William Churchill will preach the sermon. Rev. Edward Taber, has been appointed principal of the Haymarket High School, which will open Monday. Rev. Taber is well known here, having conducted the services in the Baptist church for a year or more. Miss Mary Scott and Mrs. J. E. Jordan will teach in the school again this year. There will be a fine entertainment at the Parish Hall Saturday night. The pictures will be "Jack Plekford and the Dummy," which is one of the funniest that has ever been brought here. There will be good music. Every one should come. Regular services will be conducted by the rector at St. Paul's Church next Sunday morning at the usual hour. Mr. Ethelbert Manville, of Delhi, N. Y., was in town Monday enroute for Washington, Philadelphia and other northern cities on his way home. He has visited Central America and the Isthmus but says he much prefers Virginia and old New York.

DOCTOR'S THRILLING STRUGGLE WITH DEATH IS VICTORIOUS

Fraser Battle with Grim Spectre Brings Health to Dr. Reese and a Message of Hope to Millions of Sufferers

After Dr. H. V. Reese had suffered for 10 years and been told by the greatest stomach specialist in the country that there was no hope for his recovery, he determined to spend his remaining days in experimenting upon himself in an endeavor to develop a remedy for sufferers from stomach, liver and kidney troubles such as himself. Dr. Reese's condition at this time was so critical that it was impossible for him to retain food in his stomach, it being necessary to wash that organ out two or three times a day. This in addition to the severe liver and kidney trouble which generally accompanies stomach trouble. After months of heart breaking failures and with his condition growing worse, Dr. Reese finally hit upon the Formula which is now known as The Reese Formula R-11 that completely restored his health. This happened in 1898, twenty-one years ago. Today at the age of 72 years Dr. Reese weighs 175 pounds. The Reese Formula R-11 is sold at Cook's Pharmacy, Manassas, Va.

ST RAILWAY OF THE SOUTH

Interesting Story as Told in the Southern Railway September News Bulletin.

1827, Alexander Black of Charleston, S. C., and his associates, petitioned the South Carolina legislature for a charter to organize a railroad company. The charter was authorized on December 19, 1827, and the South Carolina Canal and Railroad Company was formally organized at the Charleston City Hall on May 12, 1828. One hundred months and twenty-one days later the road was opened for public use as far as Branchville, a distance of 100 miles, Branchville later becoming the first railway junction in the world, while the line to Columbia was projected. The line of the South Carolina Canal and Railroad Company was completed to Hamburg, a distance of about 150 miles on October 1, 1833. This was then the longest continuous railroad in the world.

"Best Friend of Charleston," although a pigmy compared to the present day locomotive, was considered a marvelous machine in 1830, when the citizens of Charleston got their first glimpse of it in actual operation. It was according to the best accounts available, a boiler hardly larger than a barrel and cylinders measuring 18 inches in diameter. Its four wheels of cast iron spokes were each four and one-half feet in diameter. However, according to Allen, its designer, was justly proud of its improvement over all previous models for it was the first locomotive to have king bolts, permitting the drivers to go around curves. All other locomotives had a rigid wheel base and could not turn curves any more than a wagon with the axles held parallel could turn a street corner.

The track upon which this earliest Southern Railway train ran, was of stringer or stringer rail, laid on wooden sleepers and without couplings. Specimens of some of this rail, laid in 1825, are now in possession of the Southern Railway Company.

The board of directors of the South Carolina Canal and Railroad Company, having rejected the idea of employing kites for motive power upon the advice of Mr. Allen as quoted above, and having abandoned the suggestion of operating trains by sails, gave orders for two locomotives, one of which was named the "Best Friend of Charleston," and the other, "South Carolina."

The "Best Friend of Charleston" was built at the West Point Foundry in New York and was shipped to Charleston on the ship "Niagara," arriving on October 23, 1830. After several experimental trials it made its first excursion trip with passengers on January 15, 1831, the anniversary of the commencement of the road.

The first test of the "Best Friend of Charleston" is described by David Mathew, foreman in charge of machinery at the West Point Foundry as follows:

"On the 14th and 15th of December, 1830, the engine was tried and proved her force and efficiency to be double that contracted for; running at the rate of sixteen to twenty-one miles an hour with forty or fifty passengers in four or five cars, and without the carriage thirty to thirty-five miles per hour."

First Excursion Trip.

The following account taken from the Charleston Courier, of January 17, 1831, tells the story of the first excursion trip:

"On Saturday last, the first anniversary of the commencement of the railroad was celebrated. Notice having been previously given, inviting stockholders, one hundred and fifty assembled in the course of the morning at the Company's Building in Line Street together with a number of invited guests. The first trip was performed with two pleasure cars attached, upon which was a detachment of United States troops and a field piece which had been politely granted by Major Bolton for the occasion."

On Friday, June 17, 1831, the engineer in charge of the "Best Friend" who temporarily absent, left a negro who was used as a wood passer, cleaner and general helper in charge of the engine. Becoming annoyed at the noise created by the continual escape of steam from the safety valve, the fitter sat on the valve lever, with the result that an explosion of the boiler occurred just as the engineer returned. Three men were severely injured by this accident, the engineer's thigh being broken and the boiler hurled forty feet from the roadbed. Subsequently, the "Best Friend" was rebuilt and came out of the shops under the name "Phoenix." It was operated for several years in the service of the road under its new name.

Following this accident, we are told that the patrons of the road became alarmed at the prospects of another explosion; and to allay their skepticism the directors caused a flat-car loaded with bales of cotton to be interposed between the engine and the pas-enger's engine. The popularity of this "barrier-car" and the possibility of railway travel soon revived.

A prominent Charleston lady, describing her first ride to Augusta two years after the completion of the railway, wrote to a friend:

"We not only had no accident but no tendency to one in our 135-mile flight between sunrise and sunset; and it was like magic to be seated with a dear circle of friends at Augusta, sipping a quiet cup of tea at twilight."

The road enjoyed high favor with the public and was in 1833 authorized by an act of the South Carolina legislature to increase its passenger rates to seven and one-half cents per mile.

GIVE WOMEN STATUS

Receive Temporary Recognition at Democratic Convention.

With Chairman Rorer A. James of Danville presiding and more than a majority of the members in their seats, the Virginia state Democratic committee in special session at Murphy's Hotel, Richmond, Monday night, adopted resolutions establishing a temporary status for democratic women voters in Virginia and providing for a state convention to be held the fourth Thursday in next April, when women will be admitted to the party on an equal basis with male voters.

United States Senators Claude A. Swanson and Carter Glass, who had arrived unexpectedly, late in the afternoon, expressed themselves before the meeting as satisfied with the general outlook as regards the national campaign. Neither remained for the meeting, however, much to the disappointment of the women present, who had hoped the senators would address the committee. Representative Hal D. Flood, who is a member of the committee, stayed for the session. More than a score of women of the Equal Suffrage League were present by invitation of Secretary J. N. Brennanman.—Washington Star, Sept. 14.

LOUDOUN

The Loudoun County Fair and Stock Show, held last week at Purcellville, was widely attended. In all there were more than a thousand entries. The perfect weather of the week permitted people to travel to the fair from far and near.

Last week Messrs. Ray and Paul Lambert, of Leesburg, suspected that a car driven by two boys, who bought gasoline at the Lambert Garage, was a stolen machine. A quick phone call to Washington confirmed this and soon the offenders, Jacob See, of Rockville, Md., and John Welsh, of Avery, Md., were in the hands of the law. They were taken to Maryland for trial.

An automobile driven by Miss Hannah B. McIntosh, with Misses Irene Bridges and Mary Titus and Mr. Frank Galleher, of Leesburg, and Miss Mae Trundle, of Washington, as guests, turned turtle near Hamilton last week. All the occupants were knocked unconscious but only one, Miss Trundle, was hurt. Her injuries are not considered serious. The accident occurred when Miss McIntosh, daughter of Mr. Bruce McIntosh, vice-president of the Leesburg Peoples National Bank, attempted to pass around another car, the machine skidding in some soft dirt on the roadside and overturning.

Mr. Nimrod Lightner, of Haymarket, will spend the winter with his sister, Mrs. J. E. Norman, while attending the Lincoln High School.

Mr. J. W. Cole, of near Purcellville, whose barn and silo burned last week, has erected a new silo and is now filling it. Plans are being made for the immediate rebuilding of the barn.

Hon. E. Walton Moore, of Fairfax, spent a day or two last week in attendance upon the Loudoun fair at Purcellville.

Mr. N. B. Warner is spending a portion of his annual vacation with his friends in Hamilton and other sections in this part of the county. Mr. Warner has been connected for the past few years with the awning firm of Jas. E. Nicholson & Son, of Baltimore, one of the oldest concerns of that city, and now owned by Mr. Warner's brother-in-law, Mr. S. L. Nicholson.

It is expected that the Baptist church field recently occupied by Rev. Geo. T. Baker will be furnished with a supply in a short time. Rev. C. Wirt Trainham, now taking treatment at a sanitarium, is improving and hopes to be able to come by December 1st.

FAIRFAX

Indications are that the exhibits at the Fairfax County Fair, to be held at Fairfax on October 6, 7 and 8, will be unusually heavy. Great interest is being shown in all departments.

Following an illness of but a few hours, Mr. S. L. Redgrave, of near Centerville, passed away Monday of last week. Mr. Redgrave, one of the best known citizens of this section, was 70 years old. He is survived by his wife.

At the last regular meeting of the Vienna Council, Mr. E. A. Wiley was appointed clerk, and Mr. E. F. Myers, treasurer. Under the new law, the Mayor, Mr. Jas. Allen, was voted $100 per year, payable $15 per month. The tax rate for the coming year was made ten mills on the dollar.

Miss Estelle Holden, of Herndon, spent several days this week with her sister, Mrs. Clarence Fleming, at Florida.

Mrs. C. M. Lawrence, of Herndon, entertained at luncheon recently, her guests being Mrs. Neblett, Mrs. Annie E. Walker, Misses Katie and Estelle Holden, and Mrs. E. N. Wynn and little son.

Mrs. Bettie Bennett has been a guest at the home of Mrs. E. J. Holden, of Herndon.

The marriage has been announced of Miss Mary E. Reed, of Herndon, to Mr. Michael Daniels, Jr., of Centerville, Pa.

The Seventh Day Adventists, who have been conducting tent meetings at Vienna, have bought a lot there and expect to build a church and school at once. They opened the school Monday, in the tent, and will use this until they complete their building.

Mr. Robert Wynn, of near Chantilly, was the guest over the week-end of his son and daughter, Mr. E. N. Wynn and Mrs. H. E. Mitchell, of Herndon.

FAUQUIER

Mrs. Lucien Keith, one of Warrenton's best-known citizens, died suddenly at Murray Bay, Canada, Tuesday of last week. The funeral took place on the Thursday following. Mrs. Keith, who had lived in Warrenton for the past twelve years, since her marriage, worked successfully for the benefit of Warrenton and will be greatly missed.

Mr. Rouben Clatterback, of Bethel, brother of Mr. J. M. Clatterback, of near Warrenton, was killed week before last by an automobile in Caloper. He was 77 years of age and had many friends in Fauquier.

The old Bethel house, unoccupied and badly in need of repairs, was the first of last week. The property, the residence of Major A. G. Smith when the Bethel Military Academy was in operation, was owned by Mayor McIntyre.

Mr. Grayson E. Olinger, who would have been ninety-seven years old in November, died at his home at Liberty, near Bealeton, last Wednesday. Mr. George W. Crittenden and Mrs. Sudie Cassell, of Calverton, were married at the Methodist parsonage, Warrenton, on Wednesday of last week, Rev. H. L. Bivens officiating.

BANKERS URGING FARMERS TO VOTE

Good Roads Amendment to State Constitution to Be Voted on at November Election.

Believing that in no way can the interests of the farmers and those who live in rural communities be better served than by the construction of a state highway system, Virginia bank officials and directors are to support the constitutional amendment for good roads when it is voted on in the general election November 2. Good roads will increase the farmers' wealth, they believe, and result in general prosperity.

H. N. Phillips, chairman of the Good Roads Committee of the State Bankers' Association, is sending out to bank officials a letter urging them to support the amendment and tell their clients what advantages to the agricultural interests of the state would result from it. The Bankers' Association officially endorsed the amendment at their recent convention.

Mr. Phillips, who is president of the Broadway National Bank of Richmond, brings out in his letter that no bond issue will be voted by the amendment. It only gives the Legislature the power to issue bonds for highway construction when additional funds are deemed necessary to give the state a highway system as quickly as possible to meet the dire need for it, the letter says.

Passage of the amendment will remove a heavy burden from the counties. The state will build and maintain the main roads and leave the counties free to construct connecting roads. By this arrangement, road work will cost the counties far less than it does now, Mr. Phillips states.

Look at the roads for twenty miles around on a Sunday

THERE isn't any "country" any more. The automobile has brought the most remote settlement almost as close to the center of things as the most country was in the old days.

They make no distinction between the small car owner and the owner of the biggest car in the country.

It's all the same to them. So long as a man owns an automobile — large or small — he's entitled to the very best tire they can give him.

Quality has always been the outstanding feature of U. S. Tires. There's no limit on the U. S. guarantee. All U. S. Tires are guaranteed for the life of the tire.

To hear some tire dealers talk you might think that nobody knew anything about tires except the fellow from Broadway.

That's not the best we go on.

We give every man credit for knowing what he is spending his money on, whether he drives up here in his small car from ten miles out in the country or is passing through from the capital in his limousine.

We have given a lot of thought to this tire proposition. There is some advantage in being the representatives of the oldest and largest rubber concern in the world.

Drop in the next time you're down this way and let us tell you some interesting facts about tires.

That's one thing we like about U. S. Tires.

MORE ABOUT THE COUNTY FAIR
 Tomorrow afternoon may determine the fate of the annual Prince William Fair. If you are interested in the future development of this county, attend the meeting called for two o'clock in the afternoon at the courthouse. Your opinion and suggestions are wanted. Do not stay away because you own no stock. You owe it to your community to give an hour or so to one of the most vital problems now facing us.

Last week we made a few fair suggestions. This week we add another: That the fair be held in the latter part of September or early October, and not in August or early September.

The disadvantages of an early fair are apparent to all and need not be emphasized. Not until fall is the harvest in, and only then are the products of the summer's warmth and moisture most perfect and presentable. During the season of growth a fair seems right out of place.

The selection of the date of the annual Prince William Fair is an important matter. The fair must be held sufficiently prior to the annual state fair to enable exhibitors, if they care to do so, to forward their exhibits to Richmond. It is preferable, of course, that no nearby county hold her fair at the same time, but this would be better than the alternative of holding our fair in the summer. We have the natural resources; let us be sufficiently independent and self confident to hold our fair at the time most advantageous to us.

A SUNDAY'S RAMBLE

Sunday was a beautiful day. The editor and the devil prognosticated as much the evening before and arranged for an automobile trip to lower Prince William, starting the next morning.

It had been several years since the editor had had an opportunity to make a trip "below the run." He had read of the gradual improvement of the lower part of the county and every now and then he would hear of the clean little city of the marines that had sprung up at the very edge of fair Prince William, but just how much this section had advanced, he did not know from actual contact.

The countryside, in its brilliant fall dress, never appeared to better advantage. The Prince William open air fair was in evidence on every side. To see the results of man's co-operation with Mother Nature was to be proud of being a native of the county.

Quaint old Dumfries, with the Potomac smuggled at its edge, was shortly reached and then we were soon on the concrete road that winds through the government reservation that has been set aside as a home for U. S. marines. The strict surveillance of war times being no longer in force, we were permitted to drive anywhere we pleased. That Quantico has undergone such a transformation during the past few years is hard to believe. To convince yourself you must actually see the Quantico of 1920—in contrast to the Quantico of 1915.

So much for the pleasanties of our little jaunt. As Prince Williamites we can point with pride to our advancement in many ways, but while so doing we must not fail to exert every means in our power to overcome the stigma of our bad roads. One would have hardly expected to get "stuck in the mud" when starting out in the dusty weather of Sunday—and yet that is what happened to us before we arrived home. Getting off the main road, yet keeping to a recognized county road leading to Manassas and about seven miles away, we attempted to drive through what appeared an ordinary mud hole. But we miscalculated, for this was an old enemy of automobilists, as we soon learned. We were quickly mired up to the rear hub in a hole fed by a spring. After two and a half hours of Sabbath labor, making free use of a jack, tire chains, logs and boards and a shovel procured from a nearby farm house, we managed to back out. On the homeward journey we felt as though we were in a position to appreciate the anxiety of those who are forced to make constant use of our roads.

And then we came to this conclusion: If we can not have good roads all over the county as quickly as we would like to, why can not the present roads be kept patched up so that they can be traveled over in safety? It looks as though the treacherous mud holes and the depressions that cut across steep, hilly roads and the bad places next to small bridges could be eliminated without a great deal of expense and with great satisfaction to every taxpayer and every tourist who ventures along our roads literally holding his breath for something to bob up that will impede progress.

PARAGRAPHS
 One "silent cop" is back on the job, evidently shamed through Sergeant Weir's timely application of cracked rock to several of the bad holes in Center street this week.
 Question: What is the broom's chief ally in Manassas? Answer: The dust cloth, frequently and vigorously applied.
 News note: Employment bureaus in Chicago are swamped with applicants for work. Prince William can use quite a few if they are able and willing to wield a corn knife—in corn fields.

A man who has that "gone" feeling—one who bought a Ford car on Monday or Tuesday.

Thirty-eight children and fifteen mothers were present. Games were played, refreshments served and toy balloons given as favors.

The Little River turnpike, which connects Alexandria and Winchester, is to be rebuilt at a cost of about $300,000. This improvement will be largely due to the efforts of Representative R. Walton Moore, the Alexandria chamber of commerce, the city council of Alexandria and the board of supervisors of Fairfax county, to get this highway in good shape again.

Carpenters have been at work at the court-house for the past few weeks. When the October term of the circuit court opens on October 4 the veniremen will sit on the left of the judge and will find the railing that separates spectators from the court officials, jury, prisoners and counsel, moved in towards the judge's seat and extended on each side. On the roof, the wooden railing around the clock tower has been removed, owing to its decayed condition and the possibility of its falling upon some one entering the court house.

MILLIONAIRE OIL MAGNATE IS OUTWITTED BY LOCAL MAN

J. C. Arnold Obtains for Trifling Sum Asset for Which Millionaire Offered a Million

J. C. Arnold, printer and linotype operator, of Huntington, W. Va., has, as he says, the distinction of putting one over on the country's greatest oil magnate. In an interview Mr. Arnold tells the full details in a most interesting manner.

"About a year and a half ago," says Mr. Arnold, "I began having attacks of stomach trouble, which continued getting worse until my liver and kidneys were so affected that I was forced to quit work. I had been working night shift on an Akron paper and shifted without avail. I was taking medicine continually, first one doctor and then another but kept getting worse. Every time a friend suggested a remedy I tried it, until at last some one recommended the Reese Formula R-11. By this time I had given up hope but began taking the Reese Formula R-11. I had no confidence in it or anything else. Imagine my surprise when after taking about half the first bottle my condition began to improve. I continued taking it and before finishing the third bottle I was completely restored. I am again working and feel better than I have for many years.

The Ford Motor Company makes this reduction in the face of the fact that they have on-hand immediate orders for 146,085 cars and tractors. The Company will suffer a temporary loss while using up the material bought at high prices. They are willing to make the sacrifice in order to bring business back to a going condition as quickly as possible and maintain the momentum of the buying power of the country. Henry Ford Says: "The war is over and it is time war-prices were over. There is no sense or wisdom in trying to maintain an artificial standard of values. For the best interest of all it is time a real practical effort was made to bring the business of the country and the life of the country down to regular pre-war standards."

We are at your command, with regular Ford efficiency in service and eagerness, to fill your orders.

Special Notice To Farmers

One of the most important things ever done by the Agricultural Experiment Station of North Carolina was a test to determine if National Hog Remedy has any value to the Farmer. A bulletin issued about June first tells that in a series of tests some figures were brought out that are startling.

Fifteen pigs of similar weight were bought for a test that was continued at the Raleigh test farm 88 days. One lot of these pigs were given National Hog Remedy and another lot was given the same feed but no remedy.

In the lot where the National Hog Remedy was given the hogs gained .70 of a pound each. In the lot where nothing was given but the feed the hogs gained only .47 of a pound.

Two hogs on National Hog Remedy increased in weight on the same ration as much as three hogs did without it.

Furthermore this test showed and stated that by using National Hog Remedy a saving was realized of approximately $9.00 on each hundred pounds increase in live weight.

National Hog Remedy is sold by all dealers at One Dollar a package. In case your dealer cannot supply you kindly send us your name and we will see you get it. We do not use a filler to enlarge the package and we use high grade chemicals only.
