NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

FIND MANY POTATOES FREEZE DUE TO IMPROPER SHIPPING
Of 5,896 cars of potatoes inspected by agents of the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, during the year ended July 1, 1920, more than 2,000 cars showed damage from freezing.

Protection from cold depends largely upon a constant circulation of warm air around the load. Heated air from a stove in the center of car rises to the top, spreads along the ceiling between the potatoes and the roof, thence down through open spaces at the ends, then back underneath a false floor coming out at the stove.

Cars should be carefully lined with paper in box cars to save heat loss.

provides for air circulation around the load.

Cars should be heated at least six hours before loading. In loading, sacks should not come closer than 8 inches from the ceiling. The potatoes at the floor should be loaded not less than 6 inches from the sides and ends of car.

Progressives Who Still Remember.
Every one of the 15 Progressives who have united in an appeal for the election of Cox and Roosevelt was known as an active supporter of Theodore Roosevelt in the succession from the Republican party in 1912. Merely to cite the names of Matthew Hale, of Massachusetts; John M. Parker, of Louisiana; Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Colorado; Harold J. Ickes, of Illinois; Francis J. Haney, of California; Geo. C. Rables, of New Hampshire, and the others, is to recall the stand they took in that historic contest. They are the kind of Progressives who from principle refuse to follow Hiram Johnson back to "normalcy" or subscribe to the reactionary doctrines transmitted from

MANY WOMEN REGISTERED

Prince William County Has 294 White and 47 Colored Women Voters.

Much interest is taken in the registration of women in every state because of the unknown effect on the presidential election. How the white women will vote is pretty well indicated by the former vote of the district except where particular activity of suffragists may shift the vote of extremists. The registration of colored women is pretty fairly an increase in republican votes by the full number of names registered. In Rising Sun, Md., no colored person registered. In Wilmington, Del., a large registration of white women had no balance in the colored registration.

Arlington county, Va., shows more than 1000 women registered and the city of Alexandria about 1400 paid the capitation tax in order to register. Of these 1227 are white and 172 are colored. Alexandria will have a total of 4250 qualified voters.

Loudoun county without its last day's registration added 450 white and 50 colored women to its list of voters.

Richmond has more than 12000 women voters; about 18,000 men. The Virginia League of Women Voters is responsible for the large registration. Two volunteer registrars are credited with a large part of the success. They are Mrs. Carter W. Wormsley and Mrs. Frank L. Jobson. They seated the applicants at tables by the dozen and directed the filing out of their applications.

Newport News has 1400; Suffolk 475; Halifax 600; 1765 in Lynchburg.

Prince William county has 294 white women and 47 colored women who have paid the tax. The registrars have not yet returned their lists to the court. The number of voters will be somewhat less than the number of taxpayers. By districts these white and colored taxpayers are as follows: Brentsville 28 white, 1 colored; Cole 5 white; Dumfries 3 white; Gainesville 26 white, 23 colored; Manassas town 104 white, 15 colored, district 15 white, 2 colored; Quantico 23 white.

TRI-COUNTY MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

(Contributed)

To the Citizens of Prince William, Fauquier and Fairfax:

The above caption is proposed as the local name as title of an institution glorified as never before by its record on the far flung battle lines of Europe. The outstanding feature of the most lamentable and inexcusable of all wars, appears in the well high miraculous success of the measures employed by the army medical corps with its Red Cross auxiliaries, in saving life and restoring to health the desperately maimed and wounded. We have institutions in abundance for the saving and care of the soul and for the training of the mind, but we are woefully deficient in institutional provision for the care and cure of the body. The body was created first, and the redemption of the body from the power of corruption is the crown of Xian faith. It was in a human body that Christ served and suffered, and his wonderful works were for the most part occupied with the healing and relief of the body.

Fellow citizens—the hospital must keep step with the church and the school if our faith is to be justified in the sight of man. What say you?

O'NEIL-MERCHANT

Miss Elizabeth M. O'Neil, daughter of Mrs. Dennis O'Neil, of Manassas, and Mr. Wilmer T. Merchant, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Merchant, were married at St. Alban's Episcopal church in Washington, Monday afternoon. The pastor of the church, Rev. Charles T. Waring, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Frank Smart, sister of the groom and his brother, Mr. Douglas Merchant attended the wedding. After a wedding trip in Virginia the young couple will make their home in Manassas with the mother of the bride. Mr. Merchant is employed at the Central garage.

Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern Railway, is at the head of the committee directing the endowment campaign of the College of William and Mary. With him are: Senator Claude A. Swanson, of Lynchburg; W. C. L. Talladferro, of Hampton; Thomas Nelson Page, Dr. W. E. Dold, of Astoria, N. Y.; Tesny Taylor, Norfolk; Robert M. Hughes, Norfolk, and Charles L. Lunsford, Roanoke.

HON. R. WALTON MOORE SPEAKS

Made Fine Address at the Courthouse on Monday to Large Crowd.

Hon. R. Walton Moore, representative from the eighth congressional district of Virginia, made a fine address at the courthouse at the noon intermission, Monday. He spoke for an hour and a half to a large and appreciative audience. Mr. J. G. Eiden, of Culpeper, democratic elector for this district was present but did not speak. Mr. Moore discussed the league of nations and upheld the attitude of the administration on this vital question. He reviewed the action and inaction of congress, under republican control, and discussed in detail the various topics in which the district is interested.

Mr. Moore holds that the plan of a league of nations to minimize the danger of future wars had received the sanction of congress by unanimous resolution. He traces the expressions of the President on the part of the United States had to play in the war to attain a concert of free peoples who would avert war. These expressions had provoked no dissent from the Republican party. The President had incorporated suggestions of prominent Republicans into the draft of the treaty and the league now had the support of many eminent republicans some of whom are also supporting the President in this campaign. But the republican party had repudiated the league and now utterly rejects it because of the advantage that would accrue to the President if it were enacted.

He discussed the inaction of congress on the sugar question, their cutting down the agricultural appropriations and their increase of civil war pensions.

He holds that the achievements of the democratic congress and administration in the establishment of a strong financial system, in the farm loans and in the federal aid to highways had been very great and in contrast to the work of the republican congress.

Sanity of American Labor

When the American Federation of Labor, representing a membership of more than 5,000,000 workmen, and with which more than 3,000,000 railway employes are affiliated in addition, condemned the British and International Labor parties, the soundest patriotism on the part of the American worker found expression. The federation gave a definite and conclusive answer to the anarchistic appeals of radical labor movements abroad and took its place once more squarely on the side of orderly government.

Franklin K. Lane once declared that revolution would never come in a country ten million of whose citizens owned their own homes. And of the ten million Americans who own the roofs over their heads perhaps five million of them are wage-earners. The influence of that fact is incalculable, he added, and all thinking men know that what Mr. Lane said is true.

In no country on earth is labor better conditioned than in the United States. In none are wages higher, in education more available and opportunities more generous.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Cox's Tour Ends Well

The stimulated interest first began to be noticed in the Republican State of Nebraska, and reached a climax Thursday night at Tulsa, Okla., where he was treated to a demonstration such as is seldom the lot of any candidate to receive in a town of equal size. Hundreds had driven or ridden from 50 to 100 miles in order to be present. Tulsa normally has a population of 72,000, yet it seemed, as the candidate rode along the street that there must be fully 100,000 lining the mile of street.

Outside the Auditorium were some 10,000 people, unable to gain entrance, who insisted on the candidate making a speech to them. Inside every inch of space was occupied, even to the beams supporting the roof.

George Hockman, who was indicted for the murder of Richard Southern, whom he killed after a row over sales of liquor on a boat in the Potomac River, had no counsel when he was arraigned in court and T. E. Diddlake was appointed by Judge Brent to defend him. On Tuesday he appeared with his counsel and was permitted to plead guilty to murder in the second degree. He was sentenced to five years imprisonment in the penitentiary, but was given credit for the day he had spent in the county jail.

AUSTIN ACQUITTED ON WEDNESDAY LAST

Gripped Insurance Agent Was Charged With Murder of J. R. Bailey Davis.

"Acquitted" was the verdict reached by the jury in the case of Commonwealth vs. Austin on Wednesday afternoon, after a trial that consumed the better part of two days of the October term of court for Prince William. The jury, after hearing the evidence and arguments, was out but twenty minutes. Earl J. Austin, crippled insurance agent of Manassas, was charged with the murder of J. R. Bailey Davis on the streets of Manassas on the night of May third last, after, as was shown by evidence given in court, Davis had admitted improper relations with Austin's wife.

After receiving the testimony of the witnesses for the commonwealth, Austin was called to the stand. He told of Davis having confessed his improper conduct and his promise to leave Manassas. At this point the question of Austin's usual routes in his wheel chair to and from his home was brought up; some of the witnesses for the commonwealth having previously expressed their doubt as to Austin's ability to wheel himself over the route he stated as having taken the evening of the murder.

John L. Lee, chief counsel for the defense, here asked Judge Brent to permit the jury to be taken over the route in question, following Austin as he wheeled himself. This was consented to, and Austin, followed by the jury, attorneys for both the defense and prosecution, and the judge, went over the route unassisted. Upon arrival at the Austin home the jury was given an opportunity to view the damage done by the explosion of the early morning of September 8th, when, Austin claimed, an attempt was made upon his life.

Attorney Wampler opened the argument for the prosecution, followed by Mr. T. E. Diddlake, of the firm Diddlake & Moore, for the defense. Mr. Lee, well-known Virginia criminal lawyer, closed the argument for the defense, after which Commonwealth Attorney Lion made the last plea for the prosecution.

The following served as jurors for this trial: J. T. Keys, J. Frank Miltstead, W. F. Woodyard, H. C. Carter, W. B. Abel, Fred Mason, M. A. Bellins, Early Rollins, G. H. Washington, Dean Rector, Albert Allen and R. A. Woodyard.

In the absence of Mrs. Rice, the historian, Mrs. M. M. Washington was appointed to prepare a paper about Virginia's famous geographer, Matthew Fontaine Maury, who originated the system of great circle sailing and made charts of the ocean currents.

The daughters have decided to plant Norway maples next spring as memorial trees on Lee avenue. Memorials will also be prepared for the women of the confederacy who rendered service during the Civil war.

The chapter will meet again at Mrs. J. E. Herrell's home November 3. A luncheon has been announced to be served to Ewell camp at the home of the Manassas chapter. The Judith Henry Juniors will assist.

Delegates to the U. D. C. convention at Nashville were selected and Mrs. Cabell Smith was given the proxy of the chapter. The delegates are Mrs. Westwood Hutchison, Mrs. James Birkett and Mrs. Kate Rosenberger. Alternates: Mrs. J. E. Herrell, Mrs. M. M. Washington and Miss Lillian Mackay. The Nashville convention will meet November 10.

A VITAL QUESTION

Numerous questions are being asked regarding the meaning and purpose of the proposed constitutional amendment for good roads.

The adoption of the constitutional amendment for good roads does not issue one penny's worth of bonds. It merely gives the general assembly and the governor the authority to issue bonds in such amounts and at such times as in their judgment is to the best interest of the state. This is only giving the state the same authority which a county, city or town, a corporation, partnership or individual now possess, of using their credit for construction purposes.

It is advisable to state at the outset that approximately one-fourth only of the revenue from the automobile license fees is available for new construction. The remainder of the fund is being very properly set apart for the maintenance of the roads when they are built. The government will not put up a dollar for every dollar of the state's money in federal aid, but rather tells Virginia, along with the other states, how much federal aid the state may expect, and requires the state to match their funds dollar for dollar. The present net revenues for new construction, including the federal aid, is approximately $5,500,000. This does not include the separate fund for state aid to county roads.

As every section of the state is equally anxious and equally entitled to have construction started along the worst sections of their mileage of state highways, the State Highway Commission must pick out sections on the various main highways and proceed with their construction. With the limited funds available, this means that the mileage in each section is small. If the state had the funds, the highway commission could just as easily award the contract for three or four times the mileage on each section of the state highway. Much of the same overhead on a two mile link would take care of a ten mile section. The larger contract would attract more bidders who with large road building equipment could afford to bid lower per mile. By the time any bonds could be issued, the state highway department would have completed the plans and specifications of the entire state highway system so that these contracts could be awarded as fast as contractors, men and materials could be secured to do the work.

Under the present plan of "pay-as-you-go," Commissioner Coleman states that it would require not less than sixteen years to complete the state highway system; whereas, if the necessary funds were provided to enable his department to build the highways as rapidly as it is possible to do so, the same system of roads could be constructed in six years.

The issuance of bonds would, of course, require of the legislature that they make provisions at the same time to pay the interest on any bonds issued and also provide for their retirement. In the first place, under the plan of financing state bond issues followed by the state of New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois, California and other states which have adopted this plan, the bonds would be serial bonds, issued only as money is needed, and retired as rapidly as the fund provided for this purpose accumulates.

Bonds can be issued for the construction of Virginia's highway system without increasing the general taxes of the state one penny. In order that this may be understood, let us compare the construction of the state's road system to a man building a sixteen story building. We will suppose that he has an income which will permit him to build one story a year operating on a cash basis. By borrowing the money he can build this building in six years. His yearly income would pay the interest, and retire the bonds in less than twenty years on the basis of the same yearly income.

If the state highway system is built in six years, the wise provision of the state legislature in setting apart the automobile tax will make certain that the roads will be maintained and will outlast the life of the bond issue.

In addition to the service which these highways, completed, give to the people of Virginia, it is quite evident that the construction of state roads will not end with a system of 5700 miles of state highways and a like mileage of state aid county roads. The more rapidly the present state highway system can be constructed, the earlier will the legislature be warranted in increasing the mileage of both classes of roads. The more miles of highway which the state can take over, construct and maintain, the more and state in endeavoring to keep open a temporary type of surfaced main highway, will be available for the construction and maintenance of lateral roads.

The delays of embargoes on road materials, the scarcity of these same materials as well as labor and the high prices of construction which has very materially interfered with Virginia's program, as well as that of every other state in the Union, may discourage some regarding the possibility of going ahead with an enlarged program. Engineers and contractors are confidently expecting to be able to go ahead in 1921 with their accumulated two-year program. However, it will take Virginia some time to get ready to issue any bonds should the legislature find that conditions warrant going ahead with the road construction program.

Through the passage of the proposed constitutional amendment, the general assembly and the governor will be in a position to come to the aid of the citizens of the state in time of financial distress by calling on the state highway department to enlarge its road construction program and thereby give employment to thousands of her citizens. The state at the same time, would also benefit in securing an abundance of labor and materials at reasonable prices.

Should the people fail to ratify the action of their legislature passed at two sessions, it would require at least six years before the people of the state could benefit from the provisions of this amendment, should the legislature feel disposed to again submit the question to a vote of the people. In the meantime, states all around Virginia will have outstripped this state in highway improvements.—The Virginia Good Roads Association.

Doesn't Your House Need Painting?

All throughout the country, homes, barns and out-buildings are fast decaying through lack of a protective coat. Failure to paint is merely adding to the up-keep cost a few years hence—and reducing the value of your structures from month to month.

Fall is the ideal time to paint. If you can not get a painter to do the work, do not let it go undone—find some way of doing it yourself. Too much is at stake to neglect this longer. You paint not for beautifying primarily, but for surface protection.

$31.40 Will Buy the Paint If House is of Average Size

Using Longman & Martinez Semi-Paste Paint, which is guaranteed pure and the equal of any paint made, a house of average size, say 25 feet wide, 30 feet long and 20 feet high, will require but 5 gallons of L. & M. Semi-Paste Paint @ $5.20 and 3 gallons of Pure Linseed Oil @ $1.80, making the total cost of material only $31.40.

Is not the present time to save the surface with L. & M. Paint?

The Ford Motor Company makes this reduction in the face of the fact that they have on hand immediate orders for 146,065 cars and tractors. The Company will suffer a temporary loss while using up the material bought at high prices. They are willing to make the sacrifice in order to bring business back to a going condition as quickly as possible and maintain the momentum of the buying power of the country. Henry Ford Says: "The war is over and it is time war-prices were over. There is no sense or wisdom in trying to maintain an artificial standard of values. For the best interest of all it is time a real practical effort was made to bring the business of the country and the life of the country down to regular pre-war standards."

What Kills A Storage Battery

IF YOU let a windmill tank become nearly empty, repeatedly the staves will soon fall to pieces. Recharging a storage battery below the danger point repeatedly has a similar effect on the battery plates. A battery which does not permit this danger to occur is not a battery. It is a danger point, the "Automatic Charge" automatically starts the generator recharging and stops it again. Any plant that does less than this is NOT Full Automatic and is out of date the day it is installed.

MATTHEWS

protect an overloaded battery against heating by automatically taking ALL the load on the generator. But if the generator can't carry it all, the battery automatically "cut in" again and both lose the capacity. Any plant that does less than this is NOT Full Automatic and is out of date the day it is installed.

Matthews rating is based on generator capacity. ALONE, batteries being a reserve supply.

Special Notice To Farmers

One of the most important things ever done by the Agricultural Experiment Station of North Carolina was a test to determine if National Hog Remedy has any value to the Farmer. A bulletin issued about June first tells that in a series of tests some figures were brought out that are startling.

Fifteen pigs of similar weight were bought for a test that was continued at the Raleigh test farm 88 days. One lot of these pigs were given National Hog Remedy and another lot was given the same feed but no remedy.

In the lot where the National Hog Remedy was given the hogs gained .70 of a pound each. In the lot where nothing was given but the feed the hogs gained only .47 of a pound.

Two hogs on National Hog Remedy increased in weight on the same ration as much as three hogs did without it.

Furthermore this test showed and stated that by using National Hog Remedy a saving was realized of approximately $9.00 on each hundred pounds increase in live weight.

National Hog Remedy is sold by all dealers at One Dollar a package. In case your dealer cannot supply you kindly send us your name and we will see you get it. We do not use a filler to enlarge the package and we use high grade chemicals only.

PAID ADVERTISEMENT HARDING AND COOLIDGE

Every man and woman who values the safety and integrity of the home, the rights of humanity and the greater prosperity of the country should vote for Harding and Coolidge, the Republican candidates.

The people are tired of the inefficiency and misrule of the Democratic administration. The people demand a change in the White House. Harding and Coolidge were selected by the Republican Convention to head the ticket because they represent the very best element in the Republican party.

Both are men of the people. Both sprang from the people and have never lost touch with the needs, conditions and troubles of the people. Harding in the United States Senate has fought for and voted for the important laws enacted for the working classes.

He voted against that part of the Treaty which would involve our country in Europe's wars. He voted to recall our soldiers from Russia. He voted for the safety of our sons and the peace of our homes. He voted to prevent the cornering of foodstuffs and so he voted to lower the cost of living. He supported and voted for woman suffrage and lent his influence and his efforts to secure ratification in several states.

Harding the man—was once Harding the farm-boy who later worked his way through college by painting barns, driving teams, teaching school and setting type.

Harding the newspaper publisher, owner of the Marion Daily Star, a force for good in his own community. His community, admiring his splendid honesty and recognizing in him the type of man fit truly to represent his people, sent him to the legislature and honored him as Lieutenant Governor. They then sent him to the United States Senate.

Thus from obscurity Warren G. Harding grew in stature until his party honored him by nominating him as the party's standard bearer.

He is still Harding the simple, kindly, able citizen, living his beautiful family life in his modest Marion home where his neighbors are his best friends. Vote against Democratic misrule. Vote for Harding and Coolidge and the able Republican party which, since the Civil War, has ever wisely guided the destinies of the country in days of stress, when human problems pressed for solution.

HAYMARKET

Our new meat market is expected to open about the 20th of October. Mr. J. E. Spring and son, of Waterfall, were callers in town Wednesday. Mr. James Teal, of The Plains, was the guest of his sons here the past week.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robinson, who last week was badly burned, is much better and is thought to be out of danger. Miss Ruth Hulshah, who has been the guest of relatives in Richmond, has returned home. Uncle Daniel Bradford is moving to Manassas.

Extensive repairs are being made on the rectory, preparatory to the occupancy of Rev. and Mrs. Browne. Mr. O. D. DeLong, of Richmond, was in town Monday. Mr. DeLong says Prince William looks more prosperous than eight years ago. For himself he has never been more so and has handled and saved more during that period than in many years.

Mr. J. W. Lyon, who has been spending his vacation at his home here, has returned to Washington. Mr. C. F. Ridd, who has been employed at Catharpin, has returned home. Silo filling is nearly completed. The farmers say they have never had a better year of this essential feed.

The new grist mill for Meade's feed store has arrived and will soon be installed near the store. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spinks, of Manassas, were guests of relatives here the past week.

Mr. A. R. G. Bass and family, who recently purchased the Price property, formerly the Purcell place, have moved thereon. Mrs. Buckley, who, with her sons have occupied the place, have taken rooms in Miss Ruth Hulshah's home for the present, until the house they will occupy is vacant.

A sad accident occurred last Thursday when Mr. George Hunt, living several miles from here, fell on a slippery porch in such a manner that his leg was broken badly. Medical aid reduced the fracture, and he is doing well at this time. Mr. W. M. Jordan is in Baltimore this week buying his fall and winter goods. Workmen are busy removing the old warehouse which has stood for many years on Mr. Jordan's property. The frame is as sound as ever and much better than is used these days in constructing buildings of its kind. Services in the Baptist Church will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Sunday School at the usual hour. Every one is cordially invited to attend these services.

WATERFALL

Miss Sara Howardsell, of Washington, is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. E. Smith, this week. Misses Pearl Shmits, and Anne Pickett, of Washington, were weekend guests of Miss Florence Gosson, at "Mt. Atlas."

Miss Frances Kibler, of "Peoplar Hill," is visiting relatives in Washington. School opened here on Monday with Mrs. W. M. Foley as principal and Miss Florence Gosson as assistant. Mr. Howard Bell and family motored to Alexandria on Sunday and were guests of relatives there.

Mr. C. S. Shirley, of Washington, visited at his home here over Sunday. Miss Pauline Gosson is attending school in Haymarket. Mrs. J. C. McDonald, who has been visiting relatives in Washington, has returned home. Mrs. G. A. Gosson, who has been quite ill, is slowly improving.

The W. M. U. of Antioch Baptist Church met on Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. Robert Mayhugh.

WOODBRINE

Mrs. Lola Pearson, wife of Somers Pearson, was baptized September 25, and died October 2. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. A. Golihev. Rev. J. A. Golihev, pastor of Woodbine Baptist church, recently returned from a six weeks' revival and Bible campaign. In the associated churches where he officiated he had the assistance of Rev. George E. Spruille, of Martinsville, Va. There were more than 35 conversions and 33 were admitted to the church by baptism. At the close of the meeting with the Oakdale church the pastor was presented with a horse and buggy and the visiting minister with a purse of more than $40.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beavers are the happy parents of a girl born on the 29th. The baby was born in the old Carter house now owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Ludwig, great-grandparents of the infant.

FAIRFAX

Considerable excitement was created last Tuesday by two automobiles coming together on Maple avenue, Vienna, near Waggoner's Garage. Both cars were being driven by ladies. Miss Ann Pearson, of Clifton, who was driving one of the cars, was thrown from her machine and slightly injured. Mrs. E. S. Thomas, of Washington, who was driving the other car, escaped with only minor injuries. Both cars had to be left at the garage for repair.

Miss Mollie Weeden, of New Baltimore, Va., is the house guest of Mrs. C. M. Florance, at Herndon. Miss Nellie Weeden has returned to her home in Fauquier county. Mrs. Belle A. Holden, who has been the guest for about two months of her son, Mr. Thomas Holden, at De Leon, Texas, returned to her home in Herndon week before last. Her son-in-law, Mr. A. S. Harrison, made a flying trip to Texas to accompany Mrs. Holden home. Mrs. Margaret Klipstein, widow of John Klipstein, of Fauquier county, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. M. Florance, at Herndon, Saturday before last, aged ninety-seven years. Funeral services were held in Herndon and interment was in the cemetery at Warrenton, where her husband is buried.

Miss Catherine Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Barker, of Washington, and Mr. Peter Wagner, jr., of Sweetnam, were married September 15, in St. Mary's Church, Sweetnam, by the Rev. Father V. D. Quevas. Mr. and Mrs. Wagner will make their home at Sweetnam. Sammy Eaton, of Fairfax, has returned home after two months service on an American steamship, which carried a cargo to a Scottish port. While on the other side Mr. Eaton visited London, Glasgow and other points in England and Scotland. He says the work on shipboard was hard and exacting, but he was more than paid by his experience.

Miss Tillie Louise De Bell, who spent her vacation with relatives in the Chantilly neighborhood and friends in Herndon, returned to Washington last week. Miss Georgia Wharton and Mr. William H. Lamb, well known and popular residents of Fairfax, were married in Alexandria Monday, August 23. The fact of the marriage was only known to a few close friends of the couple until a few days ago. The groom is principal of the Fairfax school and the bride is prominent in U. D. C. and church affairs in Fairfax.

Miss Ethel Barker, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. George Barker, residing at Pollock station, on the R. F. & P. Railway, in this county, was shot in the forehead Sunday afternoon of last week by her six-year-old brother, who was playing with a rifle. Though she was at once taken to a Washington hospital, the injury was fatal and death called her that night.

Buying the Press. The paid editorial in a presidential year has the brand of Mark Hanna in it. It has a sulphurous smell.

Article Ten. What is the famous article X about which the malignants paper rage? It reads: "The members of the League undertake to respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the League. In case of any such aggression, or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression, the Council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled."

He is the Mark. Gov. Cox ought to use a rifle. The shot-gun scatters too much.
