 of a pound each. In the lot where nothing was given but the feed the hogs gained only .47 of a pound.

Two hogs on National Hog Remedy increased in weight on the same ration as much as three hogs did without it.

Furthermore this test showed and stated that by using National Hog Remedy a saving was realized of approximately $9.00 on each hundred pounds increase in live weight.

National Hog Remedy is sold by all dealers at One Dollar a package. In case your dealer cannot supply you kindly send us your name and we will see you get it. We do not use a filler to enlarge the package and we use high grade chemicals only.

Now the whole family can go out on a Summer evening

THE women should certainly be thankful for the automobile. It has given them a chance to see a lot more of their husbands.

they're beginning to insist on knowing what they are getting.

And the more they insist, the better it will be for us.

But it has done a great deal more than that.

We want our customers to know what they are getting.

It has brought people closer together, given them new interests, swept away old prejudices.

That's why we represent U. S. Tires—so there will be no doubt about it.

What affects one man now generally affects a good many of his neighbors in the same way. And they have a better chance to get together and talk things over.

Whatever the size of your car, you know that the U. S. Tire you put on it is the best kind of tire its makers know how to make.

It's had its effect on the tire business.

U. S. Tires are guaranteed for life, without any limitation of mileage.

When automobiles were new people were willing to buy any kind of a tire. Now

That ought to mean something to the man who has thought about tires.
